

Platforms Submitted by Class Officer Candidates

Senior President

JOHNNY WALKER—As a candidate for senior president I realize the responsibilities I will face next year if elected. As 1955 is Michigan State's Centennial year, we, the class of '55, will have a bigger role to play than in previous years. We will be expected to take an active part in several Centennial year projects and I hope we will undertake a few ourselves.

I feel I have the necessary experience as I have served on the Fresh-Soph Council, Junior Council, Parents' Day Committee, Activities Council, YMCA, and as an officer in the Kappa Sigma fraternity.

JOHN LARSON—This year the many events that are sponsored by the senior class take place during the one-hundredth year of the college. These events, such as the Water Carnival, the Swing-out, and the Senior Ball must be of a caliber fitting of the Centennial. I feel that this can be accomplished by increasing the interest of the class. With the participation and the desire of the class officers to serve the senior class will more than equal those that have preceded us.

TOM PAVETTE—If the future seniors choose me as their president, I will endeavor to make my time well spent by being active in the duties of my office. I will do my best to help the Senior Council organize the class activities so that they will be run most efficiently.

I feel that more individuals are needed in the various activities, and if I am elected I will guarantee every senior next year that more class members will have the opportunity to participate in class activities.

May I urge all of you to vote so that the election outcome is a better representation of the whole class than it has been in the past.

LUCK HATTER—As a present member of the Junior Council and co-chairman and director of Block S, I have noticed lack of cohesiveness between the council and members of the class. Juniors aren't sufficiently informed as to council operations. They seldom get a chance to meet the council members whom they elected.

I hope to become senior president in order that this close council-student body relationship can exist in the form of many council dances and get together so that I may form a council that will be a tangible part of the class. You may remember me as the "every body" man who directs the Block "S".

TOM AQUINO—If elected president of the senior class I shall do everything in my power to promote the welfare and interests of not only my own class, but of the whole student body as well.

I will value all suggestions from my supporters as to how I may better serve them. It is my sincere desire to advance a positive and dynamic leadership of the class so as to better fulfill the democratic ideal upon which our college is based.

I would sincerely honor the privilege of serving the class of 1955 as its president, and I will welcome all support that I may fulfill this platform.

JOHN F. PUGH—I believe that I am capable of fulfilling the office of senior president. At the present time I am vice president of the Student Council, a military ROTC honorary. I am secretary of the Officers Club and have served on many committees. If I am elected, I will try with the best of my ability to fully represent my electorate.

DOUG COLLIER—The last class to which seniors will ever belong and the graduating class of MSC's centennial year should be one which will compile a record never to be forgotten. Intelligent use of experiences of past classes, introduction of new ideas (such as a student musical), and thoughtful study of the class projects should bring this about. This is what I hope to do with your help.

My activities have been: Junior Council, Wolverine staff, Spartan Engineer, circulation manager, dorm general council and social chairman, Centennial music committee, fraternity activities and Activities Council.

BILL THURTELL—During my three years at State I have participated in various activities to gain experience, hoping eventually to run for senior officer. I sincerely feel I have the qualifications and earnest desire to work which are necessary for senior president.

More important, I have the time that is required to meet the tasks which the centennial class of 1955, face. A senior constitution, a re-organized senior council, a senior banquet, and a senior symposium are some ideas I favor for next year. Be sure to vote and pick carefully the candidate of your choice. I hope you favor me.

Senior Vice-President

NANCY HARRIS—I sincerely want to serve you, the prospective senior class, by representing you as your vice-president. I will endeavor to put all of my effort behind the activities, to do a thorough job in producing a successful well-coordinated year.

It is up to you to give your opinions and express your desires by voting. The elected officers can then in return do more for you. Your goals for the class will be my objectives. These with your support I will carry out.

RICHARD J. MORRIS—I feel that I can best serve the senior class as vice-president because I have had experience both in high school and in college as a representative and administrator. I feel I can coordinate the wishes and needs of my fellow students in close harmony with those of the college administration.

I have served my fraternity in the past as rush chairman and as social chairman. My extra-curricular activities include American Foundrymen-Society, Prevoet Corps and Theta Xi.

MAI BERTMAN—The class of '55 will be a very important class because of the Centennial celebration. It is my belief that our class must govern itself in its activities so that we will warrant the honor we will receive upon graduation as the Centennial class. We must not merely accept this honor but rather make ourselves worthy through our class accomplishments.

My experience in campus activities is as follows: vice-president of Union Board, Campus Chest Board of Directors, production chairman of 1953 Spartade, co-chairman of J-Hop entertainment and bandstand chairman of Water Carnival.

WENDELL SMITH—I would like to serve as a senior class officer to assist, promote and organize the class into a stronger body. It is my desire to improve coordination of the activities of the class and to unify and serve my classmates ably and efficiently. It is my aim to aid in obtaining better relations between this class and its officers.

FRAN HATER—The senior class has such an excellent opportunity for innumerable functions and activities that I believe with proper leadership many outstanding achievements may be realized. The vice-president, I believe, is a key position to create the necessary enthusiasm and organization to stimulate the class members.

My activities are student government, Mason Hall Dorm Council, Spartade, Les Gourmets and Block and Bride.

