

CENTENNIAL GRADUATES GET DEGREES ON SUNDAY

Addresses Grads Radford to Tell America's Role

More than 20,000 Michigan State graduates and friends will hear "The American Mission" outlined Sunday afternoon by the highest-ranking officer in the nation's military defense organization.

Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, will address the graduates and their guests in the Sunday Commencement ceremonies beginning at 4 p.m.

The 59-year-old admiral, one of the most influential men in Washington, heads the top policy-making and coordinating board for the country's army, air and naval forces.

His frequent discussions with the President and his position on some of the nation's top policy-making groups give him an important voice in deciding the course of national policy.

Radford, however, has insisted that the military should give only advice, and that policy should be determined by civilian authorities.

'55 Club Sets Sights On Future

Plans for Alumni Activity Underway

Plans for a Michigan State "Front Line Club," designed to help outstanding high school athletes find their way to East Lansing, will be outlined this afternoon to members of the '55 Club.

The '55 seniors who make up the core alumni organization for the graduating class will also hear plans covering fund raising activities, placement and methods of communicating with class members.

"We hope we can set up a Front Line Club, so that if a player wants to visit the school, an alumnus in the player's home area could be responsible for seeing that the player gets to the campus," said Bill Reid, alumni president of the Class of '55.

The '55 Club would appoint a committee to contact athletes and obtain information to coach, said Reid. Although the project will be initiated by the '55 Club, he said he hopes it will eventually include the entire Michigan State alumni organization.

Reid said the club also hopes to provide a direct contact with class members to keep them informed on the facilities provided by the Placement Bureau. The bureau schedules interviews for

Grads Give Organ

For the first time in many years, the gift from the graduating class to the University is being presented before Commencement.

A Conn Electric Organ for the Union Lounge will be presented by the class officers and Senior Council at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Union Lounge.

Bill Brohn, a graduating senior in music, will play several selections on the organ.

The Senior Council would like the graduates with their families and friends to attend the ceremonies.

Ceremonies To Attract 20,000

1,859 to Receive
Diplomas in July

By LOUIS GROFF
State News Associate Editor

The Centennial graduating class will climax its career at Michigan State Sunday at 4 p.m. in Macklin Stadium where they will be the first graduates of Michigan State University.

The 1,859 degree recipients will receive formal designation of their degrees at Commencement, but will wait until July 1 to receive diplomas.

The senior class voted several weeks ago to receive its diplomas after July 1, by mail, thus becoming the first graduates from Michigan State University under the recent name change bill.

The name change bill, signed by Lt. Gov. Philip Hart last month, becomes effective July 1.

An estimated 20,000 guests will join the graduates in the Stadium, to hear the Commencement address by Admiral Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff. Radford will speak on "The American Mission."

Receiving degrees will be 1,680 undergraduates and 179 advanced-degree students, including 142 masters and 37 doctorates.

The event is scheduled to be televised by WKAR-TV and broadcast over WKAR radio. Coverage will extend from 2:45 p.m. to 6:15 p.m. and will include interviews and other highlights of the exercises, including Radford's address.

If weather prevents the Commencement exercises from being held in Macklin Stadium, the graduation program will be held in Jenison Fieldhouse.

Tickets will be necessary for admittance if the exercises are held in Jenison. Tickets have already been distributed to seniors. If held in Macklin Stadium, Commencement is open to the public.

Any change will be announced at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, and at frequent intervals thereafter over WKAR.

Graduates will meet at 3:30 p.m. on Power Plant Road to march to the Stadium.

President John A. Hannah will award graduates their degrees, and will also confer 13 honorary Doctor of Laws degrees and will present Alumni Awards for Distinguished Service to five Michigan State graduates.

The 13 persons to receive the Honorary Doctor of Laws degrees are:

Carlton J. H. Hayes, Afton, N. Y., historian and professor emeritus of Columbia University, and former ambassador to Spain.

Albert E. Heustis, East Lansing, State Health Commissioner.
Ludovico Hidroscillo, Manila, Philippines, alumnus, government official and educator in the Philippines.

Harold W. Johnson, Washington, D. C., educator, clergyman and president of Howard University.

Willard J. Maxey, Lansing, government official and director of the State Department of Social Welfare.

Andrew G. L. McNaughton, Ottawa, Canada, statesman, general in the Canadian army, engineer, and chairman of the Canadian Section, Permanent Joint Board of Defense, Canada-United States.
Emory W. Morris, Battle Creek, foundation executive, president and general manager of the W. S. Kellogg Foundation.

Adm. Arthur W. Radford, Washington, D. C., chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Commencement speaker.

Friday night's show was the usual opening in the years. The first-night rains were rained out in 1954.

Saturday night's show began at 9 p.m., with sports contests starting at 8:30.

