Student Confesses Burglaries

MSU Frosh Arrested For Thefts

Police Say Loot Up in Thousands

By JOHN ALISON
In the wake of more than 20 burglaries involving thousands of dollars in loot, Robert J. Stevenson, MSU freshman from Ypsilanti, and Richard Demain, a Lansing youth, are being held by the Ann Arbor police.

Carole Beene and Linda Worboys, co-chairmen of Gilchrist snow sculpture contest, and Charlene Schaefer, are seen as they polish off the figure that won their dorm first place in the annual dorm contest Saturday. Since Gilchrist has won three years in succession, the dorm gets permanent possession of the trophy.

The youths confessed their guilt to one robbery in this area and were implicated in many more according to East Lansing police officials. The local robbery was a home in Whitehills. More than $1,000 was taken in one of the robberies, said police officials. The total amount taken in all the robberies has not been tallied.

According to the East Lansing police, these two were not the only ones involved in this case. There may be a third, several members of which have been apprehended and are being held in Ann Arbor.

Saturday, East Lansing police, working in conjunction with Ann Arbor officials were led by the two youths to place on the Huron River where they had stashed the loot when police started to close in.

Skindivers attempted to locate the goods, but found only a bag containing several dead puppies, authorities reported.

Demain and Stevenson were originally picked up on an illegal entry charge and were then traced to other robberies including one in which a safe was carried off.

MSU department of public safety officers picked up Stevenson in cooperation with the East Lansing and Ann Arbor police. East Lansing officials interrogated him, they said.

Police staked out at Demain's apartment, but waited in vain. He did not appear. He was later taken into custody in Ann Arbor.

A police spokesman said Demain has been mixed up in several other scrapes with the law in the past.

Some of the missing loot includes clothes, radios, a radio, vacuum cleaners, clothes, hi-fi sets, a large amount of silverware, and other miscellaneous items.

Demain, in an attempt to get rid of some of the loot, scattered goods along the roadside between here and Brighton, and threw some of the loot into the Huron River. Police said most of the loot along the road has been recovered.

Tickets Remain For Formal J-Hop

A limited number of tickets for the formal night of the J-Hop, Taj Mahal, Feb. 8, will be on sale during this week from 9-5 p.m. at the Union ticket desk.

Miss MSU will be crowned during the intermission.

There will be seven finalists appearing Saturday night who will have been selected by the men of Blue Key.

A feature of the publicity for the dance was a small cherub fountain in the Union concourse. The plan was to use the cherub for publicity by having the publicity committee steal it and then send in letters about its location from all over campus and then have it turn up in the Aud. The only trouble is that someone else got there first and stole it and no one knows who took it.

AUSG to Consider Sticker Proposal

Student Congress Votes Wednesday

A three price sticker system, suspension of student motor vehicle regulations during vacations and drastic reductions of so-called unrealistic penalties for violations are the three main changes proposed by Student Motor Vehicle Regulation No. 11 which will come before Student Congress in resolution form Wednesday night.

Under the new sticker system, "S" and "P" permit holders would pay $15 if their cars were registered full term or $10, $5 or $3 at each of the succeeding terms.

Those applying for "D" permits would pay $7.50, $5.50 or $3 depending on which term they registered their car. Those holding "R" permits would pay a flat $1 regardless of which term their car was registered.

"D" permit rates are lower than those for "S" and "P" stickers because these stickers allow driving and parking on campus only on weekends, holidays and evenings after 6. Owners of these permits would not be allowed to park or drive on campus between 6 a.m. and 6 p.m.

The three dollar "R" permits would be issued to those living in married housing which would allow them to park in that area and to use only those roads which lead to Harrison Rd. or Kalamazoo west of Harrison.

These permits would also be used as registration stickers for those living off campus, but would not allow them to drive or park on campus at any time. "SP" permits continue to be issued to graduate assistants, graduate students, students, students' spouses who are full-time MSU employees and paratilities.

"P" permits will be issued to commuters and undergraduates who can provide them and the "D" permit form.

If Student Motor Vehicle Regulation No. 11 goes into effect, its rules would not apply from 6 p.m. of the last day of exams to 6 a.m. of the first day of registration.

In reducing penalties, the regulations would provide that all offenses that are now punishable by automatic permit suspension would have a maximum suspension of 30 days or until the end of the term, whichever is longer.

The provision will let the Traffic Appeals Court have more leeway in setting the penalty according to the circumstances.

The five dollar fine which was set for driving in a prohibited area, failing to park in the designated area, parking over time or failing to display permit properly would be reduced to $2.00.

The automatic permit suspension as a result of a second offense would also be eliminated.

