First Drama Quartette to Play Friday

Price Now in Cast Of 'Don Juan in Hell'

Vincent Price, new member of the First Drama Quartette, will appear in "Don Juan in Hell" Friday night in the Auditorium. He replaces Charles Laughton, now playing as Henry VIII in the Hollywood production of "Young Bess."

Featuring the George Bernard Shaw work will be Charles Boyer as Don Juan, Price as The Devil, Sir Cedric Hardwicke as The Statue and Agnes Moorehead as Donna Anna.

Vincent Price

"Love Affair," and "Gaslight." He started his acting career in France's national acting school, the "Conservatoire" of Paris.

Price has toured the country playing in T. S. Eliot's "The Cocktail Party," and has appeared on the stage, TV and in movies such as "Sons of Bernadette," "Eve of St. Mark," "Dragonwyck," "Lure," and "His Kind of Woman."

Price, who originally intended to be an art professor, graduated from Yale University and received his M.A. degree from the University of London.

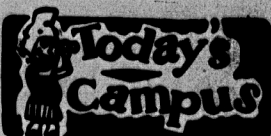

"One of Hardwicke's greatest honors was being knighted by King George V of England for his acting in 'The Barretts of Wimpole Street,' 'Heartbreak House,' 'Back to Methuselah,' and 'The Apple Cart,' which playwright George Bernard Shaw dedicated to him."

The only female member of the cast, Miss Moorehead, got her start in the theatre at the age of 12 when she joined the ballet of the St. Louis Opera Co. against her family's wishes.

She is also a veteran of many movies and has appeared on numerous radio and TV shows.

First presentation of "Don Juan in Hell" by the group was made on January 1951. The tour will continue until Dec. 15 of this year.

Admission prices are 50 cents per person, with the proceeds going to the fund for the Music Room in the Union.

A sophomore dramatics student says he hopes to sign up the MSC library custodians to do their "fix the light" routine in college libraries all over the land.

The soph explains that he was in the library a couple of weeks ago and witnessed the act, complete with a shaky ladder and a ceiling light, and was as spellbound as the rest of those present.

Adds the soph, "This act could replace high diving and county fair parachute jumping. It has all the noise of the midway, too."

... Exuberance?

"It's in the Book," that jolly recording that is raising a variety of emotions, also raised a few lumps in the Union grill the other day. Somebody yanked the juke box plug to shut it off, someone else plugged it back to play another record, somebody got excited, somebody swung, and "It's in the Book" almost led to "It's on the Police Blotter."

... It's One Sure

An old grad, about to depart after a big Homecoming weekend, commented ruefully that, "Cure the next time he starts to imbibe too freely, he'll 'slit the throat, so it will all run out again.'"

Student Jailed For Driving Sans License

James Brough, Grosse Ile senior, is in Ingham county jail serving a five-day sentence for driving while his driver's license was revoked.

East Lansing police arrested Brough early Sunday as he drove his car into a parking lot. He pleaded guilty before Justice Henry Schramm and was charged $4.30 in addition to the jail sentence.

James A. McCain, Farmington sophomore, was arrested by police after he drove through a fence and across a lawn in East Lansing at 3:30 a.m. Sunday. He was released and ordered to settle the matter with the owner and to report to the dean of students.

Student Shot While Hunting

Robert Auer, Jackson senior, was shot accidentally while hunting 20 miles west of Lansing yesterday.

He was shot in the left hip by his hunting partner, Larry Buhstorf, and taken to St. Lawrence hospital where his condition is reported not serious. He is expected to be released tomorrow.

Auer lives in Trailer Village and is a conservation major.

McCarthy Blisters Adlai In 'Magnificent Smear'

McCarthy Lashes At Adlai Aides

Senator Associates Stevenson, Hiss

CHICAGO (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, in a slashing attack on Gov. Adlai Stevenson and his advisors, said Monday night that the Nov. 4 election will decide whether America or Communism wins.

The Republican senator from Wisconsin also charged:

1. That Democratic presidential nominee Stevenson "is part and parcel of the Acheson-Hiss-Lattimore group."

2. Endorses "suicidal Kremlin-shaped policies for America."

3. Once had a plan for "foisting Communism" on the Italians after Mussolini's fall.

McCarthy voiced sharp criticism of Stevenson's advisors.

He said Wilson Wyatt, Stevenson's "personal manager," is a former head of the "leftwing Americans for Democratic Action." He said perhaps the key figure in Stevenson's camp "is his speech writer, Arthur Schlesinger Jr., former vice-president of the leftwing ADA."

Another of Stevenson's speech assistants, McCarthy said, is Bernard DeVoto, who he said "has violently attacked our strongest defense against Communism, the FBI."

