Release of Airmen Near, UN Aide Hints

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — One of Dag Hammarskjöld's top aides declared Tuesday the U. N. secretary general has made progress toward freeing 11 American airmen imprisoned as spies in Red China.

Blockade Of China Suggested

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nation's top military man and a prominent Republican senator Tuesday called for a blockade of Red China if all else fails to win release of imprisoned Americans.

But Secretary of State Dulles, employing a Biblical phrase, said the United States would be "slow to anger" in facing issues which could explode the peace.

Supporting an Allied blockade as a last-ditch maneuver were Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Sen. H. Alexander Smith, R-N.J.

"If all other measures fail, the United States should support a blockade," Radford said in response to questions on returning from a global trip which took him to the Far East.

"It would have a great effect on the Red Chinese and would be the best way to tackle such a problem."

Smith said he was aware the step "would be dangerous," but asserted:

"If our men are not released, we should ask our allies to join us in a blockade of the China coast. I believe to squeeze them economically would be the best sanction to apply."

Hammarskjöld is enroute home and reached Hong Kong Tuesday. He is due in New York Thursday or Friday.

Hammarskjöld wired a thank-you note to his hosts in Peiping Tuesday night on arriving here from a mission to seek freedom for 11 American airmen held in Red China as spies. He remained mum on the results of his journey.

As the U. N. secretary general and his party of six crossed the mainland border between China and this British Crown Colony, he called Premier Chou En-lai "warm appreciation" for the "courteous and hospitable" and the "unfailing assistance of everyone with whom we came in contact."

Tuesday the Red radio broadcast from Peiping an attack on the United States for holding Chinese students who want to return to the Chinese mainland.

There are about 35 Chinese students in the United States who have signified a desire to return. Another batch recently was put across the border at Hong Kong without fanfare.

In Washington Tuesday Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, said the United States should support an Allied blockade of Red China "if all other measures" fail to bring about the release of the prisoners held by the Communists.

One student apparently summed up the sentiment of the majority, according to the Daily staff member, when he quipped:

"Why not send them the base too."

A few Michigan students said that it was a disgrace that the trophy had not been displayed more prominently.

Just about then, a "Torpedo" comes along, according to two college students who are supplementing allowances with 'pin money.'

They described a Torpedo as one who "pitches" so fast and hard that one might think he is trying to make a daylight through the other end of the building.

Other pin boy lingo includes "Marble Champion" or a bowler who pitches so slowly and easily that the pin boys aren't sure the ball will get to them.

And then there's always the "jockey" who attempts to put

Police Solve 3-Month Mystery

East Lansing Youth Confesses Shooting

A three-month mystery surrounding the firing of a .38 calibre through the window of an East Lansing home was solved Tuesday with the arrest and subsequent confession of a 19-year old East Lansing youth.

Lawrence Edward Gorton, of 206 Haslett, pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless use of firearms and paid a $25 fine plus $430 costs and was placed on six months probation.

East Lansing police said that they learned Gorton possessed a .38 calibre pistol. With aid of a warrant, they confiscated the firearm and took it to State Police headquarters to run a ballistics test. The test confirmed that the gun was the same which fired a shot through the window of the home of Arthur Patriarche, 715 Ann, Oct. 6.

Confronted with this evidence, Gorton confessed.

According to the police, Gorton said he fired the gun at a target in his garage, but that he missed the target and the bullet went through the wall.

Investigation revealed that the bullet then ricocheted off a tree and through the window of Patriarche's home where it embedded itself in the door casing of a closet.

Another local youth pleaded guilty to two charges of disorderly conduct and malicious destruction of property.

Thomas Kenger, 20, of 501 Southlawn, was picked up at 4:30 Tuesday morning by East Lansing Police as he confronted a gas station attendant with a rock.

Police said that Kenger had been involved in a fight with the attendant earlier in the evening.

Kenger also confessed to throwing a beer can through a glass storm door of the Kappa Delta sorority house around 1:30 Tuesday morning.

He paid a fine of $5 plus costs of $430 on the charge of disorderly conduct, and $15 plus $430 costs on the malicious destruction charge with the provision that $20 would be suspended upon payment of damages to the Kappa Delta house.

