Charity Contributions Living Units Return Fall Drive Pledges

More than one-third of all campus living units and other groups have already turned in their donation pledges for the fall-term Campus Chest drive. Chest officials reported Tuesday night.

Several groups have pledged donations from 100% of their members. Solicitors for married housing said they will try to raise $1200 from that area.

The MSC charitable organization's drive will be held next week, Nov. 1 through Nov. 5. Money raised by student contributions will be divided among several national and local charities.

Solicitors for the outdoor drive, Nov. 2-3, are still needed. Interested students may get petitions in the Campus Chest offices on the fourth floor of the Union.

New committee and subcommittee chairmen have been appointed by Chest directors. They are:

Public relations bureau chairman, Helen Stevens. Sub-committee chairmen: posters, Carolyn Roth; newspapers, Claire Zoellner; display, Charlene Braen; radio and television, Robert O'Hara; speakers' bureau, Peggy Fisher.

Churchill Rejects New Russian Bid

Refuses Demand
For Big 4 Parley

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill in an exchange with Leftist Laborite Aneurin Bevan Tuesday turned down Russia's latest bid for a Big Four conference on German reunification.

The Soviet bid was issued Saturday as the Western Allies reached agreement in Paris on West German rearmament.

Churchill did not renounce his own proposal of a year and a half ago for a "conference of the summit" with the Soviet and French premiers and President Eisenhower.

But he told the House of Commons the present is not the time for Big Four talks while the Western parliaments still must ratify the agreements to rearm West Germany and give it sovereignty.

Bevan said the public could not understand why Churchill declared "he is ready for high level talks with the Russians, and whenever they invite him to have them, he declines."

When the Prime Minister replied, "I don't know what invitation you are referring to," Bevan snapped:

"The last one from the Soviet Union."

"That was a general invitation to a four-power conference," Churchill remarked, "and at this particular stage when agreements reached in Western Europe have still to be ratified, I do not think the moment has been reached for a four-power conference."

Most Western observers believe the Soviet bid was a maneuver to delay the integration of West Germany into the Western defense setup.

Both the Soviets and the East Germans, as well as some of West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's critics within his own country, have been attacking the emphasis the Western agreements put on West German rearmament before German reunification.

Centennial Plates Cleary Orders Licenses to Go On Sale Early

By The Associated Press
Michigan motorists will be able to purchase their new green and white license plates, commemorating the 100th anniversary of MSC, as early as Nov. 15—two weeks ahead of normal.

Sec. of State Owen J. Cleary said he ordered the early sale to encourage early purchases and also to coincide with an earlier car changeover this year.

He said the Nov. 15 date will accommodate buyers who might otherwise wait until December to buy a new car. This will also accommodate operators of truck fleets who want to convert from half-year to full year plates. The half-year plates expire Nov. 14.

Candidates Debate at Open Forum

Partisan Politics
Evident in Issues

By STAN STEINBORN
State News Capital Reporter
Partisan politics were the order of the day Tuesday night as local candidates in Tuesday's election discussed the "issues" before a good-sized gathering at the Peoples Church.

The meeting sponsored by the League of Women Voters placed the Democratic and Republican candidates for Congressman, State Representative and Senator on the same platform. What followed was "interesting" to say the least.

Thrown in for good measure were James M. Hare, Democratic nominee for Secretary of State and D. Hale Brake, Republican candidate for Treasurer.

All of the participants in the "Town Hall Meeting" presented brief talks concerning their candidacy, but things livened up when Congressman Ed Clardy and his Democratic opponent Don Hayworth took the floor.

Hayworth outlined briefly what he would support in the Eisenhower program that Clardy had voted against.

To this Clardy replied in effect—"nonsense." He stated the real issues were the "left wing-er," and the ADA.

As the session moved into a question and answer period, Clardy made the statement that he had supported the President on the key issues.

Hayworth responded with the July 3 Congressional Quarterly's statement that Clardy had voted with the President less than 40 per cent of the time.

When the program officially ended all candidates were immediately surrounded by people with questions.

It was more than an hour before Congressman Clardy could tear himself away from interested citizens.

Rhodes Scholarship Candidates Chosen

3 MSC Seniors to Enter
State Competition in Detroit

Three candidates from MSC have been nominated to compete for Rhodes Scholarships in Detroit during December, Robert Stewart, director of scholarships, announced.

