Army Paraders Excused Six ROTC Units Win

Army ROTC companies have been excused from next week's parade for getting off the right foot in initial drills Tuesday.

The announced excusing of ROTC units Tuesday by Col. Dean Stoppel, came after military officials termed the ROTC units' performance on the parade grounds for formation and the usual "bugs" exercises as "buggy" and "off-beat." Stoppel said that ROTC units were "impaired" in their performance and that the ROTC units were "excused" to one company in every battalion.

Bugs, Cars

By JACKIE OLDHAM
Warning spraying operations "leave at your own risk" with the above warning posted to mark off spraying areas, according to Dr. D. Ferris, grounds department superintendent.

Dr. Ferris said that insecticide sprays are being used to prevent the spread of insects on the campus. The spraying is being done on trees, shrubs, and lawns.

More Than 100,000 Orphan Bugs Get Caretaker

By DEBBY MALL
Thousands of bugs and no one to care for them.

This was a recent predicament at Michigan State College until Dr. Roland Fischer, an assistant professor of entomology, was appointed curator of the college's collection of more than 100,000 insects.

Dr. Fischer is the first to be appointed curator of MSC's collection, which is now recognized among the finest in the United States.

Slickers Needed Spartan Spirits Dampened by More Rain Fall

Mud-puddles and earthworms may again hinder Spartan strollers as more of the same damp weather is predicted. Thunder storms and occasional showers will be scattered throughout the day.

Today should be somewhat warmer however with the mercury climbing to 64 degrees, seven degrees more than Tuesday's.

MSC Mother' Recalls Former Dorm Activities

By JOAN LUTTENBERGER
How would you like to begin a date by chasing bats? It isn't very common any more but according to Mrs. Gilhooley, Mason Hall housemother, men waiting for dates in the Women's Building (now Morrill Hall) often had to chase bats out of the living room with brooms.

This was only one of the humorous incidents that has marked Mrs. Gilhooley's 25 years serving as a "mother away from mother" for MSC coeds. She has been a housemother longer than any other woman on campus.

Recalling her "daughters" of many years, Mrs. Gilhooley feels that coeds of past years worked more closely together than they do now.

"Dorm spirit was very high among previous classes," she said. "But times have changed and larger dormitories and many more

Publicity Chairmen

All co-op, dormitory, sorority, fraternity and religious unit publicity chairmen are asked to meet with the State News living units page staff at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Union Tower Room. The purpose of the meeting is to arrange for coverage of all living unit events.

Weeks Set for Conferences

The largest regional conference in Delta Chi fraternity history will take place weekend at MSC.

Fraternity will play host to delegates and 50 alumni representatives in the Union Tower Room.

Publicity problems including a "What is a Fraternity" will be held. Plans will be made for the international convention at Bloomington, Minn., this summer.

Delta Phi will celebrate its 25th anniversary with a luncheon at the Union, which will be followed by officers' speeches and singing.

Delta Gamma chapter will host Pi Phi from Hillsdale on Saturday.

Delta Omegas will celebrate their 50th anniversary in the Union. The celebration will be Alpha Gamma Omegas and Bowling Green University.

Delta Phi will observe its 25th anniversary at Albion. The celebration will include a luncheon, a dance and an open house.

This Is Living

By JEAN GREGORY

Our topic of the day seems to be housemothers, so I'd like to throw in a few observations of my own concerning all housemothers, advisers and hostesses in general.

First of all, the life of someone who accepts responsibility for 500 to 700 college students is no bed of roses. Even the 15 or 20 students in co-ops or the 30 to 40 in sororities and fraternities are far from easy to manage.

Advisers and housemothers have to hear complaints about radiators, squeaky doors and noisy alarm clocks.

They are also expected to advise the lovelorn, see that illnesses are properly taken care of, settle roommate squabbles and remedy cases of homesickness.

Their job is one long attempt to please everybody. They have to answer to the administration, to parents, and to students. That's a difficult combination in any situation.

Hostesses, housemothers and advisers did not make the rules that apply to college living units but they were hired to enforce them.

Each one of them was chosen on the basis of personality and amount of experience dealing with young people. If they had been the type who enjoy cracking the whip, they never would have been hired.

Just remember all this the next time you get a late minute or are reprimanded for putting your feet on the furniture.

Sigma Kappa to Hold Fund-Raising Project

Sigma Kappa actives and pledges will hold a fund-raising work day Saturday. The sorority plans to wash windows, cars, clean houses, rake lawns, and do other odd jobs in the Lansing and East Lansing area. The proceeds from the work day will be used to send a girl to Girl Scout camp this summer.

