

Oppenheimer Quiz to Hear Ex-AEC Head

Wilson Says Scientist Left as Advisor in July

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gordon Dean, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, will testify in security hearings for atom scientist J. Robert Oppenheimer—presumably in the scientist's defense.

This became known Wednesday as Secretary of Defense Wilson indicated Oppenheimer, the scientific chief of the World War II project which developed the atomic bomb, was eased out as an adviser to the armed forces last July.

AEC announced Tuesday that by order of President Eisenhower it has barred Oppenheimer from access to secret data and has suspended him as one of the nation's foremost atomic consultants pending a new security check.

One allegation cited by the commission, on the basis of information gathered by the FBI from undisclosed sources, is that Oppenheimer obstructed American development of the hydrogen bomb. Oppenheimer has said this is a distortion of his real position.

Dean, who headed AEC from 1950 to mid-1953, told a reporter by telephone from New York he has been asked to testify at a hearing in the Oppenheimer case next Monday and has agreed to do so.

Dean was AEC chairman when previous questions about Oppenheimer's admitted past connections with Communists and other left-wingers were raised, and he took no action reflecting on Oppenheimer. A new security check for the physicist was ordered, however, immediately after Lewis L. Strauss succeeded Dean in the post last July.

A special three-member panel is holding secret hearings on the allegations against Oppenheimer.

Seven Sites Chosen for AFRO Training

Juniors to Attend Summer Camps

Seven air force bases, from Massachusetts to Texas, have been chosen for eight AFRO summer camps.

AFRO cadets will be distributed among the seven sites in an already-set quota. Benjamin Davis, AFRO public information officer, said the camps will start on June 20 and the other two on July 23 and August 7.

Each base will have a category of cadets assigned to it. Cadets must attend minimum in two categories. The only exceptions are category 1 and IA cadets. An air sign for either of the two cadets, Davis said, all AFRO cadets will be assigned a category.

The 30 cadets will be stationed at Bolling Air Force Base, Wash. D. C.; 20 cadets at Scott Air Force Base, Ill.; 20 at Randolph Air Force Base, Texas; 20 at Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala.; 20 at Chanute Air Force Base, Mo.; 20 at Brooks Army Airfield, Tex.; and 20 at Randolph Air Force Base, Tex.

Three-three cadets of category 1 have been assigned to Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala.; 20 cadets to Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala.; 20 cadets to Chanute Air Force Base, Mo.; 20 cadets to Brooks Army Airfield, Tex.; and 20 cadets to Randolph Air Force Base, Tex.

Each of the seven sites will have a summer camp program. The program is being developed by the AFRO. The AFRO is a branch of the Air Research and Development Command, which is in charge of all AFRO activities.

Film-Lecture Series Slates Canada North

Canada North, a film by Bert Brecht, National Audubon Society photographer, will be shown at the Auditorium Saturday at 8 p.m. as part of the spring film-lecture series.

Brecht's film includes pictures of the Mackenzie River delta, the Arctic Circle, and the Eskimos. The film is a masterpiece of the great white whale. Tickets for the film-lecture series are available at the Auditorium Box Office.

Draft Age Lowered By Sweden's Military

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Sweden Wednesday lowered its military conscription age from 19 to 18 years. Defense staff sources said this would not increase the number of men under arms, but would facilitate a more even spread of the call-ups.

Auto Crash Injures Two MSC Students

Cuts, Bruises Result From Collision Near Coral Gables

Two MSC students were injured in an accident near Coral Gables on US-16 and Brookfield Drive, Wednesday night at about 10:30. An E. Lansing resident was also involved.

The students were Robert O. Basore, 145 W. Shaw, driver of the 1953 convertible, who received head lacerations and possible chest injuries, and Andrew Romie, 156 W. Shaw, who received head lacerations and abrasions on the left knee and right elbow.

The driver of the other vehicle, a 1945 jeep, was not injured in the crash. He is George (Randell), of 1930 Rockwood in East Lansing.

The accident, according to Michigan State Police, occurred because the driver of the convertible couldn't see the jeep when it was on the inside lane, apparently attempting a left-hand turn. The convertible crashed into the rear of the jeep.

The two students were taken by ambulance to Sparrow Hospital for treatment and X-rays.

Britain Says Troops to Aid Europe

Country Commits Troops to Continent

LONDON (AP) — Britain Wednesday spurred France toward ratification of the European Defense Community Treaty with a historic commitment to keep British troops on the European continent. The British offered also to integrate ground and air forces in the six-nation European army.

The pledge by this island nation was announced in the House of Commons by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden. It was aimed at quieting French fears about West German rearmament within EDC, and inducing the French Parliament to ratify the treaty.

Both the United States and Britain have declared EDC is indispensable to the defense of Western Europe against the threat of communist aggression. The British promised to keep their armed forces in Europe as long as that threat exists.

The six nations in EDC are France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands, and Luxembourg. Italy and France have yet to ratify the treaty.

Eden said the agreement will "ensure the integration of the British with the EDC forces" under Gen. Alfred M. Gruentzer, NATO's supreme commander in Europe.

The agreement is subject to approval by the Parliaments of Britain and the six EDC nations. The pact, which stops just short of making this country a full member of the projected one-unit, two-million man army, is expected to win quick approval in the British Parliament.

Student Congress OKs Executive Reorganization

Students Hit Federal Fund Cut

Protest Slush in Exchange Plan

Student Congress members Wednesday passed a resolution protesting action of U. S. Congress members in restricting exchange-student program appropriation.

Passage of the resolution, which will be sent to the U. S. Congress members, made MSC the first university to take a public stand against house action cutting $5 million from funds for international student exchange activities.

The Department of State asked $15 million for the program. If the Senate upholds the House cut, the action will, according to an article issued by the American Council on Education, seriously curtail the exchange program operated under the Fulbright Act.

The article caught the interest of MSC students, who drew up the resolution passed by Student Congress.

The resolutions backers, Bill Munyon, Bruce Barr and Maxine Sylvan, said they had several reasons for introducing it.

"We believe that during the period of world tension we should be expanding our international relations, our educational services and our technical assistance."

