MSC Requests $14.5 Million Budget For Exceeds 1963-64 State Grant

A $14,500,000 appropriation request for Michigan State University was presented to the Ways and Means Committee of the State Legislature by college officials Thursday morning.

The request for the 1964-65 school year is $2,162,000 above last year's legislative grant. The governor's message to the legislature earlier this year had recommended a $12,000,000.

The requested appropriation is based on an estimated 1964-65 enrollment of 15,500, about 500 above the 14,500 enrolled in fall term of 1963.

The increase college request reflects a proposed $18,507,000 budget for the coming fiscal year. Most of the difference will come from estimated student fees of $2,044,326.

Other income will be $133,000 from vocational education and $74,000 in land-grant endowment interest.

Departmental income, including college funds, is expected to provide an additional $460,000.

The highest budget increase is $1,100,017 in faculty-staff salaries. Of this, $720,000 will go for new positions, to maintain existing positions and to increase enrollment. Another $380,000 will provide merit increases averaging 4 per cent. The current budget allocates $10,101,520 for salaries.

A total of $6,004,171 is allocated for labor, supplies and services for the operation and maintenance of plant and properties. This is an increase of $681,543 over the present budget.

A request for $317,000 for equipment used in the academic programs was also presented. The State Board of Agriculture also requested $1,200,000 for the agricultural experiment station, and $1,700,000 for the state cooperative extension service.

Combined with federal grants, the proposed 1964-65 departmental budget amounts to $1,777,200. The governor had recommended a state appropriation of $1,200,000.

The proposed extension service budget is based on an estimated total income of $1,200,000, an increase of $200,000 over last year.

The governor also recommended an additional $200,000 for the extension service and extension budget amount to $1,777,200. The proposed program will be the State Department of Agriculture.

Exhibits were housed in Michigan Stadium, the Livestock Pavilion and the poultry, home economics and agricultural engineering buildings.

The top award-winning steer in the Michigan beef cattle feeding project sold for 20 cents per pound at Thursday's auction. The steer was shown by Lee Walker and son, of Hobbins.

The grand champion heifer in the same show, owned by Howard Miller of Gladwin, sold for 18 cents a pound.

3 Children Drown in Small Pond

Youngsters Flunge Through Thin Ice

SOUTH HAVEN (AP) — Three small children, walking hand-in-hand, plunged to death through the thin ice of a small pond Thursday.

Prone to die on arrival at a South Haven hospital were Robert Ray Kirchner, 3, his brother Timothy Lee, 4, and Michael James Wolman, 5, all of South Haven.

South Haven police worked on the three for 30 minutes in an effort to revive them but their efforts were futile.

The Holman boy was spotted floating in the pond at 11:30 a.m. by the Holman boy's grandfather, Paul Underwood, and South Haven police officer Lester Burrows.

A search for the boys had been under way since 11 a.m. when the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Kirchner and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Holman, became worried over their absence.

South Haven police chief Donald Hardy said Albert Radosek, an employee at the nearby National Motor Coating Co., dove into the icy water and pulled the boys out. The pond is used for a sewage pit for the company.

Hardy said the Coast Guard and South Haven fire department had been called to bring rescue equipment but Radosek first pulled out the Holman boy and then dove to the bottom of the six foot deep pond for the other boys.

The pond measures 50 by 70 feet, Hardy said, and the boys were found fully clothed and still had their mittens and hats on.

Hardy estimated the boys had been in the water about 45 minutes. He said tracks in the snow indicated they had crawled under a fence to get onto the pond.

Ralph Young Commended as House Relents

The House relented Thursday and passed a resolution commending Ralph H. Young, retiring state director of MSC, for his years of service.

The chamber Wednesday had voted the resolution but it was a through with passing the final form of congratulatory resolution.

The motion to revive the resolution was made by Rep. George A. Gillman (R-Eastland) who said he did not think the House should commend "Old Grand Old Man."

Proposal May Get New Life

Solons Agree To Ask Extension

By STAN STEINBERG (State News Capital Reporter) MSC student leaders breathed new life into the controversial MSU name change bill Thursday.

At the urging of three campus leaders, the House Committee on Educational Institutions agreed to ask for a two-week extension of time to consider the bill and hold a public hearing on it. The request will probably come at this morning's session.

The three students were Rev. M. Hyman, student government president; Pat Yonck, editor of the State News, and Martha McBride, student government treasurer.

Reporting wide-spread campus backing of the name change measure, the trio temporarily salvaged the bill, which was scheduled to die in committee Monday.

A series of petitions were circulated on campus Thursday to provide students with an opportunity to get behind the proposal. After today's signing deadline, the petitions will be used to support the reports of the leaders.

If the extension of time is granted, Rep. Lloyd Gibbs (D-Fortand), committee chairman, indicated that the group would hold a public hearing and invite officials from both MSC and the University of Michigan and other interested persons.

Gibbs was originally contacted Wednesday when he granted an interview. He decided to convene the entire committee to give members an opportunity to express student opinion.

Committee members present at the meeting included Gibbs, Rep. John McOmara (R-East Lansing), Rep. Joseph O'Connor (D-Detroit), Rep. John Bush (D-Detroit) and Rep. Gerald Groves (R-Alpena), one of the bill's sponsors.

Gibbs called upon Hyman to explain to the Education Committee why Michigan State wanted its name changed from college to university.

Hyman replied that to call Michigan State a college was a misnomer and that Michigan State students wanted their school called what it is, a university.

Denying alleged dissent in the measure Hyman said:

"There is considerable student interest. I would predict that more than 6,000 signatures will be on the petition. We have out talked critics and the name change."

O'Connor pointed out how much the bill has changed.

great influence in the state house.

The prevailing feeling in this group appeared to be that a constitutional amendment would include the state's right, and the South has been particularly persistent in its opposition to any Federal involvement.

Whether the decision, the Federal legislators should not allow the state's right to be a determining factor. The basic question will remain: "Are citizens qualified to vote at the age of 21?"

The argument that a youth is old enough to vote if he is old enough to fight for his country is overplayed and brings in the question of whether the citizen is qualified to vote.

Members of the committee, however, think that the 19th Amendment, extending voting rights to women, is a precedent.

Just About Anything Table Talk Time

In fall 1968, I sat down and laboriously packed out a copy to the effect that Spartan Something-or-Other was talking to talk over campus affairs.

Now, 20 terms and five weeks later, (and just a little less laboriously) I can write again about that group.

It's the Spartan Round Table, and this time I'll be there. The Round Table was born in 1947, when the student body just got the large for everybody to sit in on a high-station about campus matters.

Instead, representatives from some of the major all-college student organizations are now chosen to exchange information and opinions with officials of MSC who deal most directly with students outside the academic field.

No legislature or formal recommendations come out of the Round Table dinner meetings, and no records are kept. The idea is a free exchange of facts and ideas, with nobody called up on the carpet later for what he's said.

I don't know how these who've been there before feel, I'm looking forward to the Round Table tonight. It sounds wonderful.
