

Congress Plagued By Old Headaches, New Inefficiencies

(Editor's note: This is the second in a series of eight articles dealing with MSC's Student Government. The articles represent an attempt to compare and analyze the procedures and weaknesses of the new constitution and its predecessor.)

A great number of Congressional duties are being carried under the new Student Congress constitution more efficiently than was possible under the old constitution. Those things that the Congress has traditionally met with difficulty in performing are still causing them many headaches.

Their meetings are carried off in as efficient a manner as could be expected, compared with the past. But the new undertakings of the Congress have been made more difficult by the new constitution. In fact, they seem to be bungled than ever.

The Congress wants MSC students to know about and understand the job they are doing on campus. Good publicity methods have been sadly lacking in the past, and the document has caused no change in the situation.

In pushing a student tax, the Congress failed throughout fall term to back their pleas with actions conducive to an approval of the tax. This term, a booklet reporting to explain the tax, and how it will be used, has been published. The booklet offers no more concrete figures than appeared all fall term. But the booklet will be discussed more thoroughly in a forthcoming article.

Even in conducting pep rallies, one of the Congress's off-and-on-performed tasks, students have been let down. Pep rallies conducted when the Congress, then as the Student Council, was operating under the old constitution, were the most efficiently operated duties of the group.

The legislative branch is probably the most sharply imbedded branch of the government. Questions which were wrangled on the floor are now ironed out in committee, especially to handle them.

Procedure on the floor of the Congress is patterned largely after state and national legislative procedure. A look of the minutes of fall term's meetings show that the average meeting lasted a little more than an hour, but could assume two things from this fact: (1) That congressional activities were handled smoothly, and (2) that the Congress accomplished nothing. The truth is a compromise between these two states.

Police Discover Fiery Sweaters In East Lansing

Sweaters that burst into flame at the strike of a match popped up in East Lansing yesterday as fire inspectors pressed a drive to stop their sale.

East Lansing and Lansing fire departments first started getting calls after the story was printed in Detroit papers. Several Lansing stores have voluntarily turned these "hot sweaters" over to the fire inspectors.

Investigation has disclosed that the sweaters are peddled from door to door but sold mainly at filling stations and pool halls. The sweaters are for men and reportedly look like cashmere but authorities say they are probably of brushed nylon.

The state fire marshal is conducting tests on the sweaters to determine what is causing the rapid burning. The sweaters burn entirely in 40 seconds to a minute.

East Lansing fire department had a report from a woman who said her husband bought one of the sweaters in a pool hall a year ago and it is still in good condition. Peddlers sell the sweaters for whatever they can and the sale is legal, according to an East Lansing fireman.

Night School Registers 522 In 67 Courses

Evening College classes have gotten underway with an enrollment of 522.

Sixty-seven courses are offered under the program. Students are given regular credit toward degrees or chances of advancing in present jobs.

Regular instructors have taken over most of the classes. Courses are offered in Basic College, Agriculture, Business, and Public Service, Science and Arts, and Engineering Schools. Courses in home economics and veterinary nursing may be opened soon.

James McCartney of the Information Services said.

The idea behind this program is to make the facilities of Michigan State available to the people in the Lansing area. The project was set up as a result of a survey conducted last spring to find out what residents wanted in the way of evening classes.

Enrollment reached college expectations, McCartney said. Plans for future growth are underway. The MSC Evening College will be continued spring term.

Trio to Present Drama Scenes in Music Auditorium

A series of scenes and music from British drama will be presented by Mariam Alexanian, Dickson, Richard Carey, and Ethel Arneling Wednesday evening at 8:15 in the music auditorium.

The dramatic selections, designed to demonstrate the difference between Old English and Modern English drama, will be enacted by Mrs. Dickson, of the Speech Department and Carey, formerly with the Royal Academy of Dramatic Arts in London.

Miss Arneling, of the Music Department, will sing selections from Shakespeare and Benjamin Britten. She will be accompanied by Miss Lou Burley. Sponsored by the Speech Majors' Club, the program will feature scenes from the "Electra" of Sophocles, "Elizabeth the Great" by Maxwell Anderson, "The Provoked Wife" by Sir John Vanbrugh and "The Heiress" by Augustus and Ruth Goetz.

