Taxpayers to Vote on School Proposal

Two proposals will claim the attention of East Lansing taxpayers today when they cast their ballots on the question of a new high school.

The proposals are:
1. To lift the tax ceiling to permit the levy of more than 8.5 mills.

Any registered voter, either a property owner or not, may vote on the question. Maximum levy will be 8.5 mills. To borrow $1,850,000, bonds will be sold for that amount. Only registered voters who are property owners in the district, or their husbands, may vote on this question.

Ballots will be cast according to precincts at East Lansing High School, Central School, Bailey School between 7 and 9 p.m.

The present bond proposal is being principally for the school but is planned for expansion, if other districts decide to do so.

Superintendent C. E. McDevitt said that approximately 2,500 and 3,000 voters are expected to cast their ballots.

The maximum levy will be for 20 years if the proposal is approved. Then as property values increase in the school district, the millage rate will decrease.

A successful school election in the spring of 1951 when applications for Glencaren Elementary School were approved, payment for that school was completed in 1956.

The Boston Pops Orchestra will be available for a concert at the University Union Ticket Office starting at 9 a.m.

For music-lovers will be to exchange activity books for "D" for reserved-seat tickets to the concert, scheduled for March 2 in the Auditorium.

Director Fiedler will conduct the orchestra in works of Wagner, Handel, Offenbach, Tchaikovsky and Cole Porter. Pianist Slenczynska will be in the "First Piano Concerto" by Liszt.

Porter Board, senior women's organization, has established a new scholarship to start next fall for a woman who has shown outstanding service to Michigan State University.

Applications now are being accepted in the Scholarship Office, Administration Building, according to J. Robert Stewart, director of scholarships.

Applicant must be a junior standing, with a point average of 2.5 or better. She must possess character and leadership as well as financial need. Applications for the tuition scholarship are open to out-of-town students, but new members of the board will not be eligible for the award.

Some of the pieces on the program include "Stoppin' at the Savoy," "Get out of Town," "Rhapsody in Blue," "This Can't Be Love," "Laura," and "Embraceable You."

After the individuals had been "assembled" the vets sent a detachment to "arrest" the entire psychology class of Prof. Harry Grace. The class, in psychology of human relations, was picked up and marched from their meeting in Berkeley to the stockade. Part of the class's term work is a study of the effects of the blood drive.

Listed among the "prisoners" were almost all of the fraternity and sorority presidents. When they were "arrested" a notice was left in their house telling of their plight.

Other campus figures included Billy Wells, Ferris Hallmark, football player; Bill Reid, president of Men's Council; Dave Hyman, president of student government; and Phil Gandy, state news manager.

Although the participants were informed of the proceedings most were in accord that it was "awful darn early" to be getting up. Squads of men in cars were dispatched, via a radio net, at 7 a.m. to start the "assault" on the campus. By 8:30 most of the students were rounded up and interned.

Col. Herman to Speak on Israeli Conditions
Col. Basil Herman of the Israeli Armed Forces will speak on "Area of Conflict Between Israel and Her Neighbors" at 4 p.m. today in 21 Union.

The talk is sponsored by the International Relations Club. For the past 15 minutes Col. Herman has served as the senior Israel delegate to the Israeli-Egypt Mixed Armistice Commission under United Nations auspices.

Jason Aronson, a political science graduate student, will discuss "Burke, Freud, Cohen—The Psychology of Conservatism" at a coffee hour of Pi Sigma Alpha, political science honorary, at 8 p.m. Wednesday in 221 Physical-Math Building. The meeting is open to political science majors only.

Hamill is president of the chapter of Pi Mu Epsilon, a mathematics honorary, and was C. Plant mathematics last year. He will receive many Michigan State University awards for his research.

Prof. Harry Grace is held under "armed guard" by two members of the MSC Veterans' Association as one of their "victims" for the blood drive.

Veterans' 'Invasion' Paces Blood Drive

Pledged Donors Fail to Keep Word in 'Disappointing' Day

Paced by their early morning "invasion," Veterans' Association members collected 240 pints of blood Monday. Although 247 people had pledged blood for the period, only 182 of them showed up. The rest of the 240 consisted of people that dropped in to donate on the spur of the moment.

Officials of the association said they were disappointed over the percentage of pledged donors that failed to show, but were satisfied with the whole day's total. "We realize that with only 1,000 pledges we will need many on-the-spot donations to make a good showing," said Bob George, chairman.

