The spy confession of Daphne Price, former University of Michigan coed, was termed "a stunt" by Rep. Kit Clardy today.

The coed's action supposedly was influenced by student Edward H. Shaffer, the victim of her spying, according to Clardy, chairman of the House Un-American Activities subcommittee.

Moody Reveals Candidacy

Moody Detroit Daily for 1956

DETROIT (AP)—Ex-Sen. Moody announced today he is a candidate for Democratic ticket for U. S. Senate from Michigan. He also disclosed that he will publish a new daily paper in Detroit by 1956.

Moody, who succeeded the late Arthur H. Vandenberg by appointment in 1951, only to lose a year later in the election, said he will bid for Democratic nomination in 1956 primary.

Moody, publisher of several weekly newspapers, is the second Democrat to announce his candidacy for the new seat held by Sen. Homer Ferguson, Michigan's senior senator and head of the Republican Policy Committee.

Moody V. McNamara, Detroit board member and former councilman, announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination last week. Moody told a conference that the senatorial election in Michigan was the most important national election in the United States in Moody, 52, retired as a Washington staff writer for the Detroit Free Press to accept the 1951 senatorial appointment by Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Moody filed out most of Vandenberg's unexpired term and defeated by Rep. Charles McNamara in his 1952 bid for a full term.

Moody's defeat, Moody formally announced which purchase of the Michigan Rotary Press of Detroit. It publishes a weekly newspaper and a general printing business.

Moody said the syndicate originally planned to begin publishing a paper by this September but delayed its plans to offset the newspaper argument of the Michigan campaign.

Moody said no decision had been reached on whether the paper would be a morning or evening paper.

Ex-Roommate Describes U of M 'Spy'

EDITOR'S NOTE: Elsie Marshall, Allen Junior, named with Daphne Price—the self-admitted "FBI spy"—at the University of Michigan's Alice Lloyd Hall during the first semester of the 1951-52 school year. Miss Marshall, a 19-year-old journalism major, transferred to MSC after her freshman year. Following are her impressions of the controversial "coed informer."

Much to my surprise I find that my ex-roommate Daphne Price is a self-admitted spy for the FBI. We were roommates in the fall of 1951.

Daphne and I were paired together in the room mainly because we were both 16 and both planning on majoring in journalism.

Daphne graduated from Ann Arbor University High School, where she worked on the literary magazine, writing poems and short stories. During the time I knew her, she was writing short stories which a critic friend in New York City inspected and criticized for her.

She was short, about 5'11", I would say, and had dark hair and blue eyes. Her hair was long and tended to be naturally curly, and her eyes were large and very blue.

She was born in Canada and lived for a while in Mexico. She has a younger brother and sister.

Daphne was a serious student, but also liked to go to dances and parties, as well as to play tennis and to attend foreign movies. She particularly loved animals, especially horses, dogs and cats.

She and her parents lived on a small farm near Whitmore Lake where they had a horse and other animals.

Her parents quite often had members and friends of the International Center out to their home for Sunday and holiday dinners. I visited at her home once.

Daphne was a person who was always on the go, but who also found time to do her assignments and to work in the dorm kitchen for extra money.

She once told me that when she reached the age of 21 she would have the choice of becoming either an American or Canadian citizen. At that time I don't think she had really decided which she wanted.

That she could be a publicity-seeking person is a little difficult for me to understand. There was perhaps a phase of her personality that would lead her to seek publicity, but I don't believe she would have made up this story just for publicity.

She was an intelligent person who would, I believe, think carefully and fully before leaping into anything.

Her statement that she has been in ill health for many years is, I believe, quite true.

She was creatively inclined and was put in the special English composition class. This class is designed for freshmen students who are above average and can do more specialized writing.

She liked to write about people and events that happened to her. One of her pet stories was about an earthquake in Mexico which took place at the time she was living there. Her methods of description were excellent. She had a knack for bringing the reader into the story, and making him feel he was living it.

Daphne was an easy person to talk to and to know casually but didn't make many close friends in the dormitory.

Spartan City Constitution Awaits Vote

Action Expected In Sunday Meeting

The fate of re-organized Spartan City will be in the hands of voters Sunday afternoon.

A non-adoptive constitutional meeting will be held in Trailer Village Recreation Hall at 4 p.m. Sunday, according to Patrick Callahan, married housing representative to student government.

Copies of the proposed constitution are being distributed to married housing units today and Saturday for students to study. Each section of the constitution will be voted on at the Sunday meeting. Approval of the majority present will pass the section, according to Callahan.

The basic aims of the new body, he said, will be to give married students a united voice in dealing with administrative officials and to unite them for some direct action on governing the married housing area.