Four pages of text and drawing are devoted to the proposed student tax. A student body vote on the tax is scheduled for next month by the group.

Pitt Picks Dawson for Grid Coach

Sebo May Fill
Vacated Post

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A new hand grasped the helm of Pitt's wavering football fortunes yesterday as Lowell (Red) Dawson got the head coaching job at the skyscraper university.

Appointment of Steve Sebo as Michigan State backfield coach to succeed Dawson probably will be announced officially today, it was learned last night.

Dawson disclosed that Sebo was promoted "to the job I am leaving."

An official announcement of Sebo's appointment, however, was believed to have been held up because President John A. Hannah was out of town yesterday.

Sebo was graduated from Michigan State College in 1937. A halfback, he won three varsity letters in football and three in baseball.

After graduation, he was coach at Petoskey High for three years. In 1946, he became head football coach at Alma College. His 1948 Alma team was undefeated and won the MIAA championship.

In March, 1949, he went to Harvard as backfield coach. In 1950, he became freshman coach at Michigan State. When freshmen became eligible for varsity play in the 1951 season, Sebo served as an all-around assistant to head coach Elgie Munn.

Selection of Dawson, backfield coach of the Michigan State Spartans, came close to being a unanimous decision. He was the first choice of athletic director Tom Hamilton and of the student body.

A veteran of 20 years coaching experience, Dawson gets a three-year contract. His salary was not disclosed. A Pitt spokesman said the new coach will pull into Pittsburgh in the near future to look over the scene of his future triumphs or defeats.

Announcement of Dawson's selection followed a two-hour meeting of the Pitt board of trustees. They acted favorably on a recommendation of their athletic committee.

Tax Booklet Distributed by MSC Congress

Distribution of the new Student Government handbook "You and Your All-College Student Government" is underway.

Student Government representatives began giving away the booklets in their respective districts last week according to Dave Miller, speaker of the Congress.

The 16-page handbook is being distributed free by the government in an attempt to familiarize the students with their ruling body. Along with the booklets the students are asked to question their representatives on any issues which the handbook fails to clarify.

This is not a new idea in student government publicity according to Miller. "Most Big Ten schools have similar pamphlets," he added.

The handbook, printed in green and white, contains a forward by President John A. Hannah. Space in the booklet is devoted to a sample budget and includes a roster of Student Government members, their districts and phone numbers.

Four pages of text and drawing are devoted to the proposed student tax. A student body vote on the tax is scheduled for next month by the group.

Applications Available for Medical Tests

Candidates for admission to medical schools in the fall of 1953 should take the Medical College Admission Test in May, the Educational Testing Service, which prepares and administers the test for the Association of American Medical Colleges, recommended.

These tests, required of applicants by a number of medical colleges, will be given twice during the current calendar year. Candidates taking the May test, however, will be able to furnish scores to institutions in early fall, when many medical colleges begin the selection of their next entering class.

Candidates may take the test May 10 or Nov. 3, at administrations to be held at more than 300 local centers in all parts of the country. The Association of American Medical Colleges has recommended that candidates for admission to classes starting in the fall of 1953 take the May test.

The test covers general scholastic ability, understanding of modern society, and achievement in science.

Ward Ouradnik (right), newly appointed Water Carnival head, and Gene McDermott, senior class president, discuss plans for the annual spring event.

Set for June 5, 6, 7

Ouradnik Named Head Of '52 Water Carnival

Ward Ouradnik, Ann Arbor senior, has been appointed general chairman of the annual Water Carnival, Gene McDermott, senior class president, announced yesterday.

Dates for the carnival have been tentatively set for June 5, 6 and 7. Commencement is also scheduled for June 7.

Ouradnik said yesterday that committee chairmen will not be chosen until after the first meeting. Juniors will work on the committees this year.

A general meeting is scheduled for Thursday. Students interested in working on committees should attend. Ouradnik said.

