Annual Concert Scheduled

Orchestra Assists State Singers

The State Singers, MSU's Cappella Choir, will be featured Sunday at 8 p.m. in concert at Peoples Church. The concert is the choir's public performance during the school year, which has become an annual feature, each year taking on an interest and impressiveness.

During the year the choir is invited to sing at important occasions and gatherings on campus, while during its vacation, it takes a 12-hour tour through the state. This year's tour took the choir from Detroit as far north as Alpena and Manistiquet, with a schedule of 27 programs. Concerts were given in evening churches and halls, gymnasiums and auditoriums. In every case the choir received the same warm reception that is gained at a national reputation, and will culminate in Sunday's performance.

A unique feature of the State Singers is the fact that within their membership there are enough instrumentalists to form an orchestra of nearly 20 players to accompany the choir.

The orchestra will be heard to advantage when it joins the choir to perform the symphonies from Bach's cantata, "Christus Salvator," and the "Ave Maria" by Rossini. The closing number, "The Lord's Prayer," will employ the orchestra.

The numbers of interest include a Latin-American piece, "Mariano Alberto" by Berger; "The Farmer's Boy" by Lull; "The Little Dutch Play on Your Harp" by American folksong; "I Was as I Wander" and many others. The concert is free, and the public is cordially invited.

Faust Stars MSU Alumnus

Margorie Wiley, MSU alumna, will sing the role of Marguerite in Friday night's presentation of Gounod's "Faust" at the Detroit Institute of Musical Art on WKAR radio, 10:15 p.m.

The program will present the opera in a workshop production, with a selection of the intermission, acclaimed tenor, Antonio Marlowe.

Margorie has just returned from Europe where she spent the past three years as the leading soprano at the Royal Opera House, Covent Garden, London.

Lack of Petitioning Cited

Students' Political Apathy Attacked by AUSG Leader

Speaker of the House William Leary highlighted Wednesday night's meeting of Student Congress with a scathing attack on the lack of interest shown in petitioning for campus elections.

"I am disgusted," Leary said, "to see one, at most two petitions from living units, with some units not even represented." He asked that Congressmen make an attempt to spark student interest in running for office. Petitioning closes at 5 p.m. today.

The Congress session opened with an address by Reginald Green of Harvard. Green, National Student Association vice-president, repeated parts of an address made earlier to an NSA workshop at Ferris Institute.

"We are the grass-roots leaders of Student Government," he stated, "and we must maintain awareness at all times." He noted that such problems as faculty shortage, Russian progress, and grading systems face students, who must be aware of their responsibility and strive to help solve them.

Marne Geason, AUSG president, reported that "Shoo-boat" Campus Chest benefit, was relatively successful. He stated that a "Penny Night" will be held on May 2. This may serve to balance the difference between "Shoo-boat" revenue and the discontinued "Spartan" revenue.

"Penny Night" is a traditional night, when coeds may stay out one hour later, if their dates pay a penny a minute for the privilege.

The Congress appropriated a total of $624 at the session. Denise Donnovan, Miss MSU, will receive $173 to attend the three-day festival at 7 p.m.

Monday's midnight prowler at the Alpha Gamma Delta house was arraigned in East Lansing Tuesday morning before Justice William H. Wise.

The prowler, whose name was withheld by the East Lansing Police, pleaded guilty to a charge of window peeping and was fined $25.

Splashers To Display Jewelry

"Splashes of Sparkle," an annual water show presented by Green Splash under the direction of Coach Norma Stafford, will give spectators a chance to view the contents of a coed's jewelry box, aqua style.

The opening performance this evening as well as those Friday and Saturday will be at 8:15 in the Women's Gym pool.

Renelle Scott, Flint junior, opens the jewel box and the show with a spin "Key to Men's Minds." Following Miss Scott's is a group of 14 blue-suited jewelry "Sparkling Sprites."

Charm bracelets are an old favorite and, with this in mind, Jan Porter, Flossmore, Ill., sophomore; Sherry Foster, Highland Park, Ill., freshman; Sylvia Wallace, East Lansing junior, and Sandy Reppke, Coloma sophomore, team up in "A Soldier's Charm."

Also from the charm bracelet comes a duet, "Ballet a la Pink," by Denise Donnovan, Birmingham sophomore, and Nancy Miller, Muskegon sophomore. They recently swam this number in the National Senior Women's AAU synchronized meet in Iowa.