The immediate project of the group, according to Callahan, is to complete plans for a playground in the married housing area.

Students and staff of MSC will be admitted free of charge to the Michigan Press Photography Conference by presenting identification cards and registering.

The convention opens today at Kellogg Center.

The two-day conference will have 25 sessions and 37 speakers. The 15 delegates appear on one radio show and 450 TV programs.

First session today is at 9:30 a.m. on "Foto-Finesse," the psychology of handling people on assignments.

Grounded Cadets To Fly Saturday

Fourteen cadets who were grounded by rain two weeks ago will get their chance to fly Saturday.

The second in a series of orientation flights for AFROTC cadets will be held that morning.

Col. Graeme Bond, professor of air science and tactics and Maj. Andrew Clark, commandant of cadets, will be the pilots on the flight.

WKARTV to Present Special Farm Series

Starting Monday WKARTV will air a special series of programs designed to aid the state's farmers in reducing costs and increasing production of their corn crops.

Produced as part of the regular "Better Farming" program of MSC's cooperative extension service, the shows will begin at 6:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Cool Weekend Weatherman Says No Rain, No Sun Either

Thursday's day-long showers won't put in a return appearance today, but considerable cloudiness will continue to hide the sun.

Temperatures for the weekend will continue cool, with a high today of 56 after the mercury's drop to 40 last night.

The weatherman also put a possible squelch to plans for outdoor activities with an indication of rain Sunday.

Prof Looks Sharp, But Coeds Sharper

By DEBORAH HALL.

"MSC coeds are the most beautiful girls in the country," Prof. Paul Bagwell, head of the department of communication skills, said Thursday.

For a man who will serve for the second time on the panel of nine judges which selects Miss America, this is quite a statement.

But, undaunted, Bagwell says, "MSC's campus coeds compare with the best in the Miss America Contest."

As yet no fair lass from Michigan State ever has been represented at the Atlantic City contest, but Bagwell is still looking forward to the day.

One reason he favors MSC coeds so strongly is "their genuine and natural attitude towards people." This is the most important asset a judge looks for in a contestant, Bagwell said.

Secretary Blasts 'Privilege Seeking'

McCarthy Investigation To Continue for 10 Days

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Army Stevens stole the show from Sen. McCarthy Thursday as the McCarthy-Pentagon row flared up into stormy hearings before a nationwide television audience.

The Army secretary first accused McCarthy and his chief aides of waging a "persistent, tireless" campaign—the most strenuous one in his official experience—to get special treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine.

The Schine case, Stevens declared, is "an example of the wrongful seeking of privilege, of the perversion of power."

Then Stevens labeled as "absolutely false" McCarthy's charge that Stevens urged him to "go after" the Navy and Air Force instead of looking for Communists in the Army's ranks.

And so ended, in the kind of direct conflict that can lead to perjury charges against somebody, the first day of hearings in the short-tempered atmosphere of an overcrowded, overheated hearing room—with TV floodlights glaring and spectators jammed together in a perspiring mass.

McCarthy got in some licks, too, even though he has removed himself from the Senate investigations subcommittee for purposes of this inquiry.

He denied any "improper pressure" by himself or his staff on Schine's behalf.

And he bitterly objected to Stevens speaking "for the Army." He blasted the Army secretary as one of the "Pentagon politicans" who are trying, he said, to block investigation of "Communism in the Army."

At the State Department, officials were asked about McCarthy's questions intimating that Sam Beber, Gen. Beber's brother, was removed as a security risk. A department spokesman said only that records show Beber "voluntarily retired" after 17 years in the diplomatic corps.

The spokesman said, "We can't say more than that" when asked if Beber retired with security charges against him.

The Army side also called Walter Redell Smith, acting

'Coed Spy' Case Is No Joke

(Editor's Note: This is a reprint from the Michigan Daily by Alice M. Silver, Associate Editorial Director.)

The story of the campus FBI informant reads as a personal drama.

But more important, it points to a serious dilemma.

There is now a need for FBI surveillance of what might be subversion or espionage. (Whether the students involved in the coed's information to the FBI are or are not engaged in such activities is not for us to decide.)

But as the story suggests, a high cost is often paid for such secret police activity.

The highest cost is fear.

It's no joke any more. When students gather for a political discussion or meeting they have reason to suspect an informant in their midst taking notes "mostly just on their conversations."

Or when they write editorials or letters to the editor they might well fear that these will be clipped for police files.

Let no one think that it is just the Communists or Communist "fronters" who are afraid.

Who is the judge of "what the FBI will be interested in?"

Do they take the names of everyone who walks into a certain apartment, who talks to certain people, who goes to certain political meetings, who expresses certain ideas now currently out of style?

