

Fruit of Glory The-Platoon Bill Probation Cited for Grid Downfall

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a series of three articles analyzing what has happened to football at Michigan.

By DONN SHELTON

Much of the blame for the recent decline in Michigan football is traceable to the present team and coaching staff.

mainly the mechanical responsibility for this year's 2-4 lies with the present regime.

A large majority of the present woes can be traced to the last two or three years.

One of the worst past factors was the outlawing of the platoon system in 1953.

A switch figuratively caught the Spartans with their down. The same type of player that made them great now a big factor in the downfall.

Under the old system, small, fast linemen were able to create holes for the offensive backs, then rest while the big men played defense.

Now, quarterbacks could talk to the coaches between plays, and kicking and passing specialists could be used.

These small, fast linemen are playing the same old football for a quarter or a half and then being around in the last half.

For two or three quarters of banging against bigger opponents, the smaller Spartan linemen become worn down and play becomes ragged.

In defense, the biggest mechanical deficiency of the team is another victim of the one-platoon system.

Those who before would have been considered top slow defense and now doing so because of their great offensibility.

Specialties have also been slighted as the result of the rule. Kickers, passers and pass-catching specialists all been eliminated.

While these agencies were still in use, the Spartans dominated the grid world—and that hurt them, too.

In two major college football teams in the state, there is competition in persuading the high school gridders at State or the U of M.

One of the prep grid stars have other reasons for attending one of the two schools but most of them want to go where they can play the most football.

While the Spartans were riding high, the state's prep boys turned thumbs down on attending MSC because they wouldn't get to play as much as they would at U of M, where the seasons were poorer.

The placing of the Spartans on probation is also blamed as a prime reason why some of the state's top players didn't attend MSC.

As a result of those factors, last year's freshman team was one of the weakest in recent years at Michigan.

Effects of that weak team are being felt on the present squad.

Lack of sophomore talent of starting caliber has failed wide the usual battle for jobs that keeps a team on top edge.

Lack of good reserves has also forced the coaches to use the top team in the game for long periods of time, wearing them down and dulling their effectiveness.

Because of injuries has shown up the lack of adequate substitutes. Instead of players moving up to fill injury gaps, positions have been weakened to fill the holes.

Too are the last-half comebacks of past years. This team has played its best football in the early stages of the game, partly due to the need for keeping the regulars wearing them down.

Saturday's U of M game, the same team that played overblown to a standstill in the first half was run over for last two periods, although Wolverine players said they were trying just as hard at the end as at the beginning of the game.

Coaching staff also has come in for a lot of criticism for the poor season.

Experience has been the biggest hindrance to the staff, many of whom are new at the varsity coaching level except Coach Duffy Daugherty.

Daugherty has successfully made the switch from line coach to head coach and only the worst pessimists talk about losing him. There is little doubt that he will be back next year's season.

Because it is virtually certain that he will retain his position, when he was named head coach, he handpicked his present staff and he has given no indication of dissatisfaction with any of them.

Some of the assistants compiled impressive records as school or JV coaches and they have made the transition to their new jobs successfully.

Mistakes they have made were from inexperience. Experience has shown them that they have made the same mistakes twice.

They have learned from the good and bad points of the present year and are unanimous in predicting a prosperous next year.

Some coaches and players are losing the game, but all agree that it doesn't lie with them.

Unfortunate rule change, a bad year with the frosh, and bad breaks this year and they have themselves a record.

Fishel Gives Warning on Indochina

Says Failure Will Mean Red Sweep

By BOB NEWMAN
State News Managing Editor
Indochina holds the first chance for the United States to actually push back an oncoming Communist movement, an MSC Far East expert said Tuesday.

But Wesley R. Fishel, assistant director of the governmental research bureau, said a failure to hold the friendly Viet Nam government, in southern Indochina, would probably mean a Communist sweep of all Southeast Asia.

Aggressive action by the U. S. if it is primarily military, won't take from the Communists the gains they've made in northern Indochina, Fishel said.

He said military moves into the Vietnam area, partitioned off for the Communists at the Geneva Conference, will fail unless they carry the support and approval of the people of Indochina.

Fishel returned two and a half weeks ago from a three-month mission in Indochina, where he viewed the fight for control of the Southeast Asian area as a consultant to the U. S. Operation Mission in Indochina.

"When you analyze the support the Communists have, there is only a handful—99% percent are actually nationalists who joined Viet Nam because it was the only hope for their nationalist sympathizers."

They are willing to be won back from the Communists," he said, "by a progressive, non-Communist government."

He said economic, social and political improvements are needed in the country, if Viet Nam is to survive further threats by strengthened Red forces.

