Pot Was Boiling Over Until UN Put the Lid On

It's all quiet on the Gaza strip now. The whine of rifle bullets and the crash of mortars has stopped, for the first time in many months.

The warring nations of Egypt and Israel have agreed to a cease-fire along their war-ravaged frontier.

Credit for the cease-fire, the first hopeful step toward easing the conflict in the Middle East, must go to the United Nations and its secretary-general, Dag Hammarskjöld.

Hammarskjöld was sent to the Middle East two weeks ago, on a mandate from the UN Security Council, to effect a truce in the area. The resolution sending him was sponsored by the United States and the other Western powers.

He arrived at a moment when the situation was particularly tense. A series of invasions and repulsions, of reprisals and counter-reprisals, had culminated with the Israeli shelling of the Egyptian city of Gaza.

Fifty-five persons lost their lives in the shelling. A full-scale war between Israel and the Arab states seemed more likely than ever.

Within 24 hours after his arrival in the Middle East, Hammarskjöld had secured a temporary halt in the fighting. He succeeded in getting Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser and Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion to agree to honor the 1949 armistice clause which prohibits any "warlike acts" between the two countries.

Hammarskjöld's visit also strengthened the authority of the permanent UN Truce Commission in patrolling the border and reporting violations of the truce agreement.

Now Hammarskjöld is on his way to Jordan and Syria, where he hopes to work out similar cease-fires between those Arab states and Israel. He has the even greater job of consolidating and making permanent the present gains.

It will not be easy. Already both sides have reported violations of the cease-fire at different locations on the Gaza strip.

The cease-fire does accomplish one thing, however. It provides the warring nations, and the rest of the world, with a "breather."

The time the cease-fire gives the Western nations may be enough to work on the roots of the trouble, such as the settlement of national boundaries and the Arab refugee problem.

The truce will also steal some thunder from the Russians, who have been making political hay from the conflict.

Since Russia is a member of the UN it is honor-bound to support the rest of the UN in working for Mid-Eastern peace. If it does not, its "new look" propaganda campaign will suffer severely.

Critics of the UN have often blamed it for never doing anything to lessen the conflict between the great powers of the East and West.

Gains in this area have been small, true, the ideological conflict between communism and Western democracy is too fundamental and far-reaching to be solved by truce commissions and speeches in the UN Assembly.

Where the UN can be most effective is in reducing tensions and promoting peace in smaller-scale conflicts like the Egypt-Israel feud, which might develop into a full-scale war.

By sponsoring Hammarskjöld's mission to the Middle East, the United States has shown its faith in the UN and what it can do in making a more peaceful world.

Coeds Protest, But AWS Was Right

The recent six-day run of the Ice Capades has caused a murmur of protests among many coeds. The reason—10-plus permissions were denied by the AWS Judiciary.

Coeds were reluctant to use a late per for the event. Many reasoned that it was an all-university function and therefore deserving of the usual 10-plus permission.

If the show was an all-university function, coeds would have had every right to voice objections to the AWS ruling. But it wasn't.

Publicity directed toward the student body and the fact that the show was staged on the ice of Demonstration Hall is what led many coeds—and their boy friends—to assume the show was university-sponsored.

Actually, the Ice Capades directors requested the permission of the university to rent the arena. The university agreed and received rent based on attendance. In short, the show was not brought here for the benefit of students alone. It was merely located here and directed at the entire Lansing area.

The "Star Parade of 1956," to be presented in the Aud tonight, is a good example of the type of show that rates a 10-plus.

It rates because it is brought here by the university, and is sponsored via the Lecture-Concert program for the benefit of students.

Another type of program rating a 10-plus is an all-university student sponsored function.

An example is the Activities Carnival. Judged by the standard used in determining a 10-plus—that the event must be university-sponsored—AWS was entirely correct in refusing 10-plus permissions for the Ice Capades.

The Fatal Error--Two Views

To the Editor:

Your editorial on the Parris Island tragedy (State News, April 17) was most timely and very well taken by all the veterans I've spoken to about it.

I'd like to know if this Mayor Hubbard has ever been in the service of our country. Certainly he never had the initiative to join the Marine Corps, or any other branch for that matter.

People like Hubbard and Paul Harvey are obviously of little intelligence when they speak in the manner you describe. They just don't know what they are talking about. There is only one way to learn the value of the training at Parris Island, and that is to join the Marine Corps and experience this training.

