

Here Are Your Candidates

Editor's note: No platforms are included from constitutions or offices where there is no contest. A 50 word limit was set for all platforms. The editor took the liberty of condensing longer platforms while not changing the sense and meaning of statements of candidates.

Senior Class

PRESIDENT

DUANE VERNON: The office of Senior President is a job which through my experience as co-chairman of the 1952 J-Hop, president of the Frosh-Soph Council, and other activities, I am capable of fulfilling. It is a job that takes much time and consideration, and I feel that I can give it both.

JOHN WILSON: As candidate for President, I am fully aware of the responsibilities the office presents. I will continue the good job of organizing and administering which our class has received thus far. The successful administration has been responsible for an accumulation of money which has now to be carefully watched and appropriated.

VICE-PRESIDENT

DON MARENTE: My aims correspond to the general functions of the Senior Class, including Water Carnival, Ox Roast and so on. I will strive for the best. Close co-operation is the key to class offices and I feel I am fully qualified to carry out any and all duties I am called upon to perform.

VIRGINIA NOLAN: did not submit a platform for Senior Vice-President.

SECRETARY

ANN RAPSON: Having worked with Student Government for two years, and as secretary of the Congress for the past year, I feel qualified to serve as Senior Secretary. If elected to this office, I will fulfill the responsibilities to the best of my ability through a continuing interest in class activities.

DONNA MAE MEANS: submitted no platform for senior secretary.

Junior Class

PRESIDENT

DICK LAUER: If elected Junior President, I will do the best job possible, always considering the good of the class and disregarding my personal desires. I was treasurer of the Sophomore class and on the executive board of the Frosh-Soph Council. I believe I am well qualified to perform the duties required by this office.

RON TURNBULL: To carry out the wishes of the Junior class is my greatest concern. If elected, I will endeavor to promote more Junior class activities and more class spirit and co-operation. I will seek the understanding of my class members and give them my whole support in any project they wish to undertake.

VICE-PRESIDENT

WALLY BROWN: All the people who vote for me are for closer cooperation between class officers and the students they represent. They want increased cooperation between students and College officials, more and better class projects, and the best J-Hop in MSC's history.

GENE GERMAN: did not submit a platform for Junior Vice-President.

TREASURER

WILLIAM GRAVES: If I am elected I will do my best to fulfill the duties of the office of Treasurer. I would like to see the members of the class of '54 become better acquainted and thus form a more united group by having additional class activities.

DICK MOORE: If I am elected Treasurer I will keep an accurate account of all class money. I have been briefed by this year's Treasurer and feel qualified for this job since I am now assistant treasurer of a campus organization. I will explain where all money has gone. This includes miscellaneous, always a questionable entry.

SECRETARY

HUE HENDERSON: My platform is as follows: 1. Present as good a J-Hop as possible. 2. Hold meetings so students can voice their opinions on student affairs and participate fully in class activities. 3. Have a class project in which the Junior class can contribute to the school. 4. Publicize activities to keep juniors aware of their officers' plans.

DOMINE STARK: If elected Secretary, I will serve the class to my best ability. I believe the J-Hop committee work should be more evenly distributed, giving all those interested an equal opportunity to plan the dance. I will publicize class meetings so all juniors will know what is being accomplished by their officers.

Sophomores

PRESIDENT

BILL PANGBORN: If elected to the office of President of the Sophomore class, I will promote closer unity of its members through a program of varied activities. I am very interested in holding this office and know I can do the job because of my background of experience in similar class offices.

DAN WEBSTER: After serving as chairman on the Frosh-Soph Council, I would like to continue these plans: 1. Charter a bus for an away football game. 2. Introduce a big brother system for freshmen entering winter and spring term. 3. Promote better freshman-sophomore relation, by a weekly coffee hour with Frosh-Soph representatives. 4. Send an advising representative to Freshman Convocation. 5. Enlarge Frosh-Soph Weekend.

VICE-PRESIDENT

MIMI CUMMISKEY: Vice-presidency should not be simply a title. The office should be held by one who is willing to offer effective work in return for this title. If elected, I will assist the Sophomore President in any and all jobs he undertakes providing they are for the good of the class.

CAROLE ANN RAFFERTY: I will do a few things well, rather than many things halfway. 1. Inaugurate a big brother system for winter and spring term. 2. Introduce a weekly coffee hour for class suggestions. 3. Introduce a student opinion poll on controversial campus issues. 4. Prepare a weekly schedule on class activities. 5. Promote a bigger Frosh-Soph Weekend.

SECRETARY

GINNY CARSON: If I am elected I will be an efficient and prompt Secretary. I will help make the Sophomore class a smooth-running and well-organized. I will cooperate with the President and other officers to make the class of '55 most successful.