Although Viet Nam's present government has frequently been weak and inefficient, he said, it is superior to its predecessors.

It has been honest, Fishel declared, and it is improving the country's muddled political situation.

"Indochina is a crossroads for American policy in East Asia," he said. Unless the U. S. can save Viet Nam, the Communists will probably take over neighboring Cambodia and Laos.

And next for the Communists, he said, would be Thailand, and eventually probably all of Southeast Asia.

The talk by Fishel was sponsored by the Viet Nam, International and International Relations Clubs.

Hungary Releases Fields

U. S. Couple End 5-Year Jail Term

Say Spy Charges Not Substantiated

LONDON (AP)—The Budapest Radio said Tuesday night communist Hungary has freed Noel Field and his wife, Herta, who have been in prison there on spy charges since 1949. Field is a former American State Department man.

The broadcast, heard here, said the case against them recently was reviewed and the conclusion was reached that the charges could not be substantiated.

A spokesman at the U. S. legation in Budapest, reached by telephone from Vienna, expressed surprise at the reported release of the Noel Fields. He said: "It is completely new to me. As far as I know, nobody in the legation knew about their pending release. As far as I know, no contacts have been made with them."

In Washington, State Department spokesmen said they were not surprised, if the report is true. These officials said the department demanded the Fields' release in a formal note Sept. 28 to the Hungarian Foreign Ministry and has sought a reply two or three times since.

Field's brother, Hermann, a Cleveland architect, was freed from a prison in Communist Poland last month. Hermann is in a Warsaw hospital to regain his strength after his prison ordeal before returning home. His wife, Kate, is in London.

Hermann was arrested in Warsaw early in 1949 while searching for Noel, who vanished in Prague, Czechoslovakia, in May of that year. Noel's wife also disappeared in Prague while she was looking for her husband.

First actual knowledge in the West of what had become of the Fields—a mystery to rival an international thriller—was given to the U. S. government by Joseph Swiatko, a Polish security police chief who fled to the West.

He said he had arrested Hermann in 1949. He told Washington authorities he thought Noel and Herta were in prison in Hungary. Swiatko said all the Fields were grabbed by the Communists in Eastern Europe in 1949 because they were needed in the prosecution of Laszlo Rajk, Hungarian foreign minister accused of deviating from the Communist line and plotting with Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito to put his country in the camp of the "American imperialists." Rajk was hanged.

Noel Field's name also came up in the blood-purge in Czechoslovakia in November, 1952, in which 11 top Communists were sentenced to death. These included the former Red boss Rudolf Slansky and former Foreign Minister Vladimir Clementis.

They, too, were accused of being Titoists and were said to have had contact with Noel Field—then being touted as the No. 1 American spy in Europe.

The Prague radio last month indicated a change of heart similar to that taking place throughout the Soviet orbit since the death of Stalin. It hinted Czechoslovakia was planning to release persons jailed in connection with the Slansky trial.

Congress to Hear Rules of Order

A briefing on Robert's Rules of Order will open tonight's Student Congress meeting at 7 p. m. in Union.

President Bill Hurst will inform Congressmen on the school's ties with the National Student Association and the purposes of the Big 10 Presidents' meeting which President John A. Hannah will attend Dec. 2.

Hurst will also recommend additional students for the Student Traffic Appeal Committee.

No More Parking on Grand River

New Amendment Effective Dec. 1

By JERRY JENNINGS

Spartan drivers will have to rely more on side-street parking lots when shopping in East Lansing, following action of the City Council at its bi-weekly meeting Monday night.

To comply with a traffic control order from the state highway department, the Council amended a city ordinance to remove all parking from Grand River in East Lansing.

The removal order will affect 37 parking spaces in the three block from MAC Ave. to the intersection of Grand River with Michigan Ave. It will go into effect on Dec. 1.

The Council also accepted recommendations of the East Lansing Traffic Commission and ordered parking removed from three other locations:

1. The east side of Kensington Road, from Chesterfield Parkway to Greenwood Drive.
2. The north side of Chesterfield Parkway, from Kensington Road to the east line of Lot 116, Chesterfield Hills No. 18 and the south and east sides, from the west branch of University Drive to the east branch of Michigan Ave. north to Greenwood; and the east and north sides of the west branch, from Chesterfield Parkway to the east line of Lot 100, Chesterfield Hills No. 1.

Another recommendation, to remove parking from the south side of Albert St. from Charles to Haslet, and the north side from Kedzie to Gunson, was tabled until the next meeting.

Dr. Charles J. Donnelly, a representative of the Dental Health Commission of Greater Lansing, spoke to the Council in favor of fluoridating East Lansing's water supply.

Councilmen told Dr. Donnelly and other citizens attending the meeting that a fluoridation program would be considered.