I'm certain the men who survived the tragedy would much rather return to SSGT. McKee's command than to the command of a Harvey or a Hubbard. Did the Marines who captured two Jims include McKee's? Sure, McKee made a fatal error, but the Marine Corps' purpose is not to produce Camp Fire Girls, but tough, combat-ready fighters who have been, and will continue to be, pillars of strength in our democracy.

The Marine Corps has the greatest record of any branch of its type in the world, and Hubbard and Harvey show their ignorance when they question the word of the Commandant. These men are more unsuited for their positions than SSGT McKee is for his.

As for recruiting in Dearborn, Hubbard need not worry about the Marines. They wouldn't take the dear little boys of Dearborn away from their Mamas if they are the type who would tolerate, much less elect a baby like Hubbard for mayor.

We are proud of our record and will bare it. Will Hubbard and Harvey?

EDITOR'S NOTE: Sgt. Jenkins is, obviously, a little hard on Mayor Hubbard. We almost hate to tell him, but according to the Associated Press, Hubbard was once a Marine Corps officer.

S'News Duped?

To the Editor:

I read the editorial in your paper about the death of the six Marines. It makes me sick to realize that thousands of people read that article and that many of them might have unthinkingly swallowed its garbled logic. I never before realized that a college student could be so completely duped by propaganda.

At one point the article states: "Hasty and erroneous judgments and decisions and generalizations about the training programs of the military services should be avoided." In another place it reads: "Military training is tough. It has to be. It prepares men for war, not for the Boy Scouts."

THIS IS THE HASTIEST AND MOST ERRONEOUS GENERALIZATION I HAVE EVER SEEN!

Of course military training has to be tough. But well-run tough training is one thing. Military training in the United States is something entirely different.

Men are supposed to be built up to combat readiness. Instead they are often made into physical wrecks. Sure it's a good idea to let them know how rough combat is, but it is overdone so greatly that basic training is actually tougher than combat. And much of the time that could be spent on valuable training is taken up by an avalanche of procedural details and red tape that would surpass the belief of anyone who has had no connection with the armed forces.

I agree with the author of the aforementioned editorial that the Parris Island incident alone is no reason for wholesale changes. But that incident does not stand alone.

Thousands of other examples of military stupidity could be given, but most of them did not have fatal results. And it might be a very good idea for mothers and other taxpayers to find out more about military training since so many people are obviously ignorant on the subject.

Military training does not have to be "watered down," but it should be changed to make men ready for the battlefield instead of the hospital.

On Ernie Pyle...

To the Editor:

It was heart-warming indeed to read the editorial in a recent issue of the State News about the late Ernie Pyle.

Heart-warming because a tribute to a great newspaperman came from a newspaper. Heart-warming also because it proved that America has not forgotten a man whose courage in the line of duty spoke forth for American freedom as much as that of any infamyman.

Today (April 18) is another anniversary in American history. Some many years ago another American braved an internal foe to bring warning of an impending attack on freedom.

Would that more Americans today would have such courage of conviction and individuality of purpose as Ernie Pyle and Paul Revere.

Coach Predicts Delany Will Run 3:55 Mile

NEW YORK (AP) — The man who has coached unbeaten miler Ron Delany along a path which could lead to eventual greatness flatly predicted Sunday that the Dublin-born runner would go as low as 3:55 for the distance. John Landy of Australia holds the present world record for the mile of 3:58.

"I think a runner like Delany, only 26 years old, has been running the mile seriously for only a year and won't reach his peak until he's 24."

Furthermore, Elliot revealed, Delany would not race against Landy when the Australian runs in California next month.

"I had an invitation only the other day," said Elliot, "but had to turn it down because we have commitments of our own. I think Ron will give Landy a race of it, though. It's not as strong as Landy, nor as old, but inherently he's faster."

The gangling Irishman ran a 4:1 quarter on the Villanova mile relay team Saturday in the Queen-tona relay. Charlie Jenkins ran the anchor to give Villanova the victory in 3:19.

Delany also ran a 4:09.5 mile in anchoring Villanova to a 17:32.1 victory in the four-mile relay.