Bill Thistle, senior class president, and June Walters, senior class secretary, rode on the elephant's back while Bob Eberhardt's band played "Cocktails for Two."

Thursday night's water sports consisted of a double canoe race, a log burling contest, and a water bike race. The mixed couples canoe race, canoe tilting and water bike race will be held at tonight's carnival.

At Saturday night's show the singles canoe race and water bike finals will be held. Trophies for the water sports winners and the first three float winners will be presented at Saturday night's performance.

New Budget Grants State $15 Millions

New Construction, Operations Aided

State appropriations for operations and new construction at Michigan State for the coming year were approved Thursday by the state legislature.

The two appropriations bills will now go to Gov. G. Mennen Williams, who will sign them into law.

The State Board was granted a total of $19,175,597 for 1955-1956 operating expenses. This amount was considerably over the $18,368,312 figure originally recommended by the Senate Appropriations Committee, who drew up the appropriations bill.

The increase came after university officials testified that next fall's enrollment would be higher than the figure used in the Senate committee in planning the budget.

Of the total, $15,190,000 would be used for college operating expenses; $1,618,000 for the agricultural extension program; $1,276,818 for the state experiment station; $367,285 for starting a social security program for State employees.

The remainder would be divided up into $300,000 for Hope-Flanagan matching money; $299,594 for the agriculture marketing program; $90,500 for plant breeding research, and $33,000 for food technology research.

Seniors Recall 'Best Years'

By CYNTHIA SCHEER

It is, seniors. The last Friday you can unfold a S'News and say, "I still be collegiate."

After tomorrow, not long after 4 p.m., people will say with, "Well, how does it feel to be a graduate?"

A few of them will say sadly, "These have been the best years of your life."

What happened during these "best years"? They were years of football, rain, midterms and finals, Beaumont chimes, term papers, coffee dates, beauty queens, Hall and South Campus. Let's look at them more

MAN YEAR:
Freshmen were rushed through an elaborately scheduled orientation week. At the opening convocation we heard a Centennial Class, big things were expected of us. A speaker hinted that the day Michigan State might be a University in name as well as in fact might not be.

Center was just opening its doors. We wondered about Continuing Education was all about. But getting the Basic College was a bigger problem to us. We found that closing hours on Saturday and Sunday had been extended half an hour.

Partisan spirits were aroused when sportswriter Tomline called our gridders "stumblebums." We cut Friday classes to shovel out Macklin Stadium when an snowstorm threatened to cancel the Notre Dame game. Government became student-sponsored when the Tax was passed at spring term registration. The Chapel opened.

McArthur came to East Lansing, for a parade and was excused from an afternoon's classes. Later that night 10 students spent the night in the East Lansing jail.

MORE YEAR:
Here we were, no longer green freshmen, although we were suspecting it for a long time. President John A. Hannah went to Washington to become secretary of defense in charge of manpower. The Big 10 put us on probation in February. The "This erected without expense to the public . . ." signs were down.

Means was Miss MSC and later Miss Big 10. Appropriations for a new library were approved.

ADMIRAL RADFORD
... Commencement speaker ...

Radford has acquired a reputation as an advocate of a tough policy toward Communist expansion in Asia and around the world.

On one hand he has been credited with shaping the Eisenhower administration's firm policy in the Far East, and on the other with advocating a war-provoking attitude in Far Eastern policy.

Radford was recently appointed by President Eisenhower to a second term as head of the JCS. His present appointment expires in August.

The Indian Student Association will hold a general meeting tonight at 7:15 in the International Center. Two movies, "Festival Time" and "Our Heritage" will be shown at 9 p.m. Refreshments will be served.

The Manly Art of Wearing A Cap and Gown

Scholarly Tradition Dates Back to 12th Century

By JACKIE OLDHAM
Almost 2,500 caps and gowns will be worn on campus Sunday for State's 1955 Centennial graduation ceremonies.

Modern degree candidates will be continuing a scholarly tradition which dates back to the 12th and 13th centuries, A. D.

Most students during that time were studying to become priests. Schools were run in conjunction with the churches and pupils wore habits and hoods as a matter of course.

Academic apparel originated at Oxford and Cambridge Universities over 600 years ago. Gowns then were not a somber black, but made of richly-embroidered silks, in a variety of colors.

The result, although colorful, lead to confusion.

Now, rules have been set up enabling an onlooker in the know to tell at a glance at the gown and hood, the wearer's academic history.

A bachelor's gown is fashioned with a long pointed front and is worn closed. It has shirring across the shoulders and back and long pointed sleeves.

The main difference between the bachelor's and master's gowns is the long-oblong sleeves with an arc cut out at the bottom. The sleeves are closed and the wearer's arm protrudes through a slit near the elbow.

