Adlai, Estes Head For Final Primary

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Adlai E. Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee will be laying their chances for the Democratic nomination on the line in the nation's final presidential primary in California June 5.

Stevenson, the 1952 nominee, and Kefauver, who led the early convention balloting that year, meet head-on in the May 29 Florida primary as a sort of preliminary take-all battle in California.

Florida's 28 convention votes are inviting and in some ways indicative of Southern reaction to the candidates' stands on the explosive civil rights issue.

But in Florida the results might be inconclusive. Stevenson and Kefauver could, and probably will, divide the delegation. In California's sudden-death affair, the winner takes all 68 votes.

Stevenson and Kefauver are not too far apart on the issue of racial integration in the schools, which figures as more of a major campaign consideration in Florida than in California.

Few politicians think Stevenson could survive a California defeat, even if he carried off most of the delegates in Florida. On the other hand, many think he could come off second best to Kefauver in Florida and still remain in the thick of the fight for the nomination by winning California's concluding test.

Kefauver also needs California vitally if he is to go into the convention on a wave of popular support that might offset the obvious opposition to him by many of the party's leaders.

Coeds Really 'Swung-Out' in 1910

By MYRA McPHERSON

Seniors really did "swing out" of school in 1910. Senior men began the Swingout tradition that year when they pushed coeds in swings in front of their dormitory, now Morrill Hall.

Present day ceremonies are much more elaborate and a large group of seniors are expected to march past their various schools to Fairchild for the 1956 Senior Swingout farewell program, Tuesday, June 5.

Back in 1910, junior women stole senior caps and gowns on the night before Swingout. The ceremony became a senior class function in 1922 and that year

AUSG Lists Nominations For Officers

Becker, Gillette Seek Presidency

Nominations for Student Government president, Congress speaker, speaker pro tem and secretary were made and President Bill Mansfield submitted his final report at Wednesday night's Student Congress meeting.

Nominated for president were Bob Becker, Lansing junior and Don Gillette, Standish senior. Becker is a Lansing representative and Gillette is an East Lansing representative.

Marne Gleason, Royal Oak sophomore, and Roger Missimer, Reading sophomore, were nominated for speaker. Gleason is a representative from Phillips Hall and Missimer is an East Lansing representative.

Nominated for speaker pro tem were Tom Kinen, LaGrange, Ill., sophomore and Ben Whitehead, Detroit junior. Kamen is a Butterfield representative and Whitehead is a representative from Bryan.

Katie Doyle, Lansing sophomore, was nominated for secretary. She is a Lansing representative.

In his final report, Mansfield summarized the work accomplished by the various committees during the year praising each for the progress it had made.

A procedural resolution introduced by John Goodhand was defeated. The resolution asked that 10 or more representatives be permitted to review a bill in advance of its first presentation to Congress, thus letting it be considered and passed or rejected at that meeting.

Following the meeting a coffee hour was held at which time Congress members had a chance to talk to the candidates.

Candidates will present their platforms and answer questions at an open coffee hour in Old College Hall tonight at 8:30.

Election will be held May 31.

Civil Service Requests Hire of Branch Managers

The state Civil Service Commission has been asked to take over hiring of the state's 210 auto license branch managers—long a rich field of political patronage.

Sec'y of State James M. Hare and Sidney H. Wooner, deputy secretary of state, appeared before the state Civil Service Commission to make the recommendation. The commission said it would study the idea.

The branch managers now are appointed by the Secretary of State on the recommendation of county political committees and legislators. Traditionally, there is an almost complete turnover in the lists when the Secretary of State's office changes hands between political parties.

They marched to the Forest of Arden, now the lawn between the Union and the Music building. Swings were erected there and decorated with flowers. Today, only one swing symbolizing the Senior Swingout is placed in front of the Union each year.

Although caps and gowns do not have to be worn for Swingout, seniors are encouraged to order them in time for the ceremony. Tomorrow is the last day to order caps and gowns in the Union Book Store.

Prime beef with barbeque sauce, potato salad, baked beans, coffee, milk and ice cream are on the menu for the Agriculture Council Ox Roast to be held tonight at 5:30 in the field east of the livestock pavilion.

The meat was put into a pit three feet wide, three feet deep and 20 feet long to begin cooking Wednesday night.

The council has challenged the faculty to a softball game against the student all-star team following the meal. Dean of Agriculture Thomas K. Cowden and Dean of Students Tom King will act as umpires.

The score last year was 7-0 in favor of the faculty.

The game is open to anyone with or without a ticket for the meal. There are very few of the 800 tickets left, according to Gene White, East Lansing freshman, chairman of the Ox Roast.

Special parking near the pavilion will be provided for families with small children. Tractors with wagons will tour married housing before the Ox Roast to take people to the pavilion.

