Student Legislators OK Grants-in-Aid

By MARY LOU BERNICKER

Student Congress began spring term meetings Wednesday night by passing a grants-in-aid bill, approving President Bob Bolo's appointment of Chandler Benton as secretary of State Affairs, and hearing a talk by Richard Murphy, president of the National Student's Association.

Block S' Tops List Of Junior Projects

Gene German began his junior class president's Wednesday with a message of cooperation and a plea for support of the "Block S" all card section project.

German received the fine cooperation of the Block S' members in the card section project.

German reminded students that they should participate in the card section project.

Those interested may sign by filling out a form and sending it in the box at the Underdesk.

Don Your Raincoats April Showers Dim Otherwise Warm Forecast

Get out your slickers and rain hats for the April predictions will hold true today, or at least that's what the weather man has promised.

But don't cut all your chances and settle down in the grill for a quiet cup of coffee for between the drizzle a high of 52 is in store.

International Festival Plans Announced

Ninth Annual Fete Stated for May 2

MSC's foreign students will guide visitors from all parts of Michigan to their native lands on May 2—without leaving Jenison Fieldhouse—when they present the ninth annual International Festival.

The more than 300 foreign and exchange students—representing approximately 50 countries—will offer programs and exhibits typical of their homelands.

Typical of the scheduled programs will be a Hawaiian "luau"—a feast featuring a roast dressed pig—sponsored by the MSC Hawaiian Club.

Dean King, who terms the festival "one of the most important events of the school year," has issued a personal invitation to the public to attend.

The colorful event, first held in 1945, last year brought 14,000 visitors to the MSC campus.

Ag Engineering Offers Week-long Explosive Course

Flipped lids usually don't enhance the chances of a good grade in any course, but the one in which a student can really blow up is Agricultural Engineering 410, Explosives.

This year, Sept. 14 through 18, the week before fall registration, the Agricultural Engineering Department will offer this course with special emphasis on agricultural phases of blasting, handling and storage of explosives.

Anyone who desires to take this course should sign up in room 216, Agricultural Engineering Building, as early as possible this spring quarter.

Six hours a day are usually spent, Tuesday through Friday, in the field where students themselves actually handle explosives, place all the charges and do all the blasting.

Blasting boulders takes one full day; stumps, trees and anything else the next two days; and blasting ditches requires full time the last day.

The only casualties thus far have been worms, snakes and a flat tire on an instructor's car.

Do Muvver Wuv Babykins?

Don't Goo at Junior—He'll Lisp

If you "ga ga" and "goo goo" you baby, don't be surprised if he turns up with bad speech habits in later life.

A Michigan State College speech authority says that talking baby-talk to your child is one of the easiest ways of inviting bad speech habits.

Dr. John T. Austin, director of Michigan State's College Speech Clinic, says that during the early childhood period, parents should avoid the child as much as possible with normal speaking.

In fact, when your child is nine to 36 months old is the time to begin teaching him good speaking habits, Austin said.

4800 Students Expected at Summer Term

Summer school catalogs are now available, according to Summer School Director Dean Crowe.

These catalogs may be obtained from the Admissions Office or the Summer School Director office in the Administration Building.

About 4,800 students are expected for the two summer sessions which begin with a one day registration on June 23, said Dean Crowe.

The six-week course will end July 31 and the nine-week session will be completed August 21.

All seven schools will offer summer courses, with more workshops being added to this year's program.

These workshops will be mainly in the departments of Education, Art and English.

At Wednesday's session Williams complimented the Republican-dominated Legislature for its approach to the problems of the 1952 session.

He especially cited the approach taken in taxation matters, saying:

"I note with satisfaction that a definite policy appears to be taking shape to solve the state's deficit and tax problem."

He said that because of the importance of the financial question he had refrained from "burdening" the Legislature with messages on other subjects with the exception of a prison improvement program recommended by a citizen's study committee.

Career in Economics Pamphlet Published

The Department of Economics has published a guiding pamphlet for students interested in making a career of economics.

The pamphlet, "Economics: A Career," gives the results of a poll taken among economics graduates for types of employment and average yearly income.

MSC's economics program is explained and a random sampling of job opportunities for economic majors is also given.

History Professor Attends Folk Festival

Richard M. Derson, associate professor of History, is in St. Louis this week attending the National Folk Festival.

