

NCAA Restrictions Unfair Big 10 Plays Hand Right

Playing in a poker game with hundreds of players and millions of dollars at stake, the Big 10 has maneuvered the NCAA into a spot where fighting means sure death and so does giving up.

Since 1951 the NCAA has restricted television of collegiate football to one game a week, with a few minor exceptions. And the game has always been selected by them.

Now the Big 10 has said that they can no longer accept this type of television control.

And, furthermore, if this type of system is employed again this year, they will devise their own plan and use it.

If this happens, the Pacific Coast Conference is also prepared to walk out and use their own plan, with Notre Dame a possible "secession" joiner.

This would leave the NCAA with so little in the way of collegiate football to telecast that it would be virtually impossible for them to sell the package to a sponsor.

The avowed reason behind the NCAA's insistence on a national game-of-the-week plan is to benefit the small colleges.

But the one-sided plan favoring the small school is all out of proportion to the situation.

The small school can never hope to share in the television money. No sponsor is willing to foot the bill for a show that so few people will watch.

The NCAA claims that the restricted plan helps the small college attendance problem.

To some extent it probably does, but why should big schools suffer greatly so the little schools can profit a little?

The big schools can sell their television rights for good money, the same good money that the small schools are so anxious to get.

In addition, the legislatures in at least two Big 10 states and in some Pacific Coast states have demanded that their state-supported colleges televise their games.

These legislatures realize the economic factor involved, as well as the fact that a whole state full of people would like to see the state's team, and only seventy or eighty thousand can do so in person.

Midwest fans last year raised howls of protest when they were forced, through the NCAA one-game-a-week plan to watch a pair of never-heard-of Far West teams play; or when one of the games ended up a fifty point rout.

Why should these fans have to watch this type of game when some of the best football teams could be televised every weekend of the season?

Until now, fighting the NCAA meant expulsion and consequently no athletic program since all the other NCAA members are forbidden to compete against expelled schools.

Now the Big 10 has come up with the hand-full of aces that it takes to call such a strong hand.

Final decision of the NCAA Television Committee should come in a couple of months. And the Big 10 has put the committee on the spot.

But taking into consideration the wishes of its fans, the people who support the teams year after year, the Big 10 had no other alternative.

It was a necessary move—even if it is one that eventually will lead to "secession."

Peace Paradox Implied In Eisenhower Message

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

In effect, President Eisenhower has told the nation in his State of the Union message that while "today the world is at peace," in actuality peace is impossible in today's "circumstances."

That paradox was implicit in the message. It is a bitter paradox, and it was there because of a much more bitter one expressing the credo of Soviet communism: that peace is only an extension of war.

President Eisenhower expressed a noble aim for America's policy: Encouragement of "the efforts being made in the United Nations to limit armaments and to harness the atom to peaceful use."

Yet he also said that "pending a world agreement on armament limitations we must continue to improve and expand our supplies of nuclear weapons for our land, naval and air forces."

Is such an agreement on armament limitations possible as matters stand today? President Eisenhower apparently does not think so, for he said:

"All of us are aware of the continuing release of the Soviet Communists on military forces... their steadily growing power includes an increasing strength in nuclear weapons. This power, combined with the proclaimed intentions of the Communist leaders to communicate the world, is the threat confronting us today."

If the Soviet regime continues to rely on force, and if that regime is dedicated to the aim of communizing the world, then such a thing as disarmament becomes impossible, and the United States continues to live in a state of suspension between war and peace.

Implicit in the President's review was the conviction that so long as the Soviet Union is ruled by a regime of dedicated world Communists, real peace is not possible. The President issued a warning.

"If the Communist regime understand that America's swift and decisive... shall we have peace at the expense of honor or... will be powerfully... from launching a military... ture enuffing their own... and many others in..."

That was not merely a statement of a massive... nation's policy. There was... bluster about it. Moscow... bluster can be reasonably... that it means the... world communism will be... responsible for future... sions, and if there must be... ishment for that, the... ment will strike at the... world communism.

The President also... tant it is to remember that... military. That is but only... See PARADOX, Page 2

Christmas Ban Still Needed

Ruling Eases 'Junk Mail' Snag

Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield's announcement that all "junk mail" will be discontinued after March 31 signaled the end of a 15-month period during which the Postal Department failed in an attempt to reduce third class mail losses.

