Spartacade Sets Petition Deadline

Organization Groups To Apply for Space

Spartacade petitioning begins today, and will run from 8 a. m. till noon, everyday through Thursday, according to Don Marentette, chairman of the Organizations and Planning Committee.

Any organized club, honorary, or living group may petition for space to sponsor an event, at the Campus Chest office (Organization 1) on the third floor of the Union Spartacade will be held April 18.

space in the fieldhouse will be allotted according to the order in which the petitions are received. If two petitions are received with the same idea for an event, the petition received first will be awarded the event.

A sketch of the event, complete with plans, size, area and special materials needed plus a $10 deposit must accompany the petition. The deposit will be returned after satisfactory cleaning of the event area following Spartacade.

Classification of the event must be indicated on the petition. As in previous years classes are participation, non-participation and games of chance. But this year non-participation events include no sub-classes.

Class 1 is anything in the form of the audience seated and watching a performance. Class 2 is a continuous show which does not set a time for the performance to begin.

All qualified groups are urged to secure Spartacade rules of participation as soon as possible so they may petition, said Marentette.

Students Needed For Entertaining Vets At Hospital

Admissions will be held Monday, Feb. 9 in Room 31 of the Union to all students interested in entertaining patients at the Percy Cramer Hospital, Keith Cramer director of the project, said Monday. Events will be held from 6 to 8 p. m. Any type of entertainment that could be adapted to presentation in the hospital wards is desirable, Cramer said.

The trip to the hospital is scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 24. The Durham County Red Cross will furnish transportation for the entertainers.

Any interested student who can be taken to admissions should contact Keith Cramer, 8-9407.

Vladimir Horowitz studies the program before performing in Monday night's concert at the Auditorium.

Personality Plus Horowitz Scores Hit With Varied Concert

A great showman performed in the Auditorium Monday night.

Vladimir Horowitz treated his audience to a display of a striking personality along with his fine piano playing. He was dignified without the stiffness usually associated with a great artist's performance.

Taking his bows with a smile seeming to show genuine appreciation, Horowitz captured his audience. He played a varied program, including works of Bach, Schumann, Chopin and Scriabin.

One of the most dramatic pieces was Horowitz's arrangement of Liszt's "Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2." Here Horowitz had taken up the challenge of Liszt given to one of his pupils. "Most of my compositions are sketches. You can make changes when you can improve them."

The applause Horowitz received after playing his arrangement showed that the audience thought he had done the job well. Playing to a capacity audience. See HOROWITZ Page 4

Recent Wolverine Sales Break All Previous Records

The sale of 140 Wolverines on Jan. 30, the last day of sales, brought the total number of books sold to over 1,200, breaking all sales records since the Wolverine was first published in 1901, according to Bob Scott, business manager. Last year 3,500 books were sold.

Scott stated that these figures were particularly significant because sales were never this great when State's enrollment was as high as 10,000.

Results of the Wolverine $25 prize contest will be announced this week.

IKE ORDERS HALT OF NAVY BLOCKADE

Airlift Predicted New Formosa Plan To Accelerate Raids

TAIPEH, Formosa—The new U.S. policy toward Formosa is expected to step up Nationalist raids on the mainland of Red China and may permit an airlift of men and material to Chinese Nationalist forces clinging to a foothold in the Burma border region.

These possibilities arose Monday as headquarters of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek surged with new hope of an eventual comeback on the mainland.

A statement expected to express the Nationalist government's warm gratification over President Eisenhower's move in ending the U.S. Seventh Fleet's "neutralizing" role in the Formosa Strait was in preparation.

Eisenhower in his State of the Union message to Congress said he had ordered the fleet to stop shielding Red China. This ended the U.S. ban on Nationalist raids on the mainland.

Stepped up commands and air raids on the Red China coast in which Nationalist troops based on Formosa would take part was expected to be one of the first results of the policy switch.

The new policy would permit reinforcement and supply of Gen. Li Mi's 10,000 to 15,000 troops who have held out on the Burma border area of South China. See FORMOSA, Page 4

Campus Area Donates $875 To Polio Drive

Student and faculty housing residents contributed a total of $875 to volunteer workers for the Mothers' March on Polio drive. Mrs. Gary Heilmann, campus area captain, announced.

Of this total, $267 was collected in the faculty housing area, and $608 in the student married housing area.

The door-to-door campaign was conducted Thursday as part of a nationwide project for the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis.