MSC Farm Program Boosted by Williams

Gov. Williams expressed interest Wednesday in increased farm research facilities at Michigan State College.

Animal industries and seed buildings were on a list of projects submitted by Williams in a special message to the legislature.

Better facilities in the two departments were high on the list of his "pet projects."

Among other points Williams also advocated:

1. Modernization of the civil defense law.

2. Expansion of the State Police and tighter control over driver licensing.

3. Revision of sex deviate laws and establishment of a central sex crime file with the state police.

4. Authority for local action to meet housing shortages.

5. Lowering the voting age to 18.

Prisoner Trade Seen Imminent; Talks Continue

Allies Protest Return Of 'Mere Handful' by Reds

MUNSAN, Korea —The Allies Thursday hoped to begin exchanging sick and wounded within 10 days after urging the Reds to return more than the handful they offered Wednesday—only 600, probably fewer than 125 of them Americans.

The Communists gave no hint that they would heed the request for a more liberal classification of sick and wounded, although the Allies were giving them 5,000 Korean and Chinese prisoners.

The offer was made in amendments proposed by the Reds to the Allied nine-point plan for handling the mechanics of sick and wounded prisoner exchange.

Negotiators were due to meet for the fourth time in as many days in the Panmunjom conference but at 11 a.m. (9 p.m. Wednesday, EST).

The exact date of the exchange and the number to be traded were still to be fixed.

The total number to be traded was disclosed by the Reds and the U. N. Command Wednesday during talks lasting 66 minutes.

A council of 10 student body presidents will be responsible for the operation of the association. The council will decide dates and places of all meetings, elect a chairman from the first school of the annual conference, set up agenda for conferences and recommend dues from the member institutions.

Julie Ford, Grosse Pointe senior, will be in charge of the Senior Record Dance scheduled for May 6 in the Union Parlors.

Entertainment auditions for the All-College Dance sponsored by the senior class will be held at 7 p.m. April 15 in the Little Theater of the Home Economics Building, Marge Cote, entertainment chairman, announced.

The committee will audition for a master of ceremonies, comedians, musicians and dancers.

The dance is set for May 22 featuring Woody Herman.

Communist Charm Lacks Proof

The Allied-Red honeymoon in Korea took an unexpected jolt Wednesday and the prisoner of war exchange situation now seems to revolve around the question: "How sick is a man?"

The Reds have offered to return disabled prisoners and have been extremely cooperative in attempting to work out the exchange. They even went beyond the provisions of the Geneva Convention in offering to repatriate prisoners with only minor wounds. But the figure released yesterday by the Communists reveals that only 600 would be returned—including only about 100 American troops.

Rear Admiral John C. Daniel, U.S. representative, called the figures "incredibly small" and asked the Reds to "have these figures reviewed." He added later, however, that "I have no reason to believe at the present time that they (the Communists) are not acting in good faith."

Daniel told newsmen that the figure is "controversial" and said it all depends on how a man is classified—that is, how sick he is considered to be.

United Nations authorities expected the number to be closer to 2,500 men returned by the Communists but the Reds say they hold less than 13,000 prisoners while Allied estimates place the figure at about 65,000. This, of course, would account for some of the discrepancy.

On the basis of comparative numbers of prisoners declared to be held, the 600 figure does not seem to be too far out of line. The UN listed 5,800 sick and wounded Communists. This is seven per cent of 83,000 prisoners who want to go back and four per cent of the prisoners held by the Allies. The 600 UN troops to be repatriated is about five per cent of the total the Reds say they have captured.

This disagreement on the prisoner swap has been the first stumbling block in the heretofore smooth operation. It may also be the first sign that all is exactly in the open in our dealings with the Communists.

There is little if any apparent reason for the about face that has taken place on the part of the Reds. Their usual stubborn attitude has been replaced by a cooperative, almost congenial, appearance. They are turning on their charm and it is almost impossible to avoid suspecting their motives.

This may all be a part of the super-strategy which centers in the Kremlin, China's Mao may be going along with Russia's Malenkov in a calculated plan to throw the UN off guard.

If and when the prisoner trade is completed, the talks on a cease fire are expected to begin again. This is no time to relax and accept the Communist outward appearances.