DIANE FORSYTHE: Being Secretary of the Sophomore class would require the taking of correct minutes and the handling of correspondence. I have had previous experience in holding the office of secretary and am now a member of the Frosh-Soph Council.

Student Congress

EAST LANSING

BOB ROLO: I have served on the Congress two years as Speaker Pro-Tem, Chairman of the Committee on Committees, the Business and State Affairs Committee. I would like to see friendly relations between the greys and independents continue and a stronger IPC. I believe next year important. The tax will be an important asset if handled right.

DAVE MILLER: With nearly three years of experience on the Congress as Speaker and Chairman of the Elections Committee, I feel qualified to ask for re-election. The Congress must prove to the students that the passing of the student tax was a justified expression of confidence in the Student Government.

LOU MILLER: Aims: 1. To work for the best interests of East Lansing students. 2. To promote a closer contact between students and Congress. 3. To see that the student body is well informed of the activities of Congress. 4. To insure intelligent handling of the tax money so as to benefit the students as a whole.

THOMAS VAN TIEM: I believe the support of the new Constitution and careful handling of the tax will be of utmost importance next year. I believe the Student Government should be more independent of the faculty, and would like to see the greys and independents constitute friendly relations.

GEORGE WEEKS: Proper spending of the student tax and alleged election irregularities are of prime concern, but the far greater problem—creating harmony among the Congress, student body, and administration has yet to be solved. To help promote harmony, along with taking stands representative of my district, would be my aim if elected.

JOSEPH GALLOWAY: WILLIAM HESSLER, ARTHUR PULA, PAUL KABAUT, JOAN TUBEN

LANSING

JACK SUBAR: I am supporting a two-point program. 1. A sound budget for spending the tax money which will be collected next fall. 2. A stronger Student Government which will have the power to carry on many new projects.

ROBERT STEELE: As candidate for Lansing Student Congress representative, I stand for three main policies: 1. More social opportunities for off-campus students. 2. More efficient Student Government. 3. A better Lecture-Concert series. If elected I will direct my efforts toward achieving these things and toward working for the benefit of Lansing students.

MEN'S CO-OPS

JERRY DAVIS: When elected I will represent the Men's Co-ops to my best ability. I will keep them informed of the legislation of Congress and strive for efficient spending of student tax money. To accompany these actions I will send a periodical newsletter to each co-op and report at each ICC meeting.

GEORGE HARVEY: I think the first and most important job facing the new Congress is preparation of a budget. This should be done while Gaylord Sheets and other senior Congressmen are still here. The tax, if wisely used, can mean more power, not just for the Student Government, but for students.

MARRIED HOUSING

ROBERT W. BRUCE: Main reason for past difficulty in getting candidates for Congress from Married Housing is that the average married student knows little about Congress activities. I will make married students aware of plans of their government. Congress will decide many important issues next year, and the entire student body should be well represented.

Four other candidates from Married Housing or Barracks who submitted no platforms were:

JAMES HURST, RICHARD DAVIS, WILSON McDOWELL, GEORGE MONAGHAN

WOMEN'S CO-OPS

NYLA WESTERN: My aim is to make WCL an integral part of the Student Congress.

LAUREL FOUNTAIN: also running from Women's Co-ops, submitted no platform.

FRATERNITIES

DON HOSIE: I feel that the Student Government has forgotten that other individuals and organizations exist on campus. It is my aim to at least remind them that other organizations do exist.

Other fraternity candidates who did not submit statements include:

JAMES ARNOLD, ROBERT JACKMEYER, RICHARD SHAW, JOHN WINKLEJOHN

SOUTH WILLIAMS

DOROTHY HAVAC: I have worked for a year on the Public Relations Board of our Student Government. I have seen how it functions and know what responsibility and work is required of Congressmen. I am willing to accept this responsibility and work. I am to do my best to represent my constituents.

ANNE MILLIGAN: also running from South Williams, submitted no platform.

EAST LANSING

JOYCE BLASKO: My past year's work on the Congress as chairman of Eligibility has been valuable. I am interested in the tax and if elected will work to see that it benefits the students. The next year will be important in Student Government and I will work to make it the best.

GEORGIA ZEHM: East Lansing, submitted no platform. Final elections will also be held in the following dormitories from which no candidates submitted platforms: Mason, Phillips, East Shaw, West Mayo, South Campbell, West Landon and Gilchrist.