Tigers Split With Tribe

CLEVELAND (AP) — Bob Lemon pitched the Cleveland Indians to a 5-2 victory over the Detroit Tigers in the second game of a doubleheader before 12,980 fans at Municipal Stadium Sunday after the Tigers broke out with a rash of four home runs in winning the opener, 6-4.

The Tigers scored a run on two hits and an error in the first inning of the big test, but Lemon, pitching his first complete game since last May 30, bunched them after that until Ray Boone hit a home run into the left field stands in the ninth.

Al Kaline hit two home runs and pinch hitter Wayne Belardi and Harvey Kuenn hit one apiece as the Tigers erased a four-run deficit against Bob Feller and then pinned the defeat on Ray Narleski.

Lemon was backed by four double plays and seven hits, including a homer in the first inning by Vic Wertz, in posting his first victory of the season. He led the season opener to the White Sox in Chicago.

Wertz' homer gave the Indians two runs off Dick Marlowe and they added two more in the fourth on singles by Jim Hegan, Jim Busby and Bob Avila. They scored again in the sixth off Pete Wojty.

Orioles, Senators Split

BALTIMORE (AP) — Cuban right-hander Camilo Pascual gave the Washington Senators a split decision in a doubleheader with the Baltimore Orioles Sunday, pitching a four-hit victory in the first game while striking out nine.

Baltimore won the first game 7-3 before 21,797 as rookie Benesana was credited with his first major league win.

Benesana made a shaky debut giving up three runs in the first on three walks, an infield single and a fielder's choice.

From then until he was relieved in the seventh inning, the rookie gave up only five more hits and three more walks. Veterans Hank Dorish and George Zaverucha pitched.

PHI BETA KAPPA, I LOVE YOU!

Once there was a Chi Omega named Alfreda Peetate who was beautiful and well-formed and wore clothes of the most tasteful cut and smoked the gentlest of all cigarettes — Philip Morris, of course! — and had, in addition to these admirable qualities, a brain so massive and retentive that she used to read the Britannica just for kicks.

Alfreda had one great ambition: to be elected to Phi Beta Kappa. Consequently she was all a-dither when she heard a rumor one night that a man from the Phi Beta Kappa selection board was coming over to the Chi Omega house to interview her. Being all a-dither, Alfreda sat down and lit a Philip Morris, as she always did when she was all a-dither, for gentle Philip Morris, as wise Alfreda knew, is comfort to the troubled, balm to the aching, and a haven to the vexed. But gentle Philip Morris, as Alfreda, with her mighty intellect, was well aware, is not only a cigarette for times of stress and strain, but also the perfect accompaniment to happiness and light. For gentle Philip Morris is sunny and cheery and jolly and merry and yummy! All this Alfreda, with her giant cerebrum, knew.

By and by there came a loud, masculine knock on the door, and Alfreda, composing herself, went to answer it. "Won't you come in?" she said to the man outside. "I am Alfreda Peetate."

"And I am Ed Fester," said the man, entering with a friendly smile. Ed had found that a friendly smile was a great asset in the Venetian blind game, which happened to be Ed's game. He had nothing to do with Phi Beta Kappa; he had come over to see about a new blind for the house mother's bedroom. But, of course, Alfreda knew nothing of this.

"Do sit down," said Alfreda.

"Thanks, hey," said Ed. "But I can't stay long."

"Of course," said Alfreda and proceeded without delay to demonstrate how wide and comprehensive was her learning. "Dear," she said, "have no gall bladders."

"Is that so?" said Ed, who until this moment had believed deer had gall bladders.

"Ben Jonson," said Alfreda, "was buried in a sitting position."

"Humm," said Ed.

"Fortnight" is a contraction of "fourteen nights," said Alfreda.

"What do you know?" said Ed.

"Many people think it is forbidden to wash an American flag," said Alfreda. "That is not true. It is perfectly proper to wash an American flag."

"Learn something every day," said Ed.

"The smallest fish in the world," said Alfreda, "is the Panda Pygma, which is under a half inch when full grown."

"How come they buried that Jonson sitting up?" said Ed.

"It's terribly crowded in Westminster Abbey," said Alfreda.

"Oh," said Ed.

"Ann Boleyn had six fingers on her left hand," said Alfreda.

"Heavens to Betsy!" said Ed.

"Are there any questions you'd care to ask me?" said Alfreda.

"Just one," said Ed. "How big is your house mother's window?"