He said another "Stevenson ghost writer" is James Wechsler, adding "Wechsler and his wife both admit having been members of the Young Communist League."

Archibald MacLeish, McCarthy said, was another man in the Democratic candidate's camp and "MacLeish has been affiliated with as vast a number of Communist fronts according to the Un-American Activities Committee as any individual whom I have ever named."

"This is the man who brought Stevenson into the State Department," McCarthy said. "This is the man who Stevenson now has helping him on his campaign. The Democratic candidate says, 'Judge me by my friends and advisors.'"

McCarthy made these charges in his long-awaited "Stevenson Story" which he had said would show Stevenson's connections with known Communists and communist causes.

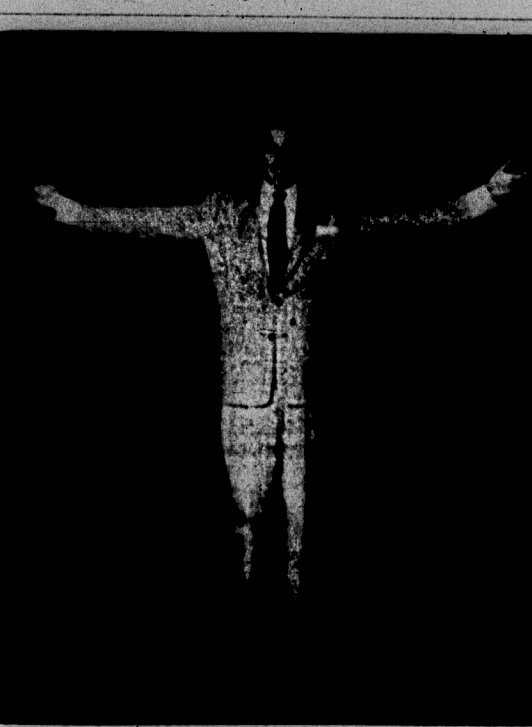

McCarthy said the Daily Worker eight days ago "damned Eisenhower" and then went on to say "that they did not like Stevenson too well, either, but that if Communists want to vote for Stevenson—okay, vote for him—but vote for no one else on the Democratic ticket—elect local Progressive party candidates and pile up a big vote for those Communist candidates who are in the field."

"This, my good friends, is the Communist jargon which is un-See McCarthy, Page 4"

Stan Kenton strikes a nationally famous pose as he welcomes the audience at last night's 'Biggest Show of '52'.

Sarah, King Cole Acclaimed Kenton 'Knocks Out' Large L-C Audience

By REV BUSCH

Music, music everywhere. And the sell-out crowd that thronged into the Auditorium last night to see the talent-packed "Biggest Show of '52" wanted more when it was over.

It started with the mighty Kenton orchestra playing powerhouse arrangements of numbers like "Collaboration" and "Lamplight" which emphasized motion and unusual instrumentation. Then they switched into the moodier, compelling "September Song," a complete contrast to the earlier, bashful work.

Later, the man who put progressive jazz on America's mind inspired his men through "Intermission Riff," and the last solo by the group, an ear-splitting, dramatic number featuring Maynard Ferguson and his trumpet. Although it looked like he was going to explode, Ferguson hit the high notes with all the force of an athlete riling the gang at a county fair.

With Kenton's musicians providing the fine accompaniment, Sarah Vaughan won the audience with "Oh, What You're Doing To Me," and a new release, "Corner to Corner."

Miss Vaughan's warm and mellow voice makes her sound like she's singing to individuals, sounded best on ballads "Street of Dreams," "Tenderly," and the buoyant rhythmic "Perdido."

The third highlight of the show was Nat "King" Cole, who has enjoyed a high rank among the nation's male vocalists for years.

He carried his way through "Because You're Mine," and one of his latest hits, "Somebody Along the Way," then made his audience jump to "Walking My Baby Back Home," "I'm Never Satisfied," "That's My Girl," and one of his first recorded numbers, "Route 66."

Some where along the program's way, various entertainers, including four energetic dancers, a winsome singer, a clever mimic, an indefatigable tap dancer and a slapstick comedy team added enough variety to the show.

Ike Blasted For 'Empty Promises'

Stevenson Accuses GOP of Vote Luring

EN ROUTE WITH STEVENSON IN NEW ENGLAND (AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson charged Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower Monday with promising something he can't deliver—an early peace in Korea.

Moreover, the Democratic presidential nominee told generally large and enthusiastic New England crowds that by making voting promises of "a quick and easy end" to the struggle his Republican opponents "may have delayed an armistice."