Billy Wells, hero of MSC's Rose Bowl victory over UCLA, answered the Uclan blood challenge by being the first donor. "Arrested" in the vet invasion he was taken upstairs to the Ping Pong Room.

With closing time near and only 239 pints collected, the doctor in charge, Dr. Joseph Heckler of the Red Cross, donated a pint of his blood, "to make it an even 240."

Vet officials expect today to be their big day of the drive. The donating room will be open from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m.

"Yesterday's total must be met every day to break the MSC record of 1,276 pints set last winter. It must be improved on considerably if the Uclan challenge is to be met successfully," George said.

Four students were awarded inscribed copies of the Handbook of Chemistry and Physics, published and presented by a Cleveland, Ohio chemical company, for their work in general chemistry last term.

Gail Rita Plourde, Norway freshman, made the best record in chemistry III, a course for chemistry majors. Top honors in chemistry I were shared by John H. Tanton, Sebastian sophomore; James Phillip, Worcester, Mass. freshman; and James Iversen, Lake City freshman.

MSC's "farm system" for attracting good debaters is new, but it's already paying off. This is how it works. Many of the MSC varsity debaters become speech teachers in high schools where they teach the debating teams. They bring their high school debaters to MSC to watch intercollegiate debating. As a result, many of their high school debaters later enroll here.

For example, Ed Finn, a member of the MSC varsity debating team who graduated in 1960, joined the staff of Grand Rapids' Grand Rapids High School under United Nations auspices.

Twice as Large Engineers Schedule 1,000-Exhibit Show

"Engineering for Better Living" will be the theme for more than 1,000 exhibits to be featured in the annual Engineering Exposition set for May 6, 7 and 8.

The exposition, sponsored jointly by the Engineering Council and the Engineering School, will be twice as large this year as it was in 1963. This increase is designed to prepare the students and faculty for the Centennial year exposition in 1955, which, according to present plans, will be four times as large as those in previous years.

The exposition will consist of exhibits from industry, students, engineering societies and JET organizations. Prizes of $50 and $25 savings bonds will be awarded to the student exhibits judged in first and second place.

Along with the many exhibits there will be an auto show, featuring all types of cars from antique to experimental models. Invitations for special shows have been extended to such companies as Bell Telephone, Chrysler and General Motors.

A convocation dinner will be held Friday evening, May 8, for students and professionals in engineering. Several television and radio shows are being planned for further demonstration of the exhibits.

Budget hearings on the extension service and agricultural experiment station operated in conjunction with MSC will be held today by the educational subcommittee of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Representing MSC at the hearing will be Karl H. McDonel, secretary of the State Board of Agriculture, Philip May, comptroller and treasurer of the Board, Dean Clifford Hardin of the School of Agriculture, and D. B. Varner, head of the extension service.

"Life" Parody By 'Spartan' On Sale Today
"Leak," this month's Spartan humor magazine, and a parody on Life Magazine, goes on sale today at 8 a.m.

Copies will be sold in the Natural Science Building, Berkeley Hall, Home Economics Building, Union Concourse and the South Campus bridge, if weather permits. Subscriptions will be accepted at any of the selling desks. Five hundred free balloons will be given to purchasers of "Leak."

Dean King Addresses Akron College Group
Dean of Students Tom King left Monday to address an Inter-Fraternity Council group at Akron College in Ohio. He will return this morning.

Band Plays Rose Bowl Numbers at Lansing Meeting
Strains of "Merry Oldsmobile" echoed from MSC's Band again Tuesday evening.

The band, known as the Concert Band after the football season, played for the Lansing Chamber of Commerce's annual joint meeting with its Merchants Division held at the Engineering Auditorium of the Oldsmobile plant.

Employee Commented on McCarthy's Army Blast

Eisenhower Unavailable for Comment On McCarthy-Stevens Controversy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Potter (R-Mich) said Monday he has fired an employe of his office, Robert L. Jones, partly because Jones put out an unauthorized statement in connection with Sen. McCarthy's (R-Wis) charge that the Army coddles Communists.

Jones attended a hearing in New York last week at which McCarthy questioned Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker. He was there as an observer for Potter who is a member of McCarthy's Senate Investigations Subcommittee.