Action Lacks Logic

Dr. Byron T. Darling, former MSC professor now at Ohio State, was accused Wednesday of "gross insubordination" by OSU President Howard L. Hevis and he recommended that Darling be fired.

The reason for the recommendation is that Dr. Darling refused to say whether certain of his colleagues were Communists and in doing so "he cast aspersions upon them individually."

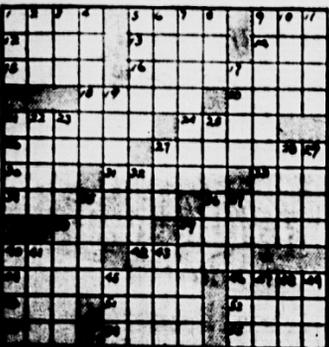

Dr. Darling refused to testify under the immunity guaranteed any citizen under the Fifth Amendment to the United States Constitution. It is recommended that he be fired because of this.

It was said that he "showed unfitness to be a professor" and here the logic of President Hevis' argument can be questioned.

If Dr. Darling had fallen down in his academic responsibility then we could go along with the judgment, but one can hardly condemn a man for something he didn't do when it has no connection with his professional abilities.

Most Students Vote Against Greek Rule

(ACP)—Most college students are against discriminatory clauses in fraternity and sorority constitutions, according to the Associated Collegiate Press national poll of student opinion. Clauses which discriminate against Negroes meet with more approval than clauses which discriminate against Jews.

The poll was taken last December against a backdrop of increasing student dissatisfaction with national bias clauses. Fraternity chapters at Williams, Amherst and elsewhere have recently violated their national constitutions by admitting either a Negro or a Jew. Student governments at more than a dozen universities and colleges have set deadlines for fraternities to get rid of bias clauses on penalty of expulsion.

Last month the student council at Rutgers University, N.J., opened a nationwide drive to help chapters persuade their national organizations to change the clauses.

ACP asked the question: Some fraternities and sororities have clauses in their constitutions stating that they will accept as members only individuals of the white race. How do you feel about this policy?

The answers:
Approve—25 per cent.
Disapprove—65 per cent.
No opinion—7 per cent.
Other—3 per cent.

"I would have it no other way," says a student from the University of the South, Tenn., referring to all-white fraternities.

A freshman of the University of Nebraska is sorry he approves of bias clauses. "Wish I felt differently," he says, "but habit and training are hard to overcome."

Students in the South are evenly divided on the question, while students in the North are overwhelming against discriminatory policies. Here's the breakdown:

NORTH	SOUTH
Approve—20 per cent	Approve—44 per cent
Disapprove—71 per cent	Disapprove—44 per cent
No opinion—7 per cent	No opinion—3 per cent
Other—2 per cent	Other—4 per cent

As for policies which limit membership to non-Jews, student opinion is as follows: Approve, 12 per cent; disagree, 80 per cent; no opinion, six per cent; other, two per cent.

"People of the Jewish faith usually have their own fraternities and sororities," says a sophomore co-ed at Richmond Professional Institute, Va.

Says a senior at the University of Toledo who disapproves of "Aryan" clauses: "I believe in equal rights."

Interpreting the News

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

The greatest danger facing the nation today is that a combination of relaxed tension abroad and an economy drive at home will cause a drop in defense preparations below the safety point.

The greatest security against such a development would seem to be the very presence of President Eisenhower, with his vast knowledge of the meaning and needs of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. It may be that this very knowledge will enable him to accomplish the same results at less cost.

But the real question would be whether he could ride out a groundswell in the nation, in Congress and in his own demands for economy, without permitting actual dangers to develop.

When Secretary Dulles goes to the next NATO meeting with his plan for leveling off the defense program for a ten-to-twenty-year haul, one of the prime considerations must be that too little for 20 years is no better than too little for one year. And whether the leveling off point has arrived at all is a question on which any mistake would endanger everything that has been done.

There is enough talk of cutting back planes, tanks, the atomic program, divisions and whatnot to create a real wonderment as to whether too many people are trying to make their marks solely by cutting rather than by true economical efficiency.

And speaking of atomic programs, the government has just revealed that scientific advances toward atomic power have now reached the stage where entry of private enterprise into the field can be entertained. One cannot help but wonder how the transfer will be made, and how well the interests of the stockholders in this project—the American people—will be protected.

