New Budget Introduced, Union TV Gets Approval

By MYRA MacPHERSON

A plan to reorganize the executive branch of Student [illegible] was introduced by Pres. Dave Hyman in the first [illegible] of the term Wednesday night.

Congress members decided to send the plan to committees for further consideration. Dividing executive duties into two distinct groups and creating new offices were the main changes listed in the plan.

Hyman said that he felt some form of reorganization would be approved by the Congress.

A television set for the Union was approved by Congress, which set aside $300 to purchase the set. A bill granting a one year charter to the Rod and Bar Club was also passed.

Closer check on Congress meeting attendance was sought when a resolution was passed to call roll at the end as well as the beginning of each meeting. Those leaving the meeting early will be given a complete absence.

A special committee to set up and carry out a Michigan Week program in cooperation with the sponsors of the event, Greater Michigan Inc., was approved.

Treasurer Mickie McBride introduced a proposed budget of $3,500 for spring term's Congress. It was sent to the finance committee for study.

Election dates for the all-college student government elections were announced as follows:

Petitioning to open April 15 and will close April 29. Primary elections will be held May 6 with the finals being May 13. Under the new reapportionment system, this year's election will cut Congress to 45 representatives rather than the present 57.

A student opinion poll will be taken by Congress to determine whether the students are in favor of adding girl cheerleaders to the college squad. Present reports on this study show that the administration has approved the plan, and that athletic department members who have already been contacted seemed to favor the idea.

Cigarette vending machines in coed dorms will be the subject of another student poll to

Free Nations Asked To Aid Indochina

Eisenhower, Dulles Warn Against Loss to Communists

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles publicly called on free nations Wednesday to express both the will and the readiness to save strategic Southeast Asia from communism.

At a news conference, Eisenhower soberly warned that loss of Indochina would have incalculable consequences. It might cause nearby Southeast Asia countries, he said, to topple like dominoes.

Solving the problem is not a job for one nation acting alone, he said. There must be a concert of opinion, and a concert of readiness to react in whatever way is necessary.

Dulles meanwhile urged friendly governments to demonstrate "a united will" to back up French Union forces which are now battling a powerful Red offensive in Indochina.

Such a united will, he said, will diminish the need for united action. But he added in a speech: "There should be, I hope, a willingness to have united action if the event should be such as to require it."

As Eisenhower and Dulles spoke out, diplomatic officials disclosed that the United States was trying to line up a 10-nation bloc to oppose further Communist aggression in Southeast Asia.

The American plan, they said, calls for countries with vital interests in the area to agree on readiness to use military action, if necessary, depending upon developments in the bloody seven-year war for Indochina.

Countries now being sounded out secretly to join such an agreement are Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines, Thailand and the three Indochina states—Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.

Dulles, after discussing the plan with other ambassadors, met Wednesday afternoon with diplomatic chiefs of the three Indochina governments to talk over the development.

Some nations already are reported to have expressed willingness to join such a security grouping but Britain, whose agreement is regarded as critically important, has not yet given its reply. London official sources said the British can be expected to ask for more detailed talks before making any positive reply.

Spartacade Announces Parade Plan

Carnival Preview To Include Calliope

A preview of Spartacade will be offered students Saturday afternoon when a parade, including the calliope which will be played during the evening, will proceed around Circle Drive.

A 1920-model car carrying students dressed as clowns will head the parade, scheduled to start about 3:30 p.m., said Dick Goebel, chairman of events.

Goebel also said that all questions pertaining to coed costumes for Spartacade shows should be referred to Jim Buchanan, organizations chairman.

"Several housemothers have called the administration to find out whether the costumes of their living units have been approved," he said. "Buchanan is the person to contact in verifying their approval."

Joe Staser, chairman of staging and planning, said that only 17 of the 28 entries in Spartacade had turned in their applications for a driving permit by the deadline Wednesday.

"The remaining entrants will be contacted by telephone to find out if they want permits," he said, "and they will be able to get them since we gave short notice in calling for the applications."

Staser emphasized again that all booths must be torn down by 3 p.m. Sunday.

"Living units which have not taken away their entries by then will be subject to disqualification in the competition.

Water Show Float Sketches Due Today

All living unit float sketches for Water Carnival must be turned in today in Union Organization Room 2, third floor, between 8 a.m. and noon or 1 and 5 p.m.

Sketches drawn to scale must be submitted in a folder with the name of the unit, its representatives and phone number.

Sketches will be returned at a general meeting Tuesday of all housing representatives, said theme and continuity committee.

No reserved seats will be sold this year. Tickets cost $1.25 for Thursday night and $1.50 for Friday and Saturday, according to Bill Shannon, chairman of tickets and programs.

Students interested in being clowns, baton twirlers, acrobats or similar stuntmen are urged to contact Ron Turnbull. The talent will be needed for advanced publicity and stunts before the carnival.

Participators in the annual water sports events before the carnival and the ticket sellers will be costumed to carry out the theme of this year's show "Forsooth and All That," which will depict Shakespearean quotations.

Pamphlets explaining Water Carnival have been sent to 50 magazines in an attempt to publicize the show nationally, said Skip Sandler, publicity chairman.

The band for the 1954 show will be chosen and announced next Wednesday.

They're Not for Minxes

These Mink Keep Their Coats

By RUTH BLANCHARD

There are at least 100 mink coats on campus.

But, they belong to the mink, not minxes. And a mink would sooner be caught dead than wearing what many minxes wear—mink-dyed muskrat or rabbit.

Working with 100 of the expensive little animals, the MSC poultry department is conducting nutritional research on mink for the fur breeding industry.

The work is a cooperative project of the experimental station, the Michigan Fur Breeders Association, and feed manufacturers in the state.

Mink used in the project are domestic. Some of them were born in the course of the project, and others were donated. Last year the Kellogg Food Research Farm turned its surplus of 70 mink over to the project.

The department hopes to double its mink population again this year, through breeding and further donations.

A large number is needed to make the research valid. The mink are kept in separate cages and put on various diets, and then the results of each are checked.

