Hand-to-Hand Fights Mark Savage Battle

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—The French command said Sunday Vietnam rebels smashed through three strongpoints in their third massive attempt to crush the fortress of Dien Bien Phu.

Thousands of Communist-led attackers charged screaming into savage hand-to-hand fighting with the French Union defenders of the besieged northwest Indochina fortress. The rebels stabbed deeply toward the heart of Dien Bien Phu.

The fortress, under mounting siege more than five months, appeared in great danger of falling under the pressure of six-to-one enemy odds attacking in suicidal waves against superior French fire power.

The Vietnam launched their nightfall assault of the seven-year Indochina War Saturday night, after lobbing thousands of heavy mortar shells onto the main French defense complex embracing five strong points.

The rebels centered their heavy artillery fire on softening up the isolated strongpoint Isabelle in the south, three miles from the heart of the fortress.

Amid shrill bugle calls, the Vietnam rose like a storm from foxholes and trenches on the rim of the French Union fortress.

A French high command spokesman said "human waves" of rebel forces swept into the French stronghold in the vital northeast corner on the east and the west. The fall of these outposts cut down the defenses in the main complex and radically reduced in diameter the fortifications that Saturday covered only a mile.

An earlier Hanoi dispatch from the semi-official French Press Agency said counterattacking defenders recaptured two of the strongpoints. But Paris sources said this apparently was only part of the see-saw battle for the strongpoints which finally ended in their fall.

The French Union defenders counterattacked repeatedly from the heart of their encircled bastion.

The French high command said in launching their third general assault, the Vietnam had hit heavily on the three sides at once.

At the same time, the command reported assault waves of rebels warned against Isabelle in the south and succeeded in occupying a portion of that strongpoint. The French said a fierce counterattack is underway at Isabelle.

Films to Feature Fishing, Education

U. S. Rules Direct Aid Improbable

British Decision Provokes Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—Administration officials virtually ruled out Sunday any direct U. S. intervention in the Indochina War unless Britain agrees to join a coalition to protect Southeast Asia against Communist conquest.

Secretary of State Dulles is due back from the Geneva Conference Tuesday night for talks with President Eisenhower and congressional leaders which are

Candidates' Statement

Candidates for class officers and Student Congress are requested to submit to the State News, 100 word statements containing their reasons for desiring to serve, what they think their positions should entail and background material such as extra-curricular activities which would better acquaint them with voters.

The statements are due in the State News office on the third floor of the Union today at 5 p.m. and should be signed in ink by the candidate.

It is expected that a new look at U. S. policy toward Indochina in the light of events unforeseen two weeks or so ago.

Probably the most significant of these was a decision by Britain's Churchill government against joining an American-sponsored Southeast Asia defense agreement in advance of Indochina negotiations with the Communists at Geneva.

Authorities here privately concede the project now is shelved, for the time being at least. This represents a defeat for Dulles' hope of quickly forming a united front on the Indochina issue.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate Republican leader, said Saturday he thought the United States should go ahead even without one of its major allies—obviously meaning Britain.

But Eisenhower and Dulles have made the formation of a united front the first objective of their Indochina program; See U. S. RULES, Page 6

Learn of Michigan

"If you seek a pleasant peninsula; look about you." This slogan that has long been an unofficial motto of Michigan will be enlarged upon this week as the entire state pauses to learn more of the advantages of life in Michigan.

Michigan Week, May 2 to 8, represents a constructive step by the leaders of the state. For years, people from all over the United States have been traveling to Michigan to fish, relax and enjoy the natural beauties of this peninsula surrounded by the Great Lakes while the natives left for trips to the West and East Coasts.

The dedication of one week out of the year to learning of our home state fits in with the growing awareness of the lack of interest the Michiganders have had in it. This, along with the adding of the Water Wonderland slogan to the auto license plates, should cause natives to at least pause and think before jaunting off out of the state for vacations before even learning of the local spots of interest.

The Michigan State News will add its efforts to the work of the Michigan Week committee and the people of Michigan this week with the publishing of a "This Is Your Michigan" supplement in the paper on Friday morning.

It will be filled with stories and pictures of the lesser-known vacation spots and of the history of the state, the flag and the Capitol Building.