CONNIE WOOD—During my three years at MSC I have come to know and respect the activities of the senior class.

Not only is the vice-presidency of the class a great honor but also a great responsibility. With it goes the privilege of appointing all chairmen of the activities, advising and working with these chairmen, and finally, presiding in the absence of the president.

If I am chosen, I will fulfill the duties sincerely and conscientiously.

DAN WEBSTER—I feel that the vice-president should represent his constituents, the senior class, to the administration, to other schools, and to the public, and I shall try to do this to the best of my ability.

To obtain the students' wishes I would have regularly scheduled office hours. The continuation and the expansion of the senior coffee hour is another means of securing student opinion. After receiving these opinions I will try to incorporate them in the plans of the senior class.

My activities include vice-president of the freshman class, president of the sophomore class, speaker pro tem of the student government, and president of Blue Key.

Senior Secretary

SIDNEY COLES—The office of secretary entails recording the minutes of all meetings, taking care of class correspondence, helping appoint and working with students on various senior activities. Class officers can do much to help promote better student-administration relations.

The person elected should have proved her capabilities and sense of responsibility through previous work in campus activities. I believe I have done this through Spartan Spin and Spartade, chairman of the committee work on Water Carnival, J-Hop, Tower Guard and other honoraries.

JENÉ WALTERS—The duties of the secretary of the senior class entail more than just being a recorder of all senior class meetings. The secretary should be an operating component of the executive team and should also be able to handle competently other duties assigned to her besides her own. If elected, I will endeavor to serve the office of senior secretary with the above objectives in mind.

PAT PALEN—The secretary's job, in my belief, consists of carrying on prompt correspondence and keeping good, accurate records. In this job I would like to organize a closer alliance between students and officers which, I feel, is necessary especially in the senior year. Another factor involved is that I will have time to devote to the job of secretary and will use it to my best ability to the advantage of the class.

I am a member of Kappa Alpha Theta and hold the office of recording secretary.

JOAN BOARD—As secretary of the senior class it would be my duty to keep records of meetings held during the senior year. And as a member of the Senior Council I would like to work for closer cooperation among the members of the senior class. I desire to serve in this capacity because I would like to see the Centennial class of '55 have a bigger and better year.

I was previously a member of the Fresh-Soph Council, and have also been secretary of the WAA Board. At present I am serving as president of the WAA. These activities have helped to give me the necessary background so I could better serve the senior class as secretary.

SUE ST. LOUIS—The job of secretary of the senior class entails regular attendance at all meetings, because of the responsibility of recording the activities and business of the Council.

I feel I have the required secretarial experience, and I have also the background and experience in other campus activities which I feel is essential for a contributing member of Senior Council. I have served on Campus Chest, AWA's Activities Board, Sorority Board, Pan-Hellenic Council and committees for various other campus activities.

I am very interested in activities of the college and would be very proud to be a member of the Senior Council.

NAN COUTURE—I stand for diligence, fair play, attentiveness and sincerity. These words admittedly are slightly overworked and trite, but this makes them none the less true. It has been my ambition for three years at MSC to better serve the student body in its functions. If elected, I will do just that.

I sincerely believe that better student government, on a representative basis, can only be achieved through the exercising of the above mentioned qualities. If elected I will use these qualities to enable the members of the senior class of this institution to enjoy a richer and fuller experience in their final year of college.

DOT ELIZING—The duties of the secretary are to attend and take accurate minutes of all meetings, carry on necessary correspondence for the Senior Council and take charge of office materials.

I feel that I am capable of fulfilling these duties and am anxious to serve the senior class in that capacity.

I just recently completed my work as chairman of the judging for Spartade. At present I am secretary for Block S and vice-president of my sorority.

Senior Treasurer

KAY VLADAR—Jacky or better to open in poker, but in class elections good common sense will suffice. The responsibility for planning for class activities is delegated to a few. This is your opportunity to elect to office people who have the sincere, best interests of the class of '55 in mind.

As treasurer, I would do my utmost to handle our finances responsibly and stick rigidly to a budget and coordinate the activities of all our members.

MARGE PRICE—To me, the obligations of a class treasurer are to keep an accurate account of all receipts and disbursement of close funds; prepare a financial statement to be printed in the State News in the spring and take an active part in any activities of the class, such as Water Carnival, Block S, coffee hours, and dances.

This year I was finance chairman of the J-Hop and at the present am treasurer of the junior class and finance chairman of Block S. By holding these positions, I have gained valuable experience concerning the handling of class funds.

NEIL DORSEY—I feel that I have the needed qualifications for treasurer of the senior class. I have had experience as treasurer of various other organizations. I am prepared and able to allow sufficient time to the job. And being an accounting major, I have the interests and prerequisites of a treasurer.

SHIRAZ HARPER—It is my belief that the senior class officers and council should represent the entire class and not just a small select group coming to MSC. I have been interested in the activities of our class.

I feel that I have had adequate experience in class activities and as sophomore class treasurer to fulfill the requirements of this office of senior treasurer. Other activities have been: Fresh-Soph Council, Tower Guard, treasurer of Pi Beta Phi, SWL and Alpha Delta Theta.