The nasty-tempered mink frequently bite the people who work with them, but their bites are not considered dangerous.

Mink are relatively clean animals and do not contract fleas and lice as easily as many other fur-bearers do, according to Paul Kifer, technician in the poultry department. Neither are they susceptible to internal parasites.

The project was moved to more spacious quarters in the poultry plant last year.

Tornadoes Hit Areas In Michigan

Lansing Reports Twister Scare

By the Associated Press

At least five tornadoes ripped into parts of Michigan, Illinois and Wisconsin Wednesday.

In Lansing, Civil Aeronautics Authority officials said several funnel-shaped clouds passed over the airport Wednesday afternoon heading northeast.

Michigan State Police got a report from an unidentified person that one was seen "hanging in the sky" at Bellevue 15 miles northeast of Battle Creek.

Capt. Edward Look, a Capital Airlines pilot flying from Detroit to Chicago, reported seeing a twister 10 miles northeast of Battle Creek.

The U. S. Weather Bureau at Detroit had warned Wednesday afternoon that tornadoes were "likely" on a line running from Battle Creek to Saginaw.

Near Flint, where 116 died in a tornado last June, a small tornado knocked down the fire hall at Swartz Creek.

State Police of the Flint Post reported some injuries, but no deaths. They said the twister hopped around the small community and damaged several other buildings, including some homes.

The Illinois tornado skipped through Kankakee County causing damage in several places. Dwellings were leveled and trees and power lines were blown down.

Five freight cars on a siding near Kankakee were tipped over and a filling station was damaged.

A storm center moving eastward across Lake Superior was blamed for the twisters. The storm system pulled cool and dry Canadian air southward into contact with the warm and moist air from the Gulf.

High for today in the East Lansing area is expected to be 45 degrees. Predictions are for generally cloudy and colder weather.

BULLETIN

LANSING (AP) — The Senate Wednesday night approved an unemployment compensation bill less generous than passed by the House and voted a $1,270,000 pay raise for the staffs of Michigan colleges.

The pay raise for college faculties was contained in a $56,947,187 appropriation for higher education.

Of the pay raise money, the University of Michigan would get $526,996, Michigan State College $388,433, and Ferris Institute $16,209.

Sits on Decision

Samuel P. Sears (left) explains his withdrawal as special counsel in the McCarthy-Army row as he sits beside Sen. Karl Mundt (R-SD) at a news conference in Washington, D.C. Sears said he was leaving "in view of the discussion and controversy which followed my retention as counsel and of the allegations which have been made; most of which are without foundation."

Hearings to Begin April 21

McCarthy-Army Row Finally Gets Counsel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ray H. Jenkins, a Tennessee lawyer and gentleman farmer, was chosen Wednesday as the man to get to the bottom of the bitter row between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and high Army officials.

His appointment as special counsel for the Senate investigations subcommittee was announced by Acting Chairman Mundt (R-SD), who also said hearings in the controversial case will begin April 21.

Jenkins, 57, is one of the leading trial lawyers of Knoxville, Tenn. He is a Republican, an Episcopalian, and farms as a hobby.

Interviewed by reporters on Capitol Hill, Jenkins stated he is "quite positive" that he is not prejudiced one way or the other regarding McCarthy. Asked if he would care to state his opinion of the Wisconsin senator, the lawyer replied:

"My opinion of Sen. McCarthy would not constitute any news. It would be improper for me to express my opinion.

"I have no record publicly or otherwise as to Sen. McCarthy or what has come to be known as McCarthyism," he continued.

A reporter told Mundt that on the day set for the start of the hearings McCarthy is scheduled to speak at Houston, Tex., in connection with San Jacinto Day festivities.

Mundt said he had not been aware of that, but that April 21 was the day agreed upon for the opening session. He added that McCarthy had not been consulted about the date nor about Jenkins' selection.

Jenkins, a heavy-set, sandy-haired man with a calm demeanor, pledged himself to handle the investigation with "no prejudice nor bias."

He succeeds Samuel B. Sears as the subcommittee's special counsel and will be in charge of the machinery of the probe.

Jenkins told a news conference that he would be willing to tackle the job with the understanding that he will "present the facts without any favoritism, in as fair and impartial a manner as I know how."

The hearings will be open to the public and will be broadcast by radio and television. Mundt reported the subcommittee had adopted unanimously a resolution providing that the networks covering the hearings would not be permitted to do so under commercial sponsorship.

Police Warn Drivers With Liquor in Cars

A warning was issued this week against open beer or liquor containers in automobiles by the East Lansing police.

Anyone convicted of the offense is liable to a stiff fine and the possible loss of his driver's license, according to Charles F. Pegg, chief of police.

Two MSC students, both driving automobiles, were convicted in the past two weeks on counts of illegal possession of alcohol.

One arrest was made after a student tossed a package of six empty beer cans from his car while parked near a women's dorm.

The large number of discarded beer cans and bottles on residential streets indicate a good deal of drinking in automobiles is going on, the police said.

Cole Gives Answer for Committee

'It's News to Me,' Says Ike of Delay

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional leader asserted Wednesday night that high officials debated for four months in 1949 whether to push an all-out effort to develop the hydrogen bomb. But he asserted that this is "not of itself sinister."

The statement was made by Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-NY), chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee. Cole was himself opposed to the H-bomb effort five years ago.

He said those who opposed H-bomb development at that time argued that it would detract from the atomic buildup, that it might not be feasible technically and that it was "morally repugnant."

The Cole statement topped off a day of comments from high places on the status of the H-bomb.

It all started Tuesday night when Sen. McCarthy said in a television speech that there was an 18-month "deliberate delay" in U. S. developement of the H-bomb.

McCarthy said the Russians meanwhile were feverishly at work developing their own H-bomb. And, he asked: "If there were no Communists in our government, why did we delay?"

Cole's statement made no reference to McCarthy. He said the H-bomb discussions in this country lasted from September 1949 to January 1950, when former President Truman announced his decision to go ahead. That is a four-month period.

