Major Technological Advances Forseen

Experiment Station Director Talks on Agriculture's Future

By RAY PIERCE

"The scientific and technological advances we will experience in the years ahead will be some of the most far-reaching in our history. An exciting experience lies ahead for those who have the capacity to dream."

This belief was expressed by David Turk, director of MSU experiment station in a speech to the future of agriculture at Fairchild theater Wednesday.

The underlying philosophy of freedom and opportunity in the U.S. has fostered progress and has opened up new frontiers. The kind of world we want to live in is the most important question we face today," he said. Turk pointed out to his Fairchild Week audience the new frontier of science which has opened our geographical Western frontier.

A few of the more startling things Turk sees in the future for agriculture are: solar collectors for drying crops and animal farm buildings, air-conditioned barns and other buildings and control of sex in animals.

The last big day of Farmers' Week will have a bit of lace on it. Agricultural engineering will have a morning program all about modern homes, appliances, painting and home equipment. The horticulture department will have a morning program devoted to home garden fruit production questions and problems.

Meanwhile, back at the Union building, a variety of home economics programs will be going on all at 10 a.m. A talk with an interesting title—"Boys in a Girl's Life"—will be given in the Aud also at 10 a.m.

There will also be a style revue in the Aud starting at 1:30 p.m. which will be on WKAR-TV.

There are many other nice type programs with less lace, as the program will show.

One speech of considerable interest will be given at 10:30 a.m. in Fairchild Theater. John Stockman, president of the Michigan Farmers' Union, will talk about the need of government aid in agriculture.

Frank Kalkos of Cornell, Michigan won his fifth award as top yield potato grower in the state since he started growing potatoes 11 years ago.

Alleged Killers of 10 Captured in Wyoming

DOUGLAS, Wyo. (AP)—Charles Starkweather, 19, runty Nebraska gunman sought in 10 slayings, was captured Wednesday in the badlands near this Wyoming cowtown.

He suffered head cuts during an exchange of shots with a deputy sheriff. With Starkweather was Carl Eugene, the 14-year-old girl who fled with him from Lincoln, Neb., where police said he killed nine people.

The girl was almost hysterical and ran fleeing to Deputy Sheriff Bill Romer crying out her fear Starkweather would kill her, she was in a state of shock shortly afterward.

A 10th murder victim was found not far from where Starkweather was captured. Sheriff's men said he admitted the killing. The dead man was Merle Collins, 27-year-old Great Falls, Mont., state salesman.

The slayings took place less than 48 hours ago in Nebraska when the slaying of Carl's parents and infant half-sister was discovered. As police pressed in, vegetation, other killings were discovered until the total reached nine. The night was started for Starkweather but he and the girl escaped the frantic search.

An National Guardsman called the highway of Lincoln, the still on for driven by Starkweather was speeding west across the state line into Wyoming.

An oil company worker Joe Sprinkle of Casper, walked into the muzzle of a .22 caliber rifle to start Starkweather's fall into the hands of police.

Casper Deputy Sheriff Romer was on a rent receipt inspection job when he spotted Starkweather hitting over a gun near two parked cars. One was spraying bullets for the life. As Romer pulled up, Starkweather ran for his car.

Romer rushed for a roadblock which was flung up hastily but Starkweather roared through it in more than 100 miles an hour. Sheriff Hefflin and an officer gave chase, firing at the fleeing car. It was stopped through Douglas. See TEENAGE, Page 1.

Dorms to Choose AUSG Members In Final Elections

Final elections will be held today in the following living units for legislative representatives in All-University Student Government.

Those running for office are: Phillips Hall, Judy Bouchner, Birmingham sophomore and Judi Dixon, Hazel Park sophomore; West Shaw, Gale Foster, Battle Creek sophomore and Lewis Newman, Long Beach, N.Y. freshman.

Enigma, Thomas Miller, Grosse Pointe Park freshman and Chet Pelton, Watershot junior; South Williams, Janice Hall, Holly sophomore and Jo Anne Shupe, Detroit freshman.

Elections will be held during the noon and evening meal hours.

Chess Tournament Planned for Tonight

The Union Board chess tournament will take place today at 7 p.m. in room 42, Union.