The new regulations are designed to correct inequalities in Student Motor Vehicle Regulation No. 10 and to please both students and administration as far as possible, a spokesman for the committee which drew up the new regulations said.

To become effective the new regulations must go through Congress, the Student-Faculty Motor Vehicle Committee, the Administration, and the State Board of Agriculture.

Ike Given 2 Months For Plans

Dems Not Likely To Oppose Bill Now

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic Congressional leaders are reported to have agreed to hold their fire for 60 days to give President Eisenhower and Secretary of Defense McElroy a chance to come up with a defense reorganization plan.

The informal agreement apparently means there is likely to be no concerted Democratic effort to increase in the Senate Eisenhower's request for $1,200,000,000 in emergency defense funds.

As it passed the House last Thursday, the emergency authorization measure included $1,200,000,000 in new cash and authority for the Defense Department.

BULLETIN

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Arthur B. Eisenhower, 71, older brother of President Eisenhower, died at his home late Sunday. He had been in ill health with a heart ailment for some time since his retirement from a post with a Kansas City bank.

Department to transfer 150 million of available non-missile funds to the missile programs.

While the agreement is not binding on individual Democrats who want to suggest specific changes in the pending legislation, the general understanding is that Eisenhower and McElroy will get a reasonable length of time to work out a reorganization plan without serious interference from Congress.

Previously, many Democrats had complained Eisenhower seemed to lack a sense of urgency about making changes that would speed up the defense program.

Sen. Bridges of New Hampshire, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, said any such motion should be decided by Eisenhower's trip to the Pentagon Saturday to confer with McElroy and other officials about reorganization moves.

73 Buffet Items Offered

Hawaii Theme of Les Gourmet Dance

By TOM LOPEZ

The aroma of delicate Hawaiian flowers combining the tempting, resplendent of foods from Hawaii and blended with soft music for dining and dancing in a tropical paradise, awaits the fortunate ones who will spend "A Night in Blue Hawaii."

Considered as one of the finest social events offered annually at MSU, the Les Gourmets dinner-dance "A Night in Blue Hawaii" will be presented Saturday night, Feb. 15 at Kellogg Center.

Students from the school of Hotel and Restaurant Management, 100 strong, will invade Kellogg Center taking over its facilities including all of the spacious banquet rooms and kitchens.

Consistent with the previous two years this semi-formal event has been offered, the tickets were all sold immediately after being put on sale last Monday at 9. By noon of the same day all 500 were gone.

Peer Holtkamp, president of Les Gourmets, explained, "We've been getting constant telephone calls from people requesting tickets for the affair, but all available tickets have been sold. Last year we had an estimated 1200 requests and this year it looks like even more."

Following the island theme, 600 fresh orchids along with other cut flowers will be imported from Hawaii for the occasion.

A 17 lb. king crab, frozen in a 500-pound block of ice is being shipped from Alaska for the main decoration for the buffet table. Sharing space with the red crab will be such decorations as hams, salmon, lobsters, pheasants, a suckling pig and two large ice sculptures. Starting at 6:30 will be the reception in the Red Cedar Room where hors d'oeuvres and canapés are to be served: chicken liver wrapped in bacon, avocado and shrimp canapés.

Some of the salads include apple sherry molded king, crab meat and pineapple mold, and tossed greens - assorted dressing.

Served in a buffet style, items include shrimp newberg on wild rice, champagne-baked ham hawaiian, chicken kamehaneka in half coconut, and 50, 10-pound roasts of beef. This is no place for indecision with 73 different foods being offered.

Music for the dinner and the following dance will be provided by Jim Voorhees who will be neatly housed in an authentic Hawaiian thatched hut. In fact, all the settings will be authentic," said general chairman Mel Steddon, speaking for Les Gourmets.

"We're designing and staging the settings and costumes with the assistance of the Hawaiian Club here at MSU," he stated. The Hawaiian Club will also participate in part of the floor show following the dinner.

Until the dance ends at midnight, waiters clad in the island informal wear, will be of service to anyone desiring coffee, tea or "cocktails" from the bar.

Since last spring, the Les Gourmets, with the aid of faculty advisor Miss Gertrude Blaker, have been laying plans for the dinner-dance. Because the club is non-profit, the proceeds from the tickets are completely absorbed by the expense of the affair.

Members of the university museum staff are seen unwrapping recent display. Many new additions to the collection are being prepared.

Attends Baghdad Talks

Dulles' Safety Questioned After Ankara Explosion

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department said a bomb partially destroyed a warehouse in the U. S. Embassy compound in Ankara Sunday about a mile away from where Secretary of State Dulles is staying.