Background will be given on Grindstone City, the ghost town of Michigan; the Tulip Festival in Holland; the vacation possibilities on Mackinaw Island; the Henry Ford Museum, and Isle Royale.

Possibilities for sports, both winter and summer will be exploited. As an added service, aimed at the MSC students, the supplement will carry a story on the part-time job possibilities in the state.

Fashions will also be spotlighted with an emphasis on the summer styles in vacation clothes.

In short, there will be eight pages filled with the background and highlights of life in Michigan.

The students of Michigan State, as permanent or temporary inhabitants of the state will do well to learn of this state. It is blessed with some of the most beautiful scenery and the best vacation spots in the United States. Michigan Week is the time to learn of them.

A Fiasco

The frosh won the "little brown jug" during Frosh-Soph Day festivities this year. But the victory was an empty one.

Only about 100 students attended the greased-pole climb. The biggest attraction, the tug-of-war, drew only 500.

When the number of students in both the freshman and sophomore classes is taken into account, the lack of interest in Frosh-Soph Day becomes obvious.

This year's apathy is nothing new. Two years ago, slip-happy MSC students participating in the event pelted the windows of Women's Gym with eggs. Good classes in physical education had to be called off that afternoon, and several unfortunate young ladies were dunked in the river.

Frosh-Soph Day seems to be considered a fiasco by students.

Either Frosh-Soph Council should revamp next year's program so it will cater more to the students or else scrap the event.

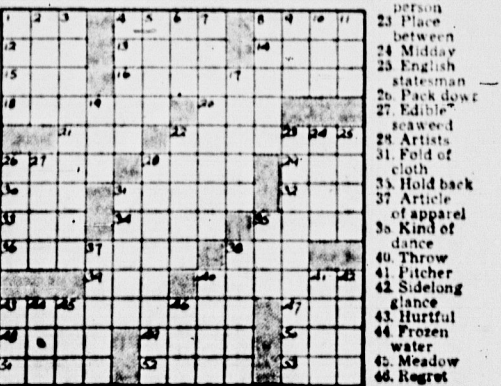

It's not that council members haven't worked hard enough on the project. They're to be congratulated for the sincerity of their efforts.

But there's no rhyme or reason to continuing an activity that isn't student-supported.

The time consumed in preparation for Frosh-Soph Day could be better spent on other projects that would benefit the classes as a whole.

Letters to the Editor:

Re: Education, Murals, New Bill

To the Editor:

It has been with great interest that I have read the recent comments by Mr. Meyer and Mr. Silver on the student-administration relations existing here at MSC. If possible, I too should like to make a few observations in the same direction.

I think that both of my predecessors on this question have overlooked some salient features of Michigan State College which tend to set it apart from the norm.

First of all, Michigan State is predicated on the notion that anyone who can pass the entrance examinations (and some who cannot) will be admitted as a student.

The immediate result of this student policy is to lower the standards of academic achievement to a level which will insure that as many as possible of these students will eventually succeed in graduation.

As a corollary to the policy of indiscriminate admission, the governing body of this institution has seen fit to expand its physical plant so as to accommodate the in-rushing hordes of young men and women, who have, in recent years, made this one of the larger colleges in the United States.

However, size alone does not attract students, nor can physical plant by itself guarantee the necessary enrollment to pay off the incurred indebtedness of the new dorms.

Primarily, we like to think that young people go to college to acquire an education. However, this institution is notorious for its general lack of academic excellence. Consequently, the college must attract students by becoming known for other, less scholarly, achievements.

During the past ten years the football team has done an excellent job of establishing the good name of Michigan State College throughout the country. The Rose Bowl victory is the crowning achievement in this direction.

At the same time that the football team is adding to the laurels of the school, a concerted effort has been made by the administration to insure that no bad publicity which might reflect upon the fair name of Michigan State be allowed to break the spell of presumed status which the college holds for prospective new students.

Thus the "necessity" of rigid control over social activities of students, thus also, the favored treatment extended to athletes, who are given a special status by the administration. Thus, the lack of interest in the tremendously high petty thievery rate in campus dormitories; so long as such matters do not become a matter of public notice, why should the college be concerned?

