Boston Symphony Performs Brilliantly

Dvorak's 'New World'
Praised by Audience

By WALT OLESKY

The Munch and the Boston Symphony performed in the auditorium Thursday night to give Lecture-Concert. The performance was a tremendous experience in the works of three great composers.

A near-capacity audience clearly was won over by the gentleness and emotional expression of Dvorak's Symphony "From the New World."

The four themes in the Dvorak score were so vividly performed that the pageant of the New World swept over the audience and held it motionless from its more tranquil scenes to scenes of great struggle and great promise.

Music critics have disputed Dvorak's "New World" symphony since its initial performance in New York in 1893, questioning whether its themes had authentic American roots, because Negro and Indian themes seemed not to be present.

During the Boston Symphony's performance it was impossible to doubt that the sweeping themes familiar to most Americans could be anything but American.

The Bohemian composer spent much of his time in Iowa among farming people of his own nationality. The scope of the Midwest is unmistakable in his symphony.

Bach's Suite No. 4, in D major, which opened the concert, was not performed with full orchestra, and the audience seemed to prefer the overture, minuet and the final movement.

Concertgoers, especially Beethoven lovers, were offered a generous treat by the Boston Symphony's powerful performance of Beethoven's Symphony No. 7.

The soft, great chords of the Beethoven developed in its four movements into a sensitive performance which at its conclusion stirred the audience into giving the Symphony four curtain calls, in a valiant effort for more.

But Charles Munch, after performing strenuously for nearly two hours, resignedly waved the invitation for an encore.

Review, Rally Spark Spirits

Coed Cheerleaders to Make Initial Appearance

The Spartan Review, featuring the Four Lads, and the "Boil the Boilermakers" pep rally will spark Spartan spirits tonight as MSC opens its 1954 Homecoming activities. The Activities Band, led by Director Oscar Stovall, will start the pep rally at the Music Auditorium at 8:30 p.m.

A march, headed by the band will proceed around West Circle Drive to the Auditorium, where the rally and Spartan Review will be held.

Spartans will not be permitted to enter the auditorium until after the band has arrived, according to Spud Ericson, Spartan Spirit head.

The introducing of the Homecoming Queen and Court by Brick Rider, Battle Creek sophomore, who is emceeding the entire event, will open the activities at the auditorium. The royalty, headed by Queen Joyce Cosmann, will be seated on the stage throughout the rally.

MSC's coed cheerleaders will make their first appearance tonight, joining the varsity male squad in the leading of several yells. In order to encourage wholehearted cooperation the cheerleaders will ask all students to stand during the cheering.

Coach Duffy Daugherty, who will present the senior members of the football team will be introduced by Roger Walker, head cheerleader.

Following more cheers and a number by the band, Biggie Munn, Athletic Director, will speak.

The singing of the Fight Song will close the rally, which will be followed immediately by its sequel, the Spartan Review.

The Purdue Men's Glee Club, under the direction of Albert Stewart, will open the show. The 70-man chorus will perform approximately half an hour, singing both popular and spiritual numbers.

Sallysue Morrison, Durand sophomore, will dance in the program and Dee Meyer, MSC graduate, will sing.

An audience participation event, the singing of "When the Saints Go Marching In" will be led by Tommy Aquino, Rochester, N.Y. senior, who will provide the music for the show.

The Four Lads, returning from their smash hit in last year's Review, will be the featured guests. The Lads, Columbia recording artists, will present a full show.

The Four Lads, Frank Busseri, Bernie Torrish, Connie Codarini, and Jimmy Arnold, are former choir boys from Canada who leaped to national fame last year with their recording, "Istanbul."

MSC Site of Centennial Film

By DEBBY HALL

Hollywood in the Midwest is the title adopted by MSC during the past two weeks.

A professional film company has been shooting campus shots of the college to complete a Centennial film being prepared for February, the initial opening of the birthday celebration.

Sam Orleans and Associate Film Producers from Knoxville, Tenn., will have spent six months compiling the script and filming the scenes when the movie is completed.

Larry Molloy, New York director, explained the purpose of the movie as "a film to perpetuate the achievements of the college in the past, the present accomplishments, and an overall observation of future plans."

First shots of the film were shot in Greenfield Village to picture the agricultural environment in 1855 which effected the establishment of Michigan Agricultural College. A shot of the clerk receiving the Enabling Act that instituted land

390 Seats Vacant in Block 'S'

The "anybody can go there" sign is out this morning for 390 Block S seats to the Homecoming game.

Almost 400 of Block S's 1000 seats had no takers by Thursday afternoon when all four classes had their shot at the Purdue game duets.

The tickets were made available to all students, including those who do not have Block S membership cards, by Bill Thistle, co-chairman.

The tickets, which can be picked up at the Johnson Student Union ticket windows, are all between the 10 and 25 yard lines and from 24 to 55 rows up.

The Block program includes two flashes as part of the pregame festivities, and three minutes of card stunts during halftime.

"There's no work to flipping cards in the Block," Thistle said, "and there won't be any card displays to interrupt during the game."

No rehearsals are required, he said. Each seat will have an individual instruction card explaining what should be done for each stunt.

Block stunts as part of the pregame activities will include a flag and a salute to the Homecoming queen.

Thistle asked that Block ticket-holders be at the stadium by 1:30 so that all flashcards can be distributed before game-time.

A Centennial theme will spark the half-time displays. Thistle said, with MSC's growth traced to its present stature as the nation's ninth largest university.

Spartan and how he grew, and a scroll commemorating the Morrill Act which laid a basis for land grant schools like MSC will be among the stunts. Thistle said, along with some of the regular game displays.

Added to this game, he said, are display cards which will be shown to the Block, to give the flippers a better idea of the stunts they produce.