He struck out in advance at what he said he expects to be "the most magnificent of all smears of all time by Sen. Joseph McCarthy, Wisconsin Republican, on television and radio Monday night."

Stevenson defended the Democratic record on Communism.

"When the history of our times is written, there is little doubt that the Democratic Party will be seen by all the historians to have been the most successful foe that Communism ever has had," he told a train-side crowd of about 4,000 persons at Woonsocket, R.I.

The Illinois governor led off on Eisenhower's Korean views before a throng, estimated at 11,000 persons by the Providence Journal, in Providence's City Hall square. He outdrew his GOP rival and President Truman in that Democratic area.

Stevenson said Eisenhower had "led the people to believe that if they will trust him, he will find a way out" of the Korean stalemate. Having told a Brockton, Mass., crowd earlier in the day that no one knows when the war will end, he added:

"Americans are distrustful of men who tell them 'follow me' and won't say where they are going."

Stevenson told a howling, cheering crowd estimated at 5,000 packed into the railroad station at New Haven, Conn., that the Republicans had resorted to "shame and villageries in the campaign."

Asserting that the only Republican refrain was "it's time for a change," the Democratic nominee said:

"I don't think I have to talk to the American people in words of our syllable or in generalities—like some generals."

He said Eisenhower had recommended that the voters return to the Senate "the worst collection of isolationists the country has ever known."

Stevenson said he is glad that Eisenhower "shares our desire to end the Korean war the best way we can" but he added that the Republican presidential nominee See ADLAI, Page 4

Congress Newsletter Set for Distribution

By FRANK BUTKIEWICZ

Distribution of 8,000 copies of the first Student Government Newsletter has been set for today.

The four-page paper, about the size of Campus Capsules, will be available at voting tables and at all dormitories.

Editor V. Glen Washburn said that the letter is being published because he feels the "State News is definitely used in its coverage."

The purpose for the Newsletter is to show both sides of the story, Washburn said. "Obviously a newspaper is what they weren't they would have to run two stories on the same issue by different people."

The first letter is devoted mainly to the controversial question with a front page editorial explaining the purpose of the Newsletter. Stories in the paper are both pro and con arguments on the issues.

Cost of the paper is estimated at less than $50 per copy, Washburn said. A page and one-half of advertising has been solicited in an attempt to keep the cost down.

The advertising indicates that people outside the campus are interested in the publication and the Student Government, Washburn said.

Recent Congress appropriations will permit the printing of three more issues this term.

Campus Chest Gifts Lag as Deadline Approaches

Contributions for the Campus Community Chest are "lagging" the drive director said last night.

Ed Spangler estimated that the drive would be $500 short of its $22,250 quota if contributions continue at their present rate. Last night the Chest had reached $18,600.

Spangler said that the Chest apparently short of its goal for this year. He asked to increase contributions in the last few days of the drive.

Contributions for the Chest are being accepted at the School of Education, the School of Home Economics, and the Department of Social Education, all have different deadlines.

Group Open to All Students

Students with a flair for acting have an opportunity to gain experience through Studio Theater.

The group, open to all interested students, serves as a training center and offers students a chance to earn the 12 drama points required for Theta Alpha Phi, dramatics honorary.

Studio Theater will present seven one-act plays this term. Productions will be directed by members of the directing class offered by the Speech Department.

Studio Theater Acts as Training Center

Most of the technical work behind the scenes is done by class laboratory groups in various drama courses.

No admission is charged for these Studio Theater performances because the group derives all funds from Studio Majors Night, a three-act play presented each term complete with sets and costumes.

A student is automatically a member of Studio Theater if he works on one of the group's plays. Meetings are held after each production.

Last Thursday Studio Theater presented its first two productions, "I'm A Fool" and "Submerged." Nov. 6 the group will present "The Balcony Scene," "Romancers" and "Box and Cox."

"Glittering Gate," and "High Window" will be dramatized Nov. 13.

Freshmen and sophomore students interested in acting in term plays will find Studio Theater a good place to get added training," said Bea Hubbard, group president.

Campaign Promises

Campus politics are, in the final analysis, much the same as politics on a larger scale.

There is much unrecognized hard work done behind the scenes. Promises are made and kept or broken. There is controversy and ballyhoo.

MSC's campus politics are no exception. This year's Student Congress has at its disposal a new means of support. Naturally, part of the campaign for passage of this tax included where the money would go.

Students should not be too impatient for immediate results from the quarters which went into the Congress till. With the trebling of the budget, it is to be expected that problems in finance will also treble, resulting from the tax campaign.

The most striking example is the proposal for free bowling shoes in the Union bowling alley. The shoes were promised last year as part of the tax campaign by some congressmen.