There will be wagon rides and games for the children. A square dance has been planned from 6:30 to 8.

In case of rain the meal will be held inside the pavilion.

Karl B. Schlabach, Benton Harbor junior, will serve as the official American steward when the U. S. Olympic team competes in Australia later this year.

Ike Expected To Sign Compromise

Provision Made For Soil Bank

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House passed the compromise farm bill on a 344-59 roll call vote Wednesday. The Senate approved the bill Tuesday.

The bill sets up a billion-dollar-a-year soil bank, since gives farmers other new benefits.

Now the bill goes to the White House for President Eisenhower's signature. He is expected to accept it as a substitute for farm legislation he vetoed April 16.

The President objected to the bill mainly because of its provisions for a return to high, rigid crop supports. The new bill does not contain these provisions.

Rep. Poage (D-Tex.), floor manager for the compromise legislation, urged it on the House as "not the second best farm bill we have had before us this year" but "probably the third or fourth best, but the only one which seems to have a chance to become law."

The compromise was hammered out Monday and Tuesday by a Senate-House Conference Committee working from two different versions of the legislation.

The soil bank program will get under way this year, but not on any substantial scale, since past spring crops have already been planted.

Congress refused Eisenhower's request for authority to advance farmers up to 500 million dollars this year for land they promise to put in the soil bank next year.

The bill provides for supporting oats, rye, barley and sorghums, the small feed grains, at 50 per cent of parity this year without any planting or marketing restrictions.

The bill provides an additional 500 million dollars to be used in helping dispose of farm products not now receiving direct price supports. The recent 100 million dollar emergency crop purchase program is an example of how the new money will be spent.

The secretary of agriculture is directed under the bill to sell up to five million bales of government-held cotton each year in world markets at competitive prices to help cut down the cotton surplus.

There is a two-price plan for rice in the bill, and provisions to maintain the present acreage allotments for rice and cotton crops eligible for price supports.

Host of Interpretations Cloud 'Amateur' Picture

"An amateur sportsman is one who engages in sport solely for the pleasure and physical, mental, or social benefits he derives therefrom and to whom sport is nothing more than an avocation."

That is the definition of "amateur" supplied by the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) of the U. S. in its Constitution.

Webster's dictionary says an amateur is "one who engages in a pursuit for pleasure and not as a business; a nonprofessional." It gives as the antonym of amateur: "professional; expert."

These are just two of the myriad of interpretations that cloud, clutter and confuse the "amateur" picture in America—if not the world.

The line between amateur and professional remains vague, despite many—in fact, too many—efforts to define it. Each administrative body has a concept of the limit beyond which its amateurs may not trespass and each sport maintains a theory on the subject.

What is an amateur to the MIAA is a pure professional to almost any other conference. The MIAA (Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association), the small college conference within Michigan, bars a "pro" from competition only in the sports in which he has crossed "the line."

Thus, a professional baseball player—whether a star or a bush league bench-warmer—may play MIAA football, basketball or any of the other conference sports.

In most other conferences—including the Big 10—the rule is "once a pro, always a pro."

The width of the concept varies greatly when taken sport by sport. The general rule is any pay, from playing, coaching or connections with manufacturing or publishing firms, is enough to make a player a pro.

However, an "amateur" ice hockey player may play three games with a pro team and or receive a regular pay check for playing—and still be an amateur. A pro of the caliber of Gordie Howe, Maurice Richard or Jean Beliveau may apply for reinstatement as an amateur after years of major league play—and get it. Some of the top amateur hockey players in the U. S. and Canada are former National Hockey League greats.

Tennis also stretches the definition. Collegiate tennis coaches are not pros because "they teach." A tennis player who gives a lesson is a pro if he is paid but remains an amateur if the student presents him with a gift.

An amateur tennis player cannot be on the advisory staff of a sporting goods company but he can be a "good will ambassador for such a concern."

In golf it is the Professional Golf Association which decides who the pros are. An amateur may play in the same tournament, even in the same foursome with a pro (this "guilt by association" makes such people as tennis players, trackmen or football players pros when they compete in an event with a pro). When the amateur decides he is good enough to compete for money, he applies to the PGA and they decide if he is as good as he thinks.

Semi-pro baseball and basketball allow amateur and pro players to play on the same team although only the pros get paid.

The discrepancies and elasticities go on and on, throughout administration and sports, varying even from player to player. Present concepts of amateur have grown archaic in the hustle and bustle of an economic-minded age.

While Wes Santee and dozens of UCLA football players sit and wonder why they are pros and why their contemporaries on tracks and gridirons the nation over aren't, the line grows more and more vague.

One theory for solving the problem is to remove all admission prices. With no money behind the event, the participants couldn't divide it up.

But sporting goods firms could, and would, continue to sponsor players, teams and leagues.