Dulles arrived in the Turkish capital Sunday to attend the Baghdad Pact Conference which opens today.

Joseph Reap, State Department press officer, said a preliminary report from the embassy said no one was hurt in the explosion.

There was no information on who might have planted the bomb in the warehouse or why, he added.

However, Reap said "added precautions are being taken" in Ankara to protect Dulles and the Americans in the area.

Dulles has a key role in the Baghdad talks, even though he is attending the meeting of press and foreign ministers only in the capacity of an observer.

The United States is a member of several of the alliance's committees, but was not a signer of the pact itself.

Dulles' first appearance in the ministerial council of the 12-year old alliance comes at

Debate Teams Place Second At Ball State

MSU debaters placed second in the Tau Kappa Alpha tournament held Saturday at Ball State University, Muncie, Ind. The MSU teams won eight and lost four events. Butler University won first place with nine wins and three losses.

Eight MSU debaters, two negative teams and two affirmative teams, competed against teams from 10 colleges.

Affirmative teams were Miss Pat Nash, political science senior from Alexandria, La., and William Tiltonson, sophomore from Elsie, Mich. Barry Boughton, Lansing freshman, and John Drabell, New York junior majoring in electrical engineering.

Debaters on the negative teams were Ralph Wilbur, Lansing freshman, and Lynn Minor, Grand Rapids freshman. Bert Sheppard, senior from Shreve, Ohio, majoring in agricultural engineering, and Tom A. Case, mechanical engineering junior from Hazel Crest, Ill.

Miss Nash and Mr. Tiltonson were awarded "superior" certificates for outstanding individual work in debate.

Mr. Boughton and Mr. Sheppard received certificates for excellence in debate.

Next event on the debaters' schedule will be held on the campus Thursday. Bert Sheppard and Tom A. Case will represent a team from Central Michigan College at 1:30 p.m. in the "Confidence" event on the second floor of the Mathematics and Physics building.

The public is invited to attend and take part in a debate forum.

Water Carnival Smoker Slated

Water Carnival Committee will hold a smoker on Tuesday, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in 31 Union for all students interested in smoking on Water Carnival, according to Gene Cleaton, committee member.

Water Carnival is the annual water show presented near the end of Spring term.

The show is sponsored by the Senior class, but freshmen, sophomores and juniors are also urged to rush, Cleaton said. The rush committees are also producing, theme and continuity, program, publicity, judges and trophies, band and lights, public relations, tickets, and water sports.

Democrats Enjoying 'A Happy Dilemma'

DEMOCRATS ARE IN WHAT could be called "a happy dilemma" in which they are latching onto both ends of the most important issue in the world.

At the Paris show, the Republican Administration was compelled to put forth a peace issue, and on President Eisenhower's initiative, that's about all he could do.

Even the missile issue itself was vague. Not only was it uncertain, and subject to later negotiations in the case of most of our NATO allies, but the President himself went over his Secretary of State's head on disarmament.

IT WAS A HAPPY INSPIRATION on the part of the President to inject the peace note at the 11th hour; otherwise he would have lost the opportunity.

That gave the Democrats their opening to follow up with negotiations so that a positive issue could be made from the NATO sessions. The issue then was, in effect, ready-made.

Even in advance of the NATO sessions we saw the Democrats, including Adlai Stevenson, not only stressing economic issues and trying to deemphasize the military aspects, but also sounding out new negotiations with the Russians.

But Democrats got even more than they had bargained for. After it was all over we found that NATO on one hand and the Russians on the other were ready to act as negotiating parties. Further than that, NATO was recognized for the first time as an alliance through which to bargain with the Russians.

Dulles was clearly at the tail-end of this parade at the NATO meeting, so that the President found himself aligned with a new deal—internationally speaking—in an effort to resolve the cold war.

AT THE SAME TIME the Democrats, because of their management of Congress, can constantly push the initiative in their theater of defense. They can buttress our defense and that of our allies with the result that we can have the best possible basis on which to negotiate with the Russians.

In view of our allies' patently vague commitments on missiles, Democrats, with few exceptions, now find they must rely upon themselves to get the best in that field of defense until such allies as we have can stand by.

It is clear that Dulles could not have known how far our position in the alliance deteriorated psychologically in the short time between the first Russian Sputnik on Oct. 4 and the NATO session itself on Dec. 16. Our allies had taken another look at themselves, and some of them were not sure at all about locating missiles in their territory.

If President Eisenhower did not know how quickly the situation had changed, he certainly found out at the NATO sessions. In fact, it might be debated whether negotiations with our allies and the Russians had come to be paramount or whether the missile issue had become secondary.

