Alumni to Return For Annual Reunion

Class reunions, awards and the presentation of a bronze memorial plaque will be in the spotlight when 1,800 alumni return to the campus June 3 and 4 for annual alumni activities.

A bronze memorial in honor of the late Dr. Wilbur O. Hedrick, long-time Michigan State professor who died last year, will be presented to the university Friday at a noon luncheon at the Patriarchs Club.

The plaque, to hang in the Library, is the gift of the class of 1895. Harry D. Baker, class of 1895, St. Croix Falls, Wis., will make the presentation to Dean William Combs and Librarian Jackson E. Towne.

The memorial pays tribute to Dr. Hedrick as an "unfailing student, eminent instructor and devoted friend." Dr. Hedrick was an active member of State's teaching staff for 47 years.

The luncheon will also honor the golden anniversary of the class of 1905.

Five past alumni executive secretaries and directors will be honored and 19 Centennial awards will be presented at a luncheon at noon Saturday in Shaw Hall.

Alumni secretaries to receive the awards and the years which they served are George Sheffield, Detroit, 1913-14; C. S. Langston, Hubbardston, 1914-17; Clifford W. McKibbin, East Lansing, 1917-22; Robert J. McCarthy, East Lansing, 1922-25; and Tom King, East Lansing, 1925-30.

Mrs. Glen O. Stewart, whose late husband served as secretary from 1926 until his death in 1948, will receive the award in his memory.

Each award will consist of a Centennial medallion and an Alumni Service pin.

Presenting the awards will be Harold H. Gasser, Birmingham, immediate past chairman of the Alumni Advisory Council. Hazen H. Stevens, Saginaw, chairman of the Advisory Council will serve as general chairman of the luncheon. Dinners of the classes of 1895, 1915 and 1930 will be held Friday evening.

Eden Wins Big Victory In Britain

Conservative Edge May Be 50 Seats

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Eden and the Conservative party scored a smashing victory in Thursday's British election.

They won a new five-year term with an indicated House of Commons majority of 50 or more seats, against the scant 17-seat margin they had in the last Parliament.

Morgan Phillips, secretary of the opposition Labor party, conceded the party's defeat at 3:15 a.m. Friday.

The voters dealt a severe blow to Clement Attlee's Labor forces, who won the majority vote in the 1951 election, but lost out in the tabulation of House of Commons seats.

When counting stopped for the night the Conservatives had scored a net gain of 30 House of Commons seats, with good prospects of winning up with an overall majority of perhaps 50 to 60 Conservative officials confidently spoke of a 70-seat majority.

The result is a vote of confidence for Eden on the eve of four-power talks, where he will represent Britain.

The electors plumped for free enterprise Conservatism and rejected the Labor party call for another whirl at state socialism.

The election was for 630 seats in the House of Commons.

The Conservatives had victory in sight because most districts which will report later Friday are strongholds of that party, and because of the trend in popular voting.

Conservatives, 7,444,472—49.68 per cent.
Labor, 7,159,855—47.78 per cent.
Liberals, 283,736—1.89 per cent.
Others, 97,183—.65 per cent.

All 17 Communist candidates were badly beaten. So were two score Liberals.

The darkhorse thinclads, a surprise runner-up in the indoor meet, have a team that observers predict will be in the fight for runner-up honors. Michigan is the favorite to cop the title.

Last year the Spartans finished third. Ed Brabham, Julius McCoy and Travis Buggs will be State's entries in the 100-yard dash. Brabham has been clocked in .09.7 this year but Northwestern's Jim Golliday is the favorite.

Michigan State will be strong in the 220-yard dash with Brabham, McCoy and Capt. Kevan Gosper. The Spartan trio is regarded as the finest in the league and could sweep the event.

Gosper and Ron Suess will enter the 440-yard run with the smooth-striding Australian rated as the favorite in the event.

Gosper has the fastest collegiate time of the season with .46.9. Illinois' Ralph Fessenden is the defending champion while Gosper was the runner-up last year.