Audio-Visual Center To Show Four Films

The Audio-Visual Center will present four films today in the Music Auditorium from 3:30 to 5 p.m.

The films are "Paradise," "Danny Roberts," "Kipling's India," and "The Last Waltz."

Noble Predicts Russian Revolt

BERLIN (AP) — A Detroit man who witnessed as a prisoner in Russia the 1953 revolt at the Vorkuta slave labor camp, said Tuesday night the Moscow regime is sitting on a powderkeg of its own making.

Reds Agree To Release Third Yank

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States announced Tuesday that Russia has agreed to release Pvt. William Verdine of Starks, La., the last of three Americans held for years inside the Soviet Union.

State Department press officer Henry Snydman said Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov notified the U. S. Embassy at Moscow late Tuesday afternoon that Verdine would be turned over to American authorities at Berlin. The date will be set later.

Two other Americans, Pvt. William C. Marchuk, 30, of Norristown, Pa., and John H. Noble, 31, of Detroit, were released by the Russians last Saturday at Berlin.

Noble had been in a Russian prison for 9½ years. Marchuk and Verdine, 28, were picked up by the Russians five years ago.

Snydman told newsmen the Russian note Tuesday was "perfectly straight-forward, brief, dealing with this one subject."

He said there was no mention whatever in the note about 11 Soviet children now in West Germany.

Costa Rican Town Seized By Enemies

Break With Nicaragua Termed Imminent

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — A Costa Rican town on a direct invasion route to this capital city has been seized by an airborne armed force, officials said Tuesday. Costa Rica's available armed manpower was mobilized quickly for action.

There were no immediate reports of actual fighting, however.

The origin of the force was not established, but the Foreign Ministry said a break in relations between Costa Rica and neighboring Nicaragua appeared imminent.

The Costa Rican government said a small rebel aerial force—presumably from Nicaragua—seized the town. Another source said a force moved out of San Jose Monday night in trucks and cars and began an uprising against the government of President Jose Figueres.

Seized was Villa Quesada, a town of 3,500 about 40 miles this side of the Nicaraguan frontier. Figueres said the town was taken over by a rebel force that landed there in light planes Tuesday morning.

At the United Nations in New York, the Rev. Benjamin Nunez, Costa Rican delegate, said after a telephone talk with Figueres that diplomatic relations had been broken with Nicaragua. Nunez said "enemy forces" had crossed the border from Nicaragua and a battle was presumed to be in progress. He asserted the attackers were backed by Costa Rican Communists.

Although military authorities went into action and called up reservists and volunteers, Figueres did not appear unduly concerned.

Foreign Minister Mario Esquivel told a reporter no details on the outbreak were available and that he could not say who the rebels were. He added, however, that a "break in relations with Nicaragua looks imminent."

Costa Rica does not have an army, as such, but does have a sort of citizen's militia.

Truckloads of helmeted troops moved through San Jose and there were machine gun emplacements at strategic points. Airports also were guarded and big oil drums were placed on some runways.

Domestic airline flights were grounded, but international traffic moved normally.

The announcement by Figueres capped long wrangling between his government and the regime in Nicaragua headed by Anastasio Somoza.

This approached a climax last week when Costa Rica complained to the Council of the Organization of American States that she was threatened by invasion from Nicaragua.

The council decided Monday to postpone any action for the time being, and appealed to both countries to do nothing to aggravate their differences. At the Washington hearing the Nicaraguan representative assailed Figueres as a "puppet of Marxism" and said his regime had a long association with Communists and leftists. The Costa Rican representative rejected the statement as false.

Hurst to Talk On Legislation

Student government president Bill Hurst will give his state-of-the-campus message to Student Congress at its first winter-term meeting, tonight at 7:30 in 32 Union.

Activities of all branches of student government during the past term will be reviewed. Hurst will also recommend legislation which he believes should be enacted in the future.

The new government budget will be presented at the meeting. About $2,500 of the $4,000 budget is earmarked for direct student benefits, to be dispensed through the Student Fund.