Doctor's gowns are designed to be worn open. Bands of velvet go around the neck and stitching follows down the front edges. More velvet, in three velvet bars, is stitched on the upper arm of the full sleeve.

The velvet can be either black or the color symbolic of the faculty to which the degree refers. Black velvet is most prevalent, in a trend to simplicity of apparel.

The gown and hood itself must be black. One of the most outstanding features of the traditional dress is the hood. Originally it served three purposes; a head covering, a cape, or a bag for alms.

Only candidates for doctor's degrees may wear their hood to the ceremony. The hood must be of the same material as the gown. The lining is of the color of the institution conferring the degree. State, having two colors, has designated the lining as green with one white chevron completely across it.

Another clue to the candidate's degree is the length of his hood. Bachelor degree holders are allowed three feet, Masters degree, three and a-half feet, and Doctors may trail a lengthy four feet down their backs.

The mortar board cap is a standard article in American schools. It can be worn indoors and outdoors on all occasions except during prayer.

A mortar board's tassel is worn over the left front quarter of the cap. The deepest part of the crown is worn on the back of the head.

Moving the tassel to the left side during the ceremony "has no warrant in precedent in common sense," states the journal of the American Council of Education.

Tassels on the mortar boards vary in color to distinguish the school of the wearer.

Schools at State and their corresponding colors are: Business and Public Service, maroon; Agriculture, maize; Forestry, russet; Home Economics, black; Engineering, orange.

Education is symbolized by light blue; Veterinary Medicine, dark grey, and Science and Arts, gold for science, white for arts and letters, and pink for music.

Centennial Awards Due Busy Weekend Set For State Alumni

By BETTY SUGI
State News Associate Editor

This will be a busy weekend for all Michigan State alumni who return to the campus.

Events will get under way at noon today when the Patriarchs' Club will hold a dinner to honor the Golden Anniversary Class of 1905. President John A. Hannah will preside at the dinner.

Registration of the alumni will be held at 2 p.m. today on the 2nd floor Union concourse and Saturday morning at 9 in Shaw Hall.

Today's events also include a meeting of the Alumni Advisory Council at 2:30 p.m.

The class of 1905 will hold its annual dinner tonight at 6 in Kellogg Center. The classes of 1915 and 1920 will hold dinners at 6:30 p.m. the former in the Union and the latter in Kellogg.

Saturday, Alumni Day, will begin at 8:30 a.m. with a breakfast to be held by the class of 1935 in Kellogg Center.

Beginning at 10:30 a.m. the alumni may make bus tours of the campus. The tours will leave per-

Miss Michigan Contest Slated

A contest to choose an entry for the Miss Michigan pageant from the greater Lansing area will be held at Sexton High School Auditorium on June 17.

Entry blanks for the contest may be picked up in most of the Lansing stores. The winner will be chosen for beauty and talent.

Jan Somers, Elmhurst, Ill., sophomore, last year won the Miss Michigan title and placed fifth in the Miss America contest.

The greater Lansing area contest is being sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with Lansing merchants.

Some New Dimensions A University Greeting, Alumni

Welcome alumni, to Michigan State University.

Since graduates left State, back in 1895 or 1954, East Acres has taken on some new dimensions. On July 1, Michigan State will take on the status of a university... a title it has earned for some years.

Through the persistent efforts of students, alumni, faculty and administration, Michigan State won its fight for university recognition. Lt. Gov. Phillip Hart signed the bill in the absence of Gov. Williams, and it will take effect on July 1.

But before alumni can get used to the new name, they can get re-acquainted with the campus they knew when they were here.

Alumni Day is Saturday, but there will be pre-Alumni Day activities this afternoon and evening, including the Patriarch's Club noon dinner honoring the Golden Anniversary Class of 1905, at which President John A. Hannah will preside, in the Union.

One of the big events of the day will be the annual dinner of the Class of 1895 at 6 p.m. in Kellogg Center. A very warm welcome to them, and to the classes of 1915 and 1930 who are also having dinners Friday.

Saturday will be filled with opportunities for alumni to re-acquaint themselves with the campus. Bus tours will originate periodically from Shaw Hall. Class luncheons and dinners will take place throughout the day, and a general alumni luncheon for all reunion classes will meet at noon in Shaw Hall.

To round out the day, alumni are invited to attend the Michigan State-Wayne University baseball game at 3 p.m., and in the evening, the 1955 Water Carnival, with its theme, "Sense and Nonsense."

Awards Given to Writers

Winners of the creative writing contest, sponsored by the English department, were announced yesterday by Dr. Milton Bieder, head of the English department.

Mary Rouse, Lansing senior, took first place in the poetry section with a collection of five poems. William Maynon, Lansing senior, was second with his poem, "Streetlights."