A tear ran down Alfreda's cheek. "Well, that's the way it goes," she sighed. "You work and slave and study and then they catch you on a trick question!... Oh, well, that's life, I guess."

Fortiori and bereft, she rose and shambled to her bed and fell upon it and wept for several days. But finally she pulled herself together, and today she is with Byrd in the Antarctic.

State Sweeps Double Header From Wayne Nine, 17-4; 8-2

Bird Slams 2 Homers In Twin Win

Palamara Beamed; Suffers Concussion

By JERRY ROBBINS
Michigan State's baseball squad continued to dominate Wayne University on the diamond as the Spartans took both ends of a twin bill, Saturday 17-4 and 8-2.

The State nine fed off on Wayne hurler Ed Carr in the opening inning of the first game. After Frank Palamara went down swinging Earl Morrill singled sharply to left.

At Luce also doubled to right with Morrill and Sack scoring runs.

Ray Collard beat out an infield hit to short and Frank Franchi reached first on a walk.

After Rocco Davis was safe at first on shortstop Ron Hertenstein's error Bob Bird promptly hit a long drive over the right field fence for a three-run homer.

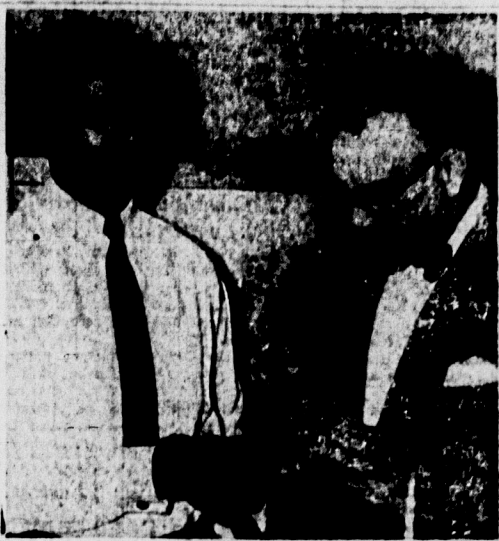

When the inning ended State had sent 10 batters to the plate and collected six runs on six hits.

Ken Goffrey started on the hill for State. The big right-hander pitched the first three innings and allowed only one run and two hits, struck out three and walked none.

The winning pitcher was Bill Mills who worked the middle three frames and allowed only one run and one hit.

Collard led the Spartans in the batting department.

The big center fielder picked up two singles, a double and a triple in four attempts.

Luce contributed two doubles and a single in four appearances and Bird picked up a one base blow in addition to his round tripper.

In the seven-inning nightcap, the Spartans found the Tartars tougher to handle.

Wayne pitcher, Jack Lord controlled the eager Statesmen until the third inning.

Palamara, Morrill, Sack and Luce picked up successive singles for two runs and a sacrifice fly by Collard produced State's third run of the inning which proved to be enough for the win.

Once again in the second game Bird found the Wayne pitching to his liking.

Welterweights Provide Ring Action This Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The welterweight division provides most of the big time action in boxing this week with ex-champions Tony DeMarco and Kid Gavilan, Isaac Logart and Joe Miceli among the 147-pounders slated to toss leather.

Logart, third ranking welterweight contender, and Miceli, ranked ninth, collide in what figures to be a fast punching battle at the War Memorial Auditorium, Syracuse, N.Y., Friday night NBC-TV, 8 p.m. EST.

DeMarco, who is now rated the No. 2 contender, takes on veteran Al Pinsky, onetime high ranking lightweight, in a non-TV 10-rounder at the Boston Garden Saturday night.

Gavilan gets a return crack at England's undefeated Peter Warrman in a 10-rounder at London's Earl's Court Arena Tuesday night. The young Briton won a controversial decision over the ex-champ in London Feb. 7.

The unpopular verdict kicked up such a furore that the British Board of Boxing Control held a hearing and then revoked the decision of Ben Green, 71-year old referee.

A couple of free-swinging young contenders, Tex Gonzalez and Gene Porter, will clash in another network TV bout DuMont 8 p.m. EST at New York's St. Nicholas Arena Monday night. The records: Porter 15-3-3, six

Gridders Hold 2nd Scrimmage

Varsity Impressive In Scoring 8 Times

By JIM HYPFA

A lot of spots are still open in what Coach Duffy Daugherty told his team following their second Saturday afternoon scrimmage session and their first at Macklin Stadium this spring.

