Christmas Display Plans Made

Student Leaders, Merchants Meet

With steaming weather exhausting most Spartans and 108 days left until Christmas, student government executives are planning displays for the holidays.

Next year's three top officers, president Bill Hurst, secretary of student affairs Moe McBride, and secretary of government affairs Roger Augustine met with East Lansing Merchants Association members Wednesday night to lay final plans for a display contest.

According to Hurst, displays will be staged on the traffic islands on Grand River for approximately four weeks before Christmas. Living units will pair up to produce the exhibits.

College TV Station Scores Many Firsts

Nearly five months ago, WKAR-TV moved into its fourth "home."

The third educational TV station of its kind when it began operations in January, WKAR-TV is now one of five universities in the field.

To extend the educational resources and services of the college to the public is the aim of the college station.

In its first five months of the new studio, WKAR-TV has done just that.

More than 30 percent of its shows have been live, or originated directly from the studio.

Through the University of the Air, WKAR-TV, sponsored by the Continuing Education Service, viewers within a radius of 60 miles can choose a study program from four centers.

Home economics and agriculture programs have played an important part in the schedule. Other shows have included a program on college research, a child-rearing program, popular and symphonic music and a series of outstanding films.

Sports events, including football and baseball games, have been among the most popular programs.

The college station has also chalked up a number of firsts.

Michigan State's 96th Commencement was "on the air" Sunday. The International Festival in MSC Band concert in the Band Shell, the Green Splash show were televised by the station's 11-foot mobile unit.

Canon, Minolta's shift program of student entertainment made an appearance in the fall. To give viewers an "inside look" at the Union Buildings and its activities.

It is not likely that the station will stop here to celebrate its birthday. Tuesday, it has too much to do.

Completion of a third studio, which will include a complete kitchen set for home economics programs, is set for next fall. Space in the former Onusset cafeteria will provide dressing, storage and makeup rooms.

With the addition of Studio A, the station will be able to televise one show, have another in full rehearsal and set up a third in the remaining room.

Several courses, including one in transcription, will be added to the University series, according to Ken Richards, program director.

A program of piano music, football games, and additional home economics and agriculture programs will be added.

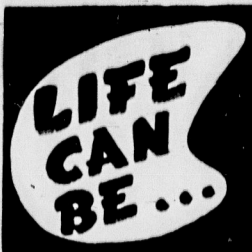

Studio B will present a series on the service activities of MSU students. The International center will work on a series dealing with the customs, dress, activities of other countries.

Extensive coverage of cultural events will be one of the major projects during 1964-65, Richards said.

Since its operations began, the station has sent more than 100 students into television and related fields.

Students from the activities presented on the air studio these students are well prepared for their jobs.

700 PREPARED, AND STILL GOING STRONG...

NORTH LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—Postmaster O. W. Neely received a letter from a man in California trying to locate a friend. The Californian took a postcard, among other things, that letter had been returned.

Neely says he can't be of much help. Neely says in the letter did the writer mention a name.

DANVILLE, Pa.—An airplane and its son pulled a hollow log from the creek for the school. The log was 12 feet long and 11 inches thick. The airplane was a 11-inch thick beam and one 10-inch beam.

CLARIMONT, N. H.—A 1961 Plymouth found the front end of his automobile supported by concrete blocks. The two front wheels, tires and hubcaps had been stolen.

A year ago on the same spot in the same way the car was wheel and hub from a different car.

Squelched

Dean James McLead of North-western University last week came up with lesson one in "Elementary Party Raid Prevention."

And the good dean was so successful that he might do well to write a handbook describing his methods for other college administrators.

In a now much publicized move, Dean McLead calmly stopped the would-be raiders of a coed dormitory with the words:

"I want your names and draft numbers." The sentence had a shattering effect on the 200 student raiders, who took little time in putting the dormitory far behind them.

When and if Dean McLead does author a handbook describing the intricacies of dealing with that now familiar aspect of the American college scene, and the dean's success makes him the ideal man for the job—he may hit the best seller list.

Wonder if he'd divulge the secret of how he managed to be at the right dorm at the critical moment?

Show Will Be On

The Spartan baseball team will open its Little World Series today, and you can hear it all on WKAR.

This is news, because as late as Tuesday evening the station had no plans for broadcasting the game.

After a full day spent working on the problem, Station Director Robert Coleman announced Wednesday that WKAR would carry the series.

