Williams' Friends Find Waiting Easy

By SKIP ROBERTS and BENNETT SIMS

Victory sang a sweet, loud song at the home of Governor G. Mennen Williams last Tuesday evening. Over 100 friends and precinct workers gathered to listen to the election returns and later celebrated the governors overwhelming victory in his campaign for re-election over Republican Donald S. Leonard.

The doors of the Williams home at 615 S. Grand, Lansing, swung open to all as well wishers flocked in to cheer along with the Governor and his family. There was a constant crowd of people around the television set and the teletype machine.

Nancy Williams, the governor's wife, proved to be a perfect hostess. She saw to it that a never ending supply of food and refreshment was always on hand. All through the night she was busy moving about the house, overseeing the kitchen, talking to her son, and, when she could, peering at the teletype to see how her husband was doing in the gubernatorial race.

A dominant figure in the crowd was Gary Williams, the governor's 13-year-old son. Gary, who is almost six feet tall, was flushed with excitement about his dad's victory and his mother's success.

Campus Chest Goal in Sight As End of Campaign Nears

City Drive Paced by College Gifts

Advance Donations Match 4-Day Total

Pacemakers' contributions pushed college donations to the Lansing United Community Chest drive past the $6,000 mark Thursday.

The advanced gifts from deans and department heads added $3,222 to the four-day total of $3,000.

Campus goal for the drive is $30,000 a 10 percent increase over 1953's donations.

Departments reaching 100 percent of quota were the physics department, the chemistry department and the food services group.

Leading the administrative areas was the all-college division, headed by Dean William H. Combs.

The division, which includes the dean's office, audio-visual aids, college museum, library, and Army and Air Force ROTC, has raised $607, or 71 percent of its $855 quota.

Also reporting Thursday were the English department, with $355, or 71 percent of its goal, and the foreign language department, with $141, or 38 percent, according to Jack Breslin, college director.

Bids Ready On Proposed New Building

Bids for the proposed Animal Industries Building were accepted Wednesday by Karl McDonel, secretary of the State Board of Agriculture.

Funds amounting to four million dollars were appropriated for the building by the state legislature. The building will be built on the corner of Shaw and Farm Lane.

Included in the new building will be Animal Husbandry, Dairy Husbandry, Poultry Husbandry and Dairy Manufacturers. Space will be given to research extension, laboratories, classrooms and offices.

McDonel will present the bids to the State Board of Agriculture, MSC's governing body, at its next meeting.

Triple Play

Murphy Went Into Sea, Then Onto Ship

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—The luck of the Irish, combined with the alertness of a lookout aboard the battleship Iowa, saved the life of Richard Murphy, a Navy seaman from South Boston, Mass.

Murphy, a crew member of the destroyed Iowa, was washed overboard when the ship was 400 miles off the New Jersey Coast Monday.

Murphy was serving as a screen vessel for the Iowa and had just crossed about two miles ahead of the battleship.

Murphy was on the Iowa's deck when a great mass of water over the side, washed down the length of the ship, struck him and threw him over the stern into the sea.

When he came to the surface the Lowry was several hundred yards away. The waves were about 20 feet high and a bobbing head is hard to spot at any distance. Here's how it seemed to Murphy who came into Norfolk Wednesday aboard the Iowa.

Howard James and Johnny Rogers Up a Tree ...

Gone Ape

Frosh, Soph Up in the Air

Sophomore president Howard James and Freshman President Johnny Rogers were still going strong in a tight tree sitting duel at 3 a.m. this morning as the State News went to press. Despite more than 12 hours of the cold contest in a tree south of the Union Terrace, both class leaders vowed to hold out for the night, if necessary.

By GENE RITZINGER

The contest was the opening event in this year's Frosh-Soph competition for the "little brown jug."

The rest of the events, including canoe races and a tug-of-war, will begin Saturday at 10 a.m. and will be climaxed by a cheering contest between the two classes at the Washington State-MSC football game.

The tree sitting contest got underway at 2:30 p.m., but it almost didn't get underway at all. Rogers, out of training, had difficulty climbing into the tree. An assist from a passer-by finally got him seated, however.

The two men went into the contest well-clothed due to the cold weather, but after three hours, both of them were wrapped in blankets. They had to keep moving from limb to limb to stay warm.

Both men had a small but ardent group of feminine admirers who supplied them with hot coffee, cocoa, and hamburgers throughout the day. Sophomores brought James a chop suey dinner at 5 o'clock, but Roger's supporters immediately countered by bringing him a steak dinner. Several girls promised to bring the men breakfast if they were still in the tree this morning.

As the contest progressed, Rogers and James resorted to singing songs to relieve boredom. James originally planned to do a little studying, but the cold soon made him give up this idea. Both of the men tried to engage every passing coed in conversation to help them pass the time.

At 6 p.m., a loyal sophomore coed from South Campbell tried to climb the tree to urge James on to victory. She was thwarted, however, when she found she couldn't climb the tree. James couldn't help her for fear of falling out of the tree and losing the contest.