Michigan's tourist industry is one of the state's leading sources of revenue with upwards of $500 million spent annually by vacationists.

Social Circuit

Recent engagements of Kappa Kappa Gamma are: Dorothy Samson, Traverse City senior to the Highland Park, Ill., junior to Bob Overholt, U of M senior from East Lansing, Ill., Williams College graduate and Alpha Delta Phi member to Dean Talbot, East senior and Phi Delta Theta, and Chuck Swartz, Birmingham graduate and Phi Delta Theta, and Joan Rexford, Grand Rapids senior to Bob Hays, Grand Rapids senior and Phi Delta Theta, and Paul Foster, East Lansing senior and Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Tau Sigma Elects Officers for Group

New officers of Tau Sigma, honorary of the School of Science and Arts and the School of Business and Public Service, were elected April 15 at a meeting in the Union.

... May We Quote

A journalism instructor, explaining to a Snyder resident how to fill out a seating chart, pulled this slip:

"The windows are on your left, in the rear and on your right are the walls,—and in front of you there is a square."

... Never Say Die

Two East Mayo coeds didn't let lack of a car prevent them from attending a local drive-in movie the other night. They cruised in on their bicycles.

... No Mail

A harassed operator at the East Shaw desk posted this message because students were interrupting his work with requests for mail:

"If you do not see any mail in your box, it is probably because of one of the following:

1. The mail is not in yet.
2. The mail has not been sorted yet.
3. Your roommate picked it up.
4. You're off someone's surfer list.
5. You forgot to write home.
6. Your bills are all paid up.
7. She doesn't love you any more."

... Youth Speaks

When an East Landon student teacher asked her class to draw a scene from the Bible, one little boy depicted an old man in a beard driving a car with a young couple as passengers. "God driving Adam and Eve out of the Garden of Eden," he explained.

Boilermakers Counting on Sophomores As Purdue Readies for Tough Season

Holcomb's Improved Grid Squad

By CHUCK MILLER
State News Sports Editor

The Boilermakers will rely heavily on sophomores to improve their eighth place conference ranking and set a new record. Boilermakers can count on the return of 21 members of last year's team, including 20 major contributors. Coach Stu Holcomb said:

ED NEVES

TOM BETTIS
... All-American candidate ...

JOHN KERR
Purdue Co-Captain ...

A great deal will depend on whether sophomores can live up to the overall squad goal. If the youngsters can get adequate support for holdover lettermen, we will have our difficulties well in hand.

ason, both of whom rank considerably more poundage. At fullback, where Holcomb has the most returnees, four major lettermen are available for the spot vacated by Schmaling and Pobjowski. Bill Murakowski, Phil Ehrman, Jerry Jensen, and Jim Reichert are battling for the starting assignment, with Murakowski, apparently recovered from injuries that kept him on the bench a good share of last year, looking like the top prospect.

A junior tackle combination of letterwinners Joe Krupa and Frank Paparazzo is one of the bright spots in the Boilermaker line. The 232-pound Krupa and the fast-charging Paparazzo will be backed up by the only other returning letterman at the tackle position, senior Frank Angelotti. With three major and five minor lettermen returning, Purdue should be particularly rugged at guard.

Bettis was the "iron-man" of last year's squad, averaging slightly better than 51 minutes per game and was regarded as the best linebacker in the league by many critics. Bettis, a leading candidate for All-American honor, is a brilliant offensive blocker along with his fine defensive ability. Other members of the veteran guard group include lettermen Dick Skibinski and Walter Houston and minor award winners Russ Addison, Charley Anders, Tom Maloney and Pete Miller.

Heading the list is Tom Bettis, an All-Conference choice and the "most valuable Boilermaker."

Along the 'Sports Trail'

The Boilermakers open with an interconference "breath-er" Notre Dame, Duke, the Atlantic Coast co-champ, and South runnerup for Big Ten honors.

At left half senior letterman Brock who despite his comparatively small size has an equally effective both offensively and defensively, is expected to get the starting job. Three lettermen will back up—Ed Zembal, Jim Peters and George Hahn.

Neves, the 5' 6" mighty miler, who gave the Boilermakers a strong lead last year is being replaced by the other half, Neves, a letterman who is a terrific punter as well as a driving force in the team in rushing with a 4.45 average. Sophomores will back him up—Bill Setzings and John Kar-

With the prospects of a good year, the Boilermakers are confident that the Spartans are in for a disappointing game Oct. 26.