However depressing these observations may be, I am more alarmed at the general decline in morale which is fast assuming serious proportions among the students and faculty. In my opinion this decline in morale is the result of a lack of faith in the administration.

It was once true, that we could by reasonably sure of fair, equitable, just treatment by the controlling bodies of this college. Such is no longer the case.

In short, we feel that the administration has forgotten that in any society such as ours, it is the interests of the students which should be paramount, not the imposed, imposed interests which come down from above, without mutual interchange of ideas.

On the contrary, when problems involving the student body are to be solved, little, if any, attempt is made to seek interaction; rather, they are solved in the most efficacious and direct manner available; namely, the imposition of a new rule, or enforcement of an archaic one.

To the Editor:

This is another in a series of attempts to try to get the students of MSC interested in the legislative bogwasm that is occurring under our very noses while we remain asleep.

We are now referring to President Eisenhower's most recent tax proposal, which has already passed in the House.

A careful analysis of the bill will reveal that it would give unwarranted preferential treatment to stockholders in the form of tax exemptions.

This bill, if passed, would result in a half-billion dollars worth of tax saving to stockholders within the first year.

During the next two years it would represent a saving to them of approximately three-quarters of a billion dollars annually. In other words, these savings are to be made by, roughly, one per cent of the higher-income group level.

If we have come to the conclusion that the key to increased prosperity and expanding production lies within a corresponding increase in consumer prosperity, we cannot accept this recent proposal as one for the betterment of the "people" of the United States.

It becomes ridiculous when the administration fails to realize that the only way to renew prosperity is to give tax exemptions to the lower income groups and not the higher ones.

Surely the administration is failing to take into consideration that at the present time, dividend payments are breaking new records while most people's incomes are steadily falling.

We hope that these recent bills will not pass; and surely they cannot, if their real significance is brought into light.

To the Editor:

A student completely uninitiated and unversed in art, I should like to voice my opinion with regard to the mural in the Grill.

To me these pictures are completely confusing. It is my understanding that a mural should have continuity, but this one presents a problem in discerning its significance.

If paintings are supposed to portray life and movement, these have failed. This display of what I would class as "fifth-grade art" is not what I would be proud to show visitors to our college.

I should like to know what organization on campus sanctioned this action. It seems that something that will be viewed by all the students and is done for their pleasure should have the "blessing" of all the students.

May I suggest, as Glen Washburn did, that someone do something with this work of art?

If Keapler can have a mural that represents the ideas and needs of us in the present generation, why can't the Grill?

Drenched Sophomores Lose Three Tug-of-War Contests

For the fourth consecutive year, the freshman class won the "little brown jug" from their older brothers during Frosh-Soph Field Day activities Saturday.

The final score, resulting from four competitive events, was 28 to 12.

Sophomores took first and third places in the canoe race, the first event on the program. Sharon Bayer, Detroit, and Don Szczak, Bay City, came in first and Jim Wielan, Waukegan, Wis., and Dave Alden, Lansing, took third, gaining a total of eight points for their class. Freshman second place winners were Nancy Pirke and Frank Conklin, Lansing.

In the grapepole relay, an outnumbered sophomore contingent gave way to freshmen who climbed the pole to capture the flag, netting 10 points.

Auto Race To Highlight Exposition

Queen Jan Somers To Present Trophy

An address by Walker Clesler, president of the Detroit Edison Co., two special shows by General Motors and Michigan Bell Telephone; a budget auto race and 1,000 exhibits by both students and industry are a few of the highlights of the sixth annual Engineering Exposition to be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The exposition, sponsored by the Engineering Council and the Engineering School, will be twice as large as last year, and is expected to draw twice as many spectators as last year's 10,000.

Opening day ceremonies will include an address by Assistant Dean of Engineering Lisle A. Smith, followed by a budget auto race around Circle Drive. Jan Somers—Miss Engineer, Miss MSC and Miss Big 10—will be on hand to present a trophy to the winner of the race.

An auto show in Macklin Concourse will feature antique and experimental model cars.

All of the engineering buildings will be utilized for demonstration of student exhibits, to include such features as jet plan, a "kissometer," an electric boat, a tin can motor and hundreds of other engineering phenomena.