By 8 p.m., both of the men were freezing, but neither would give up. A large group of supporters had gathered by this time, and it is doubtful if either one could have left the tree even if he wanted to.

Activities Band To Lead Off Tonight's Rally

Spartans will begin tonight's MSC-Washington State pep rally with the Activity Band in front of the Union at 8.

Dean Edgar Harden and Coach Duffy Daugherty will talk up Spartan spirit at the rally, announced Spartan Spirit Head Spud Erickson.

From the Union, the students and the activity band, directed by Oscar Stover, will march to the Auditorium, where the main body of the rally will be held.

Living Unit Contribution Raises Total

World University Projects Revealed

With one more day to go in the 1954 Campus Chest drive, donations to the college charity organization have already passed the $3,000 mark.

The four-day figure bettered the total for the entire 1953 drive by at least $100. Another $1,000 must still be raised, however, before this year's quota is reached. Contributions in the outdoor solicitations campaign, Tuesday and Wednesday, totaled $1,145, as compared with last year's figure of $896.

About one third of all living units have turned in 100 percent of the amount they pledged. Campus Chest director Jack Subar estimated Thursday. He asked all living units to turn in their contributions by 2 p.m. today.

The living unit donation indicator in the Union Concourse, taken down temporarily, will be displayed again Monday. It will show the success of each unit in reaching its pledged goal.

Subar said he was sure the $4,000 quota would be reached today, when married housing and the rest of the living units turn in their money.

Meanwhile, the World University Service, which will receive 37 percent of funds raised during the present drive, released a statement describing two of its latest projects in helping college students in foreign lands get an education.

Part of the money received by the World University Service will go to aid Indian student victims of the Assam floods, which recently covered a 17,000 square-mile area in northwest India.

The WUS National Committee is co-operating with the Indian government to provide assistance for the 100,000 or more university students affected by the flood.

The other WUS project is a tuberculosis sanatorium for Japanese students at Tokyo. It will be the first of its kind in Japan, and will take care of some of the 3,000 students who need hospital care.

Other charities benefiting from the Campus Chest drive are the National Scholarship Service and Fund for Negro Students, the Lansing Community Chest, Spartan Nursery, Multiple Sclerosis, American Cancer Society, and the Ingham County Society for Crippled Children.

Spartan Cadets To Participate In Lansing Parade

Approximately 350 Army and Air Force ROTC advanced cadets, Spartan Guard Drill Team and the Air Force Drum and Bugle Corps, will take part in a Veterans' Day parade to be held in Lansing, Nov. 11.

The cadets, all members of the senior class of advanced cadets, will march with the National Guard, Army and Navy Reserve units from the Lansing area.

MSC cadets will meet Nov. 11 on the drill field in front of Ray Hall. Time of marching will be announced at a later date.

Bitter in Defeat Clardy Slams Dem Campaign

In an election as filled with smears and mud-slinging as any in recent years our choice for a new low in this department is the sixth district's defeated Congressman, Kit Clardy.

Clardy, who lost to Michigan State Speech professor Don Hayworth by 5,000 votes, gets the nod, strangely enough, for something he said after the election was over.

When asked about sending congratulations to the new Congressman, a routine matter for most candidates, Clardy came back with a blistering condemnation of the man his district's voters had just chosen to sit in Congress for them.

"Hayworth," Clardy said, "had the help of all the left wingers in the country."

He went on to blame his defeat on "smears" and "anonymous attacks" which he claimed "misled" the people into voting for his opponent.

In Clardy's case this was perhaps a fitting ending to a campaign during which he talked about almost nothing but communists, socialists, Americans for Democratic Action, (the ADA) and left wingers.

But it hardly seems fair to Hayworth who conducted a hard and fair campaign on the issues and rarely attempted to sway voters by catch words and loaded phrases.

Clardy, it seems to us, was defeated because the people are sick of his type of Americanism which takes as its fundamental premise the idea a loyal American must be an ardent supporter of the Senator from Wisconsin.

That Hayworth had the support and the votes of the liberals can not be denied. That Clardy had the support of Conservatives also can not be denied. But to say that either is unfit because of this support is to practice the worst type of political demagoguery.

Hayworth was elected to Congress because a majority of voters in the sixth district thought he was a better man. Kit Clardy was defeated because a majority of the voters did not think he was the better man.

As hard a pill as that is to swallow for anyone, we think that Clardy would have shown himself a bigger person had he accepted his defeat in the traditional American way which he always speaks so much about.

Lilies vs. Greens Frosh-Soph Contest Has New Features

Wonder what will happen if the Red Cedar freezes over this weekend. Maybe the "lilies", that's what freshmen are calling sophomores these days, will freeze with it and let the frosh cop the honors at the Frosh-Soph Day again.

With a reputation for being a flop, the annual Frosh-Soph contest has been moved up from spring term to fall this year in hopes of boosting the lagging spirit usually associated with the event.

The pace was set by the class presidents who sat it out in somewhat damp trees Thursday afternoon for the first stunt in the contest.