President Eisenhower said it was news to him if there had been any delay in getting the H-bomb program under way. Truman said there had been no delay.

Sumner T. Pike, a member of the Atomic Energy Commission at the time, said McCarthy didn't know what he was talking about and that all he was doing was "throwing mud."

Cole said Wednesday night that there had been "considerable discussion" as to the need for developing the H-bomb. He himself opposed Truman's decision on the ground that it was "contrary to the recommendations of our country's most competent authorities."

In Wednesday night's statement Cole said that no security system is 100 per cent effective against traitors, and therefore "we cannot exclude categorically the possibility that a person or persons in our program might have been motivated by interests other than those of the United States."

Meanwhile, Adm. Lewis Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Committee, went before a Senate committee to assert that the government plans to

Ike Relieves Fear of H-Bomb

With one informal address, President Eisenhower has relieved much of the H-bomb pressure and has reassured the American public by bringing the military program of the United States back into clear perspective.

Before the President's speech, the creeping paralysis of Fear had started to make dangerous progress. When the tremendous new power of the H-bomb was revealed, the American mind was susceptible to all kinds of "scare campaigns."

But the President, like a father explaining to his child that there is actually no fear in darkness, counteracted those campaigns with a clear, concise explanation of American power—along with present plans for the use of that power.

Mr. Eisenhower listed five basic fears which he said had been plaguing Americans—Russia, the atomic age, loss of allies, Communist penetration at home and the chance of a depression.

Most citizens can think of many reasons to fear these things. This prompted the President to warn against "hysterical thinking . . . the jitters or any kind of panic."

Urging faith in America's strength and greatness, Mr. Eisenhower told the nation how necessary it is that the "hysteria" end. He said that even the "dramatic symbol" of the H-bomb has been greatly exaggerated. This factor has been emphasized before, but it was much more encouraging when the President added his support.

Although Mr. Eisenhower pointed out the "sobering" reasons why the Kremlin is unlikely to start a hydrogen war, he warned that "insanity still exists" in the world—making it imperative that the Russians might launch an incredibly destructive hydrogen war.

But Soviet leaders "study history pretty well," added the President. He could have added that the leaders differ from the students—who must accept a steady diet of "selected" history.

In studying history, however, they can't help but notice how tyrannical governments have risen, gained power—too much of it—and finally collapsed under the weight of that excess power.

With its power the United States has a gigantic task. This nation must show the world that such power can be used to keep the peace—instead of breaking it.

This task could be accomplished. Especially if Americans would take to heart the following words by the President:

"We can be vigilant, we can be Americans. We can stand up and hold up our heads."

Limited Enrollment Plan Is No Panacea

A state legislator has said he might propose a bill to limit the enrollment of both the U of M and MSC to 18,000 each.

We hope he doesn't.

Stricter academic limitations seem desirable, but an arbitrary enrollment limitation by number alone would not necessarily achieve this goal. Somehow, what must be reached is a high academic standard, but with that standard there must be an opportunity for all students to prove themselves able to meet it.

Limiting the enrollment to a certain, specific number might result in extremely high academic standards during years of economic plenty when applications are many.

In sparser years, however, applications could become so scarce that few of even the limited 18,000 with money to apply would be qualified for college. This would necessitate a fluctuation in standards.

Another argument offered for the proposal is that large institutions cannot function with utmost benefit for the students because classes become too large. Yet, when a university is broken up into colleges, these units become small enough to serve the student.

Growth should not be thwarted when that growth is progress. We believe that in the case of Michigan State and the University of Michigan, growth can be progress if it is controlled but not arbitrarily stopped.

Lenten Talks To Highlight Church Events

Main speaker on the religious calendar this week is Father Eusebius Spephanos, chaplain of the Pan-Orthodox students at the University of Michigan, who will speak to members of the student association at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Chapel of Peoples Church. Title of the message chosen by Father Spephanos is the "Liturgy of the Presanctified."

Events scheduled by CSF include a Sunday morning denominational breakfast and discussion at 10 a.m. and an informal supper hour at 6:30 p.m. The Rev. Gordon Jones, pastor of All Saints Church, will discuss "Dare to Live and To Be" at the Sunday evening vespers at 7:30.

The Rev. Hugh White of Parishfield will conduct the last in the series of four Bible studies on the biblical idea of freedom at 6:30 p.m. Sunday.

The Lutheran Student Association will hold a group discussion on "History of the Liturgy" Sunday at 4 p.m., followed by an LSA meeting at 7:30 p.m., at the College Lutheran Church.

Events planned by Newman Club on Sunday include a communion breakfast after the 8:45 a.m. mass and the weekly open house and Philosophy Club meeting at 8 p.m.

Gamma Delta will hold their business meeting at 6:30 p.m. Sunday in 34 Union.

Glee Club Sets Palm Sunday Song Program

The Women's Glee Club will present a Spring Concert Sunday at 4 p.m. in the college chapel. The program will consist of songs for Palm Sunday.

Others are Janice Feucht, Lansing sophomore; June Lannon, Manchester sophomore; Mary Jane Moody, Grandville senior, and Patricia Owen, Chicago, Ill., freshman.

There also will be three shorter selections including "Sleeper's Wake" by Bach, "Praise Ye the Name of The Lord" by Chesnokoss and "Lift Thine Eyes" by Mendelssohn.

Concluding the program will be an antiphonal chorus singing "Pueri Hebraeorum" by Thompson. The sixty women chorus will be directed by Ethel Armeling, MSC music instructor.

Mr. Autenrith from the People's Church will accompany the program and play several organ solos.

Bubolz to Represent Dance Group in Texas

George Bubolz, East Lansing junior, and vice-president of Promenaders, will represent the dance group in a National Square Dance Conventon at Dallas, Texas on April 8, 9, and 10.

Callers from all over the United States were invited to the convention.

Classes offered this term are … dances for first, third, and … graders, creative tap dance … fifth and sixth graders and … contemporary dance for junior … senior high school students.