Dulles found himself in an almost right-about-face. He certainly could not have been in a very comfortable position. Obviously, our policy is in for an overhauling.

We certainly changed our signals while the team was in the midst of play.

Is That a Fact?

Did you know that it was Heraclitus, who wrote in the sixth century before Christ, "There is nothing permanent except change?"

Gifts, But Not From Quiz Shows

Forget Some of Your Income, But Make Sure It's Tax-Free

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fifth in a series of eight stories on your income tax. It lists the income you do not have to report. Be sure to save it for reference when you fill out your return.

By G. K. HODENFIELD, AP Newsfeatures Writer

There are certain types of income which are tax-free, and which you don't even have to report in making out your income tax return. By taking advantage of these exclusions you may be able to whittle down your tax bill considerably.

First, because it's more pleasant to think about, let's look at the income which you don't have to declare.

- 1. State and federal social security payments, benefits from the Railroad Retirement Act, and Workmen's Compensation benefits. This includes state and federal unemployment compensation.
2. Inheritances (up to $100,000) and death benefits from life insurance policies.
3. All government payments and benefits to veterans and their families, except interest on terminal leave bonds and retirement pay not connected with a disability.
4. Gifts. This includes money or anything of value for which you performed no service whatsoever.
5. Interest on state and municipal bonds.
6. Subsidies and rental allowances to members of the armed forces.
7. Dividends on GI life insurance programs.
Any 1957 income you had which falls into one of these categories is beyond the reach of the tax collector. Just forget about it while making out your return.

Some Are Conditional

There are several other categories which have strings attached. Prizes and awards (as distinct from gifts) are exempt from taxes only if they are given in recognition of civic, literary, artistic, educational, scientific, charitable or religious achievement.

But these prizes and awards can't be excluded if you had to enter a contest as a condition of winning and they can't carry with them the requirement of performing any substantial future service for the donor. This means that most prizes given on radio and television giveaways or our programs are not exempt and Uncle Sam wants his share.

Generally speaking, payments made in the form of scholarships or fellowships are tax exempt if the recipient is a candidate for a degree, the entire amount is tax free and need not be reported. If the recipient is not a candidate for a degree, the maximum amount which is exempt is $300 a month.

Income earned outside the scholarship however is taxable. For instance, a football player attending college on an athletic scholarship wouldn't have to report that he was given room, board, books, tuition, laundry and expense money. But he would have to report any income he might get for winning the eight-day clocks in the coach's office.

With some restrictions, each taxpayer may deduct from his income up to $30 received as dividends during the tax year from qualifying domestic corporations.

All dividend income must be reported on Schedule A on page 3 of the form 1040. There's a place there to list all dividend income and take your exemption. Remember, so-called dividends from savings and loan or building and loan associations and from credit unions are not considered true dividends by the tax collector.

They're considered interest, and must be listed with your other income.

Annuity and Retirement

The tax laws also let you exclude from your taxable income part or all of your income received in the form of annuity or retirement pay. There are two general rules which apply.

1. Uncle Sam lets you have a right to recover tax-free as much as you have paid into your annuity or pension plan. For instance, if over the years you paid $4,500 into your company's pension fund, $3,500 of what you get back is tax-free.

2. You can't exclude any part of the payments if you did not bear part of the cost. However, even if you made no direct contributions, you paid part of the cost if you were taxed for part or all of your employer's payments to the plan.

Page 13 of the instruction book with the Form 1040 tells you how to figure that part of your annuity or pension which may be excluded from your taxable income.

There's a chance for real savings by excluding your sick pay received from your employer while you were off work because of illness or injury.

Here, too, there are certain conditions to be met and certain limits on how much can be excluded.

The amount of sick pay you can exclude from your taxable income cannot exceed $100 per week and the plan must be financed by your employer.

If your absence from work is due to an injury, your sick pay exclusion begins with the first day you missed, just as for an injury.

If your absence is due to illness, it generally begins with your second week's sick pay. However, if you are hospitalized for even one day because of illness, the exclusion begins with the first day you missed, just as for an injury.

Remember the Ceiling

Remember that $100-per-week ceiling. If your pay is over $100 per week here's how to figure how much you can exclude: divide $100 by the number of working days in your normal work week. That gives you your maximum daily exclusion. Then multiply that amount by the number of days you were off work. That gives you your total excludable sick pay.

When your pay for the period while you are out with illness or injury comes entirely from your own contributions to a plan or policy, the $100 limit does not apply. The entire amount may be excluded.

If you use Form 1040A or punch card type return, you cannot claim sick pay exclusion on the form 1040. It should be entered on line 6 (h) and you should attach a statement to your return showing the dates you were absent, the nature of your illness or injury, whether or not you were hospitalized and when, and how you figured the amount excluded.