Candidates are: Lee Martin, Bancroft; Burton Gerber, Chicago; and James Pratt, Houghton.

The men were notified Monday that they had been chosen to enter the state competition for the scholarship, which provides two years at Oxford University in London, England. At the Detroit interview a committee will choose Michigan representatives to attend the national competition in Chicago.

Thirty-two students are selected each year to participate in the Rhodes scholarship funds. The students represent the eight geographical districts of the United States.

Cecil Rhodes, who established the scholarship in 1904 stipulated that the scholars would be chosen not just for their academic achievement but specifically for evidence of personal leadership.

Selection for MSC candidates are chosen on the basis of scholarship, prominent activities and interviews before a selection committee.

Committee members are Harry Hoppe, English professor; James Bradlock, dean of graduate studies, and Robert Stewart, director of scholarships.

All applicants must be of at least junior standing and with a 3.5 all college average. Averages for this year's candidates are Martin, 3.91; Gerber, 3.95; and Pratt, 3.55. Scholarship winners will enter Oxford in October, 1955.

Last Rhodes Scholarship winner from MSC was John Wilson, graduate of 1952. Wilson is presently in his second year at Oxford.

Death Toll Hits 200 In Gulf Area

Disaster Damage
Exceeds Millions

SALERNO, Italy (AP)—The worst cloudbursts and landslides in modern Italian history Tuesday battered 10 miles of coastal hills on the Gulf of Salerno, killing 200 persons or more. Three hundred others were still missing Tuesday night.

The death count was compiled by military police on emergency rescue duty in the disaster area. Hundreds were injured and thousands of Italians living beside the usually temperate gulf were homeless. Damage was estimated in millions of dollars.

In Rome, Giacinto Bosco, undersecretary to Premier Mario Scelba, said at midnight the death toll had reached 193. He said he feared scores of the missing never would be found alive.

At Salerno, where American assault troops stormed ashore 11 years ago in a crucial battle, authorities said the official toll already had passed 160 and that 200 was a conservative estimate of the dead. Hospitals were full of the victims as far north as Naples.

The stricken coastland extends from Salerno, about 30 miles south of Naples, southward to Amalfi, which was untouched.

Rains began falling from Sorrento to Salerno early Monday night and turned into torrents by 11 p.m. The heaviest torrents lasted three hours.

The cloudburst softened mud holding together homes built of white volcanic rock and hundreds of them crumbled. In Salerno alone 5,000 were homeless.

Destroyed were the hamlets of Marina de Vietra, Caneloni, Molina, Allesio, and San Cesario. Six other villages were without food or water and helicopters tried to aid them.

Boats cruised the gulf recovering bodies being swept into the Mediterranean.

Salerno's Verdi Theater was converted into a mortuary to which 87 bodies were taken for identification.

The grim search and relief operations had to be carried on through streets ankle-deep in mud. Sewer systems were destroyed, causing emergency measures against spreading of disease.

The lack of water, gas, and electricity made the plight of the victims grim Tuesday night. A few emergency public services had been restored, but it will take months to bring back normal services.

A year ago similar but less destructive flash floods ravaged the southern region of Calabria.

Engineers say the basic reason for the floods is the loss of trees and other vegetation and the onset of erosion on the coastal hills through the centuries. The trees tend to hold back the water and loosened soil.

Bingo Battle

Amendment 4: Yes-No?

The cry of the bingo caller and the spinning roulette wheel may never be heard on the MSC campus.

According to the state constitution, both are illegal.

Last year the directors of Spartacus, the annual spring carnival held in Jenison Fieldhouse, banned the "games of chance" to comply with the ruling.

On Nov. 2, Michigan voters will approve or reject four amendments to the state constitution.

Amendment four, if passed, will give the legislature authority to legalize any or all kinds of gambling as long as a charity organization receives a profit.

Urging a "no" vote to the amendment is the Michigan committee in opposition to legalized lotteries.

The Rev. Deon A. Mordhorst, speaking for the committee, says that the proposed amendment will stimulate racketeers, injure legitimate charities, and hurt Michigan business and industry.

He cites the example of New Jersey, where specified types of gambling are permitted by license from the state. The law, he says, has not succeeded in keeping out racketeers.

The Michigan Association of Nonprofit

Charitable Organizations presents a different story.

Seeking a "yes" vote are representatives of more than 300 groups, such as the Elks, American Legion and Amvets.

