Foreign Policy's 'New Look'

If a cold war is necessary, the Eisenhower Administration plans to keep it cold.

Following the state department follows the policy outlined recently by Secretary of State Dulles, the cold war should be effectively confined within a diplomatic refrigerator.

Dulles repeated that the Eisenhower Administration has made it quite plain to rely upon "massive retaliatory power" to enforce world peace. Included in the use of atomic weapons if necessary. There will be no reliance on the use of the atom bomb and the hydrogen bomb if the United States is involved in another war.

This "no holds barred" attitude is nothing less than a sweeping change in foreign policy. It must have shocked many allies of the United States who are not accustomed to this country taking such a leading and seemingly belligerent stand in world affairs.

At first glance, such an attitude appears to be far from a method to ensure world peace. Preparing for war may seem to be a rather dubious attempt to prevent war.

An old adage can be used rather effectively to explain the Administration's position: "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

Reliance on atomic weapons and a strong army, navy and air force is not the entire answer, however. Such an interpretation of the new strategy would be an oversimplification of the basic problems.

If a war comes, more military force of every kind will be needed than is authorized at the present time as a "deterrent to aggression."

Expecting war is not the keynote to American foreign policy. The present objective is simply to make a "hot war" improbable by setting up the deterrent strength of a "massive retaliatory power."

Although the Korean conflict has not been resolved with an armistice as yet, the United States must formulate a diplomatic plan to use in dealing with other nations on problems of the peace. The new Administration plan has something to offer along those lines, also.

Dulles expressed hope that Western troubles with Russia will eventually be resolved by a persistence in policies that promote human freedom. "There are limits to the power of any rulers to suppress indefinitely the human spirit," he said.

Such a statement about the cold war sounds extremely vague. Admittedly, the Administration could have given its answers to some of the more specific problems of a cold war.

Still without a definite yes or no answer from the U.S. are such questions as whether or not to recognize puppet governments of the Kremlin and whether or not to enforce strict economic embargoes against the Soviet and her satellites.

What this country plans to do when the cold war is resumed in full is of vital importance to the entire war. A definite policy is necessary for even a dream of continued peace to exist.

For sometimes, as was the case in 1914 and 1939, so-called "local" wars expand to take in an extremely broad scope.

Letter to the Editor

Crying Spoils Concert

To the Editor:

Mr. Heifetz' violin recital yesterday night was not such a treat as I had anticipated for several weeks. Not that his play wasn't as beautiful as many of us have had the joy of hearing before.

No, the cause of annoyance throughout the concert was a baby that kept whimpering and making little noises. During the intermission this baby could be seen in the smoking-room in the basement. Seated on the arms of his parents, he had an opportunity to fill his lungs with smoke, so that it won't be necessary to mention the effect on Heifetz's solo tonight a few minutes later.

(Continued) The Auditorium management make it a rule not to admit children below a certain age? One fails to see the necessity of taking children to a concert just to save the expense of a baby-sitter. Apart from child-welfare considerations I would say that it takes a good deal of nerve to approve a whole audience so extensively.

Speaking of manners, the programme tells us that "Michigan State College Lecture-Concert Series presents Heifetz." A name of six words to "present" half the name of the artist!

Well, Mr. Heifetz, thank you for having given several extras to a grateful audience, in spite of all this.

More Prestige Seen

To the Editor:

I for one am greatly in favor of changing the name of MSU to Michigan State University. There can be no more confusion between MSU and the University of Michigan than there is already.

Out of the present public and other MSU's future students. The word university was dropped and clearly is the mark of an institution of higher learning. It is not a college or a university. An one of the largest universities in the nation, we have known that MSU is truly a university, but, does the general public?

Let's get away from confusion, and call our institution MSU!

To the Editor:

To stress the letter written to the editor by a foreign student and as an instructor from a foreign country but who received his degree from an American university, I want to add a few thoughts regarding the change of our institution from college into full university.

It often intrigued me why an institution like Michigan State—so far above the academic standards of many other institutions—should have been so modest as to refuse a name so rightly deserved. Michigan State has long received the mark of a real university. Why not give our institution the proper credit?