Plans for the carnival will be discussed and duties of each committee will be summarized. The bulk of next term will be spent in organizing for the event. A contest will be held to determine the theme for the carnival, with prizes given. Last year's title was "Quote Me, Mister."

The Water Carnival is held on the Red Cedar with the various living units constructing floats for the event. There will be concession stands behind the bleachers if enough organizations are interested, Ouradnik added.

The Water Carnival is a senior class project, produced annually since 1923.

Trailer Village Shows About 20 Vacancies

Approximately 20 standard type trailers are available to any married student couple, according to figures released by Richard A. Geer, director of housing.

Geer stated there are four or five expandable trailers empty at present. Any married student with children would be given priority in applying for an expandable.

Couples without children wanting an expandable must apply at the housing office. Their names will be placed on a waiting list, and trailers assigned by list number. Couples expecting children will also be given preference in assigning trailers.

There are 384 students now living in married housing units. About 186 live in expandable trailers.

No decision has been made for disposing of standard-type trailers not in use. Ray D. Lamphear, manager of married housing, said. He added that trailers are being kept ready for occupancy, because they may be needed during the spring or summer in case of increased enrollment of married students at that time.

Senate Dubious Of President's Revenue Plans

Michigan Representative Seeks Executive Clean-up

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman submitted to Congress yesterday his plan to lift the scandal-plagued Internal Revenue Bureau out of the realm of political patronage. And he renewed his promise to crack down on wrongdoing in government.

In a message to the lawmakers, the President declared:

"The most vigorous efforts are being made and will continue to be made to expose and punish every government employee who misuses his official position."

The President's reorganization plan immediately ran into opposition in the Senate where some senators reflected dissatisfaction over Mr. Truman's proposal to cut down the number of regional tax-collection offices from 64 to 25.

Several legislators noted privately that Mr. Truman's plan would leave a number of the smaller states without a regional office.

The President's program would abolish the offices of the nation's 64 politically appointed tax collectors and replace them with a new setup of 25 district commissioners under Civil Service.

Even as Mr. Truman's message reached Capitol Hill, Rep. George Meader (R-Mich.) demanded a bipartisan investigation of "corruption" in the executive branch of government.

The Michigan legislator introduced a resolution to set up a 10-member inquiry committee, composed of five Republicans and five Democrats to be selected by House Speaker Gayburn (D-Tex.).

Meader said in a statement that Mr. Truman's recent designation of Attorney General McGrath to crack down on any unethical conduct in government showed a "callous contempt for the American people and public interest."

The President has chosen to suppress a thorough-going public airing of conditions by delegating the cleanup task to the department whose inactivity in the enforcement of the laws has so greatly contributed to the creation of that condition, Meader said.

McGrath is head of the Justice Department which serves as the government's prosecuting arm, including cases of tax-law violations.

Ag Hall Improvements Nearing Completion

A section of Agricultural Hall, which is undergoing remodeling, is nearing completion and should be ready for occupancy within the next month, Lowell Treaster of the Department of Information Services said.

The area that is being remodeled is located in the lower southeast corner of Ag Hall and will house an office which will handle the distribution of all college bulletins issued by the Department of Information Services, the Co-operative Extension Service and the Agricultural Experiment Station.

Previously a visitor requesting information from these departments had to travel to different offices on campus to obtain the desired information. This will no longer be necessary following the opening of the new office.

The office, which originally had a 21-foot ceiling has been divided into two levels by the addition of another floor level.

The lower floor level will be used for storage and handling of all college bulletins which will be cataloged by a system similar to one now used by the college library.

Features of the upper level will include a bulletin distribution counter, a film library, a film viewing room capable of seating 18 to 20 people and a darkroom for the use of Information Service photographers.

The department's darkroom facilities are now located in the Auditorium and the new location in Ag Hall is expected to facilitate the developing and distribution of pictures.

June Milestone: Make it Memorable

As the situation now stands, seniors will be the guests of the college at a Saturday commencement this June. Seniors, naturally, are looking forward to the date of their graduation from college. It is a milestone in the lives of each one of them.

To them it means that four years, filled with all kinds of memories, some good, some bad, are over.