The FBI doesn't evaluate. They just collect the "facts."

A case in point: The coed told the graduate student she gave my name to the FBI. Why? I was in his apartment. I was there getting a story for The Daily. Did she bother to report that fact?

And yet so long as this country is faced with an external threat and so long as there is in this country an organization like the Communist Party dedicated to the interests of a foreign power, we cannot ignore the need for appropriate police activity.

So what's the answer?

Do we shut up and play it safe? No.

Americans have the right to speak, meet and write on any subject they please within the bounds of law.

That's from the Bill of Rights.

We can catch all the spies we need to without throwing it out.

As between the fear of being reported by an informant and the impulse to think and speak as free men—

Damn the Informants—Full Speed Ahead!

'Frankness' Praised By Reader

To the Editor:

Everybody seems to be blowing off steam about the administration, so I would like to take this opportunity to express my views. I would like to compliment Al Meyer for frankness and courage in expressing his, and undoubtedly a large segment of the student body's, views toward the policies of the administration.

As a citizen of the state of Michigan I am compelled to abide by the civil laws set forth by the legislative bodies.

Upon entering MSC I find that quite a different set of rules and regulations exist. To the administration I ask, why don't the same civil conditions exist with the bureaucracy here at State?

Why should a student be compelled to give up his rights and pursuit of happiness in order to reap the benefits of an education at a state supported college?

There should be some method of rectifying these unjustifiable conditions here. I ask, are the students not falling down on their job by not taking steps to put an end to these conditions.

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor: In answer to Mr. Troutner's letter of April 16.

It has long been a hope, become a tendency for our government to persecute a minority group, when that group happens to be the Communist Party and those adhering to the Communist doctrine.

Our government, when properly executed, is above reproach. We fear Communists only because during the past administration of the new and fair deal, people belonging to this Communist Party have been allowed to assume positions of sacred trust in our government.

It is now, with the new administration in power, that we must take upon us the hard, but extremely necessary job of ferreting out these traitors.

When we see what Communism has done to countries where just a few have managed to sway the people and take over the government, we shudder and cannot wait to see the day when the scourge that is Communism is done away with.

One person with Communist instilled ideas would be a menace to our form of government, yet we have a conservative estimate of 25,000.

The Republican Party must also try to undo the wartime economy into which the previous administration so ingeniously led us. The depression was very cleverly covered up by the Second World War and the Korean "police action."

The people of America fail to realize that it was the blood of their sons, husbands, and fathers which made the past years seem so fruitful. If this is the price we pay for prosperity, I want no part of it.

Therefore, if, and I say if, the Republican Party goes down to defeat in November, it will be due, not to an overbearing attitude, but to too great a leniency with the situation in which we are still so deeply engrossed.

Sincerely yours, George W. Gaiser

Happy Birthday...

This week it is time to honor the national organization of the Young Women's Christian Association. Like Michigan State, it is celebrating its 99th year of service to the people of the United States.

More than three million members of the YWCA work throughout the year "to promote a steady influence for developing mature effective individuals who can make the most of their capabilities and face the present and the future with courage."

In this day and age, the youth of America could use some help. So, we say "Happy Birthday" and may there be many more of them.

Our Coeds Stack Up To Wayne's Anytime

C.O.B., a cowardly columnist in the Wayne University Daily, recently spent the length of a newspaper column trying to disprove the commonly known fact that MSC has better-looking coeds than Wayne.

He mutters bitterly about a thwarted search for beauty by the Red Cedar and bemoans the reputation Wayne coeds seem to have for being "grimy, desperate, asexual" and gold-diggers.

In fact, he describes these unappealing lasses so realistically he must have seen a few.

MSC coeds, he says, are unlikeable from their "padded out forms to low-quarter shoes."

The researcher ends his column, however, with a startling admission: "The MSC men are apparently under the delusion that the girls down here (Wayne) ... are of considerably warmer temperament ... I hadn't the heart to suggest to them that that is precisely the situation that exists ..."

It occurs to us that C.O.B. finds women he knows treating him coolly. It is understandable that he found little luck in dating beautiful, popular MSC women.

Plans Save Berkey Classes From Heat

By ALLEN SCHUSTER
Even though spring and summer temperatures may be high, students attending classes in Berkey will be getting the worst of the heat.

Two huge multi-bladed fans, about the size of a commercial airplane propeller, work below the basement level to circulate cool or warm air through every classroom, depending on the season.

According to Jerry Shoemaker, assistant foreman of plumbing and heating maintenance, the system is run completely by automatic controls.

In the winter the cold air is drawn into a huge shaft extending from the roof to the underground level. It is warmed by steam heated coils at the base of the shaft. A continuous spray of water moistens the air and cleans it.