The management of the bowling alley, Union Board and the management of the Union were not consulted on the feasibility of such a project.

The bowling shoe issue has been magnified far beyond proportion. But students who voted "yes" on the tax because they wanted free bowling shoes have every right to expect them.

This places the ball squarely in the hands of this year's Congress. They are obligated to those students who expect free bowling shoes in the Union alleys.

There are other promises which have not been mentioned this year. One of them was a plan to hold campus-wide student convocations in the Auditorium. These were designed as question and answer sessions between students and administrative representatives or speakers with topics of general interest to students.

The main idea was to develop closer relations between college officials and students.

Convocations of this type would be an asset. The problem of adequate communication channels between the administration and students is a big problem in all large universities.

But whether or not they are practical is another question.

Student Government has inherited some thorny problems. The only means of defeating impatience will be to return 25 cents' worth of service to the student pocket.

Half-Time Entertainment

With four performances under its new white belt the MSC band has proved that it ranks with the best in the Big Ten.

Spartan fans since 1949 have seen a vast improvement in half-time entertainment that parallels the improvement of the two quarters before and the two quarters after the half-time period. Demonstrations of marching such as at the Syracuse game and entertainment such as last Saturday exemplify the band's ability.

Although MSC's unit may lack the national recognition given such bands as the University of Michigan and Ohio State, we are proud of its performances this year. It is in part through such marching and playing that MSC will gain greater recognition in the music field.

New green and white uniforms add color to performances. But band members this year have added even more sparkle with their playing and marching.

U. S. to Spend $10 Billion on 2 Jet Bombers

SEATTLE (AP)—America will spend $10 billion on its high-speed atom bomb striking force, the B-47 and B-52 jet bombers, a Boeing Airplane Co. executive said Sunday.

Wellwood Beall, Boeing senior vice-president, told a group of visiting San Francisco newspapermen he believed the expenditure to be one of the largest by any nation on a single type weapon.

He added, however, he had no way of comparing the jet bomber program with this country's cost of developing the atom and hydrogen bombs.

Beall emphasized at the news conference that the $10 billion for the two Boeing bombers covers past, present and future spending and includes all phases of the program. The Air Force has chosen them as its medium and heavy bombers.

The government is not buying $10 billion worth of planes from us," he said. "That amount includes research, development, factory buildings, perhaps an airport or two and everything that contributes directly or indirectly to production of the bombers."

Beall said the $10 billion figure came from a top defense official whose name could not be revealed.

He also said the eight-jet B-52 "will transform the six-jet B-47 in every respect" including speed. The B-47 has been listed in the 600-mile-an-hour class. Two experimental models of the B-52 have been built, but all performance data has been secret.

Voters to Take 'Joy Ride' Election Night

JACKSON (AP)—Nearly 100 young people will go for a city-wide "Joy Ride" the night before election, looking for dark-eyed perches.

It won't be a hangover from Halloween.

It will be Operation Perchlight of Jackson's unique First Timers' Club, aimed at getting out the vote Nov. 4.

The club is composed of persons eligible to vote for the first time in a presidential election. For the past two months the youths have been working hard to make Jackson people vote-conscious.

Next Monday night all of Jackson's residents are supposed to turn on their porch lights to signify their intent to vote.

The First Timers, dividing the city into 18 districts, will cruise around in individual cars looking for dark-eyed perches. When they find one, they'll knock at the door and ask the householder to vote, if he can.

Richard Hitt, 23-year-old chairman of the group, explained it this way: "Lights shining all over town will serve as a mass expression of citizenship, and will help remind others of the importance of voting."

The Dean's List

By DEAN WAKEFIELD

Honorable mentions on the Dean's List this week go to the following for their outstanding performances:

Joe Dwyer and Virgil Snyder, organizers of the petition for a referendum on the student tax. It's one of the greatest privileges in a democratic country to be able to call your opponent's hand in a game like this. The manner in which the Student Congress responds to a challenge like this, one should prove once and for all just where their intentions lie in regard to the levy and the manner in which they're handling it.

Whoever caught the Nittany Lion. Enough "English-looking explorers around to remind one of Tanganyika."

Lovely Dee Means, who more than lived up to the claim that State dees are the loveliest dolls walking. Even if she did dissect frogs once.

William L. Davidson, director of the MSC Fund, for the valuable part he played in securing six new bells for the Beaumont Carillon.

The members of all the winning Homecoming display committees for each individual living unit. It's a thankless job, and those who pass up the work for something else are the ones who cry the most when the entry fails to place. They'll do it every time.