Included in his efforts was a special phone call to Washington, D.C., to James Denson, administrative assistant to Free Hannah, so he could discuss funds for the undertaking.

Permission for the funds was obtained and the show will air.

Coleman, and his staff, deserve congratulations for championship support of a championship team.

Bravo

Parents of new students will learn about MSU and the educational philosophies of its administrators next fall at a two-hour Parents' Convocation, it was announced this week.

The plan sounds like a good one. Parents, who often fast the education bill, naturally have more than a passing interest in the place where their sons and daughters go to school.

Also, their only direct source of information about the college is from students, who aren't always infallible in giving the facts.

But the convocation will give parents the opportunity to find out what makes MSU function from those who are responsible to see that it does.

Strictly From MARs

By MARY ALICE RUTCHIN State News Women's Editor

Many MSC ladies claim that they never have to study. Thus this column will be directed to the poor struggling souls who are forced to hibernate in their study rooms during the next week or so.

No, I'm not ready with the questions for even campus "bookies" won't venture odds since they know a prof's final may be influenced by the weather, his game of golf or whether in law.

Therefore, let's all don our study caps and get to serious thinking about how to be on the rising end of the marking curve.

First of all, how good are your study quarters? If you find yourself keeping rhythm to the "Flat" Ace and playing bridge hands between history chapters, get out fast! Concentrating for finals shouldn't weaken even for a "blackwood" bridge bid.

Locke's "blank mind" theory certainly would help you in studying. Too often, pictures of boys "he" looked at the J-Hop, what you'll do this summer and graduation may seem to pop up on the very page you are looking at.

Contrary to college opinion, final exam questions aren't to track the student, what prof wants the same faces next term? but rather to see how well you can apply what you have learned.

This means, coeds, that while you may not remember your psychology experiments, you still can use them when your child starts brooding pabnum for your husband, complaints about your cooking.

In a nutshell, that's it: studying is learning, learning is applying, and applying is "Well, that's what we came to college for."

And now with sun tan oil, books and a portable radio, strictly from" signs off...

Members of Panel Council who are making plans for their television show which will be presented next fall and winter terms are Judy Craig, Detroit junior, Ann MacMillan, Erie, Pa., sophomore, Carol Whitney, Jackson sophomore, and Margie Ireland, Birmingham junior.

'Val' Erickson Wins Scholarship Coed to Study Drama

Valerie Erickson, Angola, Ind., sophomore, will be spending her summer vacation working at plays. She has received a scholarship from the Plymouth Drama Festival at Provincetown, Mass., on Cape Cod.

She will be one of a group of 15 students chosen from applicants from all over the country to receive instruction at the drama school.

The faculty of the five week school which will begin June 29, is composed of instructors from Harvard and Yale and other eastern colleges and universities.

Valerie, better known as "Val", who is a sportsman in her spare time, has spent about the same time in a drama school, as she and her mother visited the company when they were traveling through New England last summer. After seeing the play and watching some of the rehearsals, Valerie decided to apply for one of the scholarships.

I had a great time, I found that I had an interest in trying to apply for one.

A unique feature of the company is that the students themselves do all of the acting as well as preparing sets and costumes. The group is busy performing another. Three performances are presented a week.

Valerie's professional acting training at the Plymouth Drama Festival, Provincetown, Mass., will be completed in August. She will then return to Michigan to continue her studies at the University of Michigan.

Valerie, who appeared in "Meditation" and "A Winter's Tale" last season, attended the school last year.

The school is directed by Pauline Feather-Picker, who has been teaching drama at the University of Michigan for many years.

Cross-Filing System Revised
California Dems Nominate Slate

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—California Democrats nominated a full slate in Tuesday's primary for the first time in 40 years under the state's cross-filing law.

retiring the nomination for both parties. The more widely known Republican candidates had swept most state offices in the primary and won the election.

Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell said Wednesday the attitude was unchanged toward Roosevelt and Rep. Robert L. Condon. Mitchell had named Roosevelt accused of anti-Communist and took the money from the pay checks of St. Louis factory workers.

Laniel Asks French Vote of Confidence

PARIS (AP)—Premier Joseph Laniel decided early Thursday to stake the fate of his harassed government on a vote of confidence in the National Assembly.

Laniel's decision to ask for a formal vote of confidence in which debate would force his resignation came after he was soundly defeated in a vote of 144 to 289 on a motion of no confidence.

Observers had little optimism the Laniel government could weather this vote.

