Laborite Attlee Accuses Premier Of Mishandling Railway Strike

Charges Refuted By Eden

Denies Basis Of New Policy

LONDON (AP) — Labor Leader Clement Attlee accused Prime Minister Eden Thursday of mishandling the nationwide railway strike and said his policy would worsen Britain's industrial crisis, Eden angrily denied the charges.

Attlee threw the opening session of the new House of Commons into an uproar. Cheers and catcalls came at intervals.

To the cheers of his supporters, the 72-year-old Socialist chieftain said Eden "perhaps inadvertently" put forward a new doctrine in a radio broadcast last Sunday that the negotiations can take place without a return of the strikers to work.

He seized his first big opportunity to attack the Conservative government's handling of the crippling strike by 57,000 workmen since the Conservative's decisive victory over the Labor party at the polls May 26. Eden struck back immediately.

"I do not think Mr. Attlee has given an accurate account of the situation. There is no question of laying down a new doctrine. I have not laid down any new doctrine at all. It was never in my mind that there should be no discussions or conversations of any sort before work was resumed and they are in fact at this moment going on."

Representatives of the striking Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen and the British Transport Commission, which runs the state-owned railways, held their first full cross-country talks since the strike began after two hours, they adjourned until tomorrow.

Setting off debate in the House, Eden said he was very anxious not to make things more difficult.

The Transport Commission was reported to have urged the strike leaders at Thursday's meeting to call off the walkouts so discussions could continue "free from pressure" and in an atmosphere more conducive to settlement. ASLEF on its part sought firm assurances about wage concessions from the commission.

The striking engineers and firemen want the equivalent of $112 more to bring their base pay for a 44-hour work week to $38.42.

The British Press estimated the strike costs the railways a million pounds—$2,800,000—daily in addition to its disrupting effects on national production.

In a 24-hour period ending at midnight last night, nonstriking crews ran 7,643 trains—3,461 of them freight. This was the highest number operated so far, but still only around one-sixth of normal.

Adenauer Accepts Russia's Invitation

Will Join Reds in Discussion; May Ask Meeting in Geneva

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is willing to talk with the Soviet Union's leaders, but not for several weeks and not necessarily in Moscow, a government spokesman said Wednesday.

There must first be a low-level exchange of views to determine the "appropriate circumstances," the spokesman said.

Other sources said the Russian invitation to the West German leader to visit the Soviet capital for a discussion on re-establishing normal relations may be answered by Adenauer with a proposal for a meeting at some neutral point—perhaps Geneva.

They also pointed out that West Germany could enter into diplomatic, trade and cultural relations with the U.S.S.R. without the Chancellor going to Moscow.

The spokesman said Adenauer has insisted that German and Russian experts have an exchange of opinions before the time and place of any meeting of their government leaders is fixed. These exchanges already have started in Paris, he added, and will continue for several weeks.

This apparently rules out any possibility that Adenauer will reply to the Kremlin until after he talks with President Eisenhower and other Western leaders in Washington and New York next week.

He is to leave for the United States Sunday.

Government officials said Adenauer does not want to fall into any trap that would perpetuate the Russian grip on East Germany.

Nor does he want to get out of step with his Western allies and lay himself open to a charge of disloyally playing off East against West, they said.

His aides reported the Chancellor was therefore "very gratified" by President Eisenhower's expression of confidence in him at a Washington news conference Wednesday.

Official reports said the Bonn government is exploring the idea Adenauer might meet the Russians at the Big Four summit conference which the United States, Britain and France have proposed be held in Geneva July 18-21.

There is also a possibility a delegation might be sent to Moscow for preliminary talks.

Heinrich Von Brentano, who took over the Bonn Foreign Office from Adenauer Wednesday, told an interviewer that West Germany would remain faithful to the Western alliance in any discussions with Russia.

He pledged that Paris pacts making her an armed member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization would be strictly observed.

Driver Dies After Collision

Richard DeWaters, 17, of Fowlerville, driver of the car which met head on with a car driven by Otis Harten, Jr., East Lansing junior, Wednesday night, died in Sparrow Hospital at 3:45 a.m. Thursday.

Gail Schaefer, 17, also of Fowlerville, is still on the critical list. She was a passenger in DeWaters' car.

Harten, 25, is still in good condition, according to Sparrow authorities. He suffered a dislocated hip and face lacerations.

Students to Choose Spartan Revue Acts

Students will pick their favorites for the Spartan Revue Monday and Tuesday at Union Concourse ballroom.

