Tree-Sitting Contest Begins Today

Class Day Plans Near Finish

Final plans for the annual Frosh-Soph Day to be held this Saturday preceding the MSU-Marquette game are nearing completion, the Frosh-Soph Council reported today.

After coffee in the Union grill at 5:30 this afternoon, freshmen class president Bruce Kyburz and sophomore class president Roger E. Foush will climb the tree directly across from the Union house to take part in the traditional tree-sitting contest.

Last year, Johnny Rogers, as freshman class president, set a new tree-sitting record of 13 minutes when he defeated Howard Jones, last year's sophomore class president.

A jam session by five members of the Jazz Society of West Circle Drive, a campus organization, was staged in the Union lobby yesterday to arouse interest in the intra-class day.

The Frosh-Soph Day activities began Saturday morning, when students, as in the past, gathered in the Shaw Hall side of the Red Cedar to watch the cable and centipede races scheduled.

Thieves Loot 2 Drug Stores

Two East Lansing drug stores were looted of over $1500 in supplies and cash early Wednesday morning.

The stores, Rudolf Petzold and the Midway of the East Lansing drug store, found the door to a drug store open at 2 a.m. and $177 in cash had been taken. The burglar left behind over $200 in checks.

The store was a narcotics safe and nothing was missing from it.

Further along Grand River Ave. the thief made off with over $1000 from Campus Drug store cash registers. About $500 in checks were left behind, police said. The same police officers discovered the door to the Campus drug store open at 4:45 a.m.

A state-wide police alarm was sounded for a grey General Motors car seen around Allen's drug store about 12:30 a.m. This was the same time proprietor Robert Allen closed his store, officers said.

The door to Allen's drug store had not been closed although the safe had been opened with some form of key.

East Lansing Police and the State Police are cooperating in their efforts to find the burglar. They already have several suspects.

U. S. Hit By Cold Air Mass

Temperatures Touch Bottom

A cold mass of arctic air continued its move eastward and southward from the Northern and Central Plains to the Southern Plains and the Mississippi Valley Wednesday dropping temperatures as much as 40 degrees or more in a few hours.

Springfield, Mo., for example recorded a high of 77 late Tuesday due to warm air of the past few days and then quickly dropped 64 degrees to 13 above early Wednesday.

In Chicago the temperature was 71 degrees late Tuesday, then dropped during the night 47 degrees to 24. Similarly Oklahoma City plunged from a high of 77 to 16 above—a 61 degree plunge.

The coldest air Wednesday still hovered over Montana, Colorado, Wyoming and Utah. Frasech, Colo., registered 37 degrees below zero and Big Piney, Wyo., 34-below. A light Rocky Mountain snow which was falling Wednesday was slated to spread eastward by Thursday.

Colorado Springs had seven inches of snow on the ground with the Lake City reported a reading of 14 below, the coldest since 1949 and a new record for November.

At noon Wednesday it still was a chills 11 below in Drummond, Mont.

The Straits of Mackinac ferry service in Upper Michigan was suspended in late afternoon because of high winds. The U.S. Coast Guard said there were gusts up to 75 miles an hour in the vicinity of Ludington on Lake Michigan's eastern shore.

Temperatures over the Plains states ranged from around 10 above in the north to 30 and 40 in the south.

The leading edge of cold air Wednesday extended from Ohio southwest through Kentucky, and southern Texas. Ahead of this line it was quite warm with temperatures in the 70s and 80s from Maryland southward. It continued cold over the Great Basin area with readings in the 20s and over the desert Southwest with 40s and 50s.

Snow flurries fell Wednesday afternoon over the Northern Plains, the Upper Mississippi Valley and portions of the Great Lakes region. Snow was general in Minnesota overnight and continued in most sections through the morning.

At 3 p.m. CST Wednesday the weather bureau in Chicago posted a gale warning for Lake Michigan with the west to southwest winds expected to hit 50 to 60 m.p.h. with some gusts higher. Snow flurries were forecast.

Abell to Speak At Bucknell as Visiting Lecturer

Walter Abell, professor of art, will deliver his work toward a doctorate in culture at Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa. Friday and Saturday.

Prof. Abell was invited to serve as visiting lecturer because of his work in developing what he terms a "psycho-historical" theory of culture.

He will present an evening lecture to students and faculty on his theory and follow it the next afternoon with a seminar. The program is designed to establish connections between the sciences, the humanities and philosophy.

