Community Chest Exceeds Area Goal

Smith, Blagdon Given Award, Bagwell Re-named to Board Post

Lansing and Greater Lansing residents can afford to feel smug today. They contributed nearly $750,000 to the 1951 Community Chest campaign—105 per cent of the area's goal of $705,341.

Congress Approves Allocations

Reports on Chest Presented to Group

While election disputes raged in student government offices Wednesday night, Congress quietly approved Community Chest allocations for this year. Under new Speaker, Larry Heitsch, Congress briefly discussed a report presented by Kay Hill, Campus Chest head, and passed it.

Provisions of the report include allocations of 15 per cent each to the Heart Fund, tuberculosis, cancer foundation, police and Spartan Nursery, the World Student Service and Negro Scholarship Funds will receive 10 per cent each and the MSC Student Loan Fund will get 5 per cent.

After passing the bill, Congress asked for a report on the World Student Service and the Negro Scholarship Funds at next week's meeting.

Dave Hyman, government president announced the appointments of Bob Farrall, representing Blue Key; Dave Disbrow, APO, and Mary Schierholz, AWS, to the elections reviewing board. The board has already functioned in three campaign decisions.

Three Congress vacancies not included in today's election were noted. Seats are open from Men's Co-ops, West Shaw, and Lansing.

A bill to revoke the charters of 37 campus organizations was approved, but final decision will not be made until next week. In a committee meeting immediately after the regular Congress session, Don Hadden, Otsego sophomore, was appointed head of the Congressional Elections Committee. The post was vacated when Larry Heitsch became congress speaker.

More Clouds Tumbling Signs, Falling Leaves Due With Wind

A 15 m.p.h. west to southwest wind will try to knock down the campaign posters scattered over the campus today. Cloudy skies and a high of 54 degrees is also forecast. Tonight the mercury will drop to the freezing point, but will rise again tomorrow to a high of 60 degrees. The warmer temperature will be accompanied by partly cloudy skies.

Digits Figure--Numberwise

By BOB BERRAN
Once you've got it, you're stuck with it. That's the story on your student number. "Once a student enrolls at MSC, the number he receives is his," says H. N. Stoutenberg, assistant to the registrar's admissions office. Even a change in name will not change a student's number. Stoutenberg says. In such cases, the name is changed on the records, while the student keeps the same number. The numbers are allocated to students providing an college standing and term of entrance. Last year Lansing and the surrounding areas met a record enrollment of 30,000.

Puppets and People Turnabout Theater Draws Few

By CYNTHIA SCHIER
Two hours of puppets and people were presented in Fairchild Theater Wednesday night by the "Turnabout Theater."

The theater group, on its first coast-to-coast tour after enjoying 12 years of popularity in Hollywood, appeared as a special number on the fall term Lectures-Concert series. The first part of "A Night at Turnabout" opened with the Yale Puppeteer's presentation of a musical satire, "Gullible's Travels." Puppeteers Harry Burnett, Edward Brandon, Tony Urbano, Bill Buck and John MacDonnell manipulated their marionettes through the adventures of a meek hero, Oliver J. Gullible, and his whimsical Saint Bernard in the Swiss Alps, Baghdad and mythical Brobdingnag.

"The Human Side" of "Turnabout Theater" was presented in part two of the program, which opened with the ensemble's trademark, "Turnabout." In "The Yippee," dancer Lotte Goslar gave her comic modern dance version of a frustrated but hopeful female in springtime. Comedian Harry Burnett and Dorothy Neumann, who directs the group, portrayed a pair of philosophical china book-ends in the next number. Frances Osborne, in a satirical interpretation of a minor concert artist followed in "The Recitist." Miss Goslar returned for a waltz sequence, "Goodbye, Knob Creek," was given as a monologue with Miss Neumann portraying Nancy Hanks Lincoln. Burnett, in "Look at the Book

I took" wryly interpreted the feelings of a man stranded on a desert island with only a telephone directory for company. In a parody on recent psychological ballets, Bill Buck and Miss Goslar danced "Infatuation." Miss Osborne reappeared as a bitter Wagnerian soprano in the caricature "Brunhilde Rides Again."

Forman Brown, pianist, composer and lyricist of "Turnabout Theater," improvised on the nursery rhyme "Old Mother Hubbard" in the styles Gilbert and Sullivan, Victor Herbert, Cole Porter and Rodgers and Hammerstein might have used. In "Salute to Spring" Burnett, Luck, Miss Osborne and Miss Neumann combined talents to simulate a ballet and singing chorus.