Letter To The Editor:

Americanism Letter Praised by Reader

TO THE EDITOR: We would like to congratulate Miss Schneidwind for her outstanding "Americanism" letter. It cannot go too far in this respect for the symbol of our country. In light of the fact that that great American and defender of our heritage, General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, is soon to visit our campus, we should take special cognizance of our duties to our national emblem and to the men who march behind it.

More power to you, Miss Schneidwind. During the present onslaught on true American ideals, you stand as a bulwark against anti-patriotism and the individuals who would mock healthy display of true Americanism.

Increased Hitting Gives Cobsmen Bright Future

Scoring Spartans Outlook

John Koba, diamond, finally breaking the jinx that has shackled the Spartans now looking for a brighter Big Ten future.

expressed the team sentiment exactly when he said, "A hit is bound to make a difference to a squad like this. The Spartans now boast a conference record good for place."

Spartans produced as many as taking two out of three Michigan as they had done for six previous Big Ten games. They have now won 24 conference runs with 12 runs against the Wolverines.

Glise, whose homer in the conference tie against Wisconsin, made some noise plays at second base and a valuable defensive honor. On one occasion Glise went back of second base to rob Billings, Wolverine outfielder of a sure hit. Glise's practice came in the third inning and Dick Moser was a long blast over left fielder's head.

Lawson, veteran Spartan pitcher, was the surprise winner. Lawson, who didn't get the job of the Southern League, showed out on the mound, allowing only two hits to opposing pitcher, and a shutout.

Senior will be a well-remembered name in the Spartan history books. Lawson has pitched 12 innings of scoreless ball, blanking Notre Dame in a game of relief last Wednesday.

The Spartans divided practice between Jenison and the chilly practice field. Extensive preparation for the weekend series at Purdue and Indiana will begin today.

Netters Set To Engage Wolverines

The University of Michigan tennis squad will invade the Spartan campus this afternoon to engage Coach John Friedrich's defending Big Ten champions.

The Spartans, who blanked Wisconsin last Saturday 9-0, will be after their third conference victory in four starts, having lost only to the powerful Hoosiers of Indiana in a close 5-4 battle.

As always with a Wolverine squad, the rivalry will be fierce and Friedrich regards his squad's superior rating as practically worthless for today's match. Michigan was beaten by Indiana recently, 7-1.

As usual, Friedrich will send his undefeated No. 1 ace, Stan Drobar, against Michigan's top contender, Al Mann. Tom Bolton, also unbeaten, will take the No. 2 slot against the Wolverines' Steve Bromberg.

John Sahrtman may be back in his No. 3 spot if his injured wrist heals sufficiently. Dick Eiegen, only other undefeated netter, will also play in one of the six singles matches. Three doubles matches will also be played.

The contest, which is rated as the most important of the season by Friedrich, will begin at 7 o'clock with some matches getting underway at three.

'Mural Sidelights

PAIRINGS for Fraternity and All-College tennis are posted at the intramural office. All those entered should play their matches as soon as possible.

ALL-COLLEGE golf entries are being taken at the intramural office.

Double Duty Spartans

Carey and Bender Win High Honors

Bob Carey and Orris Bender, two of Michigan State's top current athletes, have been named winners of the Chester L. Brewer award and Western Conference medal, respectively, two of the highest honors that can come to Spartan athletes.

The conference medal, won by Bender, is given annually by each conference institution to the student in its graduating class deemed to have attained the greatest proficiency both in scholarship and athletics, the selection to be made by the athletic council.

The honor was awarded last year for the first time at State, the initial winner being Everett (Sonny) Grandelius, All-American halfback and heavyweight boxer. The Brewer award won by Carey was established in 1951 in honor of the first full time athletic director at Michigan State.

Carey is an All-American both in football and track and was first string center in basketball for three years. He will win his ninth varsity letter this spring in track. He is Big Ten and Drake Relays shot put champion. Last fall he was captain of the undefeated Spartan football team.

Bender is Big Ten 167-pound wrestling champion and was a finalist in the NCAA championships. He also was captain of the 1952 team. His brother, George Bender, was Big Ten champion at the same weight in 1951.

Spartan Grid Clinic Rated Successful

Approximately 400 high school coaches attended Michigan State's Fifth Annual football clinic Saturday morning as guests of the Spartan coaching staff.

The clinic, inaugurated by Biggie Munn when he first came to MSC, was under the direction of Dan Devine.

"It was a complete success," Munn stated following the intrasquad scrimmage Saturday. Munn led off the clinic by reminding the coaches that they held an important position in the community.

"Only in football does mental, physical and spiritual instruction combine and you football coaches must be prepared to teach young men all three," Munn said.