First in the short story section was Warren D. Conroy, Lansing junior, with "The Key." Robert W. Park, sophomore, was second with "The Big Sings." Tom Norman, freshman, for her "She is Known." The winner of the late essay contest was McKee, Detroit junior, with "The Reign of Fitzgerald's Flappers."

'Whatsoever A Man Soweth...'

Congratulations, Seniors

Unless it still hasn't hit home to you, senior, Sunday you will be an alumnus of Michigan State.

That has probably been a pretty hard thing to realize the past few weeks, when preparations for Commencement have escaped you.

After four years packed with four of the best spring terms you will probably ever have, you are being pushed out into the wall of tears they call a world.

It isn't a very pretty world at the moment, politically speaking. There are A-bombs and H-bombs yet to be exploded, and a lot of red underwear to be washed out. Financially speaking, however, the world looks a lot brighter. Job opportunities are better than ever, personnel men say.

But the essentials that make up the world are still there, and the songsmiths say the Best Things in Life Are Free. And if any ticket is needed to find them, that diploma you will soon inherit fills the bill.

This is a time mixed with gladness—that classes are over; enthusiasm—that you will put into practice all the theories you have accumulated so far; and with any number of words the romantics use to describe the way a senior feels about leaving his friends, classmates and campus life, when he has just come to know them.

That is perhaps the hardest part of graduation to take without a second thought. And that second thought will inevitably include a picture of yourself meeting your classmates on Macklin Field after next fall's Alumni Homecoming game.

Sunday is the day of pomp and circumstance. Pomp because it is really something to celebrate, and circumstance, because you can't believe it.

And added to these traditional thoughts, which are met by every graduating class, is the knowledge that this is the Centennial graduating class of Michigan State.

All year long you and your undergraduate classmates have been hearing about Michigan State's Centennial year. It has come to be taken a little for granted. It becomes easy to think that Michigan State has been here for a hundred years, and that its beginnings were the start of a new educational concept—higher education in agriculture, and an experiment in offering advanced education to the average man.

The reason Michigan State is proud to celebrate this Centennial anniversary is that it has helped turn that experiment into a reality. It has done the groundwork for the concept which has since spread across the country in other colleges and universities.

Your place in the broad picture of this truly American principle of education is far toward the front. You are part of the graduating class which is symbolic of the success of that principle of offering an advanced education to the average citizen, through state support.

That is the meaning of the Centennial graduating class. No matter if the idea has not always occurred to you—you are a part of the pioneers, as all the alumni in the past have been.

There is no actually visible transition between the first hundred years and the second hundred, unless it be this Sunday's Commencement exercises.

And part of the pageant of a hundred years will be the freshmen, the sophomores and the juniors who will attend the exercises.

It will be these classes which will provide the easy transition between the first hundred and the second hundred years. The graduating class of 1955 will represent the goals and ambitions of the next hundred.

Congratulations, seniors. The best parting wish you can take with you from Michigan State is inscribed on Beaumont Tower, the site most often associated with State's founding: "Whatsoever A Man Soweth..." So also shall he reap.

Letters to the Editor Medallion Sales Urged by Council

To the Centennial Senior Class:

There are just a few days left for Centennial class seniors to buy their souvenir medallions.

Few graduating classes have had the opportunity to experience the wonderful growth and remarkable opportunities afforded the 1955 Centennial senior class.

We have watched and worked for expansion of social and educational functions. We become the first to graduate from Michigan State University.

Feb. 12, Founders' Day, was the beginning of a program of Centennial symposia, exhibitions, and events which brought many of the outstanding men to our campus.

Time will not blench its surface nor fade its significance. It is a lasting moment of a university that has offered knowledge, opportunity, and fun through the four years of the Centennial class.

What about it, seniors? Let's all get a medallion to make this a truly memorable Centennial year.

Report Ford Accepting AWA 'In Principle'

ROIT (AP)—The Ford Motor Co. today reported it had accepted in principle the proposed Auto Workers Union plan that industry continue to employ when they are laid off.

The key point in the report was the Ford's acceptance of the principle of the UAW plan which the UAW is fighting for on Ford and General Motors.

The union had announced it intended to insist on the year-around employment throughout the auto industry and other CIO unions are making the same demand in their major mass-production industries.

Detroit News said it learned from a high union official that Ford had offered a $10 million dollar, three-year security fund that would be unprecedented in industry.

assembly lines. The union made no comment.

Under the guaranteed annual wage plan Reuther has demanded that the auto industry pay laid-off workers substantially their regular earnings though idle for as long as a year.

The employer's payment would be to the extent this was not met by state unemployment compensation checks to workers.

These present governmental payments, financed through an employer payroll tax, vary in amounts and duration between states.