Another means would be to eliminate stadia and other spectator areas. But the world loves the underdog and competition.

At present the means of defining amateurs and "solving" the problem revolve around monetary limits and rules and regulations.

As long as the search for a solution remains on that level it will fail.

One MSU coach says of the quest for a sensible, workable definition of amateur: "They've been looking for 30 years and the man that finds the answer will be a great man."

...Heal Gets Best Of Oregonians

A sudden heat wave with temperatures touching about 80 degrees got the best of about 100 Oregon State male students last week and the loosely-organized group, about half fraternity men and half independents, made a series of brief raids on five sororities and two residence halls.

Phone calls from fraternity men apparently had set up the raid which was to begin at nine o'clock at the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. Organization was slow in starting and it was just after 11 o'clock when a truck loaded to the brim with students moved slowly down fraternity row yelling, "let's have a party raid."

Poor receptions from the houses and dorms offered little encouragement to the heat-plagued raiders, however, and they broke up and went home.

Posterity was cheated at the State University of Iowa as university policemen guarded a newly laid sidewalk against potential autographers.

Fred Saifer, Jr., who learned to read at the age of three begins his freshman course at the University of California this fall at the ripe age of 12. The Berkeley, Calif., youth will be the youngest student ever enrolled at the university.

There's no spoon feeding of subject matter in the problems-in-weight-control class being offered for the first time this semester at State University of Iowa.

The 14 students enrolled in the course have all lost weight, but not by means of a "cottage cheese and canned peaches" diet or by any other "quickie" diet handed out to them by their instructor. The students have learned the facts about proper food and exercise for weight control, but they are never told specifically what to eat.

The course combines diet and nutrition instruction from the home economics department with exercise and posture instruction from the physical education department. Instructors for the course emphasized that the goal of the class is good health of a long-range plan, not rapid loss of weight.

The outcome of the softball game alone would not have stimulated me to write this letter. But, because our softball team has on its first string three members of our bowling team, a different light is thrown on the picture.

We were scheduled to bowl (for another championship) at the same time on the same evening as the softball game. Needless to say, we could not be in two places at one time; we had to forfeit the championship bowling game.

Losing one championship and forfeiting another—because of double scheduling—is the reason for writing this letter. If I wait until tomorrow morning my objectivity will return and this letter would be in the waste basket, so in the mail it goes tonight.

Our intra-mural program is great, but I believe that something could be done about the playoffs. Each year rain, flood or some other act of God causes a rush in the scheduling of games when finals are upon us. It could be that the intra-mural facilities are not adequate for the many individuals competing. I have no solution, but I do hope that something can be done to prevent a recurrence of the situation I have described.

Engineer Sees Seaway Bring Shipping Boom

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Michigan should be prepared for a shipping boom when the St. Lawrence Seaway is completed, a Senate interim committee was told Wednesday.

Col. Arthur A. Nauman of the Detroit District Corps of Engineers testified before the legislative committee studying the probable impact of the seaway expansion on Michigan economy.

By 1965, he said, ships using the seaway should carry 55 million tons. Once the seaway is completed, he said, ships more than twice the size of those now using the waterway will be able to reach Michigan ports.

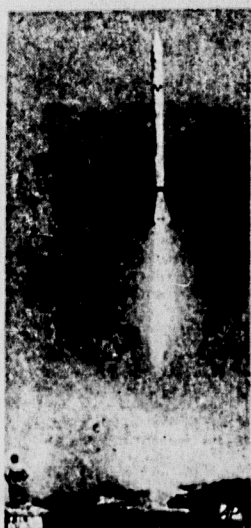

Col. Nauman said work of dredging connecting channels is due to begin this summer and scheduled to be completed by 1962. But this schedule, he warned, could be delayed by a cut in congressional appropriations or if construction crews or supplies were not available.

About 60 percent of all money spent on improving connecting channels will be expended in the area from Port Huron to the lower Detroit River, Col. Nauman said.

Post Office Regulations Upheld After Criticism

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Cederberg (R-Mich.) said Wednesday that it is "obvious" to him that postal workers "have full and sufficient opportunity for criticizing" the post office department.

He accused Gov. G. Mennen Williams and Rep. Dingell (D-Mich.) of making "demagogic" and "highly misleading" statements about department regulations involving employees' bargaining rights.

Cederberg told the house that Williams and Dingell "in their zeal to grab onto some badly needed votes" in the November election have "unwittingly" substituted their toes over a Democratic creation.

He referred to a section of the new postal manual saying that employees "shall not actively engage in campaigns for or against changes in the (postal) service, or furnish information to be used in such campaigns, unless prior approval has been obtained from higher authorities."

Dingell told the house May 16 that this regulation "is as bad as any regulation which has ever been issued by Nazi Germany, Communist Russia, or any other dictatorship." Cederberg said Williams similarly attacked it in a speech May 19 before the National Letter Carriers Assn. in Bay City, Mich.