Homecoming Gets Underway

Dances, dinners and the MSC-Purdue football game plus a host of other activities promise students and alumni a full schedule of events for the school's 45th annual Homecoming Friday and Saturday.

The two-day program gets underway Friday at 1 p.m. when alumni registration begins on the 2nd floor Concourse of the Union. Activities will end Saturday night with the Homecoming dance in the Auditorium.

The Alumni Club President's Workshop takes place at 1:30 p.m. in Room 32, Union. Following the workshop, the Alumni Club President's dinner will be held at 6 p.m. in Parlor C, Union. MSC President John A. Hannah will be main speaker for the event.

A mass student pep rally will be held at the Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. The Activities Band will give the rally a rousing start by marching from the Music Auditorium to the Auditorium. Athletic Director Big-gie Munn and Coach Duffy Daugherty are slated to speak at the rally and senior members of the team will be introduced.

Alumni will gather for a stag smoker at the Hotel Olds in Lansing at 8 p.m. Meanwhile, the alumnae will renew old friendships at a reception in the Ballroom of the Union.

Purdue Varsity Glee Club sponsored by MSC's Men's Club in cooperation with the student government, will present a concert at 8:30 p.m. in the Auditorium. The Glee Club has won several nation honors and given concerts throughout the United States and in seven European countries.

Saturday's events begin at 8 a.m. with alumni registration in the Union and the 12th annual Dairy Homecoming Breakfast at the Livestock Judging Pavilion.

Agricultural Economics alumni will breakfast in the Short Course Dining Room on south campus at 8:30 a.m. and the second day's session of the Presidents' Workshop will start at the same time in Room 32, Union. Vocational Agriculture alumni will have their homecoming breakfast at 9 a.m. in Old College Hall, Union Grill.

Judging of Homecoming displays, exhibited by fraternities and sorority houses and dormitories begins at 9:30 a.m. Winners will be announced at the football game.

Finals for the 1M All-College Swimming Meet take place at Jensen Field House Pool at 1 a.m.

Highlighting Saturday morning's activities is the Homecoming parade which forms at Larch and Michigan Ave., and proceeds west on Michigan to Washington to Lenawee. The Homecoming Queen and her court, MSC Band and ROTC units will be featured in the procession.

FarmHouse Fraternity will hold its reunion at a luncheon on the Union Sunporch at 11:45 a.m. Largest turnout of graduates is expected at the gridiron clash at Macklin Field at 2 p.m. More than 12,000 alumni will be among the 50,000 fans attending the contest.

Prior to starting time, MSC's marching band will welcome Purdue and together with the guest band offer a salute in recognition of "United States Day," which is Saturday.

At halftime, the Spartan bandmen will repeat their Rose Bowl performance, going through many of the formations which won them acclaim at Pasadena last year.

Alumni will have the opportunity also to see MSC's six new coed cheerleaders in action. This is the first appearance of coed cheerleaders since 1944. They will lead cheers with the male group as one squad.

Following the game, classes of 1938, 1939 and 1940 will attend a Homecoming dinner to be held in their honor in Room 21, Union at 5 p.m.

Two more concerts will be presented by the Purdue Varsity Glee Club at 7 and 9 p.m. in the Union Ballroom.

Winding up the day's activities will be the Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity dance, in the Union Parlor, and the Homecoming dance in the Auditorium. Both start at 9 p.m.

Included on the Homecoming dance program is the presentation of awards to Homecoming display winners, Escalibur tapping and presentation of the Homecoming Queen and her court.

1953 Upset Ends MSC Streak

Eighteen Spartan football players have been anticipating Saturday's game for exactly one year.

It has been 52 weeks since those eighteen Spartans stepped off a plane at Capitol City airport, losers for the first time in their collegiate careers.

They were met by 6,000 loyal fans and no cliché was ever more sincere than their unanimous, "Wait till next year."

And "next year" has finally arrived. A full year of desire for revenge will be ended Saturday when the Spartans trot on to the field at Macklin Stadium to face many of the same "Boilermakers" who melted out that 6-0 upset last year.

Only two starters from last year's game will occupy similar roles Saturday. They are left tackle Randy Schregengost and left guard Ferris Hallmark.

Two other starters from 1953, Ellis Duckett and Co-Capt. LeRoy Bolden, will also be ready although they won't start.

The other 14 players who remember that long ride back from Lafayette last year are John (Big Thunder) Lewis, Co-Capt. Don Kauth, Morley Murphy, Hank Bullough, Norm Masters, Buck Nystrom, Fred Rody, Joe Badaczewski, Johnny Matsock, Jerry Planutis, Vic Postula, Bert Zagers, Al Fracesa and Al Lee.

Roland Dotch, who also took the trip, will miss Saturday's game. He is still recovering from an infected leg that hospitalized him prior to last week's Notre Dame game.

Earl Morrill, regular quarterback, didn't take the trip to Purdue last year because he was in the hospital with a case of glandular fever.

In addition to Schregengost and Hallmark, the starters Saturday will be Lewis and Kauth at the ends, Carl Diener at right tackle, Bullough at right guard, Rody at Center, Morrill at Quarterback, Matsock and Zagers at the halfback posts and Planutis at fullback.

Matsock and Zagers will replace Clearance Peaks and Bolden, who are still limping from leg injuries.

Peaks sprained his ankle against Notre Dame and is still hobbling slightly while Bolden is still not running at full speed on his injured leg.

Head Coach Duffy Daugherty said Thursday that his use of Bolden will depend entirely on how Bolden feels Saturday.

Purdue will field five players who started in last year's big game.

Rex Brock, who was the leading ground gainer in the game, will be the left halfback.

The entire right side of the line will be the same three players who started in 1953. They are right guard Tom Bettis, right tackle Joe Krupa and right end John Kerr.