Six Out of 119 Organizations Ask For Mailboxes

Only six organizations have signed up for mailboxes in the student government office. Groups are urged to reserve one of the 119 boxes so that mail may be delivered to them instead of directly to club presidents, according to Bob Boughner, government secretary of organizations and eligibility. Student government, administration correspondence, and financial ledgers will be left in the boxes for organizations to pick up, Boughner said. Groups that have reserved boxes are the junior class, central committee, APO, MSC Sailing Club, Alpha Kappa Psi, professional business, fraternity, and the Young Republicans. The boxes were obtained from College Salvage free of charge.

Chairmanship Open For Water Carnival

All men interested in acting as general chairman of the Water Carnival should call Dan Sundt at ED 2-2501 by Monday night. Interviews will be held Tuesday of exact time, according to Ferris Hallmark, senior class president. MSC after being enrolled prior to 1938. In the average term, from 10 to 25 students with numbers below 10,000 are registered, Stoutenberg believes. The numbers are valuable in keeping straight records of students with similar or identical names. However, the use of IBM machines, which mechanically select and file records, was one of the major reasons for introducing the system. Frequently, people not connected with the college use the numbers as a means of identifying students. And that easy-to-remember number 100,000? Assigned like any other number, it belongs to Betty L. Fanning, a nursing education major.

Dean King, Bagwell To Address Meeting

Presidents and advisers of about 60 campus organizations are scheduled to attend the second annual Leadership Clinic in the Union Ballroom at 7 tonight. "Challenge to Student Leaders" will be the subject of an address by Dean of Students Tom King at tonight's session. Dr. Paul Bagwell, head of the communication skills department, will speak on "Leadership in Relation to Educational Goals."

Spartan to Form Ad Staff Tonight

An organizational meeting of the Spartan's advertising staff will be held tonight in the humor magazine's Union office at 7:15. Students interested in joining the staff are invited to attend. The Spartan, announcing openings in the advertising staff for the 1953-54 school year, encourages advertising majors to join the college's humor magazine. The staff will be formed tonight.

American Slaughter Revealed

Photos Included As Evidence

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army, in a new and ghastly account of Communist atrocities reported Wednesday that 6,113 Americans probably were among the multitude of persons tortured and massacred in Korea. Together with the report, which Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens said describes "the cold-blooded program of torture and murder carried on by the Communist enemy," the Army released photographic evidence—pictures of mutilated GIs, and views of bodies of Americans and South Koreans, heads of blackened corpses of men roasted alive.

The report was compiled by the War Crimes Division of the Army in Korea. It covered the period from the beginning of the war through last June 30.

Its total figures for probable American victims of the Communist slaughter were not greatly changed from those issued in November 1951, by Col James M. Hanley, then an officer charged with gathering information about war crimes.

The grand total of probable victims of what Stevens termed the "calculated brutality" of the enemy was placed at 29,815.

The 6,113 Americans were included among 11,622 United Nations military victims, 17,354 civilians and 439 others whose status could not be determined.

Statistical charts contained in the report showed that the great

Leadership Clinic Slated For Tonight

Presidents and advisers of about 60 campus organizations are scheduled to attend the second annual Leadership Clinic in the Union Ballroom at 7 tonight. "Challenge to Student Leaders" will be the subject of an address by Dean of Students Tom King at tonight's session. Dr. Paul Bagwell, head of the communication skills department, will speak on "Leadership in Relation to Educational Goals."

Other speakers on the program are Paul Rumpo, chief accountant of the college, and Mrs. Dorothy Ross of the Counseling Clinic. A welcome address will be given by Elwood Volter, assistant to the dean of students, men's division. Dave Hyman, student government president, will explain government facilities open to organizations. A coffee hour and entertainment by the MSC Men's Glee Club will close the meeting.

According to Bob Boughner, student government secretary of organizations, the response this year has been very poor in comparison with last year's. Two-hundred invitations were sent out, he said. Leaders who did not turn in acceptance to the government office are urged to attend and register tonight, Boughner said. The clinic, which was initiated by the government last February is being held in two sections this year. Next Thursday club presidents and treasurers will meet.