The students will choose their entertainment preference from a list of available acts for the show, tentatively scheduled for Oct. 14.

This is the first time the students have been asked to pick the acts. Don Gillette, East Lansing junior and director of Spartan Spirit Commission, said the four acts have appeared here previously for the revue.

Arch of Memories

Parade Begins to Shape Up

By LOUIS GROPP

Plans for the Centennial parade began growing in a general committee meeting Thursday night. The parade is to be held on Oct. 22.

Each piece of mail leaving the State this summer, a special stamp, commemorating the homecoming parade, is designed by Jack Frakes, sophomore.

Floats depicting the "March of Memories—The Past Our Future Lies," are constructed by living units in cooperation with the staff of the Greater Lansing.

Winners of the float contest will be announced at the homecoming football game with Illinois, said Rhosan Dobben, Jackson junior and publicity chairman.

Duplicate trophies will be given to the coed and male living units coming in first, second and third.

One coed and one male living unit will work jointly on each float.

Any changes in theme must be made known to Jack Strasser, chairman of float construction.

Three judges will be located on a judging stand near the Butterfield Hall area. Judges for the contest have not yet been selected.

Judging will be based on general neatness of construction, originality and theme content.

Three novelty bands will add humor to the four-and-a-half mile parade. The bands featured will be "The Jackson Zouaves," "Scottsville Clown Band," and the "Detroit Kiltie Band."

About 25 Michigan high school bands will be interspersed between the floats in the parade. The bands will also be in competition for trophies.

The leading floats will carry Michigan State's Homecoming Queen and court. Miss Big 10, Carol Goulet, University of Minnesota sophomore, will also ride with the group.

Plans are being made for the Parade marshals to be transported in the "Phaeton," Chrysler's special model luxury car.

A scrapbook, 18 by 24 inches, is being made up telling the story of the parade and history of Michigan State in picture form.

The book will be presented to President John A. Hannah at the homecoming game and then will be permanently placed in the Centennial Room of the new library.

The End

With this issue, the State News discontinues publication for the term.

Students interested in working on the summer term State News, which will be published weekly beginning June 30, are urged to visit the State News Office, Union third floor. No experience is necessary.

Complete With 'Fringe on Top'

Antique Surrey Stages A Comeback on Campus

By PAT SWIFT

An invitation to ride in an authentic 19th century buggy is being extended to Spartans this week.

An original "surrey with the fringe on top", complete with side curtains, will recall the transportation of 50 years ago to advertise the Centennial of Farm Mechanization, Aug. 15-20.

The buggy, a four seater with a flat top trimmed with fringe, is drawn by two horses. The carriage, built about 50 years ago, is made of wood and iron.

Murrell L. Bailey, assistant professor of agriculture engineering, has been piloting the vehicle around campus during the past weeks for student rides.

The carriages mounted on wooden wheels rimmed with steel. Later models had rubber wheels, Bailey said.

The seats are equipped with thin cushions and springs but lack the comfort of modern foam rubber auto seats. The carriage also had side curtains which can be rolled down during rainy weather.

Centennial Commission To Hold Banquet Nov. 3

Final Celebration to Honor Outstanding Students

In final celebration of Michigan State's birthday, the Centennial Commission will hold an awards banquet Nov. 3.

The purpose of the banquet is to "pay recognition to students who have made outstanding contributions to their own organizations throughout the Centennial year," Bill Barry, director of the commission said.

Present plans call for each organization on campus, excluding living units, to nominate two persons for an "outstanding contribution" award.

These nominations will then be submitted to a special student-faculty committee for review. One member of each organization will be awarded a scroll citation. The other will receive honorable mention.

Representing the faculty and administration on the committee will be Pres. John A. Hannah, Alvie Smith, Centennial director; Elwood Volter, assistant to the dean of students; Starr Keener, alumni director and Herman Wynyard, dean of the school of business and public services.

Student representatives will be Barry, Pat Moynihan, a member of the Student Centennial Commission, William Whisfield, student government president, and William Klein, head of organizations.

Miss Moynihan will also serve as general chairman of the banquet.

Miss Moynihan stated that both Sec. of State John Foster Dulles and Thomas Dewey, former governor of New York will be invited to speak at the banquet. Barry will be master of ceremonies.

In addition to the student awards, the classes from 1890 will select 20 alumni who did prominent work in student activities while attending State. Ten will be given the citation, the other 10 honorable mention. All 20 will be the guests of the Student Centennial Commission.

The banquet will be open to all students belonging to organizations on campus. Arrangements are being made to provide for 600 students and administrative people, according to Miss Moynihan.