This meeting will be the last chance for students to volunteer for particular Engineering Exposition projects. After tomorrow the assignments will be made in the engineering classes.

PRES. EISENHOWER

Grave Decision

President 'Gets Tough' With Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower announced to a heavily applauding Congress Monday that he is ordering the American Navy to stop protecting Red China from Chiang Kai-shek's forces on Formosa.

He also disclosed, in his first State of the Union message, that he is preparing to repudiate any "secret understandings" of the Roosevelt-Truman era which permitted Russia to "enslave" free peoples.

Republican ranks whooped it up when the new President declared that price and wage controls must die in April.

But both Democrats and Republicans managed only mild applause for Eisenhower's idea of putting off tax cuts until the unbalanced budget is brought under control.

Eisenhower said he has ordered the U.S. Seventh Fleet to stop shielding Chinese Reds from attacks from Formosa. There is no logic of sense," he said, in guarding Communists who are killing Americans and United Nations troops in Korea.

The order clears the way for Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist forces to mount on Formosa any attacks they are capable of turning against the Communist mainland.

Yet, critics and handclapping greeted official disclosure of this reversal of one phase of the Truman foreign policy. Yet widespread comments of approval from Republican lawmakers were offset by a degree by expressions of hope from leading Democrats that the step won't mean a bigger war or full scale support of Chiang in anything he undertakes.

Eisenhower said nothing of repudiating the second part of the Truman-Formosa policy—under which the U.S. fleet guards Formosa from attack from the Red mainland. Truman's policy, adopted before the Chinese Reds entered the Korean War, was designed to prevent expansion of the fighting in the Far East.

Thunderous applause greeted Eisenhower when he said he intended to ask Congress to adopt a resolution making it clear the American government will not be bound by any secret deals which he said, permitted enslavement.

Eisenhower did not explain what understandings he had in mind. Members of Congress took it he was drawing a veil on communications made to the Soviet Union at the Yalta and Potsdam conferences.

The award is made annually for the best work in any phase of European international history since 1890, according to Dr. Walter R. Fye, head of the History Department.

Ferrell's book, published by the Yale University Press, is a study of the Kellogg-Brand pact for the renunciation of war as an instrument of national policy. It also discusses "behind the scenes" maneuvering and pressures which led to the pact's signature.

The Dean's List

By Dean Wakefield
State News Manager

Last week a letter came into the office, raising a question. A perennial question, you might say. It went like this:
 "To the Editor:
 As three transfer students we would like to know why the yearbook of MSC is called the 'Wolverine' and also where the name originated."

"It seems to us that as long as the football team (?) of the University of Michigan and the University of Michigan in general are referred to as Wolverines and the Wolverine school, our yearbook should be more properly and fittingly named the Spartanian."

It was signed by Michael Bayer, Bob Stoich and Joseph Dougherty, all of 153 Abbot Hall.
 So far as I can determine, the story goes like this, men.

May 20, 1909 the board in charge of the publication of a yearbook decided to call the publication the "Wolverine." That decision is recorded in the minutes of the board, which was set up like a governing body, with everything done on a parliamentary procedure basis. The minutes are printed in that first Wolverine, which was prepared by the Class of 1911, and dated 1910.

The minutes contain no record of the reason for the label. The 1910 issue of the Wolverine (the first one) did contain a preface, with comment on the name of the annual. It said:

"After careful consideration we decided to name this book 'The Wolverine.' In the way of kindly request, we ask those who succeed us in the publication of other triennials to adopt the name and make it permanent.

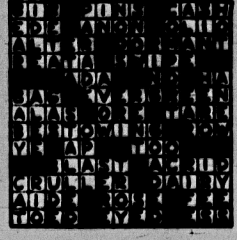

And in the 1911 Wolverine, the preface makes mention of this request, in these words:
 "With this (the request) in mind, and believing that our college should have and will support an annual 'Wolverine,' the present board submits to you in the name of the class of 1912, this book."

There's the story behind the name "Wolverine." It should be remembered that, besides the other things to which the name "Wolverine" is attached, the State of Michigan is nicknamed "The Wolverine State."

The problem which you now confront is the problem of deciding which school is doing the best job of promoting the Wolverine State.
 Still want to change the name?

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:
 Maybe there wouldn't be quite so much flu on the campus if they'd heat these dormitories once in a while. After all it is the middle of winter. I don't know what the college does with the money they save on heat, but I sure as hell don't go into letter food or cheaper texts. I wouldn't be surprised if somebody else felt the same way about it.