Biggest event Saturday will be a cheering contest at half-time of the MSC-Washington State game. This new event ought to raise some interest. Several thousand pom-poms have been made, green for the "green" frosh and white for the sophomores.

The annual tug-of-war across the Red Cedar and the canoe races will provide the usual means of determining class superiority.

Originally held to decide whether or not the frosh would continue to wear their beanies as was the custom in the past the contest will have something to prove this year too.

It will prove or disprove the freshman charge that sophomores are "lilies" even if the name was a gimmick of the Frosh-Soph Council to instill interest in the contest.

The sophomores could prove it false, however. But they won't if they turn up in as small numbers as they have in the past. In that case, the frosh will have a good chance of making the tag stick.

But if the planning, headed by Tom Gregory, Detroit sophomore, is any indication of the spirit behind this year's contest, the frosh had better watch out.

The sophs just might win for the first time and go home with the "little brown jug" trophy.

Interpreting the News Extremist Blocs Lose Strength to Center

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

There have been strong indications for several years that the extremist blocs at both ends of the American political axis have been losing strength to the center.

For a long time congressional action has been dependent on the coalition votes of inter-party blocs.

In 1952 the Republicans gained control of both houses by tiny margins. Now the Democrats have done the same.

These narrow divisions in Congress, however, since they are the sum total of individual and only slightly related local election contests, are less indicative than the extreme closeness of the decisions in so many of the individual contests themselves.

Elections have been decided by mere handfuls of votes in numerous areas.

One is almost tempted to say that no greater benefit could come to American politics than to keep the politicians of both parties constantly aware that they are walking a tight-rope, subject to ruin by the last bubble.

But there are dangers, too, when party control of government is so narrow that it has no real mandate, and responsibility is too much divided.

It leads to indecision just as surely as does that bane of European political systems, a superabundance of parties. It also leads to buck passing. When there is fault in government, it leads to difficulty for the public in placing the blame.

President Eisenhower's quick decision to get to work with the new leaders of Congress in order to get the business of the country done indicates that he is taking his new difficulties philosophically.

In one respect, the situation gives him an opportunity to prove whether he is a great President.

It puts upon him and his administration the responsibility of presenting to Congress only such proposals as have been worked out so carefully that their need is apparent.

It places upon Democratic leaders the responsibility for seeing to it that no truly beneficial legislation falls victim to partisan expediency.

Letters Intramural Procedures Condemned

To the Editor:

As a protest to the inefficient and unreliable scheduling procedures used by the Intramural Office in regards to touch-football games, I would like to appeal for my team as well as others who have suffered loss interest and loss of games by forfeit.

Two weeks ago I was informed by a member of the Intramural department that our season's schedule didn't include any games during the week of Oct. 25-29.

But according to the State News the Y's Guys were slated to play on Monday, Oct. 25 and Wednesday, Oct. 27. As a result of this lack of coherence we were forced to forfeit these two games.

At a meeting of athletic representatives the Intramural department head made a statement to the effect that Independent League games would be played on only Tuesdays and Wednesdays. Why then, did the department schedule an independent contest on Mondays without first notifying the athletic representatives?

On another occasion, I was told that a contest would be played at 8:10 p.m. After arrangements were made to meet at the field at 8 p.m., I found that the game would be played at 8:55.

I suggest that steps be taken by the Intramural Office to make up for these blunders or in the future it will become necessary to boycott the league and form an independent league. (Independent from the Intramural.)

Floriculture Forum Sets Annual Show

Coads To Model Latest Fashions

Wintry weather outdoors won't chill the hearts of Spartan flower-lovers this week.

Today and Saturday, Floriculture Forum will stage its eighth annual flower show in Demonstration Hall. Flower arrangements prepared by MSC students will be on display.

Doors will open at 7:30 both nights, followed by a style show at 8:15. The 1954 Harvest Ball queen, Judy Bradley, her court, and 15 other coeds will model formal and cocktail dresses provided by Lamberts of Lansing. Fashions from the roaring twenties will also be presented with a skit featuring the Charleston.

Prizes will be awarded for the best flower arrangements. Any group or individual can enter arrangements in the competition by applying at 107 Horticulture Building before 4 p.m.

The flower show will coincide with National Flower Week, which is being observed this week in East Lansing. In a recent proclamation, Mayor Max R. Strothens declared,

"Whereas, flowers speak the universal language of joy, sympathy, love and understanding in our lives, and

"Whereas, flowers with their color and beauty bring inspiration and serenity, so important in this unsettled world. . .

"Now I, therefore, do hereby proclaim the week of Oct. 31 to Nov. 7, 1954, as National Flower Week in the city of East Lansing, and do urge the citizens to pay a special tribute during the week to the beauty of flowers in brightening our lives."

Spinsters' Spin Group Plans for Winter Term

MSC will have its own brand of Sadie Hawkins' Day March 4, the date of the annual Spinsters' Spin, Sally Garvin, Beaver, Pa., senior from Mortar Board and dance chairman, announced Thursday.