BETTY ZINN—To be a senior class officer is a position I have worked toward since I came to Michigan State and my membership on Junior Council this year has helped me to understand the organization and problems of a class as large as ours.

We already have a good start on exceptional unity and I would like to help carry it through. To bring all those who are interested into the class activities is one of my prime objectives and because we are the Centennial class there will be many extra events that will need good workers. In all sincerity, I would like to serve you as senior class treasurer.

Junior President

BOB DEUBAKER—Junior class president is one of the most important offices on campus. If elected to this office it will be my duty to preside over the Junior Council, to help the members plan the activities of the junior class, and to coordinate these activities with the campus in general.

My experiences as National Ad Manager for the State News, treasurer of Delta Upsilon fraternity, and secretary of Green Helmet strengthen my belief that I am well qualified for this position of leadership and responsibility to the student body and the junior class.

FRANK KLEMM—In the hand of the junior class president rests the responsibility to act as coordinator of all class activities, officers and committees.

It is my duty to share in planning and completing all of the year's projects. Above all, a person in this position must be able to provide an incentive to others to carry to success the plans of the entire Junior Council. These will be my goals if elected president of the junior class.

JACK STRASSER—The junior class president has the responsibility of organizing, representing, and informing the members of his respective class. He must work for the general interest and welfare of the entire student body, and continually strive towards the betterment of this institution.

In the past two years I served as a class officer, as well as president of the Fresh-Soph Council, I am a member of Men's Council, student government, Executive Board, Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity, and an ex officio member of Student Congress.

Junior Vice-President

JIM HEUSSNER—I believe it is the duty of the vice president to help the president guide class affairs and assist to the utmost of his ability on the executive council.

If elected I will work for:

1. More class members participating in activities
2. Better organization within the class
3. A better understanding between students and administration
4. More class participation to improve the J-Hop.

In summary, if elected I will work for the betterment of the class through closer relations between class members and closer relations with the administration.

BILL WOODLEY—One of the main duties of an office such as junior class vice-president is to be willing to assist almost any committee in the class. The success of this office is determined by the office holder's ability to cooperate with the students.

I have learned to enjoy cooperation by working on Spartade, the coming Water Carnival, Theta Xi fraternity, student government and Marching Band. All of these activities require cooperation from each individual in order to advance.

LEONARD KLEMAN—The office of vice-president, no doubt, carries with it an enormous amount of responsibility. I think that I can serve in this capacity!

Why have I the right to make the previous statement? For the past year, I have served on Student Congress. I believe that the experience that I have obtained through this membership will help me to serve as vice-president.

I also belong to Green Helmet, and Phi Eta Sigma, and in the past have acquired freshman boxing numerals, as well as belonging to the West Shaw General Council, Shaw Hall Social Committee, and the Spartan Guard. Please give me the opportunity to serve you the Class of 1956!

DAISY SPARKMAN—Efficient leadership is necessary for the promotion of the junior class, which has become increasingly important through its sponsorship of the J-Hop and Junior Day. Its functions should become more deeply embedded in the traditions of MSC.

The activities of the class should be brought into more direct contact with the students. I shall do all within my power to accomplish this end. Through my participation in Fresh-Soph Council, Union Board, and Tower Guard I believe I am qualified to serve faithfully as junior vice-president of the class of 1956.

RON SMITH—As candidate for the vice-presidency of the junior class I feel that, if I am elected, I would be in a position to cooperate with the junior president and to initiate much of the legislation which would benefit our class.

The vice-president, in my opinion, should be in charge of seeing that our junior class receives the greatest amount of publicity possible. Also that the important social agenda, our 1955 J-Hop included, be as successful as ever before.

My extra-curricular activities include Delta Tau Delta, Union Board, Block S, Advertising Chairman of Water Carnival, Publicity Chairman of DTD, and High School Guide.

RORY CARRIER—In the position of vice-president I would strive to do the best possible job in promoting class projects and encouraging class spirits to make our class long remembered.

SALLY CRICK—The duties of a vice-president at MSC are to take over in the absence of the president and to perform special jobs designated by the president—in other words, his right hand man. The officers also appoint the Junior Council. I would like to serve in this capacity, as I feel that previous experience and my interest qualify me for the job.

WILLIAM HILMEYER—I believe that the duties of the vice-president are to actually help bear the burden of the president's responsibilities. If I am elected, I will do my best to express your opinions as you would like them expressed, and to see that next year's Centennial activities are carried out as efficiently and economically as possible.

ROGER SCHULTZ—I understand that the duties of the vice-president of the junior class consist largely of assisting the president in his official duties and presiding in his absence. I believe my high interest and past experience in positions of responsibility would surely and our junior class administration through the coming year.

Junior Secretary

MARY ALICE RITCHIE—I'd very much like to serve the junior class as its secretary. And as secretary, I'd expect to take care of minutes, correspondence, and also serve on various committees. It would also give me a great deal of satisfaction to help guide the class of '56 through an outstanding year.

My activities include student government, State News, Union Board, Newman Club, Spartade, Mason Dorm Council and Kappa Alpha Theta.