The theory seeks to be published in book form, starts with humanistic achievements and then correlates these with the findings of psychology and the social sciences.

Pineapples May Be Peppier

Pineapple plants may soon be getting hormone shots to pep them up.

Hormones and their effect upon pineapple flowers and plants is just one of the many experiments being conducted by an organic chemist from Honolulu, Hawaii.

Dr. Robert W. Leeper was sent to MSU on an educational leave from the Hawaiian Pineapple Institute of Research and is doing his research at the State Horticultural Building.

Endeavoring to correlate chemical structure with response, the chemist hopes to find out what there is in the structure of the compound by making slight changes in them.

Hawaiian Conducts Research

Dr. Leeper received his doctorate from Iowa State College and has been employed by the Pineapple Institute for seven years. The institute, located in Honolulu, is privately supported by the pineapple canners there.

The institute grounds are adjacent to the University of Hawaii, leading an academic atmosphere to the research center.

The pineapple is big business to Hawaii and progressive Hawaiians, said Leeper. Hawaii produces between 26 and 28 million cases of pineapple a year, which bring in nearly 100 million dollars yearly to the Hawaiian Islands, he added.

The chemist said he noted that many people think of pineapple as a luxury item. Actually, this fruit is as economical as peaches or pears, he reported.

Pineapple growing has become a necessity for the island's economic livelihood. The island's main income sources are sugar, pineapple, and the throngs of tourists which make their way to the popular resort paradise each year.

Dr. Leeper will leave MSU next week, on the first lap of his return trip to Honolulu. Back at the research institute, he will work in the laboratory, making chemicals which the plant physiologists use to observe the effects they have on weeds and the pineapple plants.

Spartan Engineer Sales Hit Record

Field promotion manager for the Spartan Engineer, disclosed the sales hit a record peak these two days of selling the magazine totaled close to 100,000 and twenty-five percent of the previous record.

The cash was not anticipated. The issue was virtually a sell-out. There will be no more selling of the magazine in campus buildings, but a small quantity will be on sale at the Union.

Faces Arraignment

John Gilbert Graham, center, is escorted by two FBI men into the postoffice building in Denver for arraignment on 44 counts of murder. Graham is accused of planting a bomb in the United Air Lines plane which crashed Nov. 1 near Longmont, Colo., killing 44 persons, including his mother.

Student Congress Meets 'Uneventfully'

Constitution, Election Bills Presented for Consideration

In a short uneventful meeting Wednesday night, Student Congressmen were presented two bills to null over during Thanksgiving vacation.

Pat Movmhan, East Lansing junior, introduced a bill to accept the constitution of the recently reorganized Big 10 Student Body President's Council.

The second bill requested amending the elections ordinance of the student government's elections committee. The bill asked to strike out of the clause providing that two of the three members of the reviewing board be selected from AWS and the Men's Union. These members were to be appointed when they were seniors or third term juniors.

No discussion was held concerning these bills. Diane Brown, speaker, stated that these bills would be referred to the appropriate committees to study. They will be voted on at the next congress meeting.

In his executive report, Bill Mansfield, president, related the business of the Big 10 Student Body Presidents meeting held here last weekend.

Mansfield explained that the new constitution up for approval will not be amended. If a school disapproves of the document, they will not be a member of the council.

University of Indiana was given complete charge of the Big 10 Queen contest this year. This will be a group sanctioned contest but Indiana will be responsible for arranging the contest and the queen's activities. Each year one of the 10 schools will be designated by the council to take charge of this contest, pointed out Mansfield.

If Michigan is beaten Saturday and MSU is voted to go to the Rose Bowl, a rally will be staged, said Mansfield.

Suggestions to eliminate the concession in Berkeley were reported by Barry Grant, Detroit junior. He also suggested this situation was recommended.

The 35-minute meeting concluded with a motion to cancel next week's meeting due to Thanksgiving vacation. The next congress meeting, the last one of the term, is scheduled for November 30.

MSU Staff Art Exhibit To Open

The works of five MSU top staff artists are featured in the second staff art exhibit opening this weekend in the Union Gallery. Visiting hours for the public are 8 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Two painters, a sculptor, a ceramist and a printmaker have combined their talents to form a show which offers rich opportunity for comparative study and for tracing the trend of contemporary art through different creative pursuits.

Ralph Henriksen, associate professor of art, will present works with a contemporary flavor.