Speaking for this group, Charles R. MacLean says that they are dependent on bingo and lotteries to carry on their philanthropic work.

"The amendment would set up a commission which would carefully screen all applications, grant permits only to recognized, reputable organizations for charity, and deny anyone else the right to conduct a lottery," MacLean explains.

On campus, the ban on "games of chance" did not affect Spartacus's profits, which are turned over to the Campus Chest.

Last spring, $4,191 was given to the MSC charity organization, as compared to $2,800 in 1958.

It is unlikely that racketeers will move into Jenison next spring if the amendment is approved, but the state situation may be somewhat different.

Michigan's voters will have their chance to decide if the benefits of bingo outweigh the risk of racketeers.

The KOLEMINE

Voters Should Think Before Passing Bonus

by JACK KOLE

State News Editor-in-Chief

Notice by all the reports that Michigan voters will probably decide to dish out some more money again. This time its $9 million claims—"to pay bonuses for military service during the 'Korean War,'" Proposal No. 3 states.

As far as almost everyone is concerned, the proposal is a cinch for a landslide victory. That may very well be the case. But why?

It seems that most voters are allowing emotional appeal to sway them instead of thinking clearly about the proposal.

One reporter's crack in the October issue of Inside Michigan seems significant: "Any more wars and every citizen in the state will have a bonus."

I'm not trying to minimize the precious months and years spent by those veterans who fought in a conflict which was a horrible war in every sense of the word.

But Proposal No. 3 is all-inclusive. That, to my mind, is the main issue involved.

Covered under the proposal are all state veterans who served honorably between June 27, 1950, and Dec. 31, 1953.

The bonus would give veterans who served during that time $10 for each month in the states and $15 for each month outside the states. Limit for a single veteran is $500.

Bonuses for servicemen killed during that time will go to closest survivors.

Voters authorized a similar bonus to veterans of World War II. This fact has been used by supporters of the Korean bonus.

This is a poor excuse, however. You don't rush into something just because you've done it that way before. At least, you shouldn't. Especially unfair, to my mind, is the money that would be paid to those veterans who sat around for a couple of years in Florida, Kentucky, South Carolina or any other state. Or those who served in Europe and Japan. Or, to be specific, those in the Navy who spent most of their hitch on training cruises in the Mediterranean or the Caribbean.

There are those veterans who hastily point to the small wages they received while serving as $75-a-month privates.

But in this day of almost universal military training, that argument carries as much weight as a handful of feathers. It's well known that practically everyone does time in this day under the present selective service set-up.

Despite all of this, the fact remains that those who have served their country during wartime carry a tremendous amount of emotional appeal to U.S. citizens.

But voters should consider a bit more than emotion when they're passing on 80 million dollars—which, by the way, will come from cigarette taxes, taking six million a year from a mighty thin general fund for quite a spell.

This bonus total could be reduced considerably by including only those veterans who served in some phase of the actual conflict in Korea. So, think about Proposal No. 3 a bit before you vote yes on emotion.

But We Didn't Have the Cards

To the Editor: I hereby humbly beg to differ with your editorial of Monday. The theme of that note seemed to be that the entire reason the Block S did not operate effectively was lack of student interest, because "They (the organizers) had arrangements well worked out."

I agree that the student lack of interest was a great handicap (with over half the Block S cards unused), but the organizers still have a legitimate claim to some of the credit for the results.

I arrived 10 minutes late, 1:40 instead of 1:30, and the instruction cards had not yet been passed out. When they were brought, the worker seemed intent on placing them only on the seats that were occupied at that time.

Presumably the flash cards were distributed, one color at a time. Most of our cards had colors only on one side instead of both sides like the old ones. This made for a slight lessening of confusion in finding colors, but it created the need to handle twice the number of cards.

We really didn't have twice the number of cards because we didn't get all the colors. We were told we did not need all the colors, but for two or three stunts we needed blue which we did not have. The nearest thing to it was the grey, uncolored side of the other cards. No, we didn't put up the wrong color because we could not follow directions; we didn't have the right color.

If the organizers would stick to the two-colored cards, they would have only half the weight to carry in. Then maybe they would have enough energy

The vacant seat in front of me didn't have any cards and I was holding up the cards for the seat next to me, besides my own, during the pre-game stunts.

If the Block is as disorganized next time as it was last Saturday, someone else can hold up my cards for me, too, because there will be two empty seats in the top row where there was one last week.