'Tween Us Coeds

By JEAN CUSHMAN
 State News Women's Editor

Well, shades of Florida sun tan! Everywhere I look I see a pre-season tan. For at least the past two years this southern state has become the most popular vacation spot with State coeds as well as the men.
 Not meaning to be different, I headed North during my vacation to get away from all the sun and warm breezes. I wanted to learn to ski. So, with my last final over, I packed my gear, borrowed a ski jacket, and with my ski boots slung over my back I was on my way, or so I thought. But the bus had other things to do beside going straight to the Upper Peninsula. Every ten miles we stopped for twenty minutes for coffee and although I like java I got tired of stopping for it. The farther north we went the longer we stopped and the more rustic the scenery became.
 I finally arrived, but with the excitement of seeing my friends again and getting my baggage together I didn't notice much of the landscape. But the rude awakening came. I rubbed my eyes twice to make sure I didn't need new glasses, but they hadn't deceived me—there was no snow. It had left a few days before I arrived. So, instead of returning to State with frostbite, I came back to campus with a sunburned nose!

Berry Cops Honors in Fencing Action

By PAUL PETERSON

Coach Charles Schmitter will have a hard time next year in finding a replacement for his ace foil man, Dick Berry, who will be graduating this spring.

Berry will be leaving behind a fencing record that would make any coach's eyes sparkle. In two years of varsity competition, he has won 83% of his bouts, 47 out of 57. This does not include the matches he won in National Tournament competition.

A graduate of Highland Park high school, Berry attended the Highland Park Junior College before taking up the sword of Michigan State. Last year he won 21 matches as against only six defeats.

Berry, who appears to be as skilled with the epee as he is with the foil, took the 1952 Big Ten epee championship and finished second in the NCAA meet held at Yale.

But that wasn't the end for State's young swordsman. He entered the Olympic elimination tournaments in both epee and foil and got as far as the semifinals before suffering a defeat. And as a reward for his work he was named the Outstanding College Fencer of 1952.

This year as team captain he improved even over last year's record by winning 26 and dropping only four. He walked off with the Big Ten foil championship for 1953 and finished tenth at the National Tournament in New York.

His coach had this to say about his top flight fencer: "Dick is one of the grandest guys I have ever coached. He is a hard worker and will do anything to help the team. We are going to miss him a great deal here next year."

Southland Calls State Grid Squad

Miami Athletic Head
Declares Good Slate

By KERRY MILLER

Southern skies and deep blue waters are beckoning to the Michigan State grid aggregation.

In future years, the Spartans might have the opportunity to play the University of Miami Hurricanes in Miami, Florida's fabulous Orange Bowl stadium.

Such Harding, Miami's athletic director, would like nothing better than to arrange a series of grid battles with either State or Michigan, he said in an interview recently.

In recent years, Harding along with coach Andy Gustafson, a former assistant to Earl "Red" Blaik at Army, has built Miami into a football power.

The 1950 season saw the Hurricanes gaining a spot in the top ten in football rankings on the strength of a fine record capped by victories over Purdue and Iowa.

In that banner campaign, Miami was 11th in total attendance for their home games of all American colleges while Michigan was 16th and Michigan was first.

Harding has recently signed Notre Dame to visit Miami in 1955. All the Miami home games are played in the spacious Orange Bowl which last year saw nine Hurricane tilts.

State is no stranger to the Orange Bowl for the Green and White lost to Auburn on January 1, 1938 on the Miami gridiron by the score of 6-0.

Gridiron Mastery

The average score of 55 football games played since 1947 by Michigan State teams under Head Coach Biggie Munn is 30-11 in favor of the Spartans.

Western Conference Plans to Keep Rose Bowl

by JACK KOLE
State News Sports Editor

IT NOW APPEARS almost a certainty that Big Ten schools will continue to form a part of the "bouquet of roses" that has appeared every New Year's Day in the Pasadena Bowl for over 50 years.

In a faculty vote early last week, pivotal Purdue University flashed the green light to a renewal of the Rose Bowl pact, which is scheduled to expire with the 1954 contest.

Purdue's ballot gave the Bowl opponents the 6-4 margin needed to put the agreement back into action for another three years. A 5-5 deadlock would result in the death of the proposal.

Of course, the official voting by the school representatives won't take place until the annual conference spring meeting in Champaign, Ill., May 28-30. But past balloting shows that representatives seldom go against the wishes of the faculty groups.