The resolution expressed belief that the executive branch should be commended for presenting positive programs and that technical assistance and educational exchange activities are among the best investments of the U. S. MSC could be directly affected by the $5 million cut which would curtail the active exchange change program, according to the resolution.

Some constructive proposals that MSC and Michigan have participated in under the exchange program include assistance to colleges in Communist and to the University of Sao Paulo in Brazil educational and programs in various foreign countries under the Fulbright Act. Point Four and other exchange services provided to foreign students by MSC.

Besides the restriction of exchange funds under the Fulbright Act, the fund cut would reduce these efforts, according to the American Council on Education article:

- 1. The U. S. and foreign specialist program would be stopped.
- 2. The educational exchange would be eliminated in 86 countries, with no money provided for Finnish and Latin American programs.
- 3. No money would be provided for continuation of various international and language centers.

New Look for ROTC, Too

Army to Drop Khaki, Try Green Uniforms

The Army's traditional khaki-colored garb will be replaced, beginning Oct. 1, 1955, with a new "army green" uniform.

It is an effort to give its members a "dignified and distinctive" uniform according to the Army, Navy, Air Force Journal, a semi-official service publication.

Advanced ROTC cadets will also be fitted with the new uniform, said Capt. Edward W. Smith, Army ROTC public information officer.

"It is possible that we will have the new uniforms for fall term, 1954," according to Smith. "The new garb, when it arrives, will not cost the advanced students extra money."

The new uniform will insure that every cadet has a uniform that will allow him to perform his duties in public and to mingle with the civilian and military contingents without apology. The service magazine quoted Capt. Robert N. Young, assistant chief of staff for G-1, as saying the present uniform does not provide the desired dignified and distinctive appearance.

The new outfit will be constructed in the same lines as the present one, with the main change in the color.

As described in the Journal, the color of the blouse and pants will be "army green," while the shirt will be tan. The pants will be the same style as the existing ones. Absence of a belt will be the main difference in the blouse, which otherwise will be very similar to present ones.

Blouse ties and shoes will be worn as the new look, making these shoes standard throughout the armed forces.

The shirt will be made of lightweight, rip-resistant material, and ribbed men will wear either the new look, except for gold bands worn by the officers around hats and on lower sleeves.

Eisenhower jackets will be changed entirely from the regular army warlike.

Folklore Lecture Set For MSC Instructor

Richard Dorson, associate professor of history, will give an address on American folklore at the University of Delaware in Newark after attending the Modern Language Conference at the University of Kentucky in Lexington on April 23. Dorson is the author of five books on American folklore, including "American Folklore: Narratives of the Frontier."

New Ruling Passed on Eligibility

New Offices Opened To Graduate Students

By MYRA MacPHERSON

A reorganization of student government, a bill permitting grad students to hold offices in dorm council and married housing districts, and eligibility rules revisions to require a two-point all-college average for college extra-curricular activities participation was passed by Student Congress in Wednesday's meeting.

A revamping of the student government organizational system, as proposed by President Dave Hyman, was approved by Congress members. Major change in the new plan is a split of business duties into two separate fields, government and state affairs.

Rules were suspended to pass an eligibility bill covering non-athletic and extra-curricular activities participation. The bill was rushed through to apply to spring elections.

The only major changes in the bill, which replaces a former one, are grad students can run for dorm and married housing district offices, and a stipulation that students must carry a minimum of 12 credits, and must have an all-college two-point.

In the last meeting winter term, Congress pushed through the all-college two-point section of the bill, to apply to the coming elections. Formerly a two-point, the previous term was all that was required.

Cigarette vending machines in women's dorms will be up to the parents, according to a report by the committee investigating the issue. If students want the machines, they are requested to urge parents to write directly to the State Board of Agriculture of the college administration.

Good cheerleaders have been approved by the Athletic Council and it okayed by AWS will have complete approval, according to committee reports. However, students must express interest before the plan will be carried out. A $3,500 spring term budget for government finances was passed by congress.

Other bills include:

- 1. Appropriation of $300 for costs involved in engaging Senator Fulbright as principal speaker for International Week.
- 2. A donation of $250 to the Parents Day Fund.
- A new junior class constitution bill introduced and a temporary charter granted the Jazz Club.
- Bills to set up grants-in-aid program, and to appropriate $500 for the publication of the Heist were also presented to Congress and sent to committees for further study.

Letters to the Editor

TO CUT OR NOT... To the Editor:

The discussion or argument, whichever you prefer to call it, over whether to attend church or classes on Good Friday is absurd.

It is quite logical to assume that every student in Michigan State College has one or two cuts a term. Therefore the students who wish to attend church on Good Friday can cut their classes that day.

It is illogical to assume that as a result of having classes on Good Friday a person's religious life is adversely affected. Classes will not prevent a student from attending church if he is sincere about going.

It is also logical to assume that Dick Merchant only talked to fellows who want to go to church and not the ones that would welcome a holiday for the pursuit of other things.

If his poll had been objective it should have been conducted in this manner. A questionnaire should have been distributed to all students and on this questionnaire there should have been five questions. They are as follows.

- 1. Would you attend church on Good Friday if no classes were held? Yes No
2. Would you attend church on Good Friday if no classes were held in the afternoon? Yes No
3. Would you attend church if no classes were held during the morning? Yes No
4. Would you attend church for an hour or two in the morning or afternoon of Good Friday and then pursue other recreational activities for the rest of the day? Yes No
5. Do you consider yourself a Christian every day of the week or just on Sunday and on special religious holidays? Yes No Fifth Amendment

The Fifth Amendment of the Constitution says that you need not answer any question that might tend to incriminate yourself.

In conclusion I would say that the poll used by Dick Merchant wasn't a valid one and that unwarranted assumptions were made in paragraphs I, III, and V of his letter to the editor.

I welcome constructive criticism from students that support my viewpoint in this minor controversy and also criticism from ones that don't support it.

Clayton L. Trentner
PRAISE U. N.

In a recent State News we read the account of the United Nations seminar of which we were also members. The closing paragraph in which "the feelings of many students were expressed" particularly concerned us.

The gist of the paragraph was "all those very brilliant men... still not able to come to any speedy answers for the problems confronting the nations... shows our human limitations."