Spartan to Form Ad Staff Tonight

An organizational meeting of the Spartan's advertising staff will be held tonight in the humor magazine's Union office at 7:15. Students interested in joining the staff are invited to attend. The Spartan, announcing openings in the advertising staff for the 1953-54 school year, encourages advertising majors to join the college's humor magazine. The staff will be formed tonight.

'And If I'm Elected...'

Editorially Election Advice

Freshmen, take note. The State News editorial page today is printing the platforms of candidates for frosh offices in order that you, as voters, can get an idea of whom you want to represent you as class heads. Primary elections are being held today in living units and in the Union. Freshmen need both their ID cards and their activity books in order to vote, according to Bill Hurst, secretary of state affairs for student government. When you fill out your ballot today, we hope it will be after you've read the platforms of the persons you plan to put in office. Find out what your candidate stands for.

Vice President

Josh McNeil, Lansing—"I wish to serve as a freshman class officer because I served as a class officer four years in high school and because I am interested in helping plan the activities of the class." Richard Dorgan, Dowagiac—"I am interested in the activities of the freshman class and feel that I will be better able to help if I become a class officer." Andy Foster, Green Bay, Wis.—"Together we stand, divided we fall! This should be the motto of any student group. I am willing to do everything in my power to promote this on the campus of Michigan State College. Do you, the class of 1957, want a vice president who will insure this aim? Do you want someone who will work hard? Do you want your vice president to represent your ideas? Would you like him to be well qualified for this office? If so, your candidate for freshman vice president is Andy Foster." Rita Walker, Chicago, Illinois—"Everyone has heard the proverb, 'In unity there is strength.' I wish to so unify our class to make it the most predominant freshman class that has ever come to Michigan State College." Mary Elizabeth Sullivan, Flint—"The vice-president of any organization should assist the president in every way possible and should be capable of taking over the president's duties in any situation. The vice-president should have deductive ideas and not merely inductive ideas. By this I mean he should have ideas on how to improve the organization and better the freshman class as a whole." Pat Brady, Northfield, Ill—"I feel that I have had the necessary experience in high school to handle the job of vice-president. I have always been very interested in extra-curricular activities; thus I would like to make a good start in them my freshman year here at Michigan State College." Otto White, Battle Creek—"I would like to represent the freshman class as a whole, being impartial to any group or individual. I believe a good foundation this year is necessary to take our class through its four years at Michigan State College."

Treasurer

Pat Weber, Lansing—"I desire to serve the student government and as treasurer of the freshman class because I feel student government is a very worthwhile organization and I would like to participate in the functions." er because I have had quite a deal of class government experience and enjoy this type of work a great deal. Roger Alan Mills, Birmingham—"It has always been my pleasure to serve in anyway possible for the betterment of that for which I am serving. I want to do anything within my power to make this the best freshman class in MSC history and an efficiently run group." Donald E. Sporkman, Atlantic City, N. J.—"After long and deliberate thought, I have decided to run for the office of treasurer of the class of 1957. Serving in such a capacity would, I feel, be of considerable help in preparing me for my chosen occupational field, social work. In addition, loyalty to any class has given me the desire to serve it in the best way I can." Harry A. Eilke, Lansing—"I am interested in the functions of the freshman class and would like to serve them to my best ability. I would like to gain some experience and knowledge in the functions of the student government at MSC." See Taylor, Brooklyn—"This position would entitle you to know just how the class money is being spent and earned. I also feel that holding an office of this sort is a part of a person's education. It helps to develop your mind and therefore prepare you for positions in other organizations after college." Clyde Roe, Livonia—"I am running for freshman class treasurer because I have had quite a deal of class government experience and enjoy this type of work a great deal."

Coed Team to Face Falcon's Challenge

The MSC women's field hockey team will journey to Bowling Green University this weekend to challenge the coed "Falcons".

Coeds become eligible to play on the field hockey team by participating in intramurals which are held at Old College Field every Monday at 5 p.m. From this season, approximately 25 players are chosen for the "Green" and "White" teams.

At a recent sportsday at the University of Michigan, the "Green" team blanked Albion, 3-0, and tied U of M, 0-0. The "White" team also shut out Albion, 3-0, but bowed to U of M, 2-0.

The next sportsday on the field hockey schedule is at Ypsilanti, Nov. 7, in which seven or more Michigan schools will be represented.