Gridder Doug Robo, who was presented the Penn State game ball for his catch of a pass that turned into MSC's first touchdown Saturday and turned the tide the Spartans' way. Overshadowed for most of his collegiate career by some of the finest ends in the country, an Earle Edwards trademark, Doug shot into prominence this year for a couple of reasons.

First, the graduation of Bob Carey, et al. and second, the choice of Paul Dekker, his receiving partner, as a pre-season All-American. That marked Dekker as a man to watch for all opponents, who immediately forgot that the State roster listed other ends, especially Robo.

A tribute, also, to all the old grads who were able to spend homecoming in East Lansing without dabbling in nostalgic tears from their coat sleeves. They're the realists of the day, those people who are satisfied with what they're doing and wouldn't even give their right arms to be back in college, without a care in the world.

Opportunities in Optometry

Optometry is a profession offering special advantages to ambitious young men and women. Its scope is constantly expanding. Eighty per cent of the Nation's millions depend upon the Doctor of Optometry and his professional skill in conserving vision. There is a shortage of optometrists in many States.

The Doctor of Optometry possesses the dignity of being a professional man. He renders an essential service to the health and well-being of his community. Substantial financial rewards are obtainable almost from the beginning of his practice.

U.S. Department of Defense and Selective Service grant optometry students the same consideration accorded medical students.

The Doctor of Optometry degree can be earned in three college years by a student having sixty or more semester hours of Liberal Arts credits. Such students will be admitted at mid-year by Chicago College of Optometry.

Chicago College of Optometry is centrally located in the heart of the world's greatest center for teaching in the healing arts. It is nationally accredited and is splendidly equipped. Clinical facilities are unsurpassed.

TO THE EDITOR:

The turnout for the freshman campaign speeches Tuesday night was truly a "tribute to democracy."

This big event for not only freshmen but upperclassmen attracted the attention of the astounding total of approximately 30 students.

Is this the way to get class officers to help us attain our goals in school and officers who fill the bill?

Here is a good start for students to become uninterested voters later on. When officers are elected, the first people to gripe about the state of affairs are no other than uninterested friends.

If we aren't interested, we aren't ready for a democracy. Seven Coeds

News Headline

TO THE EDITOR:

It appears to me that some individuals within the Student Government are suffering from illusions of grandeur. There is no question of the importance of Student Government on this or any campus. However, it is unfortunate to read a statement which says, "our side should be presented to the people." Your side, Bob Bolo, should be presented to the "students."

Also it is poor writing in my opinion to headline an article "Congress to Investigate Housing Requirements" unless the federal government is being referred to in the headline. If space requirements necessitate elimination of certain words "Student Congress" should be kept in at the expense of other words. The excuse that clarification will come in reading the article is a poor one in this case.

Munn Praises Defense; Deceived at Ground Game

BILLY WELLS

Workhorse Billy Wells Leads Spartans in Attempts

By TOM RYAN

Wells, who has been used in both the number one and two positions, has emerged as the workhorse of the Michigan State Spartans.

In his 12 carries Saturday against Penn State, Wells led the Spartans in total attempts for the season to 53 in five games.

Last year, Billy's total of attempts for the season was 48.

Wells, a 195-pound right halfback, led up 278 yards so far, 32 yards per carry. He caught one pass, good for 10 yards, and scored touchdowns.

This year Billy Wells has more action in the offense than last year. While still a right halfback, he has displaced the former number one, P. J. Pappas, as the number one back.

Wells came to Michigan State without much advance fanfare. He had attended Menominee high school in the Upper Peninsula and one year at Phillips Exeter Academy in Exeter, N.H.

Billy showed that coming from a small school was no handicap and quickly gained the attention of the Spartans coaching staff with his display of running and passing.

In high school and prep school, Wells was a member of the track team, running the 220 and 100-yard sprints. He was a member of the 1948 and 1949 U.P. championship team and placed third in the 40-yard sprint in the New England prep meet while at Exeter.

While Billy's big sport has always been football, he has a desire to play baseball, which he claims was once his favorite sport.

Although the modest Wells won't mention it, he has gained quite a following since he enrolled at Michigan State, both among children and the fairer sex. A hotel administration major, Billy now lives in Chicago, where his parents moved to last summer.

Grid Team Hit for Lack Of Blocking

By JACK KOLE

Football coach Biggie Munn, lashing out at his squad for what he termed "extremely poor blocking," sent the Spartans through a full-scale scrimmage yesterday in preparation for the Purdue Boilermakers Saturday.

Munn, who has always been an advocate of a strong ground attack, was proved that State had to pass for four out of five touchdowns despite the 239 yards gained by rushing.