We came away from the U. N. with a different feeling. There, on many political issues these leaders have been deadlocked and have accomplished little.

However, the U. N. recognizes that the solution to these problems, perhaps necessarily slow, is important for the maintenance of world peace.

After learning about the U. N.'s work in such areas as technical assistance and world health despite cultural differences, we came away with increased respect for the U. N. and for the U. N. representatives.

OUR SLIP IS SHOWING

To the Editor:

So that I won't be spending my summer vacation as "Guest of the Government" for violation of the copyright laws, will you be so kind as to correct in error of too-religious reporting as done by your re-write man in his page one story of our recent trip to Columbia and the 24th Institute for Education by Radio and TV.

Your story indicated that we gave a live presentation at the current Broadway hit "The House of the August Moon." This play is rigidly protected by a copyright which makes quoting even one line of the play a violation of the law and subject to prosecution.

We did not in any way present any portion of the play. We did a review of the play, talked about the personnel doing the play, and reviewed briefly what the play was all about.

Mr. Sol Jacobson, the press representative lent us pictures of the cast, sets, and a shot or two of the play which have already been released for national publication and these we used as video-background on the telecast.

Our two Oklahoma students appeared in the final portion of the program in their own native costumes. We talked about Oklahoma, the location of Teahouse. Incidentally, we did pay a compliment to those charming people.

They did an able job of speaking for their own people and were excellent representatives of Michigan State and other colleges in the interests of good reporting. William H. Tomlinson is a producer-coordinator of WJLB-TV and not a Clio winner as reported.

Pill has done some fine work in getting Curtain Going Up on the air and deserves recognition. Thanks for keeping me out of jail and for giving me this opportunity of correcting a serious error.

Lambda Iota Tau Adds Two More State Chapters

Lambda Iota Tau, the national literature honorary society founded at MSC last December, has added two new chapters at Michigan colleges in the past week.

The newly established chapters are the Lambda chapter at Siena Heights College in Adrian and the Mu chapter at Alma College. Warren L. Fleischauer, assistant professor of English, will deliver the installation address at the formal installation of the Theta chapter at the University of Detroit on Saturday. The Alpha chapter from MSC will install the Alma chapter early in May.

Editorially Thought Police Threaten Safety

There's an interesting story to ponder in a current issue of Redbook magazine. Its title is "Fear on the Campus" and it deals with thought control in American universities.

Its charges—and reporter Andre Fontaine has gathered a wealth of quotes from students and student leaders on many campuses to substantiate them—are that members of the young intelligentsia are afraid to ask too many questions about controversial subjects and afraid to think for themselves.

The reason behind these fears, the article states, is the climate of "suppression, suspicion and fear" created by "irresponsible investigators, hysterical community leaders and other self-appointed thought police."

The charges are valid in several respects, and they apply not only to students but to every citizen in this country.

The meticulous search for Murrow's and Oppenheimer's dirty laundry point up only too well the fact that the individual has to think not twice but three times about attending a meeting of a new organization or signing a pledge to aid the poor starving children in India.

If he attends the meeting out of intellectual curiosity or signs the pledge because he feels the poor starving children in India should be helped, he is acting unwisely, according to present standards.

In order to be safe, he must beware the big, bad bug-aboo, guilt by association.

Our freedom is being challenged by the rabid investigators, many of whom are out for publicity more than anything else.

They attack blindly, without consideration for the irreparable damage they may do to the innocent.

Unfortunately, they cannot be ignored, because they threaten our own personal security.

The only antidote is education. For example, MSC must continue to offer courses in Communism so that its graduates will know where to root their opposition to it and other institutions must be free to do the same.

There is a cause and effect relationship between ignorance and fear. Consequently, we cannot rid ourselves of the fear of self-expression until we combat the forces responsible for it with knowledge and understanding our weapons.

Editorially Wearing Feathers Won't Squelch Jo

Students at several Big 10 schools have organized "green feather" campaign in order to dramatize the approval of Senator McCarthy's tactics.

The green feathers are meant to symbolize Robin the storybook figure which a group of Indiana communist hunters have tried to ban from mention in classes. They claim that the woodsman, in stealing from the poor to benefit the poor, was acting as a communist.

Founder of the movement is the Indiana Daily Student newspaper of Indiana University, Purdue, cousin and the University of Michigan have gone with the idea.

We will not. Both the State News and the college have expressed on many occasions their objections to the kind of action indulged in by McCarthy and his cohorts. And the objections have been supported by action—typified by the college's refusal to disparage the communist performance here of a professor who later went to college and was fired after he was charged with being a Communist.

A courageous stand on the McCarthy issue was followed by action, to be effective. The simple wearing a feather without further action is like sporting a Like Ike" button without going to the polls.

We suspect that in many instances, students feel compelled by group pressure to wear the feather instead of being motivated by sincere beliefs.

The feather wearers are using as their motto "I underestimate the weight of a feather." We would caution them that a feather is worth no more than the significance attached to it by its wearer.

New Sauces To Flavor Holiday Meal

By CAROL LARSON
Coeds will be able to impress their families during Easter weekend by trying out new sauces especially recommended for hams by Miss Martha Purdom, assistant professor of foods and nutrition.

"These special recipes are guaranteed to make the holiday dinner especially delicious with a minimum of effort and a maximum of good taste," said Miss Purdom.

Pineapple, cherries, cider, raisins, and even ginger ale, will add an unusually good flavor to the baked ham.

After the outer surface of the meat has been scored in diamonds, triangles or some other desired shape, and stick cloves have been added to the design, put squeezed out crushed pineapple over the ham.

Then sprinkle brown sugar over the pineapple and glaze with a small amount of honey or corn syrup all over the sugar. Return the ham to the oven for approximately 30 to 45 minutes.

Candied cherries may also be used to add that "extra special touch" to your dinner, a method which requires little time and gives good eating in return. After the ham has been glazed, remove cloves and use new ones to attach cherries to the ham.

Coeds whose families prefer the traditional raisin sauce might try this new recipe. Combine two tablespoons each of brown sugar and cornstarch in saucepan, add one and one-half cups of sweet cider, a teaspoon of butter, and one fourth cup of seedless raisins to the mixture, until it boils. Also, the sauce must be stirred occasionally.