75 Frosh Attend Hannah's Reception Draws Small Crowd

By GENE RITZINGER

About 75 of the approximately 500 students who are expected for the first time this term attended President Hannah's reception for new students last night.

Held for the first time to greet new winter term students, the lack of attendance at the affair was blamed on the fact that it was held after the academic year had started and not during registration week as the fall term receptions are held.

The Men's Glee Club, led by Edward L. Richmond, started off the reception with a rendition of the MSC fight song. This was followed by a very well received concert which featured such songs as "Brazil," "Battle Hymn of the Republic," and several others. "MSC Shadows" wound up the concert.

President Hannah, in his remarks to the students, noted that "one of the purposes of a university is to provide a climate that is most likely to let each individual student get the type of education he wants."

He told the new students that "what is here at MSC has been made available by the people of this state, confident of its worth and cost." He warned them, however, to apply.

Seniors will have a chance to sign up for work on the various committees of the Senior Ball to be held at the first Senior Coffee Hour of the term to be held in Old College Hall from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m.

The Senior Ball has been set for April 30 in Kellogg Center. Chairmen and workers for five committees are needed. The committees are publicity and advertising, tickets and sales, theme and decorations, program and chaperones and entertainment.

Anyone interested in working on the Senior Ball is asked to please come and sign up.

Free coffee will again be available and seniors will be able to carve or finish carving their names in the traditional senior table.

Popularity at Last

Social Upheaval for Paul Bunyan

Strange life, that of a trophy. Especially one named Paul Bunyan.

From the day of his birth, and even before, poor Paul has been slapped in the face by both students and officials at Ann Arbor and East Lansing.

Even before his two-foot figure was viewed for the first time, he got the cold shoulder. People said "politics" had figured in his birth.

And then, unfortunately for his already precarious social standing, he found himself in the center of statewide speculation. The problem—who should, to put it bluntly, pay for him?

But Paul passed that hurdle successfully when Gov. G. Mennen Williams, his godfather, said he'd foot the bill "out of his own pocket."

And there was Paul, ready on his three-foot stage, for introduction to the world on that Saturday afternoon in 1953 when Michigan played Michigan State in East Lansing.

But life dealt Paul a cruel blow. College officials wouldn't let him appear on television. They wouldn't even let him make his debut at halftime.

The game was played and Michigan State won. Paul was happy. He'd have a home.

And he did have, too, a good one, in Jenison Fieldhouse. But even that didn't help much. People didn't exactly ignore Paul—a five-foot bulk of statue and base isn't the easiest thing to overlook—but they didn't make any kind of a fuss over him.

And then it happened. Paul lost his home. But he'd have a change of scenery, a new home down in Ann Arbor. And maybe students at the University of Michigan would pay more attention to him.

But they didn't. Since November Paul's lived in an equipment room in the Michigan Stadium, "a dusty corner" as "Operation Rescue" puts it.

And then, a cold day in January brings social upheaval for Paul Bunyan.

He is suddenly so popular, so wanted, so important, that someone treks to the Ann Arbor Stadium, smashes a window and breaks in just to save him from his fate.

But where is Paul now?

Maybe amidst the rubble under the bed in some dormitory. Or maybe behind a bunch of brooms and mops in the furnace room of some fraternity house. Maybe in a dark and dreary closet. Or stuck in the mud under a clump of bushes.

At any rate, Paul deserves better. He deserves a permanent home 'till next year even if it is an equipment room.

Maybe "Operation Rescue" could be postponed until next time the Spartans meet the Wolverines.

Where'd He Go?

Walt's Wallow Clever Camouflage

By WALT OLEKSY
State News Associate Editor

On exceptionally bright winter days the freshman is to be seen pacing across campus with his red, yellow or green syllabus under his arm, looking like a fugitive from Block S rehearsal.

Many ways have been devised by freshmen to conceal the obvious brand of their perils: Comm. Skills, Nat. Sci. and Soc. Sci.

Some roll their syllabus up like they would the Free Press; some wrap the State News around them; some stick them into envelopes and brief cases, and some even hide them under the folds of their overcoats.