Just preceding Purdue's announcement, Iowa, as expected, went on record for the Bowl and announced that its vote had been in for over a month. Thus the two schools fell in line with Illinois and Ohio State, the most eager members in support of renewal.

THE ILLINI, however, nailed a "governor" on their ballot. Only if the conference agrees to send the same team not more than once in three years will the Illini approve a new pact. Purdue also acted in this manner, but eased the situation by stamping approval on either a two or three-year plan.

Neither Indiana nor Michigan has announced its official decision as yet, but both are expected to stand behind a new three-year lease, the latter if just to spite Michigan State.

Lined up with State to stand firmly against the Tournament of Roses are Minnesota, Northwestern, and Wisconsin, the first conference school to lose in the Rose Bowl. The Badgers look it on the chin last Jan. 1st from Southern Cal., 7-6.

The Wisconsin and Purdue ballots are indeed ironical. In fact, the negative Badger decision caused such a stir that the state legislature has in the hopper a bill to force a revote.

Purdue, on the other hand, was edged out of a Bowl bid after they finished the 1952 season in a tie with Wisconsin for the Big Ten title. And yet, the Hoosiers have just cast what is generally considered as THE vote for renewal.

GOING BACK TO the beginning of the recent Bowl series shows the Big Ten in overwhelming superiority although a few of the games have been exceptionally close.

During the first five-year agreement, which started with the 1947 tussle, the Western Conference racked up 145 points, compared to a meager 48 for the Pacific Coast. Biggest routs were Michigan's 49-0 shutout of Southern Cal in 1948 and the Illini's 45-14 victory in the series opener over UCLA.

In the final three years of the first agreement California formed the opposition all three times and were edged by a hair-breadth on each occasion. Northwestern did the trick, 20-14, in '49, Ohio State squeezed by, 17-14, by a field goal in '50, and Michigan came back for a second visit in 1951 to finish the Bears' annihilation, 14-6. That was enough for the Bears—they haven't been back in the roses again.

When the Bowl came up in 1950, it just got past the Big Ten magnets by a narrow 5-4 count. Back then, of course, Michigan State was a member. In that vote, Purdue was among the four-schools who wanted to end the pact.

Illinois started right out on the new pact by slaughtering Stanford, 40-7 in 1952, but the Coast finally got into the act in the 1953 tilt.

THE GENERAL CONSENSUS among the experts is that the most deciding factor in favor of the present renewal was the favorable reaction of the players. Despite the cries of de-emphasis sounded around the nation, the Rose Bowl has continued to gain prestige and is considered the "Mr. Big" of the New Year's Day classics.

Also, since both conferences dividing the proceeds among the member schools the financial aspect was not considered overly evil. And when the players themselves started to apply the pressure the faculties succumbed to their wishes.

Michigan State enters gridiron competition in the conference as a full-fledged member for the first time this year. The Spartans have a chance, despite the negative vote of State's faculty and the scourge of probation, to participate in the famed classic next year. Whether it will be good or evil for Michigan State only time will tell.

THURS. 7:30

RM. 33 UNION

Sophomores to Lead Spartans in NCAA Boxing Tournament

By STAN KURZMAN
State News Associate Editor

Four sophomores and a junior will carry Michigan State's hopes in the NCAA boxing tournament tonight at Idaho State College.

And the five Spartan boxers have a remarkable composite record of 23 victories in 27 bouts during this season's dual meets.

Leading the MSC quintet are Herb Odum and Tom Hickey—both undefeated in seven bouts this year. Both are sophomores who fought as freshmen when the NCAA relaxed the freshman rule for a year.

Over the two year span, Hickey, a 165-pounder, has amassed a record of 15 wins against only two losses. He holds a win over Wisconsin's Tom Moran, the defending NCAA welterweight titlist and is ranked as a strong contender in the 165-pound division this year.

Odum, a lanky 147-pounder who went to the semi-finals of the U.S. Olympic tryouts in 1952, also has lost only two bouts in two years of ringwork for the Spartans. Odum is one behind Hickey in wins, though, with 14.

The lone junior on the squad is powerful light heavyweight Al Tsakiris. Tsakiris has been the biggest surprise on the Spartan squad this season with five wins in six bouts. Last year, fighting as a heavyweight, Tsakiris had four wins, two losses and two draws.