The two special shows, "Progress of Progress" by General Motors and "Fabulous Midget the Transistor" by Michigan Bell Telephone Co., will be shown in Olds Hall and the Electrical Engineering Building respectively. Shows will be shown continuously, one starting on the odd, and one on the even hours.

Dr. John Ryder, newly appointed dean of the School of Engineering, will be present at the convocation dinner to be held May 8. Ryder will be the guest speaker at that dinner.

Students to Present Four Piano Selections

Friendless? Date Service Organized For Coeds

From the "Friends for Friendless Coeds" department:

A Campus Date Service has been organized by six Phillips Hall men.

They put a classified ad in the State News last week, and already they've had phone calls from coeds.

A coed who wants a date can call 212 Phillips and explain her problem. The Date Service will try to fix her up with a man in any size, shape or form, depending on the coed's tastes.

The idea for the Date Service came from one of the six organizers, who read about a date bureau at Oklahoma A. and M. The Phillips Date Service is having the same problem that the Oklahoma Date Bureau was faced with, however.

"Ever since we put our ad in the paper, coeds have been calling up just for a joke, and we've taken quite a lot of razzing," one organizer said.

Spartans Top Illinois, Split Pair With Boilermakers

Purdue Nine Hands State Initial Defeat

After staggering defending co-champion Illinois, 17-3, Friday, the Spartans went on to drub Purdue, 12-0, in the first game of a doubleheader here Saturday.

However, their torrid pace slowed in the nightcap, as Purdue returned to hand the Michigan State squad its first Big 10 defeat, 5-2.

Bud Erickson coasted to his second Big 10 win behind heavy Spartan hitting Friday.

Ray Collard, Flint sophomore, led the way with a triple, three singles, and six RBIs, two short of the Big 10 record, against the Illini.

The Spartans collected 17 hits off five Illinois hurlers. The starter, John Sabalasky, lasted just one third of an inning, as the Spartans scored six runs in the first stanza.

MSC went on to score three in the second, four in the third, one in the fifth, and three in the seventh.

Jack Zettler, Tom Yewic, Bob Powell, and Erickson each tallied two hits. Erickson's timely singles drove in three runs.

Against Purdue, the Spartans came up with a 15-hit barrage, limiting the Boilermakers to just three hits.

Ed Hebauch, Ford City, Pa. sophomore displayed a sharp curve and a fine fast ball in striking out nine and walking five to help cup his second win in as many tries.

Coach John Kohl's crew scored four runs in both the fourth and seventh innings, one in the fifth, and three in the eighth to notch its third conference victory.

Each of the Spartan players connected safely at the plate in the first game and eight of them scored.

State's outfield patrol of Danny Brown, Roy Collard and Bob Powell led the bingo barrage, rapping out seven of the Spartans' 15-hit total.

Brown banged out three hits, including a homer, and two doubles, in five trips to the plate, while centerfielder Powell registered a pair of singles and a double in five times at bat.

Chuck Matthews, first baseman, started the third inning attack by singling to left with one man out. Shortstop Johnny Matsock then stepped to the plate to blast a four-bagger over the fence in left centerfield for the first homerun of the season at Old College Field.

Brown, following Collard who singled to right, lifted a home-run ball over the rightfield fence to end the fourth inning spree.

In the fifth, Powell doubled to center driving in Brown who got on base with a double to right.

Michigan State combined four singles and a double in the seventh inning to fatten its lead to 9-0.

Brown crossed the plate with his third run of the contest followed by Powell, Capt. Jack Zettler, third baseman and second sacker George Smith.