Ginger ale is an unusual but delicious ingredient to use instead of water, honey or corn syrup when the ham is glazed.

Strictly From MARs

By MARY ALICE RITCHLIN
State News Women's Editor

A new term, new classes, new faces and—a new women's column.

Now a column can range from what the author thinks about pink polkadots to his viewpoints on the H-bomb. Yet I believe a women's column is in a class by itself.

Therefore popping up in this "Strictly from MARs" (not the planet—just my initials) corner will be beauty hints, news from the fashion world, etiquette "musts," and almost anything designed for the female needs.

And before spring fever catches us all, here's something for every coed to heed—her figure. For, Paris news predicts that the latest '54 fashions do not exactly become the American figure, especially with the new sheath creations sweeping the market.

What can you do about it? Just watch for the next article which will be especially reserved for exercises to help females lose excess poundage. See you then.

Rush Procedures Outlined by PanHel

Sorority spring rush which began Monday will continue through June 1. According to Judy Steng, Detroit junior and PanHellenic president, there will be no official counseling hours due to the length and informality of the spring rush. Coeds with any special questions may contact Miss Steng.

The rushes will be contacted by each sorority for a date or house visit. Coeds must visit a sorority at least three times before pledging. Invitations for pledging ceremonies may be given out by a sorority any time.

Easter Rites Scheduled By Groups

By MOLLY ROBYN

Easter services will be held in many of the East Lansing churches this weekend.

Bach's Easter cantata, "Christ Lay in the Bonds of Death," will be presented Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in Peoples Church by the CSF choir. Dr. N. A. McCune will deliver the Easter message.

Good Friday services will be held in the Peoples Church from 12 to 3 p.m. Easter services will be televised on a closed circuit from the sanctuary to the social hall in order to relieve the overflow crowd.

Gamma Delta plans a discussion in 34 Union, Easter Sunday at 7 p.m.

There will be Adoration Hours starting today, and continuing through Good Friday noon for Newman Club students in the St. Thomas Aquinas Church. Good Friday services will be held in the church from 12 to 3 p.m. Sunday's program will be a communion breakfast following the 8:45 a.m. mass.

Dr. J. C. Watson of Miller Road Bible Church in Lansing will address the Spartan Christian Fellowship tonight at 7:30 in the Student Center. His topic will be, "Can the Authority of the Bible Be Proved?"

The Lutheran Student Association is planning vesper services for Easter Sunday followed by a discussion on "Why Is the Resurrection So Important?"

An interdenominational service is being planned by the Fresh-Soph Council at 4 p.m. Sunday in the Alumni Memorial Chapel. Dr. David Dickson, assistant professor of English, will speak and the Phi Delta Theta Choir will sing.

Parish-orthodox students will hold Palm Sunday services this Sunday. Blessed palms will be distributed at the 12:15 p.m. mass.

Argentina and Chile have large populations of Irish descent.

Candidates to Compete For Co-op Queen Title

Coeds who will compete for the co-op queen title at the semi-annual dance sponsored by the Women's Co-op League and the Inter-Co-op Council are: Joan Boudier, Cadillac junior, Robinson House; Jean Wehrli, Palmyra, N. Y., freshman, Sanford House; Doris McCully, Saginaw freshman, Rochdale House and Amy Kipke, Charlevoix freshman, Concord House.

"CAMPUS CLASSIFIEDS... LOW COST"

'Extremes' Keynote Latest Spring Styles

By MARY LOU BERNECKER

Whether bold and dramatic or soft and feminine styles are your favorites, spring fashions feature extremes for Easter outfits.

Suits or suitdresses will be the backbone of the spring wardrobe. Suits will be softened by pastel colors of blue, pink, sandy beige or mauve.

Perky artificial flowers and filmy organza scarves will beautify the neckline.

For the Easter dress, yards of silk or refined cotton print floral patterns will whirl over the head of the new nylon or rayon petticoats, which are almost too pretty to hide. Other dresses for weekday and date wear are little girl, shirtwaist and the shoulder or V-necked styles which look as if they were fresh as a spring wind.

Next to no shoes in the fashion in footwear with sandals heels in bare-looking pastel straps and narrow-heeled mules with magnetic soles for "stick-in-power" to keep them on. Pale beige seamless hose carry over the bare look in legwear.

There will be big and floppy hats with caps and cloches of flowers to hug the head and flatter the new short haircuts.

For variety and that "spring look" some artificial flower sets of neck, bouquets with matching earrings and cufflinks may be chosen. Also figured narrow scarves dress up warm weather blouses.

Blazers are enjoying a practical and pleasing popularity on campus as jackets for classes and to give that "outfit look" for dates in all-coordinating white, navy, grey or pastel checks.

If you want to be a true breath of spring don't forget to use a floral fragrance perfume.

Although Spain had a leading role in the development of the Caribbean areas, including the voyages of Columbus, she does not now control any territory there.

Blimy . . . Cricket Invades MSC Athletics

Cricket at MSC? A few puzzled passers-by couldn't quite believe their eyes as they walked past the women's athletic field Tuesday afternoon. But that's exactly what it was, a jolly game of cricket played somewhat inexpertly by about a dozen students—all getting their taste of bowling and batting in English style. Dave Chapman, Lansing sophomore, was the inspiration for playing this first game in what he hopes will be a long series. He learned to play while in England last summer and came home loaded with bats, wickets, and enthusiasm for cricket playing. Next practice will be either Sunday or next Wednesday afternoon, Chapman said. "Blimy," he remarked, "the way it's going we'll soon 'ave a regular team."

Campaign to Start SOG Signs On Campus To Reappear

"Spartan, spare that blade!" This is only one of the slogans to be used in the annual SOG campaign sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, in cooperation with the building and grounds department SOG are the initials for "Save Our Grass." Norman Robison, chairman of the campaign, said that it will go into full swing this weekend. "The members of Alpha Phi Omega believe that if the students will heed the signs placed around the campus, the grounds department will be able to keep the lawns in the beautiful condition for which our college is famous," Robison said. This project is carried on at many other colleges by chapters of the fraternity. Students are asked not to molest the signs.