Art Prof Wins Exhibit Award

Kathrine Winckler, assistant professor of art, received a $100 award in the 45th annual Michigan Artists Exhibition in Detroit Tuesday.

Miss Winckler entered three lacquer paintings, "Ferrochrome", "Crevasse", and "Afterglow". In the show held at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

The exhibition of 275 paintings, sculpture, prints, and photographs by 180 artists will be shown through Dec. 19.

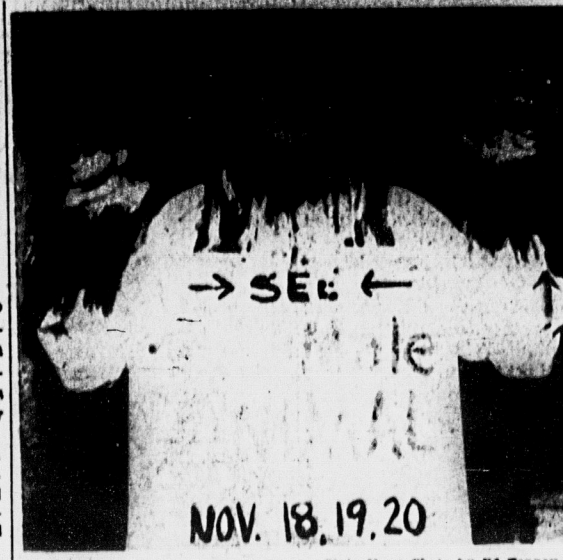

Other MSC faculty members entering the exhibit were Prof. Howard Church, head of the art department; assistant professors Ralph Henriksen, Allen Leapa, and Murray Jones, and instructors Larry Bernstein and George Wezler.

After College—What? Students Gain Graduate Goals

"What am I going to do when I finish school?" If you are undecided and still ask that question, don't worry. You are not alone—your peers are not alone either.

Some research indicates that it is normal for people to lack a clear, objective certainty as to 15 to 25 years of age.

Donald Grinnott, director of the MSC counseling center, said that at 20 a person's attitudes and values are very malleable from what they were at 15, but personality changes are less with age.

Partly cloudy and warmer is the weatherman's prediction for today. Light southerly winds are expected to hike the temperature to about 64 degrees.

Block Seeks Full Section For Saturday

Five hundred Block S tickets are still "on the block" for the Marquette game.

The tickets will be available at Jenison Thursday on a first come, first served basis to all students.

Films of the Block S performances will be shown today from 3 to 4:30 in the Union Coliseum.

Examples of stunts from the three performances this year will be shown.

"The Block looked better at the last game than they've ever looked, because there was a full section for a change," Luck Hatter said.

Before half-time Saturday, students in the stands again will be asked to fill vacant Block S seats, he said.

Theme for Saturday's show will be the months of the year. Moving card displays will again be attempted.

Students who pick up Block S tickets and then decide not to attend are asked to return the tickets to Jenison for redistribution.

Veterans to Hear Director of Housing

Off-campus regulations for approved housing will be explained by Thomas Dutch, director of housing, at the MSC Veterans Association tonight at 8:30 in 32 Union.

The meeting is open to all students living off campus.

'Male Animal' To Depict Life Of Professors

A chance to see how the 'other half'—the professors—live, opens to students for the run of "The Male Animal," Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Playing the lead of English Professor Tommy Tucker, Detroit sophomore Ron Neubert, will go through more than his share of academic and other troubles when the James Thurber-Elliott Nugent comedy opens in Fairchild Theater.

"Best wishes" for the play's success have been sent by Nugent to the MSC cast.

Dr. John A. Walker, newly arrived to the MSC drama department, is directing the play as his first production at the college.

Suzanne House, Lansing senior, is cast as Tucker's wife Ellen and the cause of more strife than Tucker's belief in free education.

Aiding her is an ex-sweetheart Joe Ferguson, played by Frank Braman, Bay City senior.

After a three day run at MSC, the group will tour the state during Thanksgiving and Christmas vacations under the sponsorship of the Cap and Gown series.

16 Cadets Win Top Honors

Sixteen senior Army ROTC cadets have been named "Distinguished Military Students." ROTC officials announced last week.

Those who will be presented with pins at a future ceremony are Joseph W. Burba, Saint Clair Shores; Jack S. Fleishman, Brookline, Mass.; John Gipp, Ahmeek; David Greig, Detroit; and Jerry Griffith, Lansing.

Others are Lee Martin, Bancroft; Weldon Olson, Marquette; Carlton Rintz, Quarryville, Pa.; Harold Tukey, Woodland; Richard Verheul, Three Rivers, and Gordon Vonk, Herrin, Ill.