Lewis to Conduct Lab Research In Rome Institute

Dr. Ralph W. Lewis, professor of natural science, will conduct a year of research in the laboratory of Nobel prize winner Dr. Erino Borla at the Institute Superiore di Sanita in Rome.

Dr. Lewis will be on sabbatical leave and will be aided by a grant from the National Institute of Health.

His research concerns parasitism and the biosynthesis of ergot alkaloids. Dr. Lewis explains that extracts from ergot, a fungus commonly found in rye and some grasses, is known to be a potent physiological substance and has medical application.

The MSU scientist is interested in what happens when the parasite (ergot) is placed in the rye tissues. The study, he said, may produce clues to the general problem of the host-parasite relationship throughout the plant and animal kingdoms.

Army's 6 Month Reserve Program Being Reinstated

The Army Reserve's six month enlistment program, suspended since July, 1957, has been reinstated, an army adviser announced this week.

This program makes it possible for the soldier to serve to enlist in the ready reserve. It includes six months of active duty in a training center, one night a week in the enlistee's home town and two weeks of summer field training for five and one-half years.

Only 150 men per month will be permitted to enlist, the adviser said. The program probably be suspended again in July, he reported.

Erich Fromm on Psychology: 'Humans Need Sense of Unity'

By MITZI KENT
"The deepest need of human nature is to overcome a sense of separateness from society and to achieve a feeling of oneness and unity," stated Dr. Erich Fromm, distinguished visiting professor of psychology, in a series of lectures entitled "Psychology of the Individual," delivered Tuesday and Wednesday.

Elaborating on this thesis, Dr. Fromm said that man would be insane unless he could overcome this sense of separateness. This intense feeling of separation is anxiety-producing and the greatest threat to the individual is to be made an outcast.

"In every human being you see a fear of being a complete outcast, a fear even greater than death."

Pentagon To Set Up New Unit

Defense Agency Due in Few Days

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense McElroy said Wednesday the Pentagon's new outer space and weapons unit—the Advanced Research Projects Agency—will be officially set up "in a day or two."

"We thought it best to have the agency actually set up before appropriations are voted for it," McElroy said in an interview at the Capitol.

He had just completed a second day of closed-door testimony before the Senate appropriations committee. It is considering a $1,410,000,000 emergency money bill aimed at speeding up the missile satellites and other urgent defense projects.

ARPA, as the new agency is known, will first concentrate on development of an anti-ballistic missile and outer space projects," McElroy has told Congress.

McElroy also said he is confident that ARPA can cut through the delays and red tape that have slowed other new military projects or systems in the past.

It will start with 10 million dollars of financing but also has authority to pick up over 30 million from the Army and 24 million from the Air Force, previously noted by Congress last year for the missile missile and other space projects.

McElroy was reported to authorize the agency Wednesday to be established by greatly increased power, under the Administration's tentative recommendations for reorganization of the Defense Department.

Highlight of Wednesday's Farmer Week action was the A-H talent show in the Aud. Pictured is Erich Fromm, 11-year-old son of the tankler of note, from Beckenridge.

Discussion Slated On Compulsory Polio Vaccination

The pros and cons of a state law that would call for compulsory vaccination of all Michigan school children against poliomyelitis, diphtheria, scarlet fever and tetanus will serve as the subject of a discussion at the 14th annual state health commission conference, to be held at the department of Health headquarters in Lansing on Feb. 5.

Discussions of Michigan's 43 cities, counties and district health departments will include local state health problems with Dr. Albert F. Hottel, state health commissioner.

The state now makes vaccine available to private physicians and local health departments for immunization of school children against polio and the other three diseases, but immunization is not obligatory.

Wolverine Loan Set by AUSG

Student Government's Loan Bureau announced a special loan provision for Wolverine purchases this last week of yearbook sales. Prospective buyers without six dollars may take a loan Thursday 1:30 p.m. or Friday 2:5 p.m. in AUSG offices, third floor Student Services building.

Sales deadline is Friday night. Books are on sale in the Union concourse, short course cafeteria, living units and the Wolverine office, 344 Student Services building.

Wind, Rain Too Much For Rocket

Slate Next Try In Fairer Skies

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Winds up to 140 miles an hour, liberally laced with rain, washed out the Army's chances of launching the Jupiter-C satellite rocket Wednesday.

But tomorrow is another day. The Army is known to be primed for its venture into space. Likely only a few hours of better weather would be needed to bring about an all-out launching try.

