Against Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Republican leader Knowland called again today for a blockade of China to force the release of American prisoners there.

White House said that Eisenhower feels that such action would be "war action."

Power thus lined up solid support for the proposal.

Major speech at Chicago tonight, Dulles said the states had agreed under the Nations charter to settle international disputes in a manner which would prevent world peace.

Dulles said, "our policy is to exhaust peaceful means of sustaining our international rights and those of our allies."

Switzerland, the only neutral country, the only one with diplomatic contact with the Chinese.

land said there may be other effective alternatives to the blockade he advocated.

effective, it will have support," he added. "But I don't believe either Congress or the country will support a blockade of China."

White House view of the situation was reported by James H. Doolittle, Eisenhower's press secretary. He said the President agreed that a blockade would amount to war action.

Christmas City Nears Completion

Living Units Prepare Giant Noel Figures

A perfect setting for Christmas is in the making, according to Mickie McBride, student government secretary. Christmas City is fast becoming a reality as living units prepare their displays to be erected on Grand River islands Friday, Miss McBride said.

Three islands on Grand River, from Abbott Rd. to Division St., will be the site for seven Christmas displays re-creating the traditional Christmas scene.

East Lansing merchants began installing overhead lighting to illuminate the displays Tuesday. Outside the displays will also be available for additional flood lights.

A stable frame already marks the beginnings of Christmas City. East Lansing merchants are supplying the major nativity theme. The merchants will also provide music during the day on the islands.

The contemporary church scene, East Lansing's project, will feature a replica structure of the entrance of MSC's Memorial Chapel.

A 12-foot camel will concentrate attention on the Wise Men scene being constructed by Pan-Hel.

Other groups constructing displays are: Inter-Coop League, IFC, women's dorms, and religious groups.

The displays will remain during the Christmas season.

The delegation included: Karl H. McDowell, secretary of the State Board of Agriculture; Philip J. May, comptroller and treasurer; William H. Combs, administrative assistant to the president and dean of the all-college division; and Thomas K. Cowden, dean of the School of Agriculture.

Others were: James H. Denison, administrative assistant to the president in charge of public relations; Forrest Smith, secretary of the Ag Council; and L. O. Fridman, business manager of the athletic department.

Residents Cite Woes Of Parking

Petition Seeks More Campus Lots

By JERRY JENNINGS
College officials Tuesday had still taken no action on a petition from East Lansing residents asking MSC to provide more student parking on campus.

The petition, signed by 22 householders living in the area north of the Harrison Road dormitories, was sent to the administration last week.

It asked for expanded college parking facilities in order to relieve excessive student parking in the East Lansing business and residential areas. This congestion, it stated, is causing danger and inconvenience to many citizens.

Citing the new driving rules which permit any student to register his car and drive it on campus, the petition said, "We feel that if more or less unlimited driving privileges are given to students by the college, the parking problem should be solved by the college so that others do not have to suffer the consequences."

Three unfavorable conditions were listed as resulting from student parking in residential areas. They were:

1. Unsafe traffic conditions, where streets are narrow, or where there are many children nearby.

2. Difficulty in maneuvering fire trucks or ambulances on the narrow streets, in case of emergencies.

3. Lack of available parking space for East Lansing residents and their visitors.

More parking space for residents of the Harrison Road halls was evidently a particular aim of the petition. Traffic congestion in the nearby area caused the East Lansing City Council, at its last meeting, to order parking removed from sections of Kensington Road, Chesterfield Parkway, and University Drive.

If the college does not take action, petitioners indicated they will petition the City Council for complete removal of street parking in East Lansing.

The group's spokesman, F. G. Westerman, of 1041 Chesterfield Parkway said, "If we can eliminate the congestion of student parking, we would be willing to sacrifice the parking spaces we can't use anyway."

Face Marquette Tonight

'New' Cagers Open Season

By JOE MOFFMAN
Michigan State's "new" basketball team will open its season tonight at 8 p.m. in Jensen Fieldhouse.

Playing under a new coach, the Spartans will be wearing new uniforms and playing under a pair of new rules.