Actually, Cederberg said, the regulation as printed in the new manual "is not a new policy or a change in substance, but a rewording of a regulation adopted in 1949 during the Truman administration."

"The department has clearly explained to those who took the trouble to get the facts," Cederberg said, "that in 1949 the pre-

'Devastating' Year Ahead for Traffic Deaths

CHICAGO (AP)—A White House spokesman Wednesday declared "we now are heading for a most devastating year" in traffic deaths. He called for action to halt the rising trend in such fatalities—a rise that has carried through 13 months in a row.

Howard Pyle, deputy assistant to President Eisenhower, spoke the warning and the plea before public officials and civic leaders of 11 states including Indiana.

They met at a Mid-Western regional conference. It was the third of four regional parties sponsored by the President's Committee for Traffic Safety.

The prime purpose is to stimulate the formation of groups of citizens in all cities and towns to aid and support vigorous official traffic safety programs.

Traffic Safety Lacks Planning Says Sheeche

Gordon H. Sheeche, director of the MSU Highway Traffic Safety Center, spoke at the Midwest Regional Conference of the President's Committee for Traffic Safety Wednesday in Chicago.

"The real problem is human failure on the part of those who use our traffic facilities and those who plan, administer and police our transportation system," said Sheeche.

The major handicap to better traffic administration and safety is the lack of concerted planning and activity at the city and county level according to Sheeche.

Stevenson Says Peace Is Issue

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Adlai Stevenson Wednesday said the "underlying anxiety" over the status of peace in a world torn with unrest is probably the greatest single concern of the American people in the 1956 presidential campaign.

He said this underlying tension was the thing that showed most in his thousands of personal contact with voters in handshaking tours throughout the nation.

He said "misgivings" about the health of President Eisenhower, "incipient inflation" and expansion of the nation's economy also concerned the rank and file of American voters, but fears for preservation of peace stood out above all else.

Lady's Parking Attempt Results In Disaster

MOLINE, Ill. (AP)—Mrs. Anne E. Scott's attempt to get her car into a parking place resulted in damage to five cars, including her own a broken parking meter and a broken street light pole.

Police said she lost control of the machine and it struck one car, pushing it into another. Mrs. Scott's car then broke off the parking meter and light pole. The falling pole broke the windshield of still another car and dented the top and broke the rear window of the fifth.

House Group OK's Foreign Aid Slash

Committee Sends Bill To House for June Debate

WASHINGTON (AP)—By a lopsided vote of 24-4, the House Foreign Affairs Committee gave its final approval Wednesday to a foreign aid bill slashed $1,109,000,000 below President Eisenhower's $4,900,000,000 request.

The formal committee action sent the big bill to the House. Leaders scheduled it for floor debate June 6.

Administration supporters were clearly concerned about the effects of such a large fund slash in the program to bolster free world countries against communism.

But it remained uncertain how they would try to counter it. They could fight to restore a big amount of the cut on the House floor—where there is considerable sentiment for an even bigger reduction—or concentrate their efforts on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which acts on the bill after it passes the House.

Rep. Vorys of Ohio, a ranking Foreign Affairs Committee Republican, said there will be "plenty of time for reconsidering and counting of noses" before the bill comes before the House.

He indicated there will be no converted administration push to restore the funds in the House unless GOP leaders think they can get the votes to win. Vorys reported the Joint Chiefs of Staff feel a one-billion-dollar cut would force a major revamping of America's military aid program. The House group voted Tuesday to slash that much off the three billion dollars Eisenhower wanted for arms overseas.

The rest of the cut was made in economic aid funds.

Committee Chairman Richards (D-SC) disputed Defense Department objections to the arms aid slash, saying five billion dollars still unspent from previous appropriations plus funds in the new bill will prove "ample money" to carry on planned programs for another two or three years.

Elijah Finally Rescued After Long Winter

BUENA VISTA, Colo. (AP)—Elijah the horse came home to a brass band, a parade and a cheering throng Wednesday after spending the winter trapped on a 13,000 foot mountain ridge. The shaggy, one-time pack horse took the celebration in stride.

His owners, Al and Bill Turner, reached this western Colorado community of about 1,100 persons late Wednesday afternoon and before anyone had a chance to say much, a welcome home parade was under way.

Late Wednesday night he was taken by truck to Denver for display in an honor stall at a race track.

Student Guides For Fall Term Meet Tonight

Students interested in participating in the Student Guide Program during orientation week will meet at 7:30 tonight in the Union Ballroom.

Student guides will again provide pre-registration and campus tours for an estimated 5,000 new students. A large number of students will be needed as guides to meet the demands of a more elaborate orientation week.