But never has the color brand been better concealed than by one ingenious East Shaw freshman who deserves some sort of new year's award.

He has found that as clothes make the man, book covers make the book.

Covering his colored syllabuses over with white paper and printing in course titles, this fellow has watched his fresh friends' eyes bulge and is regarded to be at least a grad student.

Inside the syllabuses are the same old things, comparison charts of human and frog skeletons, sentence diagrams and What To Do Until the Proctor Comes.

But the covers now read "Advanced Teachings in Comparative Diagnostics, ninth edition," and "Statistical Russian Thermodynamics, fifth year seminar, a Steam Press Publication."

Letters to the Editor

Laughead Dismissal Disgraces College

To the Editor:

In response to the editorials concerning Dr. Laughead's dismissal, I should like to praise those of the State News Board who were against the doctor's dismissal, and also add my bit to their defense.

As Dr. Laughead said, "... We did not ask them (students) to come. ..." Those students voluntarily sought to hear more about his divergent views. If they didn't like what they heard, they should have discontinued listening and disregarded his views.

If any student who had been somewhat amazed or even shocked by his or her professors' opinions in class dashed quickly to President Hannah and if he continually dismissed those particular professors, this institution would cease to be an institution of higher learning.

In my opinion the dismissal of Dr. Laughead disgraced the college far more than if he were allowed to remain at Michigan State College for it showed that as a public-supported university, the college does not allow so much freedom of thought and speech as one might believe.

Is not a university supposed to stimulate individual thinking, to add students in developing their thoughts through books and open discussion?

I have not taken a stand for or against Dr. Laughead's statements concerning the future and destiny of the world. I believe that many others have been a little too hasty in condemning him and his entire family.

I consider it rather shallow of those parents, who refuse to let their daughters room with the Laughead girl, to pass judgment on the girl merely on the basis of her father's particular belief.

After all, isn't one reason for attending college away from home to give the student a chance to live on his own, to develop his own beliefs and ideas, away from parents who have greatly influenced his life thus far through their own ideas, prejudices, and opinions?

Sticking Together?

By STAN STEINBORN
State News Capital Reporter

Strong party discipline, something that has not always been the order of the day in past Michigan legislatures, is expected to be the keynote of the session starting today.

In the past Republicans have held such a large majority in both houses that they have needed little or no internal party agreement to pass legislation.

On the other side of the aisle only in the House of Representatives last year did the Democrats ever have a chance to effectively oppose the GOP, and this was only on a Governor's veto.

To override a veto two-thirds of each house must vote against the Governor. This the House Democrats were in a position to prevent by having exactly one vote more than one-third.

But in this year's legislature the story will be different for now the Republicans control the House by a bare eight vote majority, 59-51.

On the other side of the Capitol Building Republicans are on stronger ground with a 23 to 11 margin of control.

The necessity for tight discipline will be intensified by the strong desire of Gov. G. Mennen Williams to make the next two years a period of achievement by Democrats.

In the past, Williams major claim to achievement has been that he has pushed the Republican majorities into corners where whichever way they turned to get out they were forced to progress.

For the next two years Williams would like to lead a Democratic party that is striving for progress and be in a position in 1956 to claim concrete accomplishments for his party.

Republicans, or at least younger elements within the GOP, are aware, on the other hand, that during the next two years they must do something more than sit in their chairs and mumble about the terrible Williams, who insists upon being Governor even though the rural areas have returned a Republican Legislature.

This year, with their margin of control on half the legislature, the GOP is aware that it must build up a program of its own.

They know that to go to the people again in 1956 with the same old argument that everything will be O.K. if a Republican Governor is elected is liable to result in Democratic control of the legislature.

The hard part about the GOP's task is that for the next two years nearly all of the administrative machinery of the state government will be in Democratic hands.

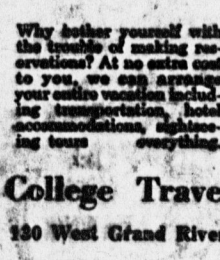

Had the same feeling about building up a record prevailed last year the job would have been much easier, but, with the Administrative Board as tightly controlled now by Democrats as it has until now been controlled by Republicans, the job the GOP solons must do is going to be mighty tough.