To the Editor:
 There is definitely one thing I don't like and that is generalizing. In reference to a male student's article that was headlined "Male Student Claims Coeds Cheat on Exams" (Jan. 28), my answer to him together with several other fellows here at Snyder Hall is that what he said is not true altogether.

To the Editor:
 Coeds do not have advantages over most male students as he seems to think. Coeds having regular hours helps to control that of the male students so that both may get just as much studying done.

To the Editor:
 Generalizing in my opinion is entirely wrong as this does not include the vast majority which do not cheat on exams. True the article about Merry College coeds and MSC coeds was slanted in such a way that it made everyone think that coeds here at MSC are angel-faced non-cheaters. However, as contrasted with an article that appeared Jan. 28 made me realize how some people judge all by just a few.

To the Editor:
 This missive is directed with kindest regards to "Name-withheld-by-request" in the State News, Jan. 28. We wish to inquire as to how this "young man" is so positive of the habits of MSC women during exams if he pays attention to his own paper in the course of said exams.

To the Editor:
 The statement concerning coeds keeping hours is a moot point since the condition is not a voluntary one and does not by any means indicate that they are ready to drop social activities and settle down to their homework after 10:00. If they have been out till 10:00.

To the Editor:
 However, you will find the majority of women on campus stay in and study in the earlier hours of the evening thus eliminating the need for the cheating you say is so prevalent. With regards to your statement "all they have to do is put their hair up and study" well, you must not have a sister.

To the Editor:
 It has always been our impression that the masculine sex was a strong-willed, self-controlled clan. Your letter destroys our illusions as it seems to imply that MSC men are incapable of controlling their lives to the extent that they can budget their time between extra-curricular activities and the necessary studies.

To the Editor:
 Perhaps before you throw mud on the coeds' honor, you had better examine your friend's methods of passing exams. White cuffs make fine "crib notes" as we have observed.

To the Editor:
 We still refuse to admit we cheat as it is not ethical to confess to a crime not admitted.

Reserve Basketball

Players who were designated as reserve for the basketball season in Michigan State's Big Ten. Latest to reach the spot is guard Jim Schlatter, who hooped 15 points in a 21-year-old junior game. Wayne, Ind., received a chance in the starting rotation. Schlatter's reserve status was a result of the disorder.

The Hoosier started the season in the starting rotation and a half of the team. Then the Gophers beat Schlatter started his second reserve game and helped the Northwest with his leadership. Included in his list were five field goals and five shots.

Slatter's conversion into a reserve into a starting player was a result of the top performances by the team. The crew included Bob DeWitt and 19 point slugging guard and Northwest player DeNeal Hartman's winning shot in the last three seconds of the game. Schlatter's situation was in better than Coach Pete Newell thought. However, if the loss of the guards becomes any worse.

Reserves Improve Basketball Chances

Players who were designated as reserve performers at the start of the basketball season have been playing an important role in Michigan State's bid for a berth in the top ranks of the Big Ten.

Latest to reach the spot is guard Jim Schlatter, who hooped 15 points in the win over Minnesota. Schlatter, a 21-year-old junior from Ft. Wayne, Ind., received his chance in the starting ranks when Dick Weising was forced to sit out as a result of a cold.

The Hoosier started the game and retired for a quarter and a half of it. Then the Gophers felt that Schlatter started his second consecutive game and helped the Spartans to a 15-point victory. Included in his 15 points were five field goals and five free shots.

Schlatter's conversion of a reserve into a starter, and his top performances by the Spartans, included Bob Deery's 12 and 19 point spurges in Iowa and Northwestern. Deery's Hartman's winning shot in the last three seconds of the game. Pool Mastery

State Swimmers Swamp Illini; Five Dual Meet Records Broken

By JACK KOLE
Continuing their mastery over Big Ten opponents, Michigan State's swimmers submerged Illinois' tankers in Jensen Pool Monday night, 65-25.

The score represented the worst beating Illinois has ever taken from a Spartan tank team. It was also the fifth straight win without a defeat over the Illini in a series going back to 1942.

Taking eight out of 10 first places, Coach Charles McCaffree's charges registered their fourth straight victory this season and notched the third win in conference competition.

Marked by some extremely good times, the meet saw five dual meet records go by the board, although two of them were set in events that were never run off before between the two schools.