SANDRA SWANLEY—The duties of the junior class secretary consist mainly of keeping minutes and maintaining all of the junior class correspondence. Also she will be expected to devote her time and effort to carrying out the best interests of the junior class by serving on committees, etc.

I am interested in this type of activity, feel that I have the time to spend on it, and feel in this way I will contribute something towards MSC.

Junior Treasurer

BOB GRONWOLD—I feel qualified to hold the office of junior treasurer primarily because I am interested in the successful operation of class projects and wish to see the closest possible coordination between student desire and class government. My background in accounting and business will provide me with the technical capabilities to do a good job.

Having served on Fresh-Soph Council for one year I feel that this experience gives me a well qualified background to hold a junior class office. I also am a member of Union Board, serving on the publications committee.

LUCY CHOW—I would like to be junior treasurer because I am interested in helping to organize the junior class. Even though the main job would be to handle the finances and keep them in order, I believe it is just as important to help with the various projects that the junior class sponsors and to offer assistance whenever it is needed.

I have had experience with this office in high school. While I have been here, I have been the secretary of my dorm, in Tower Guard, and several clubs where I have worked on various committees.

BARBARA WHEELER—As treasurer of the junior class it would be my responsibility to keep an accurate account of the funds of the class, as well as cooperating with the other officers to encourage class spirit and participation. Coordinating the activities of the class with the needs of Michigan State students as a whole and the administration should be our goal. We have a big year ahead, and must all work together. Thus far I have been interested in Tower Guard and Union Board, and I am further interested in taking a more active part in my class activities.

PEGGY FISCHER—It is the responsibility of the treasurer to keep a careful and accurate account of all expenditures. Furthermore, the treasurer must cooperate with the other officers whenever called upon. If elected, I will carry out the duties and obligations of my office to the best of my ability.

Sophomore President

LARRY CHROUCH—If elected, I would strive for a well organized, active and efficient class government, where those with an active interest are encouraged and given the opportunity to participate in class activities.

I would organize a sophomore class council, consisting of members from every campus living unit, with equal representation for those living off campus to assist myself and your chosen officers in guiding the class through a larger program of class activities including a sophomore dance and regularly scheduled sophomore coffee hours.

ANDY FOELLER—I wish to be elected sophomore class president because I desire to see the ideas of the class as a whole expressed through successful activities.

As freshman vice-president, the activities in which I participated included chairman of the Easter Candlelight Service and activities chairman of Fresh-Soph Day will provide a sound foundation for the fulfillment of the duties of this office.

Other activities I have participated in as a freshman have given me valuable experience in organizational procedure. These include Union Board, Block S, Ski Club, Wolverine and Newcomer Club.

HOWARD A. JAMES—As your president of the freshman class I am trying to serve you. I have represented you at Fresh-Soph Council, Spartan Roundtable, student government, MSC, and in talks and student government executive board.

In Fresh-Soph Council I emceed the jazz concert, read the scriptures on Easter, started "reading to blind," chairman of the Fresh-Soph Dance and received the "brown jug" for our winning the contest. I am also a member of the MSC Debate Team.

I stand for this I represent you and not just one house or one of a dorm. As sophomore president, I can work for you and help our goal towards a strong, purposeful class.

JOE HOFFMAN—Since I'm a staunch believer of the class, that a president is only as efficient as his subordinates, I would set up daily office hours during which students could come to me with any suggestions, discuss any personal problems, or merely have a chat.

I also believe that the freshman and sophomore classes should have a dance of their own, therefore, I propose a Freshman Floor and a Sophomore Swing.

As president of the Fresh-Soph Council, I would do all in my power to honor all suggestions made, and as president of the sophomore class, I would make it one with which to reckon.

Sophomore Vice-President

DAVID L. KILBORN—I feel from the three terms that I have been here at Michigan State that I am well-qualified for the office of vice-president of the sophomore class.

I have become an active member of the Union Board of the social committee, Michigan State Hotel Association and treasurer of Phi Delta Theta fraternity. I feel that the class should be unified in a way that will benefit both my classmates and the school.

BOB WARNER—The office of sophomore vice-president is one which should be in competent hands. The person who holds this office should be a person who would be willing and able to do the necessary work for his class, and fulfill the responsibilities of the office.

At the present time, I am a trustee of the Christian Student Foundation, and earlier I have had offices in school, church, group, and other organizations. This background, plus a willingness to work qualifies me as an able candidate for the office.

GEORGIA BASSETT—As vice-president of the sophomore class, it would be my duty to assist the president in uniting the class in spirit and cooperative interest. The record of the class thus far has been commendable and there is no reason why it should not attain its goal.

We as sophomores, though, should not forget our obligation to work well with the other classes and administrative bodies for the assured success of MSC in winning this year. I have been interested in the activities of the class being on Fresh-Soph Council and wish to become a more responsible member.

DAVE FAULKNER—I believe the duties of this office are promoting and regulating class activities. I would like to serve in this capacity because I am interested in class activities and a close relationship between the class members and the college.

Sophomore Secretary

JEAN KASSBAUM—More class unity and spirit will be my goal. It is especially important with our Centennial coming next year. The lack of attendance at the Fresh-Soph Day is an indication that more organization is needed.

