Just About Anything
Unbowed Knees

By PHIL GUNBY
State News Manager

The appearance around town of two or three hardy male souls in walking shorts ought to prove something to Secretary of State Dulles.

Replying to the suggestion that the diplomatic corps turn to traditional striped trousers for men's shorts, Dulles observed that British knees seemed to be all right in shorts, but that he wasn't sure American knees were shapely enough.

Well, sir, we American males may be knock-kneed or bow-legged, tooth-pick or piano-legged, but our knees are as cute as anybody's. And only two things keep us from continuing to prove our point:

- 1. Fall breezes are coming; and
2. AWS would probably rule that we'd have to wear long coats over our bared legs, just like the coeds.

If mailmen hold grudges against outfits which send out a lot of literature by post, their hate for the International Union of Students must be a deep and lasting one.

The IUS sends us an average of about three newsletters a week. Student government across the hall is on their mailing list, too.

Supposedly "founded by students... and run entirely by students on a democratic basis," the IUS claims 5,300,000 student members in 72 countries, the U.S.A. included. The constitution was ratified in Prague, Czechoslovakia, on Aug. 27, 1946.

Most of the propaganda IUS issues comes from Prague. Primarily, the IUS seems to be pushing for world peace and a better deal for everybody. Fine. But they have a rather odd way of promoting their utopia.

First of all, they claim students are getting a lousy deal just about every place. Except the USSR and its satellites, that is. Everything seems to be peace, light, and progress there, to hear the IUS tell it.

Then, the IUS "young people" (the president looks to be about 38, but then, they say you're as young as you feel) suggest that the Americans might get out of Korea, Japan, Germany, and elsewhere to end "world colonialism." Apparently they feel that Red troops are all right just where they are.

On the outside, the IUS appears to be the answer to the young idealist's prayers. Here is an organization to promote world peace among the almost-arrived and educated generation, and to secure a fair shake for everybody everywhere.

On the inside, it's so obviously a Communist-based outfit (except, AP correspondent Bill Oatis says, in the British Isles and Denmark), it's sickening. The thousands of words it spouts annually add up to nothing more than: "Stick with the USSR and communism, kids, it has all the answers."

And that's pretty poor addition, to my way of thinking. If postmen hate to lug the International Union of Students' packets around, I for one hate to open them. The nonsense therein is a little hard to swallow right after breakfast.

JV Football Passes
From Sports Scene

Junior varsity football, a phase of athletics that never really got a start, has apparently failed again in the Midwest. There are definite reasons for the failure, but the fact still remains that jayvee football could be extremely beneficial.

Michigan State, for instance, showed a five-game schedule before the season opened. But when Michigan and Notre Dame decided to drop the sport, three of State's games were wiped off the slate.

With only two games left, Athletic Director Ralph Young could do nothing else but drop the activity. Only two Big 10 schools, Ohio State and Purdue, are still fielding jayvee squads and they, too, may call it quits with the new developments.

After an absence of a year, a few Midwestern squads decided to re-introduce JV football this season. Behind the plan was the hope that upperclassmen who couldn't make the varsity could gain some incentive from intercollegiate competition.

The ideas underlying the plan were sound. It's rather difficult for players to practice night after night without some formal contests for encouragement.

Cheering crowds and a certain degree of publicity can go a long way in providing some of that encouragement. It can make football seem more like the real thing and keep the participants looking forward to the day when they will be playing on the varsity.

In 1951, the last year of junior varsity football at Michigan State, the Friday afternoon contests enjoyed excellent attendance with more than 2,000 spectators at most games.

Lack of manpower was offered as the reason for dropping JV football by both Michigan and Notre Dame. That situation certainly does not prevail at Michigan State, and it is difficult to see how the Wolverines and the Irish are faced with this problem.

Both are perennial gridiron powerhouses. It takes a lot of good players, both on the varsity and down in the lower ranks, to produce good teams year after year.

Junior varsity football was expected to serve another purpose. Some players had difficulty switching back to the one-plateau system.

JV play was expected to aid these players in making the adjustment. Despite all the good that could be derived from junior varsity football, it is a dead issue—for the 1953 season, anyway. And as the Brooklyn Dodgers keep saying—"Maybe next year."

A New Tradition

If a proposed trophy for the winner of the annual MSC-Michigan game materializes, it's bound to take its place among traditional symbols of victory in gridiron "grudge" battles.