Bill Greenway, 156-pounder, and Jimmy Evans, 132-pounder, both sophomores, are MSC's other entries.

Greenway, in his first year of collegiate ring competition, compiled a creditable 3-3 record.

Evans sat out most of this past season because of ineligibility. His only bout was against the Quintico Marines, which he won.

Evans, fighting while a freshman during the 1951-52 season racked up four wins in nine bouts.

This will be the first year since George Makris took over as Spartan boxing coach that he will not have a defending NCAA champion entered in the tournament.

In five previous NCAA tournaments, the worst Michigan State has finished was third place in 1950. They capped the team title in 1951 and were runners-up the other three years.

Team championships were not officially decided until the 1948 meet.

Wisconsin, last year's champs, also won the 1948 team title. Louisiana State won in 1949 and Idaho in 1950.

After tonight's prelims, the mittmen will square off to decide the finalists Friday. Champions will be crowned after Saturday's final bouts.

Spieser to See Action Tonight

Former Michigan State boxing star Chuck Spieser returns to action tonight at Detroit's Motor City Arena after a layoff of several weeks.

Spieser, who has been sidelined by an eye cut, will face Billy Field, Canada's second-ranking light heavyweight, in an eight-round televised feature bout.

Field has compiled a record of 31 wins, nine losses and three draws.

Irvin Fears Final Series

MONTREAL (AP)—A notably pessimistic view of his Montreal team's chances in the Stanley Cup final playoff series opened with Boston tonight.

The Canadian coach is particularly worried about the Bruins because they defeated Detroit's Red Wings—who have won the National Hockey League crown five consecutive years—four games to two.

Montreal, on the other hand had to go the full seven games before deciding the issue with 4-1 win over the Chicago Blackhawks in its semifinal on Tuesday night.

Kobs Says Hurling Top Worry List

Team Shows Power With Eight Homers

By CHUCK MILLER

Baseball coach John Kobs believes that pitching will be the biggest problem for the Spartans must overcome if they are to be rated as contenders in the Big Ten race.

Commenting on the respraying tour, Kobs said that he met the most experienced team that they have played in quite while.

For instance, Camp LeJure was blessed with a pitching staff of 12—all capable starting hurlers.

He went on to say that this year's edition of the baseball team was the most inexperienced that he had ever taken south.

However, Kobs thinks that the team has real power at bat. The fact that eight home runs were blasted out in nine games troubles to this.

There are still several points that aren't decided yet. The catching situation is shaping up pretty well with Tom Yewic and Dick Edin both in contention for the job.

He has decided on a starting line-up for the annual variety annual game which will be played Saturday at 3 p.m.

Spartan Gridders to Commence Crucial Spring Drills Monday

Michigan State's most important spring training football drills in the history of the sport on campus will be held Monday afternoon under the guiding eye of Coach Biggie and his assistants.

Second, the Spartans will be attempting to keep their 23-game streak alive in addition to defending their national championship.

Third, Munn must find players who can play both on offense and defense, since the elimination of the two platoon system.

The Spartans will run into rough competition when the Big Ten state starts on Sept. 26 at Iowa City against the Iowa Hawkeyes. Following this tussle with Forest Kvashevski's crew, the Green and White will travel to Gopherland to pay Minnesota's Paul Giel a visit.

Late in the season, State must face on successive Saturdays Ohio State and Michigan.

In Columbus, America's football capital, Coach Woody Hayes is so sure of himself that he has already named his starting lineup for the season's opener.

The Bucks along with Minnesota and State should rank as favorites for the Western Conference bunting.

Munn remarks about the forthcoming drills, "With the two platoon out of the window and our first Big Ten season coming up, this is bound to be the most important spring session ever held at State. I'm looking forward to it and so are the other coaches and the players."

Daily skull sessions have been the rule for Munn and his staff in recent days. They have been discussing such matters as necessary personnel changes because of the elimination of the two platoon, and scheduling and planning of various practice phases.

For the start of spring practice, over 200 athletes are expected to report.

The climax of the drills will be the annual Green and White interquad game and football clinic on Saturday, May 9.

Sideline observers believe the Spartans of the '53 vintage will make up a capable squad, probably below the quality of last year's aggregation, but boasting a number of standout stars who could mean the difference between a good and an outstanding record.