Dick Skibinski, who started at left guard, will miss the game because of a leg injury.

Homecoming and that "Beat Purdue" feeling have really hit the campus.

Even the grounds men feel it. One of them showed it while on the job Wednesday.

His job—to scrape the frost (winter's just around the corner) from the field between the Auditorium and the Red Cedar.

No straight lines for this fellow. Creative artist that he was, he scraped "Beat Purdue" in the frost.

And that's not all. He even drew, if you can call steering a tractor, drawing his masterpiece facing west so students could read it from the bridge.

Only one trouble—the sun was shining Wednesday. Disastrous for the art work.

Wonder if this year's Homecoming queen, brunette Joyce Cosmann, will go as far as her predecessor, blond Ardeth Raymond, who with two queenly partners appears on this week's "Life."

The choice of the three proves one thing. MSC does have the most beautiful coeds in the country. The national magazine (that claimed that a couple years back was right).

Maybe the guys who wanted to put up a sign saying just that will start thinking about it again. Last summer, they envisioned a banner flying over the Abbott Rd. entrance.

Might increase the male ratio on campus. Maybe it's not such a bad idea.

It's getting expensive to smoke around this campus.

You've got to pay a penny for a pack of Centennial matches at the Union desk. One cent for just one pack, not the usual two.

Seems funny after the free Victory matches they've been giving out ever since World War II days.

But, the good old days are gone. The Victory matches are finally used up.

Victory for free, but the Centennial for money? Something just doesn't sound right about that.

Still, I've got to admit the new matches are nice with their green and white cover and "Michigan State College, 1855 to 1955" on every match.

The landscape architecture department has it all figured out. They know how to get from the Music Auditorium to Shaw in 10 minutes flat.

That's what Harold W. Lautner, head of the department, told Student Congress Wednesday night. He had charts along to show the way too.

Only one hitch. He figured with straight lines. But there are sidewalks on this campus.

A Letter on Gunther

Fascination Not the Purpose

To the Editor:

"Gunther's Africa fails to fascinate."

This statement is of an obscure, unimpressive, and wholly irrelevant nature. Surely, all who attended Gunther's lecture knew full well, from commencement to conclusion, that his purpose was not to fascinate, but to inform.

Mr. Bagwell made this quite clear. Why the audience (and the intended audience) failed to ascertain this manifestation, is indeed perplexing.

Probably what they wanted to hear was the traditionally dramatized story of the naked, wild, extremely barbarous savages (parading through the God-forsaken jungle) devouring each other, as an occasional deviation. On this account, Gunther failed us flat, as he said, "Africa is backward and primitive, not savage."

Gunther spoke with sympathy, hope, and conviction on the Africans' plight. He made unceasing attempts to take us to Africa, via southern and northern United States, when he said:

"We think that as soon as the Negro becomes educated, he wants to marry one of our pretty little blond daughters."

Again, he might have failed to fascinate.

Yes, Gunther tried to take us to Africa, but our far-fetched and prejudicial attitudes were not the leaving kind.

What Mr. Gunther tried desperately to tell us was that Africa is a huge continent, with a population of 190 million being very vital and productive, a fact which is of incalculable consequence.

He emphasized the religious, social and growing civilization, phasized, no less, an institution of segregation.

If this great failed, it was due to our own reasons.

He tried to remind us of the dangers of colonialism of power. He said, "It was nice, but it's dead."

He spoke about freedom-loving humanism (not Africa) and freedom-loving humanism.

Welcome Back Homecoming Alums Find Campus Changes

It's Homecoming again, and with it, the biggest weekend of fall term.

From the last lecture Friday afternoon, through the pep rally with the Four Lads and the Purdue Varsity Glee Club, the feverish finishing of Homecoming displays at the crack of dawn Saturday and the game with Purdue in the afternoon, right down to the last strains of music at the Homecoming dance in the Auditorium Saturday night, it's a wonderful time to be a student or alum of MSC.

Between 15,000 and 18,000 alumni are expected on campus for part or all of the Homecoming festivities, with attendance reaching its peak at game time Saturday.

Perhaps for today's student it's hard to imagine the campus any other way than it is now. But even to June, 1954, grads, things will seem a lot different.

Parking meters guard Circle Drive. The hulking skeleton of the new library has grown. Coeds live in Snyder Hall. Two new men's dorms, Rather and Bryan, have opened.

So imagine how MSC will seem to the post-World War II student who remembers a seven to one male-female ratio, the grad who hasn't heard Beaumont Tower re-sound with its new bass bell, and the alum whose diploma was granted by MAC.

Centennial plans are underway for a whopping Homecoming next fall. And this year a parade down Washington Ave. in Lansing complete with the Homecoming Queen and her court, the band and ROTC units is planned for Saturday morning.

Still, in spite of new developments and big plans, the impressions the thousands of alumni are given this weekend will depend largely on the action of students.

The Homecoming Committee has put a lot of work in on this weekend to make it one of the greatest ever. Let's hope it will be.

Homecoming — Queens, Pageantry and Players

Five of MSC's Most Beautiful Coeds—But Only One Can Be Queen of Homecoming

A Little Too Early to Peek At a Homecoming Display.

Getting Ready Starts Early—At the Training Table For Co-Capts. Leroy Bolden and Don Kauth.

Grads' Day-But Students Not Left Out

Football's the Center of Busy Weekend

Pageantry, pretty girls and football players all get into the Homecoming mat is out to welcome the returning grads.

It'll be a busy weekend for grad, with activities beginning early this afternoon, and some continuing through today.

But in it all, he'll have time to note the changes on campus including the new faces beginning to students who haven't seen time to wonder how MSC will look to them in 5 or 10 years.