Michigan and Minnesota have their "Little Brown Jug"; Indiana and Purdue have their "Old Oaken Bucket." Now the Spartans and Wolverines will have some type of material remembrance of victory in what has become, traditionally, the Game of the Year.

Plans are still in the nebulous stage and the form and name of the cup, to be donated by Gov. G. Mennen Williams, are as yet undecided. But the long-overdue reward will be a welcome addition to the 46th renewal of one of football's most colorful series.

Coed-itorials

By NANCY GIBSON, Society Editor

Geographically speaking, coeds live in a locality where there is a fairly good man-bombing ground, though competition is still quite difficult. But pity the poor Eastern coed—her changes to meet a man are much steeper than ours. The predominance of females in New York, Washington, and other Eastern centers is overwhelming. The answer to this is that there have been relatively greater tendencies for women to move to the city and for men to migrate westward. On the other side of the country, the Western woman is enjoying an advantage as far as mate selection is concerned. According to sociologists, the farther West you go the better since the West is still a place where men are men and women are in demand. As far as areas go, the woman who comes from a farm is lucky. Males predominate the country and farming areas while women outnumber men in the cities. Solution to the problem: We could follow the team to the Rose Bowl!

Singing the Blues Union to Feature Record Program

Highlighting this week's Union Board sponsored activities is a music program "On 1920 Blues" to be held today from 4 to 5 in the music room of the Union. Dr. Marvin K. Farmer, associate professor of Humanities, will speak on Negro blues, their anthropological origin and the part they played in the development of American folklore. Dr. Farmer will illustrate styles by playing early originals from his large collection of 1920 records, by artists such as: Louie Armstrong, Bessie Smith, Ida Cox and Chipper Hill. Entrants to the Union Board Bridge Tournament will hold an organizational meeting tonight at 7 in the Town Girls Room of the Union. Any other students interested in participating in the tournament may sign up in the Union Board Activities Room until Oct. 14. The board will also present movies of the MSC-Minnesota football game at 7 and 8 p.m.

New Fall Formals Make Debut Soon

Coeds Favor Waltz Gowns With Accent on 'Jewel Look'

With the Harvest Ball just around the corner, Michigan State coeds will have their first opportunity this fall to wear their newest and prettiest formals. This season's fashion spotlight emphasizes formals of bouffant net in either dainty pastel shades or the new jewel tones. The deeper tones of vibrant reds, peacock blues, and amethyst colors are fashioned into gowns of shimmering taffeta and pure silk. The slick straight line in formals is outdated this year by waltz length gowns with full gathered skirts and fitted bodices. Mantlets which can be worn on or off formals, are also replacing stoles. The emphasis is on jeweled beading, touches of pearls, and dashes of minute rhinestone. Beautifully braided and embroidered designs are used to give a striking affect to simply designed dresses. Tiered tulle is also fashioned to give a smooth fullness to skirts without the skirt being gathered. Many formals have touches of lace either fashioned in panels or peplums over a full skirt, or the bodice of a dress is made of lace. Portrait necklines are also highlighted along with the ever popular strapless gown. Touches of velvet of a deeper shade is used to emphasize delicate pastels. Bodices of velvet or velvet skirts worn under net are also very fashionable. To carry out the shades of a deeper velvet color or contrasting material, dainty fashioned pumps of velvet, satin and shantung, are being worn. Centralized purchasing began at MSC about 35 years ago, and has grown to a point where more than $4 million is spent annually to keep the university in everything from locks to steaks.

Green Splash Plans Movies And Contest

Women's Gym activities this week are movies of synchronized swimming and experiences of previous years' shows to be presented by Green Splash at the Activities Carnival, Thursday. Synchronized swimming practice is underway in preparation for the Inter-Collegiate Championships Contest, Dec. 5 in the pool at the Women's Gym. The Green Splash has been accepted by the 14 colleges participating, and will enter solos, duets, and teams.

Few winning teams are without a strong reserve—that player who is withheld temporarily from action so that he will be available when needed in a "clutch" situation.

Football Coach Biggie Munn has always used many reserves and one player he has had several occasions to call on is tackle Jim Jebb.

Jebb has always played in the shadow of big name Spartan stars. An offensive left tackle and defensive left guard, Jebb has undistinguished such stalwarts as All-American Don Coleman and Gordie Serr.

Here We Go Again Yankees-Bums Again in '54?

By JACK HANS NEW YORK (AP)—Who is going to beat the Yankees and Dodgers in 1954? It looks like the same old story—again.