The post office made some money when advertisers found that they could reach a large number of potential customers simply by sticking a cent-and-a-half stamp on a circular and addressing it to "householder," "patron," or "boxholder."

However, this practice soon clogged the postal system, and the trouble that the delivery to every house caused outweighed the added revenue that it produced.

Unfortunately, Summerfield's statement was late in coming. "Junk mail" swelled the tremendous volume of Christmas mail to unbearable proportions on certain days.

Many mailmen in Michigan were further harassed one day during the rush by sample boxes of shredded wheat which had to be delivered to each house.

The new ruling, which reverts back to a practice established 20 years ago, still permits advertisers to obtain city delivery by paying a cent and a half and providing a street address along with the anonymous "patron."

Since the shredded wheat boxes of the past Christmas rush did contain the necessary addresses they would be acceptable even under the new ruling.

Lansing Postmaster Lyle Austin reports that during the rush, post offices in Lansing and East Lansing handled up to 700,000 pieces of outgoing mail each day.

Added to this and a heavy incoming mail were the numerous types of "junk mail."

Austin said that "junk mail" usually creates no problem, but keeps postal employees busy on slack days. Since it is third class mail and does not have to be distributed immediately, it can be held for several days and delivered whenever first class mail falls out.

In this respect, the "junk mail" appears to serve a good purpose.

But since the Postal Department found that it did not increase revenue and often overburdened mailmen by making them stop at every house instead of the 99 per cent figure cited for a normal day, Summerfield made a wise decision in revising the policy.

Also, most housewives will testify that the "junk mail" did nothing more than fill up mailboxes and eventually waste baskets.

Since advertisers can still clog the nation's post offices during the Christmas rush with "addressed junk mail" Summerfield could alleviate even more congestion by banning all forms of "patron" material during the period from Dec. 10 through 24.

This would benefit both overloaded mailmen and overstuffed mailboxes.

The KOLEMINE Centennial No Celebration For Mailing Room Crew

—by JACK KOLE—
State News Editor-in-Chief

Diggin' away again after too long a layoff: Employees over in the college mailing room probably don't think too much of the Centennial celebration these days.

They're just wondering if their tongues will survive the year.

Cause of their concern is the State Board of Agriculture's December approval for the college to purchase a million and a half three-cent stamps—the special commemorative issue honoring MSC and Penn State for their Centennials.

That's quite a bundle of stamps. And the $45,000 MSC will pay out is no small sum, either. But you don't get bargain rates for quantity buying from the post office department.

Think of the mailing room crew, though. In the middle of February, when the stamps are put into general circulation, they'll have to lick a stamp for every piece of mail that the college ships out.

At present, of course, practically the entire load of college mail is handled by meter machines. To say the least, hand-stamped mail is going to make things rough.

Probably the understatement of 1954 campus affairs was made after the purchase approval when one Board member remarked that it will take "a lot of licking" to stamp all college mail.

Reason for switching to stamps is that the commemorative issue will give the college a lot of free advertising.

It seems like the college is going a bit too far in its efforts, however. If it must throw a lot of extra hand work into a system that is operated efficiently by machines.

As for advertising, the college's Classnotes:

This situation has always existed, of course. It's simply more noticeable when there's a big crowd like Friday night's, second only to the 2,767 who jammed in to watch the Detroit Red Wings exhibition in November.

Former Athletic Director Ralph Young used to joke about the old days when they used the present ice arena as a stable for cavalry horses.

But when hundreds of students pay 60 cents to crane their necks and stand up thru a good share of a hockey game, that's not a bit funny.

For years, there's been talk of doing some rebuilding inside to furnish a decent seating arrangement. But talk doesn't remodel a hockey rink.

The big crowd the other night is just another indication that the students will support a hockey team.

But they do have a right to demand decent seats.

An Honor for MSC Miller as Comptroller, A Gain for the State

The New Year brought some happy news to James W. Miller, political science professor and head of teacher education.

Miller was appointed comptroller for the State of Michigan, and because of his new duties, he will be absent from MSC for at least two years.

In his new post as executive head of Michigan's Department of Administration, Miller assumes important responsibilities. He will be boss of the state's accounting budget, building engineering and management.

He was director of the task force which studied and reported on Michigan's election commission for the "Little Hoover Commission," and he also was director of a local and state government workshop in 1948, 1950 and 1951.