'Mary Lou' Charms West Shaw Males

The only girl living in a dormitory with 750 boys is apt to be the center of attention. And that's exactly how it is with Mary Lou Ramsay—aged six. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ramsay, are the resident adviser and the social hostess at West Shaw Hall. "In many ways a boys' dorm is a good place to raise a little girl," Ramsay said.

There's no shortage of baby sitters. Mary Lou's baby sitters are Tom Yewie, Evan Slone and Gordie Serr, MSC football players.

ers. There are plenty of homesick students who coax the Ramsays to take a night out—just so they can baby sit and soak up home atmosphere in the first-floor apartment. "Having a child in the dorm makes it easier to play the parent role for the boys," Ramsay said. "Mary Lou gains, too. She has a greater sense of values from observing people in the dormitory than most children her age."

"Drunk with power" is how her father describes Mary Lou. She recently cornered about 50 boys as an audience as she spelled "M-I-S-S-I-S-S-I-P-P-I," a new word in her vocabulary. Mary Lou shows no partiality. She collects bugs with the Entomology majors and stamps from the foreign students. After spending an afternoon on the trampoline in Jensen Fieldhouse, with Carl Hutz, MSC gymnast as coach, she decided to change her future career from doctor to aeronaut.

There aren't many sad moments in her life, but Mary Lou cried when the team left for Purdue. She didn't want the boys to leave. Later, when Coach Clarence (Burgie) Munn was rummaging through his pockets to find a picture of his own little girl to show Mary Lou, he pulled out his lucky silver dollar.

"Mary Lou, this carried me through 28 winning games," he said. "It's yours, now."

She keeps the lucky dollar and a football autographed by Munn and his team in her "apartment," a tiny room where she keeps most of her collections, books and toys. A first grader at Red Cedar School, Mary Lou also takes tap dance and ballet lessons. She was also on the Block and Bride Club, "Little Queen" court this year.

Mary Lou attends West Shaw's formal dances and occasionally one of the boys will ask the Ramsays' permission to escort her to a dance. Mrs. Ramsay said.

A resident adviser in West Shaw, Ramsay is in charge of the student resident assistant program, student behavior and discipline.

Before coming to MSC three years ago, he received his master's degree at the University of Indiana and taught at Anderson College in Indiana. At present he is working on a doctorate in psychology.

Mrs. Ramsay was assistant dean of women at Sterling College in Kentucky and dramatic coach at Anderson College. She also acted as director of an Anderson College student troupe on summer tour.

College--Siesta Style

Estudiantes Go South for Study

By NANCY GOODGER State News Feature Editor

Nothing interferes with the Mexican "Siesta."

Ten students who exchanged MSC for MCC discovered that last term. Gary Frink, Rochester junior, one of the ten who went south of the border to Mexico City College, didn't even have to register when he arrived.

"Manana is time enough," the registrar told him. "Go home and take it easy."

This slow pace and easy living were predominant characteristics at MCC, the only American style liberal arts college in Latin America. Frink said that the students found that they didn't even worry about exams.

The ten MSC students arrived with more than 60 other Ohio and Michigan collegians the first week of winter term to take advantage of the Mexico study plan.

The plan, which fits only "quarter system" universities, was originated by an Ohio State professor in 1946.

Any graduate or undergraduate student may enroll for the plan, according to Dr. Stanley Howell, of the MSC language department. He also said that course credits could easily be transferred back to MSC, though the grades are not counted for points.

Tuition and incidental fees at MCC are $105. The cost of board and room ranges from $10 to $18 a week. The college is co-educational and specializes in Spanish and Latin American studies.

However, its curriculum also includes fine arts, anthropology, business and economics, education, English and speech, geography, history, journalism, mathematics, philosophy, political science, sociology and creative writing.

But the students didn't come across the Rio Grande just to study. Frink said that sight-seeing was also an important part of the MCC plan.

Activities included lectures, sports, parties, dances, informal mixers and tours. Trips took the students to Puebla, Veracruz, Taxco, Guernavaca, tourist havens and clear down to Acapulco. Bull-fights, bargaining in native markets, and seeing ancient Indian ruins were additional highlights for the students.

One of the biggest differences Frink saw between the U. S. and Mexico was in the dating and home life. The father's word is law and a first date with a senorita begins at 7 p.m. and ends at 8:30 p.m. He added that the Mexican family is very hospitable to American male students because they'd like their daughters to marry yankees.

The friendliness of MCC also impressed Frink. The classes are smaller and much more casual. He said that students and professors became great buddies.

With MCC's president, Dr. Paul Murray, Frink devised a special plan to bring down more collegians this summer. Dr. Murray and his wife are expected to speak at MSC about the plan at the end of this month.

Also in this year's group were

Mary Ann Ruhl, East Lansing junior; Lorraine Breitmeyer, Berkey junior; Nancy Mack, Saginaw junior; and Bill Spear, Highland Park sophomore, who, like the rest of the visiting students, were residents in a private Mexican home since the college has no dormitory facilities.

Others hoping to stay on the spring quarter are Neil Tate, Muskegon junior, and Pat Ward, St. Charles junior. Carol Chittenden, Marquette senior, and Marilyn Mae Innes, Huron sophomore, agree that the biggest problem in Mexico is "What to do next." Bob Pate, Wyandotte sophomore, says this problem by becoming intrigued with afro-cuban music that he took part in MCC's talent show, playing these rhythms on the drums.

Other quotas are five from East Lansing and four from married students.

The government will not allow more than one of these students to be elected president of the college.

Choresis, MSC's modern dance program, will present its annual dance program for two nights, starting May 14 at 8:15 p.m. at the Fairchild Auditorium.

A special feature, Choreographer's Workshop from the University of Michigan, will present the first night of the show.

Choresis has planned dances to appeal to every age group, including a fairy tale, "The Dragon," for children. Two of the dances have been composed by graduate student Janice Day of Salt Lake City, Utah, created a dance embodying conflicting forces, Gloria Dorson of Detroit has been dance-drama on Gerhaupt Hauptmann's play "The Weavers."