I am very interested in the "core" of our class government, and I would like the chance to prove my ability as an officer of the sophomore class.

WALLY ELLIOTT—A secretary should be able to keep accurate records of the class activities and should also contribute as much as possible of her time and energy to the various committees. I would like to do it more than anything else.

NANCY MATTHEWS—My interpretations of the duties of the office are to efficiently execute the specific duties of the office (minutes, attendance, correspondence) and to be an effective member of the executive board. My aspirations for my class are to be one who would help carry out these plans.

STEPHEN FREDER—More important than the regular duties (preparing minutes, corresponding, etc.) of a class secretary is the responsibility of cooperating with the other class officers in all activities of the class, for the betterment of the class.

My reason for wanting to become secretary of the sophomore class is two-fold. First, I feel the class of '57 has great potential and I would like to have a part in paralleling this potential to reality. Secondly, I feel the experience gained will be invaluable to me.

JEANIE WARRINGTON—I would like the office of secretary of the sophomore class because I feel the position should be held by someone who has experience with Fresh-Soph Council and who is interested in the welfare of the class.

Sophomore Treasurer

SUE RAFFERTY—The office of sophomore treasurer not only concerns itself with handling the financial matters of that class, but also requires an active interest in the activities of the class.

I am seeking this position because I feel that I am capable of fulfilling these requirements. Prior to enrolling at MSC, I held the position of senior class treasurer. Since fall term I have been a student government representative and have worked on the Finance, Grants in Aid, Election, and Michigan Week committees, was social chairman of my dormitory and worked on UMOG and Spartade.

PAT TAVENNER—What do you expect of your class treasurer? Of course the treasurer attends to all financial matters of the class, but to me the office of treasurer is more than that. The treasurer is a representative of the class and should bring ideas and problems of the class members to the Fresh-Soph Council.

She or he should cooperate in every possible way with the other class officers. The treasurer should support all activities and try to create more unity and spirit among the sophomore class. Our class has met with great success this year and with continued hard work this success can be met again next year.

'Winter's Tale' Poses Musical Problem

By JACKIE OLDFHAM

A musical scale is not a usual production problem in any play, even Shakespearean drama.

However, Dr. Paul Harder, assistant professor of music, faces a definite problem of scales in composing music for the spring term play, "The Winter's Tale."

During the seventeenth century, when Shakespeare wrote the play, a musical scale structurally different from the one we are accustomed to hearing was used, said Dr. Harder.

Shakespeare, not being a composer, wrote only the words to the five solo songs in "Winter's Tale," and specified dance and background music in the stage directions without writing a score.

So, except for one old English round, "Summer Is Icomen In," sung by a chorus, all music in the term play will be original.

To suggest an authentic feeling in scoring the piece, Dr. Harder is using the modal scales of sixteenth and seventeenth century music, with modern techniques.

All the solo numbers will be sung without accompaniment, said Harder.

Two mounted flute players, Duane Mitchell, Grand Rapids sophomore, and George Smith, first freshman, will play on stage a background for the shepherd's dance. Another small passage will be recorded by the MSC symphony orchestra.

"The Winter's Tale" will run May 20, 21 and 22 in Fairchild Theater.

IFC Progresses On Constitution

The Inter-Fraternity Council made further progress Tuesday night on the proposed new constitution.

Courtney Lecklider, IFC president, said that amendments were made to the first three articles and that the constitution was completely written up at the meeting.

Next Tuesday, the remaining articles will be amended if necessary. The group will hold its meeting at the SAE fraternity house.

Scientific Methods--With Bedside Manner?

Giltner's Clinic Treats Everything From Dogs to Cows

By REV BUSCH
State News Editorial Assistant
Nearly 7,000 pups limp in and leap out of Giltner Hall's small animal clinic each year.

Most of them are from in and around Michigan, said Edward K. Sales, director of surgery and medicine. But there are a few patients like the boxer puppy who came all the way from Texas.

Canine are afflicted with a lot of human maladies including cancer, tumors, hernias, ruptures, pneumonia, heart diseases, tonsillitis, sore throats, coughs, joint and skin diseases and fractures.

Unlike their sanitary American masters, however, dogs are frequently bothered by parasites.

Most of the cases are referred by practicing veterinarians rather than brought in directly by the owners. Otherwise, the staff of student aides and 12 veterinarians would have more cases than it could handle, Sales said.

Besides the small-animal clinic, Giltner also houses a large-animal clinic for cows, horses, sheep-goats and pigs.

What happens to a dog, whose catfence existence of chasing, sinking bones and glug ging up flowers ends temporarily when he is admitted to the clinic?

First he is registered and his ailment diagnosed. Then he is operated on or given medical treatment. Next he is lodged in a surgical, medical or isolation ward.

His first hospital chow is likely to be sterilized water and warmed-up mutton from a deep freeze.

When it's time for his pen to be released, he gets a chance to sun himself in an outdoor run. From then on the routine of meals, sleep and treatment is kept up until the pet recuperates. Unlike student patients at Olin, he is allowed to receive visitors.