To the dismay of a good portion of the nation west of the Rocky Mountains, the sixth game of the series was a tie in the last of the ninth inning of the sixth game of World Series with Brooklyn Dodgers which gave the Yankees a 4-3 win and their 20th straight championship. It was Martin's 12th hit of Series.

State Jumps to Third Position

Michigan State's Spartans rated only second best in the second weekly Associated Press football poll, but the Spartans showed that Coach Biglum's defending national champions were creeping up on ranked Notre Dame.

Irish, with 84 first-place out of 129 ballots, were still of the heap with 1,190 total but the Spartans were behind with 1,022 markers

Spartans Second in Weekly Poll

The Spartans were rated second in the United Press poll taking 291 points and first-place votes as compared to Notre Dame's 332. Thirty-five top coaches voted in this rating.

First-place ballots, 53, with only 98 sports and broadcasters voting, Dame tallied 71 top ballots of points, while State polled 57 points and 692 points.

Bringing total points, the Spartans trail the Irish by 108 points, while last week Notre held a 215-point bulge.

State, a victim of the Irish, dropped out of the poll when it showed the usual effect of a tussle with Dame—a big letdown—and fell to a 7-7 tie by Pittsburgh Thursday.

Notre Dame consolidated its position at the top of the list last week by walloping Purdue, 37-7, in a new passing combination of Coach Guadalupe to Joe Heap supported the running of Larry Lattner and Neil Worden.

Spartans have conquered 10 opponents, Iowa and Michigan, scoring 21 points in contest. The Hawkeyes tallied seven points for the only loss against State this season.

State, 33-19 victor over Iowa, jumped from sixth to seventh with 769 points, while Michigan dropped from fourth to fifth with 636 tallies.

Michigan's Terrapins, rated last week, also dropped a place to fourth with a 733-point total.

Backfield of Week Lists LeRoy Bolden

For the second straight week a Michigan State player has been included on the United Press backfield-of-the-week.

Spartan LeRoy Bolden, who paced State to a 21-0 victory over Minnesota last Saturday, was named along with Bob Watkins of Ohio State, George Bozanic of Southern California and Walt Rynowski of Pennsylvania.

Watkins was also named Associated Press Back-of-the-Week. The Bulldozing Ohio State half-back scored four touchdowns against California last weekend and drove for 145 yards on 20 attempts.

Bolden, who also gained 145 yards on only 12 attempts, pressed Watkins for the AP honor.

Motts Mutts Upset Ulrey, 6-0

Motts Mutts, playing a stand-out defensive game, bottled up the scoring punch of last year's independent intramural league champion, Ulrey, and won a surprising upset, 6-0 Thursday night on the practice field.

It was the second major upset of the new season. Last Show 2, 1952's All-College runner-up, lost a 14-2 game to East Shaw 1, Monday night.

Joe Bloom passed 56 yards to Larry Fitzpatrick on the Ulrey 15-yard line early in the second quarter, and Fitzpatrick spun into the end-zone for the team's only score.

Late in the game Ulrey opened up with a long-range passing attack but, an alert Mott defense intercepted Frank Toti's heaves three times within the 20-yard line. Bloom kept the sting out of Ulrey's final drive, taking a long pass on his own 12 with 2 1/2 minutes left.

Elsworth House 8, Motts House 0
Elsworth House stopped Mott's attack with a third period touch-back by Francis Peterson, and a clincher touchdown on a pass from Bill Boyer to Pete Peterson to Dick Reaser in fourth period.

Howland House 9, East House 0
Howland House slipped past East House, 9-0, on a touch-back by Jerry Gillis, and a touchdown and extra point with only six seconds left in the game.

JFU, 20; South 13
Chuck Johnson's passes to Andy Telek, Mike Wallace and another to Telek provided the TD's as JFU, runner up in last year's independent league, defeated the Rockets 20-13. Johnson also passed to Ray Sharp for an extra point and set for the other. The Rockets' extra game on Tully by Paul Waring and Jim Schaefer and a aerial from Schaefer to Bert Larkin provided the conversion. Arthur Smith, St. Thomas High, 7

John Overton had a post intercepted by Frank Logartung, who ran for a touchdown, but still completed four others that figured in the scoring for Arthur House. His passes to George King on two occasions and another to Wally Logan, who then passed to Bill Lusk, provided the TD's. Overton again passed to King for the final conversion. Chuck Weitz ran the ball over for Mott's Mice's extra point.