Governor G. Mennen Williams, in announcing Miller's appointment said:

"I am confident he will bring to the comptroller's office not only a full background in government, but a real desire to serve the people coupled with an uncanny knowledge of working with people and getting things done."

We agree with Governor Williams. Miller will serve the state well, and bring honor to MSC, whose loss is Michigan's gain.

Jan Somers Rides In Parade of Roses

The place—Pasadena. The time—New Year's Day. The event—Tournament of Roses. And for the second consecutive year, MSC was being represented by a Miss Big 10, this year Jan Somers.

To all TV viewers, Jan was recognized on top of a huge cupcake which was being iced by a 17-foot baker holding a decorating tube. The float, which won first place in the parade for business firms, was sponsored by the American Bakers and Confectionery Workers International Union of America.

Of her six day stay in California, Jan described it as being very luxurious and almost fantastic. She also thought it was fascinating to see all the movie stars and other famous people in reality.

While there she appeared on Art Linkletter's show, toured Paramount studios, and met many celebrities such as Bob Hope, Peggy King, William Holden, Jerry Colonna and Gloria DeHaven. One of the biggest thrills Jan had was meeting Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Along with many dinners and banquets Jan also was an honored guest at the Big 10 reception in Los Angeles. Among the many gifts she received was a 40 pound "Good Luck" cake which was presented by her sponsors.

Yet honors of this kind are nothing new to Jan, as she also is well-known as Miss Michigan and runner-up in the Miss America finals. At the present time she is a junior and a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

The Pasadena trip was the result of the Miss Big 10 contest held last year at Northwestern in which Jan was selected. Miss Big 10. This year the contest will be held at MSC, and the queen will be crowned at the J-Hop February 5.

To provide a pension of $100 a month at age 60 requires a pension fund of $17,700 compared to $15,100 at age 55 and $12,700 at age 50.

Faculty Folk Club Plans Displays For Hobby Show

Faculty Folk Club members will exhibit products of their hobbies in Parlors A, B and C of the Union Building, January 14 at 2 p.m. The hobby show will include displays of antiques, travel's collections, handcrafts, general collections, costumes and individual unique objects.

The committee will also exhibit antique crystal, silver and China as well as some old Pennsylvania Dutch pieces. Collections of interest obtained in travel will represent various foreign countries. The faculty club members will wear costumes obtained in these countries.

The arts and crafts group of Faculty Folk Club will exhibit some of the articles they have been making in ceramics and weaving. A tea will be held at 2:30 p.m. with Mrs. Bernard Alfredson as chairman.

Co-chairmen for the event are Mrs. Harold Byram and Mrs. A. H. Leigh.

Badminton Contest

Women's badminton tournament will start soon. Entry blanks for singles and doubles may be obtained from Miss Lucille Dailey in Room 9 in the Women's Gym. Coeds are urged to enter now.

Spring Practice No Fun; But Necessary Say Coaches

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK (AP)—College football coaches are on record as favoring a longer spring practice period, and it is assumed the players are pleased to learn the mentors have their welfare so much at heart.

As one who had a taste of spring football in the dimming past we can testify that it's no fun. It's just a dull, tedious chore. The benefit of the glamor and enthusiasm accompanying fall workouts when an immediate goal is in sight and the student body, and the public at large, is filled with zest for the sport.

You can't blame the coaches for promoting their jobs, and by keeping the game in the spotlight in both the fall and the spring they are enhancing the impression that they really are putting in prolonged hours to earn salaries which in some instances are positively unwholesome.

Without spring practice someone might get the idea that these wages are out of proportion to the amount of time necessary to earn them, and that it isn't fair for a coach to be paid more than a professor for three or four months work.

The coaches also are taught in a vicious circle wherein their security depends upon their ability to put out winning teams, and winning teams, they are convinced, cannot be produced without spring practice.

It would have been a real item of news had they gone on record as favoring the elimination of spring practice on the grounds that it interfered with schoolwork and resulted in just too much football.

Some day the players will be polled to see just how they feel about rule changes, and spring practice. That would be news.

Chalking up the only Spartan victory was the veteran Bob Gunner at 130-pounds. Gunner, showing no signs of being rusty from his year's lay-off, put on a brilliant display of speed and agility in decisioning Pitt's powerful sophomore, Bill Hullings, 7-2.

The other two MSC points came when Spartan ace, Jim Sinadinos was held to a draw by the Panther's rugged 147-pound sensation, George Ulassin.