Hi Becker, Cadillac high school coach; Earle Edwards, MSC coach; Harry Potter, Muskegon high school; Steve Sebo, MSC backfield coach; Alex Chesney, St. Mary's of Redford; Duffy Daugherty, MSC line coach; and Munn, in that order, were the speakers.

The high school coaches were guests of the Spartan staff at a luncheon following the lectures.

THE DU PONT DIGEST

Engineering Unlimited

Training in many different engineering branches opens the door to opportunity at Du Pont

In recent issues of the Digest, we have discussed opportunities for mechanical and chemical engineers at Du Pont. However, this is only part of the picture. The special skills of more than a dozen different branches of engineering are needed on our scientific teams. For example:

Architectural, civil and structural engineers are attached to the central Engineering Department which handles most of the Company's construction projects. In this work they make site investigations, lay out new plants, design buildings, determine construction methods and specify materials and equipment. They also assemble necessary labor forces at field locations and supervise the building and assembly of complex manufacturing facilities.

Electrical engineers aid in designing process equipment and facilities for power generation and distribution, air conditioning and refrigeration. Instrumentation is another important phase of their work. Continuous automatic analyzers for cyanides, ultra-violet gas analyzers, multivariable recorders, and new photo-multiplier circuits are just a few of their developments.

Industrial engineers help develop methods and standards for new or improved manufacturing processes. This work often serves as training for production supervisors.

Metallurgical engineers play an essential part in the central Engineering Department's program of research. Their studies are aimed at improving equipment and construction materials, as well as methods of measurement and control.

Safety engineers strive constantly to improve the broad safety program initiated by the Company's founder 150 years ago. Du Pont is understandably proud of its safety record, which in 1950 was eight times better than the chemical industry's as a whole, and fourteen times better than the average for all industry.

Fred B. Swader, B.Met.E., Rensselaer P.I. '50, examines a pressure strain recorder with Allen R. Furbeck, E.E., Princeton '39.

This Du Pont plant, near Orange, Texas, manufactures nylon intermediates, plastics and heavy chemicals. Engineers attached to The Du Pont Company's central Engineering Department designed the plant and supervised the installation of the manufacturing equipment.

Creative Art Display Assembled in Union

Emphasis on Usefulness Provides Conservative Furniture, Jewelry

By WESLEY CHATMAN

But there was no music by Bartok! Otherwise, all other phases of the modern arts seemed present in the "Design for Living" display sponsored by MSC's Art Department. This handsome assembly of elements of today's creative arts (the first of its kind on campus) is on display in the Union in Room 32, and the Art Gallery until May 21st.

Appearing somewhat conservative, the exhibit which includes items from tie clips to five place accessories can easily be determined the "traditional" amidst the contemporary movement. The emphasis is on function, form, and faithful use of materials. Consequently there are no light fixtures springing from ceramic horse heads, plants sprawling from pastel-hued animal backs, or any object with supports imitating mammal paws.

With each step from the wire and string support announcing the show, past the uninhibited Allen Leepa expressions of exotic controlled color, the George Wexler composition in forms accented with color, the happy James McConnell silk-screened complexities, the mood of the show is established.

The observer is motivated to either action or reaction. Perhaps the most coveted eyes cast in Room 32 are for the "Michener" (MSC alumnus) lamps of wire and spun glass, or the Howard Brown (instructor) wood and iron chair caressed with a tiny jet pillow.

In the Art Gallery proper, desire is certain to be expressed for the collection of hand-made jewelry of silver and ebony—many by MSC students, which shows originality, consummate skill, and feeling for material. The unassuming geometric Noguchi lamp in black and white, or the weightless accessories in black iron are equally intriguing. Inspiration for decorating will come from the use of "fabrics" as a room divider, or the beauty of natural bamboo singularly or in combination.

The choice of drapery fabrics will be complicated in attempting to decide between commercial designs by artists like Anton Refregier or those by Howard Brown and his students. These fabric designs were created with the realization that even when draped the material and design would be in harmony.

No article is superfluously decorated. The silverware is void of etched patterns and other added forms which would detract from the flowing lines which in themselves capture the light and contribute their own abstract design. The ceramic ware, dishes and casseroles are free from unnecessary designs so that the form is not lost by some arbitrary reproduction on its surface.

The articles not only appear harmonious and pleasantly related to each other, but reveal freshness of approach, originality, simplification of design and most of all, is a realization of drawing-board fantasies.

By not crowding the exhibit in one room, the show further proves that these designs are created for spacious, as well as gracious, living.

The fact that no material is used in the show in a manner unnatural to its inherent quality is proof that today's artist has not forsaken nature. Instead, there is evidence, as in the examples of wooden bowls, and salad servers, that nature has been the source of the artist's inspiration.