That about covers the exclusions. Now there's the matter of income which the government wants to see you list.

With the exceptions noted above, Uncle Sam wants his full share of all wages, salaries, bonuses, commissions, fees and tips. Interest on bank deposits, savings bonds and securities are taxable. So are any profits you make from the sale or exchange of real estate, securities, automobiles or other property.

You must list income from rents and royalties, business or professional profits, income from estates or trusts and even alimony and separate maintenance or support payments received from your husband or wife and deducted by him or her.

The next article will deal with business-connected expenses and expense accounts.

London Paper Accuses U. S.

Says Americans Took Credit of ZETA Creation

LONDON (AP) — A national newspaper here accused Americans Sunday of attempting to steal the thunder from British scientists in the creation of Zeta—the machine carrying hopes of taming the H-Bomb for industry.

This was the only sour note in the unveiling here of the apparatus used in taking a step toward control of thermonuclear energy as the pride of Britons rose to a height unexcelled since the days of World War II.

ZETA (zero energy thermonuclear apparatus) came as a shot in the arm to a people sensitive to recent criticism from abroad and even heard at home—that Britain was lapsing into a second-rate power.

Some British commentators said the way the official announcement of ZETA was handled reflected an inferiority complex growing among Americans since the launching of the Soviet Sputnik.

The conservative Sunday Dispatch bannered a front page headline over a dispatch from the newspaper's American correspondent.

"Britain loses ZETA 'war' as U.S. grabs credit for her," the Socialist Reynolds news diplomatic correspondent commented. "No wonder the Americans held up publication of Britain's ZETA achievement for many months. It has put us in the lead in a field far more important to the world than Sputnik."

There had been whisperings from Harwell, Britain's atomic research station, of the existence of ZETA, but Americans were said to have insisted on keeping the news secret for months, until it could be disclosed jointly.

Grapplers Crush Ohio State

Who says nobody cares about wrestling? Over 1,000 boisterous fans watched as Michigan State's grapplers crushed Ohio State, 22-6, in Jonson Fieldhouse.

The crowd, which was the largest in two years, became tense as the Spartans dropped two of the first three matches then spurred to victory in five straight encounters. Only the group of fans which showed up for a Michigan match topped Saturday's attendance figures.

The throng made Coach Fenley Collins reminisce over previous wrestling years. "We used to have bigger crowds before the war," recalled Collins, "but those were the years we had winning teams."

Collins agrees that there is no better attraction to fans than a winning team. That's just what the Spartans are beginning to offer.

After falling behind, 6-3, Jerry Jackard set the stage for a fine comeback by pinning Bill Hays at 7:15. The rest was easy. Ken Maglow finished the route with a speedy maneuvered pin after only 1:19 had passed. His was the most spectacular feat of the match.

Another nice job was done by LeRoy Fladseth.

He was elated into action when Tim Woodin failed to slim down to the necessary 172 pounds. It was his first dual match this year.

Don Stroud remained unbeaten in the 130-pound class.

State's record now stands at 1-2 but lines look better for the remaining five dual matches. Fladseth, who is just recovering from a strained wrist secured a 7-5 decision over Mark Roberts.

5-2, 6-3 Losses Nodaks Take Two From Hockey Team

GRAND FORKS, N.D.—Michigan State's Hockey Team dropped a two game series to the North Dakota Sioux. State lost 5-2 Friday night and then were whipped 6-3 Saturday night.

In the first game State couldn't muster a sufficient scoring attack and only the great goal-tending of Joe Selinger held the Nodaks to five goals. North Dakota went ahead 1-0 in the first period as Bill Steenson scored the first of his three goals for the night.

State tied the score at 13:02 of the second period as Keith Christofferson scored with assists going to Joe Polano and Terry Moroney. Steenson scored again for the Nodaks making the score 2-1 in favor of the Sioux.

North Dakota scored three times in the third period and State scored once. Terry Moroney scored from Bob Jasson and Polano with one second to play in the game.

Selinger was called upon to make 34 saves while Bob Foyed, Sioux netminder, had to stop only 19.

The second contest was primarily the same as the first one. State couldn't muster much of an attack until the third period, but by then it was too late. The pucksters counted first when Polano scored from Moroney and Jasson at 5:14 of the first period.