But they cannot forget the people who fostered the idea that they should attend college, their parents. In many cases, parents gave up luxuries which they normally could have afforded, so that their son or daughter could enjoy the benefits of a college education.

And so seniors have an added desire that their graduation be a special occasion. Graduation day is the only time many parents get a look at the campus where their son or daughter has spent four years.

Saturday commencement would mean that many parents and relatives who desire to attend the ceremonies could not make the trip. Saturday is a working day for many.

Last year, the commencement committee of the faculty reversed its decision to have the exercises on Saturday, when it was discovered that Alumni Day was scheduled for the same day. At that time, the committee stressed that the 1952 commencement would be held on a Saturday.

The reason offered by the committee was that certain church groups had filed severe protests with the college against Sunday exercises. The faculty, too, were opposed to a Sunday commencement.

Last term the State News polled a group of 30 churches in Lansing and East Lansing, asking if any discussion of Sunday commencement had been held among their congregations. The ministers of the churches were also asked if they personally opposed Sunday exercises on religious grounds.

Approximately half of the ministers polled said their congregations had discussed the pro and con merits of the matter. Generally, the groups were not opposed to a Sunday graduation, provided it did not interfere with morning church services.

Only four ministers objected to Sunday commencement on religious grounds, and none of them said they had filed any protest with the college.

It is entirely understandable that members of the faculty would balk at an otherwise peaceful Sunday broken up by graduation exercises.

But graduation is intended for the seniors. It is a day set aside to honor their completion of four years of college. As host, the college owes seniors the assurance that their graduation day will be as enjoyable as the college can provide. The seniors, we know, would rather have commencement on Sunday.

Sunday is the best graduation date for the people for whom graduation is intended—seniors, parents, and friends. They should certainly be accommodated.

The only way the commencement committee will become fully aware that these people want a Sunday commencement is for those concerned to let their desires be known. Letters, post cards, verbal urging will do the trick if anything will.

Now is not too early to start campaigning for a Sunday commencement.

We Had a Raid?

Freshmen at Princeton tried their own version of a Wells Hall raid the other night, except the frosh raided a sophomore men's stronghold. Of 400 participants, 60 had their heads shaved, and many more hit the water, or chocolate-syrup and confetti. We'd say our MSC raiders got off lucky.

Red Threat Eyed In Southeast Asia

By J. M. ROBERTS JR., Associated Press News Analyst

The Western Allies are moving toward a united stand regarding the possibility of Communist aggression in southeast Asia, and thus seeking to avoid the mistakes which invited the long and costly war in Korea.

A long list of developments primarily affecting Indochina has created a period of considerable tension, but hardly add up yet to a real crisis. That depends on Politburo plans.

The death of Gen. Jean de Lattre de Tassigny, who only recently had turned the tide against the Vietnamese rebels in Indochina, was a serious blow to France. It just happened to come when France and Britain were conferring with the U.S. over increased American aid for their anti-Communist campaigns in southeast Asia, and when Communist forces in China were making new threatening movements.

The Communists were quick to accuse the western conferees in Washington of planning war in the area. This was taken by many to be another case of accusation parallel with Moscow's own intent. But for the moment it seemed just more propaganda. Each side is trying to warn the other of the dangers of a new outbreak.

Anthony Eden, Britain's foreign minister, said at Columbia University Friday that "it should be understood" that Communist intervention in southeast Asia would create a new situation similar to that met and faced by the United Nations in Korea. This was taken by some to be a warning to the Communists. But its surrounding context and timing in connection with the Anglo-French-American discussions in Washington seemed to make it just as much an appeal for solidarity of Western thinking and preparation.

But for the moment it seemed just more propaganda. Each side is trying to warn the other of the dangers of a new outbreak.

At any rate, enough was taking place to let Russia and the Chinese Communists know that France would not have to stand alone in Indochina, or Britain in Malaya.

Meanwhile, the United States already was committed to action through the United Nations in cases similar to that of Korea. In Paris the nations had voted to have troops ready if that body should issue a new call as it did in 1950. And that seemed, in the long run, to be the way any new aggression would be met, even though the greater part of the preparation would be through the three-power talks in Washington.