Furthermore, the name change is a misleading name not only to foreign people but to Americans themselves. After all, a college is a college no matter what, to the minds of too many persons. The foreign student is right. Ninety per cent of the people abroad assume a college is just a high school (College, college stands in many countries for only high school).

Many foreign students feel deterred at the idea of coming to a college, graduating from a college and showing a diploma signed by a college instead of a university. As simple as it may sound to us, it is difficult for a foreigner to understand the nature of an American college.

I am sure MSU will attract twice as many students from abroad. At the proper time MSU was good enough. With broader scope and attainments it became rightfully MSU. Now it is time we give our institution proper recognition and name it MSU. And the Board of Agriculture should also become the Board of Regents.

Movie Ads Too Lurid?

To the Editor:

Where is the taste of supposedly well-educated students of Michigan State? It appears it is the policy of local shows in the East Lansing area to have as a "feature show" movies which appeal only to the "animal instincts" of college students.

Doesn't it look like having a line-up of us in front of the movie houses whose marquee read... with lurid advertisements. Let's not show our stupidity to others, if we have no consideration for ourselves.

(Editor's Note: The content of this letter criticized not only local theaters but the State News as well for running allegedly lurid advertisements.)

TV With a Purpose

With appropriate fanfare and ballyhoo, WKAR-TV began its first telecast last Friday.

It was a proud day for both the casual observer interested in the progress of Michigan State and the men in Television Department who willingly donated their time and talents in to the project.

Many spectators, accustomed to having their school chalk up educational credits by non-viewed the programs with limited enthusiasm — they knew what was coming.

A few of them, we hope, stopped to reflect on the quality of the presentations, which has been good—as good as the combination of top-notch technical equipment and student crews can produce.

What's even better, the shows will undoubtedly improve steadily. For even though television courses have been designed to familiarize the student with every phase of production, there's nothing quite like learning by doing.

Fellow the Rules No Necking Wrecking at Houston U.

(ACP) — At the University of Houston, the student council passed the following regulations to govern necking on campus:

1. Avoid necking of TV and radio stations.
2. Avoid necking of the student body.
3. Avoid necking of the faculty.
4. Avoid necking of the administration.
5. Avoid necking of the campus.
6. Avoid necking of the city.
7. Avoid necking of the state.
8. Avoid necking of the nation.
9. Avoid necking of the world.
10. Avoid necking of the universe.

WEAR telecasts should reach 20,000 sets within the 63-mile station range, if the results of a survey conducted by the TV research department are correct.

These viewers won't see Howdy Doodly or razor razor commercials. They will see the best of MSU in a new educational role.

We're convinced that they'll profit more from an hour or so of WKAR-TV than an evening of the faded Westerns and unfunny comedy shows which seem to be the mainstays of most commercial stations.

Indian Command Asks to Accept POWs

How do you spend your money? The budget dollar comes and where it will go in the 1964 billion-dollar budget plan is to be decided before Congress Thursday.

Budget

Budget
Medical Expenses—Present law allows deductions for medical costs above five per cent of income, up to $1,250 for a single person or $5,000 for a family.
Eisenhower would lower the point at which deductions begin to three per cent of income and double the dollar limits.
Dependents—Under present law, taxpayers cannot claim any one making more than $600 a year as a dependent.
Eisenhower would allow a dependency credit for all children under 18, and for older children if they are away at school, provided the taxpayer still pays for more than half of their support.
Child Care—Widows or widowers who have to work outside their homes would get a new tax deduction based on "actual costs of providing care for small children."
It would also apply to working mothers with disabled husbands. Congressional sources suggested this might amount to a deduction of $300 annually.
Dividends—Eisenhower said present law is "unfair and discourages investment" by double taxation on corporate profits as corporate income and again as dividends to individuals.
The President proposed that taxes on dividends be cut five per cent this year, 10 per cent next year and 15 per cent the third year.
Also, the first $50 of income from dividends would be exempt from taxation this year, and the first $100 in years thereafter. The House Ways and Means Committee has already approved this.