Also honored were Gary Wales, Wilmette, Ill.; Charles Wallin, Lansing; Dallas Wixom, Marquette; and Richard Gussell, Northville. Gussell led the senior ROTC marchers in a 2 1/2 week's Veterans' Day parade in Lansing.

7 MSC Officials To Attend Convo

Seven MSC officials and faculty members will attend the 68th annual meeting of the Association of Land-Grant Colleges and Universities in Washington, D.C., this week.

Attending will be: President John A. Hannah; Stanley Andrews, executive director, national project in agricultural communications; Dr. Thomas R. Ogden, dean of the School of Graduate Studies; Dr. Maria Dye, dean of the School of Home Economics; Dr. Darward B. Varner, assistant dean of the School of Agriculture; Arthur W. Farrell, head of the agricultural engineering department; and Vernon C. Larson, associate in short courses.

An Academic Must It's Dangerous To Fear Debate

Suppression has no place on a college campus. But the action of several college presidents during the past few weeks in censoring their debate teams seems to indicate that such is not the case.

Each year, college debate teams all over the country debate a topic chosen by a national committee of the Association, an organization representing several forensic groups.

The topic: "Resolved, that the United States should extend diplomatic recognition to the Communist government of China."

This action makes the situation even more dangerous than before. Now the suppression of free discussion has sanction from the two institutions where the nation's highest military leaders are trained.

It is heartening, however, that this pressure on the Association to select a new topic is not wide-spread. Most colleges have welcomed the subject and their debate teams have gone into it with much enthusiasm.

Fortunately, MSC is in this group and its debate team will handle the question many times in the next few months.

Just a few weeks ago, in fact, MSC's team faced Oxford University debaters on the topic: "This house deprecates the Far Eastern policy of the United States."

No Big 10 or Michigan college has offered any objections to the topic.

But even the few colleges which are suppressing the discussion are far too many. And the inclusion of West Point and Annapolis in this group makes it all the worse.

Debate, after all, is a valuable part of the American educational process. It is more than just a means of teaching good speaking techniques.

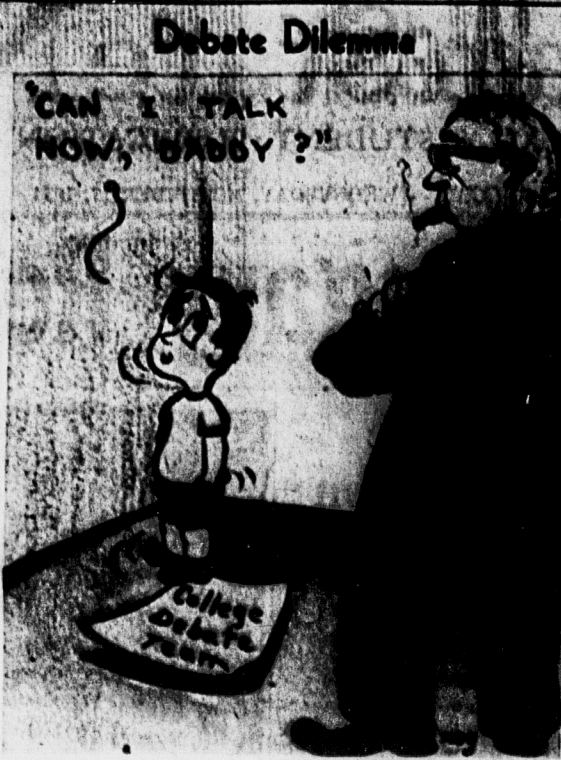

Such a stigma, if allowed to spread, would mean the end of the cherished academic freedom in America.

And with that, the U. S. could just as well close its educational doors.

An Improvement Foreign Films Live Up to Their Name

Foreign movies will be very much present at MSC winter term. And this time they'll really be foreign.

The list of seven French, two British, two Italian films and one German movie should satisfy almost every foreign film fan.

Complaints about the fall term schedule have apparently brought immediate results. The fall schedule contained only four foreign movies out of the nine films that were shown.

The problem this term in securing enough foreign films was due partly to conflicts with other campus activities.

Also motion picture distributors would not release several movies, and some could not be fitted in with the schedule set up for Fairchild Theater.

However, in past years, Russian movies on the Foreign Film Series have been conspicuous by their absence.

There doesn't seem to be any objection to French, German, British and Italian movies, which have their own brand of nationalism tucked away in satire between the romantic comedy.

Even with any such propaganda in Russian movies, they present perhaps the only window for Americans to view Russian cities and farms and Russian culture.

This window may be stained by Red-slanted views, but it is still a window. If some better understanding of Russian life develops from showing a Russian movie on the Foreign Film Series, why not show one?