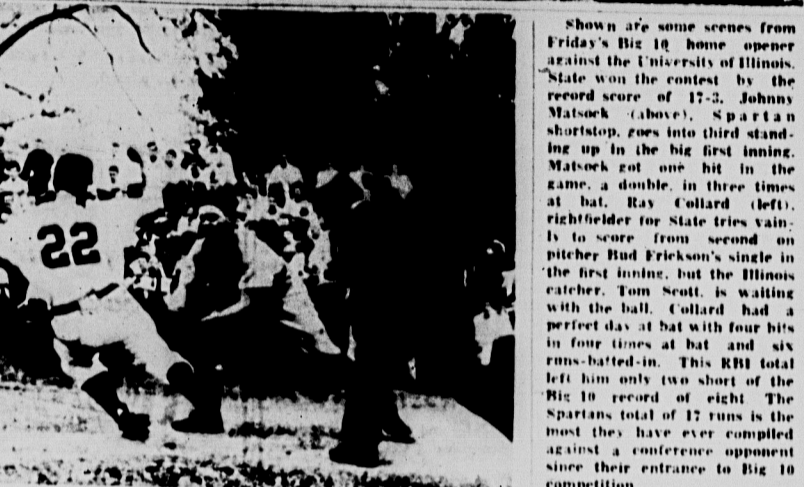

Collard, Yewic and Powell put the scintillating touches on State's triumph.

Collard led off in the eighth with a single and advanced when Yewic walked and Powell went to first on an error.

Zettler doubled, scoring both Yewic and Powell.

Powell scored after Smith's fly ball to center was caught.

In the second game the Spartans spotted Purdue a two-run lead before evening it up with a run in the fourth and another in the fifth.

Shown are some scenes from Friday's Big 10 home opener against the University of Illinois. State won the contest by the record score of 17-3. Johnny Matsock (above), Spartan shortstop, goes into third standing up in the big first inning. Matsock got one hit in the game, a double, in three times at bat. Ray Collard (left), rightfielder for State tries vainly to score from second on pitcher Bud Erickson's single in the first inning, but the Illinois catcher, Tom Scott, is waiting with the ball. Collard had a perfect day at bat with four hits in four times at bat and six runs-batted-in. This RBI total left him only two short of the Big 10 record of eight. The Spartans total of 17 runs is the most they have ever compiled against a conference opponent since their entrance to Big 10 competition. State News Photo by Brandon

Tigers Win Five-Inning Contest Hoest Stops Yanks With One Hit

NEW YORK (AP) — Southpaw Billy Hoest pitched a five-inning one-hitter as the Detroit Tigers defeated the New York Yankees, 4-0 to gain a split in their doubleheader after the Yankees had won the opener, 12-4. The second game was halted after five innings on account of darkness.

Andy Carey's double to left center with two out in the fifth prevented the young Tiger hurler from turning in a no-hitter. It would not have counted in the records, however, since all no-hitters must go the full nine-inning distance.

Gonzales Retains Net Singles Title

CLEVELAND — With a devastating service and net game, big Pancho Gonzales overpowered Australia's Frank Sedgman Sunday and retained his singles title in Cleveland's annual World Professional Tennis Championship.

The defender beat Sedgman, 6-3, 9-7, 3-6, 6-1, in a best-of-five series.

Ray Boone's second inning home run was all the Tigers needed to win but the Yankees handed them three more unearned runs by committing five errors. Harry Byrd, hard-luck Yankee right-hander, was the loser, dropping his third game in as many starts this season.

Hoest struck out six batters, setting four of them in succession. He fanned the side in the third and threw a third strike past Willie Miranda to start the fourth.

In contrast to the nightcap when for the third straight time they failed to score a run while Byrd was on the mound, the Yankees gave their best batting demonstration of the season in the opener.

They collected 13 hits off four Tiger hurlers and pounded across six runs in the third, their most productive inning of the campaign.

Test Gray was the victim, quitting under fire in that frame to absorb his second defeat against no victors.

Allie Reynolds, who replaced starter Jim McDonald for the Yankees in the fourth, was credited with the victory. The veteran righthander look over with the bases full and nobody out and pitched scoreless two-hit ball for six innings, his longest relief stint in three years.

Detroit collected only four hits off McDonald and Reynolds but made three of them count for all their runs. Walt Drogo drove in two runs with a first-inning double after Harvey Kuenn had singled and Al Neuman walked.

Al Rosen of the Cleveland Indians has batted in 100 or more runs for four consecutive seasons.

In the fourth, McDonald walked three straight batters before giving way to Reynolds. A single by pinch hitter Charley Kress and Kuenn's long fly brought in Detroit's last two runs.

Aim for Third Straight Spartan Linksters Face Irish Today

Couch Ben Van Alstyne will send his undefeated golf team against the University of Notre Dame at Walnut Hills today.

The Spartan linksters handed the Irish their single setback last season by a close 14-13 count. However, the Irish have lost their four top men via graduation from last year's squad which boasted eight wins, one loss, and two draws.