The second period saw the Sioux score three and Bill Mackenzie pick up one for our pucksters. State played their best hockey in the third period and held North Dakota on an even par. Each team scored once with Christofferson getting a goal

Rube Picks 'Em

Minnesota at Northwestern: The Gophers have lost three conference titles in succession, although sophomore Tom Johnson and George Kline keep hitting in double figures. The Wildcats are probably the most improved league team this year. Without the two losses to Michigan State, Northwestern would be sporting a reputable record instead of the present 2-3. Remember this is the squad that shellacked Michigan, the current leader, 93-79. Therefore, it looks as if the Gophers will come into East Lansing Saturday with four straight losses. NORTHWESTERN.

Purdue at Ohio State: This game will pit two teams dead-banked for second and fourth place respectively. The Buckeyes this year, have played almost flawless ball at home, winning three games. Purdue hasn't had much luck on foreign soil. But I still contend that the Bucks don't have the horses. PURDUE.

Buckeyes Dunked By State Swimmers

Win Third Dual Meet By 68-37

After a victory drought of a single win in 17 outings against the Ohio State swimmers, Coach Chuck McCaffree's Spartan tankers received a measure of revenge Saturday with a 68-37 swamp of the Buckeyes.

McCaffree, coach of the defending Big 10 Champion, said this comment after the victory: "It was certainly wonderful to beat Ohio State after all these years." The well-deserved triumph was only the second win since 1932 over Mike Peppé's Buckeyes. The previous victory was a 51-39 coup in 1937.

Three double winners contributed a combined total of 10 points to the victory margin. All-American Don Patterson churned to a 50-yard freestyle win in 29 and picked up his honors in the 100-yard freestyle with a 51.0. Les Lobaugh scored his 10 markers by copying the 200-yard butterfly and the 200-yard individual medley race. The great South African lanceman, sophomore Billy Stewart, outlasted the Buckeye swimmers in the two longer races of the day. He won the 220-yard freestyle in 2:07.8 and took the 440-yard freestyle in a 4:39.6 timing.

Before a capacity crowd of 1,000 at the Jonson Pool, the Spartans displayed awesome depth in every event, picking up nine first places out of a possible 11 and finishing one-two in four places. It was their third dual meet victory.

Mike Peppé, the veteran Buckeye mentor, said in regard to the Spartans: "They are a wonderful, well balanced team which may be his best ever." State-Michigan meet should be a humdinger.

The Buckeyes could gain only two victories in the Spartan dominated meet, three coming on a one-two finish in springboard diving and a first length win in the 400-yard freestyle relay.

Glen Whitten and Tom O'Brien, both Buckeye All-American divers, put on a play of aerial gymnastics, scoring in Jonson Pool. The relay win came when Joe V. Horn put on a splendid first length kick to touch-out State's Jim Lancker.

A team composed of Don Nichols, Frank Medicine, Tom Kwasny and Gordy Fornell, the only record of the meet, the 400-yard medley relay. The time of 4:03.7 beat the old meet record of 4:04.2 set by MSU in 1957.

SUSPENSION STORY: Chuck Steger, M.E., is probing dynamic properties of new Air Spring developed by Von Palomus (left). A nationally recognized authority on suspension systems, Mr. Palomus directs Structure and Suspension Development Group of GM's Engineering Staff, helps guide Chuck in his professional career.

Because engineering is a profession at GM — we offer you a career — not a job

Our highest engineering standards at General Motors are so high that GM recognizes engineering as a profession. And the men who engineer the many different products made by General Motors are respected for the profession they practice.

That is why, when you are invited to join General Motors as an engineer, you don't simply take a job — you start a career.

It is a career that is rewarding both professionally and financially — starting on your first day of association with General Motors at any one of its 34 divisions and 126 plants in 70 cities and 19 states.

During your early days at GM, for example, you work with a senior engineer who guides your career along professional lines.

You are also actively encouraged to pursue your education towards an advanced degree. For we at General Motors recognize that, in doing so, you will become more valuable to us and the engineering profession.

You are given the opportunity to obtain professional recognition through participation in engineering society forums, presentation of technical papers, winning of patents and other recognition of your accomplishments.

And you are also encouraged to take an active role in your community's affairs — because a truly professional man is a good citizen as well as a good engineer.

All this is for a reason and a good one. Many of the men who will fill the key positions at GM in the future are the young engineers joining GM today. This is not theory, it is fact. For 14 of our 33 Vice Presidents are engineers, 23 of our 12 Division General Managers are engineers, too.

Today we are looking for young engineers — such as you — who may fill these positions tomorrow. The rewards — both professional and financial — are substantial. If you feel you have the ability, write us. It could be the most important letter of your life.

June graduates!

A General Motors Representative will be on hand to answer questions about job opportunities with GM.

Cincinnati Defeats Pistons, But Yardley Is High With 33

CINCINNATI, (AP)—In a heated NBA contest here Sunday night the Cincinnati Royals defeated the Detroit Pistons 107-103.