No jewelry box is complete without a ring, so Green Splashers will swim "Rings on her Fingers" in addition to "Gems of the Past."

Gems, Sue Campbell, Asheville, N.C., sophomore; Rosalind Mathews, Saginaw sophomore; Bob Nichol, Pigeon freshman, and Jen Overgrad, Birmingham freshman, will sport raccoon coats and old-fashioned bathing suits.

Sandy Giltner, East Lansing sophomore, a member of the 1957 National AAU championship synchronized duo, will be featured in a solo called "Miss Music."

Renelle Scott and Pris Hill, Clio junior, will swim a duet "Golden Earrings."

String of Pearls" is a large group number as is "Diamonds are a Girl's Best Friend." Nancy Miller will solo, to "Ruby" and in the finale will give a salute to the Green Splash pin.

"Flare With Fleurs" is a show in flower arranging, will be presented by Dr. C. E. Wildon, horticulture professor, tonight at 8 in the Union Ballroom.

Yugoslavs Continue Blast Against Kremlin Tactics

New Soviet Proposals Puzzle Ike

Gromyko Suggests Separate Negotiation

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said Wednesday he is puzzled about the purpose of current summit conference moves by Russia.

Some State Department officials say privately that the Soviet government may be backing away from a summit meeting, feeling that it cannot get a conference on its own terms.

The United States, Britain and France have been consulting on ways to clarify Soviet intentions and are expected to make a new approach to the Foreign Office in Moscow, probably today.

The puzzlement which the President publicly professed at his news conference grows out of two developments of the past week.

In the first instance, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko suggested that he negotiate separately with the U. S., British and French ambassadors in Moscow on steps toward setting up a summit session. Officials here said this would be an extremely awkward and time-consuming way to hold diplomatic talks. Together with British and French officials they decided to oppose Gromyko's suggestion and press for four-power discussions.

The second development puzzling to American officials was Russia's appeal to the United Nations Security Council to condemn U. S. Strategic Air Command bomber flights toward the Soviet Union in the north polar region.

The Soviet request to the Security Council was withdrawn Monday in the face of overwhelming opposition. State Department authorities figured that Premier Nikita Khrushchev fulfilled in ordering the issue to be thrown into the council in the first place. They said he probably could have gotten more anti-American propaganda mileage out of it by avoiding a forum in which Russia was sure to be outvoted.

But even more important than that, these authorities said, is the reason he decided to raise the issue at all at this time.

For months the Russians have been talking about relaxing international tensions and the need for a top level meeting to improve relations between the Soviet Union and the western powers.

The divisional preliminary contests are scheduled for today at 1:45 p.m. and 3:30 p.m. in 32, 33 Union and in the Town Room.

The women's final contest will be Friday at 3:15 p.m. and the men's at 8 p.m. Both will be held in the Music Aud.

Interested students and faculty are invited to attend.

Vent Your Feelings Via 'Peanuts'

Most people read the newspaper strictly for news but now and then a person may read it because he hates his wife's second cousin.

This unusual indication is contained in an analysis of newspaper readers by an MSU psychiatrist, Dr. Byron Casey.

In an article in the May issue of the alumni publication, "The Michigan State University Magazine," Dr. Casey lists a number of strange reasons why people read newspapers.

He points out that many people have inner hatreds toward some person but "being law-abiding individuals they do not demonstrate this hatred by acts of either violence or expression."

"We read the papers," says Dr. Casey, "because we know we will learn about people who frequently are worse off than we are."

He explains that the reader finds it pleasant to "feed on his own self-righteousness" and "we feel fine when the paper reports that a politician in his news makes a mistake." "We experience much satisfaction because we know that, if we were politicians, would never make such a dumb mistake," says Dr. Casey.

"Not infrequently," he adds, "people develop an emotional attachment for their newspaper. They actually are miserable when they are denied it—as during a prolonged strike."

State News Photo by Dave Weliver. Yugoslav Vice President Alexander Rankovic took up the war of words with the Kremlin Wednesday.

Diplomats Walk Out In Protest

Rankovic Claims Soviets Meddling

LIUBLJANA, Yugoslavia, (AP)—Yugoslavia's Communists accused the Kremlin Wednesday of reverting to Cominform-type Stalinist pressures against this country's independence. Demonstrating disapproval, the Soviet ambassador led satellite envoys in a walkout from the Yugoslav Communist Congress session.