Sinadinos, wrestling out of his weight class due to the illness of Bill Tambo, came from behind to lead at the end of the match. The point, going to the wrestler with the most "ridin' time" was awarded to Ulassin, however, to tie up the match.

The last three minutes of his match against Pitt's 1954 National Collegiate champ, Joe Solomon.

Battling evenly until the final period, the mighty Solomon put on a burst of power to take the decision from Abraham, 6-2.

In the 167-pound division, Ted Lennox, MSC's blind wrestler, displayed some fancy wrestling before bowing to Pitt's 1954 Eastern Intercollegiate second place winner, Ed DeWitt, 5-2. In the evening's highest scoring bout, Bob Cook edged out Spartan Norman Gill to take the 157-pound match, 9-5.

Entering his first dual-meet competition Pitt's Ed Peery, displayed the wrestling technique that won for his brother last year's 123-pound Eastern Intercollegiate crown, in shutting out State's Don Phillips, 6-0.

Appearing in their first varsity meet, Spartan sophomores, Brian Harrison and Tony Avellano lost their matches to the more experienced Pitt grapplers. Avellano wrestling in the 137-pound class, was pinned in 2:59, and heavyweight Harrison was thrown in 2:48 of his bout.

Reibel's Hat Trick Tops Hawks

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Earl (Dutch) Reibel's three-goal "Hat Trick" powered the Detroit Red Wings to an easy 6-2 victory over the Chicago Black Hawks in a National Hockey League game at the Arena Sunday night.

It was the Wings' seventh victory against only one loss so far in games with Chicago and the fourth of the Hawks' six home games transplanted here.

Chicago held a brief 1-0 lead in the first period on Ed Litzenberger's goal but less than a minute later, Reibel scored the first of his trio.

Reibel added the lone goal of the second period after a pass from behind the net by Marcel Bonin and when Johnny Wilson rapped in a goal just 33 seconds after the third period opened the Hawks were through.

Detroit quickly made it 5-1 before Larry Wilson got Chicago's second goal at 16:10.

Gordie Howe closed out the Red Wings' scoring with a final tally at 19:49. A crowd of 8,235 watched the game.

Wrestling Summary

Tournaments To Pick Top Pin, Cue Men

Two MSC tournament teams will be picked starting Jan. 18, one in bowling and one in billiards.

Signing up of competitors will take place all of this week in the Union bowling alley and the Union billiard's room.

From the bowling tournament, the top men will represent MSC at a Big 10 tournament in April at the University of Indiana.

Individuals may sign up, at the cost of $1.00, with no teams picked.

Each individual may bowl on Tuesday or Wednesday afternoon, depending on their schedule. The tourney will close at the end of the term.

The three highest men in each of three divisions in the billiards competition will represent Michigan State in an NCAA tournament later in the year.

The three divisions are straight pool, straight rail billiards and three cushion billiards.

Permanent Job?

Fendley Collins, appointed Michigan State wrestling coach in 1929, has been the only one to hold that position.

Devenny Sparkles

Cage Cause Aided By Big 'Little Man'

Michigan State head basketball coach Forrest (Fordy) Anderson has had his faith restored in the "little man" in college basketball.

While other college coaches throughout the nation are shouting the praises of their big boys, the lads towering over the six foot five mark, Anderson finds time to speak of guard Bob Devenny, a 5-11 senior.

"For his size," says Anderson, "he gets a lot of mileage." In our first two games, against Marquette and Detroit, he was the acting team captain, and played an important part in each contest.

"As a floor general in the Marquette game he controlled the ball well and added 11 points to the cause.

With fouls and injuries hurting us against Detroit he came thru with 24 points and his ball handling kept us in the game right to the end."

Devenny has been a hard working member of the Spartan quintet for the past two years. Injuries have hindered his development, but he has been a plugger.

In his sophomore year he scored 91 points while appearing in 21 of the 22 games played that season. During that time however, he came up with a series of injuries that slowed his effectiveness.

Last year he played in all 22 games and scored 157 points. Devenny came to Michigan State with a brilliant high school record. He won an All-Catholic league selection while a senior at North Catholic, Philadelphia, Pa., in 1951.

While at North Catholic he set a City (Catholic) basketball scoring mark of 42 points in a single game and led his team to a runner up spot for the city championship.