Payments for the nation at large average about $25 a week, in Michigan they average $30.13 for a maximum of 26 weeks.

Ford has been seeking another five-year contract while the union has said it is unwilling to sign an agreement for longer than two years.

appears to represent some thinking of both Ford's and the union's guaranteed annual wage plan," the union said.

Reuther said he accepts the principle of the Ford plan but is out of work—the plan on which UAW President P. Reuther insists.

Reuther said he would like to pay a percentage of payroll toward a fund out of which laid-off workers would receive jobless pay while their state unemployment compensation payments became exhausted.

Reuther said he would like to see the UAW comment on the published plan and to their agreement to conduct negotiations in the union was bargaining exclusively with both Ford and General Motors.

There were a number of scattered "wildcat" or unauthorized strikes in Ford Co. plants today and some more serious were "sabotaged" with wrenches and knife slashes on assembly lines.

Senate OK's 3.5 Billion for Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Thursday night passed the entire 3½ billion dollar foreign aid program President Eisenhower has asked for the year starting July 1.

For the first time since 1950, the Senate failed to remove so much as one penny from the global aid authorization bill which Eisenhower on April 20 called "an indispensable part of a realistic and enlightened national policy."

The bill now goes to the House. Soundly defeated in the Senate were a score of amendments to chop millions of dollars from various parts of the measure. The money itself still has to be voted in a separate bill.

The measure authorizes $1,505,000,000 in direct military aid to friendly foreign nations, more than half for Asia, and the balance in a variety of economic assistance programs, including a 200 million dollar development fund for the "free arc" of Asia.

Already authorized for the new program was an additional 122 million dollars in defense funds, making the total precisely the $3,530,000,000 Eisenhower recommended.

State Seeks Integration 'War Chest'

Alabama Asks Aid For Court Fight

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—More legal aid to oppose suits growing out of the Supreme Court's May 31 ban on segregation in the schools was requested in Alabama Thursday.

Meanwhile, a second Southern school board vowed to close its schools if forced to comply with the court decision, and a judge in Virginia ruled that expenditures of a million dollar bond issue for school construction is illegal.

Alabama's Atty. Gen. John Patterson asked the Legislature for funds to hire four additional attorneys "primarily to handle the multiplicity of segregation suits."

The Supreme Court left it up to local courts to determine when it is "feasible" to abolish the traditional educational system of separate schools for whites and Negroes in the South.

Patterson told the Legislature that the "initial suits will be the most important, and we must be ready to handle them properly."

He added that if given the extra legal aid, "I feel sure we can fulfill our mission of opposing integration."

The governing board of Prince Edward County, Va., Thursday reaffirmed that it would operate no public schools unless the races were kept separate.

The Virginia group's action followed a similar course set by the Summerton, S.C., Board of Education Wednesday.

Senior Round-up

JUNIOR YEAR:
At last we were through with the Basic College and finals in the Aud. Upper school claimed us.

Butterfield Hall opened; Block S was initiated; Gov. Williams presented a Paul Bunyan trophy to the winner of the Michigan-Michigan State game. State won.

Then, in November, it happened. The Big 10 voted to send us to the Rose Bowl. The Spartan Special roared in and out of Pasadena, packed with well-behaved (everyone said so) Spartans.

The State Board of Agriculture sent a request for a name-change to the Legislature. It was fumbled and in February the administration formally killed the idea for the time being.

SENIOR YEAR:
Enrollment was up to over 15,000 and men still outnumbered coeds two to one.

But the big news as we came back last fall was new driving and parking rules that allowed students cars on campus. Parking meters sprouted along Circle Drive.

Your university officials left for South Vietnam; WKAR was giving telecourses; Bryan and Rafter Halls opened for male students after coeds took over Snyder Hall.

Block S had trouble filling its 1,006 seats; Judy Bradley won Harvest Ball Queen and Miss Drive.

Michigan State

The Wolverine commissioned John Coppin to paint six historic pictures for their Centennial book; Spartans, "giving through understanding" to Campus Chest, went $500 over the quota.

Gov. Williams won a fourth term and State's Donald Kayworth became sixth district congressman; Chain letters swept the campus; Kellogg was expanded; The Library was well underway.

Winter term had Dr. Laughhead, the disappearance of the Paul Bunyan trophy, an increase in tuition to expand Olin Health Center, Malenkov's resignation as Soviet premier, and muddy parking lots.

The J-Hop had Ralph Flanagan, the Spinners Spin, Johnny Long.

Centennial celebrations began Feb. 12 with James B. Conant's talk at the opening convocation; Michigan State shared a commemorative stamp with Penn State; The S'News stopped saying "MSC" on April 14 the Senate passed the MSU bill, 25-2.