A second set of coils warms the air, and the fan forces it into tunnels to each classroom.

A thermostat in each room controls the air duct coils for heating the air as it goes to all parts of the building.

Only if the air compressor controlling the steam pressure broke down would manual control be necessary.

The only difference between cooling the air and heating it is in the steam coils. In the spring and summer the steam is shut off and the air wash is left on to cool the air before it is circulated to the classrooms.

Shoemaker said that very rarely have there been complaints about Berkey Hall's ventilation. The basement level had to be heated by steam radiators since it is underground.

"Berkey Hall is the only campus building with this type of ventilation," Shoemaker added.

Red Forays Thwarted in Indochina

HANOI, Indochina (AP) — The French command announced Thursday night Communist-led Vietminh troops were hammered back "with heavy losses" in their attempts to gain new footholds in the northwestern corner of the Dien Bien Phu fortress.

Simultaneously, bombers, under temporarily clearing skies, struck heavily at the Vietminh forces entrenched upon a 200-foot hill on the southeastern rim of the bowl and "probably several companies" of the enemy were destroyed, the French said.

In the northwest, the French said, their strong patrols succeeded in linking up communications with all their defense spots which for the last 48 hours had been under heavy Vietminh pressure.

These patrols were attacked by Vietminh infantrymen who were beaten back in savage hand-to-hand fighting. Before the infantry attack, the Vietminh pounded the French heavily with mortars and machinegun fire.

Sidewalk Repairs Near Completion

East Lansing sidewalk repairs will be completed in another month, John Patriarcho, city manager, said Thursday.

The general repair program began last fall but was interrupted because of the winter weather.

Following a check-up, owners of sidewalks in poor shape are notified. If repairs are not made within twenty days the city makes the improvement and then assesses the individual owner.

Spanish Club to Hold Foreign Dance Festival

Spanish Club will present a Latin American dance festival at 9 p.m. Saturday in Newman Hall.

Special guests for the evening will be members of the German Club. Special folk dances, including the Columbian "bambuco," will be presented by South American students.

(Continued from Page 1) secretary of state, who said Cohn once approached him in quest of a commission for Nehline. He said Cohn asked, among other things, about the possibility of getting Nehline commissioned through the Central Intelligence Agency.

Smith said he suggested Cohn might telephone the head of the CIA, Allen Dulles. Cohn's reply, he said, was that the CIA was "too juicy a subject" for future investigations—that it wouldn't be right to place Nehline in the CIA and then investigate it.

The subcommittee planned to investigate the CIA for alleged subversives last year—before the Nehline controversy arose—but held off when Dulles and other administration officials argued the agency is too sensitive to have its affairs made public.

Jenkins asked Smith if he had the impression Cohn was trying to high-pressure anybody.

Not me, sir," Smith replied. He said at another point he did not regard Cohn's approaching him as improper.

Mostly, Stevens said, it was Cohn who did the telephoning and the alleged threatening.

He listed more than 65 phone calls and 19 personal meetings between McCarthy or staff members and officials of the armed forces on the Nehline case.

He told, too, of an incident at Ft. Monmouth, N. J., last fall.

Stevens said he took a group of Congress members to a secret radar laboratory there, that Cohn went along but was not allowed in the laboratory.

Cohn, the Army secretary said, was "extremely angry."

Both Stevens and Gen. Reber said every effort was made to get a commission for Nehline but that all branches of the service reported the young New Yorker was not eligible.

Stevens said, however, McCarthy himself seemed to blow hot and cold on this question.

But he said that in mid-October McCarthy had become "irritated" with Nehline and regarded him as a publicity grabber — felt that Nehline "was useless in the committee... and was becoming a pest."

McCarthy has denied saying any such things about Nehline. He also has said Nehline was valuable to the committee—that the only privilege his office sought for Nehline was that the young man be permitted, in addition to his basic training, to complete work on a subcommittee report.

Stevens said that from last Nov. 10 to Jan. 16 Nehline received 15 passes from his post —five times as many as the average draftees received in that period. The Army secretary said Nehline also was relieved—after calls from McCarthy's office—of duties such as kitchen police.

Then Stevens repeated a charge Cohn has denied, that Cohn once told Army Counsel Adams it would "break the Army" and Stevens would be through as secretary if Nehline, like many draftees, were sent overseas.

At the end of his statement Stevens took up McCarthy's frequent assertion that McCarthy was "protecting" the Communist Government in the Army.

"The Army," declared Stevens, "does not coddle Communism."

As a matter of fact, Stevens said, the Army took the initiative throughout the entire process in seeking out people who would be a liability to the government and turning them over to the committee.