It will be the third time within a month that Laniel has asked for a vote of confidence. The motion was passed by the National Assembly in a 144 to 289 vote. Laniel's government was defeated in a vote of 144 to 289 on a motion of no confidence.

McCarthy

McCarthy took Symington up on a dare, promised he'd ground out before a special investigating committee on his financial affairs if Symington would give sworn testimony in the present inquiry.

and he, regretfully, said he had to go back to Boston when the man told him he was a member of the Lawyers Guild when he was in law school, and for a month afterward.

The climactic encounter between Welch and McCarthy came after the Boston lawyer came off as his weapon tried to show Colby "out on" evidence of alleged taking in the Army interest of taking it to Secretary Stevens and saying:

Welch may be "pained" he said, but "there is no pain in his chest about... the attempt to destroy the reputation and take the jobs away from the young men who were working in my committee."

G. B. Shaw

"Mr. McCarthy," Welch said, "your voice is cold and bitter, but radiating out there. I am curious this matter with you, there... if there is a God in heaven, it will do neither you nor your cause any good."

Dodgers Still Interest Dressen

By WHITNEY MARTIN Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP) We have the idea that no pair of eyes is following the fortunes of the Brooklyn Dodgers these days more closely than the baby-blue property of Charley Dressen.

WKAR to Cover Playoff Series

Shackleton In Omaha For Games

WKAR announced plans Wednesday for broadcasting the Spartan baseball team's national title series in Omaha.

Officials of the station, and that Bob Shackleton, WKAR sports director, is already on his way to Omaha and will broadcast the first game today at noon, MST time.

Previously the station had said that there were no plans for radio coverage of the series.

Main reason given was lack of funds to finance the trip and equipment.

After receiving a flood of phone calls Tuesday, Robert Coleman, station director, worked out the problem Wednesday morning and announced early Wednesday afternoon that the games would be broadcast.

Because of the winners-play-off system, losers play losers system in use in the playoff, broadcast time for each game will be announced at the end of the previous game.

If the Spartans play Sunday and they meet the one to win the title, there is some doubt that the college will allow the station to broadcast the game, Coleman said.

Regulations also call for the AM part of WKAR to sign off the air at 6 p.m. each day. This would mean that only people with FM receivers could listen to late games in the series.

Coleman said that nothing definite had been decided on those two aspects of the broadcast.

If they are unable to carry the late games, Coleman said that plans call for a running account of the highlights of the game the next morning.

Michigan State will face the Redmen of Massachusetts in today's opening game of the title series.

The Spartans are favored to capture the series and fans and players alike point to the Massachusetts team as the big one of the tour.

MSU's quarter-backing press is expected to exert a heavy hand on the Phil Taylor team, the mainstay of the Massachusetts team.

Large, well-timed games on two consecutive days to qualify the eastern team for the series.

Before leaving for Omaha, the team members said that they were aware that the Redmen were the big one.

In the second game of the day, Arizona will face Oregon.

George Law, son of former Chicago White Sox star Thornton Law, will lead for Arizona.

There are six freshmen on the Detroit Lion football squad. They are Joe Schmidt, Harry Seaman, Dick Stanford, Carl Karim, and Gene Gedman.

NCAA Meet To Preview Olympics

ANN ARBOR (AP) — With Russia indicating it will field its strongest team in history for the 1956 Olympic games, there is unusually deep interest in the NCAA track meet at the University of Michigan, Friday and Saturday.

Despite the fact that the Olympics are two years away, 2,000 Canadians, Michigan track coaches estimate that 50 to 60 per cent of American track might for the 1956 games will be on display at the two-day NCAA meet.

"The Olympic committee will be closely watching this meet," Canham said. "There will be more athletes competing than in any of the previous NCAA meets."

Michigan, hosting the games for the first time, said the final entry list shows 475 individual entries. Fifty-nine teams completed last year.

Defending champion, Southern California, presenting a balanced squad of 100 had three runners, three hurdlers and seven cyclists, among other sports featured by the team this for the sixth straight year.

Canham predicts that Illinois, Stanford and California should give the Trojans their most trouble.

"With a break in legs, he said, Frank Thomas could slip in and have the title.

There is a possibility that several meet records — and perhaps a world record — will be broken in this 33rd annual meet.

"We might see a seven-foot box jump," Canham said. "It's not impossible, you know."

Two high jumpers, Eric Shelton of Southern Cal and Chuck Houting of East Texas State, each have cleared 6'10" before. In fact, presently highest.

