U. S.-Formosa Peace Proposal Rejected by Chinese Nationalists

Troop Cut Opposed By Chiang

Would Ignore Plan Made With Reds

TAIPEI, Formosa, Thursday (AP)—President Chiang Kai-Shek balked at the U. S. formula for peace in Formosa Strait and his Nationalist Government then flatly rejected it Wednesday.

Chiang made clear in an interview he is opposed to reducing the garrisons of the offshore island as the price of a cease-fire. And he implied he would be free to ignore any cease-fire negotiated by the United States and Red China.

An official statement from the foreign ministry said troops must be clear the way for a Red invasion of Formosa and therefore, "we cannot countenance the reduction of this defensive strength."

Chiang and his foreign office aimed their shafts at a statement by Secretary of State Dulles in a Washington news conference Tuesday. Dulles proposed a "cut in the Nationalist offshore garrisons in exchange for a cease-fire. He was backed up Wednesday by President Eisenhower.

The foreign ministry, after an all night series of meetings, called the Quemoy and Matsu offshore island groups indispensable shields to Formosa.

"For this reason we must defend them to the best of our ability," the statement said. "The Chinese Communists have always wanted to invade these islands as a prelude to what they have repeatedly declared to be an invasion of Taiwan (Formosa) itself."

The statement, delivered by ministry spokesman Kiang Yi-Seng, asserted that since 1949, the communists have been building a powerful military force on the mainland coast opposite Formosa.

"In the face of this ever present threat of invasion, it is only natural that we should station a strong garrison force to meet any attack," it said.

In any event, the Chinese Government has made it known time and again that it would defend its legitimate rights and not be bound by any arrangement which would prejudice these rights and interests.

Chiang in his interview with the correspondent said he could not believe Dulles could be seriously thinking of asking for a cut in the offshore garrisons, or that Dulles believed a dependent cease-fire could be arranged with the Chinese Communists.

'S' Actors Start Tour Of Europe

Seven-Week Trip To Travel Globe

The MSU Players left Capital City Airport this morning on the first leg of a seven-week tour that will cover almost a third of the globe, and includes visits to eight countries on three continents.

They will present "The Tender Trap" and a variety show for United States servicemen abroad.

The tour will visit defense bases in West Germany, France, Italy, England, Turkey, Lebanon, Libya and Austria under the auspices of USO, the American Educational Theatre association, the Defense Department and Cap and Gown Series of the Continuing Education Service.

Dr. Stuart Chenoweth, associate professor of speech and director of the shows, will accompany the group.

The players are scheduled to arrive in New York about noon and leave there by bus for McGuire Air Force Base, New Jersey.

After an overnight stay at McGuire, the 15 members of the troupe will fly via TWA to Frankfurt Main, Germany where they meet USO European representatives. At that time they will receive complete information on the tour schedule.

The changing international situation prevents the Defense Department from issuing a positive itinerary, and the schedule must be flexible.

Last night, the Players performed in the variety show for students, faculty and the general public.

In Foreign Minister Meeting

Russians Propose Summit Follow Atom Weapon Talks

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union proposed Wednesday that the Geneva talks opening Oct. 31 on banning of nuclear weapons tests should be one step short of the summit.

That would put the talks on the foreign minister level and bring to a close Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko and British Foreign Secretary Lloyd.

It has been expected the talks would be among lesser expert envoys on disarmament. The United States has named Ambassador James Wadsworth, American disarmament expert in the U.S., as leader of its Geneva delegation.

The Moscow proposal came one day after Western authorities reported detection of a resumption of Soviet nuclear tests at the United Nations. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld, consulted with U.S. delegate Wadsworth, British Sir Pierson Dixon and French Delegate Guillaume Georges Picot on Hammarskjöld's proposal that the talks should be under U.N. sponsorship.

The Secretary general has suggested in a special memorandum to the U.N. General Assembly that so many countries are interested in nuclear test suspension that it might be better to give the Geneva talks and any control agency a U.N. link.

The Soviet notes pointed out

Mason to Replace Pappas In Traffic Appeal Position

Appointments reports and applications filed the state at the first meeting of the All-University Student Government Wednesday night.

The new head of Spartan Spirit in charge of pep rallies and entertainment will be Wayne Regattali, former Congress member. Regattali answered questions and stated plans for future rallies to include several dances and musicals.

Hank Mason was appointed to replace Dean Pappas as Chief Justice of the Student Affairs Appeal court. Mason, a long-standing member of the court has filled in since Dean Pappas' resignation.

President Chuck W. Fisher, giving the executive report informed Congress that a survey will be made of students who would like police shifts. He stated that the Soviet Union wants the conference to agree on permanent cessation of nuclear weapons tests as well as setting up appropriate controls to see that they end.

The Russians said the recent East-West conference of nuclear technical experts in Geneva agreed that any nuclear test can be detected.

Thus, the notes said, all that is really required to end nuclear tests for all time are the signatures of the foreign ministers of the three powers that have nuclear weapons. The United States, Britain and the Soviet Union.

The survey was requested by Dr. Feurig, Director of Ohio Hospital.

Congress voted funds to support the mixer-dance to be held in Brody Hall, Oct. 4, in conjunction with the Men's Hall Association. Of a total cost of $143, AUSG will provide $100, thus becoming co-sponsors.