And so spring term sped by—Davy Crockett, marriage lectures, the International Festival Revue fracas, Mortar Board's University Honor Women program.

Senior Ball, Lantern Night, Swingout, the President's Reception, ROTC commissions, Water Carnival, graduation-tickets-in-case-it-rains-on-Sunday.

But Holds Its Own Tito Signs Pact With Soviets

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Yugoslavia signed a declaration of principles with the Soviet Union Thursday night, but President Tito apparently did not yield an inch of his independence.

Nikita S. Khrushchev, Communist party boss in the Soviet Union who came here a week ago pending for a political reconciliation with Tito, will leave Friday early, judging from what is now known.

Khrushchev, who held the same man Soviet delegation here and did most of the talking, didn't even sign the declaration.

We met smiling at the green table of the Gardijski Dom Guards' Palace Thursday night, a hero of the Soviet Union medal prominent on his lapel, as Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev scratched his name with Tito's on the document.

In Washington, the State Department officially declined comment immediately.

Informal reaction of officials was that the communique seemed vague and nothing to be alarmed about.

It was noted that the pronouncement endorsed the idea of negotiation rather than force to settle outstanding problems.

Relations of the Communist parties in the two countries were not even mentioned in the declaration. The principal points it made were:

1. Yugoslavia supports "the satisfaction of the legitimate rights of the Communist People's Republic of China with regard to Taiwan Formosa. . . ."

2. Yugoslavia and the Soviet Union support a settlement of the German question "on a democratic basis, in conformity both with the wishes and desires of the German people and with the interests of general security."

3. Both governments support "a system of collective security in Europe based on a treaty."

4. The role and authority of the United Nations should be strengthened, and Communist China should be given a seat in the U.N.

5. The two governments have decided to conduct their future relations "in a spirit of friendly co-operation" and conclude arrangements for improving economic relations.

6. "Respect for the sovereignty, independence, integrity and equality among states in their mutual relations and in their relations with other states. Recognition and development of peaceful coexistence among nations regardless of ideological differences of differences of social order. . . . compliance with the principle of mutual respect for, and non-interference in, internal affairs for whatever reason, whether of an economic, political, or ideological nature. . . ."

7. "They Russia and Yugoslavia have agreed to take further steps toward the normalization of their relations and the promotion of cooperation between the two countries, convinced that this lies in the interests of the peoples of both countries and is a contribution both to the decrease of international tension and to strengthening of peace in the world."

An informed source said that by "further steps," Tito and the Russians meant further and more specific negotiations which probably will take place in Moscow.

In 1955, Tokyo reported a population of 7,784,122, an increase of 239,812 in 1954.

Al Takes Bat Lead; Tigers Win

DETROIT (AP)—Young Al Kaline the early season hitting sensation who refuses to let his batting average fade away, recaptured the American League batting lead Thursday with two singles and a triple while leading the Detroit Tigers to a 4-3 victory over the Washington Senators.

The 26-year-old outfielder pushed his average to .322, three points higher than teammate Harvey Kuenn, who is tied by an injured leg.

Kaline singled past third base in the fourth inning and scored the Tigers' first run when Ray Boone and Bubba Phillips followed with singles.

Washington had taken a 1-0 lead in the top of the fourth when Pete Runnels lined his second home run of the season.

Tigers Bargain With Yanks, KC

DETROIT (AP)—General Manager Harold (Muddy) Ruel of the Detroit Tigers went to Kansas City Thursday with the avowed intention of "talking trade-or-buy" with the New York Yankees and the Kansas City Athletics.

Just who Ruel might be interested in wasn't disclosed. Injuries, however, recently riddled the Detroit infield and rookie replacements failed to come through adequately. The Tigers lost four in a row before beating Washington 4-0 Wednesday.

In the sixth, Kaline tripped down the left field foul line, the ball kicking up chalk dust and bouncing into the bull pen. He rode home ahead of Jack Phillips' 375-foot home run into the lower left centerfield seats—his first of the season.

Max Surkont went the distance for the Pirates, picking up his fourth triumph against five defeats. Starter Harvey Haddix was charged with the defeat, his eighth. He's won two.

Long collected two singles in addition to his four-bagger and had a total of five RBI's.

The Pirates jumped on Haddix and reliever Brooks Lawrence for five runs on five hits in the third inning.

Consuegra was in charge as Boston's seventh inning threat ended when right fielder Jim Rivee snatched Harry Agron's drive and doubled Ted Williams off first base.

The loser was Mel Parnell, making his first start of the season. The clever southpaw had been inactive since March 31 when he injured his right knee in spring training. Boston also used Tom Hurd and George Susce.

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Baseball's hardy perennial, LeRoy (Satchel) Paige, was back on a payroll Thursday.