At Michigan State, Bob is enrolled in the school of business and is an advanced Air Force ROTC cadet.

Thurman McGraw, co-captain and defensive tackle on the Detroit Lions, plans a career as a forest ranger when his active gridiron days are completed.

Iowans Favored Tonight

2 Marks Broken In 94-77 Win

Still fired up after Saturday's record win over Wisconsin, MSC's basketball team in Iowa City to meet the Hawkeyes tonight at 9 p.m. Coach Fordy Anderson expects to maintain its peak, but would be the favored Hawks, previous favorites to take the conference crown.

With all of last year's regular back, the Iowa squad is the experienced Big 10 team and one of the deepest in personnel.

The key to the game will be which of the high jumpers can control the boards. Iowa is rated as one of the best rebounding teams in the west and the Spartans also high in that department.

The Spartans guards, whether until Saturday, came alive with a vengeance to lead the squad to a new team high and a total mark of 171 points in the win over the Badgers in Saturday's TV game.

Using two sets of rebounding Anderson kept the Badger balance and he said he would continue the two-plateau system tonight.

The Bob Devenny-Walt Goble tandem scored eight points piece while the Pat Wilson-Raymond duo accounted for 10 and six points respectively.

Reserve center Duane Peterson and forward Julius McCoy paced the Spartans with 19 points apiece while the "Badger" Dick Goble was the game's high scorer with 23 points.

Starting slow, the Spartans rallied late in the first half, one stretch scoring in 10 minutes while holding the Badgers scoreless.

In the second half the Spartans built a 20-point lead, then when it met to eight points late in the running wind and setting the record.

Devenny broke the old record set in the Spartans' opener at Marquette, 94-72, and reserve forward Harry Lux added to the total with a running basket shot.

"Tonight's game will be broadcast by Bob Shackleton on WKAR-FM and WLSL starting 9 p.m.

Hard Nets One Goal for State

Wolves Win, 1-0, at Home

By ART UNDERWOOD
The biggest jinx on the sports scene held again at the University of Michigan as the team plastered the Spartan stickmen, 7-0, last night in East Lansing speeded to a 3-1 victory in Arbor Saturday evening.

The U of M squad racked up number 30 and 31 in the dates back to 1922 when the MSC team was foiled in earning their second in the string.

The Saturday battle they picked up where they left off at 11:51 of the first with a tally by Yves Hubert.

Montreal speedster drove beautiful shot over the head of sprawling MSC goalie Ed during a melee in front of Spartan net to give the lead team the lead.

Spartans came roaring back with hard-working Jim McKevitt in the net, brilliant goal tender Lorne Howes with the aid of a double by Gordie King and John was all tied up 1-1 at the first period but the team turned on the steam in the second stanza right winger Jay Gould led in what proved to be winning tally at 13:18.

Bill McFarland, the spark of the Wolves aggregation and of the outstanding centers in league sited away an insurmountable 9-32 of the final with a vicious snap shot in the corner.

Both teams were hampered some fast whistling on the part of the officials which resulted in 23 penalties including minute stint in the bin for McFarland for misconduct in second period.

McFarland was called on 11 of the times while the Spartans received 12 trips to the cooler.

It was a busy night in the nets, as goalie Schiller kicked 29 shots while the Michigan under Howes picked off 29.

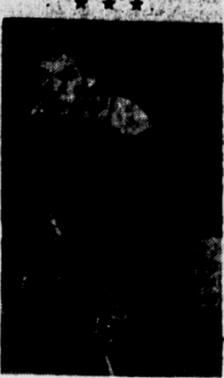

Eugene Grazia in his appearance and Henry Harkness, rugged little defenseman, worked very well for the team while fiery little Dick Schiller was outstanding for the Spartan squad.

Spartans next ice appearance will be at Houghton for a game series Jan. 21 and 22 at Michigan Tech.

4 Records Set As Swimmers Win

By JACK MURRAY
Starting its season off on the right foot, Michigan State's swimming team downed a strong Iowa State team, 48-45, in a dual meet Saturday.

Two Spartan standbys, John Dudeck and Tom Payette, paced the winners with big wins in the 200-yard breaststroke and the 50-yard freestyle respectively.

Don Leas and Jim Rickard also copped firsts for the Spartans, in diving and the 440-yard freestyle.

Rickard's win in the 440 secured up the meet mathematically for the Spartans.