Director of the hockey groups is Miss Elizabeth White, physical education instructor. Well-known in hockey circles, Miss White has been an All-American hockey player for five years, last year being co-captain of the All-American team. She is also a member of the Detroit Association of The Great Lakes which represents area hockey players.

Students interested in joining the Promenaders may attend a special instruction class from 7-7:30 p.m. every Wednesday night in the Women's Gym. The club now has 60 members and the newly elected officers include: president, Kathy Walker, Birmingham junior; treasurer, Pat M. Lay, Detroit sophomore; and demonstration chairman, Dick Ingalls, East Lansing junior.

Previous demonstrations of the organization included a performance, Oct. 3, for the Society for Better Hearing in Kalamazoo and the Lansing Boy Scout Jamboree. The dancers also participated in the Activities Carnival and the North Central Association of Promenaders at Kellogg Center.

Area Festivals To Schedule Promenaders

MSC's Promenaders were among the 10,000 dancers last weekend at the Fourth International Square Dance Festival held in Chicago. The festival included clinics on square dance calling, contra dances, and European folk dancing. General square dance demonstrations from each state were staged in the evenings.

Among the activities scheduled by the Promenaders for November are a civic program at the Fremont Festival, Nov. 7 and a Fall Dance Festival Nov. 12 in Flint.

Newly established this fall by the women's physical education department, the purpose of the tennis tourney is to encourage MSC coeds to try out for the spring term tennis team.

All coeds who are in good scholastic standing are eligible to enter the tournament. Those wishing to compete may register in the Women's Gym any time this term.

Coeds participating in the tourney are listed according to their playing ability. By means of a ladder system, players challenge one or two persons ahead of them on the scale. If the loser wins she then changes places with the challenger or vice versa. The 10 or 12 players who reach the top of the ladder will comprise the tennis team.

Mary Ellen Weigle, Grand Rapids senior and Joyce Broo, Chicago junior, are co-managers of the tournament.

Contestants may also enter the intramural tennis matches among women on campus. From these matches, the school's champion coed tennis player is chosen.

International Group Plans Egyptian Talk. "Spotlight On Egypt" will be the topic discussed at the International Club meeting Friday 8 p.m. in 31 Union.

Slides and discussion on Egyptian culture, dances, and music will be explained. Everyone is invited to attend.

Coed-itorials

Sometimes I think some women have ceased to be participants in life, and have become merely spectators.

They are content to watch others take part in sports while their slogan is "it's just too much for me." And then they wonder why they have to rely on a box of reducing pills.

"It just isn't ladylike," I heard one coed say when asked why she disliked physical education. Or "it's too much bother to run all the way to the gym and then put on a gym suit, besides!"

The ironical part about it is that most of modern civilization is always in a hurry, but never going anywhere that really matters, because as soon as they arrive they are in a hurry to get away again.

A few women have never realized that if they exercised a bit they might cease to have a life of nerves and begin to take life naturally and easily.

Participation in sports is relaxing as well as body strengthening. That's the reason why individual gymnastics was added to the physical education program—to help correct body difficulties as well as relax muscles.

In short, maybe the modern woman would feel much better and move away from dining room "diet tables" if she took time out to keep herself in trim by participating in some form of athletics.

Scheppler Flings Six Scoring Passes as Snyder 12 Romps

BOB FOGG & JACK LEWIS The Wednesday intramural football league slate was high-lyed by Snyder 12's drubbing of Butterfield 2. Snyder 12 accounted for the lopsided score of 42-6 through the superb passing of Scheppler as he tossed six scoring passes. His favorite receivers were Pat Martin and Max Hilton, who each caught a pair of touchdown passes.

Butterfield 5, 17; Butterfield 2, 7

Butterfield 5 won the dormitory championship as it combined the passing attack of John Krogman with the rushing attack of Bob Ballard. Krogman threw two touchdown passes to end Bob Jamilio while Ballard caught Butterfield 2 behind their own goal for two safeties.

Butterfield 6, 13; Butterfield 5, 13

Butterfield 6 eked out a victory on the extra point scored by Dick Wallace by a pass from John Carlson. Butterfield 5 threatened in the last quarter as Percy Tompaett scored on an interception, but they failed to make the extra point.

Snyder 11, 13; Snyder 13, 9

The passing combination of Tom Evans to Jack O'Malia proved fatal to Snyder 13, as they teamed to score all the winner's points.