It's too bad that AAU can't arrange to bring together Santee and Landy. As it is, their competition is something like a telegraph between rifle teams.

Long-Hit Arguments Flare Anew

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle hits the centerfield wall 470 feet from home plate at Yankee Stadium. Duke Snider's blow bounces off the railing in the upper stand, 393 feet away, at Ebbets Field. Willie Mays punches the ball into the upper left-center stand at the Polo Grounds, well past the 400-foot mark. All of which means long hits aren't just long hits any more, they're foot races to determine how the long shots compare with Mantle's prodigious wallop at Washington a year ago. That ball was estimated to have traveled 565 feet, give or take an inch.

It won't be long now before we get the annual accusation that the ball has been hopped up, and if it isn't hot rabbit at least has been dipped in a rabbit stew. We have in on good authority that the ball is the same ball that was used all along. It could be that we have more young men who can hit the long ball today. The young fellows are bigger than their dads—that's all.

It may never happen, but it would seem that the best chance of auring a four-minute mile would be to bring together two athletes from opposite sides of the globe—Wes Santee of Kansas and John Landy of Australia. Anyone can run faster than he thinks he can, if he knows someone is chasing him. It is taken for granted that if such a meeting did come about each man would run his own race and not try to figure out what the other fellow was planning to do. That happened some years ago, we believe, at the Penn Relays, when a star-studded field headed by the great Glenn Cunningham practically walked around in schoolboy

Hurdlers Undefeated Fifteen Spartans Set for Drake Meet

Michigan State will send a 15-man track squad to the 15th annual Drake Relays scheduled for Friday and Saturday at Des Moines.

Coach Karl Schlademar will enter runners in the sprint medley, half-mile, mile, two-mile and shuttle hurdle relays. In addition, the Spartans will have individual entries in the high jump and the 100-yard dash. Of the relay entries, the 450-yard shuttle hurdle and the two-mile team, stuck up as the strongest for the Spartans. The hurdle unit has the season while the two-mile team has turned in several fine performances.

The hurdle unit will be made up of Ray Eggleston, Harlan Benjamin, Joe Savoldi and John Corbelli. Eggleston is running with the team for the first time, replacing Henry Gillis who has an injured leg.

The Spartans were second in the event at Drake last year and were first at the Michigan AAU and Michigan State Relays this year. In the two-mile, Schlademar will send Dale Garza, Dave Hoke, Tom Jarrett and John Cook. At Drake a year ago the team was second in the event, won by Illinois in 7:40.4. Already this year, State has done 7:32.8.

For the half-mile relay, the Spartans will have Art Ingram, Julius McCoy, Lou Vargha and Ed Brabham, and in the mile relay, they'll send Hoke, Cook, Vargha and Kevan Geoper.

The sprint medley team will have Geoper leading the leadoff quarter-mile with Vargha and M. Cox running the middle 220-yard dash, and Jarrett will do the quarter mile.

With the prospects of a good year, the Boilermakers are confident that the Spartans are in for a disappointing game Oct. 26.

Eleven Walks Help Wolves Beat Tartars

DETROIT (AP)—Michigan, working to improve its record, and 11 walks, the overpower Wayne Five Wolves, edged the Tartars, 5-4, Wednesday.

Michigan got together a double, single and pair of walks for four runs in the third inning. The Wolverines added another run in the fifth on an error and pair of walks. Then in the sixth, they scored four more runs on two double plays and two walks. The walks and a double tieded two more runs in the seventh.

Single Robs Alex Kellner Of No-Hitter; A's Win

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wayne Terwilliger's single with two out in the eighth inning deprived Alex Kellner of a no-hitter Tuesday night as the Philadelphia Athletics' lefthander defeated Washington 7-0. Kellner, who struck out six and walked three, retired 15 batters in order before Terwilliger rammed his single through the box into centerfield for the Senators' lone hit. Terwilliger was forced by pinch-hitter Clyde Volmer, and Kellner retired the Senators in order in the ninth.

Terwilliger, a .235 hitter, ruined Kellner's bid to become the first pitcher to hurl a no-hitter at Griffith Stadium since Bobby Burke of the Senators achieved the feat against the Boston Red Sox August 8, 1931. Vic Power led the Athletics' 11-hit attack on Chuck Stobbs, Sonny Dixon and Dean Stone. His two doubles in the first two innings shot the A's into a 4-0

1954 Wolverine Rolling Off Presses

By JAN BRUNVAND

A shabby-looking pile of 568 pages pasted full of photos and scribbled with identifying numbers stands on Wolverine Editor Quentin Stultz's desk—the first complete version of the 1954 MSC yearbook.