Littler Wins Golf Tourney

Coach Charles McCaffrey called the win "a great team victory" and praised the Cyclones, who lived up to a reputation as a top team.

Dudeck's win, in 2:33.9, came while he was using the "new" orthodox breaststroke and is an MSC varsity record and a new dual meet record.

The orthodox stroke, in which the hands remain in the water, is a revival of a stroke popular 20 years ago and from which the butterfly stroke evolved.

Iowa State salvaged some solace from the performance of their two aces, Jim McKeivitt and Loran Braught.

McKeivitt posted two new dual meet records in winning the 220 and 100-yard freestyle events and Braught captured the 150-yard individual medley.

McKeivitt's times were 2:09.5 in the 220-yard freestyle and 51.2 in the 100-yard freestyle.

The Cyclone 300-yard medley relay team, consisting of Braught, Mike LaMair and Sandy Stewart, established a new dual meet mark of 2:53.7.

In a post game feature, freshmen Don Gest, Tom Kwansy and Al Coxon established a new American record of 1:16.6 in a 150-yard medley relay exhibition.

Michigan State's Jensen pool has underwater lighting and submarine windows for instructional purposes.

Wolves' Captain Scores Hat Trick

Friday night's shellacking at the hands of the U of M ice sextet came as a great disappointment to many of the 2,510 fans who turned out for the promised history-making decision over the Wolfe squad.

Michigan took an early lead and was never threatened as Jerry Karpinka banded in the first marker at 11:58 of the first period.

The Blue squad went wild in the second stanza with Capt. Bill MacFarland leading the way with a goal at 7:48 followed by Bob Schiller at 9:03 and Jay Gould at 9:28.

In the final period MacFarland managed to turn the hat trick by poking in a floating puck at 14 unassisted then taking a pass from Yves Hubert and going all the way at 17:06.

Dick Dunnigan accounted for the other score at 9:39 in the last period unassisted on a full rink rush.

Michigan drew five penalties to MSC's three in the fast shooting contest which saw Spartan goalie Ed Schiller bat out 33 shots to Michigan's Lorne Howes' 36.

The match was the first appearance of Spartan Eugene Grazia and the 20-year-old wingman from West Springfield, Mass., gave promise of becoming one of the fastest men the Spartans have.

The rough and tumble contest was Michigan's 30th victory over the Spartans in 32 games.

Search Begins For Hogs' New Coach

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas Sunday began its search for a new football coach, and there were persistent reports that Dewitt Weaver, successful coach at Texas Tech, may get the job.

The Razorback coach, Bowden Wyatt, resigned Saturday to become head football coach at the University of Tennessee, where he starred as a player in the 1930s.

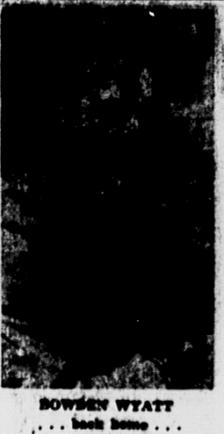

Arkansas athletic director John Barnhill, who had feared for some time that Wyatt would leave, said that he has talked to Weaver, who boasts a 26-14-2 won, loss record at Texas Tech.

"I don't know whether we can get him," said Barnhill.

Michigan State's first U.S. Olympic team member was Harry E. Moon, a sprinter in the 1904 international games.

Title Race Tightens Big 10 Cagers Like Home

The Associated Press
Big 10 basketball teams, with the exception of Iowa, are singing "there's no place like home" following Saturday's burst of homecourt victories which left eight teams tied for second place.

Only Purdue's Boilermakers have not tasted defeat in the young conference season. Purdue defeated Northwestern, 78-77, in its Big 10 opener.

Illinois, Michigan State and Michigan all notched home-court victories, putting the screws to what could become one of the tightest Big 10 basketball races in years.

Iowa, ranked No. 1 contender in preseason ratings, was the only home team to lose. The Hawks dropped an 81-80 contest to Minnesota.

Following the upheaval, Purdue was in first place with a 1-0 record, eight teams were tied for second with 1-1 marks and Wisconsin was on the bottom with one victory and two losses.

The Badgers were humiliated by Michigan State, 94-77, in a nationally televised game. Dick Cable of Wisconsin, however, took scoring honors with 23 points.

Michigan's State's Julius McCoy and Duane Petersen led a balanced Spartan attack with 19 points each.