Pacing the Spartan attack will be the two top scorers in the school's history, Al Ferrari and Julius McCoy.

Two years ago Ferrari, as a sophomore, set a new season scoring record for Spartan players with 381 points. Last year, McCoy, also a sophomore, cracked Ferrari's mark with 409 points.

At the center post will be Duane Peterson. The 6'6" junior showed a lot of promise last year and should give the Spartans a good scoring center.

Rounding out the starting five will be Bob Devenny and Walter Godfrey at the guard slots. Godfrey is playing his first year with the Spartans, while Devenny saw a lot of action last year, averaging better than 10 points a game.

For Anderson, it will be his first year as head coach of the Spartans. The former Bradley University coach brings with him a style of play which emphasizes speed, a marked contrast to past Spartan teams which emphasized control basketball.

Two changes in the uniforms will be apparent when the Spartans take the court. One will be the enlargement of numbers and the other will be the addition of sailor collars on the back of the warmup jackets.

Tonight will also see two new rules in effect. One provides for 20-minute halves instead of the old 16-minute quarters.

The other rule concerns foul shooting. The new rule gives the player an extra shot if his first one is successful. If he misses his first shot, the ball remains in play. This new rule

Requests Pay Boost For Service

Act to Include 6-Month Hitch

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON (AP)—Four more years of the draft law—with a provision for a six-months hitch—and a pay boost for the armed forces were urged Tuesday by Secretary of Defense Wilson.

Wilson told a news conference he will ask the next congress to extend the Selective Service Act for an additional four years. The present law expires June 30.

But he said there should be some provision to give six months of training to 50,000 to 100,000 men each year.

Those in for the six months of basic training, Wilson said, would be under some form of compulsion to continue active training in the National Guard or the organized reserves.

The pay boost for military personnel and an overhaul of the general military manpower program will be parts of a legislative program designed, he said, to strengthen the morale and effectiveness of both active and reserve forces.

Wilson estimated the pay raise at from 3 to 5 per cent of the current pay scales. There is a possibility of greater increases for some key categories, he said.

Wilson said he could see little change ahead in the rate of 22,000 men inducted into the armed services each month.

The military manpower program, he said, would spell out details of the long-awaited new program for the military reserves system.

The program is being given its finishing touches now, Wilson said, and probably will be included in the President's State of the Union message to Congress in January.

He predicted military spending during the year starting next July 1 will be about 35 billion dollars. The Defense Department's request for new funds will be somewhere between 29½ and 34½ billion dollars.

Funds appropriated for the present year total about 29½ billion dollars.

Wilson estimated the pay boost, if approved by Congress would cost an additional 600 million dollars.

McCarthy Deserves Senate Censure

It's a Little Late for Apologies, Joe

The U. S. Senate made a wise move Monday. It called a halt to the seemingly endless debate on the Watkins committee's motion to censure Joe McCarthy, setting a deadline of 3 this afternoon to start voting on the measure.

Thus it decided to end many days of angry charges and counter-charges which started more than three weeks ago.

A special Senate session is a rare thing. Even rarer is a Senate motion to officially censure one of its members. And when these two situations are fused, an unprecedented condition is at hand.

Only twice before in history has the U. S. Senate considered censure motions against its members. Both of these were adopted.

As far as we're concerned, the Senate should make it three straight today.

Joe McCarthy has demonstrated throughout the present session that he still hasn't learned his lesson.

In fact, he kept talking more than long enough to pick up a third censure charge.

That was the resolution released Sunday by Sen. Bennett of Utah asking censure on McCarthy's statement that the Watkins investigating committee had served as the "unwitting handmaiden" of the Communist party and his reference to the Senate censure session as a "lynch bee."

McCarthy made a weak attempt Monday to apologize for his "discourteous and offensive words." He admitted that "at times I have been extremely blunt in expressing my opinions."

"I say to those who feel they have been offended, that I had no intention in the words that were used of hurting the feelings of anyone—but in the facts and opinions that I held, I am unchanged."