Dave Hoke is the sole Michigan State entry in the 880-yard run. The race is expected to be a three-way battle between Hoke, Michigan's Pete Gray and Illinois' Henry Cryer.

Hoke finished third in last year's meet. The Oklahoman has been timed in 1:51.3 for the half mile run while running on a relay leg.

The mile run entries will be Terry Block and either Ron Davis or Gay Denslow. John Moule of Michigan is the heavy favorite while Rich Ferguson of Iowa is capable of pulling an upset.

The two mile entries will be the same three men that ran the mile. Block, Davis and Denslow. Ron Wallingford should add the outdoor title to his indoor crown but a battle can be expected from Karl Jonsson of Illinois, Ferguson, Davis or Denslow.

Joe Savoldi, fourth last year, is the lone Spartan in the 120-yard high hurdles, but the all-purpose man will have to step to beat defending champion Willard Thomson and Abe Woodson of Illinois. Ken Tye of Northwestern and Les Stevens and Jack Mathews of Iowa.

Savoldi is also entered in the 220-yard low hurdles. Thomson is again the favorite with competition coming from Woodson, Stevens, Tye, Jim Love of Michigan, George Moyers of Northwestern and Lee Williams of Ohio State.

Brabham and Ray Eggleston are the Michigan State hopes in the broad jump. Brabham is the indoor champion while Eggleston was the runner-up outdoors last year. Wolverines Tom Hendricks and Junior Stielstra are regarded as contenders.

Carnival Judges Set

Tryouts for Water Sports to End Today

By BARBARA ZUEGE

Tryouts for the sporting events for Water Carnival, to be held June 2, 3 and 4 will end today at 5 p.m.

Interested students who have not applied may try out at the base of the bridge near Shaw Hall from 2-5.

Places in the men's singles and canoe races, mixed doubles and log rolling are open and applicants may still have a chance at the centipede races, canoe tilting, and water bike riding.

Final construction for this year's show called "Sense and Nonsense" will begin Tuesday. A dry run of the continuity will be held Wednesday at 4 p.m.

Thirty-one groups have entered the annual Carnival, which will begin at 8:45 all three nights.

Tickets may be purchased at the Union Ticket Office, Thursday's tickets cost $1.25 and the duets for Friday and Saturday are $1.50.

The King and Queen float will lead the procession. Decorations for the royal float have been kept secret.

New members of Excelsior, senior men's honorary, will be tapped Saturday night during intermission.

Entertainment will be supplied by singer Dan Karney, Lansing Junior and winner of the Horace Heidt talent show recently held in Lansing, and Ron Darling, 14-year-old marimba player from Lansing.

Trophies will be presented to the first three winners Saturday night. The trophies have been donated by Lansing and East Lansing merchants.

Judging of the floats will be on a 1000-point scale with possible totals of 400 points for workmanship, 200 points for continuity, and 400 points for presentation.

Thursday night's judges will be Gail C. Bloomquist, associate professor of civil engineering; H. C. Gallup, Gallup-Austin Studios; and William E. Sweetland, instructor of humanities.

Judging the floats Friday night will be Howard Finch, president of WJIM; Ralph Crego, mayor of Lansing; and Grant Swayze, instructor of art.

Saturday night's judges will be Clarence H. Reid, former lieutenant-governor of Michigan; Edgar L. Harden, former dean of Continuing Education; and Clifford Hall, president of a Detroit creamery co.

Cordray was cited for founding the Little Theatre on Westminister's campus 25 years ago. He was head of the Westminister speech department for 20 years before coming to Michigan State in 1947.

The Red Cross, Civil Defense and Salvation Army quickly set up headquarters in them. The town's new $350,000 high school building was leveled.

Federal relief was assured with announcement by Small Business Administration in Washington that the tornado areas in Oklahoma and Kansas had been declared disaster areas.

This makes persons whose homes or businesses have been destroyed eligible for 3 per cent 20-year rehabilitation loans without a dollar ceiling.

The five finalists of the "Sweetheart" Contest will be at the Walnut Hills Country Club to witness the program on the club's TV set.