Council Interviews

Interviews for Junior Council will be held fall term. Petitioners will be notified beforehand of the scheduled meetings.

No Educational Sell-Out Pearson 'Off Base' in TV Blast

In a recent nationally syndicated column, Drew Pearson, well-known news "analyst," devoted the major part of his day's production to an attack on Michigan State's administration.

The issue of his attack was the combined commercial-educational television program set forth in State's request for a Very High Frequency channel.

Pearson was not only way off base in his comments but apparently was very ill-informed.

For the record, here are some of the answers to the misrepresentations in his article.

The article started off by speaking of President Hannah having made a deal with Edward E. Wilson, son of Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson. The implication that there was some sort of sell-out is very clear.

It is rather difficult to make a deal over something you don't have. Michigan State does not as yet have a VHF channel. The case for the granting of such a channel is at present under review by the Federal Communications Commission in Washington.

The major part of his attack lies in the fact that this "sell-out" involves Michigan State accepting the "less valuable" daytime space on the share plan.

In the deal as presented to the FCC, Michigan State picked the time for the educational TV to be in operation.

An extensive survey has shown that the best time for educational television to reach its particular audience is between the hours of 9 a.m. and 2 p.m.

At present, WKAR-TV, operating on Ultra High Frequency, is airing about 35-40 hours a week with about 60-80% of this time devoted to "live" broadcasts.

Under the plan, WKAR-TV would produce 38 hours a week—93% of which would be "live" educational shows at almost selected audiences.

These facts were presented to the Michigan Legislature and hashed out on both the Senate floor and the floor of the House.

Both bodies gave their support to the share plan as sent to the FCC for consideration.

There were a number of other "facts" in Pearson's story that did not ring true.

The idea that the combined program would result in the university and the people of Michigan taking a financial beating at the hands of General Motors is not only silly but a very unrealistic appraisal of the situation.

Educational television has a big place in the future of America.

University courses for homemakers, farmers and school children can be a powerful means of raising the educational level of the nation, and educated people are free people.

Letter to the Editor Student Affairs In India Cited

To the Editor:
I am submitting the following article about the function of student governments in India.

The members of the treasury bench sit on chairs below, with the members of the opposition seated next to them. The president attends the general body meeting only once and that is at the beginning of each term's session, when he presents his report to the general body.

The meeting usually starts at 9 p.m., after dinner, (usually a feast), and lasts until 2 and sometimes 3 in the morning.

You may wonder why such a long time is taken for such meetings. You have to remember that ours is not a smooth government. We have our oppositions, and even a small bill is not passed without a serious debate and especially criticism from opposition, and this takes a long time.

The second category of questions can be asked on the floor and these questions may or may not be allowed, according to the discretion of the speaker.

Usually the elections are on party lines. Each party puts up their own candidate for these posts.

Walt's Wallow Swan Wallow

By WALT OLEKSY
State News Editorial Assistant

Terms come and terms go and the end of the school year is here again. The old order changeth. Each year when it comes to putting out the last S'News there is the tradition of a Swan Song column. Some years there are two and three Swan Songs written. This term there have been none. Except the one you are reading now.

There are many nostalgic things to write at a time like this—saying nice things about nice people—bitching very little, and remembering only the best days.

But the Wallow would rather not die that way. Rather, it would entrust its heritage and that of the paper in the young journalists to follow.

It is to them that this column is written, and it must stand also as the Swan Song of all those who are leaving.

The Wallow would here leave its heart and experience to the new men in the ranks. Finding a typical newspaperman to carry on the tradition was difficult, but an office-wide search brought the lucky lad to the surface.

Here I would introduce Ronn Underart, cub reporter, '59.

He will swing into his job with great vigor. He will not hang around the Grill. And no one will make a monkey out of him.

The big ape will keep his eyes open for scoops and he won't let anyone ruffle his fur.

He will walk square-toed into action and not take a back seat for anyone.

He will be hard-working and honest and clever. And he will fight for the bunch.

Marching Clinic Slated for Prep Band Directors

The Michigan State department of music will sponsor a marching band clinic for high school band directors July 28 and 30.

The facilities of Kellogg Center, the Music Building and the drill field will be available for the clinic. The program will stress tested ideas for football shows and will place emphasis on the needs of small bands.

The lectures, workshops and demonstrations will cover various styles of marching, instrumentation and methods of charting a complete football show.

Special sessions also will be held for twirlers and drum majors.

Nationally recognized as an educator and research director in commercial engineering, Farrall will return to his native state to accept the honor.