Potter said he has not seen the statement but that Jones apparently released it "in my behalf." Other sources quoted the statement as saying, in effect, that Potter approved of McCarthy's blast against the Army.

"I don't know what the statement contained," Potter told a reporter. "But regardless of what it contained Jones was not authorized to make any statement."

"He was there at the hearing to observe and report back to me, not to make any statements," Potter said another factor in the dismissal Friday was a report that Jones may become a candidate for the Republican Senate nomination in Maine.

"That had something to do with it," Potter said. "I have all I can do to take care of political matters in Michigan without getting involved in other states."

Jones issued a statement several weeks ago disavowing any political ambitions. But Potter said rumors Jones would enter the Maine race persisted and "reflected on me and my office."

Jones was listed on Potter's staff as doing research and press liaison work at a salary of $8,500 a year.

Potter Eisenhower enjoyed another round of golf at a Palm Springs, Calif., resort Monday, while his vacation headquarters continued to decline comment on the dispute between Secretary of the Army Stevens and Sen. McCarthy, which caused the firing of Potter's aide.

At a news conference, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty smilingly brushed aside a question as to whether Stevens has the President's personal backing in the stormy clash with McCarthy.

"Try again," Hagerty replied, making it clear he had no intention of airing any Eisenhower views on the controversy which flared when Stevens ordered two generals not to comply with McCarthy's call for them to testify before his investigations subcommittee.

Newsmen accompanying the President here had no opportunity to ask him about the controversy.

Persons who want their lockboxes removed from the barracks apartment may call Ext. 7151, the manager's office of married housing. The boxes will be picked up and turned over to MSC's salvage department.

Staff Interviews Future Students
Six members of the staff of Michigan State College interviewed prospective students at a Grand Rapids Junior-Senior Banquet Wednesday.

The six were E. H. Stewart and Gene Aikens of the staff of the Grand Rapids Junior-Senior Banquet Wednesday.

This is the question that MSC teams will use at all regular debates. But sometimes there is a special debate such as the one coming up in March. An MSC team will debate two Indian students on the proposition, "Communism is the Best Way to World Peace."

Every year there is one topic for all national intercollegiate debates. This year it is "Free Trade." The debaters have to be able to argue fluently on either side.

MSC debate teams have traveled to Massachusetts, Canada and Oklahoma. This April, their big trip will be to the University of Maine.

The debate team has a longer schedule than any sport. It runs from November to May. Teams participate in about 124 debates a year. At one tourney, there may be as many as 24 debates, with three MSC teams participating in four debates each.

Iceboxes Headed for Quick Removal

Married students now have a spotlight shining on their problems and they are being offered a chance to keep it there for a while. The spotlight is now focused on the iceboxes in the married students' living area. It was put there by a survey conducted among married students by Patrick Callahan, newly elected married housing representative to Student Congress.

As a result of the impact of this survey, college officials took action to begin removing these undusted iceboxes Monday. (They were impressed with the fact that 91 per cent of the students wanted them removed.)

The "Operation Removal" will continue today. Any student that wishes to have his icebox picked up should call the Married Housing office, ext. 7151.

But, the campaign should not end with this one action. College officials, including Dean of Students Tom King, Emery Foster, manager of dorms and food services, and Chief A. F. Brandstatter, of college police, have volunteered to meet with the married students to discuss the problems of the married housing area.

Some of the problems that they would like to switch the spotlight onto are:

Playgrounds: students would like to discuss the possibility of setting up playgrounds for their children in two large lots in the area. They want to investigate using salvage materials the college has on hand.

Maintenance, sewage and drainage problems: flooding is an annual problem in the married area.

Football tickets for children: students feel there should be some way of getting a low rate-ticket for their children to avoid baby-sitting fees.

Read conditions and parking problems and any other suggestions would be on the agenda. The meeting would be set on a Sunday afternoon. However, it won't be held unless the married students show they are interested by calling Pat Callahan at Ed 2-1095.

Letter to the Editor Play National Anthem

To the Editor:
To the Students of MSC—
What is this? Why isn't the National Anthem played preceding the basketball games? It is just as important to play it at the basketball games as well as at football and hockey games. We think it a shame that such little recognition is given to our National Anthem and flag.

Another matter concerning basketball games is the recognition of the fight songs of the opponent's school and of MSC. When these songs are played preceding the games, we think it is important for all to rise. It is only showing courtesy toward the opponent's school and showing good old school spirit for our own MSC.