Interpreting the News Closing Doors Pose Problem for Russia

Western diplomats have always held in the back of their minds the possibility that Soviet Russia, faced with rising allied strength which threatened to cut off for good her hopes for expansion, might seek to break out by force before the doors were completely barred.

There has even been some hope, though this has been more prevalent in Europe than in the United States, that Russia would begin to revamp her political as well as her military viewpoint to meet this changing condition.

The Russians have now quit operating through a smoke-screen and gotten down to the bedrock of their policy, which is to block Europe-wide mobilization.

They even appear to be ready to make some concessions—whether or not they intend to abide by them—to attain this end.

It says that if the West goes ahead with the Western European Union, "it would be entirely natural" for the Soviet bloc to adopt new measures to insure security.

No inkling is given of what these measures might be. Eastern European armies already are tightly integrated with Russia's.

Red strength in Austria and Germany might be increased, but it already is pretty solid. Russia might formally extend her borders to incorporate the territory she controls.

It is something for which the allies will have to be constantly alert.

This Is Living

By JEAN GREGORY

Have you ever really taken time out for a long, objective look at your roommate? And if you did, maybe you thought, "Gee, he's great. How could I have been so lucky to get somebody this tremendous?"

Let's assume that you and your roommates seem to have been made for each other and that you seldom have any serious complaints with the way Fate (otherwise known as the Housing Office) threw you together.

Little ways you can repay him for being such a swell person to room with take no time at all and will result in better relations all around.

In the first place, don't be a passive roommate. Sharing anything, including a room, presupposes that everyone concerned will do their share to keep it in top shape.

You needn't get carried away with this 50-50 deal, however. If your roommate is studying for an 8 o'clock exam, it won't take you more than five minutes to make her bed as well as your own.

And when she's sacked out after a hard day of classes, either be "mousy" quiet or take your studying elsewhere.

Just because you hit it off right from the start, don't take for granted the people who share your room. Even if one of them doesn't mind lending you his favorite black tie with the pink handpainted hoola girl, that doesn't give you license to hunt through his drawers every time you need anything.

At least respect his wishes enough to borrow only when he's there to say it's OK.

For goodness sake, don't try to interest your roommates in the remarkable events of your day if they're trying to study. Unless they're pretty outspoken, they'll probably listen politely rather than cut you short and hurt your feelings.

Ditto for chatter after you're all in bed and the lights are out. Talking into the wee hours of the morning will do nothing for anybody's dispositions—or point averages.

"But," you say, "they talk as much as I do." Yes, but you started it so it's up to you to call it quits. Deep down, they'll probably be grateful for an excuse to shut up.

Enough preaching for one day. Besides I have to meet my roommate for coffee (she's buying, I never carry a wallet). I hope she doesn't notice that I'm wearing her new cashmere.

Humanities Instructor Honored for Book

Dr. Ralph E. Morrow, instructor in the Department of Humanities, is the winner of the triennial Mrs. Simon Baruch University Award of $1,000 awarded by the United Daughters of the Confederacy for the best book on the Civil War submitted during the current triennium.

Some Folks Don't Stand In Lines

Standing in dinner lines is unheard of around the Short Course Dormitory on south campus. Students who live there are served meals in a dining hall which is located next to the dorm.

Short course students are primarily men in the School of Agriculture. They are housed in the dorm only from October to March. About 80 of the 257 male students enrolled at this time are living in the dorm. Others stay in Butterfield and Rafter.

The dormitory is divided into a north and a south portion. Each division has a large dormer lined with closets.

The all-purpose room of the dorm serves as a combined hobby, study and recreation area. It is equipped with desks, piano, radio, telephone and ping pong table.

An evening program is scheduled twice a week in the dining hall at which guest speakers discuss problems and services in the farming industry.

Vernon Larson, the dorm's resident advisor, states that special housing for short course students is not uncommon. He explained that most land grant schools have similar living units.

Units Welcome Housemothers

Phi Kappa Tau fraternity, Kappa Alpha Theta and Alpha Xi Delta sororities have new housemothers this term.

Mrs. Donna Cooper of Detroit has taken over the duties of last year's Phi Tau housemother, Mrs. Dixie Carnahan, who left due to her mother's illness.

Mrs. Jean Hughes of Lansing has replaced the late Mrs. Mary McCabe as housemother at the Theta house.

Alpha Xi's new housemother is Mrs. Priscilla Watson of Detroit. Mrs. Jean Renault was housemother last year.

Pi Kaps and Gilchrist Coeds Decorate Units

A little imagination and some paint can go a long way toward brightening up college residences, as displayed by Pi Kappa Phi fraternity and some Gilchrist coeds.