Busy 'Spartacaders'

Parties Curbed by Carnival

By JEAN GREGORY

Parties will be at a minimum this weekend as Spartans participate in the annual Spartacade. Concessions including pantomimes, speakeasys, and pie-pitching will entertain the Saturday night carnival-goers.

Decorations will consist of colorful, flashy signs, and a ceiling of colored lights. Calliope music and an experimental car display will also be featured in the program.

An announcement of the Alpha Xi Delta "Man of the Year" will climax the sorority's term party Saturday night in Hotel Olds. The winning male will be selected on the basis of his service to the sorority.

The title of the dinner dance is "Dream Formal." Engaged and pinned couples will be serenaded with the Alpha Xi Delta sweetheart song during the evening. Tom Aquino's band will play for the event.

Sorority pledge parties are also being planned for this weekend. Alpha Gamma Delta members will entertain their guests Sunday afternoon with a hula dance and guitar music. The flower decorations in the house will also tie in with the "Waikiki" theme.

Delta Zeta pledges have scheduled a pre-Easter "Bunny Hop" for their pledge party Sunday. They plan to decorate their house with bunnies and candy eggs. Pledge guests have been asked to dress in their own sorority colors.

Christian Student Foundation, Promenaders, and the "Y" groups will sponsor a hoedown Friday night from 8 to 11:30 p.m. in the social hall of Peoples Church.

Newman Club is also planning a square dance for Friday night beginning at 8 p.m. in Newman Hall.

Program Seeks Collegiate Queen

A "College Queen of America" contest is being sponsored by the Mutual Broadcasting System's "Queen for a Day" program.

The requirements are that the coed must be at least 18 years old and recommended by a college student.

Entry blanks will be available from the broadcasting system beginning April 19 to May 7. Each entry is to be accompanied by not more than two photographs.

The five finalists will be flown to Hollywood to appear on the "Queen for a Day" broadcasting of May 21.

Easter Bonnets Designed By Millinery Students

By CAROL LARSON

Straw and felt hats, and feathered and flowered-bedecked creations, will be among the "originals" designed and constructed by coeds enrolled in millinery, 353a.

The Home Economics course offered to junior students who have completed basic courses in sewing and color and design, places special emphasis on the selection of hats which are suited to the individual.

Hats designed during the term's work are constructed in straw, felt and fabric. The fourth project may be either a restyled bonnet or an accessory which would complete an ensemble—such as a scarf, blouse or purse.

One of the interesting phases of the course is becoming acquainted with a new vocabulary. Felt and straw bodies, block head, peach basket, scimmer, ripple brim, and feather fancies are a few of the many technical terms used in the chapeaux designing field.

According to Miss Mary Gephart, assistant professor in the textiles, clothing and related arts department and instructor of the millinery course, students may use either new material or goods used in old hats. An advantage in reclaiming old headpieces is that sometimes students have more freedom and imagination in creating a hat when they use material which didn't cost them anything.

Ingenuity and imagination of coeds in the course may transform cloches into dainty profile hats, and an arrangement of colorful spring flowers may change the prim and proper to the "newest Dache design" at half the price and twice the fun.

Some of the student "originals" may be viewed April 13 on a campus TV show, when Rosemary …ouse, Fremont, O., senior, and Marilyn Breback, Homewood, Ill., …nior, model spring hats designed during the term.

International Group To Meet New Students

International Club will hold a get-together meeting Friday night at 8 for new foreign students interested in meeting club members.

It will be held at the International Center with Dr. J. Winburne and Dr. W. Schwab of the … department reporting the findings of a survey in … student difficulty … English language was an…

On Campus Buildings

Male Names Boast Lead

By ELLIE LATCHFORD

If you're a man you have almost a 3-1 chance over a woman of having a building at MSC named after you. Nineteen men have been so honored while only seven women have MSC structures for namesakes.

Presidents and professors run first, with State Board of Agriculture members a close second.

Abbot Hall was named after Theophilus C. Abbot, MSC's third president. Snyder Hall honors Jonathan L. Snyder, seventh president, and the two newest men's dormitories, Shaw and Butterfield, are named for ex-presidents Robert S. Shaw and Kenyon L. Butterfield.

Professors whose memories have been honored with buildings are George T. Fairchild, English literature, 1865-79; Ward Giltner, dean of the School of Veterinary Medicine, 1923-48; Robert C. Kedzie, chemistry, 1863-1902; and Alfred K. Chittenden, forestry, 1914-38.

Rockey Hall, Beaumont Tower, and Wells Hall were named after illustrious members of past State Boards. Ex-Senator Justin S. Morrill was the only member of the federal government to be honored here. His land grant act gave a quarter-million acres of land.

The only governor represented is Stevens T. Mason, the first governor of Michigan, who controlled the Michigan Territory before he was 21 years old.

Two manufacturers, R. E. Olds and William K. Kellogg, have been honored by Olds Hall and the Kellogg Center. Olds also had the Olds and Reo cars named after him, and Kellogg's signature is well-known to cereal eaters.

Phillips Hall is named after T. Glenn Phillips, MSC landscape architect for 30 years. The Health Center bears the name of Richard M. Olin, college physician and head of the health service from 1924-38.

Only one student made it without being a president, professor or even governor. That was Fred C. Jenison who for 25 years after he graduated seldom missed a football practice or game. He will left his entire estate to MSC.

Jenison's mother, Alice Cowles, is honored by the President's house. The other six women represented have had coed dormitories named after them.

Sarah Langdon Williams, wife of the first MSC president, was an outstanding suffrage leader. Mary Mayo, Maude Gilchrist and Louise H. Campbell helped develop the School of Home Economics.

Yakeley dormitory bears the name of MSC's first registrar, Elida Yakeley, and Landon commemorates the memory of Mrs. Linda E. Landon, librarian from 1891 to 1932.

Iowa, in the heart of the corn belt, produced 1,170,000 tons of bituminous coal in 1865.