With 17 seconds left to play, Royal Jack Twyman dribbled the length of the court for a final layup basket that set the final margin.

The Pistons, led by George Yardley, had started off a scoring spree, running up a 63-55 halftime lead.

But the Royals steadily cut the lead—to three points at the three quarter mark—and finally pulled even, 90-90.

Just before Twyman's final bucket, the Pistons came within two points of a tie when Walt Dukes was fouled by Royal Jim Paxson and made the free throw.

Yardley wound up tops for both teams with 33 points, while Clyde Lovellette headed Royal action with 25.

The fourth quarter was marked by a mild flareup between Royal Maurice Stokes and Pistons Harry Galatin, who had to be separated after some shoving under the basket.

Green Paces 10th Victory

By LARRY WROBLEWSKI

Michigan State's conference title hopes received a big lift Saturday night as Coach Fordy Anderson's contingent whipped Northwestern for the second time in a week, 74-60.

The third Big 10 victory for the Spartans moved them into a three-way deadlock for second place with Indiana and Ohio State, who were tied. It was also State's 10th win of the campaign against three setbacks.

The Spartan victory also equaled the overall record with Northwestern at 11. This was the initial time State has come ahead with any Big 10 opponent in a particular series.

The standings, however, could be in for a shakeup, if Ohio State gets past Purdue tonight at Columbus, the Bucks would have sole possession of second.

Michigan, who won't swing back into action until Saturday when it hosts Purdue, remains on top of the circuit with a 24-1 record.

The only real distinction Northwestern took away was the individual scoring honors which guard Nick Mantis converted by totaling 24 points, converting 11 of 23 field attempts and two out of three from the foul line.

Before 12,391 screaming fans the Spartans began to lay the foundation for their easy triumph.

Penetration in the offensive department was jumping John Green, who pumped in 22 points, the individual total tallest last week at Northwestern.

The high-leaping center, who played despite a jammed finger on his left hand, suffered a week ago, maintained his supremacy on the backboards by stealing the ball 16 times to increase his season's rebound total to 235.

Green's scoring was a deciding factor in the first half as he accounted for 14 points, mostly lay-ups and outside shots.

Forward Bob Anderson served notice to the third gathering to watch the cagers at home of what was to come by netting a three-point play with just 19 seconds elapsed.

The Spartans went about 10-20 and looked as if a rout might result. But with Phil Warren, Joe Ruklick and Mantis hitting, respectively the Wildcats gained a 16-15 edge midway in the first half.

The succeeding three minutes both teams traded the lead but Green, with an outstanding crowd cheering encouragement, led Jack Quiggle pushed in a one-handed shot, 75-71 left and the Spartans took a 24-22 advantage, they never relinquished.

Over the remainder of the first session, State's excellent defense allowed Northwestern only five points. The cagers, meanwhile, were pouring in 16 points, and they departed for intermission leading 40-27, the biggest recess point-spread recorded by State this year.

In the final 20 minutes Anderson's quintet built their margin to 17 points as guard Tom Rand, forward Lance Olson, Green and Quiggle proved of the bulk of the attack.

Northwestern altered its defense pattern by throwing a zone setup against the cagers. Wisconsin stymied State Monday night using this kind of defense.

But the Wildcats' threat to catch the Spartans was lessened when Ruklick, 6'9" center, left the game on fouls. A few minutes later sophomore sensation Willie Jones, who pumped in 21 points last week and was held to a scant basket and five total points by Anderson's brilliant defensive job, fouled out.

Game statistics revealed the Spartans hit at a top 38 per cent from the floor. Northwestern counted on 33 per cent of its attempts. State again exemplified its strength on the boards, grabbing 56 rebounds to Northwestern's 37.

Balancest scoring was another important feature of State's offensive. Anderson, Spartan top point producer in the Big 10 with a 15.8 average, slipped in 12 points. Olson, filling in for Larry Heister and Quiggle led for 10 apiece. Rand, the point guard, netted nine points and Heister sank eight.

A total of 106 have entered the basketball faculty's contest. After Jan. 27, the contest will be open to all members of the faculty.

Newly hired instructor, Harry Meyer, 20-22, 21-12, 21-11, and 21-9. In with the A. Thelma Meyer, 20-12, 21-12, 21-11, 21-9. The IM Office, sponsored Thursday.

Ambassador to Report on Talks

No Progress Made Says Emmissary

Reds Stand Firm On Rejected Offers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson came home from Moscow Sunday to report on his efforts to arrange talks between the United States and Russia. He said he does not seem to have made any progress so far.

Thompson will report to President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles.