T. Y. Baird, owner of the Kansas City Monarchs of the Negro American League, said he had signed the venerable right-hander for "something in the neighborhood of $40,000."

Paige offered his services to the Kansas City Athletics a few weeks ago but the A's weren't interested.

Sam Ellowitz placed fifth in the discus with a heave of 122' 6 1/2". Dan Carter, of the Detroit Police, was the winner with 140 1/2".

Kobsmen to Close Shop With Wayne

By JACK BERRY

Five seniors will make their last appearance for the State Saturday as the Spartans meet Wayne State in the Alumni Day game at Old College Field, 8 p.m.

Capt. Johnny Matsock, Charlie Mathews, Bob Powell, Ron Stand and Dick Idzkowski will lead their teammates against Wayne, a team State has defeated 10 times and lost to only once.

State whipped the Tartars Wednesday at Detroit, 13-4, with seniors Powell and Matsock each hitting home runs. The Spartans' season record is 20-11, while Wayne has won eight and lost seven.

Idzkowski, leading pitcher in the Big 10 this year with a 4-0 record, will start against the Tartars. Idzkowski, from East Chicago, Ind., has allowed 1.93 earned runs per game.

Idzkowski's season record is 8-1; he has struck out 44 men in 55 1/3 innings while walking 22.

Matsock, voted most valuable player last season, has experienced a dismal year at shortstop, despite a flashy start. The Spartan shortstop led for the BEB leadership during the western training trip and hit two home runs.

But that was all the fence busting for Matsock until Wednesday when he connected for his third circuit blow against Wayne.

Mathews has been a standout at first again this year, being named to the all-conference first team last season. He led State in batting both in 1953 and 1954, hitting .332 his junior year and .328 as a sophomore.

The Rensbush senior has been on the variety four years. In 30 games this year he is hitting .300 while George Smith leads the squad with .366.

Powell, after starting slow and having difficulty with an injury finished as one of the strongest batters in the Big 10 hitting .430.

Besides hitting the ball hard Powell is a fine defensive center-fielder and has a good throwing arm.

His work at the plate virtually knocked Michigan out of the conference championship as he pounded out two home runs and drove in all four runs in the third game.

Ron Stand was a valuable utility man filling in for Smith at second and in the outfield as well. In eight conference games he hit .400.

Vuky's Was Snafu Of Race

NEW YORK (AP)—The Spartans football game went out on a night opponent's season.

They called this Michigan State year's team a "snafu" just how it were.

Highlights of the game for the Spartans: the famous pass that got away from Ohio State over Notre Dame's Macklin.

Of course, the football team home at cross-country Schlademan's first Big 10 conference.

Later sports to be back for big swimming and basketball titles in a first division place.

Great Football Teams Boomed Sports Era for Class of 1955

It was Spartan sports that graduated seniors of 1955. They saw two undefeated teams, the latter winning a national championship. They watched the Spartans entrance in the Big 10 gridiron as Michigan boomed its way to a championship and Rose Bowl in its first year of competition. Michigan State led on probation by the arena, a penalty which was lifted before the announced was up.

From then on, it was "look out for the Spartans" and even mighty Notre Dame failed to stem the tide. The Irish fell to Michigan State for the third straight year, 21-3.

Schladekman's 1952 cross-country outfit, the best he has ever coached, took everything in the sport that meant anything. The harriers ran to the Big 10, ICAA and NCAA titles. The latter title gave State two national championships in two fall sports.

Then there was the probation announcement by the Big 10. The charges levied were never proved, giving weight to President Hannah's statement that the action was "harsh and unjustified." Later in the year the Big 10 rescinded the move and Michigan State again had a clean slate.

The winter sports season didn't produce a title, but the Spartans got a second and Pete Newell's basketball team took another step forward with a tie for third. The swimmers, gymnasts and fencers, also took titles.

In the spring, it was the tennis team setting the pace again with a second, but the trackmen were right behind with a third in the conference.

The 1953-54 school year marked the official completion of the Spartan entrance into Big 10 athletic circles.

The Spartan trippers became the first HBC team to play a full conference schedule and by doing so they became eligible for the coveted Rose Bowl trip.

They made their conference grid debut impressive with successive wins over Iowa, Minnesota and Indiana before the black day of October 24, when a rout-

Spartan winning streak to 24, the longest in the land. From the time the Spartans bombed Michigan, 27-13, in the opening game the students knew they had another good team. But they never suspected a team with as much punch and surprise.

The very next week Biggie Munn's crew showed this with the most hair-raising victory ever for a Michigan State team. They beat Oregon State, 17-14, but only on a "second chance" field goal that preserved the win streak.

From then on, it was "look out for the Spartans" and even mighty Notre Dame failed to stem the tide. The Irish fell to Michigan State for the third straight year, 21-3.