As soon as the hearing opened Thursday morning McCarthy said he doesn't regard himself as embroiled with the Army Department as a whole—only against what he called certain "Pentagon politicians."

Gen. Reber, the leadoff witness, testified he got telephone calls from McCarthy's office two or three times a day when efforts to get a commission for Nehline were under way in July, 1953.

Mostly the calls came from Cohn, the general said, "but two or three times" McCarthy himself called up.

The general said he did everything in his power to get Nehline commissioned.

But Hopes Are High at Indiana Hoosiers Need Tackles and Halfbacks

(Editor's Note: This is the fourth in a series of articles dealing with spring football practice at each of the Big 10 schools.)

By CHUCK MILLER,
State News Sports Editor
With fifteen lettermen returning—including six starters, prospects for a successful grid season at Indiana this fall are excellent. At the conclusion of the first week of spring drills, head coach Bernie Crimmins said:

"We have more to work with than in either of my two previous seasons at Indiana. We feel sure we're going to be a stronger club, one that will win more games than its two predecessors."

There appears to be a general improvement in almost every department of play. However, this is offset to some extent by a low level of experience.

Gone from last year's Cream and Crimson squad which finished the season in ninth place with a 1-5 record are starters; Bob Robertson and Jerry Ellis, half-backs; Harry Jagielski and Conney Kimbo, tackles; and John Zuger, left end.

With both regular tackles and halfbacks missing, Crimmins' biggest chore naturally will be to find replacements for these men.

Here's the way the team looks to Crimmins, position by position:

The ends seem much improved. According to the Indiana mentor and many observers, this spot has been the chronic weak spot for the last two seasons. Zuger is the only loss at end. He started in the first game last year, but was hurt and gave way to Pat Fellingner. Zuger didn't get back into the starting position until the sixth game when Fellingner broke his leg.

Now, with Borden and Fellingner at the ends, the Hoosiers appear set. Borden is one of the best defensive flankers in the league, but isn't a top-flight pass receiver. If he can improve in this capacity, the Hoosiers will get a big lift.

At tackles, the biggest worry spot, where both of last year's starters are gone, Crimmins will have to rely on two unprepared players—junior Ron Kanchiller and sophomore Joe Checkley.

The guards appear capable and are not a major source of worry. At left guard, starter Dailey and second stringer Tom Hall are back. Competition is so keen, that Hall seems to have the edge over end, after a shoulder separation sidelined him.

In spring drills so far, the South Bend senior has looked even better and is improving steadily.

With four good quarterbacks cast in supporting roles, the signal-calling spot seems well taken care of. However, even without them, Crimmins would not be too worried.

The reason for this is named Florian Helinski.

Last year, Helinski took over the quarterback duties with virtually no previous defensive experience.

The Hurley, Wis., senior came on to establish himself as one of the top offensive players in the country, as well as turning in a highly capable job in the defensive backfield.

He was fourth in the Big 10 in total offense—his yardage-per-play actually exceeding that of Paul Giel, the leader.

Helinski did virtually all the passing for the team, ran consistently well on the split-T option, punted and kicked extra points and wound up as 17th in the nation for total offense.

On top of all that, he was the workhorse of the team—compiling 453 playing minutes out of 540.

The halfbacks are wide open and present one of the biggest problems to overcome.

With the first and second stringers of both halves gone, a big gap remains to be filled in the backfield.

Only two lettermen are back—left half Don Dominic and right half George Bell. However, neither played much last year.

One bright spot is the playing of '63' sophomore Mill Campbell of Olympic decathlon fame.

His quickness, agility and great power, combined with starting speed, makes him a top prospect for sophomore-of-the-year.

Both the starter and second string fullbacks are returning, so Crimmins has no worry there.

Apart from developing tackles and halfbacks, the biggest job is to find replacements for the regular tackles and halfbacks missing.

Crucial to the team's success will be the ability of the new recruits to fill the gaps left by the departed starters.

The team's performance in the coming season will depend largely on the ability of these new players to adapt to the college level of play.

The coaching staff is confident that with the right combination of talent and strategy, the Hoosiers can achieve a significant improvement over last year's performance.

Four Way Jam In Junior Loop

NEW YORK (AP)—Baltimore's Duane Pillette's Cleveland to five hits for a 4-1 victory, and Pittsburgh dropped the New York Giants into the cellar Thursday on rookie George O'Donnell's steady pitching in the only major league baseball game scheduled for today.

Pillette settled down to a rocky first inning, but his second straight outburst result brought an American League game under way.

Four are tied for the 4-3 and four for second place at 3-4.

MSC Opens Big 10 Play With Three Road Games

Spartans Face Wildcats, Blue and Badgers Twice

By RON KOHL
Braced by a pair of non-conference triumphs, Michigan's baseball squad left by bus Thursday evening for Madison, Wis., where they will open their Big 10 campaign at Northwestern Friday afternoon.