Issues of the 1954 Campaign is the general topic for the discussion, to which all students and faculty members are invited.

Geology Class Studies Michigan Sand Dunes

Dr. Standard Berquist, head of the geology and geography department, recently took members of a geology class on a week-end field trip. The students studied the sand dunes in Southwestern Michigan.

Faculty members are invited. Sales said the patients are usually well-behaved.

"Once in a while, some are vicious, but after they're here for a while, they come around."

If all goes well in a minor surgical case, the patient is usually released the next day, in surgery, the next week, and in a medical case, from four to six weeks.

Students in veterinary medicine occasionally assist in the treatment under a vet's supervision. More often, they prepare food, run tests, help during operations and check the progress of patients.

Four of them maintain residence in Giltner, like interns, so that emergency cases may be accepted and the animals kept safe during the night.

Sailing Club Places Third In Competition

The MSC Sailing Club was host to the district B championships for the Midwest Collegiate Sailing Association this past weekend.

Regatta was held at Lake Lansing, both Saturday and Sunday. Twenty races were sailed with the University of Notre Dame taking first place, Ohio Wesleyan second, and MSC coming in third.

Other schools participating in the regatta were the University of Detroit and Wayne University.

The teams from Notre Dame and Ohio Wesleyan will compete in a regatta to be held at Purdue University on May 23 and 24. Winner of the Purdue regatta will be named the champion sailing team of the midwest.

The clinic rivals many hospitals in its equipment. There are two examination rooms, a waiting room, X-ray and developing rooms, operating rooms and medicinal storerooms, in addition to wards for the small animals and whole floors of stalls for the larger ones.

It was established around the turn of the century.

Changes Made In Television Signal Set-up

Certain adjustments and changes have been made in the distribution of signals to help improve the antenna at the WKAR-TV station.

It is hoped that chief engineer Lynn Towley, that these adjustments will improve reception in the coverage area, a radius of 60 miles. People have been calling and telling of the improvements.

A field survey will be getting under way soon to measure signal strength of the coverage area. James D. Davis, operation manager, said that the survey is being made in an attempt to improve overall operational procedures.

Physics Talk Stated On Ultrasonic Testing

James Burns, of the International Testing Service in Saginaw, will be the speaker at the Physics Colloquium in 221 Physics-Mathematics Building at 3 p.m. today. His topic will be "Determination of the Elastic Constants of Glasses by Ultrasonic Methods."

Fraternity Review

Traditions Highlight Greek Social Life

Editor's Note: This is the second in a weekly series of articles dealing with the activities and histories of the fraternities on the MSU campus.

By MARILYN MINION

Traditions are famous on MSU's campus, and those belonging to fraternities are no exception. Whether the traditions be party, athletic contests or benefit projects, they've weaved their way into Greek social life.

"Play ball" is a familiar shout around the Alpha Tau Omega house each spring as the fraternity ball games get underway on the front lawn.

One of the biggest events of the ATO year is the pledge formal held in their ballroom. Others include a Christmas party for orphans, Blackfoot Whitefoot Ball, co-sponsored with Sigma Nu, and a "Day in the Fall" and the publication of "The Tau Topics," the fraternity's publication three times a year for alumni.

On the morning of the MSC-U of M game, the chapters from the two schools meet in their own football game. The ATOs also participate in an athletic day with five other chapters.

Alpha Tau Omega was founded nationally at Virginia Military Institute in 1865 and locally in 1940. The local chapter has 84 active members.

The Beta Theta Pi's sponsor the Delta Street Shuffle each fall. Beta was founded nationally at Miami University, O., in 1839 and locally in 1950. It has seven members belong to the local chapter.

Included in the fraternity's traditions is its annual Beta Theta Pi Phi Kappa Tau day, which includes athletic events and a picnic. The Betas, Phi Delta Theta, and Sigma Chi's, hold an annual Miami Triad dance.

Beta Theta Pi and Gamma Phi Beta co-sponsor a Christmas party for underprivileged children. Betas also sponsor the Gamma Phi Beta in their annual powder bowl football game against the Delta Gamma's.

"King of Swat" title is given to the Delta Chi active who has been "toughest" on the pledges. Each pledge class elects a "King of Swat" and the winner's name is carved on the pledge paddle which hangs in the house.

Among the Delta Chi's traditions is their pledge-active mud game. The losers eat much for supper, but the winners have steak. The Delta Chi's also hold a Christmas party for underprivileged children and publish a paper for alumni and actives.

A traveling trophy between the MSC and Ohio State chapter is given to the chapter whose varsity team wins the OHSU-MSU football game. The Delta Chi's also have a Hall of Fame. Approximately one senior a year, who has outstanding activities, has his picture hung in the Hall of Fame and his name inscribed on a plaque.

An interesting feature of the Delta Chi House is its artist who paints pictures and cartoons for the room's rooms. The fraternity was founded nationally at Cornell in 1890 and locally in 1935.

Cool Cat

One of the Delta Tau Delta boys got on the ball during the recent Mumbo Festival in the Auditorium. He was asked to pull the curtain on a cue to be given by the stage manager. Rhythm got swinging and the cue man earned away.

"Go man, go!" he sang out, and the student closed the curtain prematurely but on cue.