The meet marks a step taken to give the high school boys a chance to see the best male, female and juvenile.

One Broken, Three Tied Spartans Qualified In Record Fashion

One NCAA baseball tournament record was set, and three others were equaled as Michigan State downed Ohio University in the best two of three games in the District 4 baseball playoff to qualify for the Omaha series.

Performance in NCAA district play are equal to efforts in the tournament record book.

Dick Fishbaugh, Ohio second baseman and John Matlock, Spartan shortstop, each topped the single game record for runs batted in. Fishbaugh with seven and Matlock with five.

The old record of runs batted in by numerous players.

Tom Backus, Ohio catcher, equaled the mark for most home runs in one game with one.

Matlock, with a triple, Michigan Spartan first baseman, had three runs in one game, three runs batted in, 1949 and 1950 in the tournament.

Ohio catcher Bill Frederick came through with two important sacrifice hits in the final game, each scoring runs to tie the mark set by numerous players in the eight years of national competition.

Ahead of Pace Star the Man Ignores Chance Of Topping Ruth

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Stan Musial is 2,000 games ahead of Babe Ruth's home run pace of 1927. He may be set the record with 60.

But the St. Louis Cardinal slugger, leading the major league batting parade with .339, is harboring no thoughts of breaking it.

"I'm still only a singles hitter," Musial said. "The day might after getting his twentieth home run of the season. There's been a lot of home run slugging but only one hit."

The Cardinals dropped to seventh and seventh place in the New York Yankees' 1954 season game on 20th.

Musial's twentieth home run came in the top of the eighth inning of the Cardinals' 1954 game.

Guidance Set for Coed Transfers

By KLARA FISKEITEL

Twenty students and twenty faculty members are completing plans for the fall transfer student program, sponsored by the Spartan Women's League. An organization meeting was held last night in the Union.

This new program was developed to make women transfer students feel welcome on the MSC campus, according to Mabel Peterson, assistant to the dean of students, women's division, and SWL advisor. "Transfer girls feel like forgotten people," said Miss Peterson.

"Other large schools have done something about the transfer problem," continued Miss Peterson. "However, our plan has a two-fold purpose. We also feel that there is a need for better faculty-student relations."

Miss Beatrice Fessenden, assistant professor of counseling, stated that last year 22 per cent of new students were transfers. The student and faculty leaders will arrange campus tours, shopping trips, and informal get-acquainted meetings during Orientation Week. They will each head a group of 25 transfer students.

Jackie Climie, SWL president, stated she was glad at the enthusiasm expressed by both the student and faculty members. "The program we are undertaking is a large one," concluded Miss Climie, "but we feel we can succeed with this wonderful support."

The student leaders will return to the campus Sunday, September 19, for a 9 a.m. meeting. After a morning discussion period, the group will have dinner at Kellore Center. Further discussion will take place before each leader greets her transfer student group.

Student leaders selected after Spartan Women's League Board screening were Roberta Vermillion, Kansas City freshman; Mary Rose Peterson, Corunna junior; Nancy Lee Owen, New Rochelle, N.Y., freshman; Mary Collinson, Midland freshman; Pat Stewart, Hinsdale, Ill., freshman; and Connie Peterson, Owosso junior.

Still others selected were Klara Fiskeitel, Dearborn junior; Elizabeth Gibson, Dearborn freshman; Alice Brunner, Olean, N.Y., freshman; Suzanne Rowe, Three Rivers junior; Marilyn Brink, Holland junior; Pat Lambur, West Palm Beach, Fla., junior; Mary Ann Yahnka, Dearborn sophomore; Jan Pifer, Niles freshman; and Marlea Atkin.

Faculty members who will greet the new students are Beatrice Franquist, assistant professor of home economics extension; Marie Wolfe, assistant professor of bacteriology; and Martha Layman, associate professor on the board of examiners.

Other faculty members are

Harriet Nordholm, assistant professor of music; Louise Hanso, assistant professor of elementary education; Thomas Bishop, assistant professor of women's physical education; and Mrs. Helen Green, instructor in business education.

Still others working with SWL are Lois Calhoun, professor and head of the anatomy department; Jane Smith, assistant professor of zoology; Isabel Blyth, assistant professor of mathematics; Anne McGurk, assistant professor of communication skills; Dorothy Parker, assistant to the dean of students, women's division; and Eleanor Ragon, instructor in foods and nutrition.