State's defense, however, received high praise from the Spartan mentor. Munn complimented them on their work Saturday when they held Penn State to only 45 yards on the ground.

Regarding the Spartans' offense, Munn warned that their blocking would have to be much sharper than it was against the Nittany Lions.

Spartan quarterback Tom Yewic, termed as a gamble before the season, failed his yardage total after Saturday's performance. Although the Coe quarterback, junior only completed four out of 14 plays they were good for 174 yards and three touchdowns.

Yewic has placed many Spartan records in jeopardy with his aerial feats, although his passing average has dropped to 45.3 per cent on 29 in 61 attempts for 755 yards.

This total leaves him little more than 100 yards away from Al Dorow's 1951 passing record of 842 yards. Yewic, who has passed for eight touchdowns, can also overtake Gene Glick's 11, set in 1943.

Furthermore, Yewic could conceivably break Sam Grande's total offensive mark of 1,686 yards, attained in 1950. Grande, who gained 1,023 of those yards on the ground.

Wells, who has been used in both the number one and two positions, has emerged as the workhorse of the Michigan State Spartans.

BROOKLYN (AP)—Orlando Zulueta of Cuba outboxed a ring-rusty Paddy DeMarco last night to gain a 10-round split decision verdict over the Brooklyn lightweight contender at Eastern Parkway Arena.

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Unsatisfied with Wisconsin's offense against UCLA Saturday, coach Ivy Williamson yesterday installed Dave Suminski at offensive right tackle for full time duty. Suminski will be replaced at defensive tackle by Mark Hoech, who has shown improved play.

IOWA CITY, Ia. (AP)—The Iowa Hawkeyes took a rest from their football chores yesterday to attend a pep meeting in celebration of their upset victory over Ohio State last Saturday.

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—A no-contact drill occupied the Notre Dame football squad yesterday as it began getting ready for Saturday's game against Navy in Cleveland. Trainer Gene Paszkiet reported a couple of new injuries. Last Minute Pass Wins for Abbot 14, 7-0

By LEN LOWE

A pass from Louis Hawn to Bill Gibbs in the final 15 seconds of play enabled Abbot 14 to defeat Abbott 12 last night 7-0 in the intramural touch football game.

A 35-yard pass-play, Gibbs, replaced the remaining 20 yards when Ted Thompson threw a key kick to give Abbot 14 the victory.

East Shaw 2, 21; East Shaw 10, 7.

Ken Stanek was the winner's big man, passing for four touchdowns to help East Shaw 29 in its first loss of the season.

East Shaw 2 scored two quick TDs in the first period as Stanek passed to Bob West and Patrick Baker. The losers' picked up their only TD late in the same period on a pass from Howard Pennington to Jim Slezak. Stanek then led the game with touch-down passes to Wren and Dave Buchanan. He also accounted for all three conversions, with passes to Earl Hart, Buchanan and Wren.

West Shaw 10, 13; West Shaw 7, 16.

In a confusing game that went five quarters, Bill Hamilton passed the winners with three touchdowns while Larry Dailey passed for the losers' two TDs over last year's West Shaw champion.

Other results:

East Shaw 1, 0; East Shaw 8, 6; Phillips 5, 9; Phillips 6, 6; Snyder 15, 12; Snyder 17, 6; Phillips 4, 12; Phillips 2, 2.

West Shaw 5, 12; West Shaw 6, 9; Snyder 18, 1; Snyder 18, 0 (forfeit); West Shaw 3, 1; West Shaw 1, 0; Abbot 13, 1; Abbot 14, 6.

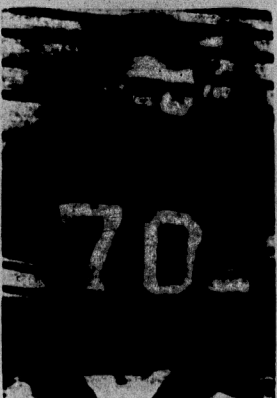

Michigan State's Adel Wenzel, a 500-pound power walk, set contributed the best effort ever turned in by an American in this event.

Shifted From Defense Fowler Helps Offense

By LARRY RAU

One of the factors in Michigan State's improved offensive line play the past three weeks has been right tackle Larry Fowler.

Fowler was one of the linemen that Coach Biggie Munn shifted following the Oregon State game. Since the move, the coaching staff has been pleased with the improved blocking at the tackle spot.

Larry started the first two games this season at left tackle on the defensive team. His move was one of a series of line changes designed to strengthen both platoons.

As an offensive tackle Fowler replaces a former high school mate who held the position last year. Fowler, one of the two starting players on this season's squad, attended Lansing Eastern along with Marv McFadden. McFadden held the number one right tackle spot in 1951, graduating in June.