Northwestern, the Spartans' first opponent, will be in Madison, Wis., for a doubleheader with the Badgers. The game will be broadcast on the radio at 4:25 p.m. (Eastern time) and the return game at 1:25 p.m. Saturday.

Coach Art Mansfield's lone veteran hurler is Hal Raether, who was the number three pitcher on last year's squad, which compiled an overall season record of 19 wins and eight losses, and took sixth place in the Big 10 race this year with a 6-7 slate.

Raether, a senior, worked 6 2-3 innings, gave up 32 hits, struck out 59, and issued 15 bases on balls.

One other pitcher on the present staff, Bob Burger, pitched in varsity competition last year. He lost his only start, and pitched only seven innings all season.

The outfield will have Dave Moran in left field and this steady player also can take over first base should regular first sacker Jim Temp be sidelined.

Temp, a first baseman as a freshman in 1952 and a capable center fielder last season, has been shifted back to first.

In centerfield will be sophomore Elwood Nowka, while Roy Locklin, regular end on the football team last season, is set for right field in his first season of college baseball.

Not quite realizing his baseball potential a year ago, John Matsock traded out at shortstop, but gave it up for spring football practice.

This spring, however, the versatile Spartan athlete, has earned a starting assignment at shortstop in Michigan State's Big 10 opener at Northwestern today, according to Coach John Kob.

Leading the Kobsmen batters with a lofty 714, John has five for seven at the plate, hitting out a triple, two doubles, and picking up four RBIs in only two games.

"Don't forget his ability to glove that ball," Kobs was quick to point out. "His fielding has been excellent, 1,000 to date," he added.

Kobs attributes much of Matsock's ability to "his terrific speed" which has figured in two stolen bases, two double-plays, six put-outs, and nine assists. Besides being able to cover plenty of ground, he has a rifle arm.

John, a junior from Detroit, manned the shortstop post as a regular for two years at Pershing High, under the tutelage of Edwin Caps. Last summer he played in the Class A League of the Detroit Baseball Federation.

A nine-letterman at Pershing, winning three each in football, basketball, and baseball, he reached prep heights in 1950 when chosen all-city half-back, made honorable mention all-city shortstop, and was a regular guard on the basketball team.

Matsock's prowess on the gridiron has also made him a standout. After seeing limited action as a defensive halfback, he was switched to the quarterback slot last fall to direct the split-T.

Employing the option play effectively, he picked up 38 yards per try and completed four out of eight passes for 76 yards. In the Marquette game he reeled off a 40 yard touchdown run on a roll-out play and then climaxed the season with standout defensive play against UCLA in the Rose Bowl game.

The Cleveland Indians were the strikeout champions of the American League in 1953. The Tribe's batters fanned 653 times.

This spring, however, the versatile Spartan athlete, has earned a starting assignment at shortstop in Michigan State's Big 10 opener at Northwestern today, according to Coach John Kob.

Leading the Kobsmen batters with a lofty 714, John has five for seven at the plate, hitting out a triple, two doubles, and picking up four RBIs in only two games.

"Don't forget his ability to glove that ball," Kobs was quick to point out. "His fielding has been excellent, 1,000 to date," he added.

Kobs attributes much of Matsock's ability to "his terrific speed" which has figured in two stolen bases, two double-plays, six put-outs, and nine assists. Besides being able to cover plenty of ground, he has a rifle arm.

John, a junior from Detroit, manned the shortstop post as a regular for two years at Pershing High, under the tutelage of Edwin Caps. Last summer he played in the Class A League of the Detroit Baseball Federation.

A nine-letterman at Pershing, winning three each in football, basketball, and baseball, he reached prep heights in 1950 when chosen all-city half-back, made honorable mention all-city shortstop, and was a regular guard on the basketball team.

Matsock's prowess on the gridiron has also made him a standout. After seeing limited action as a defensive halfback, he was switched to the quarterback slot last fall to direct the split-T.

Employing the option play effectively, he picked up 38 yards per try and completed four out of eight passes for 76 yards. In the Marquette game he reeled off a 40 yard touchdown run on a roll-out play and then climaxed the season with standout defensive play against UCLA in the Rose Bowl game.

The Cleveland Indians were the strikeout champions of the American League in 1953. The Tribe's batters fanned 653 times.

All-College Champs Dumped, 8-2

Alpha Gamma Rho Beats ATO

Alpha Gamma Rho slammed ATO, last year's all-college softball champions for seven hits and an 8-2 win. Ron Stevens led the assault of the ATO pitcher with a triple with two mates aboard to touch off a seven-run third inning.