In addition to regular activities during their first week on campus, new students will be required to attend a pre-registration tour, during which the registration process, trial schedules and other typical problems will be discussed.

A more elaborate orientation week has been inaugurated to meet the need for more effective orientation of new students.

The Student Guide Program, sponsored by the Student Orientation Committee, Dale (Doc) Cadillac, sophomore and Earl Ross, Fenton sophomore, are chairmen of the guide program.

Weather Causes Vienna Suicides

VIENNA (AP)—A leading Austrian psychologist Monday named the abnormally cool and rainy weather for a record number of suicides in Vienna over the past holiday weekend. Eleven persons took their lives here in 24 hours.

Dr. Hans Hoff, Vienna University professor, explained that sudden changes in the weather especially rain and low temperatures, bring nervousness and mental depression among sensitive persons.

This, he said, added to the fact that people felt cheated when their holiday was rained out, doubtless led some to end their lives.

One of the 1,100 barracks apartments that house married students on campus.

A two-story brick, typical of the 30 buildings accommodating 456 apartments.

Brick Apartments

Modern Housing for Married

By NAN RIGNEY
State News Night Editor

Most talked about in married housing circles today are the brick apartments that comprise University Village. These buildings, commonly known as the bricks, are a marvel in modern architecture.

Four hundred fifty-six student apartments are divided among 30 tan brick buildings on Kalamazoo Street near Harrison Road. The two-story buildings are arranged in groups around four courts.

The interiors are functionally modern in furniture design and layout. A living room, dining alcove, kitchen, bedroom and bath are all furnished. Each combined living room-dining room has a studio couch, two easy chairs, a desk, dining table and four chairs and built-in book shelves in blond wood. The kitchen is equipped with stove and refrigerator. The two-bedroom apartments are similarly furnished.

Although the general plan of each apartment is the same it's hard to get lost from the outside. The exteriors are varied in trim color, use of glass brick and shape.

Incorporated in one of the central buildings are laundry and utility space. Incinerators are installed with an outlet on each level.

The convenience and beauty of the bricks add up to $69 per month.

On the other hand, housing of an older vintage, known as the barracks, is available for $35.50 a month.

There are 1,100 gray and tan-paper barracks at present. The facilities are the same or similar to the bricks, only not as streamlined.

The apartments are unfurnished, although odds and ends are available through the married housing office. They are heated by oil space heat, while the bricks have a circulating hot water heating system.

In the center of the main cluster of barracks, 176 new bricks are rising. Construction is expected to be completed by next fall. The barracks will still be in full use after the bricks are occupied, but the long-range plan is for their extinction.

Headquarters for these operations is a white frame farmhouse on the corner of Birch Road and Shaw Lane, which was converted into offices in 1949.

However married housing problems were present long before the office. The first accommodations were 50 trailers purchased from a Lansing trailer camp on Feb. 9, 1946. Four hundred more were added immediately.

This first married settlement was located where the student parking lot on the corner of Harrison Road and Farm Lane is now. A recreation building in the center provided library, sewing and music facilities.

In December of 1946 the barracks were erected. They are all still in use and have completely replaced the trailers.

Of the same generation as the trailers, are the quonsets. Many of them provide faculty housing today.

Across the street from them are 184 apartments, called the "permanent apartments" by the housing office. These colonial structures, 11 buildings in all, are for faculty members.

Assignments to married housing are made by the housing office in Wells Hall. Applications may be filled out three months prior to the marriage. But, a wait of six months to a year can be expected.

Secretary of Defense Wilson Tuesday described Eisenhower as being "a bit unhappy" that the three services didn't seem to be getting along better with one another.

Alumni Award Scholarships

Ten outstanding high school seniors in Michigan have been selected to receive Alumni Distinguished Scholarship awards for study at MSU beginning next fall.

The awards, being made for the first time, are valued at $1,000 each. They are sponsored by the MSU Development Fund through donations by alumni, according to Robert C. Toll, associate director of the fund.

More than 200 high school students competed for the scholarships. Selections were based on high school scholarship, extra-curricular activities and competitive examinations.

Toll said the new scholarship program "reflects the interest of Michigan State alumni in honoring high school graduates of outstanding talent and in providing them a definite opportunity to continue their education."

The 10 award winners are: Andrew P. Soms, Lansing; Robert L. Carroll, Mason; Anton S. Nissen, Iron Mountain; Mary C.

Huff, Midland; Joni E. Lysett, Utica; Mary C. Marino, Battle Creek; Lyle O. Walcott, River Rouge; and Paul C. Dinu, Dorothy A. Frayer and Hershel Goran, all of Detroit.

Atomic Pile Expected To Run Power Lines

LONDON (AP)—Britain Wednesday put into operation an atomic pile it hopes will push electricity into the nation's power lines by this fall.

This country expects to be the first in the world to supply electricity on a large scale from atomic sources.