At any rate, enough was taking place to let Russia and the Chinese Communists know that France would not have to stand alone in Indochina, or Britain in Malaya.

Government Sees Lag in Employment

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government took another step yesterday in what shaped up as a determined attack on growing unemployment in some civilian industries, especially the auto industry.

And there were signs Congress was becoming increasingly unemployment-conscious.

1. Contacts for such military goods as tanks may now be made on a negotiated basis. Up to now almost all military contracts have gone to the lowest bidder. The government changed that yesterday. Defense Chief Charles E. Wilson said certain emergency laws gave this right to the government.

This means: Even if company A makes a lower bid for delivery of a product than company B, the government may give the job to company B if its plants are located in an area of wide unemployment and other things are equal.

2. A top policy task force met to tackle the job of putting defense work into distressed areas. A defense production official said over the week-end that Detroit, one of the hardest-hit areas, would get new contracts even if "some additional cost may be involved."

On the task force are officials from nine government agencies. It will be asked to make progress reports each two weeks. There is significance in the fact that R. E. Gilmore, brought into the government to run the task force on a full time basis, is an expert on sub-contracting. He is a vice president of the Sperry Corp.

3. The Senate Preparedness Subcommittee has been asked to make a full study of the whole unemployment picture. Senator Morse (R-Ore.) said Monday he has asked Chairman Johnson (D-Tex.) to start as soon as possible. Morse took the Senate floor yesterday to repeat his demand.

Despite hopes of both the United Auto Workers (CIO) and the auto industry for easing of cut-backs of critical materials allocated to the industry for the second three months of this year, there seemed to be every indication that production officials would retain the ceilings announced last week.

As one official put it today "How can we give them more materials when there aren't any?"

Spartan Defense

Spartan Defense
Unchanged by Means

By TOM RYAN

The changes made by Pete Newell when he took over the basketball job at Michigan State in 1950, were from forward to guard of Clarence "Sonny" Means. After watching Means perform at his guard post in game it is hard to believe that this is only his first year at the position.

Means, who is 6'10", 195-52 basketball player, has made the mid-way through the season captured a berth at guard.

When he became the "Spartan" for the "Spartan" finished the "Spartan" top field goal attempt on the squad, his baskets in 102 attempts, of his shots. Capt. Means was the fifth highest on the team with 97.

Means' good shooting personality to set up defense. Means is an offensive player. He usually is the opponent's ace in his assignment.

Means' season only two freshmen's Chuck DeVoe and Bob Clifton, have scored more than 10 points. State's guard coach Means and Gordie.

Means graduated from Saginaw in February, 1946, named to the 1945-46 basketball team and 1944-45 and 1945-46 Valley cage team.

Means' graduation from Saginaw entered the service 18 months in 1944-45 of which were a member of the occupation forces in Korea.

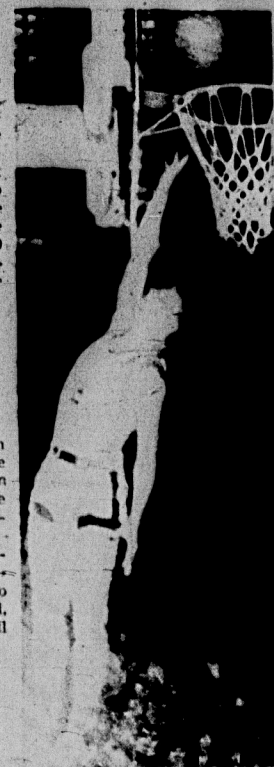

Means enrolled at Michigan State on a physical education course. He also was a Freshman cage squad, forward alongside Bill.

Following season Means was named to the varsity squad. He wasn't a starting player but saw plenty of action and played in every game.

Means' practice of 1950, Newell sent coach John Bennington back to a guard position. Means quickly overcame the handicap of having to learn a strange position and became familiar with State's new style of play. He was rewarded with a starting berth.

Sonny is the only married member of the basketball squad. He wed a home town girl in 1949. Sonny and his wife are currently living in a barracks apartment, looking forward to the day when Sonny will be transferring some of his knowledge and "know-how" to his own team.