Communists Remain Firm, Refuse Appeal

SEOUL Friday (AP) — The Indian Command made a last-minute appeal today to the Communists to take back 21 Americans and 328 other prisoners from a pro-Red camp.
If it fails, the camp will be thrown open and the prisoners allowed to go where they will at 12:01 a.m. Saturday—9:01 a.m. today, CST.

The 21, along with a Briton and 327 North Koreans, would have been returned to the Reds Thursday when $1,000 anti-Red Chinese and North Koreans were turned back to the U. N. Command. But the Reds refused to accept them.

The more than 14,000 anti-Red Chinese were on their way to Nationalist Formosa aboard 15 landing ships, guarded by American Navy ships and planes. They were due in Formosa Sunday or Monday.

The more than 7,000 North Koreans went through initial processing at South Korean army reception centers and at a hospital.

All 21,000 will be declared civilians by the U. N. Command at one minute past midnight.

I. G. S. S. Thimayya, Indian chairman of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission, said if the Communists refuse to take back their 300 prisoners he will talk to the non-Communist forces withdrawing Indian military troops.

Transfer of the anti-Red Chinese from the neutral zone compound to ships at Inchon was completed Thursday night. The mass movement took less than 36 hours.

The North Koreans went to Kusan, a port on the west coast, and Pohang, a port on the south-east coast.

'Undesirable' Discharge Set For Prisoners

WASHINGTON (AP) — All 21 of the American prisoners of war in Korea who decided to stay with the Communists will be discharged by the Army today as "undesirable."
This is the legal procedure selected by the Pentagon to meet an unprecedented situation in which the soldiers, casting their lot with the Reds, have spurned an opportunity to come home.
For the time being at least, Army officials said, no attempt will be made to serve the POWs with undesirable discharge papers.
The documents will merely go into the Army's files, taking effect at one minute after midnight Jan. 22, Korean time 9:01 CST today, when the armistice terms require that all prisoners of war who refuse repatriation be given civilian status.
Army spokesmen said the undesirable discharges are a middle course which will give the POWs a chance to redeem themselves if they ever return to the United States.
The minute the undesirable discharges become effective, service pay of the 21 will cease to accumulate. It will be difficult, though not necessarily impossible, for them to qualify for any veterans' benefits.

The Autry show will be given as a special number on the series Monday at 4:30 and 8 p.m. Tickets for both the matinee and evening performance are on sale at the Union Ticket Office.

No Prof. McNutley Television Education Presents Problems

Last Friday, when WKAR-TV started putting real college professors into countless homes that had known only the Halls of Ivy, Prof. McNutley and Mr. Peepers, it introduced

The jump from McNutley and Peepers to something like a discourse on "Comparative Political Institutions" by assistant professor Joseph Lafontaine, assistant professor of political science, will require some adjustment—either channel—on the viewer's part.
The professor will also need an overhauling, especially the absent-minded type who is unaware of the time element in his classroom.

According to Dr. William E. Cummings, TV co-ordinator for the school of Business and Public Service, the professor will also have to maintain an organized thought pattern in presenting his material, and be relaxed and natural.

Other than brightening-up scholars with heavy heart shadows, Dr. Cummings said that make-up for TV is decreasing. TV may prove to be the bald headed prof's "shining hour" because their noggin's aren't talked for camouflage.

To reduce glare, however, suits and skirts without too much contrast should be standard garb for the TV prof.

Projector Plan Draws Study

Ten questions concerning the purchase of a movie projector will be asked of the various campus organizations by student government.
A questionnaire is to be distributed today. It must be filled out and returned to the government office by Feb. 10.

MSC's audio-visual department has many films which they would provide free or for a slight fee. Operating costs for groups who do not have an operator, run about 75 cents an hour.
This projector would cost about $400 to buy, according to Wally Brown, chairman of the financial committee of Student Congress.

If Congress decides to buy the projector, it will be distributed to the organizations free of charge.

MSU Resolutions Mailed by Congress

College, State Authorities To Receive Student Opinion

Four copies of the Student Congress resolution to approve Michigan State's name change were sent to college and state authorities Thursday.