On that day, coeds will go all out to pamper their dates. According to tradition, the girls will extend courtesies such as opening car doors, paying for the evening's expenses and providing corsages.

The dance is co-sponsored by Mortar Board, Tower Guard and Spartan Women's League. Theme and band selections have not been announced.

Committee chairman appointed by Miss Garvin include Jackie Climie, Grosse Pointe senior, preparties; Lee Johnson, Niles sophomore and Martha Jane Loomis, Lansing sophomore, decorations; Amy Kipke, Charlevoix sophomore, guests and patrons and Janet Bruess, La Salle sophomore, program and tickets.

More are Marge Austin, Flint sophomore and Marilyn Mills, Wheeler senior, entertainment; Mary Braams, Au Train senior, theme and band selection; and Bev Busch, Monroe senior and Connie Peterson, Owosso senior publicity.

Villagers Plan Open Meeting

Spartan villagers will meet in a new hall for the first open meeting of Spartan Village Council, Sunday at 1:30 p.m., Pat Callahan, chairman of the council announced.

Two reports on driving regulations and the rent increase on married housing barracks will be opened to the married couples for discussion. The rent increase ranging from $3 to $4.50 per month was approved by the State Board of Agriculture in September.

Quonset No. 27 west of WKAR-TV will serve as the new assembly quarters for Spartan Village Council and as a study center during the week. Formerly the Council met in the Married Housing Office.

Callahan explained that because of inadequate housing for meetings and social functions Spartan Village was able to convert the building for this purpose.

Tentative plans have established study hours during weekdays from 6:30 to 10:30 p.m. for students living in this area. The building will also be available for Spartan wives' organizations or informal parties over the week-end.

Additional plans for the use of the village hall will be discussed at the Council meeting.

It is estimated that 30,000 or 40,000 asteroids (minor planets) may revolve around the sun.

MSC Aides To Speak Over Radio

WJR Will Host Viet Nam Envoys

Three of the five MSC officials recently returned from Viet Nam will be interviewed over WJR in Detroit Sunday at 12:30 p.m.

George Cushing, MSC alumnus and WJR news editor, will interview the men on his program, "In Our Opinion."

Included in the interview will be Dr. Edward Weldner, head of the political science department; James H. Denison, administrative assistant to the president and public relations head, and Wesley R. Fishel, assistant director of the college's governmental research bureau.

Weldner and Denison left last Sept. 26 for Indochina to advise the South Viet Nam government in technical administrative problems.

Also in the four-man mission was Arthur F. Brandstatter, head of the police administration department and Dr. Charles C. Killingsworth, head of the economics department.

Fishel journeyed to Viet Nam in mid-August for the initial phase of the program.

Mack Sells to Johnson

Kansas City May Get Athletics

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Chicago's Arnold Johnson Thursday bought the Philadelphia Athletics for Kansas City. Connie Mack, 81-year-old founder of the American League club, signed the final paper from his sickbed.

Johnson announced at a news conference he had acquired the franchise for approximately three and a half million dollars from Connie and his two sons, Roy and Earle. He said the grand old man of baseball would get $604,000, Roy and Earle $450,000 each.

The price of three and a half million is reached by adding a $1,200,000 mortgage and other debts of approximately $800,000 to the price of the Mack stock. Johnson said one million more will be set aside to help build the last place Athletics into a first division team.

In Chicago, President Will Harridge of the American League said Johnson had notified him by telephone. He said a meeting of club owners to act on the sale and transfer to Kansas City will be held Monday in New York. Six of the eight clubs must approve the switch.

Johnson, who for months has waged an unrelenting campaign to bring major league baseball to Kansas City, concluded his deal while a shrunken Philadelphia group seeking to buy the team and keep it in this city cooled its heels in the lobby of Mack's apartment house.

Connie, who will be 92 next month, hasn't eaten a substantial meal since last Thursday. That was when American League club-owners gathered in New York and said no to an eight-man Philadelphia syndicate seeking to buy the A's and keep them here—the old master's fondest dream.

On the word of those who visited the apartment where the deal was sealed, Connie was shattered. His wife, Katherine, shielded him from reporters. Acting for him, she told newsmen:

"Johnson offered too strong a proposition."

Johnson said in a statement: "All the stock of the Philadelphia American League baseball club held by Connie Mack has been purchased by me for $604,000, and I have entered into a contract to purchase all of the stock of Roy Mack and Earle Mack. All of the Macks have signed a letter to the American League requesting approval of the transaction at the earliest possible date. Thereafter, the franchise will be moved to Kansas City."

The final sale of the A's to Johnson climaxed a chain of episodes that had most of the elements of theatrical merry-go-round.

It started late last summer when it became obvious the Macks couldn't carry on with a debt-ridden ball club.

The American League met with Roy before the World Series and gave him 10 days to put his house in order. Harridge called a meeting for Oct. 12 in Chicago to tackle the Philadelphia problem.

At that meeting the league approved the sale of the club to Johnson for $3,375,000.