While at Eastern, Fowler received all-state recognition on several 1949 teams. He was also a member of the wrestling team and Student Council president.

As a wrestler, he was state runner-up in his junior year at Eastern and won the state heavyweight crown his final year in high school.

Fowler is a member of the varsity team here at Michigan State and competes in the heavy-weight division for Coach Fendley Collins.

Before the Michigan opener this season, Larry suffered a knee injury which slowed him up somewhat. But the rugged 210-pound junior was able to start against the Wolverines, and has been in the lineup since.

Asked how he likes playing offense compared to his previous defensive position, Fowler answered:

"Any position is good enough as long as I get to play."

Line coach Duff Daugherty complimented Fowler on his improvement. "He performs equally well either way," Daugherty said.

Besides playing either way at a tackle position—Larry got his chance to carry the ball Saturday against Penn State. Quarterback Tom Yewic was hit on one play and the ball squirted into the air, with Fowler snagging the loose ball and picking up a few more yards before he was finally brought down.

U.S. Marines Recapture West Korean Positions

First Marines Reoccupy 'The Hook'

SEOUL (AP)—U.S. Marines Tuesday restored all positions in the West and South Koreans won a swaying action in the center in Korea's fierce "battle of the hills."

Front line reports from AP Correspondents Milo Farneti and John Randolph gave these new streps of the military situation:

1. In the west—Men of the U.S. First Marine Division who had been knocked off "The Hook" 10 miles northeast of the truce town of Panmunjom Sunday night by 1,500 Chinese Reds, reoccupied it and mopped up the last Red resistance at 6 a.m. Without opposition the Leathernecks retook three outposts overrun in the first Communist rush.

The Marines, who had wrested the main crest in vicious close quarters fighting Monday, fell back Monday night under withering Communist artillery fire. But early Tuesday the Marines reoccupied the ground without difficulty.

2. In the center—About 700 Chinese Reds on the northern end of Sniper Ridge attacked at 4:45 a.m. Tuesday, driving Republic of Korea Second Division troops off their foothold on "The Yoke," a Y-shaped Red stronghold. The attacking Reds then pushed up to Pinpoint Hill, the highest point on Sniper Ridge.

After the Reds penetrated the forward slope, the South Koreans counterattacked at dawn. In fierce fighting, the ROKs regained all of Pinpoint Hill then restored their hold on the southern one-fifth of "The Yoke."

Col. Thomas Moore, White Plains, Ga., a frontline officer with the Marines in the west, estimated that the Marines killed more than 350 Reds and wounded 215 during fighting on and around "The Hook."

"We know we must have hurt them badly," he said.

The Reds were employing heavy concentrations of artillery fire in both the west and central sectors. One smashed off Allied-held height in the center two miles east of Sniper Ridge.

Political Clubs

Debaters to Present Views on Corruption

"Corruption in Government" will be the topic of debaters at a session Thursday night.

Set for Union Room 31, at 7, members of the Young Democrats and Young Republicans Clubs will debate the "Corruption" topic, one of the prominent issues in the forthcoming elections.

Members of the debate team have not yet been announced, but Horatio Lewis, Birmingham senior, has been named chairman of the Young Republicans team while Al Perlos, Jackson senior, will lead the Young Democrats group.

A decision to hold the debate was made during the past week when the Young Republicans accepted the challenge extended to them by the Young Democrats. According to Perlos, the debate will attempt to present both parties' views on the topic of "Corruption."

Distribution will take place on the second floor of the Union, coupon C of the student activity book may be exchanged for tickets to the performance.

Promenaders Club To Meet for Practice

All members of the Promenaders Club are requested to attend a demonstration dance practice tomorrow at 7 p.m. and Thursday at 6:30 p.m. in the Women's Gym in preparation for a festival in Flint Nov. 12.

Open house teas are set for Nov. 8 and 9. During rushing Pan Hellenic Council sponsors a post-office where coeds may pick up their bids and a counseling center which will provide data on sororities and alumni groups.

Rushes may come to the counseling center at any time for information. The two offices will be located in Rooms 34 and 35 of the Union.

Any coed having an all-college 2.0 average may rush. Final date to sign up for rushing is Dec. 1, Miss Fuerstenau said.

Practice Teachers Cover Area

Want to travel? Enroll in the School of Education.

You might not care for the departure hours, however. Students in both elementary and secondary education are sent in all directions from Lansing for required practice teaching.

Buses leave the south entrance of Home Economics Building as early as 6:30 carrying drowsy school marines to Jackson, Marshall, Howell, Charlotte and all points of the compass.

