Attorney General Rules
On Bill's Constitutionality

By GENE HETTINGER
Michigan Attorney General Thomas M. Kavanagh said Friday that he would recommend that the state constitutional assembly drop his proposed changes in the state's natural resources code, particularly the prohibition against the development of new state parks. He said that the changes would be too minor to warrant such action.

Kavanagh's decision came after a study of the proposed changes indicated that they would not have significant impact on the state's natural resources.

Kavanagh's recommendation was based on a review of the proposed changes and consultation with experts in the field.

In his opinion, Kavanagh said that the proposed changes did not fully address the issues raised by the state's natural resources code, particularly the prohibition against the development of new state parks. He noted that the changes would not prevent the state from developing new parks or other natural resources.

Kavanagh said that the changes were necessary to bring the state's natural resources

code into line with current trends in natural resources management. He noted that many states have relaxed their restrictions on the development of new parks and other natural resources in recent years.

Kavanagh's opinion also noted that the proposed changes did not fully address the issue of whether the state should continue to ban or restrict the development of new state parks.

In conclusion, Kavanagh said that the proposed changes were too minor to warrant action by the state constitutional assembly.

He recommended that the assembly continue its work on the natural resources code without the proposed changes.

2 Great Losses

Over the past week America lost two of her most illustrious journalists. Joseph Pulitzer, publisher of the St. Louis Post Dispatch and Col. Robert M. McCormick, editor and publisher of the Chicago Tribune, are no more.

In commenting on the death of these two men, President Eisenhower said, "American journalism has lost the services of two of its outstanding publishers. Although frequently on opposite sides of public issues, both were staunch champions of a free press so essential to our freedom."

This unstated understatement expresses, as well as anything that could be said, the feelings of the State News. It is with a feeling of deep regret at their passing that we extend our condolences to their families. The newspaper profession, the nation and the world will miss them very much.

Michigan State University moved to East Lansing in 1953. This decision was made due to the need for a larger, more modern campus to accommodate the growing student body and academic programs. The move was part of a larger trend among universities to relocate to suburban areas away from the centers of large cities. This change would have implications for the university's identity and its role within the community, as well as for the students and faculty who would need to adapt to new living and working environments.

Miller Gets Post to Aid Handicapped

Gregory Miller, chief psychologist at Jackson prison, has been named to head a new Michigan State University program that will study and aid handicapped prisoners.

The program will be operated by the Office of Vocational Rehabilitation, the Office of Vocational Rehabilitation of the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. Miller was chosen for the job because of his past experience in working with handicapped persons.

Recovery Mission Plans Vietnam Trip

Despite recent outbreaks of violence in South Vietnam, Michigan State University's student body is going ahead with plans for a trip to Vietnam. The trip is scheduled to depart from Detroit on April 15 and will last for two weeks. The group will be housed in the capital city of Saigon and will visit several provinces.

Waring Reveals Dukats on Sale

Tickets for Paul Waring's recent concert have been selling well, according to the box office. The concert was held at the University Union, April 15, as a special fundraiser for the Music Department. The tickets are being sold at $3 each and will be available at the door on the night of the concert.

State Debaters Attend Convco

Four Michigan State students are taking part in the annual State Debate competition, which is held in conjunction with the Michigan Bar Association. The debate will be held on April 15 at the University Union and will be attended by students from several universities across the state.

The debate competition is an opportunity for students to develop their public speaking and argumentation skills in a competitive environment. It is also a chance for the students to gain exposure to the legal profession and to network with professionals in the field.

Swimmers Shut Out In NCAA

Michigan State's swimmers failed to score a point in the KC- AA meet for the first time since 1946.

The Spartans were shut out by one of the top fields in recent history.

John dough, 254-pound Spartan center, showed off his strength by scoring all eight points in the fourth inning. The Tigers scored the game up in the first inning, running up six runs off a solid pitching of Joe Lindberg of the Spartans.

Rints scored his first points on the 100, 200 and 500 yard events in all three, and the third point came on the 114 yard, the finish to the 50 yard.

Carl and Detroit will win the NCAA meet in their three big games when they meet today in a game at the present Recreation Center.

The Crackers, who opened the New Year with a 9-3 win over Detroit in the first game, will be featured in the second game.

The Tigers, who won the seventh game of their eight with a 9-2 win over the Spartans, will be featured in the eighth game.