Hundreds Injured in 4-State Area

Twisters Wreak Millions in Damage

UDALL, Kan. (AP) — Deadly tornadoes swirled Thursday in mid-America. Their four-state toll in less than 24 hours stood at 103 killed, more than 700 injured, millions of dollars in property damage.

A widening storm front carried a threat of more to come. Already tornadoes had killed 67 in Kansas, 20 in Oklahoma, 15 in Texas and 1 in Missouri.

Most of the damage was done Wednesday night.

Early Thursday the twisters began popping again and Missouri counted its first fatality when a farmer was crushed to death in his barn near Paris in the northeast section of the state.

This little south-central Kansas community of 750 was virtually destroyed. At least 62 dead or dying victims were found scattered in debris that included the wreckage of three homes for the aged. More than 200 other casualties were in hospitals and rescue centers.

Blackwell, a north central Oklahoma city just 80 miles south of Udall, counted 18 dead and more than 500 injured.

Five members of one family were killed by a small twister that struck the little community of Oxford, Kan., 10 miles south of Udall. Five others in the family were injured.

Two persons were killed and one critically injured by a tornado that struck Sweetwater, Okla., 140 miles west of Oklahoma City.

Fifteen airmen died in the flaming crash of a B-24 bomber in rugged territory 60 miles from San Angelo, Tex. Air Force spokesmen said apparently the big craft was wrecked by a tornado.

The devastating tornadoes sprang from a squall line that started pushing thunderstorms and heavy rain northeastward from the Texas-Panhandle late Wednesday.

The rain continued in most areas. Rescue efforts were hampered by mud, tangled communication lines, wreckage-jammed streets and loss of power facilities.

The Red Cross, Civil Defense and Salvation Army quickly set up headquarters in them. The town's new $350,000 high school building was leveled.

Federal relief was assured with announcement by Small Business Administration in Washington that the tornado areas in Oklahoma and Kansas had been declared disaster areas.

This makes persons whose homes or businesses have been destroyed eligible for 3 per cent 20-year rehabilitation loans without a dollar ceiling.

Eddie Fisher To Hail State, Sigma Chi

A salute to Michigan State's Centennial and also the Centennial of the founding of Sigma Chi Fraternity will be made by vocalist Eddie Fisher tonight at 8:30 on his national television program, "Coke Time."

Fisher will devote his entire 15-minute program to both Centennials. He will discuss the name change and also pay tribute to State's "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi."

The five finalists of the "Sweetheart" Contest will be at the Walnut Hills Country Club to witness the program on the club's TV set.

King, Potter To Appear on TV 'Ladies Day' Show

Patricia King, Lansing senior, and Wynn Potter, Rives Junction Junior will make their television debuts this afternoon in a story of a baby's adoption on WKAR-TV's "Ladies Day" show at 3 p.m.

Marjorie Ross of the social work department wrote the script, "Anne Roberts, Social Worker," and the kinescope was produced by William Cumming of the journalism department.

Technical adviser was Mrs. Lucille K. Barber of the social work department.

Miss King, a graduating senior, has been awarded a scholarship for next year by the East Lansing-Lansing chapter of the American Association of University Women.

Campus Clocks Keep Up With Time

Slow-moving and perpetually tardy Spartans really can't blame the clocks on campus when they trudge into class 10 to 15 minutes late.

As of last week none of the clocks in Berkeley were more than two minutes off. They were checked against telephone company time.

On the first floor in the north wing one face of the clock read 4:10 and 15 seconds while the other side registered 4:11. The control clock pointed to 4:12.

The east wing on that floor was just one minute behind the correct time.

Biggest discrepancy in Berkeley was found in the east wing second floor clock which read 4:15 1/2 when the control piece said 4:17 1/2. However, one side of that clock was only one minute slow.

On the third floor in the east wing, the two faces of the clock were two minutes apart and neither was right. The correct time was exactly between.

In both Kedzie Chemistry and the Dairy Building, first floor timepieces were exactly one minute slow.

But in the Hort Building and the Library, main clocks were just one minute fast.