It has only been about that long, actually, since most of the "old grads" were taking part in the traditional homecoming activities as a student.

Because it's a tradition, most of the events crowding the calendar are the same as in his school days. Changed, of course, are the teams, the times, and the themes.

The traditional Homecoming parade still keynotes the events during the weekend.

This year it's Purdue, the "spoilermaker" outfit that last year ended a 27-game Spartan winning streak that started back when many of the alums were still able to pick up their student tickets a couple of days before the game.

The "Beat Purdue" theme that will keynote half a hundred living unit homecoming displays will be different, of course.

But the living units will still be struggling at 9:25 Saturday morning to get the finishing touches on the display. And they'll be doing the last minute work in spite of the pledges who gave up Friday night to do most of the work.

The reward for a lot of work and some bright ideas pays off for the display sponsor with another trophy to add to the mantel.

But a little after the judges begin their tour to decide which of the displays merits the trophy, other students will be starting the downtown Lansing parade featuring MSC groups that will be in still other Homecoming activities.

The Band will be one of the groups parading down Washington Ave. But its big show is saved for half-time, when 50,000 fans see one of the biggest programs of the year.

The show will review some recent Spartan history, taking the grad back to the beginning of the year, when he saw his alma mater come from behind to take the Rose Bowl game from UCLA.

But the half-time history will go back a lot farther, too, as MSC's Centennial celebration is introduced to the spectators.

Beginning in February, the Centennial will commemorate the 100th year of growth of the school and will highlight activities from the college days of the alums from the years when Michigan Agricultural College was a few buildings on a dirt road near Lansing to its present position as the ninth largest university in the country.

The game ceremonies will also give the homecomer a chance to see five of MSC's most beautiful coeds as the Homecoming queen and her court are honored.

For the five chosen from 32 living unit representatives, the game will be just one of several weekend appearances. They'll be presented at the Saturday night Homecoming Dance when several hundred students and graduates will crowd the Auditorium.

That will conclude Homecoming festivities—until next fall when there'll be a couple thousand new grads.

Meow Scarce Cat Seeks Ride To Canada

How would you like to chauffeur a cat up to the Soo?

A harassed professor's wife is looking for a ride for a Siamese cat.

It seems that such cats are not too plentiful in Canada, and she decided to send one to some Canadian friends. For a couple weeks she has been looking for some way to transport her gift.

The airplanes and bus lines refused to take the little charge. She considered the trains, but rejected this plan because the two day trip might be too strenuous for the cat.

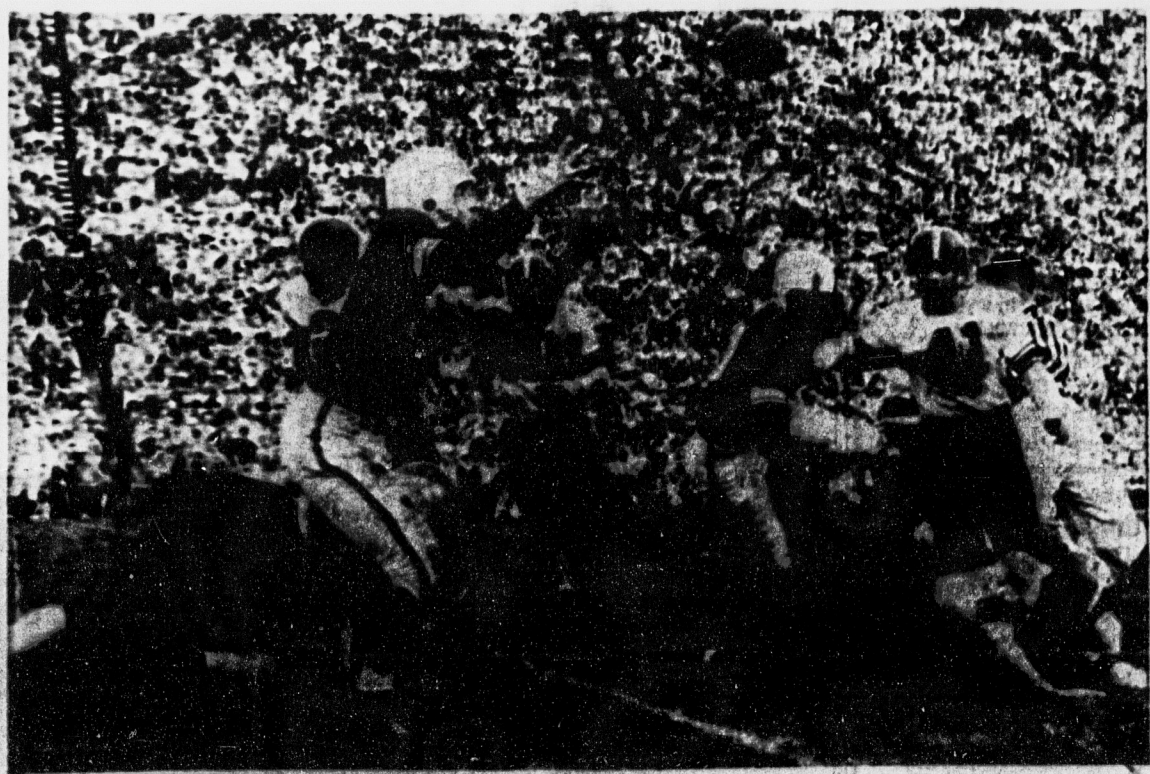

A last resort found her placing an ad in the State News. So if you're driving up to the Soo and want to take a cat complete with carrying case, contact the State News ad office.

New Directors Enlarge CSF Religious Staff

Christian Student Foundation's expansion program is underway with the addition of two new associate directors.

Rev. George H. Kehm will serve Presbyterian students, and the Rev. George T. Kennedy is responsible for Methodist students.