Air Force Reserve Opens to Students

Program Planned for Men Ineligible for Pilot Training

By DONN SHELTON

Male students failing to complete four years of AFROTC are now eligible for enlistment in an Air Force Reserve wing, said Col. Graeme S. Bond, professor of air science and tactics.

Included in this group are men not accepted into advanced ROTC in either branch, men unable to meet physical qualifications for pilot and veterans.

The reserve program is especially aimed at men wanting an Air Force career but who are unable to be pilots.

Positions in the reserve are open to men in every field from agriculture majors to engineers, Bond said.

Reservists from MSC will be attached to the 439th Reserve Fighter-Bomber Wing, stationed at Selfridge Air Force Base in Detroit. As part of the 439th the men would get practical on-the-job training in the field of their choice.

Participation in the reserve program would include spending one weekend a month at Selfridge. For the two days the reservists are given credit for four days of work, both in advancement and pay.

ROTC training would play a big part in the reservists life, Bond said. Any ROTC training at all would eliminate the need of basic training and move the man right to job training, he said.

Any reserve member can be drafted, but it will be into the Air Force. The time spent in the reserve will also count toward the man's eight year military service obligation.

Starting today and continuing for an indefinite period, a member of the 439th will be in the AFROTC Cadet Lounge to answer questions and sign men. The reservists will be there from 10-12 a.m. every Tuesday and Thursday.

Merrill-Palmer Meeting Slated for Home Ec Majors

Opportunities for study at the Merrill-Palmer School in Detroit will be explained at a meeting for junior and sophomore home economics majors April 22 in 101 Home Economics Building from 4 to 5 p.m.

Faculty and students who have attended the school in previous terms will be on hand to answer questions about Merrill-Palmer and its program.

Twelve MSC students in home economics are chosen to study at the school each term. Most of those who attend Merrill-Palmer do so during their senior year, according to Jeanette Lee, assistant to the dean of the School of Home Economics.

Home Economics Prof To Study at Iowa State

Esther Everett, assistant professor of home management and child development, is on a leave-of-absence for study at Iowa State College spring term.

Her position as residence instructor in the Home Management House is being filled by Jean Selby, instructor in home economics education.

"CAMPUS CLASSIFIEDS . . . LOW COST"

Right Next Door

Phi Tau's to Build New House

Phi Kappa Tau has joined the growing list of fraternities that are building new houses or renovating old ones.

Phi Tau's president, Wendell Smith, said Wednesday that the Phi Tau's have the lot, money and plans for their new house, with construction anticipated before fall term.

"We have purchased the lot next to our present location for the new building and are looking forward to its use," Smith said. The Phi Tau house is located at 223 Delta.

Original plans called for construction on MAC but they were abandoned when the lot was sold.

The house will be financed by the Detroit Alumni of Phi Kappa Tau. The alumni group owns the present building and has put the rent money in a future building.

Exact age of the present house is not known, but it has been in use by the fraternity and its founders, the Dorian Literary Society, for over 35 years.

Plans call for renting the present house after the new one is built.

A two-story building to house 44 men is planned. The men will be housed in 22 two-man study rooms and sleep in four dormers.

Separate apartments for the housemother and cook are planned, along with a library, laundry, dining room and living room.

Outside, the house will have a sunken garden in the back, a 30-car garage and a dual-purpose chimney for heating and barbecueing.

Court Counselor To Give Lecture

Dr. Katharine B. Greene, marriage counselor for the Wayne Circuit Court, will be main speaker at the MSC marriage lectures this term.

She will speak at the May 12 lecture. Others have been scheduled for April 28, on religion, and May 5 and 6, on health. All lectures will be held in the Music Auditorium.

Dr. Greene is concerned mainly with persuading young married couples to solve their problems without divorce. Before taking the psychologist's position with the Wayne County court, she was an aide to Circuit Judge James E. Breakey Jr., in Ann Arbor.

The series of marriage lectures is presented annually by Mortar Board, senior women's honorary.

TV Staff Members To Attend Meet

A group of MSC staff members associated with the college television station, WKAR-TV, will participate in the Institute for Education by Radio-Television, Wednesday through Saturday.

Attending will be Dr. Armand L. Hunter, director of WKAR-TV; Dr. Donald Pash, TV fine arts coordinator; Don Buell, associate professor of speech; and W. H. Tomlinson, producer-co-ordinator.

Four Brothe Win Honors i Block & Brid

Triple Prize Won By Jerry Rooker

Winners of riding events at the annual Block and Bridle horse show were announced day night. The four brothers of Saginaw with most of the honors Saturday night event.

Jerry Rooker, sophomore, the only triple honors by winning first place in the five-gaited, fine harness, and polo. Bill, a sophomore, won reining and western horsemanship classes.

First place honors in the western pleasure class went to a freshman, while Jim won first prize in the stock horse class.

Jack McClure, Monroe, also placed first in two three-gaited and English and winner in both the jump and working hunter was John Faith, Flint.

Contest honors went Gordon, Mullet Lake, freshman, in the clover leaf event William Haw, East Lansing, in the balloon bust test.

Trophies were presented first place winners and up in each class and contest.

All proceeds from the show to paying expenses for the livestock and meats teams when they travel to participate in regional and competition.

Take the right step toward a good future

You engineering students who graduate this spring have a big and important decision to make. You will decide where to invest your knowledge of engineering acquired through years of study.

Working here at International Harvester's Melrose Park Works near Chicago are graduate engineers I. R. Hallberg (left), U. of Illinois, & L. Snyder (background), Swarthmore and Princeton, and E. Freudman, Oregon State and U. of Wisconsin. They are conducting research on an experimental diesel engine to obtain basic combustion data.

Representatives from IH will be on your campus on April 14, 1954. For personal interview, contact your Placement Director.

Or, if unable to meet with IH representative at that time, write to F. D. McDonald, Education and Personnel Department, International Harvester Company, 180 N. Michigan Avenue, Chicago 1, Illinois.