Dog-eared from months of handling and sorting, the pile is about four or five inches high and a far cry

First topics, those to 125 staff members who have earned free books, will be distributed May 20 at the annual publications banquet.

Two 16-page sections, or "signatures," of the book were printed in January and, starting last Friday, the rest began to roll off the presses at the rate of 10 more a week. In four weeks the last page will have been printed, from the neat and shiny new Wolverine that students will be receiving late next month.

The story behind the press run started last October when the first group pictures were taken. Since then four different concerns, three of them out of state, have worked with the campus staff to produce the Wolverine.

Group pictures and senior portraits were taken by a New York studio which also handled similar assignments for five other Big 10 schools.

While the photographs were being taken, artists from an engraving company in Indianapolis worked on page designs based on the page schedules prepared by students.

When rough sketches or "thumbnails" of every page were approved, a full size dummy was made of the whole book and shipped back to East Lansing.

Proofs of photographs from the engraved plates were pasted in their proper places as they returned from Indianapolis. Gradually and quietly the dummy grew thicker as proofs were added, and finally on April 2 it was finished.

Meanwhile Wolverine copy writers were busy polishing their work and, as proofs returned, the typed-copy, proof numbers, and tissue-paper blueprints of the pages were sent to the printers in Lansing.

A careful record of completed pages was made as the page proofs returned for checking. Every time a 16-page series was done a final proof was approved and printed up in volume.

The S. K. Smith Company of Chicago prepared the covers and when they are shipped to Lansing for binding the Wolverine is assembled in its final form.

How to get in on all this and win a free copy? It's very simple, just work 60 hours, or sell 60 books. Or, if you work 100 hours, you'll find a copy with your name engraved on the cover in gold at your place at the banquet.

One of the Midwest's last stands of virgin white pine timber is near Grayling, Michigan in the Harwick Pines State Park.

Senators Set Hearing Rules

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy charged Tuesday an Army report blasting him and his chief aides was investigated by a high Pentagon official trying to dodge investigation "for misconduct and possibly for law violations."

The official, Asst. Secretary of Defense H. Struve Hensel, retorted: "Bare-faced lies."

McCarthy hurled the accusation as investigating senators reached final agreement on "ground rules" for public, televised hearings opening Thursday in McCarthy's bitter row with Army officials.

The gist of the agreement: McCarthy will step off the Senate Investigations subcommittee during the hearings. Sen. Dworshak (R-Ia) will sit in for him. But McCarthy and his Army antagonists will have—as McCarthy has insisted all along—the right to cross-examine witnesses.

Dance Scheduled By Faculty Club

"Polka Dots and Moonbeams" will be the theme of a State College Club dance to be held in Union Hall, A, B, and C, Thursday at 8:30 p.m.

Women attending the dance will receive hats as favors, and the men will get polka dot paper ties. Nate Fry and his orchestra will provide the music for the annual dance.

Members of the State College Club, a faculty organization, and their guests are invited, according to Jim Nielson, dance chairman. Tickets may be purchased from members of the dance committee.

Music Professor Writes Textbooks On Health Topics

Dr. H. O. Reed, MSC professor of music recently had two books in music theory published for use as textbooks. They are "Basic Music Textbook" and "Basic Music Workbook."

The first is described as "providing skills for more advanced musical study," the second, a "defatted workbook" to be used with the first.

The publisher of the books commented that the workbook takes the drudgery out of assignment correction.

Will It Rain?

Bureau Gives Weather Six Times Daily

But—you didn't say it would rain today. Among the many things a weatherman has to cope with at work is the continuous calls from people complaining about the preceding weather forecast.

The East Lansing Weather Bureau receives 50 to 75 calls daily from people registering complaints and asking about weather conditions all over the United States.

The Bureau bases its weather reports for this area from a forecast in Chicago. The East Lansing forecast is taken every six hours and broadcasted by radio.

The Bureau also keeps in contact with different points around the country, provides a 30-day forecast for farmers every two weeks, and collects and distributes weather conditions for the entire state.

Records of the temperatures are kept at the Capitol City Airport. Weather observations are done there, also.

In 1910 the East Lansing Bureau started as a regular full-time weather bureau. Before that weather reports were taken three times daily by Professor Kedzie of the chemistry department. Kedzie began taking reports in 1864 and continued the task for 38 years.