Yugoslav Vice President Alexander Rankovic took up the war of words with the Kremlin where Tito left off Tuesday. He invited the Russians and their satellite parties to mind their own business and leave Yugoslavia's Communists alone.

Only communist Poland's diplomats remained in the hall to hear out the speech to its conclusion. The Poles since 1956 have been seeking some measure of independence from Moscow control.

Russian sources said, however, the diplomatic observers who walked out would return for Thursday's session of the Yugoslav Communist League's seventh congress.

During the afternoon, when the congress broke up into committee meetings, the Russian and other communist observers reappeared. Several attended the foreign affairs, economic and ideological committees.

Rankovic's speech apparently was Tito's reply to the Kremlin's refusal to permit official delegations from Russia and the satellites to attend the congress in this northern Yugoslav city. But they did permit their envoys to come as observers.

Russia's ambassador, Lev the march at a press. Tito sat through the first 80 minutes of Rankovic's speech on Yugoslav domestic affairs but did not return after the recess to hear his denunciation. They knew, however, what was coming for copies of the speech were handed out beforehand.

In the walkout with Russia were Red China, Bulgaria, East Germany, Romania, Hungary, Mongolia and North Viet Nam.

Czechoslovakia and Albania do not have observers here, informed sources said. The Czechoslovak ambassador, Wilhelm Pittard, was turned away Tuesday on the grounds that he lacked proper credentials from his country's Communist Party.

The walkout and Rankovic's speech apparently widened the new rift between the Kremlin and Tito. Khrushchev and Tito began to patch up their relations in 1954. Stalin threw Tito out of the communist camp in 1948.

The 1,700 Yugoslav delegates cheered Rankovic long and loud when he called upon them to take a new look at what he called attempts to isolate Yugoslavia.

"Certainly very responsible people," he said, "are again sharpening the old and rusty weapons of the Cominform."

Ike Denies Unification Of Military

Public Confidence Key To Slump: Lindemer

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, hotly denied Wednesday that his defense reorganization plan opened the door for merging the armed forces into a single military service.

"I think it is just not possible, if we are sensible people," he said.

"We agree with the President that we should take whatever steps are necessary to get our economy back in shape, but we do not believe in prescribing a cure that will poison the patient," the Michigan GOP leader said in obvious reference to Democratic demands for more vigorous steps by the administration.

Asked to justify the actions of the Republican-controlled Legislature in cutting appropriations to higher education, Lindemer voiced the reluctance of the GOP to take such an action, but explained the cut as necessary to the state in its current state of financial turmoil.

"It's going to require an awakening of the people," Lindemer said, "before the problem can be solved."

New Horror Trend Infests Film Industry

LAST TERM a State News editorial, "Filmland is Committing Gradual Hara Kiri," pointed to a parasitic trend which seems determined to infest the motion picture industry.

A Sunday article in the Detroit Free Press "Parade" section, "The Movies' New Craze—Horror," confirms this danger while sounding new storm warnings.

Hollywood, the article reports, is off on a new horror kick which is resulting in the turnout of more monster movies than ever before.

"Three of every four films made... today are classified as 'exploitation pictures.'" Free Press West Coast correspondent Lloyd Shearer writes, "Why?" asks Shearer. "Because such films are cheap, timeless, exploitable—and profitable."

Take, for example, a recent pair of choice double-feature masterpieces, "I Was a Teen-age Frankenstein" - "Blood of Dracula" and "Voodoo Woman" - "The Undead" released by American-International cost the three-year-old company no more than $750,000. Gross totals will ring at least $2,500,000.

The productions take a great deal of imagination. This is evident in the titles alone—"Beast Without a Body," "Horrors of the Black Museum," "She-Gods of Shark Reef," "My Father Was Dracula," "I Married a Monster from Outer Space," "The Beast with 1,000,000 Eyes," "The She Creature," "The Colonus of New York," "The Amazing Colossal Man" and "Cat Girl" just to name a few.

Shearer reports that today's films are primarily slanted to appeal to teenagers. The majority of American-International's box office, says advertising manager Dick McKay, are in the 16-20 age group.

"Kids love our pictures because they move," says McKay. Be this as it may, Hollywood in 1958 is dependent on gimmicks to draw the juvenile (the word is used in its most derogatory sense) from whatever he doesn't happen to be doing at the moment.