It seems that it's a little late for apologies, Mr. McCarthy.

You didn't think of apologizing when you ripped into Gen. Zwicker when he was a witness before your investigating committee several months ago.

Nor did you say much complimentary when you refused to cooperate with a Senate subcommittee back in 1952. You didn't spare many horses in denouncing a member of that group in a manner "without reason or justification," according to the Watkins report.

It seems that every time you near a crisis, however, you become apologetic all of a sudden.

But, we repeat, it seems just a bit late.

As usual, Joe McCarthy used up a lot of words during the several days that fellow senators were considering censure charges against him. Many of the statements didn't seem to jive. But Joe rambled on.

Some of the things he said and did along with the highlights of Senate action:

Sunday, Nov. 7—On the eve of the special session, McCarthy renews prediction that the censure move will carry, saying that his opponents have "plenty of votes lined up," and denouncing the whole proceeding as a "lynching bee."

Monday, Nov. 8—In top oratorical form, McCarthy hurled such terms as "imbecile" and "fantastic" at the proposal to rebuke his conduct as the Senate opens the censure session.

Tuesday, Nov. 9—McCarthy counterattacks revised censure resolution with charge that the Watkins committee had drafted the censure motion was an "unwitting handmaiden" of the Communist party.

Wednesday, Nov. 10—McCarthy tells Sen. Case, a member of the Watkins committee, that he never meant to suggest that any of the six senators of the group was sympathetic toward communism. But he continues to insist that the committee "unwittingly served the Communist cause by proposing censure for him."

Thursday, Nov. 11—Fans of McCarthy invade Washington by the hundreds to stage a demonstration against Senate censure move.

Sunday, Nov. 15—Efforts of a group of Republican leaders to compromise a censure resolution collapse in the face of McCarthy's refusal to retract attacks on colleagues.

Monday, Nov. 15—A Democratic senator suggests expulsion.

Tuesday, Nov. 16—Sen. Bennett says he'll file a new censure count against McCarthy, based on the "unwitting handmaiden" attack on Watkins committee.

Wednesday, Nov. 17—An elbow bruise inflicted by a hand-shaking admirer sends McCarthy to hospital. Sen. Bennett holds back on third censure charge.

Thursday, Nov. 18—Senate calls off debate until Nov. 29 because of McCarthy's hospitalization.

Sunday, Nov. 28—McCarthy leaves Bethesda Naval Hospital, with arm in sling, declaring "The sooner it's over the better. I have a lot of work to do."

Monday, Nov. 29—Senate votes to limit debate and sets Wednesday deadline to start voting on censure motion. McCarthy tries to insert his own censure charges against three fellow senators, but backs down when Sen. McClellan terms move a "flagrant violation" of fair play rules. McCarthy reiterates conviction that opponents have lined up enough votes to censure him regardless of what else happens.

Paced Middie to Upset

Welsh Voted 'Back of Week'

By The Associated Press
Navy's thrilling victory over Army last Saturday was hardly a one-man show, but quarterback George Welsh came close enough to making it just that to earn him the "back of the week" designation for the last big week of the 1954 football season.

His timing on the split T option plays befuddled the Army defenders, his ball handling was sharp, his passing accounted for three Navy touchdowns and he scored the other after setting it up with a pass.

But what drew special praise from the experts analyzing in the weekly Associated Press selection was a daring and successful "call" at a crucial point in the game.

At the start of the second quarter, Navy was leading 7-0.

It was fourth down and a yard to go at midfield, and Army had just sent in a fresh line. Instead of punting, Welsh called his own signal and made the first down on a quarterback sneak.

Navy went from there to a second touchdown on an 11-yard Welsh to Earl Smith pass.

Later in the same quarter, Welsh's long pass to Jim Owen put the ball on the Army 8 and Welsh sneaked over to make the count 20-20.

And in the third quarter he passed 19 yards to Smith for the touchdown that put the game beyond Army's reach.