From 1934 to 1936, Edwards was coach at Ebensberg, Pa., High School. He joined the Nittany Lion staff in 1936 and coached for 13 years until taking his present position.

Edwards' family includes his wife, Mary, and three children. His eldest son, Jack, 20, was an outstanding end prospect at Michigan State until an injury forced him to the sidelines in his sophomore year.

His other children are Mary Ann, 18, a freshman at State, and Bob, 13.

Holcomb's Boilermakers Rate High in 'Cannibal' Conference

Edwards Shines in Dual Position of Coach, Scout

A feature of the fine Spartan teams over the past few years has been the tremendous quality and quantity of the ends.

Chiefly responsible for this situation is End Coach Earle Edwards, who joined the Michigan State coaching staff in 1949.

Such flankers as All-Americans Dorne Dibble and Bob Carey, all-star game players Hank Minarik and Paul Dekker, defensive specialists Jim King and Ed Luke, and present team members Capt. Don Dohoney, Bill Quinlan, and John Lewis speak well of Edwards' ability.

In addition to his duties as the tutor for the ends, Edwards is also the Spartan's chief scout. Almost every Saturday Edwards is sent on a mission to view a future opponent thus missing the opportunity to see his proteges perform in actual game conditions.

Prior to coming to State, Edwards served as an assistant coach at his alma mater, Penn State, for a period of 13 years. At Penn State Edwards had his first All-American end, Sam Tamburo.

Edwards graduated from college in 1931 and then undertook a position as an industrial engineer in Lambertville, N. J., where he worked for two years. Concluding this occupation, Edwards accepted his first coaching job at Princeton Prep.

Any housing group or group of women students is eligible to sponsor any men's team. Any group planning to sponsor a team may enter by calling the IM office, Extension 687. The deadline for entering is Wednesday at 12:00 noon.

The prizes for this obstacle race are turkeys for the first three men to cross the finish line and for the team whose first four men have the lowest score. The second place team will be awarded a goose with a duck going to the team that places third. The first four members of the top three teams will receive medals.

Purdue Tops in Keeping Ball

Purdue's upset win over Michigan State last stands as a prominent example of why the Big Ten is known as a "Cannibal League", in which underdogs are well fed upon their brothers, and Conference statistics reflect how it is done.

The Boilermakers, badly underrated off their first defeats, show up spectacularly in key statistical items. Their win over Michigan State has been credited by Coach Stu Holcomb to playing "possession ball" and is proof of that in the statistics. Purdue shares a lead in pass interceptions per game, with 65.5. In addition Purdue has allowed its opponents to put the ball in play the fewest number of times, with 38.5.

Yale Leads U. S. Defense

NEW YORK (AP)—The best all-around defensive record among the nation's major colleges belongs to Yale, N.C.A.A. Service Bureau statistics revealed Wednesday.

Olivar's Elis are the only remaining unbeaten team in the East after two straight ties.

Yale ranks first in total defense, first in least points allowed, first in percentage of passes knocked down, fourth in ground defense and fourth in passing yardage yielded.

The Bulldogs have permitted 151 yards a game, 2.8 points, just two touchdowns and two conversions in five games, only 25.3 per cent completions by opponents, 120.4 yards along the ground and 48.6 yards through the air.

Northwestern, which has high of 23 passes per game in a spectacular completion rate of 563, leads in passing yardage with 156.5 yards a game to Michigan's 136. The Illinois lead in number of running attempts and in defensive efficiency with a gain of 1.2 yards per play.

Michigan State continues lead Conference teams in total defense, with a wide margin of yards over Illinois. The Spartans have given up 136.7 yards a game and 45.2 yards through the air.

Ohio State, still to be rated as the Conference power despite its loss to Illinois

The TV Coach Leahy Surveys ND Practice From Bed

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Coach Frank Leahy Wednesday continued his hospital bed coaching of unbeaten Notre Dame via television and telephone.

The Irish mentor, recuperating from a stomach attack Saturday, again watched his team work out on a closed TV circuit brought to his room in St. Joseph Hospital.

Preparing for its fifth game of the season against Navy here Saturday Notre Dame worked on offense and defense in dummy scrimmage against the freshmen.

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—The Purdue football team, preparing for Saturday's game with Illinois, spent a good share of Wednesday's practice in checking its pass defense and gearing up its running attack.