EDITOR'S NOTE: You were one of 75 unlucky Spartans who received cards colored only on one side. According to Block S organizers, the error was made in a shipment this fall and is being corrected.

To the Editor: For many years, Homecoming weekend has been one of the biggest annual events on our campus. One of the outstanding features of this weekend is the time, work and energy put forth in making Homecoming displays.

Those living units participating in this contest should receive recognition for their Spartan spirit.

In Monday's issue of the State News, only those living units winning first place were mentioned. Those awarded second, third, and honorable mention should receive notable mention also, for their contribution in making Homecoming a success.

If this lack of recognition continues, there will be a loss of spirit among student groups.

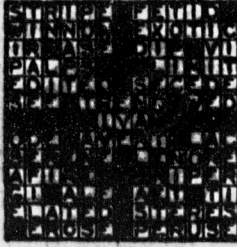

We wish to congratulate all these living units: Gamma Phi Beta, Alpha Phi, Sigma Kappa, Sigma Nu, Phi Delta Theta, Delta Upsilon, South Williams, and South Campbell for placing in the display contest.

Sportopics This is the Question... -What's the Answer?

By CHUCK MILLER State News Sports Editor

The BIG question now is... are we this bad? Before the season started, a prediction that Michigan State would lose four ball games during the season would have seemed absurd.

But, here we are only halfway through the season and already we have lost four games—with the prospect of losing more UNLESS...

And here is where the big question comes into consideration. Are we really a losing team or is it just that we aren't hungry enough?

Purdue was hungry after losing just one game. Minnesota will be hungry after losing just one game.

Of course we've had our share of bad breaks, and then some. In fact, we've had enough misfortunes in any one of our games to last the entire season.

And yet—we've had our scoring chances. Including a field goal, we've scored 10 times this year—but what about the times we've missed?

A conservative estimate reveals that at least 10 GOOD scoring opportunities were missed—by good, I mean having the ball inside the opponent's 10 yard line.

Scoring only a field goal each time would result in 30 more points—we've lost to four teams by a combined total of 25 points.

We're every bit as good as those teams are. Maybe it boils down to a psychological case. We want to win and they want to win. But do they want to win more? Apparently they do.

In the past we've made winning a habit. Are we going to make losing a habit, too?

Buckeye Coach Unimpressed Sooners Fail to Shine So OSU Vaults to Top

Ohio State, Oklahoma and UCLA ranked 1-2-3 Tuesday in the weekly Associated Press college football poll, and Coach Woody Hayes of the No. 1 team said "that's too bad."

Ohio State displaced Oklahoma, leader in the nationwide balloting for the last three weeks, jumping all the way from fourth place on the strength of a 31-14 victory over Wisconsin.

"I know everyone is talking about national ratings and Rose Bowl and all those things, but to us the season is merely half over," said Hayes. "That's how we look at it. Four important ones yet to go."

The three leaders were far ahead of the fourth team, Arkansas, who jumped from seventh after knocking off previously unbeaten Mississippi 6-0.

On the basis of 10 points for first, 9 for second and on down, the line, Ohio State ran up 1,550 points and Oklahoma trailed 1,534. UCLA, with 45 first place votes, had 1,500 points, to retain third place.

Rivals Recent Hurricanes 'Big Thunder' Makes Mark

By JOE MOFFMAN Though Hazel, Betsy, Edna and Carol haven't been felt around the Midwest, another thunderous rear of hurricane proportions has made its mark.

The cause for this thunder is Spartan left end John Lewis, known to all as "Big Thunder."

Lewis, who stands 6'4" and weighs 210 pounds, came by his nickname while playing high school football in Fremont, Ohio.

The name was given to him by the sports editor of the Fremont paper.

John played right halfback at the time and a close buddy played the other half. Due to their differences in size and speed Lewis was nicknamed "Big Thunder," while his smaller buddy was called, "Little Thunder."

His running was so good in high school that he was named to the All-State team and was an All-American selection.

Big John was also a basketball and track star while in high school. He won four letters in basketball while serving on a year as captain.

In track he ran the 100 and 220-yd. dashes and the 500-yd. relay.

A junior, Lewis rooms with Co-Capt. LeRoy Bolden in Phillips Hall.

When asked about his greatest thrill in football, Lewis was underwhelmed. One was the scoring of his first collegiate touchdown last year against Indiana at a game from Tom Yewell.