Also selected were Alice Thorpe, instructor in home management; Bernice Borgman, associate professor of home management and child development; and Jeanette Lee, assistant to the dean of home economics.

Completing the list of faculty members are Elizabeth Wiegand, assistant professor of home management and child development; Rosaline Mentzer, assistant professor of vocational home economics; Amy Jean Holmblom, assistant professor of vocational home economics; and Mary Hurt, associate professor of vocational home economics.

Husbands Fail

'Busted Dreams' Settle in Heart Of Six-Timer

DETROIT (AP)—Mrs. Roy M. Roy, a hefty 55-year-old, turned the tables Wednesday on her husband, who only last month she said was the "best one I ever had—and I've had six."

Her husband Roy was sentenced to 30 days in jail for assault and battery, when she testified he "slugged me this morning." She said he had come home drunk, and then slugged her.

Last month, both of them were before Traffic Court in a minor traffic accident. Police complained that she had hit them with what she called "my good left hook."

She told the judge then her husband was "a good boy," she added. "He's the best husband I ever had because he doesn't drink or carouse." But Wednesday in court, she said, her "dream" was busted.

Picture Contracts

Contracts for organization pictures for the Centennial Wolverine should be signed as soon as possible in the Wolverine office by presidents or authorized officers, said Doug Coulter, business manager.

The contracts include a reservation of space and allow early planning of pictures. A letter was sent to the organization presidents.

Discussing plans for the Spartan Women's League orientation program for transfer women students are Miss Mabel Peterson, assistant dean of students; Louise Hanso, assistant professor of elementary education; Jackie Climie, SWL president, and Mary Rose Peterson, Corunna sophomore.

Top Salaries Face Grads In Packaging

Graduates of one of MSC's most recent curricula can look forward to stepping into an industry that will pay starting salaries as high as $15,000.

Packaging technology, a $12 billion yearly activity in which almost every industry shares, is included in the forest products department of the School of Agriculture.

The curriculum in packaging was instituted at MSC fall term and currently there are 11 majors in the field.

State was the first school in the country to recognize the need for packaging executives and to create such a major. James Goff of the forest products department is in charge of the curriculum.

Packaging technologists put their training to use in sales, design, research, testing and other industrial areas, according to Goff.

According to a survey conducted by Packaging Institute, starting salaries in the field range from $3,000 yearly to the $15,000 figure, which may be paid to graduates hired by companies severely in need of packaging technologists.

Various manufacturers have contributed machinery, publicity and advice to the forest products department's packaging laboratory, located on South Campus, Goff said.

The curriculum consists of subjects in business, engineering and specialized study selected by an industry advisory committee. Revisions are made yearly by the group.

Dems Blast U. S. Policy In Indochina

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats in both branches of Congress Wednesday criticized the Eisenhower administration's handling of the Southeast Asia crisis.

Asserting that the administration is split on the issue, Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said one faction constitutes "a genuine war party" willing to "go it alone in Indochina."

"Twice within recent weeks," Kefauver said in a Senate speech, "the United States has been a hair's breadth of openly intervening in the Indochina War."

"We seem to have been saved from open hostilities only by the reluctance of the British to join us."

In the House, Rep. McCormack of Massachusetts, the Democratic whip, said the administration is making "a serious mistake" by excluding Asian nations from the current military talks.

"Something affirmative must be done to win Asians to our side," he told the House.

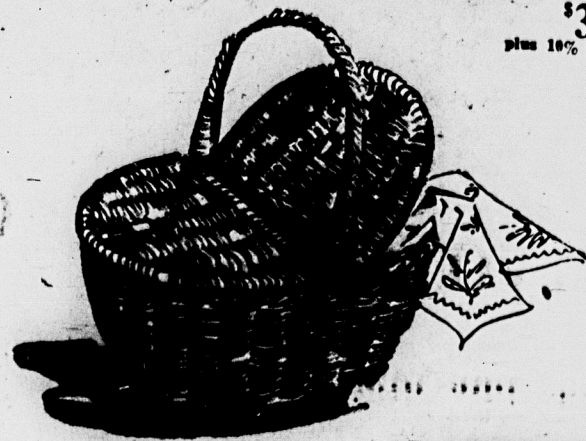

Sen. Butler (R-Neb.) joined the debate to express confidence that if this country is in danger of being directly involved in hostilities in Indochina or elsewhere President Eisenhower will tell Congress and the nation about it.