There are only two more home basketball games left in this season. Why not start following these practices right NOW and not wait until next year? Let's HEAR that National Anthem and SEE the recognition of the school songs preceding the next basketball game and all these to follow!!

U of M Mourners--Old Grads Speak U

To the Editor:
Time and distance may mellow all memories, but I doubt that the short while that the recent letter-writing MSC audience critic has been away from Ann Arbor could have so mellowed his memories of the Hill Auditorium audiences on University of Michigan campus.

As the letter writer may be said at being removed from the cultural richness of Ann Arbor, but he is doing an injustice to other Michigan alumni on this campus—and I am one of them—when he expresses his sadness and then hides behind a withheld name. Though he might be full of longing for Michigan, there is no need to be yellow and blue.

But besides this, the proportion of students in the audience there is unfortunately low. And while the support of Ann Arbor townspeople and university hangers-on help to bring the events to the campus, this group not only places an overly conservative influence on the choice of programs, but also takes the best seats on an annually-renewed basis, and removes these events so far from the idea that they are an integral part of a student's university experience that the students—those who can occasionally afford to—must pay for them in addition to tuition.

My comments here are not meant to condone or excuse a lack of audience decorum here, or to justify our own system of ticket distribution.

These problems must be met, but they must be met here, in terms of the philosophy and environment of this institution, not in terms of someone's hazy and erroneous recollection of another. No matter how esteemed that institution may be or how "hallowed" its traditions and affairs be to its students.

To the Editor:
It wouldn't happen in Ann Arbor?

Much rivalry has taken place between MSC and our "little sister" to the south. However, when inter-school competition comes to the point where a U of M graduate is too biased in his criticism, then one must take both sides into consideration.

MSC students have been termed as "discontented" because they have been found to be "jet-propelled enthusiasts." Does this mean that Michigan students in comparison are little "angels"?

At the University there is one course that is required of all students for graduation. It is a health education course. If the person who wrote the article in the State News has recently graduated, then he must have attended one of the evening lectures of this course.

The doctors who taught the course were often so humiliated and offended by the students' conduct during the lectures that, after asking several to leave each night, they many times would end up by walking out and not completing the lecture. We have yet to see such a display of discourteous conduct here at MSC.

If you say that the MSC students are not worthy of the title "university," then we question the worthiness of the Michigan students. Maybe we should suggest to the Legislature that they make the names of the two who made it the College of Michigan and Michigan University!

And please don't commiserate the poor attendance at the certs until you have been ushered at Hill Auditorium many times would be seen only person in the section. Does this exemplify the phonetic level of culture Michigan students?

McCoy Sets New Record, But Cagers Lose, 80-71

Wildcats Cop Fifth Straight, Indiana Upset

Michigan State's basketball team dropped an 80-71 decision to Northwestern University, Monday night, but forward Julius McCoy set a new season scoring record for the Spartans, by looping in 17 points.

The 17 points brought McCoy's season total to 362, surpassing the old record by 11 markers.

The old record was 351 set by forward Al Ferrari only last season as a sophomore.

Northwestern got off to an early lead and held off the Spartans the rest of the way, leading 38-27 after the first half and then 56-48 after three periods.

Center Bob Armstrong played one of his best games as he scored the last five points for the Spartans in the first half. Armstrong also ended up with 17 tallies.

The Spartans came within six points in the last two minutes of the third period, 50-44, but Center Bud Grant put the Wildcats further out-front with two buckets and a free throw in succession.

Forward Frank Ehmann scored 21 points to lead the Wildcats while Grant added 18.

Big 10 Standings

Wisconsin	5	6.455
Ohio State	3	6.417
MICHIGAN STATE	2	8.272
Michigan	2	9.181
Purdue	2	10.167

Iowa's sophomore-studded basketball team kept its title hopes alive with an 82-64 upset victory over Indiana at Bloomington in one of the conference's key games, Monday night.

The Hawkeyes trail the league-leading Hoosiers by only one game and both have two games left on their conference schedules. Iowa invades Jensen Fieldhouse Saturday night while Indiana travels to Ohio State, which has recently upset Iowa and Minnesota.

Indiana, which was ranked third nationally again this week, absorbed its first loss in its home court after 23 straight victories.