The Weather Bureau forecast was for partly cloudy skies today with lighter winds.

The terrific gales that winded out any hope of a launch Wednesday were in the upper altitudes.

A six-foot thick tube of metal more than 20 feet long, such as the Jupiter-C, could be thrust apart by such winds.

At the very least, the rocket might be buffeted so far out of the proper altitude it must maintain in order to put its satellite aloft that its departure from course could not be corrected.

Even down on the ground, gusts were whipping past the launch tower at 20 to 30 miles an hour. Subjected to such wind forces it could attain any momentum at all, the unpowered rocket might be unable to withstand them.

Wind was not the only element that plagued the Jupiter-C, just as it had helped frustrate attempts before it.

Also serious were drainage problems in the rain-soaked launching area.

Only last Friday rain water flooded underground electrical lines, cutting off the power supply for the air base launching complex.

The shortcoming of electric power prevented the Air Force from launching a Thor intermediate range ballistic missile. Not until the weather cleared Tuesday did the Thor get off the ground.

"Age is no barrier" is the motto of Denis Crosby, son of Bing. Dennis, 23, has announced his engagement to Pat Sheehan (above), who is three years older than his stepmother. Of course his stepmother's only 23, too, so it's not so bad... on second thought maybe that's Bing's motto.

State News Pleas For The Homeless

SOMEWHERE TOWARD THE END of the year and the early part of the new, there is always an avalanche of writing in the press about the Most Outstanding This and That of the Year.

We want, even if briefly, to drink to the eternal thread that runs through our lives—to the homeless ones, the clothesless, the frustrated, the disappointed.

Yes, this is to the 3,000 homeless persons in Panama City—3,000 who have tried to build something of their own, a small business, a project, a family—only to have the faulty and unfinished structure go up in flames around them.

These people are now the unconfident, whose days are lived tremblingly in the mirrors of others. These are the desperate. To those who have borne—as it seems to them—more than the mortal fibre can bear.

Yes, this is to the 3,000 persons of Panama City—left homeless, victims of a fire whose flames and smoke will remain in their hearts and lungs forever.

To those who awake suddenly in the clutch of a nightmare terror. Yes, and to those for whom day and night together are nightmare, and who think fitfully of extinguishing the light altogether, in the frantic illusory hope of finding peace.

This is all to the homeless Panamanians. Three thousand people living in a baseball stadium—no clothes, no possessions. In this too, is for the children. To all the unsure ones, stumbling and floundering as they try to make some sense out of a world not of their making.

We applaud those on our campus who feel the pain of these people. To those who have coordinated the clothes drive, to those that have donated and to those that will today—we toast.

We can't build homes for them, nor can we rid their hearts of anger and hate, of loneliness and rejection, of despair and frustration. The clothesless are not fastidious—they'll wear shirts without button-down collars, pants and skirts without buckles, sweaters other than crewnecks, hats that are wrinkled and hose that have holes.

To the 3,000 homeless we say: Despite the myth that it is the meek and the childlike who will inherit the earth, we don't think you will. We think it is the ruthless, the single-minded, the selfish, the unimaginative who will inherit.

But we must add that we are not sure, when the earth has been in the keeping of the successful, whether there will be much of it left to inherit.

Panamanian Speaks

"As a Panamanian knowing the poor conditions and very low standard of living that the people affected by the fire have, I ask the students of this university to consider the necessity of these people, of how they must feel to have only set of clothes, not having a home to live—but living in a limited piece of land in a baseball stadium.

I believe that if Communism was affecting the population of Panama by any means, this benevolent attitude taken by the students of this university will change it a great deal."

IRS Can Give It to You

Check Once More, Then File; Ask for Help If You Need Any

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the final story in a series on your federal income tax. It describes some common mistakes and tells how to avoid them. If you have saved all eight of the articles, you are now ready to begin work on your own return.

By G. K. HODENFIELD AP Newsfeature Writer

Assuming you are an average taxpayer with no particular income or tax problems, you should now be able to sit down, fill out the proper form, and square your account with Uncle Sam.

One point can hardly be over-emphasized: if you have any doubts or questions, don't leave it to hunches or guesswork.