Right on time was the Administration Building clock. And Beaumont chimed 5 p.m. exactly when it should have.

With the exception of Beaumont's big clock, all of the timepieces run on the regular lighting system. The only time they stop is when there's a complete power failure.

This doesn't happen very often, but when it does, there's work for the electrical department crew. They have to go out and set every clock separately.

Holla F. Noonon, electrical engineer, says that while a master clock system in each building would certainly make things easier for his crew, the installation is very expensive.

He explained that master clocks often appear in the original plans for new buildings on campus but are cut out when expenses must be pared.

The clocks usually run on an even cycle and keep fairly accurate time. Occasionally, however, like any electric timepiece, they run a little behind or ahead.

When that happens, Noonon relies on building custodians, students and faculty members to report the discrepancies to him. His crew does not make periodic checks of each timepiece.

As soon as a discrepancy is reported, an electrical worker is sent out to correct it.

Reports of erring clocks should be phoned to Noonon's office on college extension 471.

Ironically, Noonon said, he has more trouble with the clocks in the Electrical Engineering Building than any others.

For some reason they just don't keep accurate time, he said.

According to Jay W. Olin, electrical foreman, the clock, which runs on a motor, has to be wound every so often because it occasionally lags.

Besides maintaining the clock itself, the electrical crew has to make sure Beaumont's chimes are working properly. Olin explained that contacts in the chime mechanism sometimes slip, causing the wrong combination of bells to ring each quarter hour.

Dorms, he said, have master clock systems and usually take care of their own time troubles.

In fact, Noonon said, he doesn't think his crew has ever had to fix a dormitory clock.

Wolverine Deserves Bow

Michigan State can be proud of its Centennial yearbook, the Wolverine. It is a handsome volume, recording not only the events of one big year in Michigan State's history, but telling the story of State's first 100 years.

The job was man-sized. The result is a very strong contender for national honors among college and university yearbooks.

Not only is the 1955 Wolverine in line for special honors, but it broke all existing records for number of copies printed by a university. The total number of books printed was 8,300. The only school topping this record was the University of Miami, whose books were subsidized by the government.

The Centennial Wolverine will enter national competition in the Associated Collegiate Press awards. The book speaks for itself.

There are many reasons why this year's Wolverine deserves special attention. Not the least of these are the first 100-odd pages, depicting the history of Michigan State through its progress from agricultural college to university status.

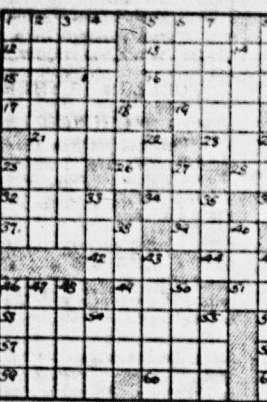

Another corner of the yearbook looks into the future, to Michigan State's Bi-Centennial in 2055.

The pulse of a hundred years can be found in the Wolverine, in dormitory living then and now, in the list of campus activities today as compared with Michigan State's beginnings, and in the progress of its schools of education and service.

If more color is needed, look to the Centennial paintings which spot the yearbook with a mind to the growth of Michigan Agricultural College to Michigan State University.

Job-Hunting

By WALT OLEKSY
State News Editorial Assistant

With graduation and vacation on most of our necks, the most important word around campus today is employment.

The first thing graduates think of is a job, after they think about taking a vacation, getting married, buying a car, and getting caught in the draft.

The first thing to do if you're job-hunting is to pick up a newspaper and check through the job opportunities. College grads are greatly needed today as lathe operators, cement pourers, fishing-tackle balancers, foreign diplomats to Illinois, mediators at lively weddings and as computers of the national debt.

But if your B.A. doesn't qualify there, talk over your idea of a good job with someone at an employment bureau. Take my idea for a typical case.

I said I was looking for a job which paid roughly $800 a month, to keep body and soul together, and I wasn't fussy about what kind of a job it was, because I only figured on working at it a week or two until the army gets me.