Letters were mailed to the Michigan legislature, Gov. G. Mennen Williams, the State Board of Agriculture, and Pres. John A. Hannah.

The resolution, passed by the Congress Wednesday night, also brought a statement from government president Dave Hyman.

"The time has come to once again submit ourselves to changing times, despite the temporary inconveniences it might cause. Michigan State is one of the country's leading universities and should be recognized as such," Hyman said.

Hyman added that he feels the Congress action was a good representation of student opinion in the MSC-MSU debate.
In an effort to ascertain student opinion before voting on the measure, Bill Wurm and Richard Smith, East Show representatives, conducted a poll of 500 students during the Shaw dinner hour.

Results presented at the Congress meeting were 5 to 1 in favor of the change. Several other representative-conducted polls, according to Hyman.

A CAMPUS-TO-CAREER CASE HISTORY

"The interview was the tip-off"

"During the spring of '52—my last year at the University of Maryland—I was interviewed by a number of companies. It was about to get my B.S. degree in accounting.

"It seemed to me that there was a great deal to be learned from the way I was interviewed. Bell System interviewers took their time about job offers. They didn't rush me or themselves.

"I had two talks with the Bell interviewers and then was invited to meet and talk with department heads. Not only did they get a chance to look me over, but I also had an opportunity to get a closer look at their operation. I figured if the Bell System was that careful in selecting its men, it is careful in other things. The interview was the tip-off.

"That's why I'm working here in Washington, D. C., for one of the Bell Companies—The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Company. My first job—after general training—was supervising a billing unit with 20 employees.

"Since then I have assisted on internal audits in all departments. I've helped with special studies for management and have become better acquainted with operations of the entire company. Now I'm working on the general books as an accounting supervisor.

"That Bell System interview has certainly meant a lot to me."

Present with an operating telephone company. There also are opportunities with the Bell Telephone Laboratories, Western Electric and Southwestern Corporation.

Three Spartan Fighters to Battle Buckeyes to Escape Big 10 Cellar

Michigan State's cagey, unaccustomed to their position in the Big 10's second division, will attempt to rise from its lowly estate Saturday evening in Jenison Fieldhouse as they oppose the Ohio State Buckeyes.

The fifth meeting between the Spartans and the Buckeyes is slated to get away at the usual 8 p.m. starting time. Proceeding the attraction is an announcement between the Spartan freshmen and varsity squads, which begin at 6:30 p.m.

Michigan's team could well lead the "Battle of the Cellar" as the Bucks hold the corner's last position with a record of one win and four losses. The Spartans are just one step above the cellar and with one exception in four years.

A rash of minor injuries have plagued the Spartans of late with only a few players escaping. Schlatter, Bob Devenny, Ferreri, and Hartman have all absorbed telling physical punishment in the recent team slump, which has seen State lose five out of seven games.

The Buckeyes have had rough sledding also, taking on the Indiana Hoosiers twice in one week and bowing on each occasion by astronomical scores.

Branch McCracken's highly touted center, Don Schlundt, pumped through 47 points against the Bucks last Monday.

The Spartans will oppose Schlundt and his mates in Bloomington on Saturday, Feb. 6.

Medale Home Engagements

NU to Duel Fencers Saturday

Northwestern's fencers will meet their 1954 home season opponent, Northwestern, at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in Jenison Gymnasium.

The dual meet will include foil, epee and sabre events.

Bob Frank, Steve Jensen, who was last year's team captain, will lead the Spartans in these three categories of weapons. It is expected to be in the form of the last year's team, Powell of "Foil" and Grand Rapids' Steve Jensen who came up with the wins against Wayne, round out the Spartans' front line in the sabre division.

In the epee event, MSC will feature 1954 letter-winner Jack Moffatt, Kalamazoo senior, winner of three bouts against Detroit last week.

Subordinate Ray Clark, Grass Point, and Harry Mount, Detroit, each winners of two open events against Detroit, will back Moffatt in that division.

According to Coach Schmitter, Northwestern has improved its squad and is expected to offer competition of the first order.

Boxers to Open Season Against Quantico Tonight

MSC's boxing team will open its 1954 dual meet season against the power-laden Quantico Marines in a 9-bout event at 8 p.m. tonight in Jenison Fieldhouse.