Both co-chairmen of the program, Nancy Eman, Grand Rapids senior, and Maria B. Lansing senior, are also choreographing dances in the show. Two of the numbers, "The Noble Duke of York" and "The Noster" by Stravinsky, will be accompanied by the MSC Musical group.

Audio-Visual Center To Hold Open House

By WALT OLEKSY

Faculty open house will be held today and Friday afternoons at the Audio-Visual Center.

Demonstrations, tours and refreshments will be offered to faculty members from 2 to 5 p.m. in Building A-3 on South Campus.

This is the first open house since the Center's inception nearly two years ago. In the fall of 1952, the audio-visual department was located in Quonset 95, a single, small projection room. There were no classes taught.

The open house introduces an array of facilities to supply the audio-visual needs of classrooms, business and social organizations, faculty and students.

Tape recorders and slide and motion picture projectors will be demonstrated, in addition to explanations of services and facilities available at the Center.

The Center's instructional program is being extended. Already available on campus are six courses in materials and methods of audio-visual instruction, local production and administration of audio-visual materials and research in instruction.

Dr. Charles F. Schuller, director of the Audio-Visual Center, said that studies have shown that the use of audio-visual materials results in improved acquisition, understanding, and retention of factual information.

"The use of audio-visual materials has proved so effective that teachers, speakers, and leaders in all types of human affairs are coming to use these materials as an important part of their programs," said Schuller.

Every Wednesday the Center previews showings of new movie shorts which are added to the 1700-title film library. The movies are shown from 3:30 to 5 p.m. in the Music Auditorium.

The Center also offers extensive service to students wishing to use visual aids for classroom assignments provided they have the approval of their instructor. Students in communication skills who wish to illustrate a classroom speech can seek help from Charles Norford, associate director of the Center.

Available to the student are slides, graphs, or even full-length films and the services of a projectionist, for which the student's department will be charged. This same service applies to

For Building No Longer Are There Lots of Lots

East Lansing has only 400 more city lots left for building purposes, John Patriarche, city manager, said.

Many of these lots are not immediately available because their owners are keeping them for future building or for speculation, Patriarche said.

He said this lack of building lots makes it difficult for fraternities and sororities to build, unless they are willing to buy improved lots.

If the city were to annex any property it would have to be east and north of East Lansing, since there is no room for expansion in any other direction, Patriarche said. However, residents affected by an annexation must petition for such a procedure, he explained.

Floral Exhibit Receives Award

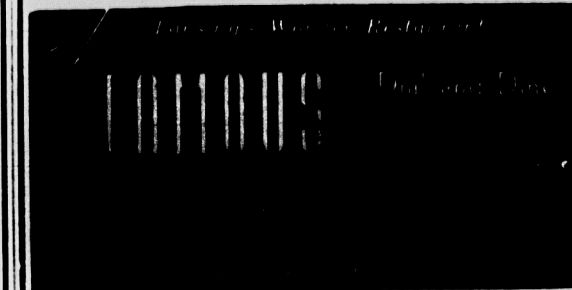

The Michigan Horticultural Society has presented a "Friendship Award of Merit" to Michigan State College in recognition of "an excellent exhibit at our flower show."

With the theme "Flowers on Parade" the display simulated a garden, which was designed and built by the students of the two-year course in nursery and landscape management. The instructor of the course is Harold Davidson. The flower show was held recently in Detroit.

Orioles End Tigers' Win Streak

DETROIT (AP)—Duane Pillette, a tall righthander, gave Baltimore a fancy going-home present Wednesday—a strong six-hit effort for a 3-2 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Officially, it was the first American League victory in 52 years for the Orioles, who return to Baltimore Thursday for a gala homecoming against the Chicago White Sox.

There were only 1,847 fans to witness Baltimore's first big league win since 1902, but they saw a powerful performance by Pillette.

bases-loaded threat by inducing rookie Frank Bolling to hit an inning-ending grounder.

By that time, however, the Orioles had given Pillette all the cushion he needed, raking Ray Herbert for their winning runs in the first inning.

The pitchers took control of an abbreviated major league program following Tuesday's opening day deluge of home runs.

The old reliable, Eddie Lopat, set the New York Yankees on the winning road again with a 2-1 victory over the Washington Senators.

It was the 13th straight for Lopat over his Washington "cousins" but he needed a pair of costly errors by Wayne Terwilliger to turn the trick.

The game was tied 1-1 when the Yankees came to bat in the ninth.

Then with one man out, Phil Rizzuto walked and Lopat topped a ball which Eddie Yost fielded at third and threw to Terwilliger for what looked like a sure double play. But Terwilliger dropped the ball.

A moment later Terwilliger let a soft pop by Hank Bauer slip through his fingers and Rizzuto scored from third with the winning run. It was a bad break for losing pitcher Johnny Schmitz.

Cleveland righthander Bob Lemon turned in a sparkling three-hitter to beat the Chicago White Sox, 6-3, Wednesday and send the Indians off winging in the American League race.

The victory gave the Indians a sweep of their two-game series with the Chicagoans and temporary lead of the league.

The effectiveness of the 33-year-old Lemon's pitching performance is not shown in the final score.

After giving up two runs in the first on a walk, a triple by Minnie Minsos and a roller to short, he faced no more than three men an inning from the second through the seventh. The third run came on a two-base error by Bill Glynn in the eighth. Jack Harshman, the loser, was banged from the mound in the fourth.

These were the only games scheduled in the American League. The Philadelphia Athletics and Boston Red Sox were idle.

In the only afternoon activity in the National League, lefty Curt Simmons pitched a shutout and led some good but support from Willie Jones to throttle the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-0.

Simmons gave up only four safeties. Jones, the Phillies' third baseman, moved up from seventh to the leadoff spot and contributed a two-run homer, a double and two singles in five appearances.

Cholen Mackawa, Michigan State boxer from Hawaii, is nicknamed "Pineapple."

Bob Hoke now has achieved about all the wrestling there are for him to cop. Wednesday the senior grappler was voted captain of the team he had led to a third in the Big 10 and a sixth in the nation.