WHEN "MACABRE" was recently released, the following crowd-drawer accompanied it: "$1,000 in case of death by fright during the showing. Every person gets a bona fide policy issued by the world's foremost insurance company."

"Teen-age Frankenstein" often used ambulances or hearses with uniformed nurses and fainting female employees as a theater come-on.

Free Frankenstein masks were distributed by the advertising agencies to young children. "You order a Frankenstein mat from us, print it locally and give it to the kids—they'll do the rest. Every mask is a walking ad and will really get great box-office results," a typical tip sheet to aid exhibitors advised. "Be sure to print the title, theatre, playdate on the reverse side and use green ink for the face so as to give it a more eerie effect," the tip sheet added.

Boris Karloff, according to Shearer, is sensitive about the word "horror" and says it's a misnomer. Karloff, soon to appear in "Frankenstein-1970," maintains horror suggests revulsion.

"We intend to give moviegoers goose pimples," says Karloff, "but we certainly don't intend to upset their stomachs." The movies themselves are probably harmless for adults, we agree, but it's the publicity stunts which, in our minds, suggest revulsion.

The fact that Hollywood currently exploits a predecided age group, notably the teenagers, is in itself an indictment against the new trend.

The unfortunate result of the current run of horror movies is the already noticeable lowering of decency standards in general. One rotten apple can spoil a bushel, it has been said, but from here it looks like the bushel is already two-thirds gone with little hope of salvaging the rest.

S'News Judgement Questioned

To the Editor: It is with never ending amazement that this reader follows the daily appearance of the State News. This Monday, for instance, he found a very short review of Sunday's concert by the university musical forces among MSU Briefs.

How about using a number of the fleet of MSU buses and transport the chorus, soloists and orchestra to Ann Arbor to Hill Auditorium to present "King David" there. We export a great many of our achievements, why not this one as well?

THE PEOPLE'S VIEW of a political party chairman, says Michigan Republican Central Committee Chairman Larry Lindemer, seems to be one of a man continuously bubbling over with optimism over his party's chances at the next election.

"What's wrong with this guy Alcorn?" a member of Student Government's Academic Benefits committee had asked Lindemer during the course of a Wednesday night Kellogg Center banquet held in Lindemer's honor.

Lindemer, in relating the incident to a Union gathering after a "Politics—1958" speech, explained that H. Meade Alcorn, who is Republican party chairman on the national level, had been asked for his opinion of GOP chances to regain Senate control in the 1958 elections.

"It is early in the year to tell what's going to happen in the Governorship race," Lindemer said, "but I believe it is highly unlikely that the Republicans will fail to hold their majority in the Legislature."

Alcorn, who will be a "Politics—1958" speaker himself June 2, had predicted what seemed to local Republicans, a forecast completely void of the usual over-optimistic phrases.

"The intangibles tax" the callers would scream in alarm. "Heavens, no! Not that! Maybe the sales tax, perhaps."

Israel Marks Tenth Year

UN Orders Arms Cut In Jerusalem Parade

Jerusalem, Israeli Sector (AP)—Israel ushered in a nationwide celebration of its 10th anniversary of independence Wednesday night by lighting a memorial beacon on Mt. Herzl. A 10-gun salute signaled general joymaking. Israel was under orders of a UN commission to cut the size of its anniversary military parade. But there was no sign that it would heed the order. The memorial beacon, commemorating Israel's 10th anniversary, was lit by Joseph H. Hayes, speaker of parliament, and 11 new immigrants from the United States. Among them was a young man from New York, who was lit by Joseph H. Hayes, speaker of parliament.

MSU Holds Speech Meet For Readers

This year's "Apple Blossom Festival," an oral interpretation meet sponsored by the MSU department of speech, will be held May 7-10. The purpose of the invitational, which will take place in Kellogg Center, is to give readers from various colleges and universities a chance to be evaluated on the basis of their artistic performances. Students will be given individual criticism but will not be ranked.

The annual Forestry Conclave for the Forestry clubs of MSU, University of Michigan, University of Minnesota, Purdue University, and Iowa State College, will begin May 2 at the Broad Lake recreation area near Milford. The general public is invited to attend Saturday's festivities. Additional information can be obtained at the Forestry building.