McCaffree scratched his fastest performers in several events and this probably kept the final Spartan tally down to prevent a complete rout.

Only in the 200-yard backstroke and breaststroke events did the Illini manage to capture first places.

In the breaststroke event, acting Capt. Bob Clemons won for the Illini with a good 2:24.8. An expected close race between Clemons and State's John Dudek did not develop when Dudek was scratched from the event. Clemons' time clipped almost five seconds from the old dual meet mark.

George Groerer nailed down the other Illini first and another dual meet record in the 200-yard backstroke with a 2:22.8 clocking. The event was one of the two never swum before between the two teams.

Another feature of McLachlan's clocking is the fact that it was less than four seconds slower than Ford Konno's 6:35.9 pool record, set last year in the Big Ten meet. McLachlan will meet Konno, ineligible at Ohio State last Saturday, later this season in the 1953 conference championships.

No double winners were recorded in the competition as McCaffree spread his team depth to all events. Another dual meet record was set in the 300-yard medley relay as Frank Reynolds, acting Capt. Chuck Ezeier and Chuck Baldwin were clocked at 2:58.7 to beat the old mark by more than seven seconds.

In the 220-yard freestyle Lanny Johnson took over for McLachlan and beat Illinois' Bob Kramp. State's Rollie Ford took third.

The 50-yard freestyle was a close 1-2-3 finish with Spartan Ross Thompson nipping teammate Ezeier by a hand. Illinois' Jim Watson was right behind for third.

In another event that showed Illini-Spartan competition for the first time Bruce Aldrich established a dual meet record of 1:37 in the 150-yard individual medley. Pete Jackson registered second for the Spartans.

The Spartan tankers will return to Big Ten competition Saturday when they travel to Bloomington, Ind., to engage Purdue. Next home meet is Saturday, Feb. 14 when they will swim against Michigan.

Seton Hall Selected First In Basketball Rankings

NEW YORK (AP)—Adopting Honey Russell's pet superstition—"Don't change your lineup when you're winning"—the nation's basketball experts again voted Russell's Seton Hall team into the No. 1 spot in the weekly college rankings.

It was the third straight week that the South Orange, N.J., Pirates, only all-winning team in major college ranks, had taken the top spot in the Associated Press poll by a comfortable margin.

Seton Hall won two games last week, to run its string to 21 straight this season. This was reflected in the voting, which gave Seton Hall the first place on 38 of the 75 ballots.

On the usual basis of 10 points for first place, nine for second, etc., the Pirates polled a total of 654 points to 553 for runner-up Indiana.

Idle last week during an examination period, Indiana maintained its second-place margin over Washington, which won three games on a holiday junket to Hawaii. Washington held steady in third with 528 points and 10 first-place ballots. LaSalle of Philadelphia, last year's National Invitation Tournament winner, Kansas State and Illinois kept the next three places in the rankings unchanged.

DePaul of Chicago, an impressive winner over Notre Dame last Saturday, moved up from 10th place to seventh. Western Kentucky advanced from ninth to eighth on the strength of two 100-point scoring sprees against Tampa and Louisiana State climbed from 11th to 10th.

IN GENERAL MOTORS BETTER HIGHWAYS AWARDS CONTEST

162 Awards, Totaling $194,000

ANNOYED at city traffic jams? Worried about the hazardous condition of the highways you and your family have to travel?

Then here's your chance to do something about it. Yes, and at the same time win yourself a sizable cash award.

For General Motors is offering this impressive list of awards for what a distinguished group of judges consider the best essays on the subject:

"How to plan and pay for the safe and adequate highways we need."

There are six national awards: $25,000, $10,000, $5,000, and three of $3,000.

There are nine regional awards of $2,500. And 147 state awards, including 49 of $1,500 each and 98 of $500 each.

And any resident of the U. S. can enter—except, of course, the judges and their families.

You don't need to be an experienced writer. The contest is judged only on the originality, sincerity and common-sense workability of the plan you write.

You don't need to be an engineer or a traffic expert. You do have to do some thinking and some fact finding. The free GM Facts Book will give you a good start on both.

So get your Facts Book today and get started now. You have until midnight, March 1, when the contest closes, to win hundreds, in fact, thousands of dollars. And help your community, state and nation get out of the bad roads muddle that is costing so many billions of dollars and causing so much inconvenience and discomfort to the motoring public.

