Spartan chests must have swelled considerably when the being mentioned as a possible successor to Martin Durkin, or Secretary of Labor.

Durkin, you'll remember, is the distillusioned Dunking who wanted to collaborate with Republicans in making drastic Taft-Hartley alterations. Monday-morning columnists are now calling his admission to Ike's cabinet the altimate in salvets.

How goods the and his ables hope for a compression when they knew Burkin would stand firmly unless inher's demands for T-H changes were granted, they clames:

Anyway, Durkin, whose earnestness and directness of purpose earned a warm spot for him in Washington, estimated it quits recently when it became apparent to him that he wealdn't get inher's way.

His replicational has not been named. But in the Sept. 16 issue of the Detroit Riews, Washington correspondent Martin S. Hayden elabored Hannah was heling plagged for Durkin's good by top officials of the Republican National Committential and the secretary wild. Hannah had the essential qualification of liberal Hopublicanism and was described as friendly to labor.

Only drawback, it continued, was that his appointment would give Michigan three of the ten cabinet posts. Defense Secretary Wilson and Postmaster General Summer field are the other Michiganders in the cabinet.

Hannah has subsequently denied that he was under consideration and said the matter was never discussed with him by anythin at all.

Hayden, however, is not a fledgling journalist who would put stock in the statements of unreliable sources. His long experience on the Washington posse ranks him with the leading correspondents there.

We aren't predicting that Hannah will be appointed. But we are proud that he was singled out as a candidate. It's the thought that counts.