Al Guass, the AOR pitcher, held the ATO's to four hits. Manor Mice 8, Incoignites 6 Manor Mice collected eight hits and matched this with the same number of runs to edge Incoignites, 8-6.

Don Johnson was the big gun for the winners, hitting a double and a single and driving in two runs.

A three-run homer for Incoignites in the last of the fifth out them back in the ball game but the rally fell short.

Lambda Chi Alpha 6, Phi Kappa Sigma 2
With Dave Gibb leading the way with two doubles, Lambda Chi downed Phi Kappa Sigma, 6-2. John Heidemus pitched a three-hitter for the winners.

Sigma Nu 8, Theta Chi 0
Theta Chi's Ben Summer singled in the fourth inning for the only hit of Sigma Nu hurler Howard Adams as the Snakes won, 8-0.

Sigma Nu stretched out three hits for the win. The biggest blow of the game was Ted Lord's two-run triple in the second inning.

ZBT 12, Theta Sigma 5
ZBT made eight hits good for a dozen runs as they defeated the T'Sers, 12-5.

Denny Fry and Bob Abram collected two hits each in the Zebes' 10-run second inning.

Psi U 8, Delta Upsilon 6
Psi U pitcher Duke Walliu batted and hurled his team to an 8-6 win over DU. He collected two singles and batted in four runs while limiting the DU's to six hits.

Phi Kappa Tau 8, Farmhouse 6
In a game that saw no extra base hits, Phi Kappa Tau downed Farmhouse, 8-6. Every Phi Tau except the pitcher got a hit.

ACS 4, AEPF 3
ACS's Frank Hetrick hit a triple with two on in the last half of the fifth inning to beat AEPF, 4-3. Stan Jones hit a home run for ACS with none on.

Delta Tau Delta 12, SAE 9
In one of the 1M League's high scoring games, Delta Tau Delta outlasted SAE, 12-9.

To keep the win, the Deltas had to hold off SAE in the last inning when they threatened with six runs. Al Budner got three singles and a double to lead the winners.

Phi Kappa Phi 6, Beta Theta Pi 2
Fred Darling hit a double and a triple and drove in four runs as Phi Kappa Phi downed BTPi 6-2.

Theta Xi 6, Delta Sigma Pi 0
With Larry Brengle and Jack Grable hitting homers and Jim Eyer limiting the opposition to three hits, Theta Xi beat Delta Sigma Pi, 6-0.

Brengle hit two home runs and drove in four of his team's runs.

Tog Shop 13, Gayties 0
Lynn Hamilton pitched a one-hitter as Tog Shop shut out Gayties, 13-0. Tom Rice hit a triple with bases loaded to drive in three runs. He drove in another with a single.

Delta Sigma 14, Kappa Sigma 4
Delta Sigma made its nine hits good for 14 runs and 11 m i t e d Kappa Sigma to three hits at Delta Sigma won, 14-4.

Fish and Wildlife 7, PRAC 7 (tie)
Fish and Wildlife and PRAC batted to a 7-7 tie in a game that was called at the end of the fifth inning because of darkness.

Fish and Wildlife collected eight hits and PRAC had nine.

Plans for Geneva West Re-states Foreign Policy

PARIS (AP)—An American source said Thursday night the Western Powers have reached a firm fresh agreement on refusal to accept Communist China as a host nation at the Geneva conference.

Ike Urges Peace by Cooperation

Anti-Propaganda Crusade Asked

NEW YORK (AP)—President Eisenhower called Thursday night for an American crusade against "the poisonous propaganda of the Soviets"—a crusade to win world peace and avert an age of atomic horror.

The President urged the nation's newspapers and other news media to take the lead in a greater effort to build a "cooperative peace" while never forgetting that "aggression is still a terrible reality."

In a major address prepared for delivery at a meeting of the Advertising Bureau of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, Eisenhower cautioned:

"Either the nations will build a cooperative peace or, one by one, they will be forced to accept an imposed peace, now sought by the Communist powers, as it was by Hitler."

Hammering at that point, the President added:

"If this is not to be an age of atomic hysteria and horror, we must make it the age of international understanding and cooperative peace."

Eisenhower flew in from his Georgia vacation headquarters for Thursday night's speech, which was broadcast nationwide by major television and radio networks.

Ticket Hand-outs For Marriage Talks End Today

One thousand, one hundred and fifty tickets to the annual marriage lecture series remain to be distributed today, the last day. Any student now is eligible to pick them up free of charge.

Three hundred fifty tickets were given to seniors and engaged students Thursday.