The Rev. Kehm, the first Presbyterian student pastor in CSF history, is a graduate of Queens College, New York City, and Princeton Theological Seminary. He received ordination to the ministry by the Presbytery of Brooklyn-Nassau, New York.

The expansion of personnel was planned by a committee of Presbyterian students and faculty members to reach the 1600 students of that denomination on campus.

The Rev. Kennedy is a graduate of McKendree College and Boston University School of Theology, with graduate study at Hartford Seminary Foundation.

For the past five years, Rev. Kennedy has served the Methodist Church in missionary student work in India.

Other members of the Foundation staff are Mary Patricia Dowell, associate director; Josephine J. Ferguson, secretary; and the Rev. Roy L. Schramm, executive director.

A full house will describe conditions on Harrison Rd. when the last two families move from Butterfield to the new apartments. Emory Foster, manager of dormitories and food services, said last week.

The finished 144 apartment units are part of a 456-apartment program which is scheduled for completion by mid-summer. Construction of the additional 312 apartments will begin Dec. 1, Foster estimated.

Applications for the apartments are being taken now, according to Tom Dutch, director of housing.

Alpha Chi Omega, with a score of 48, won the Oct. 12 sorority swim. In second place was Pi Beta Phi with 46. Delta Delta came in third with 28, fourth was Alpha Xi Delta with 22 and Delta Zeta was fifth with 20.

An annual coed field hockey play day was held at Ann Arbor Friday. Two teams from MSC and U of M participated. Mrs. Stanley Drobec of the women's physical education department coached the two teams.

The coed varsity field hockey squad was defeated 1-0 by the Bowling Green University team in a game played at Old College Field Saturday, Oct. 9.

Constance Applebee, 86, the English woman who introduced women's field hockey in the United States, was a recent guest of the women's physical education department. Miss Applebee, who just completed conducting a hockey camp in the East, coached the two coed hockey teams here and was guest speaker at a Phys Ed Majors Club meeting.

South Campbell won the inter-dorm swimming meet Monday with 96½ points. A close runner-up was West Yakeley with 86 points. East Landon with 17 points took third place. Mason was fourth with 16½ points and North Campbell had 15 for the fifth position.

High scorer for the meet was Patty Swaney, Unlontown, Pa., junior, representing South Campbell.

New Appointments For Union Board Announced by Gase

Several new appointments have been made to the Union Board of Directors, according to Betty Gase, president of Union Board.

The new head of the personnel committee will be Tam VanBuskirk, Ann Arbor junior. She will be in charge of the rush smokers, petitioning, and other personnel affairs. She was previously a member of the social committee.

Bob Grunewald, Battle Creek junior, will be a member-at-large and handle special projects. He was formerly a member of the publications committee. Selected to head the Tournament committee was Vern Hampton, Pontiac senior and former member-at-large.

Don Stewart, Detroit junior, will be in charge of Union Board Week, which will be held February 21-26.

Moving Problems Eased for Sorority

Alpha Xi Delta alums won't have to worry about a reception at their new house.

But a couple of weeks ago they would have had a problem had they visited the house at 520 Linden St. They wouldn't have found a dining room or a kitchen. Those rooms were still being furnished.

And had Homecoming been at the end of September, returning alums would have had to share the house with tenants. Present sorority members did it for two weeks.

Coeds were at first crammed into one and gradually more, of the second floor apartments in the red brick building while they waited for the tenants to move.

The crowded conditions occurred because the house was not purchased until late in the summer. Therefore, the tenants did not have to leave the house until Oct. 1. That's when their month's notice was up.

It may have been a little tough for the girls, but they accepted it as part of the new house. They laughed when they had to wait in line for the showers. They gripped, usually, but not always, good naturedly, when they bumped into one another in the narrow aisles between the beds.

And if it was tough for them, it was worse for the tenants. Most of them weren't used to the noise coeds can make playing bridge, moving furniture or just plain gossiping at midnight.

One of them, Mrs. Oly Mace, was used to it though. She used to live in MSC's Delta Gamma house.

Commenting that she felt right at home, Mrs. Mace said she almost yelled "quiet hours" once in the middle of the night.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Nesman, tenants on the second floor of the apartment house, had differing views on the experience.

He said, "I like it," and explained that his friends thought him lucky to live in a house so coeds.

But Mrs. Nesman said she didn't want to go through it even if her husband thought it was a good experience.

The worst part of it, according to Mrs. Nesman, was the noise. She said she couldn't sleep for months ago.

Workmen in her laundry also bothered Mrs. Nesman. She said the first time she went to wash after the house was sold, she couldn't even get her machine working. Workmen were using the room for a while.

"I simply told them that if they would have to use the stuff so I could wash," she said. They did it.

Mrs. Nesman, who is writing an article on her experience when the coeds moved in, now says she could write books.

Noise during the day, hardship for both the tenants and coeds. One tenant even got out early because he was so tired and new noise could be the incessant hammering sawing.

The noise also cost the Alpha Xi Delta a housemother. Mrs. Renault who had been the Alpha Xi's several years, forced to leave two weeks because the noise was too much for her.

The painting and hammering went on for both the tenants and coeds. But at least again calm in the house. And there's a hope for Homecoming.

Pi Kappa Phi and Delta Mascots Get Together.

Doggie Tale Fraternity Mascots Find Common Canine Interests

Pi Kappa Phi's new mascot, Darto Van Schwartzoff II, and Delta Tau Delta's mascot, Caesar, are seeing a lot of each other these days.

It all started when Darto moved into the neighborhood this fall and began looking for canine companionship. It wasn't long until the two dogs had discovered they had interests in common besides their pedigrees.