The Bureau is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, serving the area with up-to-date weather information.

A new idea in variety shows, the "Mambo Rumba Festival," will fill the Auditorium with Latin American rhythms April 27 at 8:30 p.m.

Tickets for the program of music, songs and dances are on sale at the Union Ticket Office. Recordings by the show's featured artists will be heard on local radio stations next week, according to a Lecture-Concert Series spokesman. The festival appears as a special number on the series.

Five bongo drums will be featured with the orchestra of Tito Puente. Candido, who last appeared at MSC with Stan Kenton's "Festival of Modern American Jazz," will be the featured bongo-player.

Cuban Gilberto Valdes is the scorer, arranger and director of the south-of-the-border package show. Mambo music and beat will be played by the Joe Loco Quintet.

Emcee for the festival is Pupi Campo. Miguellio (Mr. Babala) Valdes, Myrta Silva and Mercedes Valdes are vocal headliners on the program. Guitarist Arnelio Rodriguez also will appear.

The Sevilla Fort dancers and champion Cuban mambo and rumba dance teams will round out the two and a half hour show. Performances of the "Mambo Rumba Festival" in New York's Carnegie Hall in March were greeted by capacity audiences.

'Til End of Term X-Ray Service For Seniors, Sophs at Center

A chest X-ray service will be available to sophomores and seniors at the Health Center.

The service, part of a tuberculosis survey, is designed to recognize any lung disease.

Available to students each week day from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. the X-ray service is expected to continue to the end of spring term, according to Dr. C. G. Menzies, health service director.

Kellogg Center Filled for May Parents' Day

Parents of MSC students who are planning to attend Parents' Day activities here in May will have to find off-campus lodging—Kellogg Center's 193 rooms are sold out.

Manager W. S. Garrison said room reservations for Friday and Saturday night, May 7 and 8, have not been available since the start of spring term.

The Center is also solidly booked for commencement, June 5. Last reservations for graduation weekend were taken in January.

The Parents' Day room requests, first received last October, are still coming in, Garrison said. Employees of Kellogg's reservation office, in turning down the requests, are enclosing lists of hotels, motels and other lodging in the East Lansing area.

Deadline Nears For Freshman Writing Contest

A contest to encourage good writing by freshmen is being sponsored by the Communication Skills Department in cooperation with the Spartan magazine. The two or three best selection will be printed in the "Impressions" section of the Spartan May issue. Deadline for all material is 5 p.m. Monday.

Any freshman may submit as many manuscripts as he chooses to his present teacher in Communication Skills. If he is not taking a course in this department, he may leave them with Comm Skills Assistant Professor Benjamin Hlekok, room 61, building A-6.

Poetry is the only type of writing which is not acceptable. Manuscripts may consist of any type of fiction or non-fiction; essays, short stories, descriptive pieces, or one-act plays. The material doesn't have to be humorous.

All manuscripts should follow the instructions for manuscript form given in the 1953 Communication Skills Syllabus under "Forms for Writing."

The State News advertising staff will meet at 8:30 tonight in the Union Board room on the second floor.

AWS Board Elects New Secretary, Treasurer

AWS Judiciary Board elected Fran Gable, Ludington freshman, secretary and Marilyn Brink, Holland junior, treasurer. The Activities Board will also hold elections for secretary and treasurer at Tuesday meeting.

City Council To Pave Alley

East Lansing City Council passed a resolution Monday night to pave Grand River alley from Division to Haslett. Residential and business property owners attended the meeting to voice their opinion on the need and type of pavement to be used.

The paving will cost approximately $8,267.85 of which $5,221.15 will be raised by special assessment with the city paying the remainder, according to John Patriarche, city manager. One-way traffic will be allowed in the alley though the direction has not been decided.

The Council set a tentative date for the assessment hearing on May 17. Engineering Council of MSC was granted permission to put signs on East Lansing lamp posts advertising the Exposition to be held May 8 and 9.

The Council also granted the Army and Air Force ROTC request to parade in East Lansing on Armed Forces Day, May 13. A resolution was passed in memory of the late Miss Alma Huggins, former East Lansing librarian for the past 10 years.

Films to Feature Swiss Sports

A colored film on summer winter sports in Switzerland will be shown at 7:30 tonight at the Union.

E. Gordon Spencer, head of English department and director at Zuz College in Switzerland, will present the 45-minute film program. Spencer's program is part of six-week good will tour of United States and Canada. A graduate of Oxford University, Spencer helped in the organization of the Olympic games.