Allan Leeper, assistant professor of art, who recently returned to the department this term from a sabbatical leave spent in study, writing and painting is showing several canvases. Leeper was also represented in a recent exhibition of drawings in the Artist's Gallery, New York City. In the present show this artist features work in the abstract field.

James McConnell, assistant professor of art, has exhibited abroad and earned wide reputation through traveling exhibitions of his work with the National Geographic Society of New York City. His works in this show tend to carry amusing and highly sophisticated commentary on everyday life.

Information Exchange Sought for Atomic Energy

By GENE RITZINGER
State News Night Editor

Topics bearing international implications moved domestic educational issues into the background Wednesday at the second general session of the Assn. of Land-Grant Colleges and Universities.

Solar Heat Advances Outlined

Bacon and eggs being cooked by an outfit costing $5 and using solar heat for use in tropical countries and other sunny lands were shown on slides to engineering deans and others from the nation's land-grant colleges and universities Tuesday by Associate Director W. R. Marshall, Jr. of the Wisconsin Engineering Experiment Station.

Industrial application in the United States is not contemplated at this time, Marshall explained. His talk was a part of a symposium on the use of solar energy to bring the engineering of fields up to date on work in this relatively new field of knowledge.

G. H. Hickox, of the National Science Foundation, Washington, D.C., reviewed the data on various phases of solar energy investigations, including some tests made on pumps and evaporation of salt from sea water.

Much thought has been given to the production of solar stills for the production of fresh water in quantities varying from a few pints a day to maintain the occupants of a life raft in the large supplies of irrigation water needed for the arid lands of the southwest. Some success has been obtained, but thus far the cost of production of fresh water from salt water is too high to be economical," said Hickox.

Commenting on solar heat for house heating purposes, Hickox said, "It seems entirely possible to utilize the heat from the sun during the daytime to heat the house comfortably over the entire 24 hour period.

The construction of such houses would involve the design of efficient heat collecting areas, storage reservoirs and heat circulating systems, possibly combined with a cooling system."

He pointed out, however, that such a system hardly seemed practicable north of the 40th parallel and would be most useful in remote areas where fuel is scarce and costly. He said cooking and baking by solar energy in certain areas is feasible.

'New' Spartan Format Set

Don Hadden, new editor of the Spartan Magazine since November 8, has appointed four new associate editors.

Participation in writing for the magazine will be open to persons all over the campus. Previously individual editors were assigned to the different sections.

Both feature and fiction writers and cartoonists are needed.

Other changes in the Spartan will take place in general layout, format and typesetting. More feature articles will be carried, including traditional sections such as Kieptomania.

Another speaker, William L. Batti, diplomat and industrialist, gave the land-grant system of education a verbal pat on the back but warned the educators they must share their knowledge with undeveloped areas of the world.

Batti, created the land-grant system of education as responsible for the basic difference between life in the U.S. and life in the rest of the world.

He said Americans enjoy the highest living standards in the world because the land-grant system has given our nation the greatest extent of scientific knowledge and the greatest ability to use that knowledge.

"What would have happened to our nation without the land-grant schools to educate people of all the classes?" he asked.

The principal value of land-grant schools is the quantity of education rather than the quality—although quality has not been sacrificed, Batti maintained. He said land-grant schools have given American youth scientific knowledge of agriculture and industry.

But he noted undeveloped areas of the world are fertile fields for the spread of Communism, and said the U.S. must continue to make its know-how available. "We must help these people in undeveloped areas to enjoy more of the better things of life," he said.

Little probability that the Soviet system and society would collapse from within but a likelihood that the current policy of good will toward the outside world reflects a new liberalization of the Soviet regime was expressed by editorial writer Lauren Soth of the Des Moines, Iowa, "Register and Tribune."

Seat Risers Needed In Rear of Aud

To the Editor: A situation has recently arisen on campus that whole student body should take interest in. It is the precarious seating situation at the Lecture-Concert series.

All students who have attended a concert and have had to sit in the rear part of the Aud recognize that it is made uncomfortable for prospective How...

As it is now, some people sitting back in the Aud get so disgusted that some leave during the performance, thus causing an inconvenience to the rest of the audience. You can't blame these people for leaving.

Others sitting in the back part are so perturbed that they never go back to another Lecture-Concert event.

The cost of the new riser is very minimal compared to the satisfaction students would get by being able to go to a concert and actually enjoy the performance.