However, when Roy got back to Philadelphia, he denied he had agreed to sell to Johnson and entered into negotiations with a group of eight Philadelphia businessmen.

Several conferences later the Philadelphia group announced it had purchased control of the Athletics from the Mack family. The came a week of reports of differences over the official contrast of sale.

Harridge called a league meeting in New York. The owners rejected the Philadelphia group without saying why.

Johnson reappeared and threatened to sue the Macks the deal with the Philadelphia group went through. He came to Philadelphia against last weekend, and except for a flying trip home to vote on Tuesday, worked around the clock here to complete the sale.

Another phase of the IM program will be started as the indoor season approaches. This is the art of fencing complete with foil, epee and sabre events. The fencing enthusiasts will be able to pick up entry blanks in the fencing room of the IM office at Jenison Gymnasium until the deadline, which is set at 6 p.m., Nov. 17.

Phi Delt's Downed by DTD, 25-15

By JIM JOHNSTON
Unable to protect an early first quarter lead, Phi Delta Theta bowed to an inspired Delta Tau Delta squad, 25-15. A hard charging line forced a safety with the game not yet two minutes old to put the Phi Delt's ahead. A few plays later Dick Shaw intercepted a Delt pass and lateraled to Dick Lewis who went the length of the field to score. Shaw ran the extra point. Al Budner passed to Bob McDonald to start DTD's parade. Seconds later Jim Clemens intercepted a pass and went 10 yards to pay dirt. Calmly picking out his receivers, Budner hit Don Butcher, George Ridley and Bob McDonald. The Phi Delt's scored a TD in the fourth quarter on a pass to Bill Peters from Court Lecklider.

Psi Upsilon 26, Theta Xi 7
Displaying a smooth offense, Psi U scored in every quarter to turn back a fighting Theta Xi seven, 26-7. Getting off to a good start, the TX's sent Jack Gribble around right end for 10 yards and a score. Gribble then passed to Keith Dryer for the extra point. Bouncing right back Psi U scored on the next series of plays. The score came on a pass from Don Harden to Bill Jonson. In the second quarter, Harden faded back and dropped one into the waiting arms of Bill Wedemeyer for a TD. In the third quarter he hit Bill Jonson.

Cagers Prep for Opener

By JOE HOFFMAN

In just 22 days the Spartans will play their first basketball game of the season.

They open with a home engagement against the Warriors of Marquette on Saturday evening, December 1.

In preparation for the opener, Coach Fordy Anderson has just four weeks in which to practice.

According to Big 10 rules, no team may begin fall practice earlier than November 1.

During this first week of practice Anderson has been working mostly on fundamentals and getting the squad into condition.

Next week the squad will work on the fast break and defense while the following week it will be concerned with special defenses.

Both Julius McCoy and Bob Armstrong are back in practice though Armstrong is seeing only limited action as he is still recovering from glandular fever.

The Spartans will play 11 home and 17 away games. The game against Marquette is "too tough for an opener," said Anderson. "The Warriors' front line averages 6'7" and the entire starting team has been together for three years."

After Marquette, State meets Detroit at home and then after a two week layoff travels to Philadelphia for a two night stand.

On Friday, December 17, the Spartans will play Princeton, and Iowa will meet Pennsylvania in a doubleheader at Philadelphia's Palestra. The following evening State takes on Penn and Iowa tackles Princeton.

After their two engagements in Philadelphia the Spartans return for two home engagements. They meet DePaul University of Chicago on the 22nd and Penn State on the 30th.

In late January the Spartans travel to Chicago to face DePaul as part of a doubleheader in Chicago Stadium. The University of Illinois will play Loyola in the other half of the twin bill.

Two other Big 10 schools, Iowa and Minnesota, will also play in Chicago Stadium this year.

State's first Big 10 engagement will be played at Columbus against the Buckeyes. The first home Big 10 game is on January 8 when Wisconsin invades Jenison Fieldhouse.

Aside from the Badgers, State has Big 10 home games against Michigan, Minnesota, Purdue, Iowa, Northwestern and Indiana in that order.

The away games are against Iowa, Indiana, Wisconsin, Northwestern, Illinois and Michigan. In addition, the Spartans travel to South Bend to face Notre Dame.

As far as the rest of the conference is concerned, it should be tough all around.

Last year's Big 10 champion, Indiana, along with Iowa, Minnesota look like the team to beat.

The Hoosiers will be back with the return of Bill Schjundt, who last year was just about everybody's American team.

Iowa, who last year started sophomores against the Spartans will have the same five back, a year of experience under their belt.

According to pre-season consensus, both Chuck Meneck and Dick Garmaker of Minnesota tabbed for all-American.

The Conference, however, should be fairly well balanced. This can be shown by the fact that last year's Dunker's relay listed the Big 10 as the toughest conference in the country.

Two major rule changes have been inserted into the book this year.

One new rule deals with shooting. Instead of the old and-one the new rule is labeled as the one-one.

According to the new rule, all one shot fouls, if the player makes the first shot he is rewarded with another shot. If he misses his first shot the ball is in play.