Smoke Joke

Students sneaking a smoke that led two institutional professors to notify East Lansing firemen that something was amiss in their department. The smoke-like odor was traced to a heating pipe.

National Officer to Visit Zeta Beta Tau Chapter

Zeta Beta Tau's national field secretary, William Karchner, will visit the chapter this week. He will be an honored guest at the fraternity's term party this weekend.

Delta Sigma Pi to Tour Telephone Company

Delta Sigma Pi members will be guests of the Bell Telephone Company in Lansing at its May 10 meeting. The fraternity will take a tour of the business divisions and observe the telephone system in action, following the meeting.

Junior '500' Races Attract Coed Carts

Dorms Enter Derby for First Time

For the first time in Lambda Chi Alpha's annual "Junior 500" history, women's living units will be represented in an event of their own.

Mason, North Campbell, South Campbell, West Yackley, East Yackley, West Lansing and East Mayo will participate in the May 15 race by building their own pushcarts and sponsoring men to run in the race.

The teams must be at the Women's Gym at 12:15 p.m. in preparation for the race which starts at 1 p.m.

A team will be composed of five male pushers, and one driver. The relay race will start in front of the Women's Gym and follow Circle Drive back to the Gym. The pushers will change places at four relay points along the way.

Specifications for the pushcarts are the same as for the men's entries. Carts must have a 72 inch long wheelbase and be 36 inches wide. They are not to be more than 48 inches high and diameter of the wheels is not to exceed 12 inches.

The coed entrants will not be represented by a queen as will the men's teams but they will have a representative present in case they receive a trophy.

The main event of the day, the men's speed pushcart race, is patterned after the Senior 500 race at Indianapolis. The men will build their own carts and race them.

A third attraction is the humorous men's event which features pushcarts in a variety of forms.

First and second place trophies will be awarded for each event by the Lambda Chi Crest Queen, Carolyn Whitney, Jackson sophomore.

The MSC Lambda Chi Alpha chapter inaugurated the "Junior 500" derby in 1948. Since then, other Lambda Chi chapters throughout the country have included it in their annual activities.

The University of Kentucky originated the coed race as a main part of the derby.

Mason coeds work on their pushcart in preparation for the Lambda Chi Alpha "Junior 500" derby May 15.

This Is Living

By JEAN GREGORY

Primary elections for class officers will be held Thursday and the final vote will be taken next week.

I can almost see your minds working. You think that this is going to end up as a lecture on voting. Well—you're right.

Students will look at campaign posters and say, "I wouldn't vote for him if he were running for garbage man," or "She couldn't preside over a meeting of store dummies." These remarks aren't so bad if you have a good reason for saying them. But it's always best to state your reasons and let others decide whether or not they're worthy of consideration.

Another poor thing is to say that you are going to vote for someone just because he's a fraternity brother, or because she lives in your dorm. By all means vote for them, though, if you honestly believe they are the candidates best suited for the job.

People who remark, "His father digs ditches. I won't vote for him," and "Her hair style is most unbecoming. I think I'll vote for Lana Glamour instead," are showing very poor judgment. Keep in mind that statements like these do not mention the qualities that determine a person's leadership ability. They show no thought at all rather than just poor thinking.

Once you've decided on your favorite candidate, support his campaign. If you think he's worthy of office, surely you want others to think so too. Help him by telling other students in your living unit about his campus activities and ability.

Don't stop there, though. Herd your roommate and friends to the polls to make their selection. And don't forget to cast your own ballot.

Spartans Renew Series Here With Notre Dame

Kobs Chooses Chuck Gorman To Face Irish

Michigan State, currently holding down second place in the Big 10 baseball race, will take time out from conference action to renew its time-honored rivalry with Notre Dame today at Old College Field.

The baseball series, dating back to 1907 with 74 contests in the record book, is one of State's oldest. The Irish hold an edge over MSC, having won 41 to MSC's 33.

WKAR will broadcast and televise the game starting at 3:30 p.m. Students with ID cards will be admitted without charge.

Notre Dame, with only five letter winners from the 1953 squad that won 16 contests and lost seven, will be a relatively inexperienced team.

Spartan Coach John Kobs, on the other hand, has a squad of experienced men to choose from, both in the field and on the mound.

The hitting in the regular season to date, in which State has lost but one of six games, has improved from an .216 average registered on the Spring southern tour to a lofty .305 mark.

Despite the lack of veterans, Notre Dame has more than held its own in mid-west competition. The Irish won handily over Purdue in a 16-10 slugfest, then lost to Northwestern, 6-3. Last Saturday the South Bend team came through with a 7-4 win over Western Michigan.

Chuck Gorman, righthander from Lansing, is slated to take the mound against the Irish who will counter with any one of three—Angelo Capozzi or Gerry Spaeth, both sophomores, or John Reynolds, a senior.

Certain to be behind the plate for Notre Dame will be veteran Dick Gabank, while other lettermen in the lineup will be Cap, Hal Reilly at third base, Dick Colston at first and Mark Tremblay in centerfield.