Sophomore Bill Murakowski of East Chicago, upon whom Coach Stu Holcomb was counting to fortify the fullback forces, suffered a recurrence of an ankle injury in scrimmage and may be out of action this week.

Jim Smith Snares AP Grid Honors

NEW YORK (AP)—Because he played one of the greatest games in Southwest Conference history against Texas A&M Saturday, husky 215-pound Jim Smith of Baylor was named Wednesday the Associated Press' lineman of the week.

Smith, a junior tackle from West Columbia, Tex., received some stiff opposition from Tom Bettis, Purdue guard, Art Hunter, Notre Dame tackle and Jack Shanafelt, Penn tackle.

Smith played a major role in Baylor's 14-13 victory over the Aggies. He was a whiz on offense as well as defense. He threw key blocks that made possible long runs by E. G. Dupre, Baylor back. On defense he was credited with more tackles than any Baylor player.

The 20-year-old, 6-3 lineman also recovered a fumble that led to Baylor's winning touchdown.

Hurley Replaces Balzhiser As Wolves Ready for Penn

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Fullback Bob Hurley was watched closely Wednesday as Coach Bennie Osterbaan prepare his Michigan Wolverines for Saturday's football game with Penn.

Hurley, Michigan's No. 2 fullback, would get the call in the event an injured hip suffered by Dick Balzhiser in the Minnesota game is adjusted too much of a handicap.

Hurley boasts the top rushing average among the Wolverine backs who have seen much action this season. His 6.8 yard per game mark was achieved on a gain of 193 yards in 28 carries.

The tough little Alamo, Colo. senior relies more on speed than on power and has proved one of Michigan's fleetest operators.

Inspection of Hurley into the game would produce a couple of changes in Osterbaan's defensive alignment. Instead of backing up the line, as Balzhiser does, he probably would be installed as a halfback, moving Lou Baldacci into the linebacking position.

The Milwaukee Braves attendance averaged 28,147 per game for its first 37 home dates.

Scholarship Awards Undergo Policy Changes

Although about one student in seven is getting scholarship aid, Michigan State's director of scholarships still feels like a Santa Claus with too few gifts and too many good boys and girls.

"It's a problem," J. Robert Stewart, MSC's director, has said. "We'd like to help all the deserving students who come to us each year, but we just don't have the funds."

What is being done? Stewart and his associates are pushing a new philosophy of scholarship awarding. As he explained it:

"Originally—as late as 1949-50—we used scholarships to attract the 'cream' of Michigan high school students, whether or not they needed the money."

Now, Michigan State hopes to make the annual $135,000-plus scholarship budget go further by using "honor awards."

These are leather-bound certificates presented students eligible for scholarship aid, but not in financial need. The University of Michigan has been using this plan, and MSC gave out 53 such awards last spring, after setting up a system of standards for them.

In a few cases, a limited amount of scholarship aid may be given with the honor award.

but usually it is a "scholarship without stipend," which requires funds to aid deserving students in greater need.

The whole philosophy of awarding scholarships at Michigan State is undergoing change, Stewart believes. Increased emphasis is being put on aid to the promising and financially needy student so he can more fully devote himself to his chosen field of study.

"This isn't paying for his services," Stewart quickly pointed out. "This is recognizing talent and encouraging it as much as we reasonably can, by alleviating financial need. In turn, we hope the student will feel a moral obligation to do the best job he can, and perhaps someday—when he is a leader in his field—he can help someone as he has been helped."

Stewart and the executive sub-committee of the Faculty Committee on Scholarships have been influential in promoting this "helping hand" philosophy.

The sub-committee, composed of Stewart; Tom King, dean of students; Thomas H. Csgood, dean of the Graduate School; Registrar Robert S. Linton; and Dr. Guy Hill of high school co-operation, does most of the paperwork for the Faculty Committee.

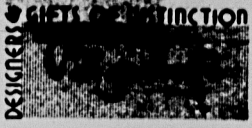

The Faculty Committee meets at least twice a year, usually in the fall to consider last-minute scholarship changes and in the spring to review scholarship applications from high school students.

Winter term is the heavy scholarship period, Stewart said. He believes this helping philosophy keeps "over the hump" when many of the differentials between their quitting and staying. Summer employment eases the strain during fall and spring, he believes.

Last fall, the Committee awarded 2,285 scholarships. This went up to 2,300 during the winter, and declined to 2,190 last spring.
