Sense of Values

Robert B. Martin, state auditor general, left himself wide open to criticism Monday night when he urged MSU's AAUP members to instill favorable attitudes in students concerning the functioning of our government.

His plea to make students aware of the need for interest participation in government is certainly a justified point. But the ramifications of instilling personal attitudes of instructors in students poses a question of which faculty members have long been aware.

Instructors are consistently faced with the question of whether or not to teach in a completely objective manner. Many feel, and rightly so, that by putting personal ideas into course material, the subject matter can be made more real.

This is true when the instructor requires only agreement on basic principles and not on interpretations by students. The encouragement of argument and consideration of conflicting attitudes on a particular subject is one of the most important contributions an instructor can make.

In urging that pro-democratic attitudes be instilled in students, it seems that Mr. Martin was not squarely facing the issue of what makes students interested in participating in government, whether by conscientious voting or office-holding.

The thing which will increase interest of young people is an awareness of the wrongs in our system as well as the rights, and a knowledge that changes can be made to correct contradictions, both social and political.

Value judgments which go into making evaluations of rights and wrongs, strengths and weaknesses of ours and other forms of government, are partially taught through careful interpretations of facts by instructors.

But deliberate subtle attempts lead to an eclipse of the goal of effective instruction—in produce thoughtful individuals.

When thought is dictated it cannot be the individual's thinking. The individual has no incentive for activities which will carry out his goals for himself, his society or his government.

Without thinking there can be no interest; and without interest, no participation.

Only when students are aware that their individual views and personal hopes for action toward the common good are worth consideration will they be moved to take the part in government which is necessary for the survival of democratic processes.

More Censorship

The University of Michigan Lecture Committee issued its fourth denial of campus speaking privileges this year on Saturday.

The Lecture Committee is a faculty group charged with the responsibility of screening speaker choices of University groups and deciding whether they are acceptable or not.

Its latest denial was issued against the Unitarian Student Group and the Students for Democratic Action. They had planned to jointly sponsor a pro and con discussion of the question, "Is the U.S. Government Practicing Genocide against the Negro People?"

Genocide is the term used to describe planned extermination of a religious or racial group. A genocide charge has been leveled against the U.S. by Communists. The banned speaker represented the Civil Rights Congress, an organization cited as a Communist front.

In issuing its denial the Lecture Committee has in effect stated that students at the University must be protected against persons holding undesirable beliefs or affiliations.

The fact that the debate was to be sponsored by a non-partisan religious group and a responsible political organization evidently did not weigh too heavily with the Lecture Committee. The effect of its decision has been to deny students opportunity to decide for themselves what credence to give to the question.

Letter To The Editor: Coed Fears IFC Plan Won't Help

TO THE EDITOR:

In regard to the editorial of Tuesday, "A Provocative Step," it seems to me that unfortunately, that is all that any movement toward ending racial and religious discrimination is—a provocative step.

Many fraternities are especially strong in the South and because of the stronger sentiments there, I am afraid that many of the fraternities would be unsuccessful in changing their charters until the importance of this movement is felt in the South. This is unfortunate, for I agree that a great many attitudes about fraternities would be changed if this plan could be realized.

However, will a change in the charters really effect deep rooted prejudices that many of us have?

At least efforts of the IFC are a truly noble start at ending discrimination, perhaps our greatest enemy, individually, nationally, and internationally.

Student Decries Killing Of Dog by Campus Police

TO THE EDITOR:

Something happened on this campus today that would make anybody with any trace of decency inside him so mad, disgusted, and nauseated that he'd be ashamed to think that a person of authority could use that authority to kill a dog that was known and loved by a great many of the students on campus, and in so doing, also endanger the lives of those same students.

As low and rotten as this act was, the manner in which it was done was even lower.

Anyone would think that of all people, a policeman would have a knowledge of fire arms, and with such knowledge, would hesitate to use a 22-caliber rifle on a 50-pound Collie. Such a weapon has been proven effective for such small game as rats, squirrels, birds and tin cans, and even larger animals at close range.

But today such a gun was turned on my Collie, and to make it worse, the officer shot from his car window and at such a range that he did not kill the dog. He only succeeded in wounding him, causing him to die in my arms an hour and a half later from internal bleeding, an extremely painful death at the least.

The officer did not even have the decency to show up at the hospital to view his handy work, as he promised to do. No doubt he was suffering from a fit of conscience, if it is possible for such a man to have one.