NEW YORK (AP)—Alan (The Horse) Ameche, Wisconsin fullback, Tuesday was named winner of the 20th Heisman Memorial Trophy, annually presented to the nation's outstanding football player by the Downtown Athletic Club. Ameche, a senior, won by a margin of over 200 points over Kurt Burris of Oklahoma in a poll of 1,318 sportswriters and sportscasters.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—Don Schlundt, Indiana University's All-American center, poured in 45 points Tuesday night against a brilliant freshman team that was beaten by the varsity only in the last 35 seconds, 76-73. Schlundt got his 19th field goal in the varsity's winning rally after the freshmen led 73-72.

Silly Bowl Rules

By CHUCK MILLER
State News Sports Editor

That time of the year has rolled around again, when bowl fever grips the country, and with it comes the repeated, loud-voiced objections to silly conference regulations which remove a good deal of the glamor and prestige of the post-season classics.

Annually a bothersome stipulation in the Big 10-Pacific Coast Conference is the rule barring a team to compete two years in a row.

But to Oklahoma, the perennial king of the Big Seven, it is nearly a penalty for being champion.

Nearly every year, the Sooners wrap up the conference crown, but are able to appear in the Orange Bowl against the Southeastern Champ only every other year.

During the interim, the job of representing the Big Seven falls on a vastly inferior second place team.

This season produced a good example of the prominence of the Sooners in the ranks of the Big Seven.

Oklahoma won all five league games on a combined point total of 188-20. Kansas fell, 65-0, followed by Kansas State, 21-0, Colorado, 13-0, Missouri, 34-13 and Nebraska, 55-7.

Finishing the season with a 10-0 record, the Sooners are currently ranked third in the national ratings.

With Oklahoma out of the bowl picture, Nebraska, with a 6-4 record, is given the chore of representing the conference against Duke, the co-champs of the Southeastern League.

What it was that ever prompted league officials to adopt such penalizing rules is hard to comprehend.

By this rule, the Big Seven is definitely hampering their chances to win by sending a second-rate team.

The Sooners deserve to play in some bowl game after their fine season, but nevertheless, they will be watching the game on television come Jan. 1.

At the conception of the present Rose Bowl pact, Big 10 teams could go only every third year, while the PCC annually sent their winner regardless of previous trips.

Fortunately, due to the balance of the Big 10 a situation never arose where a third rate team was sent.

However, a few "close calls" like second place Northwestern's Rose Bowl trip and ultimate victory over the pride of the PCC brought pressure from the coast conference—fearing even more humiliation.

The result was a compromise which went into effect two years ago, whereby no team from either league may play two years in a row.

Late Goal Breaks Tie For 54 Win

Victory Ends Brief Loss String

By ART UNDERWOOD
A tie-breaking goal by left wing Gordie King 10:28 of the final period of the Spartan stickmen's first victory of the season, three starts Monday night.

The tussle fought back to three ties in the see-saw battle in front of the Appleton arena at Canton, broke a two game losing streak for the MSC squad.

They dropped their first test 3-0 to defending champion Rensselaer and followed 10-5 to Clarkson, losing by the Larro, who played their first game of season.

Both teams were wild and ed polished but made up for it in an action-packed final period had the operators on the most of the time.

Three times the Larroes puck laying in front of the tan nets with the score tied, no one wanted to do about it.

St. Lawrence coach Kollevoll withdrew goalie Sloan for the final minute of game in a desperate bid to win the game and end it in time, but six Scarlet lines could not get through the tan forward wall.

Brian McFarlane, Larroes was high point man with 10 markers.

Spartan's other top scorers were Steve Ray, Jim Wain, Tomsky and Willie Gies.

The stickmen returned Lansing Tuesday to prepare the opening league game at North Dakota in the late Friday and Saturday.

DETROIT (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, former world weight and middleweight champion, was suspended indefinitely Tuesday by the Board of Athletic Control for refusing to go through with a fight here.

The suspension was Robinson's manager, Gene Fainsford, who is a former champion's manager.

William Matney, secretary of the Michigan commission, said suspension would hold 30 days.