The old rule stipulated that if a player missed his first shot he would be given another chance to make it.

This rule does not affect two shot foul or the technical foul in any way.

Sain Unsure About Plans

WALNUT RIDGE, Ark. (AP)—Alderman-elect Johnny Sain still is undecided about his future baseball plans.

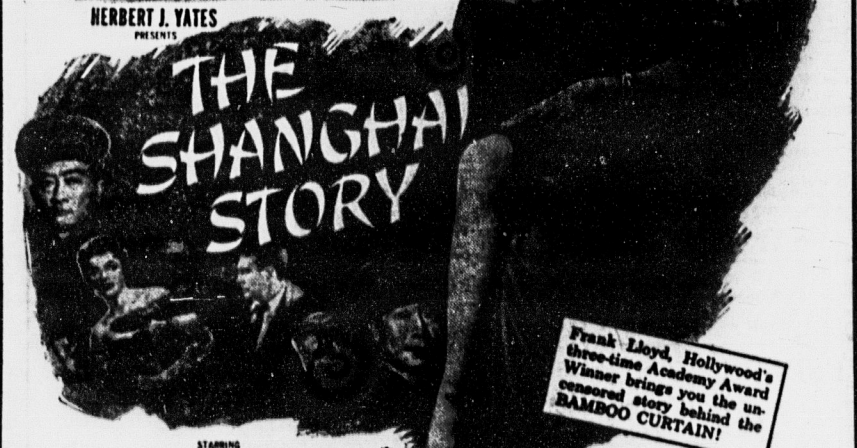

The New York Yankee pitcher, who was one of six Walnut Ridge aldermen chosen in Tuesday's election, said Thursday, "we'll just have to wait and see" about off-mentioned retirement plans. Sain, who owns a new car agency in the Walnut Ridge, this northeast Arkansas town, has been more or less a "spot" pitcher for the Yanks.

Aerial Battle Expected Frosh Whites Seek Revenge

A white-clad freshman team will try this afternoon to avenge its early season loss to the Green frosh team in their second intrasquad game at 4:30 on Old College Field.

The Greens won the first game, 20-7, before about 600 people two weeks ago. The White team is expected to take to the air in their effort to even the series. Last game they had trouble running against the Green defensive line.

Bob Handloser, who missed the first game because of a bad leg, will direct the White attack. Formerly a halfback, Handloser was shifted to quarterback to make use of his good passing arm.

His ends, Tony Kolodzie and Bob Roberts, are two of the best pass catchers on the frosh roster and are prime targets.

The once victorious Green backfield will remain almost the same for this game. Jim Ninowski, who passed for one touchdown, will be the quarterback.

Walt Kowalczyk the top runner in the first contest will be the fullback and speedster Glen Burgess will return at right half. Bob Maturen will be the left half, replacing the injured Bill Kaas.

Kolodzie will captain the White squad and Ray Wilder, the line star of the first game, will captain the Green team.

One of the top targets for Ninowski's passes will be his left end, Joel Jones.

Jones, who came to MSC from West Virginia entirely unheralded has established himself as one of the top end prospects on squad.

Only three men will miss game from injuries. Kaas, Dave Jeters and fullback Edress.

As the first game, a crew of collegiate officials will handle the game and it will be timed at regular game.

Should bad weather interfere the players will move inside Jenison Fieldhouse. There they will hold a scrimmage, also open to the public.

TEN SENIORS TO START AGAINST COUGARS

Hollern Fills Slot at Guard

Matscock Moved to Quarterback

By DONN SHELTON

Donna Daugherty announced Thursday that he will start 10 seniors in Saturday's game with Washington State.

The only exception will be junior guard Dale Hollern, who will start at left guard, where the only other player is the injured Ferris Hall.

Second team, composed of seven freshmen, will be substituted for the old line.

Johnny Matscock, whom Daugherty calls his most valuable player, will be starting at quarterback. He played most of the season at the quarterback position, but this year he was shifted to left halfback to replace injured LeRoy Bolden.

John Kautz, who has recovered from a bad leg and is running at top speed, will be the left half.

Postula will be the fullback, Bert Zagers will start at halfback.

Capt. Don Kautz will be at left end and speedster Ellis Ducket will start at left end.

Andy Schreengost and Roland Schreengost will be the tackles and Bullough will be the other tackle.

Body will be the center. The rest of the regulars will be the lower classmen team, led by Daugherty's "juveniles."

Morrill will be the quarterback and Gerry Planutis will be the fullback. Both are juniors.

Clarence Peaks will be the center. Gary Lowe and sophomore Gary Lowe will be the backs.

John (Big Thunder) Lewis and Hinesly, the Big 10's top passer, will be the ends on the line.

John Langevin and Embry will be the tackles, Buck Nystrom and Norm Nystrom will be the guards.

Sophomore Johnny Matsoka and junior Joe Badaczewski will start at center. Badaczewski is hobbling from a bad leg sustained at Minnesota and is expected to see only part time action.