The now functioning pile—the first of two—is operating at the Calder Hall power station in Cumberland. The Atomic Energy Authority said it is being brought gradually to full power and that "physics measurements and instrument checks are now taking place."

USC Athletes Charged With Secret Fund Aid

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Athletes at the University of Southern California Wednesday were pictured as benefitting from a secret fund co-founded by three Superior Court judges in Los Angeles.

J. Miller Leavy, a Los Angeles County Superior Court judge, told a press conference 40 or more athletes received $1,235 from the fund over a period of two years. He said the payments were in excess of Pacific Coast Conference regulations.

Leavy insisted he was making the charges as an interested alumnus of the Trojans' cross-town rival, UCLA, but not as a member of the UCLA Athletic Advisory board.

Leavy also insisted there was no vindictiveness in his action despite the punishment inflicted on his alma mater by the conference faculty representatives in their meeting at Vancouver, B.C. Leavy said that Wednesday morning he mailed the PCC Commissioner, Victor O. Schmidt, and Dr. Emmett B. Moore, president of the conference faculty members, documentary evidence backing up his allegations of "undercover activities."

"The information sent to Commissioner Schmidt and Dr. Moore discloses a 'secret' fund administered by an organization obviously of Southern California Boosters, but not the Trojan Club or the Trojans, official alumni organizations," he said.

"This organization, by its own records," Leavy continued, "shows that in a two-year period, the sum of $71,235 was distributed to not less than 60 named University of Southern California athletes. The amounts range as high as $900 a year to individual athletes."

"Among the founders in 1949 of this organization administering a secret fund to USC athletes are three Superior Court judges of Los Angeles County, who clearly must have recognized the inequities of the unrealistic and unworkable Pacific Coast Conference athletic code."

Leavy said the evidence sent to the commissioner gave names, dates and financial figures. But he refused to make any of this information public.

Coed Tennis Champion Won First Laurels at 13

Through her dad's interest in tennis, Barbara Proudfoot, Toronto senior and captain of the women's varsity tennis team, played her first game of tennis at the age of 9.

By the time Barbara was 13, she had won her first tournament, the 1948 Toronto and district 18-year-old and under doubles.

Since then, the blonde champion has won more than 15 titles, some of which include the 1949 Canadian junior singles and doubles championship, the 1949 Ontario junior singles and doubles championship and the 1951 Michigan State 18-year-old and under singles and doubles championship.

Barbara first became really serious about her tennis in 1949, when Mrs. Jean Hoxie, Hamtramck tennis coach, asked her to spend her summers in Hamtramck with her so that she could have more time in helping Barb develop her game.

"During the time of 10 weeks I spent with her each summer," she said, "I would practice at least eight hours a day. Because we have no indoor courts in Toronto, it always took me a little longer to get in shape, she said.

It was while she was living with her coach, that she received the nickname "feet" which was given to her because of her last name, Proudfoot.

"I think," she laughed, "that the most embarrassing experience I ever had in tennis, happened a few years ago in the lounge of a Philadelphia country club. I had just walked in, and almost set my suitcase down on the face of Maureen Connolly, who was laying on the floor, relaxing between matches."

"My biggest disappointment," said Barbara, "came in 1953 when I missed my last year in junior tennis because of a broken toe. I broke it," she laughed, "when I slipped running barefoot up the stairs of our home."

"My advice to those who are just beginning to play tennis," said Barb, "is to get good instructions from the start, for if you do everything wrong the first time it's twice as hard to correct—then practice."

Michigan State's tennis team was scheduled to arrive in Minneapolis this morning for the start of the three-day Big 10 championship.

The Spartans will be in a definite underdog role, as Michigan is the heavy favorite in the tournament, with Indiana and Northwestern expected to furnish the stiffest competition.

The Spartans will use Capt. Dave Brogan in the No. 1 position; Dick Menzel, No. 2; George Stepanovic, No. 3; Bill Bisard, No. 4; Jim Beasum, No. 5; and Charlie Darr, No. 6.

Brogan and Stepanovic are expected to compete in the No. 1 doubles position. The other two won't be named until match time, according to Coach Frank Beasum.

The meet is being held at Minnesota for the first time in 46 years in honor of Phil Brain, retiring Gopher tennis coach.

Tigers Lose to Yankees, 13-5

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Behind a 17-hit attack, including a home run by Hank Bauer, the New York Yankees smashed their way to a 13-5 victory over Detroit as a trio of Yankee pitchers limited the Tigers to five scattered hits.

The game was marred by seven errors, four by the Tigers, and 14 bases on balls.

The Yankees had two big innings, scoring five times in the second and sending across six more in the fifth, as aceless Tommy Byrne registered his second win of the year against no defeats.

