Specialists Often Called In

Olin Doctors Do Minor Surgery Only

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last in a series of articles describing in general terms the facilities and procedures of Olin Memorial Health Center. A more detailed discussion of Olin policies and procedures is upcoming.

By PHIL SHAPTER

OLIN HOSPITAL DOCTORS are permitted to do minor surgery only. If a major operation is necessary, a specialist will attend the case, according to Dr. Clifford Menzies, Olin director.

Major operations may be made in Olin, but the patient must pay the surgeon's fee. There is no charge for hospital services during the operation.

The procedure governing emergency calls was set up with campus police in 1953. Arrangements are that in case of emergency calls, campus police, who are trained in first aid, will be dispatched to the scene to determine the extent of injury or illness. They are to ascertain whether a doctor is needed or if the patient can be moved.

According to the arrangement, Olin will rely on the policeman's judgment and will send a doctor when one is requested by an officer.

IF THE PATIENT is not a student, Olin doctors will administer first aid. If the patient cannot be moved from the hospital area, a local specialist will be called and the patient charged accordingly.

First aid, according to Menzies, consists of doing everything possible to make the patient comfortable. The medical terminology "definitive treatment" is defined as total treatment.

It is imperative here to explain that most of this definitive treatment is given to cases of shock, which are the first cases occurring with the greatest regularity.

Treatment in such shock cases consists of giving transfusions, administering oxygen and keeping the patient warm. After the shock treatment, the health center will set fractures, repair tendons, and bandage wounds. According to Menzies, first aid treatment will not be considered finished until all the above is completed.

SPECIFIC HOSPITAL RULES governing both patients and personnel have been adopted over a period of years. All of these rules are for the patient's protection, states Menzies in a brochure to be provided for all patients.

He says the most "worrisome rule" for hospitalized students to understand is "no student visiting." "This rule is to prevent epidemics from spreading throughout the campus and to prevent post-operative cases from becoming infected," he said.

"There is a telephone in the waiting room," Menzies explains, "and if a student is really interested in the patient's welfare, he or she can call."

Another rule which Menzies says causes consternation among students concerns notification of the patient's parents. "Parents are not notified of the patient's admission, at residence, or dorms are contacted."

"THE REASON FOR this is that a hospital study shows 18 days is the average time a patient stays in the hospital at one time. However, if the patient becomes seriously ill, it is to have an operation, parents are notified immediately."

Menzies says that the hospital policy is always open to criticism and changes will be made for reasonable complaints.

He states that the greatest care was given to building the hospital, but there is always room for improvement in any functioning policy and he would welcome suggestions toward improving Olin's policies.

MEMBERS OF ALL student publications attended the annual Publications Banquet Thursday night. President and Mrs. John A. Hannah headed the list of faculty and administration guests which saw the Veterinarian win the award for the best skit for the second year.

Veterinarian Wins Traditional Trophy

The Veterinarian magazine again copped the traditional oilcan trophy at the annual Publication Banquet Thursday night in the Union.

The editor was awarded the trophy for the group's skit judged best by guests at the head table including Dr. and Mrs. John A. Hannah, Mr. and Mrs. Philip May, Mr. and Mrs. Elwyn McCray and Mr. and Mrs. William McElrath.

As compensation the Veterinarian editor presented second and third place trophies to friendly rivals, Spartan Magazine and the State News.

McCray, assistant professor in the school of journalism, presented outstanding scholarship awards to Betty Prout, Houghton senior, Robert Lyon, Yale winter term graduate, and Gary Warner, East Lansing senior.

These are annually presented to the top five percent of the journalism graduates by Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity.

Warner also was awarded recognition as the outstanding male graduate in journalism. See PUBLICATIONS, Page 3.

Students Lead Riot In Panama

6 Killed in Fights With Guardsmen

PANAMA (AP)—Panama government troops battled rioters who went on a rampage of destruction throughout the city Thursday. Six persons were killed and at least 40 wounded. The outbursts came in the midst of general strike threats.

Hostilities continued at several points in the Capital through the afternoon, but troops were reported routed over the violence that began as student demonstrations last Monday.

The riots flared after the government declared a state of siege—modified martial law—to meet the threat of a general strike.