The Pi Kaps decided to renovate their old upright piano by painting murals on it. Bob O'Hara, Buffalo, N.Y., junior, did the job work. The pictures depict college life in general and the different sororities in particular.

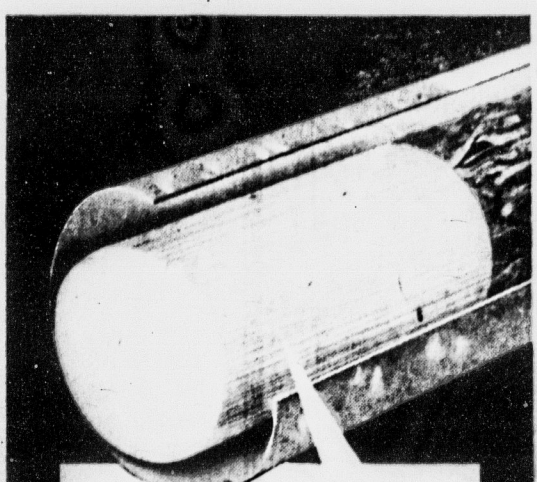

By purchasing some paint and bright aqua cotton material the six occupants of Gilchrist's third floor dormer added an original touch to their quarters. They shared the work of making drap drapes and stenciling red and white footprints on them.

World Boxing Committee

New Group Bans Return Bouts

LONDON (AP)—The infant World Boxing Championship Committee Tuesday banned the controversial "return bout" clause in title fights and said the group will not recognize a bout if the "return" is included in a contract.

The committee of four men, representing New York, the National Boxing Ass'n. of the United States, Britain and Europe, also announced that no champion could defend his world title without the committee's approval.

The return bout clause has been insisted on by almost all champions for years. It guarantees the champion, if he loses his title, a return bout with his conqueror within a specified time, usually 90 days.

After the decision was announced following a two-day meeting of the group, it promptly drew the transatlantic fire of Charley Johnston, manager of two world champions—featherweight Sandy Saddler of New York and light heavyweight Archie Moore of Miami.

Johnston, who also is president of the influential International Boxing Guild of Managers, said in New York that neither Saddler nor Moore would defend his title without benefit of the return bout clause.

"I had to give return bouts to Willie Pep for Saddler and Joey Maxim for Moore," said Johnston. "I want return bout contracts for Sandy and Archie."

The world committee meeting was attended by Robert K. Christenberry, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission; Livingston Osborne, chairman of the Illinois State Athletic Commission who represented the American National Boxing Ass'n.; J. Onslow Fane, chairman of the British Boxing Board of Control, and J. Edouard Rabret of France, representative of the European Boxing Union.

"The main points," Fane said, "is that we have decided that in the future no world championship could become the property of the champion or of any promoter."

Mustang Named as Back of Week

By The Associated Press

They call Southern Methodist the Mustangs and Frank Eidom ran like one against Arkansas Saturday to corral the honor of The Associated Press back of the week.

The 22-year-old 190-pound senior from Port Arthur, Tex., performed brilliantly in leading the Mustangs to a 21-14 triumph over previously unbeaten Arkansas.

Eidom scored all three of his team's touchdowns, gained 163 yards on 22 carries, caught two passes for 33 yards, starred on defense and had time to do an outstanding job of blocking.

"He played a wonderful game, not only for his offensive ability but on defense and he did a great job of blocking," said SMU Coach Chalmer Woodard. "He also furnished inspirational leadership."

Purdue, Indiana Teams To Take to Air Lanes

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Seven of Purdue's 16 football playing seniors worked out with the varsity Tuesday as the Boilermakers shapened up for Saturday's season closer with Indiana.

The senior delegation was headed by the team's acting co-captains throughout the season, guard Tom Bettis and end John Kerr. Others who scrimmaged with the probable starting eleven included guard Walter Houston, center John Allen, halfbacks Rex Brock and Ed Zembal, and fullback Phil Ehrman.

Throughout the first half of the drill Coach Stu Holcomb stressed fundamentals—such as blocking for the running attack. In the windup scrimmage, the No. 1 unit practiced defense against simulated Indiana tactics.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—Indiana coach Bernie Crimmins indicated Tuesday he hopes to turn Purdue's own football tactics against the Boilermakers Saturday when the Hoosier Big Ten schools fight it out for the Old Oaken Bucket.

Although he emphasized passing in the practice session, Crimmins freely admitted "We have no one who can come close to displaying the type of throwing we'll face from Lennie Dawson and Frankie Gutman."

Florian Helinski, who has been doing most of the Hoosier passing this campaign, abstained from throwing to favor a sprained wrist. The two standouts of the Hoosier backfield, Helinski and halfback Milt Campbell, both were slightly injured last Saturday but returned to the practice ranks for dummy scrimmage Tuesday.