Boxing Team Preparing
For Match with Cadets

With only four days remaining before their opening match against West Point, the Michigan State Boxing team has begun final preparations for the match.

A series of challenge bouts will be held this afternoon and Wednesday to select several of the starting positions against the Cadets on Saturday.

Coach Makris has plenty of depth on this year's squad with at least two men in each of the eight weight divisions. A lot of interest will be centered in the 147-pound division as Dick LaForge and Donald Bechtel are challenging NCAA champ Jed Black.

Another bout will find the holder of the NCAA lightweight crown, Chuck Spicer, matched against Wayne Keller. In the 125-pound classification, Jim Evans and Leroy Jeffrey will battle for the starting assignment.

Leon Hamilton and William Greenway will square off in the 165-pound division while Alex Teakiris and Wayne Ketchins will compete for heavyweight honors. Herb Odum, a 139-pounder, will have LaForge as a possible challenger in case the latter fails to win a welterweight berth.

The Cadets defeated MSC last year, 4½ to 3½, and the Spartans are anxious to gain revenge. However, the Army team is as strong or stronger than last year, according to Makris.

The conference standings:

	W	L	T	P	PTS	GA
Denver	5	2	0	10	28	21

Spartans After
Clean Sweep
Against Irish

Michigan State's basketball squad will attempt to keep its perfect record against non-conference opponents intact tonight when it meets Notre Dame at Jensen Gym. The game is scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock.

Notre Dame will be seeking revenge against the Spartan team for an earlier defeat this season at South Bend, when State upset the Irish, 66-52.

In 12 games this season, the Irish have won nine while losing three under the guidance of their new head coach, Johnny Jordan. Michigan State has a season record of nine victories and two defeats. However, the Spartans are undefeated outside the realm of Western Conference basketball, having a 7-0 record.

MSC's big problem tonight will be stopping senior forward Leroy Leslie. In their first meeting, Leslie was held to only nine points by the Spartan defense.

Leslie, who has started every game since he became eligible for varsity competition in his sophomore year, is less than 100 points away from a new all-time Notre Dame scoring record. Held by former All-American Kevin O'Shea, the Irish record is 855 points in three seasons. Leslie, including the first 10 games of this season, had a total of 750 points.

At the other forward position will be 6'3" John Bertrand. Dick Rosenthal, a 6'5" sophomore-center, was the high point man against MSC in their first meeting, scoring 13 points.

At guards, the Irish will have sophomore Enloe Shine and senior Don Strasser.

Junior Varsity Seeks Fourth
Win in Preliminary Tonight

By NICK VISTA

Looking for their fourth win in five starts this season, the Michigan State Junior Varsity cage squad will face the Dearborn Junior College five tonight in a preliminary to the varsity's encounter with Notre Dame.

The contest is set for 6 p.m. in Jensen Fieldhouse, and will be the first of two games that the JV's have on tap this week — Saturday, Coach John Bennington's team will meet the Michigan Junior Varsity at Ann Arbor.

In their last outing, the JV's grabbed an impressive 72-60 victory over Benton Harbor Junior College. Leading the Spartans in that game was Al Ferrari, New York freshman. The 6'2" forward came through with a 20-point splurge, and has been the team's top performer to date.

Also outstanding in recent action have been Bob McCullough, 6'7" freshman center from Grosse Pointe, and Bob Devenny, freshman guard from Philadelphia. Against Benton Harbor, Devenny threw in 18 points, while McCullough contributed 15.

UN Gains, Loses Two Positions

South Koreans Grapple with Reds in West

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Troops of the South Korean First Division Monday momentarily regained and then lost two advanced western front positions which the Chinese Reds seized Dec. 28.

Attacking amid snow flurries at 4 a.m., the South Koreans took one of the heights within 40 minutes but lost it again at 5:50 a.m., the U.S. Eighth Army reported.

The South Koreans took the second position at 5:45 a.m. after a hand-to-hand battle, but lost it at 8 a.m.

The first Red counterattack was made by an estimated two companies (possibly 400 men) while the second was by a force of undetermined size.