We are highly gratified at the enthusiastic reception the Better Highway Awards Contest is receiving. This response comes from transportation experts and civic leaders, as well as from newspaper editors and radio and television commentators. It also comes from you folks whose way of living so greatly depends on keeping our nation's wheels rolling over safe, efficient, modern streets and highways.

We know that already thousands of you are busy setting down your thoughts on how to solve the highway problems.

But—with nearly two months more before the contest closes—we look forward to even more contest entries.

For we hope, when the contest ends, to have a wealth of extra-to-earth common-sense thinking from you on this tremendously important problem.

So, if you haven't already entered, may we urge you to do so.

Business as usual is Mrs. Hannah's aim for the year. Dr. Hannah is in Washington. Helping to keep the home fires burning will be Robert and Tommy, seated at their mother's right, and David and Mary.

Sarah Shaw Hannah Calls MSC Her Home

By HAL BLACHER

Almost everyone at MSC has heard about Prof. John A. Hannah, but very few people know his wife and children.

Sarah Hannah, a tall, modest and pleasant woman, is the daughter of Robert Shaw, former president of MSC. She has spent her whole life on campus.

It was here she received her B.A. and M.S. degrees in biological chemistry, and it was here she met and married Dr. Hannah and started her family. Since that time her life has been devoted to the care of that family.

The children, David, 4, Thomas, 7, Bobby, 11, and Mary, 13, are quiet, intelligent and extremely well-mannered.

Bobby expresses the feelings of all the children towards Dr. Hannah's recent government appointment by a casual shrug of the shoulders, a modest smile, and the simple statement:

"Oh, it's all right I guess."

The Hannahs live in the familiar Cowles House on Circle Drive near the Union Building.

Dr. Hannah's family did not accompany him to Washington.

It would be too hard on the children to pull them out of school and away from their friends for only one year, Mrs. Hannah said.

Besides, since my husband is planning on returning to MSC at the end of the year, we feel we should keep the home open and carry on as many of its functions as possible," she said.

As compensation for remaining home the children have been promised a trip to Washington sometime during the coming year, but even the proposed trip fails to excite them.

Sports, however, excite them. Bobby, an avid MSC fan, follows all the school sports. He once paid attention twice to a baseball game which he had to leave to take a piano lesson.

Thomas, the seven-year-old family spokesman, sums up his thoughts about having such a famous father with this statement:

"I don't think too much, but I think a lot, but gee, I just don't know what to say."

There are about 100 kinds of loads.

Horse Show Slated for April 10, 11

Tickets on Sale For Annual Event

The annual Block and Bridle Horse Show is scheduled for April 10 and 11 with a matinee April 11.

All seats for the event are on reserve and may be obtained at the Union Ticket Office, or from any member of the Block and Bridle Club.

Information on entries may be obtained in Room 3, Agriculture Hall. All college students may enter their own horses, friends' horses or those belonging to the college in the contest.

The horse show is given each year to raise funds for the Block and Bridle Club. With the money the club helps to send members of the MSC livestock, meats, and wool judging teams to Chicago, Kansas City, Fort Worth, and throughout this state.

The club also awards a $100 scholarship to an entering freshman interested in animal husbandry, and one sophomore who has been outstanding in the Block and Bridle Club.

In the show, hunters and jumpers in the three and five galloped classes will be judged. Other events include equitation, pleasure riding and cattle cutting and special exhibitions.

Whether this will be undertaken possibly would depend on U.S. approval, assuming that the U.S. will have a voice in what the Nationalists do.

Chiang's armed forces, numbering close to 600,000 are being trained and re-equipped by the U.S. Military Assistance Advisory Group under Maj. Gen. William C. Chase, who arrived here May 1, 1951.

There are indications that while the Nationalists are to be free to conduct operations against the mainland, no action is deliberately designed to provoke Communist reprisals and control the Seventh Fleet will be taken.

INDIANAPOLIS, I.P.—Police recently reported recovery of a stolen car, but it hardly seems worth the while. Missing were the motor, license plates, radio, heater, front wheels, battery, instrument panel, steering wheel and radio aerial.

Tornadoes are especially common and violent in the Mississippi Valley, but are known in other places such as Australia and Europe.

The distressed plane, a York—pacetime version of the famous British Lancaster bomber—was used to ferry British troops between London and the West Indies. It took off from the Azores late Sunday night.

Shortly before 11 a.m., CST, a skyways spokesman said the plane was eight hours overdue at Gander and it was feared its fuel was exhausted.