I threw in a few minor recommendations, just in case he could find a place for me that included them. I told him I'd like the job only to take up the mornings, so I could get in 18 holes of golf afternoons and have a leisurely dinner before going out with the boys. It didn't have to be a desk job, but it would help, since all I accumulated during four years of college was a lot of white shirts.

Well, I told him I'd like to get a job somewhere out of the hay-fever belt, so I preferred something out west. He said the pollen count would follow me around, but I said I was partial to mountains and would take my chances on the pollen.

Life Can Be...

NEWARK, N.J. (P) — The man behind the calling card which says "I may look busy but I'm only confused" is a freckle-faced printer named Harry F. Murphy who doesn't claim to be original.

"When we feel creative we reach for a pair of scissors," says Murphy.

A couple of years ago he started using scrap paper to print some whimsical sayings to advertise his business. His customers liked them and now he tries to put out a "new" one every month. A card goes with every one of the 500 or so orders that leave the shop monthly.

As a recent interviewer left Murphy, he handed a typical card:

"Your call has climaxed an already dull day."

Kappa Sigs Suspended From IM Play

Kappa Sigma fraternity has been suspended from all IM activities until Jan. 1, 1936 for a "willful and flagrant violation of intramural eligibility rules."

In a letter to the Kappa Sigma president, IM Director Harris Beeman called the use of an ineligible player, who was also an athletic coach, for an intramural contest was "inexcusable."

The ineligible player was used as a pitcher in an IM softball game.

Individual Kappa Sigs may participate in IM activities during the suspension period but may not represent the fraternity in any way, Beeman said.

In addition to the suspension until 1936, the Kappa Sigs will be on probation during the winter term of 1936, according to Beeman.

Imagination, Love Treated in Readings

By JUNE TURNER

"Imagination and love and what you can do with these two ingredients" was the theme of the reading program presented by Albert Dekker and Edith Atwater, in Fairchild Theatre Thursday evening.

Dekker, well-known stage and screen star, and Miss Atwater, Broadway actress, gave various interpretations of authors, including Carl Sandburg, Mark Twain, Edgar Allan Poe, and Robert Frost.

One sketch, "A Man at Sea," which was a parody on "Macbeth," was greeted by the audience with much laughter.

Dekker captured the audience with a reading by Edgar Allan Poe. He used his acting talent to portray the terror and fear of a murderer.

The reading program was presented as part of the first annual "Apple Blossom" festival, held on campus.

Entrants in the festival are being evaluated on the basis of their artistic performance, being rated but not ranked. Today's contests will be held at 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. at Kellogg.

Drug Firms Accept New Salk Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five of the six drug companies licensed to make Salk polio vaccine fell in line Thursday with the government's new rules for manufacturing and testing it.

There acceptance of the revised standards improved prospects for resumption of the nationwide campaign to immunize millions of school children against infantile paralysis.

However, the time of the resumption is uncertain.

The only holdout was the Pittman-Moore Co. of Elmsville, Ind., whose president, Kenneth F. Valentine, contended the new tests will mean a considerably more work without assuring a safer vaccine.

Vaccine makers agree that application of the new standards may add from one to several weeks to the time required for getting fresh vaccine to the state clinics.

The U.S. Public Health Service has not disclosed details of the revised procedures. These companies have agreed to continue production of the vaccine under the new rules: Perke, Davis & Co., Detroit; Cutter Laboratories, Berkeley, Calif.; Eli Lilly & Co., Indianapolis; Wyeth, Inc., Marietta, Pa., and Sharp & Dohme, Philadelphia.

Rhodes Scholar Committee Seeks Fall Candidates

The Rhodes Scholarship Committee is seeking candidates to represent Michigan State in the state competition next fall.

The scholarship enables a student to study at Oxford University in England for two years. Tuition, and approximately 90 per cent of other expenses are paid for.

Transportation cost must be provided by the student.

"Most students assume that high scholastic attainment and physical vigor are the essence of the Rhodes Scholarship requirement," said J. Robert Stewart, director of scholarships and in charge of all original "screening" for the committee. "However, they should be reminded that a sense of social vision and responsibility, together with personal qualities of leadership are equally vital," he said.