The greatest perplexity for the Spartan mentors will be that of re-evaluating every player on the team, seniors through freshmen, by a set of standards not used in several years. Former offensive stars will have to prove defensive ability, and vice versa.

Munn's big job will be to build defensive strength, for eight of the first string defensive linemen are now missing. Offensively, six of the first 11 from last year are lost.

The "light brigade" backfield composed of Tommy Yewie, Leo Holden, Billy Wells and Evan Slonek will have to be tested and their ability on defense. All four stand under six feet and weigh less than 180 pounds.

Before spring training is completed there are likely to be numerous changes, but one is definitely near. Earl Ellis Duckett will likely be shifted to his former halfback position.

Last season Duckett caught ten passes for 323 yards and five touchdowns.

Gym Champion

Rintz Wins Plaudits For Athletic Feats

By KEITH MILLER

"The Big Ten's best gymnast of the 1952-53 season" is a title that could easily be given to Michigan State's sterling sophomore sensation, Carl Rintz.

In the conference meet held in Jenison Fieldhouse in early March, Rintz took individual honors copping first place on the side horse, the horizontal bars, and the rings in addition to nabbing second in the all-around.

Then the remarkable Rintz took the National Collegiate Athletic Association side horse championship at Syracuse in late March. The Spartan also placed in three other events at the National convolve.

Two former Olympic gymnasts who acted as judges in the recent NCAA championships declared that they had never seen a better side horse performance than that executed by Rintz.

Rintz is now thinking of entering the National AAU championships slated for Chicago in May.

The winning of these titles is certainly a bright omen to a season that started off on the dark side for the 19-year-old star from Quarryville, Pa.

At the start of the campaign in early January, Rintz had to undergo an operation for a bad knee which Coach George Szypula thought would sideline the Quaker for quite sometime. However, Carl made a phenomenal comeback to perform against Ohio State on January 24.

From that time on Rintz gradually regained his strength to eventually lead the Spartans to a third place finish in the Big Ten meet.

The Green and White won only two victories during the regular season competition edging Wisconsin and Michigan.

Szypula thinks that the Spartans could have won all the individual meets if Rintz had been in good shape. Regarding the Quaker's future, Szypula remarks, "Barring injury he should be one of the best gymnasts in the country."

Carl began his gym work at Girard College High School in Pennsylvania where he captained the team. His tutor at that institution was Carl Patterson, a former teammate of Szypula at Temple University and an outstanding sidehorse performer in his own right.

During his prep days, the 16" 135 pound Rintz also worked on the track squad competing in the pole vault and high jump.

Szypula looks upon the next two seasons with a high degree of hope for successful teams with Rintz on hand.

BOB HOKE

Spartan Gain Necessity Turned Bob Hoke to Mat

By RON SMITH

High school requirement brought Michigan State a wrestling champion.

Bob Hoke, recent winner of the Walter Jacobs wrestling award annually given to the Spartan matman, compiles the most points during the season, turned a grappling game out of its.

As a sophomore at Classen Oklahoma City, the willowy was required to elect an elective course. Big brother Monte had been a state champion in wrestling.

As a music-minded Bob, the mat, which proved to be the for the Spartans. Two later he was a state champion native state.

In competition his past season the 20-year-old Junior was named the Big Ten 157-pound holder and he picked up a gold in the NCAA meet in the pound class. Hoke compiled points in dual-meet and tournament action to outdistance his closest competitor.

As a guy with a big grin, Hoke is from a family of wrestlers. Besides Monte there is another state champion in the night, and Jerry, a freshman at State, is a half-mile with Garver is expected to pitch five innings today for the Tigers in their exhibition game with the Cincinnati Reds at Columbus, O. It will be a tune-up for his opening night assignment.

The Tigers' game with the Red scheduled here Wednesday was canceled because of wet grounds.

Garver, who came to the Tiger in a seven-man trade last August, has a habit of winning opening games. He has been an opening day pitcher every year he has been in the majors, except the first in 1948. In the four ensuing years he won three opening games, including a 3-0 shutout over the Tigers a year ago at Briggs Stadium.

Garver won 20 games for the Browns in 1951. He developed arm trouble after coming to the Tigers last year and he pitched only one game for Detroit. It was a 4-2 decision over the Browns on a nine-hitter.