Chances that any of the 39 aboard could survive in the icy sea and temperatures were regarded as extremely remote.

Three other plane mishaps occurred in widely separated parts of the world Monday.

A Wreckin' Field in Libya, a four-engined U.S. plane crashed while on a training mission early this morning, killing all 15 aboard.

British Transport Crashes in Atlantic

HALIFAX, Nova Scotia (AP)—A four-engine British troop transport plane with 39 persons aboard was believed to have crashed in the icy, gale-whipped North Atlantic Monday. Strong winds and torrential rains restricted search operations, and little hope was held for rescue.

The plane, operated by Skyways Ltd., of London, was bound for Gander, Nfld., from the Azores. It radiated an SOS 350 miles east-southeast of Gander. At the time winds up to 75 miles an hour churned the ocean.

The British freighter Woodward reached the scene where the transport plane was believed to have crashed but found no trace of the aircraft. The Woodward radioed she would continue searching through the heavy seas for any possible survivors.

composed largely of Lansingites and faculty members, Horowitz ran through works like Scriabin's "Sonata No. 9, Opus 68" with ease. He peered at the keys like a beginning typist picking out each note. The result was much better, however.

His other pieces were: Bach's "Toccata in C Major" decorated with showmanlike actions of pauses to wipe his face while tones faded and freezing his hands above the keys for effect.

Additional renditions were "Two Sonatas" by Scarlatti, "Arabesque," Opus 18 by Schumann, "Sonata B-flat minor Opus 35, No. 2" by Chopin, "The Little Shepherd" and "Serenade for the Doll" from the "Children's Corner" Suite by Debussy.

Street scene in Tehachas after last July's earthquake.

...EARTHQUAKE...

In the pre-dawn of last July 21, the most severe California earthquake since 1906 struck the small town of Tehachas.

Walls were collapsing, buildings were falling. The town's telephone office shook to its foundations. But the night operator remained at his switchboard until it went dead. Main cables to the office were pulled to the ground when a nearby wall caved in.

This was at 4:30 A.M.

By 8:30 A.M. telephones were set up on the edge of town for use by the Red Cross and other emergency workers.

By late afternoon, the telephone switchboard was working. Tehachas residents were able to contact friends and relatives concerned about their safety.

By 11 P.M. two TV stations were sending live broadcasts of the damage. Telephone men had established a radio-relay system in less than 12 hours.

It was a typical disaster—brutal and unannounced. But telephone men were prepared. They quickly restored communication when it was needed most. They demonstrated the resourcefulness and technical skill typical of telephone people.

These are some of the qualities we seek in the college graduates we hire. Your Placement Officer can give you details about opportunities for employment in the Bell System. Bill to Change Congress Vote On President

By MARGARET FULLER, State News Associate Editor

Two constitutional amendments changing the method of electing the student government president and process for adopting amendments will be introduced at this week's student Congress meeting. Student Government President will recommend that the student body be given a vote in the selection of the government president. Amendment requires that candidates be nominated by petition and be voted on by the student body in an all-college election.

If the amendment is adopted, Congress will select two members of the student government for president. The new election process will be automatic and will be held in an all-college election.

This method is more democratic," President Bolo said. "It will improve the quality of student government organization because more people will be involved."

The student government will be elected by Congress in the present system. Candidates are required to be nominated by the student body at the time of election.

The amendment would require the president to meet with the executive and judicial branches as well as to confer with the faculty. He would also be required to serve six months in student government before being nominated.

Congress would select non-student candidates by secret ballot. It would nominate a candidate to receive 35 per cent of all congressional votes.

The second amendment would change the process for approving amendments. It would require the student body to approve amendments by a two-thirds vote.

By a two-thirds vote, Congress amendments could be passed.

The student body could petition for a referendum on any amendment by petitioning 15 per cent of the student body to vote.

Under the present system, amendments must be proposed and by a petition of 10 per cent of the student body.

Bolo's amendment would change the section requiring amendments be submitted to the student body at a college election.

Under the present system, amendments are introduced by the student body. The student body adds the amendments to the list of amendments to be voted on at the college election.

When the present student government constitution approved in 1951 disputes over whether an "or" should be inserted before the word "and" in the section stating "Amendments to this constitution may be proposed by the student body or by the student body."

The Government officials have argued that the original constitution contained the word "or" and that the original constitution will meet at 7 p.m. in Room 32 of the Union Building.