Bums to Play in Flatbush, Not in LA

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Reports of a "hush hush" baseball meeting to consider transferring the Brooklyn Dodgers from Flatbush to Los Angeles brought immediate denials Tuesday.

Baseball writer John B. Old of the Herald-Express wrote that transfer plans were to be aired at a meeting in New York Monday.

He said his source also said that Cincinnati might switch to San Francisco. There's been a loud clamor in the west coast cities for major league baseball but so far no solid hits.

Warren C. Giles, president of the National League, when told of the story said, "It never has been suggested to me that the Brooklyn club be moved to Los Angeles."

He said the National League does have a meeting scheduled for New York on Monday but to consider a revision of the constitution and by-laws.

Powell Crossley, president of the Cincinnati club, has stated repeatedly that the team is not for sale and that it will not be transferred.

For Prep Coaches

Clinic to Open Cage Season

By JOE HOFFMAN

More than 200 high school coaches from in and around Michigan will get their first look at the Forrest (Fordy) Anderson system of play Saturday morning.

The coaches will be guests of Michigan State at the second annual basketball coaches clinic to be held on Friday and Saturday.

New Spartan head coach Anderson, assistant coach John Remington and freshman coach Bob Stevens will present lectures, discussions and demonstrations.

As a conclusion, the prep coaches will be treated to the Spartan Green and White basketball game on Saturday morning at 9:30 in Jensen Fieldhouse.

In addition to the coaches, all students and members of the faculty are invited to attend. There will be seats to accommodate approximately 2,500 people.

Mays, Gomez, Trucks Sign '35 Contracts

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Giants Tuesday announced the signing of Willie Mays and Ruben Gomez, two of the brightest stars of their 1934 world champions.

Horace Stoneham, president of the club, said he signed the two players on his recent tour of the winter leagues. Both men are playing for Santurce, Puerto Rico.

Mays, a brilliant fielder, won the National League batting title with a .345 average. Gomez won 17, lost 9 and had a 2.84 earned run average.

CHICAGO (AP)—Virgil Trucks, their top pitcher for the past two seasons, Tuesday became the third player to sign a 1935 Chicago White Sox contract.

The husky 35-year-old right hander had a 19-12 record last season, losing seven games by one run.

First baseman Phil Cavarretta and third baseman Cass Michaels, previously signed 1935 Sox contracts.

Besides the Green and White game, Saturday's activities will feature a general summary of the clinic activity, a review on defense, a session on special offenses and defenses and a general review.

The clinic is sponsored by the Michigan State basketball staff in cooperation with the school's Department of Continuing Education.

All of the coaches attending the clinic will be the guests of Michigan State at a luncheon Saturday and also at the football game with Marquette.

Dawson Resigns As Pitt Coach

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Lowell (Red) Dawson Tuesday resigned as football coach at the University of Pittsburgh to accept a job in private business. Dawson's contract was to expire next Feb. 1.

Dawson entered the hospital several weeks ago for treatment of a heart condition. He was replaced by Pitt Athletic Director Tom Hamilton as interim football coach.

The Panthers lost three straight this season under Dawson before he entered the hospital. Under Hamilton the Panthers have won four out of five.

He came to Pitt three years ago in his first season the Panthers won six and lost three. Last year Dawson's team won three lost five and tied one.

The men's swimming pool at Jenison Field House will be closed to open swimming for the remainder of this week.

Woodson Blows Top At Alumni

Blasts Boosters As Harmful

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Head football Coach Warner Woodson of the University of Arizona Monday told downtown boosters to mind their own business and quit interfering with his team.

He informed the Townsents, the booster organization.

"You think you are supporters. You aren't. You are tearing the team down. Give us a chance."

Woodson had been asked at the Townsents' weekly luncheon why his team passed on fourth down with two yards to go for a first down on Texas Western's five-yard line Saturday night. Western won 41-21. He answered the question, then said:

"You may not like it but you are going to hear the truth. Let's see if you can take it."

"I think you have killed our quarterback here in Tucson."

"I know you have crucified B. L. a. k. l. e. y, quarterback Barry Bleakley, right here. You've torn him to pieces. He knows how you feel about him. He doesn't think he has a friend."

"This upsets the quarterbacks and the team. It stirs up feeling when you openly find fault with the quarterbacks. Even the players are beginning to criticize them. This sort of propaganda hurts us."

"I'm getting something off my chest," he went on. "I plead with you: Give us a chance to coach our boys."

"A lot of you think you can do better. I don't. I don't try to tell you how to run your businesses. I don't interfere with you. I ask that you give us the privilege of coaching our quarterbacks."