The two boxers became so attached to each other that the Pi Kaps had a hard time keeping track of their mascot, a gift from one of the members. Locking him in the house was useless. He would go out a second story window, down the fire escape, across the alley, and up the Delta fire escape to the third floor where he would be greeted by Caesar.

The fraternities finally decided the friends shouldn't be deprived of their companionship after all, so arranged a dinner engagement for the canines. A formal invitation was sent to Caesar and he lost no time in accepting.

A banquet, dog style, was served at the Pi Kap house. It began with dog biscuits for appetizers and ended with ham bones for dessert.

Next time it's Caesar's turn to treat.

Blood Makes the News

Norbert College students in DePue, Wis., spell out "blood" on their campus in anticipation of becoming national collegiate champ donors. A new record was set as 81 of the eligible students contributed 395 pints of blood in two days.

Wood Drive Passes 1,000 Pint Mark

More pints of blood donated Thursday, the four-day total to date.

The Red Cross League and the Omega chapters of the Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society are hopeful that today, the day of the drive, will see the total go over the 1,200 mark.

The groups have set this goal after having hoped to reach it before it started.

Donors continued their enthusiasm over the making of Thursday's donations, and to raise comment on the Red Cross officials.

The Red Cross officials are sponsoring groups that credit for the drive's success to the various groups on campus who have donated on their own.

Among these was Triangle which was the first to reach 100 percent of its membership.

Final praise was given to the Clark Dean of the School of Veterinary Medicine, who gave some of his classes time periods so they could donate blood. His vet students considerably swelled the total, according to the Red Cross officials.

Jean Logan, Saginaw junior, was the 1,000th donor in this drive. A general business major, she lives in West Mayo.

With Homecoming activities crowding the day, officials of the blood drive have decided to end the day's donations at 2:30 p.m.

Prof Completes Sanitation Test

Prof. Walter Mallmann, of the bacteriology and public health department, presented a paper at the annual meeting of American Public Health Association on a new test for determining water sanitation.

Work on the test was conducted at MSC by Dr. Mallmann in cooperation with Dr. Warren Litsky of the University of Massachusetts.

Social Work Educator Attends Conference

Prof. Ernest B. Harper, head of the department of social work, is in New York for the annual fall meeting of the board of directors of the Council on Social Work Education. The meeting is held from October 21-23.

Ag Board To Lease Campus Land

The State Board of Agriculture, MSC's governing body, offered to lease the Michigan Department of Agriculture a piece of campus for construction of a proposed $750,000 laboratory building at last week's meeting.

The offered land lies between S. Harrison Rd., the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad tracks and the federal poultry laboratory.

The Department of Agriculture will construct its own building on the land leased from the college, according to an agreement which was proposed some years ago.

Another action taken by the Board of Agriculture last week declares extension and off-campus program credits equal to credits earned by resident students. Before, off-campus credits were given inferior status when recorded.

Course, First of Kind, Offered

Conservation Laws Studied

By ANN TUKEY

A new course in conservation law, the first of its kind in the U.S., is being offered this fall by the land and water conservation department in the Division of Conservation.

The course consists of ten lectures by Nicholas V. Olds, assistant attorney general of Michigan, explaining state and federal laws covering natural resources in Michigan. It includes a study of treaties, police power, and specific statutes now in effect.

Meeting from 7 to 10 every Thursday evening, the class is open only to persons with fourth year standing in the conservation curriculum, agricultural economics, related majors or professional experience. It is approved for graduate credit.

"There was a recognized need in the field of conservation for a series of courses dealing with the legal aspects of land and water and its utilization," said Dr. Frank W. Suggitt, head of the department.

"As of this date," he added, "no college or university in the United States has met this need."

In most states, problems in conservation law go to the state Attorney General and then are dispersed to other lawyers.

However, in Michigan the legal aspects of conservation are handled directly by the assistant Attorney General. That is why Olds was selected to give the lectures, explained Dr. C. R. Humphrys, administrator of the course.

Dr. Humphrys is now completing plans for a similar course in water pollution conservation law to be offered this winter.

Boilermaker Drills Study State Attack

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—It was mind over muscle on the Purdue practice field Thursday as the Boilermakers worked through non-contact drills to find ways of stopping Michigan State's multi-directional offense.

For the second weekend, the Boilermakers will play without guard Dick Skibinski, still shaking off a leg injury.

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—With his once-beaten Notre Dame footballers idle this Saturday, Coach Terry Brennan will personally scout the next two Irish foes, Navy and Penn, in their game at Philadelphia.

Notre Dame plays Navy at Baltimore, Oct. 20, and Penn at Philadelphia, Nov. 6.

The Irish scrimmaged for a second straight day Thursday.

Campanella Undergoes Operation

NEW YORK (AP)—Roy Campanella underwent surgery on his left hand Wednesday with high hopes the operation would restore the devastating batting power that was reduced to a minimum this past season.

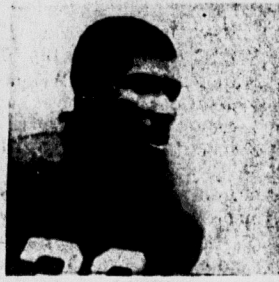

The stocky Brooklyn Dodger catcher, undergoing his second operation in less than six months, was under the knife for four hours as doctors first had to remove stubborn scar tissues before the actual operation.

The first operation was performed last May.

Sigma Nu Upset

Theta Xi, Theta Chi Win in IM Football

By JIM JOHNSTON

Upset-minded Theta Xi scored in every quarter but the first to turn back favored Sigma Nu, 21-7.

John Gersonde scored the only touchdown for Sigma Nu when he returned a punt from his own end zone and threaded his way the length of the field.

Theta Xi came right back, displaying a brilliant passing game, and scored with John Brink passing to Don Wolfe.