Contact your nearest Internal Revenue Service office by telephone, preferably, or in person or by mail, and tell them your troubles. I won't eat your bread, and it might save you considerable time, trouble and money. If you underpay your income tax for any reason, you must pay a percent interest on any additional tax due.

The revenue service has figured it out for you. If you are sure you own your return in the proper place. And, if it's a joint return, be sure you wife's husband signs it too.

The return isn't complete until it has been properly signed. Be sure you have attached a copy of your Form W-2 to your return, (and that you keep one copy for your own records). If you worked for more than one employer during the year, you have to attach a W-2 form from each one.

Don't send along your receipts, vouchers and bills, etc., but be sure you keep them until you are sure you can get at them easily if the tax collector asks questions.

Check and double-check your arithmetic, then check it again. If you have any school-age children, you might have them check it for you, too.

Check back to the fourth article of this series and make sure you are claiming all the exemptions to which you're entitled. Remember those extra exemptions if you are over 65 and for blindness. And be sure you have checked the proper boxes on the tax form to claim these exemptions.

Make sure you are taking credit for any allowable tax payment, as outlined in the fifth article.

Check your figures again to make certain you are claiming the right deductions—either the 10 percent standard deduction or the itemized deductions.

If you and your wife (or husband) are filing separate returns, take another look at the figures to be sure you wouldn't be better off filing a joint return. Most taxpayers are.

Watch For Mistakes

Following are some of the mistakes taxpayers make that bring them bills for more taxes than Uncle Sam.

Claiming exemptions for persons who don't fit all the requirements of a dependent. Remember the big test: you must furnish more than half the support.

Failure to report all income. This is particularly true for people whose work brings them tips and gratuities. If you get a bonus from the boss, that's taxable.

Also be sure you report income from dividends, interest on your savings account, profits from the sale of property, etc.

Claiming personal deductions for such things as federal excise taxes, gifts to relatives and friends, property you misplace or lose, cost of travel to and from work, school expenses, etc.

Claiming excessive amounts for contributions to churches and charitable organizations, medical and dental expenses and the like. If these contributions and expenses are high, be sure you have the facts and figures to back up your claim.

And once more. If you have any questions, check with the Internal Revenue Service. Remember, the tax collector is real, live human beings who have to pay taxes themselves. They'll give you every break in the book—for free.

Hannah Cites Civic Problems

John A. Hannah, president of the East Lansing Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night, said the local government's problem today is the lack of community spirit in suburban areas which developed so rapidly in recent years.

"The need for community cooperation is greater today than in any American history," Dr. Hannah said.

"Unfortunately," he stated, "there has been an inclination on the part of the people who moved to the fringe of the city to turn their backs on the city and to ignore the problems of the city."

Hannah told the Chamber members that only through cooperation between the city and suburban areas will the problems of today be solved.

Dr. Hannah, who is a member of the East Lansing, Dr. Hannah said this is a community problem.

ity made up of 'advantaged people' and men and women associated with an institution of higher learning, so you would expect they would sit down together to find the solutions of problems for the best interests of the whole community."

Dr. Hannah noted the great interdependence between MSU and the Lansing-East Lansing community and stated that the university as a corporate citizen is vitally interested in the progress and development of the community.

"We will continue to do our part to be a good citizen of the community," Dr. Hannah said. "But we hope the community will develop in return to be able to accommodate the requirements of a great university."

MSU pays half of East Lansing's fire department and sewage treatment costs and bears a proportional share of student and schools for children of student families.

Teenage Murder Suspects Captured

The six earlier victims of the killing spree were: Marion Bartlett, 37, his wife Velda, 37 (Carl's mother), their daughter, Betty Jean, not quite 3 years old; August Meyer, 70, Bennet bachelor farmer; Carol King, 16, and Robert Jensen, 17, Bennet high school sweethearts.

The fear that had mounted since Monday night's first grim discovery of death became more intense when the final three murder victims in Nebraska were found. The last killed there were a prominent businessman, his wife and their housekeeper.

The sullen gunman offered no resistance. He had a .32 caliber pistol with him. It was empty. In neighboring Nebraska, where the easy police had been shattered by the savage slayings, citizens breathed easier.

Studies Come First for Tigers' Don Lee

DETROIT (AP)—Don Lee, who has a chance to catch on as a pitcher this season with the Detroit Tigers, is working on his master's degree at the University of Arizona. Don's dad, Thornton Lee, won 116 games in the American League between 1933 and 1947. Papa also won one game for the 1948 New York Giants in the National League.