The strike was called after several days of student demonstrations demanding the ouster of Education Minister Victor Jullian for alleged failure to correct bad school conditions.

After National Guardsmen fired on students last Monday, killing one youth, the students expanded their demands to include the firing of three National Guard chiefs.

8 Missiles Blast Apart In Sequence

Warheads Leave 'Horrible' Scene

MIDDLETOWN, N.J. (AP)—A powerful Nike guided missile blew up on the ground here Thursday and exploded seven others in a tremendous blast of fire and fury. All missiles were fully armed for warfare.

Seven to 10 persons died in a split second of disintegrating force and flame. From the scattered human fragments, it was impossible to say the death toll. Maj. Gen. Charles B. Gault of the Army Air Defense Command said it would be at least seven and could be 10.

Three others were injured. Victims included both civilians and servicemen.

Each of the missiles carried three warheads. The explosion stressed these explosive devices across a wide range of countryside. Most of them were accounted for but others still lay unexploded, like booby traps.

"We do feel the area was reasonably safe," Gault said. "The explosion spread fairly a great range of fire over the missile base here. It cast a severe atomic-like pall over a scene of carnage that our eye-witnesses called 'horrible beyond imagination.'"

The missiles did not bear atomic warheads, but conventional ones of shrapnel and high explosives.

It may never be known what set off the first rocket, which exploded triggered a chain reaction.

The only people who could give us that precise information are among the casualties," Gault said.

Civil Defense Error 'Wipes Out' Lansing

LANSING (AP)—The Greater Lansing area was theoretically wiped out Wednesday because of a slip-up. The area was given only 15 minutes warning to evacuate as bombs supposedly aimed toward the Midwest industrial region during the test of Civil Defense communications.

After receiving an alert, State officials had about an hour and 45 minutes to contact Civil Defense heads at the various communities. They went down the sequence list but neglected to inform East Lansing headquarters, just down the hall.

As a result, Lansing suffered the next to worst pasting from the bombers in the totaling of supposed casualties. The Detroit area supposedly suffered 497,000 casualties and Lansing was next with 200,000.

Basic English Drop Doesn't Make Sense

THE DECISION to omit freshman English and/or comm skills from the proposed curriculum of MSU's new extension at Oakland may well be unprecedented as it was described in Monday's State News, but more than that, it is highly unnerveing.

Apparently the students at MSU, the University of Michigan and countless other prominent colleges and universities came to college poorly prepared, for these schools offer first term freshman English courses to improve the students' writing and speaking skills as preparation for the advanced composition that will be required of them in upper school courses.

Not only is this move inconsistent with most philosophies of education, it also appears to be inconsistent with the very purpose of the new extension, which is to help accommodate a portion of the tremendous number of men and women from this area who wish to attend college. At present there are 5,000 students from Oakland-Macomb and adjacent counties attending MSU and a great many more are expected in the near future.

IF THE NEW BRANCH college were to be an Honors College type institution, and if admittance to the college were to be on a highly selective basis from a large group of people, it might be safe to assume as the curriculum committee assumes in its report, "that only those students will be admitted who have demonstrated in their high school record that they have the ability to do college level work."

But since this is not going to be an Honors College type institution, and since the selection of students is not going to be made from a large group of people (at least not as that of MSU or the U of M, both of which give a freshman English course), then this assumption seems quite unrealistic. In fact it seems almost naive. That is unless, of course, the high schools in Oakland-Macomb and adjacent counties teach a brand of English far superior to that taught in the rest of Michigan's high schools. This, it seems, is rather doubtful.

IT IS DOUBTFUL, too, that instructors in history, math, science and so on will have time enough to teach their specific subjects thoroughly and still have time to teach good English.

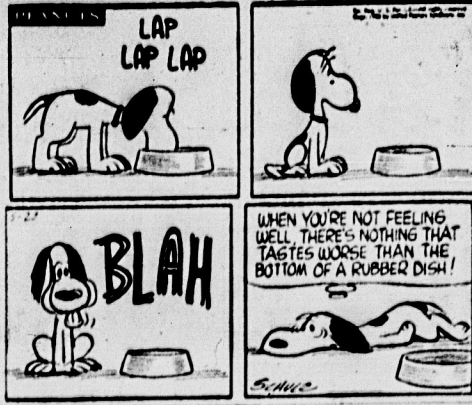

Sure, the student at Oakland can, if he feels his English is not up to par, or if he is flunking his behavioral science because of his poor English usage, take a remedial course in English taught by high school teachers for $15 a term. He might just as well go back to high school, for that matter.