The engineer who joins International Harvester joins a sound, long-established but progressive company that represents opportunity for advancement. Harvester has long been associated with leadership in new and improved products that increase agricultural productivity; result in better transportation, assist in construction and the handling of heavy materials; protect and preserve food through refrigeration.

IH needs mechanical, industrial, metallurgical, chemical, agricultural, and electrical engineers. IH is looking for engineers for training programs, for product design, for tests and developments, for research and experimentation in nearly all its divisions. IH wants to hear from you.

Dramatics Honorary Play Begins Tonight

What to do with a dinner-guest who falls and becomes wheelchair ridden house guest for six weeks? Theta Alpha Phi's tell the story in their production of the George Kaufman-Moss Hart comedy, "The Man Who Came to Dinner," Saturday.

Twenty-eight students will appear in tonight's opening of Theta Alpha Phi's annual experimental production. This is an unusually large number of actors for a semi-arena stage production, said Director Pat Davies.

The action of the play, however, revolves around just one character, Sheridan Whiteside, who came to dinner and stayed for six weeks. Frank Serreneque, Spartan Magazine Award winner, plays the lead from a wheelchair throughout the play.

Whiteside, a satirization of New York critic Alexander Woollcott, slips on the front step of the Stanley home as he comes to dinner. His hosts, played by Herbert Camburn, Morenci sophomore, and Claire Cossey, find they are faced with housing a celebrity with a broken hip for six weeks, instead of just having him for dinner.

Not just "the great man" alone moves in on them, however. There is his secretary, Maggie, played by Janet Rose, Detroit freshman, and Miss Preen, the nurse, played by Ellen Harrington, Detroit sophomore.

Friends and gifts from all parts of the world also converge on the house. But not even Banjoy, a movie star addicted to flowered shirts and plaid jackets, played by Ron Neubert, Detroit freshman, and the crated penguins, can disrupt the household as Whiteside does from his wheelchair.

Tickets for the production will be sold at the door only.

There are children in three-fifths of U. S. families where the husband is under 25 and in three-fourths of the families where he is between 25 and 30 years old.

Prof. Nevill Coghill of Oxford University discusses roles with Susanne Rouse, Lansing junior and Ron Gainer, East Lansing sophomore for the term play, "A Winter's Tale," which he will direct. The cast will be announced Monday. Casts for the Children Theater Touring Co. and for Studio Theater will be announced later in the week.

Distinguished Visiting Lecturer

Dean to Produce 'Tale'

By MARY WAIBEL

"Lots of talent—and beauty," is how Prof. Nevill Coghill, distinguished visiting lecturer in the School of Science and Arts, enthusiastically described MSC coeds after two nights of tryouts for "A Winter's Tale."

Prof. Coghill, who arrived here on April 2 from Oxford University, where he is Dean of Exeter College, will produce the Shakespearean drama on May 20, 22 and 23.

He will also teach an advanced course in Shakespeare which will be an intensive study of "A Winter's Tale" with a view to production and direction of Shakespearean drama.

John Wilson, MSC graduate who was a Rhodes scholarship last year, has been studying under Coghill at Oxford since October.

"Most of our students do their studying during vacation," Coghill said. "They come to the university to talk over what they have learned."

Each student confers with his instructor for an hour each week, and studies on his own for the rest of the time.

Coghill first came to America in 1932, and has been here five times since. He has lectured at Princeton, New York University, Wellesley College, Mt. Holyoke College and Dartmouth University.

He will be at MSC until the end of spring term, and he has made no definite plans for the summer. His daughter, Carol, a special correspondent in Stockholm for Time and Life magazines will join him here in early June.

Coghill appears frequently on British Broadcasting Company's "Third Programme." He has produced 12 Shakespearean dramas, including "A Midsummer Night's Dream" with the Sir John Gielgud Co. at Haymarket Theater, London.

He has also produced Vaughan Williams' opera, "The Pilgrim's Progress," at the Royal Opera House at Covent Gardens.

He is the author of four books including "The Poet Chaucer" and "The Canterbury Tales in Modern English."

Jazz Club to Hear Stan Kenton Disc, Discuss New Title

The new MSC Jazz Club, which was formed winter term, will hold its first spring term meeting Sunday at 2 p.m. in 31 Union.

A transcription of a 1943 Stan Kenton jazz concert will be featured at the meeting. Other records will accentuate contemporary jazz.

The business agenda includes discussion of a permanent meeting place for the club, finances, and a possible name change. Titles suggested winter term were "The Hot Jazz Society of West Circle Drive" and "Sparty-Cats."

Committees for publicity and live and recorded programs will be set up. A wide range of interests in jazz within the club's membership has prompted several suggested programs revolving around the "hot" or traditional versus "cool" or modern schools of jazz.

spend nearly a half billion dollars more in the next fiscal year to push ahead with "greatly increased production of thermonuclear weapons" and manufacture of other new weapon types.

Thermonuclear is the scientific name usually employed for hydrogen devices.

Immediately afterwards, rumors began floating around Washington that there had been some development which would surpass the mass killing power of the fantastically destructive H-bomb.

One bit of speculation was that a means of converting the H-bomb into a "cobalt" or "C-bomb" had been perfected.

Cobalt, which has long been considered a potential ingredient of destructive bombs, it was said would absorb the poisonous radio-activity of a nuclear explosion and then spread residual contamination for various lengths of time.

Some people with unusually acute hearing can take in sounds up to 20,000 cycles a second, says the American Hearing Aid Assn., but the average range of hearing is about 3,000 cycles a second.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The Harlem Globetrotters, performing even better than their hilarious [illegible] on a sloshing wet floor laid over an ice rink, splashed to a 68-55 victory over the College All Stars here Tuesday night.

The floor was wet its entire length during most of the game despite frantic efforts of officials. Referee Jewell Young, stepping onto the floor to throw up the ball for the opening tip, started the proceedings by sliding several feet on his back.

From then on it was a matter of seeing who kept the most players on their feet. The Trotters won this contest and after the first quarter also managed to take charge of the scoring.