The price can also be considered small considering the number of years the risers would be in use.

Morals of Spartan Coeds Found Seriously Lacking

To the Editor: What happened to the morals of American womenhood? Since arriving at MSU three years ago I have been unable to find a girl who can enjoy and appreciate the simple pleasures of life.

From my own experience and those of my friends, I have found that the majority of Michigan State coeds have a mean interest in alcohol and sex in various forms and degrees. The perfect evening for our coeds seems to be going to a six pack or two with their dates in a banked car in some desolate area in the university's environs and at the same time carrying on a lively, raucous session.

Their ethical tastes are an appreciation of the status...

technique. Their culture development seems limited to the telling of off color jokes and the singing of beer-drinking songs. The coed's social pressure is determined not by whom she dates but how many and how much she is able to consume.

Any girl who comes close to achieving a high academic standing or a genuine ability to appreciate the true arts is termed a square or called out of it. Does the girl exist at MSU who is able to enjoy an evening with a date at one of the Lecture-Concert series programs or perhaps in a simple stroll engaged in conversation above the intellectual level of juveniles? I have yet to meet her.

Iowa, Illinois Challengers

MSU Harriers Favored in Big 10

After narrowly losing the IC4A meet Monday the Michigan State cross country team will enter the Big 10 title meet Friday as the favorite.

Placed by IC4A champion Henry Kennedy and Capt. Selwyn Jones the harriers could possibly make a rout of the meet.

The conference schools that are expected to give the harriers the most trouble are Iowa and Illinois. Other schools that are expected to enter teams are Minnesota, Ohio State, Indiana and Wisconsin.

Purdue, Northwestern and Michigan, the defending champion, do not have cross country teams.

The Iowa Hawkeyes will be led by two outstanding entries in Deacon Jones and Ted Wheeler. The Hawks have swept all their dual meets this season but their test of strength will come Friday.

Illinois will have a team that is an unknown quantity because they have had only meet this year, a dual meet out of Wisconsin. While Illinois has had only one meet Michigan State has had six.

Pacing the Illini will be Swedish junior Karl Jonsson, Tom Luker and Vern Scheuring.

Ohio State will enter a team that has four good runners in Bob Coldren, Bill Blackburn, Guy Beretch and Lloyd Bartel.

Red Wings Rally To Tie Rangers

NEW YORK (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings swept from behind three times tonight to tie the New York Rangers 3-3 in a hard-fought National Hockey League game at Madison Square Garden.

In their only meet against Big 10 opposition the Bucks were easily beaten by the Spartans.

The same weakness exists in all the above teams—the lack of a good fifth man. The same weakness that cost Michigan State the IC4A title. If one of those teams could get a fifth man they could upset the highly-touted Spartans.

The other teams, Indiana, Minnesota and Wisconsin have mainly sophomore teams and are in the rebuilding stages.

In the battle for individual honors Michigan State has four men capable of finishing in the number one spot.

Deacon Jones and Wheeler are runners that could break up the Spartans combination. Both have run good times this season but far off the marks posted by MSU's dual.

Indiana's Jim Lambert was the individual winner while Coldren was second and Denslow third.

Spieser Beats Young on TKO

CHICAGO (AP)—Chuck Spieser of Detroit blasted veteran Paddy Young of New York to the floor four times before Referee Frank Gilmer stopped the scheduled 10-round Wednesday night at 2:45 of the second round.

Spieser, 26, outweighing his shorter opponent 171 pounds to 166, hammered the 27-year-old Young with a left hook and sizing right in the first round.

All-American Candidates
3 Spartans Honored by AP

Earl Morrill, Capt. Buck Hornung and Norm Masters have placed high on the list of All-American candidates picked by the Midwest board of the Association today.

Morrill, who has been masterful this season in directing the Spartans to a 7-1 record, appears in the best position of the trio for national recognition.

It is hard to conceive of any one else being named as the best collegiate quarterback. The other contenders are Notre Dame's Pat Hornung, Purdue's Len Dawson and George Welsh of Navy.

Of the three Morrill has completed five of nine passes good for 101 yards. On six rushes he gained 30 yards and scored one touchdown. He punted twice with a 44 yard average and his signal calling was beyond reproach.

In the Purdue game Morrill snatched a fumble from the back and sped 90 yards for State's first touchdown to break the game open. He completed four of 10 passes for 77 yards.