Billy Hoelt and bonus pitcher Jim Brady received the brunt of the New York attack, as all the winner's runs came off the two southpaws. Al Aber held the Bronx Bombers to two hits, both singles, over the last five innings, but the damage had already been done.

Walks and errors were directly responsible for all of the Detroit runs. The Tigers scored twice in the second without a hit and three times in the fourth on just one hit, a double by Harvey Kuenn.

Indians Still 2 1/2 Back
The Cleveland Indians remained 2 1/2 games behind the league-leading New York Yankees by defeating the Boston Red Sox for the first time this year, 6-3.

Fast baller Herb Score gained his fifth triumph in eight decisions, held the Red Sox to six harmless hits, but lost his control in the eighth inning, walking in one run on four bases on balls.

Relief ace Don Mosti replaced Score and promptly walked in another run and a third scored on an infield out, giving Boston all their runs without the benefit of a hit.

Cleveland clubbed 13 hits, their season high, off three Boston pitchers. Frank Sully was charged with his first defeat in four decisions.

Sox Top Orioles
Although outlasted 7-6, the Chicago White Sox came from behind to defeat the Baltimore Orioles, 3-2, as Jack Harshman won his second game of the year against two defeats.

Two walks in the fourth by reliever Ray Moore after starting pitcher Johnny Schmitz loaded the bases with hits Sox forced in what proved to be the winning runs.

George Kell and Bob Nieman proved to be pests to their former teammates as Kell got three and Nieman two of the hits off Harshman. Only three men could solve the Chicago hurler as Host Evers got the other two hits.

Athletics Whip Senators
The dogged Kansas City Athletics had to battle for over four hours and for 17 innings, but they pulled themselves out of the American League cellar by defeating the Washington Senators, 7-6, in the longest game of the year in the league.

The winning run scored when Camillo Pascual's bases-full wild pitch allowed bonus boy Cletis Boyer to scamper across the plate.

The Senators had taken a one-run lead in the top half of the 17th, but a home run by Jim Fingen tied up the game to set the stage for Pascual's fatal pitch.

Pascual was the third Washington ton pitcher to throw a no-hitter, as manager Leo Durocher of Kansas City and the Durocher of the Senators.

outmaneuvered each other, switching their pitchers in the seventh inning.

Cubs Edge Phillies
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Chicago Cubs shook the Philadelphia Phillies, 4-3, in a game that was a pitchers' duel.

Catcher Harry Chittenden led the final difference when he clouted a home run off left pitcher Marv Haddy in the eighth inning. Monte Irvin opened the frame with a fourth circuit belt of the night to tie the score.

As a result of these plays, rookie right-hander Vern Riffe netted a victory with his major league victory.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The big Pittsburgh Pirates kept their pitching with a shutout, hurled a brilliant 9-0 out over the St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday night.

Dale Long, Pirate first baseman, continued his power hitting by blasting a home run to the center field wall at the foot mark in the seventh inning. It was his 11th of the season.

Willard Schmidt, hurling a hurling duel with Pirates, the Pirates blotted the Cardinals in the fifth with three runs.

Hawkeyes Pose Threat To Wolves' Track Title

Spartans Battle for Third

The Iowa Hawkeyes are expected to offer a strong challenge to the Spartans this weekend at the Big 10 track championships at Minneapolis, Minn.

The Wolves, winners of the three track titles, will have to be at their best to meet the challenge.

With such outstanding athletes as Ted Wheeler, Les Stegeman and Gardner Van Dyke, the Wolves will be attempting to improve on the second indoor finish.

Coming out for third will be the Spartans, Indiana and Michigan State.

Three teams have outstanding athletes, but will have to show the necessary depth.

Michigan State's Ed Brabham will be a tough competitor for the sprint honors. Brabham ran a 9.7 100-yard dash as well as a 21.1 four.

Bob McKown of Illinois and Bernie Carmichael of Michigan possess the conference's fastest times in the short dash.

West Shaw's chances for the title are further enhanced by the presence of 11 men among the 20 who have qualified for three of today's events.

Individual honors were taken Wednesday by John Green of Bryan. Green scored half of his dorm's 18 points by winning the high jump and placing second in the shot put behind Ellison Kelly of Phillips.

Kelly proved to be a standout with the 16-pound shot as his toss of 42 feet 9 inches was almost three feet better than Green's second place throw.

Another outstanding performance was turned in by Valdis Krums of Bryan in the broad jump. Krums' leap of 20 feet 2 1/2 inches was challenged only by his other leaps as the rest of the competition was left far behind.

Team depth paid off for West Shaw as four men placed in the half-mile run, won by Tom King. Fred Dunlap of East Shaw placed fourth to keep the team from West from sweeping the event. King caught teammate Len Efron with his stretch kick to finish in 2:14.1. Efron was close with 2:15.8.