Purdue made the most of its free throws to gain its eighth victory in nine games for the best season record among conference teams.

The Boilermakers potted 28 of 39 free throws while Northwestern made only nine charity tosses. The Wildcats outscored the Boilermakers from the field, 34-25.

It was Joe Sexson's two free throws with 10 seconds left which gave Purdue its seventh straight victory.

Illinois put on a dazzling exhibition to dump Indiana's two-time defending champions, 99-75. The Illini shot to a 15-0 lead and never threatened despite a 34-point output by Indiana ace Don Schlundt.

It was the Illini's seventh triumph in nine games and Indiana's sixth loss in nine games.

Minnesota snapped a two-game losing streak with its come-from-behind victory over Iowa. The Hawkeyes shot into a 45-44 halftime lead and stretched it to nine points before the Gopher uprising headed by Dick Garmaker and Chuck Mencil.

Garmaker scored 25 points and Mencil had 20. Carl Chan led Iowa's attack with 20 points.

Michigan came up with a surprising 88-81 overtime victory over Ohio State. The Wolverines, however, were unable to stop Ohio scoring star Bobbi Freeman, who netted 36 points. Freeman tied the score at 77-77 with a foul shot forcing the overtime. Ohio jumped into a four-point lead in the overtime but that's as far as the Buckeyes got as Michigan scored 11 straight points.

Four Big 10 games scheduled Monday night with Illinois at Purdue, Indiana at Minnesota, Michigan State at Iowa and Wisconsin at Michigan.

Air Force and Army ROTC cadets will sport their military uniforms today for winter term's first Uniform Day.

Although the program will differ for both units throughout the term, the purpose of Uniform Day will remain the same.

Both the Army and Air Force will attempt to instill a little more of the military into the cadets. By wearing the uniform in the proper manner, they hope to create a better attitude among students toward the uniforms.

As Capt. Edward Meares, Public Information Officer of the Army at MSC, said:

"One of the primary reasons for Uniform Day is to help instill in the students a pride in their most wearing of the uniform, and to see that it is properly fitted, cleaned, and presented."

Uniform Day for the Army cadets will be held three times this term.

For the Air Force, however, wearing of the uniform will be more frequent. Basic students will be called on to wear the apparel the first academic Monday of each month. The advanced students, every Monday throughout the term.

A secondary reason for wearing the uniform this term—an impression for the Army, and the second year for the Air Force—is to check on the availability of the uniform.

Capt. Meares said in the past a few uniforms have been misplaced, lost, or stolen. And in many cases, by the time spring term comes along, many students have outgrown, or had damage done to their military apparel.

The Air Force has not had this problem, said Capt. Savage, PIO of the Air Force at MSC.

Capt. Savage said the Air Force wants to create an "identification with the ROTC training" by the wearing of the uniform.

Emblems Will Shine.

Turncoat Tells Mother He 'Loves' U. S.

ALDEN, Minn. (AP)—"Mother, I have never had a thought of disloyalty."

The words are those of Richard Tenneson, one of the American war prisoners who turned down repatriation after the Korean fighting to remain with the Chinese Communists.

In his latest letter to his mother, Mrs. Fortis Howe of Alden, Tenneson said he had been "lied to" when he was told that the Chinese "were supposed to have shot, tortured and starved me to death."

Tenneson, last reported living in a Chinese village, told his mother: "I am the same. The good old U. S. is home. I couldn't really be at home anywhere else. I love the country, the people and everything about them because they are mine."

Mrs. Howe said she is convinced her son some day will come home.

see to our freedom and security." He said Americans must not only deter aggression, but also "frustrate the efforts of the Communists to gain their goals by subversion."

This was another warning. It signified the West's awareness that the Communists hope to gain all possible.

The warning, therefore, had to be a clear one: the free world, under American leadership, would be alert to prevent any more cheap victories aimed at chewing up nations one by one.

Auditions To Start For Music

Performers in a musical production celebrating MSC's Centennial will be chosen following auditions in the Studio Theater Auditorium, from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Wednesday through Friday.

The musical, to be produced sometime in May, will be directed by Lewis A. Goff, assistant professor in the speech department.

Fifteen men and women between the ages of 20 and 30 will be the principals. Positions also open for 16 dancers, chorus, and an accompanist.

Music for the production, written by H. Owen Reed of the music department, formerly professor John Jennings of the book and lyrics.