'One Platoon Faster,' Wilson Tells Chicago Grid Writers

CHICAGO (AP)—Big 10 football teams generally are striking with more emphasis under the new limited substitution rule this season, Wilson said early predictions of most coaches that the game would slow down without the two-platoon system.

Commissioner E. L. Tug Wilson told the Chicago Football Writers' Ass. Tuesday that conference teams so far have averaged 420 plays from scrimmage compared to a season average of 340 last year.

But, although this average is lower, 55 50 teams have called up a total of 688 plays in two weeks for a whopping average per team of 32.4.

This scoring was boosted by such top-heavy decisions as Michigan's 50-0 victory over Washington and Iowa's 54 - 12 trouncing of Washington State.

Wilson said the average number of rushing plays this season is 89, passing 34 and punting 11. This compares, respectively, to 95-43-11, over the entire 1952 season. He said playing time has decreased from an average of 2 hours 21 minutes to 2-18 and that the number of players used has dropped from 40 to 30.

Other scores:
Cap City Caps, 1; Fring Irish, 0 (forfeit)
Newman Club, 1; Trojans, 0 (forfeit)

S. Plans East-West Proposal

Peace Pact Aims Voiced by Dulles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said Tuesday that the United States is considering a joint pact with its European allies to offer Russia formal guarantees against the rebirth of German militarism.

Dulles made it clear at a news conference, however, he favors such assurances only if Russia agrees at the same time to an acceptable plan for a united Germany.

The secretary's word appeared aimed at slowing down what he regards as a growing Western European interest in offering Russia a non-aggression pact before any of Europe's special East-West problems are solved.

His remarks also were apparently intended as an indirect answer to former Gov. Adlai Stevenson's plea for "a European system of durable non-aggression for Russia as well as France, for Germany, and the rest of us."

Stevenson made his suggestion in a speech Sept. 15 in Chicago and added: "If the Soviet Union respects assurances of non-aggression, if the Red army will not withdraw behind its borders, if an Austrian peace treaty and German unification are impossible except on the Soviet's terms, then we will at least have cleared the air."

Dulles said talk of a non-aggression pact at this time is vague and meaningless, because the United States and Russia already have signed a non-aggression pact — the Charter of the United States and Russia.

But he noted that Germany might be required to reassure both the Russian and the French people against any possible new German aggression. He gave no details but noted the United States is currently discussing numerous suggestions with the German, British, and French governments.

Peace Terms Force UN Return of War Criminals

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Potter (R-Mich.) said Tuesday the Korean truce terms forced the United Nations to turn back to the Communists hundreds of captured war criminals who would have been put on trial if the war had ended in a U. N. military victory.

"They are now beyond our reach," Potter told a news conference after questioning four military representatives in private and getting from them, he said, "shocking revelations of atrocities committed by the Reds on American prisoners of war."

Potter, a legion veteran of World War II, has been designated by Chairman McCarthy (R-Wis.) of the Senate Investigations subcommittee as a one-man "back force" to investigate atrocities charges.

He made it plain he didn't mean to criticize the military for turning back the captives to the Reds. The U. N. had to release the Communists in order to get its own men back in exchange, Potter said.

The Michigan senator said the files of the U. N. Command in Korea show 1,800 cases of atrocities, many of them involving more than one U. N. soldier, and the list "is being added to constantly."

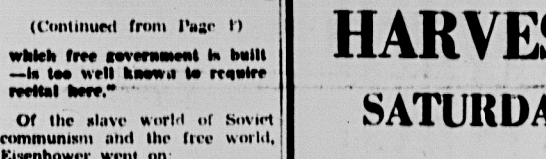

Award Committee Invites Applicants

The MSC committee on Fulbright awards recently invited applications for graduate study in foreign countries from seniors who expect to receive Bachelor degrees by August 1954.

The awards offer opportunity for study in some 30 to 40 countries, provide transportation allowance and maintenance stipend. The local committee stresses both personal and academic qualifications in making its recommendations to the national committee, Dean Thomas H. Osgood, chairman of the local group said.

Candidates are asked to contact Dean Osgood in 112 Morrill Hall.

Of the slave world of Soviet communism and the free world, Eisenhower went on:

"The one is compelled by its purpose of world domination, the other by its unbreakable will to preserve its freedom and security to devote these latest atomic discoveries of science to increasing its stockpiles of destructive armaments."

"Man's greatest scientific achievement, therefore, cannot yet be made exclusively to serve the advancement of man's welfare and happiness. Instead, we are forced to concentrate on building such stores of armaments as can deter any attack against those who want to be free."