Let's face facts. The English that is taught in the majority of the nation's high school including those of Michigan do not fulfill the needs of a college student. This is why the majority of the nation's colleges and universities teach some sort of freshman English course.

So why cheat the student by making him go out on his own to get this instruction at extra cost, at the same time penalizing him in his other courses if his English usage is not what it should be?

SOME KIND of an English course should be taught. The fact that freshman English is a course, "the students do not enjoy taking nor the faculty enjoy teaching," as was stated by Vice President Varner in Monday's State News should have nothing to do with it.

If the committee continues to assume that admittance can be limited to students who have shown by their high school record that they have the ability to do college level work, the committee will also have to assume the enrollment at the Oakland branch will be a wee bit low.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?
BOURBON, Ind. (AP)—Residents of this northern Indiana town apparently care nothing about living up to their name. The county Alcoholic Beverage Commission turned down an application to open a liquor store after it received a petition from 842 citizens opposing the license. Bourbon's citizens protested that they are against alcoholic beverages in principle.

'Operation Big Stink' Plans Set

By LYNN SHEPARD
State News Edit Page Editor

Residents of University Village and the Brody dorm group, unite! All you have to lose are your noseplugs!

The State News, in answer to the long and anguished "SOS" messages from all you unfortunate down by the sewer, launches "Operation Big Stink" next week.

In one of the noblest and most extensive crusades this newspaper has ever led, the State News will be pursuing the problem posed by the Red Cedar sewer disposal plant in its editorial columns, editorial cartoons, feature articles AND "Letters to the Editor."

The success of the first three items lies in our hands. The last category, however, will depend upon you. The importance of the student voice, based on our past experience, has convinced us that your letters have as much, if not more, influence on needed change than anything we might say ourselves.

Your comments need not be lengthy. In fact, we will appreciate your keeping them brief, clear and to the point. We are sure, though, after having spoken to many of you in your living units, that you can make valuable contributions to MSU through the "Letter to the Editor" route.

It is our hope that by giving such a complete presentation of the problem you face and the possible solutions to it, curative action will be taken which will, in the long run, benefit both you and the university.

Letters Walden Pond

To the Editor:
The Thoreau Society has asked me to express its thanks to all those students and staff members at MSU who have contributed to the fund to save Walden Pond.

At the present time, the Society has instituted legal proceedings to prevent the County of Middlesex from disturbing the Walden property, and has simultaneously introduced a bill into the Massachusetts legislature to give custody of the area to the State Department of Natural Resources, which has indicated sincere interest in its preservation.

Even if this maneuver is successful, an acre and a half of woods adjacent to Thoreau's cabin have already been bulldozed flat.

However, if funds for legal fees hold out, further damage can probably be prevented until the State legislature presumably can take over the property. I shall be happy to forward additional contributions to the Society at any time, of course.

U. S. Ambassadorial Pomp Suffers

Do Second Hand Cadillacs Lack Dignity?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Four senators reached bipartisan agreement Thursday that diplomatic dignity flies out the window when ambassadors' second hand limousines break down.

The four—Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.), Allen Ellender (D-La.), Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine) and Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass)—were holding an appropriations subcommittee hearing.

They nodded sympathetically when State Department spokesman "You can buy only second hand Cadillac limousines for the $3,000 limit set by Congress for U. S. ambassadors' cars. The cars break down at inopportune times—when the ambassador is meeting an important visitor, for example—and they have to be pushed. Could the limit be raised to $6,500?"

"Costly economy," Mrs. Smith said. "It isn't dignified, when you come right down to it," said Saltonstall.

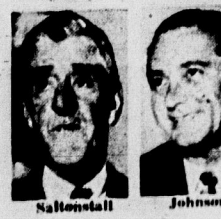

"I've been traveling around the world for years," Ellender

Police Students Undergo Exams For Recruitment

The Oakland California Police Department will send representatives more than 2,000 miles to test 150 officer candidates at MSU Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

Michigan State has been selected as Midwest testing center by the California department, which offers among the highest starting salaries in police circles.