In the third quarter Theta Xi's Jack Gribble faded back and floated an aerial to Keith Dryer in the end zone.

The final score came on a play which started off with a short pass to Gribble from Dryer who stopped and heaved one to George Woodruff.

All three extra points came on passes from Gribble to George Kiehlasser.

Theta Chi 12, FarmHouse 9

Maynard Spotts sparked the Theta Chi gridders to their 12-9 whitewash over FarmHouse.

The victors unleashed their attack in the second quarter when Spotts dropped back and tossed to end Chuck Leeds who rambled 40 yards behind fine blocking for the TD.

Theta Chi's final tally came midway in the closing period. Spotts went high into the air to intercept a FarmHouse pass and sprinted 30 yards to paydirt.

Bill Burton led a fast-charging Theta Chi line which hangeduffed the FarmHouse offense through most of the game.

ATO 21, SAE 7

Coming from behind in the second half, the ATO squad edged out a determined SAE seven, 21-7, in one of Thursday night's roughest contests.

Doug Bruce started the scoring for ATO early in the first quarter with a pass to Bob Amster who lateraled the ball to Bill Streng. Bruce threw to Streng for the extra point.

SAE bounced right back in the second quarter, springing Gord Much lose for a 20-yard touchdown run. Jack Everts ran for the extra point.

Shortly after, Much intercepted an ATO aerial and threaded his way to paydirt. Moments later, ATO's Bob Amster floated an aerial into the waiting arms of Roger Schultz to tie up the game.

Then Amster iced the game for ATO with another aerial to Streng.

Ace Passes To Battle In Air Line

Morrall To Tangle
With Lennie Daw

With a clear day and a light breeze, it could well develop into an aerial circus.

The game will find two of the Big 10's best passers, Earl of State and Lenny Daw of Purdue, pitted against each other.

In addition, both teams have top notch second string quarterbacks and both have good sets of receivers to catch the passes.

Morrall, last week leading Big 10 in passing, was one of the biggest factors in keeping the Spartans in their game last Saturday against Notre Dame.

Despite a muddy field and a very ball, Morrall threw two touchdown passes and set up final score with another leave.

Pat Wilson, Morrall's study, is also a gun point and has looked good in his Indiana and Notre Dame games.

Johnny Matsook and C. Peaks, the Spartan halfbacks, are good passers, with Peaks ranked fifth in the conference.

Lenny Dawson, the signal caller, is one of the best sophomore backs in the country.

He started the season by leading four touchdowns passes in the Boilermakers to a 14-0 victory over Missouri.

He followed this with four touchdowns display in Purdue to a 27-14 upset over Notre Dame. Following this he was selected as the back of the week.

Francie Gutman, the string Boilermaker quarterback, is also a top notch player.

Both teams are also with a good pass catching team. The Spartans will be Co-Capt. Don Kattines, John Big, Lewis and Ellis Duckett.

Lewis was on the record of Morrall's two big passes, while Kattines and Lewis have been on the record of several passes this year.

Grandelius Predicts
Top Notch Football

By DONN SHELTON
News Associate Editor
Some of the top
school players in Amer-
the freshman football will hold its first White game today at on Old College Field.

One of the freshman grid-All-Americans while in school and almost all of won All-State and All-City titles.

One name in the group is De-Jim Ninowski. A great Ninowski is also a great

One Kaiser, a fullback from was also an All-American high school and was the Most able Player in Michigan in major year.

One Gene Hecker was another school All-American.
Coach Sonny Grandelius
this team, as being "full of prospects." He predicted that

Out to End Jinx

Harriers Face Badgers In Cross-Country Meet

By HAROLD BATEMAN
The Spartan harriers are out to break the jinx.

For the past two years the Wisconsin cross-country team has beaten the Spartans, but, this Saturday morning at 10:30 a.m., on Old College Field, the harriers will be seeking revenge.

Two years ago the charges of Riley Best handed the Spartan national championship team a 27-28 defeat and last year, in a meet at Madison, the Badgers trimmed Michigan State 23-36.

Leading the Spartan harriers will be Gay Denslow, a sophomore from Evars. Den-sow has been the team's number one man in both last Saturday's Penn State meet and in the practice meet held two weeks ago against Western Michigan.

Also being counted upon will be the men who scored the points in the Penn State meet. They are Terry Block, Bob Skane, Del Parker and Rondle Davis. Parker is the only holdover from the

Watch the Old Average

By CHUCK MILLER

State News Sports Editor

Sporting a not to lofty .600 average for my attempts at Friday morning prognostications, I hereby resolve to fatten my average by picking all the winners this week.

Here they are:

First of all, in the Big 10 . . .

Ohio State over Wisconsin—I base this on the law of averages. The Buckeyes have been picked at title contenders before every season since the stone age, but have usually managed to flop about half-way through the schedule—not this year.

Iowa over Indiana—repressing a strong desire to pick the underdog, I'll take the Hawkeyes to bounce back from two straight losses. Watch for a strong showing by the Hoosiers.

Minnesota over Michigan—from the looks of the ailing list, there must be a plague or something in Ann Arbor.

Illinois over Syracuse—Hail to the Orange and Blue, for the Illini will win their first game of the year.

Northwestern over Pitt—both teams with 1-3 records, NU beat Iowa State 27-14 and Pitt took Navy last week in an upset, 21-19. However, look at the comparative scores of the USC and Minnesota games. USC dumped Pitt, 27-7, and NU, 12-7. The Gophers beat Pitt, 46-7, and NU, 26-7.

Rice over Texas—not much choice here. Both have lost their last two games. Rice was dumped by Wisconsin and SMU, 13-7 and 20-6, while Texas was losing to Oklahoma, 14-7, and Arkansas, 20-7.