Board Helps Link Congress To Sororities

Sorority Board is becoming the link between Student Congress and sorority members.

Because only two Student Congress members represent 19 sororities, coeds living in each sorority house elected one member to meet with the two representatives each week. Board members discuss Student Congress business and take information back to their groups.

Student Congress sorority representatives JoAnn Spadafore, Saginaw sophomore and Alpha Chi Omega and June Walters, Detroit senior and Chi Omega, are co-presidents of the board.

The board meetings are held each Monday at 4 p.m. in the Union. At each meeting this year the members have heard guest speakers who are committee chairmen for Student Government. Sorority Board members also take turns attending Student Congress meetings thus establishing a good relationship between the two.

Budget Balances Better With Rent-Free Abode

Who can live cheaper than one?

Very much," say Pat and Bob Brizee, an MSC student from Twin Falls, Idaho.

They have a three-room apartment rent-free.

It came about one day when Bob went to a CSF meeting. There they met the Rev. Roy Hamm, minister to students, surprised them with an offer of an apartment and job.

Brizee's pay the rent by doing that the house is locked up at night and kept clean and neat.

One of their biggest problems when they first moved in was to explain to the group that they weren't there. Now the difficulty is in getting their schedules to leave for redecorating the apartment and studying as well.

The couple had a pleasant surprise recently when the CSF members met for a "Sweep and Shine" party and did all the housecleaning.

Bob is studying for his doctorate in sociology and Pat is a majoring in history. Both attended Idaho State College before coming to MSC.

Pi Phis to Arrive 'Home'

Sorority to Enter House This Term

By SUE LOWE

Pi Beta Phi members will arrive "home" this term after moving three times in the past ten years. Their permanent residence will be at 363 N. Harrison Road.

The house, which was started Aug. 1, 1934, is a traditional colonial house with rose bricks and stately white pillars. A loan by the national association last spring made the building possible.

The 40 coeds who live there will study in sound-proof rooms furnished with built-in wardrobes and sliding doors. Over the dormer is a sunporch for sunbathing this spring. Also an intercommunication system will be used. This makes it possible for a coed to talk to whomever is buzzing her.

The first floor living room and library will be done in turquoise, gold and brown with accents of black. The recreation room in the basement will have a large fireplace.

The coeds helped the alumni in suggesting plans for interior decorating.

Phi Kappa Tau To Fete Alumnus

Gene German, member of Phi Kappa Tau, who graduated from MSC last June, will receive the William H. Shideler award as the most outstanding undergraduate of the 73 national Phi Tau chapters Sunday, Jan. 16.

The Shideler award is presented annually on the basis of scholarship, fraternity activities and campus activities.

During four years at MSC, German participated in 19 campus activities acting as president or chairman of 10.

Tank Squad Divided For Tonight's Meet

McCaffree to Enter B Teams

Regulars to Man A Team Posts

By JACK MURRAY
Bowling Green will turn the opposition for the tank swimmers in tonight's meet in the Jenison. The meet, scheduled to start at 7:30, will act as a warm up for Saturday's Big opener with Wisconsin at Badgers home pool.

Tonight's meet will also give McCaffree a chance to utilize all his available varsity material. He is planning to split up men into two separate teams, A team and a B team, racing each other against the Falcons.

Team A will include the team of the Spartan swimmers. In this group fall the five individual winners in last Saturday's dual meet victory over a State.

These winners were, John Ducek in the 200-yard breaststroke, Payette in the 50-yard freestyle, Jim Rickard in the grueling yard freestyle, Frank Pagan in the 200-yard backstroke, Don Leas in the diving.

Ducek will be out to better record time of 2:20.5 in the 200-yard orthodox breaststroke event and the others can be counted on for equally fine performances.

The B team will consist primarily of reserve swimmers who have not had very much experience in dual meet competition.

Against this two-team array Michigan State talent, Coach Cooper of Bowling Green, will bring a well balanced team that is fresh from a victory in the Mid-American Regional.