With Matsoka at quarterback, Spartans will be expected to heavily on the Split-T attack. Matsoka gained fame last year for his running ability from the Split-T and this year has developed into a good passer to go with his running.

Sportopics Puzzled Prophet

By CHUCK MILLER
State News Sports Editor

I've started all this nonsense of trying to pick winners, so I might as well finish it up—after all, there's only three weeks left.

Got some real close ones again this week, so might as well start with them.

Baylor over Texas—the Bears are rolling along in pretty good fashion this year, losing only close ones to Arkansas and Miami, and last week upsetting TCU. Meanwhile, the Longhorns have not won a game since the third week of the season—dropping three straight and last week tying SMU.

Arkansas over Rice—and a real puzzler. The Razorbacks have won every game this year with the exception of a 6-0 upset to Mississippi. Rice has done well also, losing only two close ones to SMU and Wisconsin.

Navy over Duke—the Middies gave Notre Dame a real battle and fumbled the ball in the Irish end zone to lose a tie and possible victory in the 6-0 defeat. The Blue Devils are strong and the margin probably won't be more than a touchdown either way.

Michigan over Illinois—the Illini are coming closer every week to that first Big 10 victory, but the Wolves are determined and want to go all the way. Without Branoff it will be close however.

Purdue over Iowa—the Hawkeyes' 13-7 win over Wisconsin last week was more of a "gift" on the part of the Badgers, than a victory for Iowa, with Wisconsin fumbling away at least two scores. Purdue worked hard for a 28-14 win over Illinois and should be ready for Iowa.

OSU over Pitt—the Panthers seem to have been inspired since the illness of coach Red Dawson, and have won three straight, including upsets over Navy and West Virginia. If the Buckeyes are looking ahead to next week's battle with Purdue, it could be a bad weekend at Columbus.

Other Games: Wisconsin over Northwestern, South Carolina over North Carolina, Georgia Tech over Tennessee, Detroit over Oklahoma A & M, Colorado over Missouri, California over Washington, Army over Yale, Florida over Georgia, Southern Cal over Stanford, Miami over Auburn, College of Pacific over San Jose State, Dartmouth over Columbia, and Syracuse over Cornell.

Defense Worries Hoosiers

Purdue at Full Strength

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Purdue's football squad held a light workout Thursday as it polished its plays for Iowa's homecoming game at Iowa City Saturday.

For the first time in several weeks the Boilermakers should be at full strength.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—Indiana's preparations for Miami of Ohio's undefeated Redskins tapered off Thursday, but Coach Bernie Crimmins indicated he still was not satisfied with the Hoosier's defensive progress.

U of M Tilt Proves Test For Caroline

CAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Halfback J. C. Caroline's much-discussed sore shoulder may get an important test Saturday as Illinois invades West Michigan.

Coach Ray Elliot said Thursday the Illini star may not do much more than punt against the Wolverines, but a decision on how much Caroline will play probably won't be made until game time.

Illini Athletic Director Doug Mills in a speech at Springfield, Ill. Wednesday night reportedly said Caroline, the nation's No. 1 rusher as a sophomore last season, may have a shoulder separation that could end his career.

Later, Mills said he was misquoted and actually said Caroline has a bad left shoulder from an injury in Illinois' sole victory over Syracuse Oct. 23 and it may not respond to treatment in time for him to play against Michigan.

Kircher Comes Home

Former Spartan Coaches WSC

By CHUCK MILLER
State News Sports Editor

A former star Spartan athlete and assistant football and baseball coach as well as head basketball coach at Michigan State will be sending the Washington State Cougars against his alma mater Saturday when State entertains the Pacific Coast team.

Al Kircher, Cougar coach, in his third year as head basketball coach at Washington State, brings a team to East Lansing that has gained much respect on the West Coast and is about a year away from strong contention.

Eight juniors and three seniors will start for the Cougars.

The seniors are fullback Duke Washington, halfback Merl Furnell and tackle Joe Polowski.

Washington is the Pacific Coast leading ground gainer and is a fast break-away runner who could give the Spartans plenty of trouble. He was injured in the Cougar's 30-26 win over Stanford and was carried from the field with a sprained ankle after running the ball three times. However, in those three rushes, he picked up 44 yards and scored one touchdown.

All indications are that he is at full strength and will be ready to go.

Furnell is a 180 pounder who runs from the tailback spot when the Cougars shift into the single wing. He also is a fast runner and can go up the middle as well as around end.

Polowski has lettered for three years and was rated among the Cougar's best linemen when the season started.

The Spartans will again this Saturday be looking at some fine passers. The Cougars have two quarterbacks to use against State, both of whom are able to throw the ball long and accurate.

Starting at quarterback will be Hob Iverson who has completed 30 out of 63 passes in five conference games. He will be backed up by Frank Sarno who was also injured in the Stanford game. Together, they completed 20 of 22 passes against the Indians.