Thinclads' Open Season

By DARWIN BENNETT

The future of Coach Karl Schludeman's 1958 indoor track squad, depends upon two "factors," when it travels to Ann Arbor this Friday, for the Michigan AAU Relays in Yost Fieldhouse.

Willie Atterberry and Captain Dave Lean are the two "factors."

Atterberry, a 23-year-old sophomore from Detroit, enjoyed a great freshman season in 1957 and ranks as one of the best middle distance runners in the country.

Along with setting a world record of 1:08.5 for 600 yards, he also recorded the best times in the 440 and 880-yard runs, of all freshmen and junior college athletes in the nation.

Lean, an Olympic silver medal winner from Australia, promises to live up to his great performances of last year when he set a field house record of 1:11.7 for the 600-yard run. And this was posted during the first time trials of the indoor season. This year, apparently unharmed ed from his try at cross country this fall, his amazing stride carried him to a 1:11.8 clocking for the 600.

Lean was also timed in 2:14.4 for the 1000-yard run, almost three seconds better than his 2:17.1 performance last year.

The December issue of Track & Field listed both Atterberry and Lean as top contenders for middle distance honors.

In the university mile relay, 65-yard high and low hurdles.

In the 1957 Big 10 indoor championships, McFeters placed third in the 70-yard low hurdles with a .082 time and fourth in the broad jump with 22' 7 1/2" leap.

Shot-putter Sam Eliowitz will have a tough opponent in the form of Michigan's star, Dave Owens who won last year's indoor title with a heave of 56' 10". This is just short on the record set in 1948 by Chuck Fosvill, another Michigan great.

Eeles Landstrom, Finnish vaulter for Michigan, should break the Big 10 record this year. In last Saturday's Washington Evening Star, he tied for first place with 14' 10". The old record is 14' 8" set by Don Laz of Illinois in 1951.

The Michigan AAU meets which follow, will feature a tryout . . . a definite team will be gradually formed in preparation for the Big 10 Championships at Champaign, Illinois on March 7-8.

The outcome of Friday's meet could well be used as a "tryout" for Coach Schludeman's squad and be a large determining factor in the team's success in the Big 10 this year. Last year State finished third behind Ohio State.

Spartans Meet Gophers

Gagers Aim To Increase Win Streak

Minnesota in Midst of Losing Streak

A title contender for the cage championship found "almost" mathematically out of the race at Jenison Fieldhouse Saturday.

The Spartans, after downing Minnesota, 74-60, last Saturday, are in the midst of a losing streak.

The Gophers, however, are looking to stop State's streak and break the doldrums of a four-game losing streak.

Friday Anderson's 17th straight victory record, 25-0, was the longest in the country. He led the Spartans to the top of the heap by winning the first four games of the season.

Anderson, who is rapidly developing into a competent pitcher, is hitting 10.8 per game. He has held the 677-point lead for four straight games.

Anderson's lowest total this season is 11 runs, which he pitched on Saturday. The Gophers will counter with pitcher John Green, who has won 15 of his 23 games and has a 5.32 per game average.

The Gophers have a 19-6 record in the league. They are hitting .317 in the league, with a 33-point average. They have 223 runs at 13 per game. Fredrick, 23th in the league with a 5.18 per game average.

BOB ANDEREGG defensive standout in the Spartans' victory over the Gophers.

Anderegg Underrated Cager

By LARRY WROBLEWSKI

When the balloting for the most valuable and most improved Spartans player of the year is held, forward Bob Anderegg, merits first consideration.

Bob, often underrated by the press, has given an outstanding account of himself on the court.

Anderegg's college background was started back at Montic High School in Monroe, Wis. Under the watchful eyes of Coach Lee Mitchell Bob developed into a top class prospect.

At the school of 600 students, Bob set a lock of conference and state scoring records while gaining all-state recognition. However, he modestly pointed out that most of his scoring feats have been broken.

In high school Bob, in addition to playing the hardwood sport, studied in track and football for four years.

His best individual scoring record was 32 points, 11 rebounds and 11 steals when he tallied 41 points, 11 rebounds and 11 steals.