Eisenhower Says Recession Is Minor Emergency

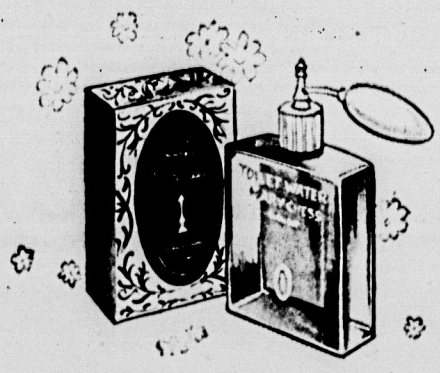

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower described the recession Wednesday as a "minor emergency." He said it is being met and "I don't think we should get hysterical about any of this business." Eisenhower told a news conference it has been evident for two or three weeks that "the rate of decline has been flattening out." He credited his administration with "a very impressive record" in combatting the slump. Once again, the President left a tax cut to the indefinite future. He said he doesn't believe it restores confidence just to say suddenly: "Here is some kind of a tax cut."

2. He doesn't know why Republican National Chairman Meade ALCORN should say it isn't in the cards for the GOP to capture the Senate in the November election. He said he himself never has admitted in advance he was going to get licked in a fight—"and I'm not doing it now."
3. Soviet complaints that American bombers are taking off provocatively into the Arctic air are based on this situation: If the nation and its military establishment are going to exist in this day of possible surprises, big and expensive planes must be "gotten off fields that could be targets. Once off, they have to get proper orders."
4. A Democratic-sponsored bill to expand the unemployment compensation system, Eisenhower said, would destroy that system and put people "on the dole, and on nothing else." He said that "I just don't believe that is good business."
It was Eisenhower's fifth successive weekly session with reporters—the longest string of conferences since he held eight in a row in 1954.

In Future Rose Bowls Best in West to Tackle Big 10 Grid Champions

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—It isn't official yet, but you can bank on this:

After 1959 the West will be represented in the Pasadena Rose Bowl game by the best team on the Pacific coast, not necessarily the Pacific Coast Conference champion.

The PCC, its commissioner Victor O. Schmidt, and three schools that are quitting the conference July 1, 1959, held an exploratory meeting Tuesday with the Tournament of Roses committee to discuss policy.

The conference, splitting at the seams, hasn't made up its mind and the prosperous Big 10 isn't talking about the future of the Rose Bowl game.

The Pasadena session developed from the announced intention of USC, UCLA and California to quit the PCC July 1, 1959.

A PCC committee was told by Lathrop Leishman, chairman of the Tournament of Roses committee, that his group wants "the best team on the Pacific coast to play in the Rose Bowl game."

The PCC committee, Leishman said, had "the same feeling,"

All women interested in playing intramural lacrosse should report to the Women's gymnasium at 10 a.m. Saturday. Teams will be organized at this time.

tee, the Big 10 has a contract only with the PCC. This is of an indefinite nature, but can be cancelled on two years' notice.

Although none of the parties concerned mention it publicly, the big gate draw in the Rose Bowl game mainly rests among the partisans of the three California schools which threaten to bolt the PCC.

In recent years, the New Year's Day game has been between representatives of the PCC and the Big 10, but PCC restrictions often have excluded top Western teams.

From the Dugout Spartan Rivalry

By HARDY CHRIST

One of the bitterest rivalries at Michigan State will again resume this weekend. This time it's the Spartan baseball team playing against the University of Michigan's in a three-game series. These two intra-state rivals will meet at State's Old College Field Friday, and then move to Ann Arbor for a doubleheader Saturday.

The game Friday will officially open the Big 10 baseball season for both teams. It will be the start of what is hoped will be the Spartans' best conference season since 1954, when MSU won the conference championship.

The Spartans have all the tools with which to win the coveted title this year. They have a strong, young, aggressive contingent, and also have enough veterans in the lineup to instill confidence and leadership.

Hustle has been a trademark for the Spartans this year. Every man on the squad gives that little extra that turns mediocre team into a championship outfit.

Besides having star performers at every position in the starting lineup, Coach John Kobs' squad has other so-called "benchwarmers" who are able to move into the lineup any time and perform as capably as the starters.

The series against the University of Michigan will go a long way in determining State's chances for a championship. According to reports from the Wolverine campus, baseball team is in the process of a "rebuilding" program but so far, the Wolves have experienced a successful record.