Detroit Protests Decisions

Wings Charge Referee Bias

DETROIT—(AP)—The Detroit Red Wings Wednesday protested the officiating in Tuesday night's Stanley Cup playoff game between the Wings and the Montreal Canadiens.

Bruce Norris, co-owner of the Wings and Detroit's member of the National Hockey League of Governors, said he would file the letter of protest to Clarence Campbell, National Hockey League president.

The dispute arose after Montreal scored three goals in 56 seconds to beat the Wings 3-1 and even up the final round of the Stanley Cup Series at one game each.

The Wings were two players short when the goals were scored. Referee Red Storey, a Montreal resident, called penalties on the Detroit players who were sidelined during the Montreal scoring.

Storey and his assistants were led from Detroit's Olympia after the game by six police who formed a protective circle around them. Fans threw orange peels, food and other articles at them in protest.

Storey's use as an official has been protested by Detroit Manager Jack Adams on grounds of bias at the NHL playoffs meeting. He was overruled.

After the contest Red Wings Tony Leswick and Gordie Howe were quick to protest.

The teams shift to Montreal Thursday night for the best of seven series.

U of M Defeats Belvoir, 4-2

FT. BELVOIR, Va. (AP)—The University of Michigan's defending NCAA baseball kings were extended to 10 innings Wednesday before defeating Ft. Belvoir, 4-2. The Virginia team had tied the score 2-2 in a ninth inning rally.

Wolverine pitcher Jack Ritter, who held the Southerners to five hits, walked to start the 10th inning. He moved to third on a double. A walk then filled the bases.

Ritter scored on a wild pitch and Don Eaddy drove in the insurance marker.

Yewcic Slams Homer As 'Regulars' Win, 9-7

Hope soared Wednesday for a successful 1954 baseball season as Coach John Kobs' Spartans found their batting eyes and rapped out 25 hits in an intrasquad game.

Leading the parade was catcher Tom Yewcic who connected for a homer and two singles and drove in four runs as the "regulars" collected 15 hits to triumph over the "reserves," 9-7.

Pacing the losers were Ron Stead with a double and a triple and veteran outfielder Jack Risch with a homer. On the Southern trip Stead hit .333 in five games and handled 15 fielding chances without an error.

[illegible] Risch is hitting better and seems to have gotten his eye. In practice Monday, Risch knocked out a single and a triple.

Thomas Takes Two Mat Titles

A wrestler who never wrestled here brought himself and MSC glory over the weekend as he won his seventh and eighth national wrestling titles.

Dale Thomas, physical education instructor, won National AAU titles at 191-pounds in both freestyle and Greco-Roman wrestling.

Norman Gill, freshman grappler from Lansing Sexton, won an NAAU title in the [illegible] style 147-pounds [illegible] seventh in the [illegible] of the tourney [illegible] last week.

Ken Maidlow, also a freshman from Sexton, was seventh in the freestyle and third in the Greco-Roman. The loss in the freestyle that eliminated him came at the hands of Thomas.

The Thomas is marked his eighth national title and his eleventh year of national competition. The 31-year old grappler won his first NAAU title in 1947 while a junior at Cornell University.

[illegible] he returned to the mat wars and again gained national prominence. In 1947 he [illegible] the NCAA tourney.

Thomas was a member of the 1952 Olympic team but, due to [illegible] S. team officials, he didn't compete in the games.

Last year Thomas won both the freestyle and Greco-Roman titles at the NAAU meet and his wins this year were in defense of those titles.

Maidlow, whom Thomas works with [illegible], was the only competitor Thomas failed to pin during the weekend tourney. Thomas was also voted two [illegible] the tourney. He was [illegible] outstanding civilian [illegible] freestyle and outstanding [illegible] in the Greco-Roman portion.

While here as a physical education instructor, Thomas occasionally helps with Coach Fendley Collins' wrestlers and the Spartan grapplers.

Gill, who won a state high school championship while at Sexton, is Collins' second consecutive NAAU winner (last year [illegible] won in the freestyle). His winning record included two falls and a decision for the title.

Maidlow, a double State champ at Sexton, had weight difficulties in California and wrestled at 191, Thomas' weight. After his loss to Thomas in the freestyle, the Spartan frosh moved to heavyweight in the Greco-Roman and took third.

Davey Beats Dreyer Easily

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Chuck Davey, former NCAA champ from MSC, scored a decision over Gerald Dreyer, of Pretoria, South Africa, in a furiously fought nationally televised 10-round fight Wednesday night at Oakland Auditorium. Davey weighed 148 pounds to 151 for Dreyer.

The decision of the referee and two judges was unanimous. The fight was scored on the California system of 11 points to the round.

A crowd of several thousand cheered the rivals as they exchanged punch-for-punch practically from start to finish.

In his locker room, Davey said his next fight probably will be with Vince Martinez at New York within a month or so.

India Banking On Army Athletes

NEW DELHI (AP) — India will depend heavily on stalwarts from the Indian Army and the police to battle Japan in the second meeting of the Asian Games which opens in Manila May 1.

Representatives of those two services will dominate the 75-member Indian team which will fly to Manila after intensive training here.

Two American coaches are sending the Indian athletes through the paces.

Boxers' NCAA Title Hopes Fall With Loss of Hickey, Maekawa

By ED SLOMKOWSKI

Michigan State's boxing team minus Tom Hickey and Choken Maekawa will take part in the three-day NCAA Boxing Tourney opening tonight at Pennsylvania State University.

The Spartans' chances for a strong tourney showing dropped off last weekend when Hickey, last year's 165-pound champ, and sophomore flash Maekawa were declared ineligible because of winter term failures.

Latest reports from the tourney site indicate that the University of Wisconsin squad will go in as heavy favorite, with Louisiana State, Syracuse, and Penn State cast in runners-up roles.

With Hickey unable to defend his title the 165-pound berth is expected to be a tossup between Eve Chambers, Wisconsin, Fred Shieman, California, and Gordie Gladson, Washington State.