On a comparative basis Morrill bested Hornung and Hornung proved much the superior of Navy's Welsh when the Irish swamped the Middles 21-7.

The AP board lists Norm Masters, Jim Parker, Ohio State guard, Cal Jones, Iowa star and Pat Bisceglia, Notre Dame tackle as potential All-Americans.

Nystrom and Masters have played an immeasurable part in State's quick return to national prominence. There is seldom a tackle made when one or the other is not in on it.

Spartan Coach Duffy Daugherty, an ex-line coach, said Nystrom is the best guard I've ever had play for me. He's a terrifically hard worker and hustler and has been making key blocks and tackles all season.

The national honors would be fitting recognition not only of the ability of the players themselves but the coaching staff as well.

Greens Post 12-0 Win In Frosh Squad Battle

Final Tilt Scheduled For Monday

Johnson Heads Greens With TD

Braving the cold and severe winds, about 200 fans watched the Green squad score a 12-0 victory over the White team in Wednesday's freshman intra-squad game.

The scrimmage was moved from the Field to Old College Field to preserve the stadium turf for Saturday's MSU-Marquette game.

Because of the site change and weather-limited play, the Green-White freshman game was played Monday in Merkin Stadium at 3:30 p.m.

During the first quarter of play, defensive teams of both squads shone, with neither team able to score. Mark Tate, Ed Gray and Francis O'Brien led the Green forward wall.

In the second quarter the hard-driving Green line led by Tate, converted a fumble on their own side of the line. A thirty-yard pass from quarterback Bill Post to fullback Rogers put the White 20.

After using running plays to put the White on the three, Art Johnson led a short-off from the quarters and punched through the White line to the goal line of the first down.

Opening the second half Johnson received the kick off and returned the ball to the White 45-yard line, a return of 10 yards. The White defensive forces held the offensive forces and forced the Green to punt.

The third quarter resembled the second quarter, with the defense holding the offense.

The other score of the game came early in the fourth quarter as Jerry Young, halfback on the White squad, attempting a punt, was tackled and fumbled into the end zone.

Daugherty Signed As North Coach In Shrine Game

MIAMI Fla. (AP) — Wally Daugherty, coach of the University of Virginia, was named Wednesday as coach of the South team of the Shrine game college all-stars football game to be played here Dec. 10 at the Orange Bowl.

Daugherty of Michigan State has been signed to coach the North team but another coach may have to be named if Michigan State should get a bowl bid.

Michigan State University's football stadium has an added claim to fame. It is the only grid stadium in the nation which has its own battle-ship.

Rather 8, Urey Advance To IM Grid Semi-Finals

By PETE WALTERS

Rather 8 and Urey 8 House advanced to the semi-finals of the all-university intramural football championship by virtue of wins over Butterfield 5 and Bryan 1 in Wednesday evening contests.

Although Butterfield's offense was better than the defense, Rather 8 won the game when Rather 8 scored a touchdown in the first quarter. The game was a defensive struggle, with both teams unable to score.

Urey 8 scored all four touchdowns in the first quarter. The game was a defensive struggle, with both teams unable to score.

Moments later, Dave Anderson passed to Dale Ross from the 10 yard line and Ross flipped back to Anderson for the score. Anderson then hit Dan Harrington for the extra point.

In the second quarter, Bryan 1 scored a touchdown in the first quarter. The game was a defensive struggle, with both teams unable to score.

The all-time two touchdowns were scored by Anderson and Ross in the game, and the game was a defensive struggle, with both teams unable to score.

Improvement Big Word At Hockey Practice

Improvement is the big word floating around the ice arena every Monday through Friday at hockey practice. According to hockey coach Amo Bessone, the team is steadily improving with each practice session.

Campbell Sets New Jet Mark

Only one other man has exceeded 200 m.p.h. on water. That was England's John Cobb, killed when his jet hydroplane disintegrated at 204 m.p.h. in 1932.

The record before Campbell was held by the other Stanley Sayres, who set the record at 193 m.p.h. in 1932. The dagger son of the late British speed king, Sir Malcolm, died in 1952.

LAST TIMES TODAY: Humphrey Bogart, Audrey Hepburn, William Holden in "SABRINA" shown 2:40 - 6:20 - 10:00. Burt Lancaster and Shirley Booth in "COME BACK, LITTLE SIEBA" 12:55 - 4:35 - 8:20.