I am not asking for sympathy in this letter, for such is not my aim. I am only asking that such rules that make it the duty of an officer to act in such a manner be looked into and changed.

ree Crucial Games on Tap for Weekend

Smarting from Monday's 5-4 loss to the University of Detroit, Michigan's baseball team will begin preparations for the Big Ten weekend games.

Spartans, who hold a 7-5 record, haven't been out of the title chase as they will have to sweep the weekend games to keep a season's hope.

Imposing barriers to winning are the Wisconsin and Northwestern teams. The Badgers will play the Spartans in Madison Friday, while the Wildcats will play them in Evanston Saturday.

The three-game set will mark the Spartans' last chance to advance in Big Ten play. The Wisconsin, but five games behind, scrapes for the title.

Kobe indicated a new movement in Monday's game against the Spartans. He was named Star Turner, who was named Star Turner, who was named Star Turner.

Michigan State's Union-sponsored bowling team showed a team record this season of one first and three seconds in four matches plus individual achievements of taking the Big Ten All-Events championship and the doubles championship last month. Pictured standing are (left to right): Capt. Ted Pomiatowski, Jack LaBelle, Ed Courtemanche, and Stan Kurzman. Kneeling are Don Siegan and LeRoy Smith. The Spartans rolled three matches against Michigan, Michigan Normal and Wayne, winning the first at Michigan Normal and then placing second to Michigan at Ann Arbor and second to Wayne on the Spartans' home alleys. In the Big Ten Union Bowling tournament held at Minneapolis, MSC's team garnered their share of glory as they finished second to Illinois in the team event, while Pomiatowski and Smith combined for the doubles championship. Smith took top honors in the All-Events. Others who have bowled with the Michigan State team are Paul Rabaut, Bill Knapp and Jerry Peterson.

Betting Favors Hairston Over Aging Bronx Bull

DETROIT (AP)—Eugene (Silent) Hairston, an on-the-upgrade 22-year-old, ranks a slight betting favorite to whip Jake LaMotta, aging Bronx Bull, in their 10 round middleweight fight at Olympia Stadium tonight.

Hairston was given a 6-5 edge by the betting fraternity, although he was held to a draw here March 5 by the 30-year-old La Motta, once the mid-dleweight champ.

The fight will be telecast and broadcast nationally, starting at 9 p.m. The original draw, 10,000 and promoter Nick London said that advance ticket sales indicated an even larger crowd tonight.

Young Hairston hasn't fought since his draw with La Motta, but his manager, Mike Miele, reported him in sharp condition.

Miele said the rest was planned ahead of the La Motta draw. "Because it was too much for him to be going at the pace he had against top opponents," Miele said.

La Motta, who proclaims himself on the comeback trail, has fought once since March.

John Marshall, one of the stars on the Yale swimming team, was a member of the Australian Olympic swim squad in 1948.

Davey to Referee Four-Bout Mat Card To Help Olympics

A four-bout card demonstrating college, Olympic and professional wrestling styles and featuring Cruck Davey, ranking welterweight boxing challenger, as a referee, will be staged at the Olympic fund benefit wrestling show Thursday night.

The show, beginning at 8 p.m., will be held in the gymnasium of Lansing Eastern High School. All seats are general admission. Tickets are available at Jenison Fieldhouse.

All proceeds will go toward aiding expenses of Olympic team wrestlers for the United States this summer, one of whom is Dale Thomas, Michigan State physical education instructor. Thomas won the 191-pound class championship in the Olympic trials recently.

The bouts as announced by Thomas are:

1. Herb Austin, Eastern High School state champion, versus Ruben Shehagian, Michigan State varsity wrestler, in a collegiate style match.

2. Larry Fowler, Michigan State heavyweight wrestler who prepped at Lansing Eastern, and Gayle Mikles, Michigan State assistant wrestling coach who was an NCAA champion a few years back, versus Thomas in a "cut throat" bout involving both collegiate and Olympic style wrestling.

3. Jimmy Sinadinos, Eastern High School state champion and a competitor in the Olympic trials this spring, versus Bob Gunner, of the Michigan State varsity, in an Olympic style bout.

4. Irlend Merrill, Michigan State faculty member and former Spartan wrestling star who was on the Olympic team in 1948, versus Thomas in a professional style bout.

5. Jimmy Sinadinos, Eastern High School state champion and a competitor in the Olympic trials this spring, versus Bob Gunner, of the Michigan State varsity, in an Olympic style bout.