TCU over Penn State—the Horned Frogs upset Southern Cal and lost by a touchdown to Oklahoma and Arkansas. The Lions beat Illinois, Virginia and Syracuse, but lost to West Virginia.

Georgia Tech over Kentucky—three common foes—Florida, LSU and Auburn. The Gators beat Tech, 13-12, and Kentucky, 21-7. Kentucky edged LSU, 7-6, but Tech won, 30-20. Both teams beat Auburn by seven.

UCLA over Oregon State—perhaps no 72-0 rout this time, but the Bruins should have little trouble.

Southern Cal over California—only a 20-7 upset at the hands of TCU mars the Trojans' record, while the Golden Bears have been defeated by Oklahoma, Oregon and Washington State.

Colorado over Nebraska—Colorado has outscored its opponents this year, 194-18, with all 18 going to Arizona. The Cornhuskers have split in four games, losing to Minnesota and Kansas State, and beating Iowa State and Oregon State.

Other Games: Army over Columbia, Utah over Wyoming, Dartmouth over Harvard, Boston U over Holy Cross, Washington State over Idaho, Washington over Stanford, Navy over Penn, Florida over LSU and Georgia over Tulane.

AL DARK
... moneybags ...

Dark Becomes Top Paid Giant

NEW YORK (AP)—Alvin Dark
Wednesday signed a New York Giant contract that made him the highest paid player in the history of the club.

The soft-spoken and highly efficient shortstop, called by manager Leo Durocher the "heart and guts" of the ball club, affixed his signature to a two-year contract calling for $36,500 a year.

Dark's contract exceeds by $500 the previous high of $36,000 given to Pitcher Sal Maglie in 1952.

Billy Terry and Mel Ott both made more money but only when they doubled as player and manager.

NCAA Places 2 on Probation

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—City College of New York and the University of Miami, Fla., were placed on probation by the National Collegiate Athletic Ass'n's executive council Wednesday for alleged violations of NCAA regulations.

The University of Portland,
Ore., and Western Illinois State College at Macomb, Ill., also were disciplined by the council for various alleged violations of regulations.

The NCAA action came as an aftermath of the 1964 basketball scandal at the New York school.

In Miami's case, the council discussed the discipline because the school paid transportation costs of prospective athletes visiting the campus and held tryouts for prospective football players.

Frosh Pick Rogers, Thomson for Finals

Hollinger, Rosenberg to Contest for Veep Spot

John Rogers, Bryan Hall, and Jon Thomson, W. Shaw, trailing Rogers 598 to 124 in the primaries, will contest in next week's finals for the Frosh presidency.

Votes for presidential candidate John Hayes were disregarded in the primary results after a decision of the Elections Review Board disqualified him late Thursday afternoon.

Hayes, protesting in a written complaint for using commercially printed posters, told the Board that after reading the violated campaign rule he was entirely in agreement with their decision.

Hayes was one of the two candidates, both for the presidency, disqualified in the elections so far. John Mullen was taken from the list of candidates Wednesday for the same offense.

Freshman vice-presidential finalists will be Gerald Hollinger, E. Shaw, who won 407 primary votes, and Art Rosenberg, rather, with 348.

Charlie Davis, W. Mayo, with 256 votes, and Grace Taylor, Mason, with 236, are Frosh secretary finalists.

Nancy Sackrider, W. Landon, 369 votes, and Bonnie Claire McInish, Snyder, 236 votes, took the Frosh secretary primaries.

Frosh-Soph Council final elections will be between Marcia Kierland, 31, and Elaine Ross, 30, freshmen at Snyder. In W. Mayo finalists are Jacqueline Foy, 14, and Gay Wright, 5, sophomores.

For the E. Landon freshman position, Mary Vernier, 29, and Gail Fear, 24, were primary winners.

A tie between Lea Ferguson and Polly Palen with eight votes apiece, will not settle the W. Landon freshman seat until next Thursday when they will run against Virginia Stalter, with 10 votes.

The S. Campbell sophomore position will be between Judy Norton, 13 votes, and Clara Boughner, with 6.

E. Lansing freshmen Lew Kerans, 17 votes, and Chris Coniglio, 12 votes, will run in the Council finals.

Of the two primaries scheduled for Student Congress positions, the E. Lansing primary was not rounded. Candidate Marsha Ann team that ran against the Badgers last year. Dave Hoke, John Proctor, Ed Townsend, Ed Houldsworth and Dick Stutsman are other Spartans entered in the race.

Missing from this year's team are the men who scored the points against the Badgers last year. Lyle Garbe, Dick Jarrett, Ron Barr and Ken Barley have graduated while John Cook, this year's captain, is scholastically ineligible.

Wisconsin, on the other hand, has four men returning that scored in last year's meet. They are Co-Captains Tom Monfore and Eugene Sultze plus Larry Barrett and Bruno Maurer.

Other men running for the Badgers will be Jon Dalton, Bruce Kaufman, John Rierison, Ronald Risch and Robert Anderson.

cause of a pulled leg muscle. Bettis is the Bollermaker's top candidate for All-American line honors. Kerr is one of the conference's top pass receivers and he has two of the top passers to catch the passes from.

Lenny Dawson and Fronicie Gutman are the two Purdue passing aces. Dawson threw eight touchdown passes in Purdue's first two games, one of them a 27-14 upset over Notre Dame.

Gutman started against the Spartans last year after the regular quarterback, Roy Evans, was hurt.

An estimated 52,000 fans will watch this ninth game between the schools. Purdue holds the edge with four wins, with one game ending in a scoreless tie.

The game will also be the gridiron debut of the newly formed Michigan State coed cheerleaders.

Half time ceremonies will include a performance by the Michigan State Marching Band and the appearance of the Homecoming Queen, Joyce Cosmann.