In the trials, Art Johnson won two dashes for Phillips and Don Arend the hurdles for West Shaw. Both were outstanding Class A trackmen in Michigan high schools last year in their specialties.

Johnson's opposition will be mostly come from more West Shaw men as he will face five of them in the century and four more in the 220.

Seven men qualified for each of the dashes and six for the 60-yard low hurdles.

Along the Sports Trail Trackmen Have Chance

NEW YORK (AP)—To use a classic expression, leave us not sell our athletes short in the Olympic Games this year. There has been some viewing with alarm because only foreign athletes have been able to better the four-minute mile, with a couple of Australians not only among those to do it, but doing it on our own soil.

The idea is that the inability of our runners to crack that four-minute barrier might be a sign of decadence in our youth of today; a definite hint that the boys might be bigger, but also softer.

We decline to go along with this reasoning, and refuse to believe that because six men in the entire world have broken four minutes for the mile, and none of them happen to be United States athletes, that it means our mode of life has a deteriorating effect on our hardihood and physical abilities.

Our young men can run faster, jump higher and farther and throw things better than those of any other nation. Their major weakness is that they can't run as far, but that may be due to the fact we don't specialize so much in the longer events as some of the other countries.

The fact we own outright or share 15 of 22 individual Olympic track and field records, and one of the two relay marks, certainly isn't an indication of weakness.

All in all, the performances of our athletes are considerably better than good. About the only mark they've really concentrated on and missed is the mile, and just give 'em time.

Holquin, Esposito Win in State PGA Tourney

CHICAGO (AP)—Tony Holquin and Lou Esposito, a pair of Chicago pros, Wednesday won the 54-hole best ball state PGA championship with a total of 197, 16 strokes under par for the Glen Eagles' course.

State's Jimmy Sack dropped a notch to third place with a 452 average. The only other Spartan hitting over 300 in conference play is John Polonsky at an even 300.

Gopher pitcher Jerry Thomas needs just one more victory to tie the Big 10 record for most wins in a season. Three men have won six games in a season since 1939.

Kindall, with 42 total bases is just five short of the Big 10 record of 47 set by Wisconsin's Harvey Kuenn in 1952.

Sailing Club to Compete Against Big 10 Schools

The MSU Sailing Club celebrates its 10th anniversary this coming weekend by playing host to the Big 10 championships being held at Clark Lake, located 10 miles south of Jackson.

Competing with MSU in the 14-event race will be sailing clubs representing all Big 10 schools excepting Minnesota, Iowa and Indiana.

The sailing club is a privately sponsored club at present and the races it competes in are unsanctioned. Nevertheless it has competed against such opponents as the United States Naval Academy, Notre Dame, the Bay View Yacht Club of Detroit and the Detroit Yacht Club in addition to the seven Big 10 schools competing this weekend.

Club officials include: Commodore, Milcent Thomas, Montclair, N.J., junior; Vice Commodore, Tony Wujek, Detroit freshman; Team Captain, Gail Brazier, St. Petersburg, Fla., junior; and Fleet Captain, Bob Mains, Edwardsburg freshman.

Facilities available to present and future members include lake frontage on Lake Lansing, four 12 foot Penguin class dinghies, dock and raft, a new steel 2 x 24 foot quonset hut and a new fiberglass Teah dinghy.

Races are being held on both Saturday and Sunday and Michigan State students are invited to attend.

Club activities that may be of interest to students interested in joining the club are instruction sessions on Thursday evenings, sailing and racing at Lake Lansing every weekend, and meeting featuring speakers and movies.

At present the club is endeavoring to get school support for a co-educational sailing club.

On Bills

Wants Passage...
Before July

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower gave a gentle prod Thursday to nearly a score of bills he would like to see passed before adjournment in July. He did it by releasing the list of bills to the press secretary. The list included bills on international trade, government, economy, and other fields.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas said in a statement released by the White House list:

Some of the measures the House are virtually certain to pass in the near future. They are receiving careful consideration by the appropriate committees.

INTERNATIONAL — Military and economic foreign aid, trade co-operation, customs simplification, immigration, including amendments to the Refugee Act, and creation of an atomic mercantile.

SECURITY — Military aid, including aid to the service and benefits. Both the House and Senate have passed bills on these subjects and are now in conference.

GOVERNMENT — Postal rates which would be permanent an additional $100 million a year; increase for top Civil Service and presidential.

ECONOMIC — The high cost of living, credit legislation to make it easier for farmers to borrow money, a development program including a program of low-cost housing.

WELFARE — School program, housing, health, including health insurance, aid to states for training specialists, and creation of research and training facilities at medical schools.

LABOR — Legislation, including Fair Labor Standards Act and a proposal for a new welfare and health plan, civil rights proposals, creation of a bipartisan commission and a special labor department division.