"You have them in such a condition they are afraid they are going to make a mistake almost every time they call a play."

"I know more about football than anyone here, and I'm smarter about football than you."

"Stay out of my business so I can do better."

The Townsents gave Woodson a standing ovation when he had finished talking.

Ralph Kiner traded to Indians

Kiner Traded To Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—Ralph Kiner, one of the National League's greatest home run hitters and one of its highest paid players, joined the Cleveland Indians Tuesday, and for him the Chicago Cubs got an unnamed player and an undisclosed amount of cash.

Kiner's salary—a reported $65,000 at Chicago and $75,000 in mid-1953 when the Pittsburgh Pirates traded him to the Cubs—was one reason for other National League clubs waiving on the big outfielder.

Other reasons were his age—he was 32 last month—and his performance in 1954, an off-year for him, although he batted .285 and hit 22 homers.

At his Palm Springs, Calif., home, Kiner said he was surprised at being traded out of the National League, but was "looking forward to being with Cleveland where some of my best friends play."

General Manager Hank Greenberg, Manager Al Lopez and outfielder Wally Westlake of the Indians all played with Kiner at Pittsburgh.

W. Shaw 5 Wins Shaw Title

West Shaw 5 took a big step Tuesday night in their quest for the inter-dorm championship by beating East Shaw 5-0.

Midway in the first quarter, Ron Shincroel faked back and hit the slippery Ron Postanomi who eluded the East Shaw secondary to ramble into the end zone untouched.

Not to be denied, East Shaw bounced back in the third quarter with a series of plays ending up with a TD pass to Roger Homer from Dick Schielsen.

Homer then hit Dave Agerhorn to put East Shaw ahead, 7 to 6.

Both teams battered away uselessly until, with four minutes left in the game, Shincroel let loose with another of his deadly aerials.

This time he hit George Hoffman in the end zone. The same combo added frosting to the cake when they elicited the extra-point to bring the Shaw dorm championship to West Shaw 5.

Phillips 6, 31; Rather 1, 6 Paced by aerial ace Bill Hendrickson and a rugged defensive platoon, Phillips 6 turned back a fighting Rather 1 outfit, 31-0, to also advance toward the inter-dorm title.

The men of Phillips scored in every quarter in their whitewash of the Rather squad.

Bill Hendrickson started the Phillips machine rolling in the first quarter with a pass to Chuck Cutler. Again in the second quarter he hit Jerry Lehman for a score.

The passing wizardry of Hendrickson was yet to be realized as he opened up the third quarter with successive passes to Walt Hammond and Jerry Lehman.

The final marker came in the last period when Hendrickson hit Lehman in the end zone.

Moving into an early lead on a pass from Ron Best to Irvin Dutiliney, ZBT looked as though it might upset SAE.

The story changed minutes later as Roger Evans dropped an aerial into the arms of Bill Pangborn for a score. Evans completed a pass to Tom Ricketts for the extra point to put SAE in the lead.

In the third period Ricketts scored on Evans' pass for the tie.

Gordon Mutch grabbed the last Evans' dart to round out the scoring for SAE.

Davidson Wins Unanimous Decision

DETROIT (AP)—Embril Davidson, 208 1/2, of Detroit, won an unanimous eight-round decision over Bert Whitehurst, 190 1/2, of Baltimore, Md., Tuesday night in a heavyweight bout at the Motor City Arena.

Davidson was given every round on the official score card.

The Detroit fighter staggered Whitehurst twice in the second round and opened a cut over Whitehurst's eye early in the sixth.

Sugar Ray's Comeback Bid Set for Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, former middleweight boxing champion who quit the ring two years ago to become a singer and dancer, will make his first comeback appearance at Olympia Stadium Dec. 8 in a 10-round bout against Joe Rindone, a Boston middleweight.

Rindone, who began his professional career in 1947, has a record of 19 decisions, 14 knockouts, three draws and 10 losses in 40 starts.

Robinson will fight a six-round exhibition at Hamilton, Ont. Nov. 27 before his Olympia bout.

The Detroit fight will not be broadcast or telecast.

Engineering Exposition Plans Set

To interest high school students in the field of engineering will be the primary purpose of next year's MSC Engineering Exposition, Dr. J. D. Ryder, dean of the School of Engineering, said recently. Dr. Ryder made the statement at a meeting of the Engineering Council as he unfolded plans for the 7th annual exposition, to be held May 12-14, 1955.

An enlarged version of last year's exposition is planned, with displays of class projects and laboratory operations.

Several industries will send displays picturing developments in the engineering field. Next year's exposition will be planned by the Engineering Council, with faculty aid. The council is composed of representatives of interested societies and honoraries in the Engineering School.