Students Admire Art Exhibits.

A Little Abstract!
Art Show Displays Student Technique

The best of Michigan State's student art work has taken over the Union Art Gallery in an exhibit from June 3 to July 5.

Work from painting, pottery, architectural and fashion design artists fill the Annual Student Show. An overflow from the exhibit also is on display in the two south campus art work buildings.

"We try to show each phase of our department," Howard Church, head of the art department, said.

Consequently the show contains jewelry, paintings, sketches, print work, textiles, fashion and industrial design, ceramic and wood work and advertising.

All exhibits are done by students as part of their course work in art department classes.

"We ask the teachers to submit the best work they have available," Church said.

"They more or less line up their class's work without reference to the experience of the students and decide on the top products," Church said.

Students whose work is selected thus have the chance to see their work in relation to others, Church explained. Also, all art students can see what is considered the best of their class.

In Iowa capital punishment cases, state law provides that execution cannot take place less than one year after sentencing.

New Words For Songs Suggested

Ag Board to Hold Changes June 11

A resolution to change words of Michigan Fight Song and Alma will be presented to the Board of Agriculture next meeting, June 17.

If the board approves the changes, the new words will effect July 1 when the official becomes MSU.

The Fight Song will read:

On the Banks of the Red Is a school that's known Their specialty is winning And those Spartans play Ball. Spartan teams are never All through the games the Fight for the only colors, Green and white.

CHORUS
 Go 'right thru' for MSU Watch the points keep Spartan teams are bound They're fighting with a RAH! RAH! RAH! See their team is weaker We're going to win this Fight! Fight! Fight! Victory for MSU!

The Alma Mater MSU will read:

MSU, we love thy shades When twilight silence falls Flushing deep and softly Our ivy covered halls. Beneath the pines we'll sing To give our hearts to thee Sing our love for Alma Mater When from the scenes we part And twilight shadows fall Our memory still will linger Where light and shadows meet In the evening old we'll sing And turn our thoughts to thee Sing our love for Alma Mater And thy praises MSU!

K-Kids Aren't Enough As Bengals Bow, 7-3

With Belt Best Cause Come Runs

Box Bounce Cleveland, 4-2

Associated Press

Detroit's K-Kids, Al Karas and Harvey Kuenn, each home run Thursday but weren't nearly enough as New York Yankees whipped the Tigers, 7-3.

Robinson belted his 10th home run of the year with two men on in the first inning to give the Yankees a lead they never lost. He homered in the last of the fifth to add another run to the lead.

Ford started for New York and gave up both Tiger runs before being relieved by the Yankees in the fifth.

Robinson's sixth appearance in seven days, checked out on one hit the rest of the game.

Steve Gromek pitched until the fourth, when Leo Kasper replaced him. Kasper and George Zuverer came in in the seventh, the Yankees hit.

Gromek's third win and the victory for the Yankees without a run in the four game series increased their lead over Cleveland to 5 1/2 games.

Towering Sullivan, with some last-inning heroics from Ellis Kinder, Cleveland Indians, 4-2, won to give the Boston Red Sox a three-game series.

DubINN It's Been...

By DONN SHELTON
State News Sports Editor

Term end and time for a lineup shift as ole DubINN leaves the confines of the sports page and is farmed out to the edit page.

So, this isn't a goodbye, merely a "see you later, only in a different place."

One consolation about leaving Page Five is that I won't have to defend my major league baseball predictions.

As I leave, the New York Yankees and the fantastic flock from Brooklyn are drawing farther and farther away from by "all redskin" series.

This just makes it tougher on Jack Berry, who also saw the Tribe and Braves in the Series. He's going to be around at the final reckoning.

Can't say it hasn't been fun though, this two term tenure as sports editor.

Looking back, we recall a three part series about the football team that really made life a ball for a few days. Didn't know that many people lived around here, let alone read the paper.

And I am sure it wasn't really as hot as it felt in the ice arena the night the hockey team battled Michigan—and had a "Jinx-time" of it.

And the tennis team is still muttering about playing six-set games and Dickie Menzel is spelled with a Z and not a C.

And who could possibly be as happy as the baseball team was, traveling back from Michigan after knocking off the Wolverines, 3-0, at Ann Arbor.

Anyway, its time to move over in the other corner of the city room and turn over the Luther Ardfarb chair to Jack Berry.

But, before I go (you didn't think you were going to get off that easy did you?), I want to tell you the "story" behind Bob Powell's White Sox contract.

Its sources are scattered but they will all agree on the basic ingredients.