George Smith, Spartan second-sacker, leads Michigan State regulars with a .348 batting average while reserve outfielder Ray Colled, who has six runs batted in against Illinois last Friday, has a .475 mark.

'Kid' Signs to Defend Crown Against Saxton

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Kid Gavilan will defend his welterweight boxing championship against Johnny Saxton at Connie Mack Stadium here during the latter part of June or early July, promoter Herman Taylor announced Tuesday.

The bout will be Gavilan's first title defense since Nov. 13, 1953, when he defeated Johnny Bratton in Chicago. The Cuban Kid recently lost a decision to Bobo Olson in an effort to win the middleweight crown.

Veterans Spark Badger Eleven

(Editor's Note: This is the eighth in a series of articles dealing with spring football practice at each of the Big 10 schools.)

By CHUCK MILLER
State News Sports Editor

In each of the five years that Wisconsin's coach, Ivy Williamson, has been at the helm, the Badgers have been in title contention going into the final game. However, only once—in 1952—when they tied with Purdue for the conference crown, have they finished on top.

With 13 lettermen back this year, including seven starters from the 1953 team, the Badgers are determined to go all the way this year.

All-American Alan Ameche, the seemingly perennial Badger fullback, has at long last reached his senior year, and only when he is graduated will opposing coaches be able to breathe easier when Wisconsin is next on their schedule.

He was only a sophomore when he led the Badgers to a near win over their coast opponent in the 1953 Rose Bowl.

The big six-foot, 208-pound fullback tore the Southern Cal line to shreds and turned the ends throughout the game. However, the Trojan hung on for a 6-0 win, and registered the POC's only win to date in the post-season classic.

Including Ameche, the Badgers can count on three fourths of last year's starting backfield with quarterback Jim Miller and right half Bob Groggins.

The Badgers appear strongest at center, right guard, right end and quarterback, where both the first and second string players from last year's team are back.

At center, Williamson can count on Gary Messner and Bill McNamara. Right ends are Ron Locklin and Jim Temp, and the two returning right guards are Don Ursin and Norm Amundsen.

The Badgers were hit hard by graduation at left end, tackle and halfback, where both first and second stringers were lost.

Although his letterman number among the fewest in the conference, Williamson is fortunate in that the returnees are in key positions in Wisconsin's offense.

The most important man in this type of offense, is naturally the quarterback, who handles the ball on nearly every play. Williamson has plenty of depth at this spot with two experienced holdovers.

The center of the line should be strong also, with proven performers at both guards and center. The ends are unevenly balanced, as far as experience goes, with the top three men at right end-back, and only the third string left end returning.

However, with four experienced ends, Williamson should be able to come up with a good combination.

The tackles present the most serious problem, with the second and third string performers at right tackle last year moving up to man the starting jobs on both sides.

The backfield could be a question mark. Although three of last year's four starters remain, half of the

Ladewig Tops Spartans

Grandma Pin Champ Gives Exhibition

By MIKE CARR

"My grandma can beat your dad."

That's almost a sure bet if "Grandma" happens to be Marion Ladewig and the Weapons are bowling balls at 63 feet.

Mrs. Ladewig's many awards and busy schedule surely qualify her for the title of Sportsman's best-known grandmother. Among other things, she has won the Women's National Match Game championship five times in succession, been named Women Bowler of the Year four consecutive years and was awarded the Helms Foundation award for the Outstanding Woman Athlete of Michigan.

Mrs. Ladewig has a home address in Grand Rapids, but her busy agenda keeps her hopping around the country most of the time representing her sponsor, a leading manufacturer of bowling equipment.

It was one of these exhibition appearances that brought her to the Union Allevs Tuesday afternoon, where she passed out some free instruction of the basic fundamentals of the game and rolled a few impromptu matches against three members of the Michigan State bowling team.

Rolling below average games (for her that is) of 179, 176, 186 Mrs. Ladewig still managed to come out ahead of her competition on all the games except one when Rich Schweiger managed to edge her out in the last two frames.

Last week she entered and won every event open to women in the Grand Rapids All-City Tournament and she also bowls with four different league teams in the city. Her off-days will usually find her rolling at least three practice games.

Westerly Winds

Cold Streak Snaps Today as Mercury Climbs

Some let up in Michigan's vicious cold streak was predicted for today by the weather bureau.

The spell, which reached a low of 30 degrees here Tuesday, was expected to lift somewhat with temperatures climbing to 40 degrees and westerly winds ranging from 15 to 20 miles per hour.

The Arctic blast moved into the state from Canada, the weather bureau reported. Upper Peninsula regions were hit by blizzards and a foot of snow Tuesday, making highways impassable. Not more than one-half inch of snow fell in the lower state areas.

Even the supposedly warm South was tormented by the freakish cold streak which covered the eastern two-thirds of the nation from the Atlantic to the Gulf of Mexico. Arkansas and Texas received frost.

(Continued from Page 1) sent by the Lansing Downtown Coaches Club to "the individual other than coaches and players who did the most for college athletics."

Young was gracious and humble throughout the program, and once, when members of his first coaching staff were introduced, he spoke these significant words: "At MSC we've never worked

FOR somebody, we've always worked WITH somebody. I think that this is the key to the success we've had."