This will be the fourth of a series of annual meetings between these two teams. The Spartans hold a 3-0 edge, winning 6 bouts to 2 in 1951, 6 to 1 in 1952, and 5 to 3 last year.

Students need only their ID cards to be admitted to the contest. Lancing area fight fans may see the bout under general admission rates of $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. There will be no reserved seats.

The evening's 9-bout program lines up as follows: 119 pounds (exhibition), Lionel "Rico" Smith, Quantico, vs. Sheel Smith, MSC; 135 pounds, Richard "Red" Hillard, Quantico, vs. Chosen MacKawa, MSC; 138 pounds, Harold Conklin, Quantico, vs. Max Jozwik, MSC; 150 pounds, Mark Kavanagh, Quantico, vs. Bob Mullins, MSC; 147 pounds, Willy Price, Quantico, vs. Herb Odum, MSC; 156 pounds, Bill Elvidge, Quantico, vs. George Steiner, MSC; 166 pounds, Ernest Stephens, Quantico, vs. Tom Hickey, MSC; 178 pounds, Donald Franks, Quantico, vs. Bill Greenway, MSC; and heavyweight, Lenny Kanthal, vs. Jack Reilly, MSC.

Both teams held light workouts Thursday in final preparations for the meet, engaging in sparring, boxing, bag-punching and rope-skipping. Weigh-in ceremonies will be held at 1 p.m. today in Jenison.

Both coaches issued pre-fight time comments, but made no predictions as to the final outcome of the meet. Spartan coach George Mahris said, "Final results will depend on physical conditioning. On this, we should be on a par or slightly better than the hosthorns. Our opponents should do a fair job for us, but the hosts will be close—and rough."

Speaking for Quantico's head coach, S/Sgt. Ray Leonard, assistant coach, said, "We're not making any flat statements, but the bouts were not pure-of-arms. In the 147-pound (Odum-Price), 165 (Hickey - Stephens), 178 (Greenway-Franks), and heavyweight (Reilly-Kanthal) classes."

Jackson Guards Stop the Presses

JACKSON, Mich. (AP)—Southern Michigan Prison put a damper on freedom of the press.
In a front page box, the prison newspaper — The Spectator — named the informant whose tip led to the capture of three of the 13 long-term convicts who recently escaped in a mass break.
About 800 copies rolled off the press before prison officials saw the item and decided it was unwise to put a finger on the tipster.
The story was jerked, the 800 papers were destroyed and the run was started over again.

'Couldn't Believe It' Speech Professor Wins Car in Contest

It seems that all one needs to win a contest these days is to be an instructor in the Speech department.
The latest winner is Gordon Thomas, assistant professor of speech, whose first attempt at contests was judged the most outstanding entry for an "I like my drug store because..." contest.

Previously, Charles Irvin and Frederick Alexander, also of the Speech department, have won prizes in this contest.
Thomas' prize of a 1954 Plymouth, which was delivered Wednesday, is the largest prize awarded, however. Irvin and Alexander won a string of pearls and a portable radio, respectively, according to Bill Gulliver, manager of the East Lansing drug store.

The contest is sponsored by a Chicago concern. Thomas' entry was chosen from those submitted from five states during the month of December.

"I like my drug store because it's like a member of my family. It soothes my pains when I'm ill; it helps to celebrate my anniversaries; and when my ice-box is empty, it helps feed me" were some of the reasons given in Thomas' prize-winning entry.

Upon hearing the news, Thomas said, "I just couldn't believe it. I thought someone was playing a joke on me. But it's true. Now I'm trying to word off the bureau of Internal Revenue."

"I entered the contest last November. However, when the list

Hearing Set for Ritchie

Windsor, Ont. (AP)—A hearing to determine whether or not the UAW should be allowed to sue the UAW president for the shooting of Joseph R. Ritchie, a UAW member, was set for Jan. 29.

Reuther, who admitted to having fired the shot, was charged with the murder of Ritchie. Ritchie was shot in Windsor, Ont., on Jan. 26, 1953.