Garver blamed his sore arm on a nerve-circulatory block in his neck. But the soreness appears to have gone away this spring and he is believed to be in good condition again. He pitched 18 innings against major league opponents in Florida exhibitions this spring for a 2-1 record.

Fire Chiefs Talk It Over

A group of Michigan fire chiefs talk over state fire problems at a joint meeting of the Western and Southeastern Michigan Fire Chiefs Association Wednesday. In the discussion are: James Davis, assistant fire chief, Highland township; Robert McAllister, fire chief, Plymouth, president of the Southeastern Michigan Fire Chiefs Association; Ralph Koch, battalion fire chief, Detroit; Ann Smith, fire chief, Highland township; and Andrew Klomparska, fire chief, Highland, president of the Western Michigan Fire Chiefs Association. A panel of eight discussed "Timely Fire Topics."

Chairman Sets Due Date for Float Sketches

First float sketches for the 1953 Water Carnival, "The World We Inhabit," are due on April 14 at the Wolverine office, according to Mark Ford, publicity chairman.

The sketches will be returned April 16 at a general meeting of living unit representatives.

Trophies should be received soon and will be displayed in local business places. The tickets are ready but a sale date has yet to be announced.

Congress

The bill to appropriate $1,200 for the Helot, student handbook to be given to incoming freshmen, to cover photographs and engraving costs was referred to finance committee.

Five Congress vacancies will be filled by petitions which prospective candidates may pick up in the student government office. Three vacancies exist in East Lansing, one each in North Williams and West Mayo and two in Lansing.

Congress finance committee will meet April 15 in the government office at 4 p.m., according to Harry Theurekauf, chairman of the committee.

Prisoner

Rear Adm. John C. Daniel termed the total number of 450 South Koreans and 150 Americans, British, French and other ailing captives to be returned "incredibly small."

Daniel reserved the right to challenge the figure later. Despite the Allied disappointment, there was no perceptible slackening in the pace set by the liaison groups in working out an agreement.

"I have no reason at the present time to believe that the Communists are not acting in good faith," Daniel said.

Since Monday the Allies have agreed in principle to the exchange of sick and wounded and to about half of the mechanical details of the transfer.

Full agreement could set a formula for halting the 33-month-old Korean War. Only the sick and wounded question is being discussed now.

The Allies are unwilling to agree to Communist proposals to resume the armistice negotiations until the sick and wounded exchange is settled.

The Communists Wednesday promised to furnish later a breakdown by nationalities of captives to be returned. There was no indication if the Reds included interned civilians in the 600.

Sabres Blast Two MIGs In Busy Day of Battle

SEOUL —U.S. Sabre jets Tuesday shot down two Communist MIG jets and shot up eight more by pilot estimates in a day which saw hot action in the air and aground.

Thunderjets behind the Sabre screen swept to within 12 miles of the Manchurian border and smashed Red transportation facilities.

South Korean infantrymen lost a bitter struggle to hold a rugged 2,000-foot hill on the Central Front which they twice wrestled from the Communists during the day.

There was no apparent letup of pressure anywhere despite progress made by Allied and Communist negotiators on prisoner exchange at Panmunjom.

The Fifth Air Force said the Sabres, in addition to destroying two MIGs in an attack in northern Korea probably destroyed another.

Students Suspended For Dorm Violation

Two students have been suspended for being caught with beer in the dormitory, Dean of Students Tom King said Tuesday.

Roberts

Could they make enough out of it, under proper management, to carry the long-range defense program without today's heavy strainings? They have invested nearly nine billions of dollars in this program, which is difficult to divide between peaceful uses and the production of weapons. If anybody is going to make any money out of it—which may not be true for a long time—the original investor certainly has a powerful claim.

If atomic power had been developed by private enterprise you can bet your bottom dollar the stockholders would be in line for substantial returns. Yet as far as the government program now looks into the future, it involves subsidy for private development, not royalties. And there is no reason to believe this unnecessary for the present.

For the future there may be in atomic development a means of relieving the defense load, which can hardly be scratched now, within the bounds of safety by an ordinary or even an extraordinary economy campaign.

Professors on Leave To Evaluate Point Four

Associate Professor John B. Holland, of the Social Science Department, recently left MSC to join Prof. Olin Leonard, also of the MSC Social Science Department, in conducting research work in the Caribbean area.