Thirty students of the MSU School of Police Administration are among the 150 would-be police officers from nine states who Saturday will undergo a three-hour written examination and then don gym clothes for an obstacle course agility test in Jensen Field House.

The Oakland Police Department is expected to enroll about 20 of the best qualified candidates for its police training program which pays a starting salary of $5,770 a year.

Converging on East Lansing for the recruitment program will be men from 67 cities in Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota and Nebraska.

The program is a repeat of a recruiting visit made by the Oakland department a year ago. The top student in last year's examination, Charles Herbert of MSU, joined the Oakland force and became valedictorian of his training class on the West Coast.

Baseball Crown Hopes Ride on Weekend Play

BILL BISARD ... netters' big guns in conference meet . . . FOSTER HOFFMAN

Spartans Face Iowa, Minnesota

Top Big 10 Hitters Eye New Record

By HARDY CHRIST

Michigan State's baseball team is on the road this weekend for the final three Big 10 games of the year and a chance at its first conference championship since 1951.

The Spartans, leading the circuit with a 9-3 mark, move last-place Iowa today in a single-game doubleheader with second-place Minnesota Saturday.

The Gophers are only one-half game behind the front-running Spartans, with an 8-3 conference record.

Ohio State, still in contention for at least a share of the crown, plays at Purdue today and at Illinois Saturday. The Buckeyes have an 8-4 league mark.

Michigan State leads the Big 10 in hitting with a .332 average and has three unbeaten pitchers, lefty Ron Perranoski (4-0) and right-handers Dick Radatz (3-0) and Larry Foster (2-0).

The Spartans could set an all-time Big 10 team record in hitting if they continue to hit with the authority that has brought them nine conference victories. The prevailing mark is .325, compiled by Ohio State University.

"The team is hitting at a fantastic pace," Coach John Kohn said. "It's almost too much to hope that we can keep that up but if we do, it should mean a championship for Michigan State."

Outfielder Ted Kearly, .330 batting average leads the Big 10. He has been alternating with John Russell in right field; however, and has been to bat only 25 times. A hitter must bat at least 30 times before being considered for the individual batting championship.

Four other Spartans—Don Look, John Flesch, Dick Samsel and Don Gilbert—are hitting over the .400 mark in Big 10 competition.

Two wins in the three games will set up at least a tie for the championship for the Spartans. They must beat Minnesota at least once to gain the title and Ohio State must sweep its three-game weekend series to remain in contention.

The winner of the Big 10 tournament annually represents the conference in the NCAA district IV tournament. If Ohio State and MSU should tie for the top spot, the Spartans would be designated champions, according to Big 10 rules.

Minnesota State's main opponent this weekend, is second in conference batting with a combined .285 mark, and is tops in team fielding with .964.

Iowa has been able to get only three games this year while losing nine, and is embedded in last place. The Hawkeyes are also last in team hitting, with a meager .196 average.

Radatz, leading the Big 10 in strikeouts with 36, will face the Hawkeyes today. Perranoski, the conference's top pitcher, will open the twin-bill Saturday against the Gophers, and Foster will pitch the second game. Perranoski is third among Big 10 pitchers in strikeouts with 22.

At Conference Showdown Netters Need Extra Hustle To Finish in First Division

Michigan State's terms team, with a 6-6 won-lost dual meet record and second and third place finishes in quadrangular meets, is in Evanston, Ill., this weekend for the Big 10 title meet.

Coach Stan Droba's netters will have to overcome some stiff opposition if they are to finish in the first division. Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, Northwestern and Indiana all appear to have the necessary ammunition to compete in the front-runners group.

The Spartans' top threat in the singles will be Capt. Bill Bisard, Bill Hotchkiss, Foster Hoffman, Doug Smith, Bob Samsack and Jeff Green round out the contingent.

In doubles, the team of Bisard and Hoffman at the No. 1 position is capable of pulling some spots on a good day.

Illinois has defeated all nine other conference schools. West individual woodcock is 13-3 while No. 3 man Bob Bookbinder has won 16 of 17 matches.

Exp. rates as the top contender for first place honors, has a 10-1 dual meet record, the only loss being to the Illini. No. 1 singles man Art Andrews has lost only one dual meet match in two years.