Veterans To Pace Golfers

Spartan golfers are again groing their swings for another season which opens for them this Friday against Western Michigan at Kalamazoo.

Under the new system each men's living unit plus the combination players living off campus will constitute the teams. Team managers are: Santiago Cabal, Snyder-Phillips; Art Southan, Shaw Hall, and Walt Pattee, off campus teams.

Returning from last year's tenth place squad are lettermen Bill Albright, Birmingham senior, Dave Mascour, Grand Bank senior, and Harold Ware, Mason senior.

Other bright spots in the lineup include a trio of low scorers who graduated to the varsity this season: They are sophomores Kenny Rodewald, a consistent 70 shooter from Ft. Wayne who will drive from the number two spot this season and Dave Humes, a homegrown ace from Lansing who carried a 77 in the first round playoffs this week.

Re-elected officers of the Spartan Soccer Club are Emory Geisz, president, Dave Walters, vice president, and Santiago Cabal, secretary.

Gene Woodling of the New York Yankees made only one error in 247 chances during 1953. His 396 mark tied him with Sam Mele of the White Sox as the best defensive outfielder in the American League.

Outfielder Gus Bell of the Redlegs works with the team's ticket department during the winter.

Bucks Twenty

Depending upon the placement of the other teams in the Big 10, the Buckeyes appear to have a good chance to better their fourth place finish of last year.

Coach Woody Hayes has 28 wins returning, and a 1-1 record in his first game as head coach to supplement the 1953 record.

Although he was hampered by a tough time winning, Jim Sinadinos and Ed Casalicchio were close behind him. Hoke has 41 points, Sinadinos 39 and Casalicchio 38.

The close race results in a lack of fall points on Hoke's record. The big senior scored one pin all year, that being the national championship.

At the end of the dual season Casalicchio was leading the trophy race, with Sinadinos second and Hoke third.

Casalicchio failed to score in two post-season tournaments, but the other two did very well. He was second in the conference and third in the NCAA.

There was only one reason Sinadinos didn't win the trophy: his name is Snip Nails. U of M captain beat Sinadinos three times this year, by a wide edge him out of the top three crowns.

Freshmen who are expected to lead considerable amount of talent to the Ohio State camp are Jim Wassmund and Jim Whinnery.

Wolves Beat U of D, 6-1 ANN ARBOR, (AP)—The University of Michigan, scoring on three walks and five hits, handed the University of Detroit a 6-1 thumping Wednesday night.

DETROIT (AP)—John Mintz, Detroit heavyweight boxer, reported improving Tuesday after a severe concussion he received in a Monday night fight.

His doctor Joseph Cahal said at first he thought was a brain hemorrhage but was apparently a severe concussion. Mintz is alert and talks on conversation.

Bucks Look for Ends, Fullbacks; Twenty-Eight Veterans Return

By CHUCK MILLER
State News Sports Editor

Depending upon the improvement of the other teams in the Big 10, the Buckeyes of Ohio State appear to have a good chance to better their fourth place finish of last year. Coach Woody Hayes has 28 letter-winners returning, and a host of good men up from last fall's team to supplement the veterans.

The only questionable positions are at ends and fullback, where experience is very shallow.

Although freshmen replacements are noticeably thin in the line, line coaches Lyle Clark and Harry Strobel have good material to work with from last year's squad.

Quarterback Dick Brubaker, who spent 26 minutes of playing time last year, will man one end. Although not a flashy passer, Brubaker is listed as one of the best defensive ends in the Big 10.

Dean Dugger, hampered by a knee injury last year, is the leading candidate for the opposite end.

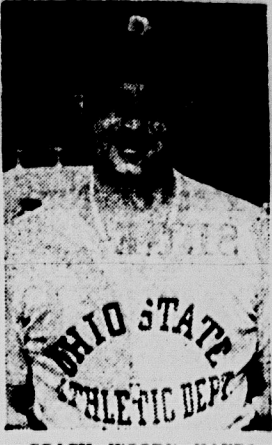

At tackle, there appears to be a good match replacement. Although not a tackle, there appears to be a good match replacement.

At tackle, the situation is much brighter with five letter-men returning. Francis Machuga, Dick Hillinski, Don Steer, and Don Swartz and Bob Weststone lead the tackle candidates and are all experienced. Aurelius Thomas and Bill Cummings are two top tackle up from the freshman squad.

Although there is strength in the line, the lack of speed is apparent in the backfield.

Quarterback John Barton, getting into his fourth year of college, leads a group of veteran guards and two sophomores. Jerry Williams, one of the Buckeyes' most improved players last year, Dave Weaver and Ray Hinton will be around back in Reichenbach.

Freshmen who are expected to lead considerable amount of talent to the Ohio State camp are Jim Wassmund and Bob Whinnery.

COACH WOODY HAYES

Ken Vargo and Jerry Krisher are back at center. Vargo has a slight edge over Krisher, a fine offensive center, by virtue of his better defensive play.

Hayes lists his biggest problems to overcome as improving team defense, especially in the line, lack of team speed, re-establishing a strong passing game and developing a punter and kickoff man.

To offset these problems, Hayes is blessed with a fine backfield, with the exception of fullback, where two freshmen, Don Vick or Lee Nussbaum are expected to get the starting nod come next fall.

From there on, Ohio State appears to have one of the best backfields in the conference.

At the halves, Howard (Horseloni) Cassidy and Bob Watkins are back.

Cassidy, a great clutch runner, averaged 5.9 yards per carry last fall, while Watkins was the leading ground gainer with 875 yards and ten touchdowns.

DEAN DUGGER

Letter-winner Bill Booth, and freshman Andy Okulovich will provide the much needed depth.

Behind Cassidy at left half are lettermen Jerry Harkrader and Carroll Howell, and a fine freshman prospect, Jim Roseboro.

Three freshmen, Hubert Bobo, Fred Kriss and Ken Thompson will battle for the second-string right half position.

Quarterback John Barton, who suffered a costly ankle injury last year, is fully recovered and will team with veteran Dave Leggett to supply excellent quarterback material for Hayes.