Mortar Board members are distributing the tickets in the Union Concourse between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

One ticket entitles a person to attend all four of the lectures: Wednesday, religion; May 5, men's talk on the biological aspects of marriage; May 6, women's section of that talk; May 12, psychological aspects of marriage.

The May 5 and 6 lectures are the only ones which men and women must attend separately. Talks will be given at 7:30 those nights, and at both 7 and 8:30 the other two nights.

Speakers will be Rev. Herbert Wolf of the College Lutheran Church, Dr. Mahlon Sharp, Lansing physician, and Dr. Katharine Green, Wayne County marriage counselor.

No Survivors Firemen Called To Extinguish Blazing Home

Three East Lansing firemen and one fire truck were called to the corner of Abbot Road and Grand River late Thursday afternoon to save a home.

But the home in question wasn't saved. It was a bird's nest atop the light over the front door of the East Lansing State Bank.

Firemen pulled the nest down to extinguish the flames. A fire department spokesman said the blaze probably was started when the nest became overheated.

No birds were spotted amid the smoke.

"They must have died with their boots on," the spokesman said.

points are for this quality. Bagwell explained that before a judge can rate the girl in personality he must meet her in social functions sponsored for that reason.

The remainder of the judging depends on talent, poise, naturalness and figure.

The aspect of the contest which most impressed Bagwell was the utmost courtesy and respect extended to all contestants. An official hostess escorts the girl everywhere she goes, he said.

In fact, Bagwell is so enthusiastic over the coming contest that he again intends to take his family along, as he did in 1943.

Staff Members Attend Midwest Economics Convo

Twelve members of the economics department left Wednesday to attend the 18th annual meeting of the Midwest Economics Association at Peoria, Ill.

Staff members attending the convention are Stanley J. Chipper, Martin S. Estey, John M. Hunter, Richard W. Lindholm, Leonard Hall, Lawrence W. Will, Lawrence S. Ritter, Donald A. Moore, Leland E. Traxwick, Jacob Schmookler, E. Schwartz and Robert F. Voertman.

Hall presided at the opening session Thursday. The other men will serve as speakers and panel members.

Today, two other members of the department will attend the national meeting of the Industrial Relations Research Association at Columbus, O. Charles Killingsworth, head of the department, will preside over a discussion on "Alternative Approaches to Industrial Relations Research." Melvin Segal, associate professor, will present a paper on "Secondary Boycott Under the Taft-Hartley Act."

To Tap 20 Precedent Broken By Mortar Board

For the first time since 1936, Mortar Board will break its precedent on the number of tappers at May Morning Sing.

Twenty junior women will be tapped this year. Never have more than 14 coeds been chosen.

The change is being made because an increased college enrollment should mean a proportionate increase in tappers, Doris Humes, Mortar Board president, explained.

The annual ceremony will take place May 1 before Beaumont Tower, or, in case of rain, in the Music Auditorium.

The time has been moved to 8 a.m. instead of 7 a.m. because this year May 1 falls on a Saturday.

Thirty-five new members of Tower Guard, sophomore women's honorary, also will be tapped.

Members of the two honoraries will serenade the living units of tappers beginning at 10 p.m. Thursday. Ordinarily, serenading is done after closing hours the night before May Morning Sing, but members decided Friday's 1 a.m. closing hour was too late to begin.

Names of new members will not be known until the actual ceremony.

Mexico City College Head To Visit Here

Lambda Chi Alpha will hold a reception Tuesday from 7 to 9 p.m. for Dr. Paul V. Murray, president of Mexico City College.

Dr. Murray will visit MSC at the request of 10 Michigan State students who met him while attending Mexico City College winter term, according to Gary Frink, Rochester junior and sponsor of his visit.

Staff and students are invited to attend the reception. Frink said Dr. Murray will be taken on a tour of the campus Tuesday afternoon.

He will give the principal address at a meeting of the Middle States Modern Language Association in Detroit, April 29 and 30, before returning to Mexico, Frink said.

Mexico City College is the largest American school in Latin America, according to Frink. He also stated that a number of U. S. colleges have programs for students who wish to spend a term there.

Party Forms Wake Rich Bachelor Wills Fortune To Party-Goers

DETROIT (AP)—Carl Clarke, a wealthy bachelor, stipulated in his will that his personal belongings be divided among his friends at a gay party after his death.

Clarke died last Nov. 17 at the age of 79. The Detroit Trust Co., administrator of his estate Wednesday night carried out his wishes to the smallest detail. Clarke wanted to throw a party for his Wednesday night stag club and their families.

Clarke's administrator picked up the tab for a lavish banquet staged at a swank downtown hotel. Forty-six persons attended.

Some 100 pieces of art, furniture and other sentimental articles were divided among the guests by lot. The guests drew numbers from 1 to 46 to determine priority of choice.