There were at least three smaller separate fights nearby, involving as many as 80 Reds each. In one of these, east-northeast of the Panmunjom armistice conference site, the South Koreans were driven from a hill Sunday night but regained it Monday morning.

Elsewhere, the Eighth Army reported only light contacts with small enemy patrols.

The bad weather limited air action, but Allied airmen reported they cut Red railways at 31 places and killed or wounded an estimated 85 Reds near the front.

WKAR to Air Kipling Story

Rudyard Kipling's well-known short story, "The Man Who Would Be King," will be broadcast over WKAR-FM in a radio adaptation by Alpha Epsilon Rho, national radio honorary, tonight at 7:30.

The show, one of a regular series of student productions, is under the directorship of Rudy Etschek, Buffalo, N.Y., graduate student.

Casting of the production has John LaForge, Ironwood junior, playing Dravot and Clayton Roehl, Trenton senior, portraying Billy Fish. The narrator for the program will be George Latchford, Wyandotte junior.

Sound effects will be handled by Al Hagen, Lansing junior, and John Szyperski, Milwaukee, Wis., junior. Engineering for the production will be done by Wes Lambert, Albion, Ill., graduate assistant, and Ray Monte, Trenton junior.

Negotiators Squabble in Truce Talks

Accusations Hurlled As POW Parley Lags

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—

Korean truce talks deteriorated yesterday to a level of bitter name-calling with the Communists accusing an Allied negotiator of engaging in "deceit and a big lie" in urging a prisoner exchange favorable to both sides.

Gen. Adm. R. E. Libby, the United Nations negotiator, demanded the Communists prove the charge or "retract your ill-considered remarks."

"I do not know whether I've been personally called a liar, but I got a strong inference," the American admiral snapped angrily. "He said he would study the record to make sure."

"As a representative of the United Nations Command, I shall not sit here and listen to unfounded charges that the UN command is making a deceitful proposal and engaging in lies," Libby told Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho, the North Korean delegate who had hurled the "lie" charge.

"When you are prepared to continue these meetings as equals on the basis of decency and common courtesy, and when you are prepared either to quit making unsubstantiated charges or to substantiate your charges with facts, then we can proceed with some hope of making progress," Libby informed Lee.

Dawson

Dawson said last night that he didn't know who his assistants were at present but that he promised Ralph Young, athletic director, that he wouldn't disrupt his staff here.

He added that he was very happy at State but the challenge was such that he couldn't refuse. "I have enjoyed working with the officials of MSC, the students and especially the players," he said, "but I will also enjoy being a head coach myself."

Dawson said he wouldn't move to Pittsburgh until he finds a house but hopes to be there by Feb. 1.

"Dawson has been a loyal and fine assistant all the way around. I am very proud that he has been appointed head coach at Pittsburgh and would like to wish him all the luck in the world," Football Coach Clarence (Biggie) Munn of MSC, said.

Dawson, who is 44, could have had the job last summer by merely saying yes. But he turned it down, saying acceptance would mean giving Michigan State a very skimpy notice.

The vacancy was created last July 17 when Pitt Coach Len Casanova suddenly quit to take a coaching job at the University of Oregon. He said his family wanted to live on the coast.

Governmental Experiment

The members of the Congress are acutely aware that their actions are important to the welfare of the young constitution, which tends to make their every move over-cautious and deliberate.

As quoted from the minutes of the Oct. 17 meeting: "This is a crucial year in MSC Student Government. The policy used with the new constitution this year could make or break the Congress."

One flaw in the constitution is that it does not specifically give the Congress the right to introduce an amendment to the document. But the Congress has done that anyway, oblivious of the fact that the one action on which they have spent so much time, an amendment calling for a student tax, may be unconstitutional.

The published version of the constitution states that: "Amendments to this constitution may be proposed by the Student Congress by a petition signed by ten per cent of the qualified voters of the student body."

Gaylord Sheets, president of Student Government, has said that the mimeographed version contains an error whereby the word "or" should be inserted between the words "Congress" and "by." Nevertheless, to all outward appearances, the Congress does not have the power to propose an amendment to the constitution.

But the Congress keeps rolling along.