Among the spots that are open for the annual Green-White football game, which terminates spring practice on May 5th, is the need of a two-way fullback, one who is equally adept on defense as he is on offense.

During the afternoon scrimmage, white jerseyed teams representing the varsity rolled to eight touchdowns while holding their green shirted opponents scoreless.

The starting eleven had Pat Wilson, Walt Kowalczyk, Don Gilbert and Clarence Peaks in the backfield and Dave Kaiser, Tony Kolodziej, Les Rutledge, Pat Burke, Cliff LeRose, Dan Currie and Captain John Matko in the line.

The only change in the starting eleven was the substitution of Tony Kolodziej at left end in place of Bob Jewett.

Halfback Clarence Peaks was the big run for the white, breaking away for touchdown runs of 64 and 45 yards and passing 21 yards to Dave Kaiser for another score. Sophomore Johnson also tipped off a 45 yard touchdown against Ohio State Friday.

Although the greens were unable to score against the varsity throughout the scrimmage, they were able to gain yardage which left the white squads open to criticism from Coach Daugherty and his staff.

No serious injuries were the result of Saturday's scrimmage. Among those who reported to Dr. James Feurig, team physician, were sophomores Don Wright with a groin strain, Blanche Martin with a sprained ankle, Bob Berich with a shin bruise and Currie, junior guard, with a ruptured blood vessel in his right leg.

Cold Weather Hurts Golfers In U of M Meet

By FRED MERRILL

The Michigan State Golf team was defeated by the University of Michigan, 24-14, at Ann Arbor Saturday.

The meet was a rough one for both teams as they tried to play summer golf in freezing cold and a gale wind.

Play was divided into two parts with best ball play in the morning and medalist singles in the afternoon.

Best ball competition is doubles play with a single score on each hole only the lowest score of the two men on a team is counted.

Arlin Dell and Otto Schutel shot a 72 for the lowest best ball game but Michigan won the team total 8-4.

The Wolverines captured the afternoon medalist singles 16-8.

Steve Uzelac of Michigan shot the best singles game with a 73. Due to the bad golfing conditions he was the only man on both teams who broke 80.

The best man in the singles for the Spartans was Bob Nodus with an 80.

The other five men who made up the team were Ken Rutkowski, Jim Sullivan, George Wakulsky, Ron Laus, and Dave Belfiore.

The Squad's next match will be at home on Saturday, April 28, against the University of Detroit.

Thinclads Run Well at OSU

By HAL BATEMAN

State News-Sports Editor

Although they failed to take any first places, Michigan State's trackmen posted impressive early season times at the Ohio State Relays at Columbus Saturday.

Ed Bratham, the Big 10 indoor sprint champion, was fourth in the 100-yard dash with a 19.5 effort, the best of his career.

The race was won by Thane Baker, former star at Kansas State, in 19.3 but will not count as a record attempt because of the wind.

Bratham's effort ties the varsity record set in 1939 by E. Wilbur Greer, but will not count because it wasn't a winning effort. Capt. Joe Savoldi, the Big 10 indoor high hurdles champion, ran the fastest time of his career in the 120-yard high hurdles but finished second to Olympic champion Harrison Dillard.

Savoldi's time was a second place 14.1 while Dillard won the event in 14 flat.

Freshman Ford Kennedy, running unattached, was second in the mile and a half run. Ron Wallingford, Michigan's Big 10 indoor two mile champion, won the event.

Michigan State took another second when the distance medley team of Ken Datoe, Gay Denslow, Selwyn Jones and Henry Kennedy finished second behind Notre Dame.

The Spartans were clocked in 10:27 while Notre Dame's winning time was 10:21.5.

Savoldi broke the varsity discus record with a heave that exceeded 133 feet. His effort was good for third. The old record of 149' 1" was set in 1949 by Carl Miller.

The two mile relay team of Ron Wheeler, Denslow, Jones and Kennedy finished third. Phil Anderson, the fabulous Arnie Sowell, won the event with Michigan second.

The 480-yard shuttles hurdles team was third in a race won by the Air Force Olympic training team. Penn State was second.

The team was composed of Savoldi, Lean, Ray Eggleston and Doug McFetters.