General's Life Threatened by Red Prisoners

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Tough Communist war prisoners threatened to kill Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd and stage a wholesale break if the Army attempted to rescue him from four days imprisonment in a Kojie Island compound.

This was disclosed yesterday in a statement read by the former Kojie Island prison commander after the Army lifted a tight veil of secrecy on details of the bizarre incident.

In Tokyo, Gen. Mark W. Clark—new Allied supreme commander—described as "unadulterated blackmail" the Communist demands for concessions made while Dodd was held hostage from Wednesday to Saturday night. Clark succeeded Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway Monday.

Clark said that Brig. Gen. Charles F. Cohen, new commander of Kojie, sent the Communist prisoners an ultimatum to release Dodd by 8 p.m. Saturday or the Army would use force. This tough stand doubtless hastened the Reds' decision to release Dodd—although he was not freed until 9:30 p.m.

Clark hinted that some concessions granted the prisoners might not be honored. The concessions included the right to organize, and put an end to "forcible screening or any rearming of prisoners."

ROTC to Stage Night Tactics Demonstration

The Military Department will stage a demonstration of common sights and sounds on the battlefield at night for ROTC students and the public tomorrow evening. It will begin at 8:30 on Old College Field.

Purpose of the show will be to familiarize military students with night operations, pointing out mistakes which can be costly in after-dark combat, according to Col. C. C. Clendenen, F.M.S. & T.

Field artillerymen will fire a 105 mm howitzer as one attraction of the performance. Instructors will stress night observation and movement, and the audience will be asked to identify sounds and point out locations of objects.

Lt. Col. Charles W. Reeves and a group of ROTC cadets will run the demonstration, which will be narrated by Maj. John N. Johns.

The Military Department has asked that spectators be in their seats in the baseball stands by 8:30.

Circulating posters for the Senior Ball, "Grand Premiere," which will be held in the auditorium on May 23 are seniors Jean Sweeney, East Lansing, Mick Drummond, Detroit, Jack Brennan, Detroit, Jim Totten, Detroit, Jim Slezak, Bay City, and Jim McCarthy, Detroit. Tickets will go on sale in the Union today. For seniors and will be available for all other students tomorrow.

Conducts Legislative Proceedings

Student Congress Speaker Has Little to Say at Meetings

The Speaker of MSC's Student Congress is a person with all the say, yet has nothing to say, in meetings.

As Vice-President of Student Government, the Speaker conducts the weekly meetings of the legislative branch, of Congress. As presiding officer, he has "all the say," — being in charge of the proceedings.

Eisenhower Against Billion Dollar Cut In Foreign Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said yesterday that to cut much more than a billion dollars out of the American foreign aid program would have a profound effect "both in discouraging our friends and encouraging those potentially hostile to us."

It was the second time in five days that Eisenhower, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, has expressed his views on the $7,900 million program presented to Congress by President Truman.

Congressional committees already have sliced about one billion dollars off the bill, and there are demands in some quarters for still further trimming.

Eisenhower's cable yesterday was in reply to one from Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, who had asked whether the trimmed-down bill "is adequate to the job of building the defense of the free world against aggression."

Conference Opens 7 Workshops on Problems of Aged

A host of problems facing Michigan's aging population were up for discussion today as the Michigan Conference on Ageing opened in the Union building.

Over 400 persons from 192 health, mental health, employment, educational and community service groups throughout the state had registered yesterday.

Analysis of problems affecting older people in seven workshop groups began yesterday afternoon. Each of the seven workshops will be faced with a series of questions posed for discussion.

Atomic Energy Program Set For May 20-21

A program to spread information on the facts and future of atomic energy will begin with a two-day conference May 20 and 21 in Kellogg Center.

Specialists in peace-time usage of atomic energy from the Argonne National Laboratory in Chicago will participate, along with nuclear energy experts from Massachusetts Institute of Technology and the University of North Carolina.

Specialists conducting research with radioactive isotopes on campus, Dow Chemical Company of Midland, and the Detroit Edison Company will also contribute.

The central theme of the program is to make information concerning atomic energy available to people who can apply it in their special fields. All sessions will be open to the general public with an expected attendance of 100.

Others invited to attend the opening conference include representatives in chemical, manufacturing and power industries, engineering and science teachers in colleges and high schools, executives from industry, and technicians in public health and Civil Defense organizations.

Planning officials will operate on the assumption that persons attending the convo have no prior knowledge of the subject.

Sponsors of the program are the College's Department of Mechanical Engineering and the Continuing Education Service. Chairman of the program is Prof. Donald J. Renwick, of the Mechanical Engineering Department.