Sophomores Bill Seaberg and Bill Logan paced the Hawkeyes' attack with 21 and 17 points respectively as Iowa garnered a 36-28 halftime margin, held it throughout the third, and out-scored the Hoosiers, 28-18, in the final period.

Center Don Schlundt tallied 20 points for the Hoosiers, who scored only 21 baskets in 80 tries.

At Champaign, Ill., third-place Illinois kept its slim title hopes alive with a narrow, 66-61, win over Wisconsin, as Jim Wright dunked two last-second free throws for the Illini.

In the night's only other action, Minnesota hung up its eighth Big 10 victory with a 79-70 win over a stubborn Michigan team.

Dick Garmaker became the first Gopher in history to score 400 points in a season.

Mittmen Must Solve Lefties Next

The final outcome of the Spartan-Maryland dual boxing meet Friday at Jenison might well depend on the rights knowing what the lefts are doing—or vice-versa.

It seems that six of Maryland's eight front-line fighters throw most of their punches from the port side.

Upon learning this Monday, Boxing Coach George Mahris hurriedly clipped into the Spartans' freshman pool for south-paw sparring partners to work against his all-orthodox varsity squad, in preparation for the bouts.

Besides daily sparring sessions against the lefties, Spartan boxers are engaging in heavy workouts, including road work, (at least three miles a day), rope-jumping, light and heavy bag punching, and shadow boxing.

In seven previous meetings with Maryland, the Spartans won three, lost three, and tied once. MSC fighters took the Terrapins, 5-3, last year and 7-1 in 1952.

Against common opponent Penn State this season, the Spartans scored a 5-3 win, while Maryland took the Lions, six bouts to two.

The feature bouts in Friday's eight-bout card are expected to be in the 125 and 165-pound classes, where unbeaten Spartans Mike Maekawa and Tom Hickey lay their unblemished records on the line.

'Natal Sidelights

Nine fraternities have entered teams in the inter-fraternity swimming meet. Qualifications will be held tonight at 7:30 in the 50-yard free-style, backstroke and breaststroke and the 100-yard free-style relay. The meet will run tonight, Wednesday and Thursday.

Beta Theta Pi was omitted from the list of fraternity basketball block winners in Monday's paper.

Entry deadlines for the all-college boxing and gymnastics tournaments are 5 and 6 p.m. respectively Friday. Contestants may sign up either at the IM Office or in the boxing room or gymnastics area.

Seven Forfeited West Shaw 5 Wins In Overtime, 35-34

By BURTON E. BROOKS

Two free throws in the overtime period gave West Shaw 5 a much needed victory over West Shaw 1, 35-34. Ron Spink calmly dumped in both charity tosses to give West Shaw 5 the game and also the block title. Spink ended up with six points, while his teammate paced the game's scorers with 12.

West Shaw 3, 53; West Shaw 9, 32. A "blind shot" by West Shaw 3's Dick Damron enabled West Shaw 3 to edge by West Shaw 9, in another overtime game, 33-32.

YMCA 73; Lushwell AC 26

Bob Stragier and Dick Bailey each hit 14 points as the YMCA defeated Lushwell AC in the highest scoring game of the evening, 73-26.

Hills Y 50; Bush Diggers 23

Hills Y became block champion in easy style as it trampled all over the Bush Diggers 59-23. Nelson Wing headed the Y offensive with 16 points, which incidentally was the high scoring effort for an individual for the night's action.

Gridders 44, Old Timers 12

The Old Timers were beaten by the Gridders, 44-12. Lyn Ackerman paced the victors with a net of 12 points.

Michigan State hockey coach Amo Bessone, played professional hockey with the Providence Reds and pro baseball with Springfield, Mass., minor league entry.

ROIT (AP)—Attorney General Frank G. Millard asked for an explanation of the "phase" of the Walter Reuther case.

request was made in a letter to Gerald K. O'Brien, Wayne prosecutor. O'Brien had previous knowledge of payment plans by Donald Ritchie, key witness in the case, and the CIO Union Workers.

He collected $5,000 from the union and the witness included another $20,000 to Ritchie at various times during the trial and following the trial.

Reuther's assailed union also agreed to insure his life for $10,000.

Garber, chief assistant attorney, spoke for O'Brien.

He said that O'Brien's knowledge about such payment plans was based on testimony of principal during the extradition of Ritchie in Windsor.

He said that O'Brien would Millard's letter later.