Ends Ruts Quackenbush and Arnie Puller catch most of the aerials thrown by Sarno and Iverson. Quackenbush led the WSC team in catches last year as a sophomore with 12 receptions. Puller missed much of the early season due to an injury, but has since returned to action and regained the starting position he won last year.

The guards are Vaughn Hitchcock and Jim Welch. Hitchcock started his career as a fullback and started the last three games in 1953. As the season started this year, he was still one of the leading backs on the team, but was switched to guard to strengthen the line. Welch became a regular during the last two games of the 1953 season after a slow start and Cougar coaches feel that the 200 pounder is a potential All-Conference player.

Rounding out the starting 11 is

Second Year of CG Series Starts

The MSC Cap and Gown Series has launched its second year of activities with an extensive program of concerts, musicales and a road tour of the Michigan State Players in the "Male Animal."

The series, which operated on an experimental basis last year under the auspices of Alumni Relations, is now a part of the Continuing Education Service and has extended its program to many more Michigan communities.

"The Cap and Gown Series proved itself last year and is now ready to serve communities," said John P. McGoff, co-ordinator of the program.

Among the services offered to the communities this year are the Concert Band, Men's Glee Club, A Cappella Choir, Symphony Orchestra, and the newly organized Bell-Ringers group. Vocalists and string quartets will also be featured.

The "Male Animal" will begin an extensive road tour on Nov. 26, under the program. A similar tour is scheduled for January.

The groups are provided by the series and are sponsored by schools and organizations in the community.

"The series not only will provide entertainment across the students of the arts an opportunity to receive practical application of the theories they have been taught in the classroom," said Milton E. Mueller, dean of the School of Science and Arts. "Continuing Education has thus far assisted communities with evening classes, school bus driver training, health courses, and many other activities. This will be its first venture into cultural contributions," said Edgar L. Harden, dean of the Continuing Education Services.

DGs, Gamma Phis To Pick He-Queen

A "He-Queen" will be chosen by Delta Gamma and Gamma Phi Beta at half-time ceremonies of the sororities' 5th annual football game Saturday at 10 a.m. at Old College Field.

The sororities will select a male student dressed as a woman from one of the fraternities or living units. The "He-Queen" will be crowned and reign over ceremonies and the remainder of the game.

Delta Gamma is being coached for the game by Delta Upsilon and Beta Theta Pi is coaching Gamma Phi Beta.

"CAMPUS CLASSIFIEDS... HIGH READERSHIP"

Varsity Club Slates Music by Morrow

The Varsity Club Ball, featuring music by Buddy Morrow's Orchestra and recording artist Frankie Lester, will be a post Washington State game attraction this Saturday night.

Also featured at the dance will be the crowning of the Varsity Club Ball Queen by Athletic Director Biggie Munn.

Biggie will also present the queen with a bouquet of roses. In addition, she will receive a "varsity 'S'" blanket bearing her name and the date of the dance.

As Varsity Club Queen she will inaugurate and reign over all varsity sports events for the school year 1954-55.

The queen will be selected from the seven finalists announced by J&K Saive, Emerson, Canada, junior and queen committee chairman.

The finalists are Jeanne Brumbaugh, Cleveland junior; Harriette Clark, M a n h a s set, N.Y., sophomore; Lynn Durr, Belle Fourche, S.D., senior; Karen Olson, Marquette sophomore; Carol Tulledge, Dearborn junior; Claire Waters, East Lansing sophomore, and Joan Wenzel, Midland senior.

Judging of the contest took place Thursday at Jenison Fieldhouse but the winner will not be made known until the crowning Saturday night at the Kelllogg Center Ballroom.

Judges selecting the queen were head football coach Duffy Daugherty, State Journal Sports Editor George Alderton, Director of Sports Publicity Fred Stables, Dean of Students Tom King, and WKAR Sports Announcer Bob Shackleton.

Tickets for the dance are still available at the Union desk and will also be sold at the door.

Little Symphony To Make Debut

The newly-formed MSC Little Symphony will present its first public performance in the Music Auditorium Sunday at 4 p.m.

The 28-piece orchestra is composed of faculty members and a few graduate students. Dr. Roy Underwood, head of the music department, will conduct the ensemble.

The concert will be broadcast over WKAR.

Snow Today

Tang in Air May Put Pep Into Rally

Occasional snow and lower temperatures Friday will put a crispness in the air to coincide with Spartan spirit at the pep rally in the evening.

The weatherman says it will be cloudy with snow and continued cold. The mercury is expected to climb to 33 degrees after hitting a low of 32 degrees

'Off the Cuff' Contest Set For Speakers

An extemporaneous speech contest open to all MSC students will be held Nov. 9 at 4 p.m. in Room 306 of the Electrical Engineering Building.

Students are asked to prepare five minute speeches, under either of two topics. Topics for men are "American Foreign Policy" or "National Policies for Atomic Power." Coeds are to prepare for "Problems of Desegregation in the Schools" or "Education in America."

The man and woman chosen as winners will appear in the state contest at Alma College, Dec. 4. Students who can not participate November 9 may make special arrangements with Thomas.