Some education majors in special fields such as Home Ec and speech correction leave school for a term and practice teaching as far away as Grand Rapids and Detroit.

Of course, many roots touch in the Lansing-East Lansing area for at least one term. Then it is just a short walk across the street from the world of college life to that of her chosen profession.

All elementary education majors are required to carry two terms of student teaching, while secondary majors must observe one term and teach a second.

All practice teachers receive eight hours credit per term.

McCarthy

McCarthy said he had a letterhead which indicates that Stevenson was still on the Central Committee of the World Citizens Association in 1948.

"You are asked to elect a presidential candidate who proposed to fly the flag of a super world government above the Stars and Stripes, a super world government empowered to render null and void the will of the American people as expressed by their duly elected legislative bodies."

McCarthy said his investigators had found over 200,000 "astounding documents" in a disreputable Massachusetts barn which he said showed the Communists in the Institute of Pacific Relations were successfully shaping the policies of our State Department.

He did not elaborate on this reference, except to say that "Alger Hiss is a convicted traitor, and Frank Coe has been named under oath before congressional committees seven different times as a member of the Communist party."

"I repeat that I did not state that Stevenson was a Communist or pro-Communist, but I must believe that something was wrong somewhere."

"I am all you want—ALL FOODS SERVED FAMILIAR. A variety of home cooked food and meats with chicken always served."

In an obvious bid at Eisenhower and his military background, Stevenson declared:

"Peace cannot be won like a war is won. Peace, like good government, is something we have to work for every day."

Swinging across Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut on his way to New York Stevenson bore down also on the Communist issue.

Prof Suits Course to Students

Econ Classes Plan Procedure

Students are telling the professor how they want to study economics at MSC these days.

This turnabout is the brainchild of Dr. Richard W. Lindholm, professor of economics. Lindholm believes that his new approach to teaching creates more interest in this increasingly important area of knowledge in a complex society.

"Economics is the interesting business of learning the 'whys' of high wages, low interest rates, and high prices. It is no longer the dismal science of charts, data, theories and laws," the MSC professor says.

In a money and banking course, each class receives a list of all subjects to be covered during the term. Students arrange the subjects in the order of their interest, and the professor then juggles the course to fit the students.

Lindholm observed that subjects which students want to study differ widely from subjects considered as traditional in money and banking.

Top interests this fall are: (1) how money is manufactured by a banking system; (2) the structure of the national debt; (3) government debt and money supply; (4) the possibility of continuing inflation or the development of deflation; and (5) the operation of the international money system.

Usually, he says, the course takes up such problems as the theory of the gold standard or the historical basis of the money system.

Lindholm is a top national economist, having written six books, and service as a consultant with the Federal Reserve Board among his accomplishments.

African Alum To Address Householders

"Our Mutual Inter-Dependence" will be discussed by Benjamin Owusu of the Gold Coast, West Africa, at the Householder's Association meeting Thursday in Union Room 33 at 1:30.

Owusu, who has just finished work on his Master's degree in Agriculture, is working at the dairy and will return to the Gold Coast in the spring to work in the State Department there.

Miss Elizabeth Corbushley and Lyle Thorburn of the Housing Office will also speak to the group on new housing rules. Members of the association are householders who have off-campus housing for men students.

Group singing will be led by Mrs. A. T. Stover, president of the association and a coffee hour will follow the meeting. Door prizes will be given away.

The meeting is also open to students and outsiders.

Chicago Prof To Read Play

Prof. David Edwards, head of Chicago University's Speech Department, will give an interpretive reading of the play, "Green Pastures" tomorrow night at 8:15 in the Auditorium. The program is open to the public.

"Green Pastures" is an adaptation by Marc Connelly of "Old Man Adam and His Chillin'" a play based on a Sunday school teacher's stories of the Bible.

Edwards has done speech work at the Chautauqua Institution in New York during several summers and has been head of the Chicago University Speech Department for 20 years.

He presented Thornton Wilder's "The Skin of Our Teeth" and "Our Town" at MSC about eight years ago.

The program is sponsored by MSC's Speech Majors Club.

Liaison Team Visits Campus

A liaison team from the Air University at Montgomery, Ala., is now visiting MSC.

Capt. Benjamin W. Davis, USAF public information officer, said yesterday that Col. Lewis H. Kensingger, chief of the team, and Lt. Col. Donald C. Price, liaison officer, are inspecting the ROTC department to aid in the coordination of activities, educational policies, and operation of detachment between the Air University headquarters and the local unit.

Davis said that the two officers will leave in a day or two and return for another visit later.