McCarthy Backed By Army's Report

Sen. Case Claims It Justifies Dropping of Censure Count

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Case (R-SD) said Sunday Secretary of the Army Stevens' latest report on the Irving Peress case supported the Senate's action in dropping one censure count against Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

The Army granted Peress, a dentist and former Army major, an honorable discharge ahead of schedule last Feb. 2 after McCarthy had accused him of being "a Fifth Amendment Communist" and demanded he be court-martialed.

Case was a member of the special bipartisan Senate committee that recommended last fall that McCarthy be censured, among other things, for the manner in which he had questioned Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker about the Peress case.

However, Case subsequently changed his position on this censure count and the Senate dropped it. But it voted 67-22 to condemn McCarthy's conduct in connection with other matters.

Case said in a statement Sunday that Stevens' latest report on the Peress affair, a 10,000-word chronology of events, was "most welcome."

"It supports my position and the action of the Senate in removing the Zwicker count from the McCarthy censure resolution," he said.

Case said "it clearly reveals, as I claimed, that there was a foot-race Monday, Feb. 1, 1954—by Peress to Gen. Zwicker's office demanding an honorable discharge at once; by McCarthy to the Pentagon asking the Army to file charges against Peress until his activities could be fully probed."

As he had before, in announcing his switch of position on the Zwicker count, Case maintained "the Army had weighed the request of a Senate committee chairman against that of a suspected subversive and decided in favor of the latter."

"It should now be clear to everyone," Case said, "that it would have been a bad precedent for the Senate to censure the chairman of a Senate committee for losing his patience against that background even though we did not approve the language he used and even though we voted to censure on other unrelated conduct."

McCarthy, in questioning Zwicker at a one-man hearing last Feb. 18 about the Peress case, told the general he was not fit to wear "that uniform."

The Army's new report on the case, made public Friday night, said Lt. Gen. Walter L. Weible, deputy chief of staff for administration, and Army Counselor John G. Adams made the decision to grant Peress' request to be discharged Feb. 2.

Peress had appeared before the McCarthy investigations subcommittee Jan. 30 and had refused to answer questions about Communist affiliations, citing his Fifth Amendment protection against possible self-incrimination.

He similarly had invoked his constitutional privilege when filing out a loyalty form before entering the Army Jan. 1, 1953.

Sister Sues Laughhead For Debts

The sister of Dr. Charles A. Laughhead, former MSC staff physician, filed a writ of attachment against him and his wife, Lillian, Friday in Ingham County Circuit Court.

The writ was filed as the doctor, discharged from MSC last month because of his predictions of disaster and flying saucers, prepared to move his family to Florida.

Through her attorney, Miss Margaret Laughhead of Des Moines, Iowa said she has received only $50 out of $3,000 which she loaned her brother and his wife in 1950.

Miss Laughhead's attorney said the Laughheads assigned their equity in a house contract to her for security, and that she filed the suit when she heard of their plans to move from East Lansing.

Dr. and Mrs. Laughhead said they will repay his sister when they sell their Michigan home.

New Stamps Show Symbols Of Learning

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Post Office Department said Sunday that symbols of learning will provide the central design for the forthcoming three-cent stamp honoring the Centennials of the nation's first land grant colleges.

The stamp will commemorate the 100th anniversaries of Michigan State College and Pennsylvania State University, and will have its first-day sale at East Lansing, Feb. 12.

In special delivery size and printed in green, the stamp is centered by an open book with superimposed symbols for agriculture, mining, chemistry and engineering, some of the important subjects taught at these institutions. The names of the institutions flank the central design beneath a panel inscription: "First of the Land Grant Colleges." The dates "1855" and "1955" appear in the upper part of the stamp.

Italian Film To Appear At Fairchild

"Rome 11 O'Clock," an Italian movie to be shown tonight in Fairchild Theater at 7 and 9 is centered around the collapse of a stairway.

The plot was taken from an actual news story in the Italian newspapers in 1953 and the movie is a protest against Italy's post-war unemployment.

The film tells of the collapse of a stairway under the weight of over 200 women who apply for one typist job from here, the film unravels the events in the lives of three women caught on the staircase.

Combining their talents in the Foreign Film Series offering are Cesare Zavattini, author of "The Bicycle Thief," and Giuseppe De Santis, director of "Bitter Rice."

Tickets are available at Fairchild's Box Office.