Spring Dorm Raids Sweep Universities Across the Nation

Near-Riots Seen on Nine Campuses Monday Night

Spring madness swept another batch of college campuses Monday night, turning thousands of feverish young men into baying, brawling raiders.

Nearly a dozen schools witnessed riots or near-riots as the males stormed coed dormitories in search of souvenirs. It was the biggest outbreak yet in the snow-balling, weeks-old fad.

It was good clean fun in some spots. But not in Columbia, Mo., where the National Guard was called out to cope with rioting University of Missouri students. And not at Colorado University where one youth broke his hip.

Some 3,000 Missouri students went wild on their own campus, and then raided two nearby girls' schools, Stephens and Christian Colleges.

Firecrackers exploded during a three-hour siege of girls' dorms by 1,000 University of Alabama men.

State police were called to aid local forces at Burlington, Vt., when 800 University of Vermont men roamed the campus. Rocks and tear gas filled the air and at least two students were injured.

Coeds sparked a fairly good natured demonstration at Northwestern University by serenading in front of men's dormitories. Some 1,000 males responded with a raid on the girls' residences.

Pickings were scarce at the University of Minnesota, where 500 students stormed three women's dormitories.

More than 1,000 intrigued University of Wisconsin men made their way into three coed halls but their mood was peaceful and there were no incidents.

College Radio Stations to Air Atom Speeches

Atomic energy, music and baseball will highlight the programs of college stations WKAR and WKAR-FM this week.

Today at 10:30 a.m., Sam H. Schurr, chief economist of the U.S. Bureau of Mines, will discuss the "Economic Aspects of Nuclear Power."

Franz Schubert's "Mass in A Flat Major" and "The Singing of the Spirits Upon the Waters" was performed last night at 8:15 p.m. The orchestra will be under the direction of Gomer L. Jones of the Music Department. The performance is part of the annual "Fine Arts Festival."

Big Ten baseball is scheduled Friday and Saturday. Friday, State plays the University of Wisconsin at Madison. Broadcast time is 4:30 p.m.

Saturday WKAR will air a double header with the University of Chicago beginning at 2:30 p.m.

All-Schubert Program Lauded

By L. WESLEY CHATMAN

With vitality and sympathetic regard for the All-Schubert program, the MSC chorus, soloists, and orchestra directed by Gomer L. Jones gave a pleasing, energetic performance in the College Auditorium last night. In spite of rain, the small audience was larger than that on Monday evening.

In giving the "Singing of the Spirits Upon the Waters" a muted canvas of earthy colors, the well-chosen, well-blended octet sang in laudable unison.

Jones' program notes wasted no affection for Schubert's banalities in the "Mass in A-Flat Major." Yet in his grandiose conducting, Jones' accelerated pacing kept the entire ensemble rhythmically alert in an apparent and successful attempt to minimize the triteness.

So dynamic a conductor was obviously needed for the "Mass" and the results left the sweet-sounding melodies and the dynamic surprises memorable and lingering. The brass section was exceptional in its fulfillment of the "Mass" demands.

The works for such a large group demanded complete integration and a high degree of skill. The resultant emotional power and excellent sensitivity to the contrasting moods was proof of that challenge well met.

Roast to Feature Baseball Game, Greased Pig Race

The field cast of the Livestock Pavilion on South Campus will be the scene of the annual all-college ox roast tomorrow at 5:30.

Jerry Hull, secretary of Ag Council, the sponsoring group, announced that blue jeans and dungarees will be in order for the meal and following events.

A baseball game between Ag clubs will be featured, as well as a sack race, chicken chase for coeds, a greased pig race for men and a hog-calling contest, Hull added.

Disabled Veterans Allowed Schooling

Disabled war veterans meeting Veterans' Administration requirements may begin vocational training under Public Law 16, as long as they can finish by the program's wind-up on July 25, 1956.

History Group Hears Speech On Business

Members of Phi Alpha Theta, national history honorary, heard Prof. Walter Adams of the Economics Department speak on "Is Big Business Bad?" at their annual banquet and initiation recently in the Union.

Prof. Adams proposed that our anti-monopoly laws be modified so that excessive size could be permitted where it was necessary to insure efficient business operation.

He emphasized the importance of vigorous competition, saying, "Enterprise which is not competitive cannot for long remain free."

Thirteen juniors, seniors, and graduate students were initiated into the honorary before the faculty of the History Department, History of Civilization Department and undergraduate members of the honorary.

Letter

I hope that there are other decent people who will share my feelings in this matter.