For MSC Opener Wayne University Announces Lineup

The Spartans got a closer look into the rather nebulous Wayne University baseball picture Thursday, when Wayne coach Joseph E. Truskowski released his starting line-ups for Saturday's Spartan-Tartar season's opener at Old College Field.

At the same time, Spartan Coach John Kobs indicated he wouldn't divulge his list of starters until game time.

Four Wayne sophomores: Donald Halverson, John Galeas, Ed Williams and Dick Gogolevski, were listed as having won first-team berths at centerfield, third base, second base and catcher, respectively.

Shortstop Wally Banks, who last year led Wayne's hitters with a .274 average, heads the list of four returning lettermen.

On last year's Wayne club, which recorded four wins in 17 games, Ortiz led in triples, with two. Kuzmar batted .166, and Brown hit .063 for five games.

Bob Pershing is the only pitcher to return to the squad this season. Last year, he was the Tartar's workhorse, pitching 510 innings. In that span, he talked one win against seven defeats.

The Spartans drubbed Wayne 15 to 0 last year. In 17 contests with the Tartars since 1942, Michigan State has a 16-1 edge.

Wayne took the Spartans 8 to 7 in 1948. The worst defeat Wayne suffered at the hands of a Michigan State squad came in 1951, when the final score read MSC 15 Wayne 1.

Al Ferrari and Rocky Avon, Michigan State varsity basketball players, were high school teammates at Boy's High, Brookline.

Two Commencements

Recital Culminates Study for Musicians

Senior music majors are probably the only students who go through two graduation exercises.

The senior recital required of all applied music majors is comparable to a commencement exercise with cap, gown and all the trimmings, according to Dr. Roy Underwood, head of the department of music.

All majors, both instrumental and voice, who plan to perform professionally or teach college music or private lessons, study four years for this one performance, Underwood said.

It is not required of a music education major, although he may give one, with the approval of the department.

Given for the benefit of friends, relatives and neighbors, a good attendance at the recital is considered to be 200 people or more.

"Rarely does anything go wrong because a student has at least one term to think about the recital," Underwood said.

He added that the most embarrassing moment he can remember was when the hem of a coat's dress slipped beneath her feet and got caught in the piano pedals. She had to stop the piece many times to adjust the dress.

"Many mishaps are prevented if a student practices his numbers in the clothes he plans to wear at the recital," Underwood added.

Each recital is an hour long.

and must be memorized by the students.

Students sometimes get nervous before a recital, but most of them have sung or played at a public gathering before. Underwood pointed out.

Six recitals are scheduled for this term.

Republicans Hear Ohio Legislator Speak at Meeting

Ted Gray, youngest member ever to take a seat in the Ohio Senate, spoke to the Young Republican Club last Thursday.

Senator Gray urged the young Republicans that "they as a group can be very influential in the forthcoming elections."

Representatives also were chosen to attend the Young Republican Party Convention to be held April 26 at the University of Michigan. Members attending the convention will discuss various political issues.

At the next meeting April 22 club members will make definite plans concerning the state Young Republican convention to be held in Bay City, May 7 and 8.

International Festivities Open May 8

Booths to Feature Foreign Displays

The 10th annual International Festival will be the first event celebrating International Week to be observed on campus May 8 to 14.

Booths displaying national products and handicraft at the Festival will represent 54 countries. The Festival will be an all day event held in Demonstration Hall on May 8. Some 300 foreign students will take part in the program.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, (D-Ark.) will speak at a convention on foreign relations May 9. The Fulbright Act, which sends U. S. students on foreign study projects, was sponsored by the senator.

Other programs for the week include an international religious service in the Alumni Memorial Chapel on May 9, the Cosmopolitan Ball on May 14, and various panels, lectures and discussions on international problems.

Touring groups of school children will visit the Festival during the day. In the evening the foreign students will stage folk dances and songs at certain intervals.

International Week is being sponsored by the student government. The Festival is being sponsored by the International Center.

School Bus Convo Draws Educators

Representatives from 40 of the 48 state departments of education are meeting this week with school bus manufacturers at Kellogg Center for the National Conference on School Transportation.

The meeting's purpose is to talk over standards and improvements of bus design, adoption of uniform traffic laws, training of bus drivers, and other transportation problems.

Wayne O. Reed, assistant U. S. Commissioner of Education, and J. O. Mattison, president of the Automotive Safety Foundation, spoke at the opening meeting Monday. Dr. M. R. Traub, dean of Pennsylvania State University's College of Education, is presiding over the 150 delegates.

Services Announced For Easter

Dr. David Dickson, a visiting professor of English, will speak on "Easter, and Christian Hope" at the Easter vesper service at Alumni Memorial Chapel Sunday at 8 p.m.

The scripture for the non-denominational service, sponsored by the Student Council, will be read by Howard James, Birmingham Freshman.

"The Lord's Prayer" will be sung by Yvonne Jackson, Lansing sophomore. The Phi Delta Theta sixteen-voice glee club will also participate in the candlelight service with resolution Delongoth to "The Good" Earl Cole, Lansing special student, will be the organist.

Andy Feller, Green Bay, Wis., is chairman of the committee planning the service. He is assisted by Charles Benformation Services for press distribution.

(Continued from Page 1) make no public comment on the case. Bush was closely associated with Oppenheimer in development of the original atomic bomb. Oppenheimer said in a 43-page reply to the charges against him—made public Tuesday—that he called Bush's attention in 1942 to the possibility of setting off an H-bomb with the kind of atomic bomb they then were trying to build.

Oppenheimer also told the commission that while he opposed on technical grounds an all-out effort to build an H-bomb in 1949, he dropped his objections and got to work as soon as ex-President Truman ordered work on the bomb started in January, 1946.

President Eisenhower has ordered all secret data withheld from Oppenheimer. As a result, the AEC has suspended him as one of the nation's foremost atomic consultants pending completion of the security check.

This investigation is being made in secret by a special three-member panel headed by Gen. Gray, former secretary of the Army and now president of the University of North Carolina. The panel met Wednesday for the second time.

Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (Wis.) has said he has affidavits purporting to name Oppenheimer as a former member of the Communist party. Oppenheimer denied he ever was a Communist while acknowledging an "emotional" plunge into left wing politics about the time of the Spanish Civil War.