Head track coach Karl Schlade-mann used the meet mainly as a tryout for the Drake Relays this Friday and Saturday at Des Moines, Iowa.

Plans Started For Activities Carnival

Petitions for committee positions on the 1956 Activities Carnival may be picked up at the Union Desk today through Wednesday.

The Activities Carnival, under the co-chairmanship of Carolyn Shattuck, Birmingham sophomore, and Ellen Haggerty, Detroit junior, will be held on Oct. 4.

The six committees open to students are publicity, programs, carnival theme, organization, correspondence and finance. Persons petitioning are urged to add suggestions to their petitions.

Almost complete reorganization is planned for the Activities Carnival this year. Stress will be on promoting student interest by adding more color to carnival booths.

Booths participating in the carnival will be used to use action, by means of demonstrations and slides, to add to the interest of their booths. Participation by persons in attendance has also been suggested as a way to promote interest.

Several new features will be used in this year's carnival. It will be built around a theme, which will be carried out in programs, publicity and by booths if they desire to use it.

Competitions between organizations will be promoted and a prize will be given for the booth showing the greatest degree of ingenuity.

Further organization of the carnival awaits the formation of committees after petitions have been turned in.

DAVID BEN-GURION tensions ease

Mid-East

Nevertheless, he said, Gen. Burtis had returned "empty-handed" from Cairo without any promise from Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser that "the armistice agreement would be fully observed."

Even Hammarskjold's visit to Cairo last January, failed to get from Nasser any undertaking for a cease-fire, Ben-Gurion said.

On his current mission Hammarskjold has obtained unconditional pledges from both Israel and Egypt to a cease-fire. As a result the tension has lessened.

Under the charter these materials would have to be stored in relatively small amounts and at widely separated places so that there would be no concentration of large amounts in any one country or region.

Thus the establishment of a network of heavily guarded storage vaults would be made mandatory by the basic law setting up the operation.

In addition, the agency would have to maintain laboratories at key points all over the world, staffed with scientists to test the nuclear fuels and to promote expanding peaceful uses for atomic energy.

Housing and administration facilities would have to be provided for many hundreds and eventually many thousands of men and women working for the agency.

One of the great controversies at the conference which produced the charter was over the size of the agency's board of directors. At the insistence of countries like India the atomic powers ally agreed to a board with members, each country having equal vote.

On the surface this agreement means that in deciding what to do with the resources of the agency, India, Bolivia, Czechoslovakia, for example, would have a voice equal to that of the United States, Britain or Russia.

The interests of the atomic powers are protected, however, by the fundamental fact that they would not be compelled to contribute any nuclear material to the agency. The contribution would be voluntary.

Multibillion Dollar Project

Vast Atom Agency Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. officials said Sunday the proposed new atom-for-peace agency could quickly become a multibillion-dollar organization, with a vast chain of storage centers and laboratories circling the world.

The United States, Russia and 10 other countries agreed Wednesday on the wording of the basic charter for an agency.

The text is scheduled to be made public next Wednesday, but the 24 pages of dry, legalistic language will not begin to tell the dramatic possibilities of the unprecedented organization which it now seems certain will be set up next year.

The charter provides, for instance, that the agency will have deposits for storing the valuable supplies of uranium, plutonium, thorium and other atomic materials contributed to it primarily by the United States, Britain and Russia.

Under the charter these materials would have to be stored in relatively small amounts and at widely separated places so that there would be no concentration of large amounts in any one country or region.

Thus the establishment of a network of heavily guarded storage vaults would be made mandatory by the basic law setting up the operation.

In addition, the agency would have to maintain laboratories at key points all over the world, staffed with scientists to test the nuclear fuels and to promote expanding peaceful uses for atomic energy.

Decision Branded Invasion

Southern Leaders Claim State Rights

Southern leaders of the U. S. Supreme Court outlawing segregation bases Monday for "unwarranted state and municipal interference with a new step in federalism."

The new government officials said they were "legally possible" the new decision.

Montgomery, Ala., announced that the city would not comply with the new ruling, which is the nearly unanimous decision of the Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court has been in session in California since the same principle was applied by the Supreme Court in the case of Plessy vs. Ferguson, which upheld segregation.

Southern leaders are attending the National Association of Manufacturers convention in Washington, D. C., where they are expected to urge the Supreme Court to overrule the Plessy decision.