The 1953-54 school year marked the official completion of the Spartan entrance into Big 10 athletic circles.

The Spartan trippers became the first HBC team to play a full conference schedule and by doing so they became eligible for the coveted Rose Bowl trip.

They made their conference grid debut impressive with successive wins over Iowa, Minnesota and Indiana before the black day of October 24, when a routed-up band of Purdue Boiler-makers ended the 23-game MSC winning streak. Bouncing back with wins over OSU and Michigan, State tied Illinois for the conference crown and joy reigned supreme on the Spartan campus when the Big 10 officials appointed State to the Rose Bowl berth.

And the conference debut was completed with a 28-20 win over UCLA in the New Year's Day classic on Jan. 1, 1954.

The cross country team continued its winning ways, copping both the Big 10 and ICAA titles. None of the winter sports could garner a title but several individuals came through.

Wrestler Bob Hoke, boxer Herb Odum, and gymnast Carl Rintz won national titles while Hoke, Rintz, swimmer John Dudeck and trackman Lyle Garbe took conference crowns.

The Spartan baseball team ran wild during the spring, setting a new school mark for wins and copping the Big 10 title.

As the Big 10 champs, the Kobmen went through the district play-offs to the semi-finals of the College World Series in Omaha.

On July 1 of 1954, Biggie Munn officially ended his coaching career and took the position of Michigan State Athletic Director.

The Spartans came back in 1954 and the football team had a new head coach, Duffy Daugherty. Biggie Munn moved up to athletic director.

Duffy's debut was spoiled with a 14-10 defeat at the hands of Iowa's Hawkeyes. And one week later in the first home game the team again fell—this time to Wisconsin's Badgers and Alan (The Horse) Ameche.

Football fortunes continued to dwindle, and Michigan State wound up with a 1-5 Big 10 record and a tie for eighth place in the standings. It was by far the worst year seniors had seen in their four at State. The cross-country team added to the sports slump of 1954. State's harriers finished with a 1-2 dual meet record and were unsuccessful in three title defenses.

The basketball team got a new head coach, Fordy Anderson. Picked for the second division by pre-season pollsters, the cagers defied the ratings to finish fourth in the Big 10.

Senior Al Ferrari sparked the cagers throughout the season, setting the season scoring mark at 442 points and the single game record of 35.

State's boxing team won the NCAA team championship in the national tourney at Fayetteville, Mo. And Herb Odum earned his second national crown in the 147-pound division.

The indoor track team surprised everyone by ending up second to champion Michigan after being destined to about fifth place before the Big 10 title meet.

In swimming, State took fifth while the fencers came back with a third.

At the beginning of the last spring for the '55 graduates, it looked like the Spartan baseballers would win another title, but they ran into rough sledding and had to be satisfied with a tie for second.

The track team squeezed into the first division with a fifth while the tennis team dropped out with a sixth.

All in all, it was a pretty fantastic four years, with the rise and fall of modern Spartan football the key point that the graduating seniors will never forget. But they'll remember the glorious victories longer than the later defeats.

Furgol Leads Deepdale Golf

GREAT NECK, N. Y. (AP)—Lightly-regarded Marty Furgol piled up the points but Sam Snead and ex-grinder Mike Souchak played the golf Thursday in the opening round of the Deepdale Round Robin tournament.

Furgol, 36-year-old touring veteran from Lemont, Ill., took the lead in this so-called "adding machine open" with a score of eight-plus points—achieved with a respectable par 70 round over the 6,693-yard Deepdale course.

In second place at plus-7 came Australia's Peter Thomson and bombastic Tommy Bolt of Houston, with a pair of 69's, followed by former National Open Champion Julius Boros, with plus-six on an even par 70.

The New York Yankees and the St. Louis Browns on Sept. 28, 1926 played a double header in two hours and seven minutes.

Yanks Thinned in British City

ST. ANNES, England (AP)—The Americans finally got thinned out Thursday in the British Amateur Golf Championship as golfing form changed as suddenly as the north of England weather. But it took three other Americans and a cold-blooded Englishman to do the job.

Alan Slater, a Yorkshire engineer, met and whipped U. S. Walker Cup player Dale Morey in the gusty fourth round Thursday morning. In the rainy and humid fifth round Thursday afternoon at Royal Lytham and St. Annes, he downed Jimmy Ballin, an Irishman. Copestake, an Englishman, thinned out the Americans in the quarter-finals. Slater was the victor of three all-American matches in the fifth round—Billy Joe Patton and Joe Conrad in the American Walker Cup series, and bulky, blue-eyed young Don Blasinghoff of Oregon, Pa.

West Virginia University has a twin battery on its baseball team in pitcher James Ballin and catcher John Ballin.