Seems that Bob was in the outfield at the tryout and was bouncing in perfect throws to the three bases so, they called him in to take a turn at bat.

Ron Jackson, 6'7" bonus baby from Western Michigan, clouted a long home run over the 380-foot mark at Comiskey Park and Frank Lane, Chisox general manager, was all smiles.

Powell stepped into the batting cage and hit a couple of line shots into the outfield—just to warm up.

Then he blasted one over the 415-foot mark and Lane dove for his wallet and pen. Before Powell stepped down he had dropped two more in the seats and Jackson was moving over to make room on the White Sox bench.

Powell Inks Bonus Pact With Chisox

Smith, Mathews Sign With Orioles

Spartan baseballers Bob Powell, George Smith and Chuck Mathews were signed to professional contracts Thursday.

Powell, an outfielder, inked a bonus contract with the Chicago White Sox while Smith and Mathews signed non-bonus pacts with the Baltimore Orioles.

Powell, who hit .439 in Big 10 play this year and has used up his eligibility, received a reported $30,000.

He will report to the White Sox in late June when they reach New York on their eastern road trip.

As a bonus player he must be kept with the club for a minimum of two years.

Smith and Mathews will be optioned to farm clubs in the Baltimore system, according to Orioles manager Paul Richards.

Smith won the 1955 Big 10 batting race with a .485 mark and had one year of eligibility left.

Richards said that neither will be placed any higher than Class B, adding that each showed promise but needed "a lot of polish."

The other two Spartan seniors, Johnny Matscock and Dick Idzkowski, have also been offered contracts.

Idzkowski is reportedly on the verge of signing a contract with Cleveland.

Four Thinclads Travel West

By HAL BATEMAN
Four Michigan State trackmen will close the spring season when they compete in the National Collegiate championships at Los Angeles, June 17-18 and the Big 10-Pacific Coast Conference dual meet at Berkeley, Calif., June 21.

The meet will be the last varsity competition for seniors Kevin Gosper and Chuck Coykendall.

The other two entries are juniors Don Hillmer and Joe Savoldi, the newly elected 1956 track captain.

Savoldi will also compete in the National AAU decathlon championships at Crawfordsville, Ind., July 1-2.

The 10 event man, although competing unattached, will be the first Spartan athlete to compete for Michigan State University.

Gosper, this year's track captain, is one of the favorites for the National Collegiate 440-yard title.

At the coliseum Relays the smooth-striding Australian was clocked in :46.9.

Gosper, in addition, captured the Big 10 and Central Collegiate titles. The 21-year-old senior was presented the John Nicholson Award for the outstanding performance at the CCC.

Gosper's main competition will come from Oklahoma A & M's J. W. Mashburn, Southern California's Mike Larrabee and UCLA sophomore Russ Ellis.

Gosper will run the quarter and the mile relay in the Big 10-CCC dual meet. Larrabee and Ellis, along with Stanford's Walt Garrett, will run for the Pacific Coast.

The Spartan captain will be bolstered by Illinois' Ralph Fessenden and Michigan's Grant Scruggs.

Coykendall, who has a personal best of 13' 9", will meet such top-flight pole vaulters as Southern Cal's Walt Leveck and Rom Morris and Villanova sophomore Don Bragg. All three have cleared 14' 8" this season.

In the dual meet Coykendall will team with Michigan's Ron Appelman and Illinois' Dale Foster to meet Leveck, Morris and California's Dave Seed.

Hillmer, the Big 10 runner-up, meets the defending national champion Ernie Shelton of Southern Cal in the high jump. Shelton has leaped 6' 1" while teammate Floyd Jeter has done 6' 8".

Hillmer has a personal best of 6' 6 3/8".

Michigan's Mark Booth and Howard Liverance will join Hillmer for the Big 10 high jump team. The trio will meet Shelton, Jeter and John Stewart of Stanford.

Savoldi, the Spartans all-purpose man, is listed for the 120-yard high hurdles and the shot put in the nationals.

The decathlon man was clocked in :14.2 for the highs in the Big 10 and has thrown the shot over 50 feet.

Illinois' Willard Thomson is the nation's leading hurdler with a 13.7 time while Tom Jones, Miami of Ohio's defending champion, will be the favorite in the Savoldi will team with Thomson and Hoosier Milt Campbell in the dual meet high hurdles. Abe Woodson of Illinois will join the trio for the shuttle Hurdue relay.

Following the meet Savoldi will prepare for the decathlon championships. The 6' 3" 215 pound junior scored 5890 points while taking third at the Kansas Relays decathlon.