Michigan finished second in the Big 10 a year ago and would have copped the title had it not been for the Spartans, State, which had only an average team last year, went down to Ann Arbor and whipped the favored Wolves 3-0, to end their hopes of a championship.

When State travels to Ann Arbor, they will be faced by a highly partisan crowd of Michigan rooters. The Wolves always fill their baseball stadium.

When the Spartans play at Old College Field, however, they are usually performing in front of only a skeletal representation of fans. In the past few years, crowd home games have been poor. The student body has backed the baseball team as it has other sports as basketball and football. As a result, the spiritless Spartans have not enjoyed good records for home contests.

As Coach Kobs puts it, "It's up to the student body help win a championship. It's their team, and with backing, I'm sure the Spartans will be tough to beat this year."

This year's edition have the tools, both physically and mentally, to gain a championship, but they need that incentive that only the students can give them.

Boston Beats Orioles

Score Blanks Chicago On Three Hits, 2-0

CLEVELAND (AP)—Herb Score flashed his old form Wednesday, striking out 13 Chicago batters as he pitched a three-hit shutout in Cleveland's 2-0 victory over the White Sox. Bobby Avila homered for the Indians, one of seven hits off Billy Pierce.

In matching his 2-1 record last season, the 23-year-old southpaw tossed his first shut-out in exactly a year. He walked only three and was in trouble in only two innings.

The Indians scored in the second inning on Carroll Hardy's sacrifice fly after a double by Rocky Colavito and a single by Chico Carrasquel.

They added another run off Pierce in the third inning on Avila's home run over the left field fence, his first of the season.

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Red Sox defeated Baltimore, 7-5, Wednesday for their second victory in nine starts.

Ted Williams, Jackie Jensen, Frank Malzone and Pete Runnels collected the vital blows in a 10-hit attack, but a late Baltimore surge threatened to wipe out their efforts.

Winning only the second of nine starts, the Red Sox pulled themselves together for a tie-breaking three-run fifth inning. Tommy Brewer worked his way free from two bases-loaded jams, but needed relief to gain the triumph.

Different Ball, Rules U. S. Basketball Teams Face Two Problems

MOSCOW (AP)—American basketball players, preparing for a series of games against the Russians, are having trouble getting used to an Italian basketball and a strange set of international rules.

The Russians are calling the shots and the U. S. men's and women's teams are not too happy about the conditions. The first games are scheduled Friday night in the Sports Palace here.

Besides the basketball, a crazy sphere which is lighter and smaller than the customary American ball, the following rules have been imposed:

- 1—Instead of the usual key-hole under each basket there is an 18-foot wide egg shaped zone in which offensive players can remain only three seconds.
- 2—A 30-second rule which requires that the team in possession take a shot at the basket within that period of time.

"Jockey brand T-shirts made me irresistible!"

"I was a Saturday night bookworm, and not because I liked books more than dates. To put it bluntly, I was resistible. Then my best friend told me I needed to make a better appearance—I needed Jockey T-shirts. I started wearing these good looking T-shirts, and girls started to call me for dates!

"Now, thanks to Jockey T-shirts, I'm dated weeks in advance. The twin stitch collar that fits so smoothly, the trim-fitting body of the shirt, these are the main reasons why I'm so popular and comfortable these days."

Troops Plunge to Death

Five Killed, 100 Injured In Air Drop

High, Gusty Winds Held Responsible

FORT CAMPBELL, Ky. (AP)—Five battle-trained paratroopers jumped to their death in a mass air drop on this windswept military base Wednesday. More than 100 of their companions were hurt.

The maneuver, covering several days of operations by the streamlined 101st Airborne division, led up to Wednesday's Exercise Eagle Wing air drop. More than 1,300 men of the famed division participated in the jump.

Military spokesmen said gusty and shifting winds near ground level blew the falling paratroopers from the landing zone. Some fell into adjacent woodland, some into rough and stump-studded terrain.

It was the first mass air drop of this size since the famed World War II outfit was reorganized in 1956 into a pentomic division, equipped for atomic warfare. A model for future streamlined divisions, the 101st is composed of five battle groups, from which its designation is derived.

The decision to go ahead with Wednesday's planned air drop was made at 4 a.m. Wednesday, when the wind was blowing but not dangerously.

Officials said the wind was at about eight knots, at ground level when the drop started, but was shifting and gusty. The maximum velocity in which jumps are permitted is 12 knots.