Cooper is entering his fifth season as head swimmer coach for Bowling Green. These years he has compiled a record of 69 wins and 22 defeats.

Against the Spartans, however, Bowling Green will be headed by an eight-man nucleus of regular lettermen. Heading this group is Don Kepler who is rated the top sprinter in the Falcons.

He holds the schools record in both the 50 and 100-yard freestyle events with times of 1:12.4 and 2:22.2 respectively. In addition, he swam on two record setting relay teams for the Falcons.

Other top swimmers are: Paul Ducek, freestyle; Jim Repp, backstroke; Fred Gerbing, sprint; Paul Dressel, backstroke and Jim Elliott.

isox Manager predicts a Pennant

CHICAGO (AP)—Marty Marion, former spidery Mr. Shortstop of the St. Louis Cardinals, Tuesday became official 1955 manager of the Chicago White Sox and predicted a pennant for the Pale Hose.

Marion, drafted as Paul Richards' successor as Sox pilot last year, did not sign this year until a morning with Vice President Chuck LaRue and General Manager Lane.

DubINN—NCAA—A Tyrant?

By DONN SHELTON
State News Sports Editor

Last week's Big 10 stand at the NCAA convention brings to light an interesting point concerning the national group.

Just how much power have they got with which they can force the Big 10, or anyone else, to do what they command? Originally conceived as an advisory group, the NCAA has assumed the role of a sports god, dictating everything from rules to television coverage.

But, have they any right to such a position? The officials of the NCAA freely admit they have no actual, written power to force any school or conference to follow their edicts.

Last year, for example, the MIAA (a small college conference here in Michigan) decided that this year they would use a free substitution rule in place of the NCAA's "recommended" one-platoon system.

To this the national body said, "We just advise and recommend, we can't force them to use the rules."

But if they had wanted to, they could have employed their master weapon—the suspension.

Under this right-by-might theory, a team is suspended and all NCAA members are ordered not to compete against the outlawed member, with a similar fate awaiting those who do.

Now comes the true test of the NCAA's assumed powers.

The Big 10 has said, in effect, unless the NCAA changes its present TV plan, the Big 10 will start its own television program.

There is little doubt that the present NCAA television committee won't change their system to the extent the Big 10 wants it changed.

The Big 10 then would start its own program, possibly with the PCC joining them.

The NCAA's only choice then would be to suspend or expell the local conference. If they didn't, it would leave the door wide open for future departures in policy, by anyone who cared to do so.

But, by censuring the Big 10 in that manner, the NCAA wouldn't gain a thing. Because, the Big 10 wouldn't be hurt by any such action.

A football schedule with nothing but Big 10 teams (and maybe with PCC teams also) would be tough, but good, spectator-pleasing football.

And the same holds true in almost all sports, excepting boxing and hockey—where the Big 10 doesn't have a full schedule of teams.

And where does that leave the NCAA?

It leaves them holding the bag—as a dictator of sports policy. But it would clear the way to return the group to its pre-war advisory capacity.

As a clearing house for records, a central system of organization and an advisory group, the NCAA is a fine, necessary organization.

But, as a sports tyrant, bossing and gomineering, it is a drunk-with-power group that is stronger than any such group should ever get.

So, more power to the Big 10. They have put the NCAA right behind the eight ball and only good can come of it.

Cage Rules Explained For IM Tilts

Beeman Announces Many New Changes

By JERRY LORIG
28 minutes of playing time will be granted according to the IM basketball rules which were presented Tuesday night at the team managers' meeting.

Under the new rule the clock will stop during free throws and time-outs.

This is an improvement over the old rule which kept the clock running whether the ball was in play or not. The clock will, however, remain running during substitutions.

Another rule affecting game time will be a point per minute awarded to the team on the floor for every minute the other team is late.

A team more than 5 minutes late will automatically forfeit.

The games will be decided by a three-minute sudden death overtime. The first team to score two points will win the game.

In championship play, the team that leads by one point at the end of the overtime will win.

The IM rules will follow the rule of two shots for a foul made on a player in the act of shooting, with one free throw granted for all other fouls.