To avenge their lone loss, Rev. George Holderith, U. S. C. head golf mentor, will hold two returning monogram winners from last year's stand-out squad. They are seniors Jim Terry and Paul Minnich. Also swinging for the Irish will be two low scoring juniors, Bob Filplak and John Foley.

In 18 previous meetings with the Irish, Notre Dame holds a 15-3 advantage over State. However, Father Holderith enters upon his 22nd season with a strong bet for his charges to force entering their Big 10 campaign Friday with Wisconsin.

The Spartan linksters will be gunning for win number three on their clean slate and their second victory on their home course. Van Alstyne feels the men from South Bend will prove a strong test for his charges before entering their Big 10 campaign Friday with Wisconsin.

Pact Members Meet in Secret

Pacific Group Confers On Indochina Situation

GENEVA (AP)—The partners in the United States, Australia, New Zealand pact in the Pacific conferred secretly on the threatening Indochina situation Sunday as Communist-led Yenching forces dramatically reduced the defenses of the heavily fortified Dien Bien Phu garrison by renewed mass attacks.

The Geneva pact, official Communist sources hinted in French radio, will bring France into true negotiations along with Vietnam and Laos. The French government has renewed mass attacks.

Senators Hit Hearings as Hurting U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A swelling chorus of senatorial complaints that the McCarthy Army hearings are hurting the Republican party, the Senate and the country, spurred Senate leaders Sunday to cut them short.

But Chairman Mundt (R-S-D) ruled out suggestions he said had been made that the doors be closed and that future witnesses be heard in private.

"I suggested that in the beginning but it can't be done now," he said.

At the same time, Mundt said the Senate has found no workable formula to save time by avoiding testimony by some members. He said he might suggest a change in the number of questions asked.

Sen. McCarthy would give no assurance on how long he and his chief counsel, Roy M. Cohn, intend to keep Secretary of Army Stevens under questioning.

Stevens resumed the stand today in the eighth day of televised hearings into the charges that McCarthy and his aides sought to use the power of the Senate Investigating Committee to target favored Army treatment for Gen. David Schime, a former consultant to the committee.

McCarthy has charged in turn that Schime and his associates sought to use the power of the committee to halt an investigation of alleged Communists in the Army.

The ANZUS pact was not disclosed. The West made its first formal proposal to Russia Sunday concerning the procedure for inviting representatives of Vietnam to the Indochina phase of the conference.

French ambassador to Switzerland saw Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and handed him a note containing the Western proposal.

The West announced to find a formula for the Indochina which could not be interpreted as any kind of recognition of the Viet Minh regime.

Apathy Causes Extension of Petitioning

Petitioning for class officers and Student Congress seats closed Thursday at 4 p.m. in most districts.

However, the deadline has been extended in 11 Congress districts. The petitions must be in by 5 p.m. today, according to Janice Dempsey, elections commissioner.

Not enough candidates petitioned for the seats from those districts, Miss Dempsey said.

According to the elections officer, two students must run for each seat in order to hold an election.

Districts in which petitioning is required are: East Shore, Butterfield, Snyder, Phillips, North Williams, East Mayo, North Campbell, Mason, Lansing, East Lansing and married housing.

Campaigning for all primary elections began at 6:01 p.m. Sunday under the terms of the elections ordinance amendment passed Wednesday night.

Primaries will be Thursday and finals are scheduled for April 13.

Teacher Talks To Continue

Seeking an answer to the critical teacher shortage developing throughout the state and nation, the Conference on the Impending Crisis in Michigan Secondary Schools will continue today at Kellogg Center.

Frans H. Coombs, secretary-treasurer of the Ford Foundation Fund for the Advancement of Education, will speak at today's luncheon on "How Can We Get Enough Good Teachers for Our High Schools?"

Supervising the conference's sessions and panel discussions are Victor H. Noll, Milosh Munyan and Carl H. Gray, of the State Education staff.

The two-day conference, scheduled for teachers, parents, college clubs, and representatives of professional groups, is sponsored by the MSC department of secondary education, the Michigan Department of Public Instruction, the Michigan Education Association, and the Continuing Education Service.