Like other thrill was playing against Notre Dame, something he had dreamed of since childhood, and scoring a touchdown in the game made his dream even more realistic.

Being smashed in the line while attempting to block a punt would fail to amuse most people. When it happened to John early in the season, however, his teammates just couldn't hold back their laughter.

He still wears a face mask in

"IT'S TOASTED" to taste better!

College smokers from coast to coast prefer Luckies to any other brand. Luckies lead, and by a wide margin, according to the latest, biggest college survey. Once again, the No. 1 reason: Luckies taste better. They taste better because Lucky Strike is the cigarette of fine tobacco... and "It's Toasted" to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' light, mild, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better. This explains the Droodle below, which is: Eskimo seminar enjoying Luckies in badly built classroom. Like all real cool people, Eskimos know Luckies taste better. So, get the better-tasting cigarette... Lucky Strike.

WKAR-TV Pioneers in Telecourses

Pupils Get Choice Of Seven Subjects

Education by television may be a new idea to most people but it is fast becoming an old story at MSC. WKAR-TV, in conjunction with the Continuing Education Service and department co-ordinators, is currently offering a series of seven telecourses, three more than last term.

The lineup of three credit and four non-credit courses includes typewriting, art, teaching a n d humanities. "Classes" are held in the afternoons and evenings, following the same schedule as the regular school term.

"Literature Unbound," one of the non-credit courses offered, is designed to introduce the viewer to some of the good books available at the corner drugstore. The program is presented three times a week with a series of guest speakers.

Art 373, taught by Professor J. J. Garrison, and Methods of Teaching Reading in the Elementary School 317, by Byron H. VanRoekel, coordinator of Improvement Services, are two of the credit courses offered.

"Educational television can't be beat; it's perfect for the working mother," declares Mrs. Dorothy Wilcox, a student enrolled for college credit.

Mrs. Wilcox, who is working for her bachelor's degree, gained credit last spring in a literature course and this fall is enrolled in an art class. She has a textbook and a specially prepared telecourse study kit to follow at home. She will make only one trip to the campus, for her written exam at the end of the course.

Educational television at Michigan State began on an experimental basis in 1950. By January, 1953, the program was ready to begin. Two credit and two non-credit courses were offered winter term. A similar schedule was followed spring term, plus five special programs in the area of adult education.

The telecourses are presented through the cooperation of schools and departments, Continuing Education and TV development. Dr. Lawrence E. McKune is the producer-coordinator.

Chest X-Rays Available for College Personnel

For the first time at MSC, faculty and college employees will have an opportunity to have free chest X-rays, Dr. R. H. Ruhmkorff of the Health Center said Tuesday.

This service will be available Nov. 1-5. The scheduled hours are 10 a.m.-noon and 1-2 p.m. An appointment can be made by calling the Health Center, Dr. Ruhmkorff said.

Never before tried on a voluntary basis in any part of the country, the free X-rays are made possible through the cooperation of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association and the Ingham County Chest Hospital.

In the past only food handlers, new students, new employees, hospital and clinic patients of MSC were X-rayed.

Magazine Contest To Be Explained At Afternoon Tea

The annual Mademoiselle College Board contest will be explained to MSC coeds at an informal tea, today at 2 p.m. in Parlor C Union.

A Mademoiselle representative and the 1954 Guest Editor, June MSC graduate Dorothy Ripper, will explain the contest and answer questions.

Interested coeds are asked to contact Mrs. Lurline Lee, assistant to the dean of students, women's division.

The tea will continue until 4 p.m., Mrs. Lee said. Coeds may come at any time during the two hours.

Vatican Artist To Perform in Organ Recital

Fernando Germani, first organist of St. Peter's Church in the Vatican, will perform an organ recital at the East Lansing People's Church Friday at 8:15 p.m. The program is sponsored by the Lansing chapter of the American Guild of Organists and the MSC Music Department.

In addition to his musical fame, the Italian virtuoso is noted in his country for his work for the Allies in World War II.

During the war, Germani's home was the secret center of underground anti-Axis activities. The organist secretly sheltered in his home many resistance fighters and fugitives from the Nazi police, while Italy was under German domination.

Conferred with the Cross of Commander of St. Sylvester by Pope Pius XII, Germani has toured Europe and South America in recent years. His performances include recitals in London's Westminster Cathedral.