Any player fouled during the last two minutes of the game will automatically be given two shots.

Immediately following the Jenison meeting, IM director Frank Beeman held an open discussion on the eligibility rule.

The new rule pending decision today, will permit varsity letter winners who have not completed in varsity competition for at least one year and transfer students who have varsity experience at other schools to compete in IM team events other than the one in which they earned their letters.

At present athletes with any varsity experience may play only in the unlimited league.

Another announcement was the compulsory bowling fee of 35 cents per man, regardless of whether his team forfeits.

Team managers were asked to present their roster with the complete names of players to the scorer's table prior to game time.

Basketball court reservations may be made for Saturday's through the IM office.

Navy Coach To Remain With Middies

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Eddie Erdelatz decided Tuesday to sail along for another five-year hitch with the Navy football team he restored to glory in his first tour as skipper.

He accepted the preferred five-year contract at a reported pay raise from $15,000 to $17,000.

Navy won 23 since Erdelatz took over in 1950, hitting the jackpot last season by going to the Sugar Bowl and beating Mississippi 21-0.

Most satisfying to the Blue and Gold people, however, is the fact he beat Army four out of five times.

Too Much Baseball—Willie

By WHITNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK (AP)—We had been waiting patiently for Willie Mays' announcement that he was quitting baseball for the nonce, meaning next Sunday, to get a little rest before the opening of spring training.

It figured that after some 10 months of climbing in and out of uniforms Willie was a little tired of it all.

He loves baseball, all right, but say hey, man, a fellow might crave pork chops above all other food but if he has them three times a day he eventually will shudder every time he looked at a pig.

Willie would rather play baseball than eat.

This test for the game dovetails nicely with his admittedly great play in making him an intriguing figure on the field, and his enthusiasm is transmitted to his teammates.

It is no wayward idea that his very presence raises the morale of the Giants several notches. It's a cold fact.

At 23, which is younger than springtime as far as major league ball players is concerned, he is filled with eagerness and sheer animal vitality.

At 23 you feel as if you could go on forever with youthful vigor, and 33 seems far, far away.

But there is such a thing as pace. A good mile runner knows there is a limit to his endurance, and that by starting out at a dizzy clip while he is fresh and feeling no pain he is burning himself out for the final lap.

A fellow just can't play baseball 10 months out of the year, year after year, and expect to last as long in the game as if he gave himself a few months rest each year.

We believe the Giants have handled Mays very well, even to allowing him to play winter ball in Puerto Rico.

For one thing it gave him a chance to find out for himself that one can be over baseball, you might say.

And for another, it gave him an outlet for his tremendous energy. Had he remained here, he would have been wired and dined and with time on his hands and money in his pockets he possibly would have gone himself good, whatever.

His guarded future is just that. Barring accident he won't leave live on his fine 1964 season and his fabulous World Series catch. Al Glenfridde made a similar World Series catch. The next year he was in Montreal.

Gymnasts Hold Squad Meet In Preparation for Wolves

With Saturday's opening meet with the University of Michigan drawing near, the Michigan State gymnastics team Tuesday held an intra-squad meet to determine the starters for the Wolverine meet.

Coach George Szypula said the performances were on the "ragged" side but was confident that they would improve before Saturday.

Carl Rintz, the top ranking gymnast in the Big 10, didn't participate in the trial run due to a cold.

Roland Brown, one of the tumblers, also missed the meet, with a sprained ankle.

Don Leas was the outstanding individual, winning two events, taking a second in one and a third in another.

Dick O'Brien and Dick Phillips each took a first, second and third. Ben Gunning and Jim Breza were the other first place finishers.

Wolverine Staffers To Take Orders in Dorms

Members of the Wolverine staff will sell yearbook orders tonight in the dormitories. Coeds will do the selling in the men's dorms and men will do the selling in the coed's dorms.

According to Lois Arnold, Wolverine sales manager, 5,300 books have already been sold but they hope to increase that number by the end of this month.

The yearbook will be bound in black leather embossed with gold. It contains 700 pages and tells the entire history of MSC. The original drawing for the cover will soon be on display at the Wolverine desk, first floor of the Union.