Bob, Anderegg, reached his high school potential in the 1953-54 season. As co-captain, he led Montic to a third place finish in the finals. In a state tournament, Superior Central, he posted in 26 points and total 85 for three games.

In the tourney, he hit 32 out of 49 attempts from the foul stripe, a clip of 65 percent. In one contest he tipped in 11 free throws in 11 tries.

Along with his basketball achievements Bob was an excellent basketball player, winning four national titles at the high school level.

The University of Wisconsin was reportedly interested in nabbing Bob. But his final selection was Michigan State because he intended to major in veterinary medicine. Since then he has changed courses, and is now an agriculture major.

At State Bob, experienced an entirely new type of offense. In high school he was taught the "set" style of play, with running wings, wing-men and a free man of play.

As a freshman Anderegg was tagged with the "can't miss" expression. So far he has more than lived up to his early notices.

Last year the 6-3 forward made the varsity, but in a competitive role playing left guard and forward. Bob attributes his versatility to Mitchell, who acquainted him with the guard, forward and center positions.

Bob played a vital part in State's emergence in the playoffs of the 1954-55. Although he was considered a sixth man on the squad, he got into 20 games and scored out the competition fourth in the scoring column.

Presently, second to John Green in team scoring, Bob amassed 224 points last year for an average of 8.5 points per game. He hit on 33 percent of his field goal tries and 57 percent of his free throw attempts.

In the rebound department he snatched 130 to rank fifth on the team.

Anderegg's offensive and defensive play has been almost flawless and he has drawn Coach Fordy Anderson's praises on various occasions.

Hodges May Catch for LA Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Dodgers still hold hope that catcher Roy Campanella may be available to them later this season and they are not going to reopen negotiations with Cincinnati for Ed Bailey.

"They were too tough to deal with last month in Colorado Springs at the baseball meetings," said vice president E. J. (Buzz) Buvast. "Imagine what they would want for Bailey now."

Yet to Beat Indians

CLEVELAND (AP)—Don Larsen, who hurled the perfect game for the New York Yankees in the 1956 World Series, has yet to beat the Cleveland Indians. In five seasons he has lost to them six times. On the other side of the ledger, Kansas City has yet to beat Larsen.

Triad Dance Features Candlelit Atmosphere

By DEANNA BLACK

Amid a gay atmosphere of cartoon characters, candlelight, and a bright array of color, members of Delta Zeta, Delta Upsilon and Theta Chi will dance to the music of Tony Romans Saturday night in the American Legion Hall.

The occasion is the annual Triad dance given by the three fraternities to establish a better relationship among the groups. Only members of the three organizations and their dates are invited to attend the dance, and in as many cases as possible members of Delta Upsilon and Theta Chi will take Delta Zeta's senior, Tom Raguso, Detroit sophomore, and Walt Herdlich, and cookies will be served for Birmingham sophomore. Punch refreshments.

Entertainment will consist of singing of the "Misterbraus" directed by Jeff Green, Berkeley, Calif., sophomore. The group is composed of men from Delta Upsilon. This will be the first appearance, the group being formed for the event.

In true co-operative spirit, work on the project has been divided up with Theta Chi handling favors, Delta Upsilon, entertainment and decorations and Delta Zeta, planning.

The walls of the legion hall will be covered with life size caricatures and the flags of the three fraternities. The color scheme will be done in the colors of the organizations: blue and gold for Delta Upsilon, red and white for Theta Chi, and rose and green for Delta Zeta. The atmosphere will be accentuated by candlelight lighting the dance floor.

The dance will be held from 9-12 p.m. Favors, which are a surprise, will be given to each couple, according to social chairman, Ruth Plank, Chicago, Ill.

Program Slates Styles

A wide variety of topics to interest homemakers is being planned for the home economics program during Farmers' Week at MSU. Planning for and using your home kitchen equipment is to be a Thursday morning feature.

On the program will be Ruth Beard, Ohio University; Edith Ramsey, home equipment editor, The American Home; and Robert Vanderweert, Lansing builder. From MSU, speakers include Coral Morris, Donald Brown and James Boyd. The speakers have planned for time to answer questions from the audience.

A highlight of the home economics program is the style review on Thursday afternoon. Costumes to be shown are designed and made by students in the textiles, clothing and related arts department. The style review will be televised by station WKAR-TV, channel 90.