Swimming Coach Charles McCaffrey will launch his 14th year as head coach of the state swimming team Saturday afternoon at the annual freshman-sophomore meet in the gymnasium.

Seven men from last year's team have departed, McCaffrey said, who is entering his 14th year as Spartan swimming coach, high hopes that his sophomore will provide the necessary make-up for the loss.

Working as deep backs in the secondary were quarterback Ralph Guglielmi, left half Joe Heap and right half Jimmy Morse. Their alternates were Tom Carey, Dean Stuber and Paul Reynolds.

Cubs Sell Baumholtz To Chisox

Lane Denies Deal With Washington

HOUSTON (AP)—Bargain-hunting minor leaguers found little talent in the draft pool Tuesday and re-alignment and trade gossip stole the play at the baseball winter meetings.

The Chicago Cubs and White Sox pulled the first deal of the meetings when the Cubs sold outfielder Frankie Baumholtz to the White Sox for an amount "slightly in excess" of the waiver price of $10,000.

The 24-year-old veteran who hit .297 in 90 games with the Cubs probably will be the No. 1 left-handed pinch hitter with the Sox.

Reports of a sweeping Chicago-Washington trade involving such big names as Minoie Minoie, George Kell and Eddie Yost were denied by Frank Lane, White Sox general manager.

If we trade Minoie, they might as well trade Lane, too," said Lane.

According to a report from Washington the Sox were sending third baseman Kell and outfielders Minoie and Johnny Groh to Washington for third baseman Yost, outfielders Roy Sievers and Tommy Umphlett and pitcher Maury McDermott.

Lane said none of the men mentioned ever were discussed in conversations with Chuck Dressen, new Washington manager.

While the swap talk continued the American Ass'n. discussed franchise problems.

The association, strengthened by the addition of Denver from the Western League, must await the decision of an arbitration board to know how much it must pay for the Denver territory.

IM Schedule

Today's only football game will find Sigma Nu and Delta Tau Delta battling for the Fraternity Championship. Team officials will be contacted about the time and field.

Michigan State's all-time record basketball attendance is the 15,354 crowd which saw State play Kentucky in 1948.

Hawaiians Fall, 19-12

JFU Cops Independent Title

By JIM JOHNSTON

A second chance wasn't enough for the Hawaiian Club, as JFU widened their earlier margin of victory to take the Independent League championship Tuesday night, 19-12.

The Hawaiian Club had protested an earlier game because of a mixup in a referee's signal on the point after touchdown, which had they made would have knotted the score at 13-13.

So the game began at the point of dispute with the Hawaiian Club trying for the extra point and two minutes left of the third quarter.

The hard charging JFU line proved their protests to be in vain as they crashed through and broke up the play.

Both teams continuously threatened throughout the 4th quarter, but it wasn't until late in the period that JFU was able to push across another score. This came when Bill Reid intercepted a Hawaiian Club aerial, and carried to mid-field.

Two plays later, Ray Doski spiraled a 5-yard pass into the waiting arms of Larry Radzville. The game ended before another play could begin.

Sigma Nu, 33; Sigma Chi, 13. In the fraternity league semifinal, the Snakes turned under an inspired Sigma Chi seven, 33-13.

Paced by the running of John Gersonde, Sigma Nu moved into an early first quarter lead and never relinquished it.

Gersonde ran 15 yards for the first marker. Again in the first quarter with a minute left, he scooted around his own right end for 30 yards and a TD.

The Sigs came back in the second period with John Smith heaving an aerial to Mark McIntosh, for the score.

It was Gersonde again as the Snakes retaliated four plays later on a 10-yard TD jaunt.

Sigma Chi rounded out their scoring in the third period when Smith passed to McIntosh.

Go Getters, 12; Rockets, 0. With a dazzling display of serials, the Go Getters won the right to represent the Short Course league in the all-college championships by turning back a fighting Rocket squad.

Paul Schmidt passed to Bert Fulton for the first Go Getter tally early in the second quarter.

Again in the fourth it was Schmidt. This time he hit Bob Mittenberger in the end zone to wind up the scoring.