On Thursday a coffee hour will be held at 4 p.m. in Old College Hall for all staff members and students interested in participating in the final sales contest.

The proofs of the six oil paintings by John Coppin, of Bloomfield Hills, depicting the life of MSC from 1855 to 1955 have been received by the staff. These will not be shown to the public until the Founder's Day Banquet, Feb. 12. Bert Gerber, editor of the Wolverine, will then officially present the paintings to the college.

Seniors Polled For Opinions On New Course

A special course for seniors and a senior banquet were the main subjects in a poll taken on senior class members during registration last week.

The seniors were asked for their opinion on a prospective special course called Great Issues to be given spring term. The class would meet one hour a week for one credit. Experts from various fields would lecture each week on problems concerning the future graduate.

The course, if adopted, will become one of the class' Centennial projects.

The seniors were also asked their opinion on a senior banquet.

Results of the poll will be announced this week according to Joan Weaver, council member.

Film Preview Scheduled in Music Aud

Students, as well as faculty and staff, are invited to the preview of various films Wednesday from 8:30 to 5 p.m. in the Music Auditorium.

This week the Audio-Visual Center will present, "Paricutin," a 23 minute short, recording the 1946 research expedition to the Mexican volcano, Paricutin. It includes scenes taken from a helicopter flying directly over the lava flow, the crater, and the erupting volcano.

"Danny Rebeles," a movie of a family situation which shows equally well the sides of the parents and the rebelling 10-year-old, will be shown at 3:55.

At 4:05, excerpts from the MGM feature "Klim" will be shown under the title of "Kipling's India." It is a selection of the National Council of Teachers of English.

"The Last Waltz," a record of the end of Austrian independence with the establishment of Hitler's pattern of world conquest will be the last movie of the day.

Also available for preview is "The Munich Treaty, or The Tragedy of Appeasement." It may be obtained by calling the Audio-Visual Center, 7457. The movie deals with the history of Czechoslovakia; a sacrifice to the ambitions of the Nazis as sanctioned by the Munich Treaty.

Vandals Tip Signs On Circle Drive

Four persons were apprehended by Campus Police at 4:30 Tuesday morning and charged with malicious destruction of property after it was discovered that all of the "keep right" signs in the middle of Circle Drive from the Women's Gym to the Library had been tipped over.

Police officials stated that the accused were not students, but that their names could not be released at the time.

The four were identified and released.

Noble Predicts

rested the Nobles. In the first camp they were held, John said, 80 per cent of the inmates died of starvation. However bad as Vorkuta was later, it was not that bad.

Of his experiences, Noble related:

"I lived through all this for two reasons. One was my confidence in God, and two my absolute will to return to the United States in order to tell the world what I experienced."

"I kept myself interested in every little thing that happened so that my mind was occupied. Most of the Russians in the work camps accept their facts. They were very helpful to me, perhaps because I was an American, and they asked lots of questions about the United States, but they didn't believe 10 per cent of what I told them."

"Especially amongst the younger people, there is still a very strong desire for religious services. They talk of another war all the time because they think this is the only way they will be free."

The senior Noble was released in 1952. Meantime, John was sentenced to 15 years though never tried, and was transported to Vorkuta in 1950. The charge, he gathered, was that he and his father received American officers and soldiers in 1945 and had American food in their home.

In Vorkuta, Noble met Pvt. William C. Marchuk, of Norristown, Pa., and Pvt. William Verdine, of Starks, La. He and Marchuk were freed together, arriving here Jan. 8.

Dormitory Housing Swells to Highest Winter Term Total

MSC dorms can boast of more students this term than any previous winter term, Emory G. Foster, manager of dormitories and food service, said Monday.

Recent dorm figures show that women dorms have added 100 more coeds since last year at this time. Fourteen dorms including the recently converted Snyder Hall house 3,135 coeds.

Men dorms disclose an additional 200 students living in seven buildings. Presently 3,524 men are living in the dorms.

Phillips Hall will also be converted to coed use when the Harrison Rd. men dorms are completed, Foster stated.