When Wisconsin dropped the Spartans from the unbeaten ranks [illegible] it was Chambers who held Hickey to his first collegiate draw.

Herb Odom, a Sugar Ray Robinson-type boxer from Flint, figures to have more than an outside chance to capture the 147-pound crown.

Odom, who [illegible] and [illegible] during the regular season, will lead the Spartan delegation of five.

Bill Greenway at 178 pounds, George Stoner at 156 pounds, Norm Andrie at 132 pounds, and Shedd Smith at 119 pounds round out the Michigan State squad.

In the six previous tourneys, the Spartans came away with the 1951 championship, second place in 1948, 1949 and 1952, third place in 1950 and fourth place last year.

Led by two-time champion Chuck Davey, Spartan fighters have over the years captured 11 individual titles.

Prior to 1943 team championships were unofficial. But in 1943 Davey and Bill Zurakowski took the 127 and 120-pound crowns.

After a service hitch, Davey returned in 1947 to cop the 135-pound title. In 1948, Davey successfully defended his title and Ernie Charboneau won at 112 pounds.

The next year Davey won an unprecedented fourth title, this time as a welterweight, 147 pounds.

In 1951, Jed Black and Chuck Spieser copped top honors in the 147 and 178-pound divisions to lead the Spartans to the championship.

Spieser returned in 1952 with a successful defense of his light-heavyweight crown. Last year after 12 straight wins, Hickey was crowned 165-pound champ.

Williams Ready For Workouts: Rejoins Bosox

BOSTON (AP)—Ted Williams' fractured collarbone is knitting well and the Boston Red Sox slugger is now ready for light workouts.

This word came from Sox General Manager Joe Cronin Wednesday after a telephone conversation with Dr. Herbert Virgin in Miami, Fla.

Cronin said Dr. Virgin told him he has taken X-ray pictures (photos) of Williams' training camp injury and the results were "just fine."

Cronin said he expected Williams would return to Boston the first of next week.

The Great Falls, Mont., Ski Club had to cancel one of its races the other day. There was too much snow.

In almost six years with the Yankees as a reserve infielder, Charlie Silvera has appeared in only 160 games.

Tigers Beat Phillies, 7-5: Gromeck Win

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—The Detroit Tigers looked right past two home runs by the Philadelphia Phillies' Del Ennis to beat the Phils, 7-5, in an exhibition game Wednesday.

It was Detroit's fifth victory in eight games with the Phils. Philadelphia's Curt Simmons was rocked by Tiger batters for 12 hits in six innings. When Simmons retired at the end of six he held a 5-4 margin over Steve Gromek, the Tiger hurler.

Gromek yielded eight hits in the seven innings he pitched and the Phils got only two more off Dick Donovan who pitched the last two. The Phils, however, gave up 12 hits off the combined pitching of Simmons and Steve Ridzik, who took the loss.

One of the five hits off Ridzik came from the bat of Jim Delsing who greeted Ridzik in the seventh with a homer that carried 400 feet off the roof of a garage behind right center field to tie the score at 5-5.

Bonus Rookie Al Kaline scored the winning run when he doubled for his third straight hit and came home on Matt Batts' double down the third base line. Batts later scored the final run on a wild pitch by Ridzik.

Office Term Bill Advances To House Vote

Lower Voting Age Proposal Moves Up Without Debate

By The Associated Press

Despite strong opposition the House Wednesday advanced for final vote the Senate-approved proposal to increase terms of state and county officials from two to four years.

The second proposed constitutional amendment lowering the voting age from 21 to 19 was advanced without debate.

Both proposals, which [illegible]

Rep. [illegible] (D-Detroit) [illegible] would take the legislature [illegible] other officials out of control of the people.

"There has been no popular demand for the measure," said Rep. [illegible] Smith (R-Bay City). "The only demand has been from those who would profit from the county officials," he added.

Rep. W. Reed Orr (R-Battle Creek) said that the proposal would attract better quality officials.

Film-Series Ducats To Cost the Same Despite Tax Cut

The price of admission to Foreign Film series programs will remain at 50 cents in spite of the recent reduction of federal excise taxes, according to Dean Stanley Crowe, series director.

Dean Crowe said Wednesday that by keeping the ticket price at its present level, extra revenue will be derived which will help the college-sponsored series meet expenses. The new law provides that tickets priced at 50 cents or less are tax-exempt, Dean Crowe said.

The prices of Lecture-Concert series tickets will not be affected, Dean Crowe said, because all programs sponsored by educational institutions except athletic contests have always been exempt from excise taxes.

Married Housing Organization Nears

Post-War Spartan City to Act As Pattern for Student Group

By PAT YAROCH
State News Editor-in-Chief

Married students at Michigan State may soon have more of a voice in the governing of their living area.

A meeting of all students living in married housing has been set for 4 p.m. Sunday in the Trailer Village Recreation Hall. Its purpose, according to Patrick Callahan, married housing representative to Student Congress, is to discuss the opinion of the married students on setting up a governing body for the married housing area.

The body would be patterned after Spartan City, which existed from 1947 to 1949 and was a representative government of students living in married housing.

The immediate project of the organization, according to Callahan, would be the completion of a playground for the 1,000 children living in the area.

Callahan said groundwork has already been done on the playground and "it is ready to come out of the planning stage into the material."

Other tentative projects that will be discussed at the meeting, according to Callahan, are pet control, driving rules in the area, area maintenance, street conditions and drainage systems.

Callahan explained that the governing body would not have complete control of married housing area policies but would sponsor some activities and be an organized voice to express the opinions of the married students to the administrative officials.

Its aims would be patterned after those of Spartan City, as expressed in its constitution:

1. To provide democratic representation in the community.
2. To act as a liaison between the community and other agencies.
3. To sponsor educational, recreational and social activities.

Some of the things accomplished by Spartan City include: Regulation of pets in the area, organization of intramural softball teams for men, sponsoring of potluck dinners, dances and other various social functions.

A small loan report stated that all the money borrowed last term, which totalled $450, was returned.

About $200 was lent the first three days of this term.