His return coincided with arrival of evidence that Russia not only is standing firm on all its off-rejected proposals for East-West negotiations but may in fact be hardening its position and raising its terms.

Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev said Russia would discuss Eisenhower's recent proposal to Premier Nikolai Bulganin for a ban on outer space weapons and warfare only if the Western powers agreed to all of Russia's major disarmament demands.

These include dismantling U.S. military bases abroad, the reduction of foreign forces in Germany and other European countries, an immediate ban on nuclear weapons as well as the testing of such weapons and the creation of an atom-free zone in central Europe.

Thompson declined to comment on the Khrushchev speech when he arrived here. Though the speech was made last Wednesday, it was released only Saturday while Thompson was flying to Washington. He told reporters he had not seen the text, and did not wish to discuss it.

However, when he was asked whether he had made any progress in arranging new talks between the United States and Russia he said, "It doesn't seem so. Such talks along with those involving other allies were proposed by Eisenhower to explore the issues and make arrangements for a possible East-West summit conference."

Just before leaving Moscow Thompson called on Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko to press for a Soviet response to Eisenhower's mid-January message to Premier Nikolai Bulganin.

Men's Coups Sponsor Tuesday Smoker

An "introduction to tobacco" for live living smokers was presented Tuesday evening at 7:15 in Old College Hall.

The all-university smoker is sponsored by Beta, Beta Beta, Phi Kappa Phi, Theta Chi and Mu Phi Epsilon fraternities.

Men attending the smoker will have the opportunity of meeting members of these fraternities and visiting the separate houses at their convenience.

Connie Ithodes, Rocky River junior, and Dick Whaley, Midland sophomore, general chairmen of the Union Board fashion show, get a preview of the trysts held Thursday night. The coeds are Gretchen Hubacher, Cheboygan sophomore, and Jan Leaver, Detroit senior.

Executives Set Meeting For Kellogg

Twenty-five of the nation's prominent business executives will be at Kellogg Center for the fourth annual Executive Management Program Feb. 23-25 and Feb. 24-26.

The group will study six major areas of business management: organization, sales, production, research and development, accounting and financial administration, marketing, management, administrative practices, and policy formulation and engagement of human resources.

Program objectives are to help experienced executives function more effectively in their present positions and to aid the businessmen in preparing for the possibility of assuming greater future responsibilities.

In addition, the program will offer business enterprises in the building and participating of a highly competent management organization and will provide individual means for continuing personal development.

The program is sponsored by the Kellogg Foundation, which has been instrumental in the development of the program.

Smith Sets Education Legislation

Will Carry Out Ike's Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.D.) said Sunday he will introduce on Tuesday legislation to carry out the education program of President Eisenhower.

The president is to submit to congress tomorrow a special message outlining proposals to give federal scholarships to bright students and federal aid to states for strengthening instruction in science and mathematics.

Smith, ranking Republican on the Senate committee handling education bills, expressed hope the administration program, which would run four years and cost a billion dollars, will receive "strong bipartisan support."

Some Democrats have complained that Eisenhower this year is not recommending a program for federal aid to classroom construction—a measure which he backed in the past two sessions but which died in the House each year.

Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass.) announced Sunday he will introduce this week a bill calling for $1.5 billion dollars in federal grants to the states for school construction over a five-year period.

In a statement, Kennedy criticized Eisenhower for failing to urge a school construction program this year.

MSU Scientists Experiment With Blanching Asparagus

A strip of black plastic may pave the way to producing blanching asparagus commercially in Michigan and other vegetable areas in northeastern United States.

MSU Research reports indicate that the black plastic material may eliminate the need for ridging soil and cut costs in white asparagus production.

Currently, blanching asparagus growers protect the spears from sunlight by rigging ridges to pull over spears. As spears begin to mature to top of the ridge, workers cut the stalks with a long knife and pull spears out of the soil. The product is grown only in California where the soil is well suited to the ridging technique.

MSU horticultural scientists Shigem Honma and Frank McArdle used a 1 1/2 foot wide strip of black plastic to blacken soil under the spears to produce blanching asparagus. By buckling the strip over the row and anchoring ing the side with soil, they grew white asparagus in total darkness. Honma and McArdle harvested spears by rolling back one end of the strip. Light was sealed out again by re-covering the raised edge with soil.

White spears of asparagus grown under the black strip were canned and stored for seven months to check blanching. Researchers say the blanching quality at the end of the period.

Honma and McArdle want to try using the black plastic strips on a few more experimental asparagus planters pan out, the MSU scientists feel the old bottleneck of high costs may be smashed and northern homemakers may have blanching asparagus more readily priced.