Major Gen. W. C. Westmoreland, Division Commander, jumped with his troops—his 70th jump without injury. Lt. Gen. Thomas F. Hickey, Commander of the Third Army, witnessed the air drop.

Immediately after he came down, Gen. Westmoreland described the exercise as "a very successful jump." But that was before the drop had been completed and the full extent of casualties determined.

MSU Branch Starts to Build

Ground-breaking ceremonies for the first building to be constructed for MSU-Oakland have been scheduled for 2:30 p.m., Friday, May 2, it was announced Wednesday by D. B. Varner, Vice President for Off-Campus Education.

The site is on the Meadow Brook estate which Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson, of Rochester, gave to MSU in January, 1957, together with $2,000,000 to finance the construction of the first building. It is hoped to open the new college to serve populous Oakland and Macomb counties in the fall of 1959.

Coeds Lift Taboo

Students Take to Bikes As Spring Rides High

Not everyone enjoys walking to classes; not everyone owns a car; certainly few can ride a bicycle.

Conclusion: take to the bikes! Many students are doing just that. With winter weather gone, students, particularly coeds, are overlooking the general taboo that to ride a bicycle to class is socially unacceptable.

Attempts are being made to re-form the cycling club which last year took a number of Spartans to outlying areas.

Several members of the four Harrison Road societies find that cycling does away with the hitch-hiking problem. In fact, a number of bicycles have been rented for the term.

Bicycles, like cars, are under regulation when operated on campus. According to the bicycle ordinance, no bicycle shall be operated in or upon the campus unless and until the owner has registered it and received a permit.

Since last July, 462 bikes have been registered with the University Police Department, according to Richard Bernitt, assistant director, protective services. He stated that bikes must be registered only once, not every year, therefore the above figure is not representative of all bikes on campus.

Bernitt said that according to the Ann Arbor Police Department, 13,000 bikes are registered with them with an estimated 9,000 of them belonging to U of M students.

Bike registration with the university is free while a 50-cent fee is required of all residents in East Lansing.

Bernitt stated that the MSU Police Department honors the registration of East Lansingites riding on campus and vice versa.

Applications to ride a bike on campus must be made by April 1 of each year, according to the ordinance. The permit is effective for two years.

AF Rocket Trys New Nose Cone

Hurled 5,500 Miles In Recovery Trial

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla.

A massive rocket with a new, highly secret nose cone blasted off Wednesday night with a tremendous flash of yellow flame over most of Florida.

The rocket's mission was to hurl the nose cone 5,500 miles out over the southeast Atlantic, to see whether it could withstand the fantastic friction heat of the earth's atmosphere as it plunged back from some 80 miles in space.

The Air Force hoped to recover the cone after it crashed on its ocean target area some-where near Ascension Island, off the African coast. The flight was to take only 30 minutes.

A hybrid rocket composed of the Air Force Thor and the second stage of the Navy's Vanguard satellite vehicle was used in tonight's dual purpose test flight.

One aim of the spectacular shoot was to try out a nose cone designed to keep the warheads of long-range ballistic missiles from burning up in the atmosphere as they dive to their targets.

The other was to determine how this wedding of Air Force and Navy rockets will work out. It has been reported that the first rocket the United States fires to the moon will be composed of a Thor topped by the two upper stages of the Vanguard.

4-Cent Stamp Favored

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate House conferees Wednesday voted to eliminate a 5-cent stamp for out-of-town letter mail from a postal rate hike bill and to fix the rate at 4 cents.

President Eisenhower and Postmaster General Summerfield had urged Congress to establish the 5 cent rate on incentive letters. The present 3 cent letter rate has been in effect since 1932.

The conferees also voted to include in the bill a 257-million-dollar pay hike for the 500,000 postal employees. This is considerably more than Eisenhower had proposed.

The pay boost agreed to would be 7½ percent for each employee permanently plus 2½ percent for three years for workers in the first six grade levels and 1½ percent for three years for those in grade 7.

The Administration had recommended a 6 percent pay raise. The conferees did not finish their work on the bill but they hoped to do so today. A general rate increase question remains to be decided.

An angrily worded message on the rejection of the rate came from L. R. Moore, special assistant to Postmaster General Summerfield.

He said the action would be the President Eisenhower's for a two-billion-dollar postage modernization program was designed to provide new post office buildings.