Brigham announces that the membership of the Congress Leaves and Absence Committee will include Sergeant-at-Arms, Eric Brown, Bill Jensen and Joanne Andrews.

General Motors Strike Ahead?

UAW, Chrysler Sign Pact

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers settled on a Chrysler contract Wednesday and moved on in General Motors negotiations against a GM strike scheduled to start today.

After the GM talks at a 10 p.m. recess was more than hopeful. Night-long talks were in prospect in an effort to head off a walkout of 100,000 workers in GM plants across the country.

The Chrysler settlement applying to 78,000 workers following the lines of the Sept. 17 Ford-UAW agreement setting an increased pattern for the Big Three.

After two successive bargaining sessions, the agreement left some minor questions for later settlement. The UAW could concentrate on the GM talks.

Writer-leader UAW president Reuther from the Chrysler negotiations to join the GM talks and resumed his place at the head of the union's GM bargaining team. Louis Seaton, GM president, headed the counter team.

Reuther told newsmen at a 11 p.m. press it would be "extremely difficult to get an agreement by tomorrow unless we get some real indications tonight that General Motors wants to bargain."

Reuther and Seaton said that some problems were one of the main obstacles to settling the GM talks.

The UAW-Chrysler settlement was described by Reuther as being as similar to the UAW-Ford agreement as possible.

UAW Street Boosts Annual Street Dance

The annual street dance following the pep rally will be held on Dodge Street, not Delta Street, in the State News Center.

The annual dance is sponsored by Delta Theta U and Phi Kappa Phi fraternities which are currently located on Delta Street.

Ike Seeks Support for Integration

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said Wednesday it is the duty of all Americans to comply with the Supreme Court's school integration rulings.

"Any other course, as I have said before," Eisenhower said in a news conference statement, "would be fraught with grave consequences to our nation."

The President didn't spell out the extent to which his administration might go in backing up the Supreme Court's decrees with more than words.

Nor in discussing the most pressing foreign policy issue of the day did he spell out what practical steps might be expected to follow any cease-fire in the Formosa Strait area.

"We shall have, if we have a cease-fire," Eisenhower said, "an opportunity to negotiate in good faith and that, I think, is about all you can say."

As a soldier, Eisenhower said, he believes it wasn't a good thing for the Chinese Nationalists to concentrate such large forces in the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu.

Attention Block 'S'

An important practice for all Block "S" members is set for 4 p.m. today in the stadium.

blasts and apparent abandonment of previously announced Soviet plans to stop them. The West has said there must be international agreement to ban nuclear tests and insists that a unilateral declaration such as the Soviet Union's March 31 statement cannot be effective.

Notes from the Soviet Foreign Ministry to the U.S. and British embassies here said the Soviet Union is agreed on the time and place for the talks.

Some observers felt the new Soviet proposal that the participants be the foreign ministers might snare the schedule.

80 Corporations Attend

Career Carnival--A Rare Opportunity

By BILL CALLAHAN

All students will have a rare opportunity to confer with representatives of many fields of American business and industry when the Tenth Annual Career Carnival opens on campus this fall.

The two-day event, sponsored by the MSU Placement Bureau, will be held on October 6-7 on the second floor of the Union. The Carnival will begin Monday evening and will continue through Tuesday evening.

SINCE THE FIRST Career Carnival in 1949, the annual affair has grown until there are now about 80 leading corporations from virtually every kind of American industry participating.

Last year an estimated 12,000-13,000 students attended the event, according to the Carnival committee.

The theme for this year's Carnival is "A World of Opportunity." Students will have the opportunity to discuss their future plans informally with company representatives from the fields of science, industry, business, government, education, agriculture, forestry, and many other areas of interest.

The 1958 Career Carnival will include representatives from such leading companies as Standard Oil, General Motors, Borg-Warner, Michigan Bell, American Can, Burroughs, Dow Chemical and RCA.

THE TWO-DAY event is principally a vocational information service for students. The numerous representatives explain the types of opportunities available in their organizations, and discuss informally the backgrounds and qualifications that are necessary or are used as guides in filling these positions.

During the Carnival the displays will be open and the representatives will be available during the following hours:

Monday, Oct. 6—6:30-10 p.m.
Tuesday, Oct. 7—9:30 a.m.-noon, 1:15-4:30 p.m., 7:30-10:30 p.m.

Guests will not be given late permissions for this year's Carnival.

A banquet will be held in the Centennial Room in Kellogg Center from 5:30-7:15 p.m. for the guests, company representatives and student chairman, Dr. Durward Varner, vice-president for off-campus education will be the principal speaker.

STUDENT CHAIRMEN are Dick Schaff, Grosse Pointe senior general chairman, Don Langlois, Detroit senior, art director, and Jerry Best, Skokie, Ill., senior, staging chairman.

Others include Mary Broun, Niles junior, executive secretary; Tonis Horstman, Berkley senior, banquet chairman, and Jim Herrmann, Lansing junior, publicity chairman.

Jack Shingleton is the advisor from the Placement Bureau. The popularity and success of the Career Carnival can be judged from the thousands of students who attend each year, and the 80 organizations participating in the event by sending their representatives to interview students.

The Carnival also attracts officials from several other colleges and universities.

MEMBERS OF CAMPUS fraternities and rush- held last night on the second floor of the Union. Approximately 300 men attended.

Communist Tag Hits NSA in 'Red Scare'

IT'S NOT OFTEN that we have the chance to speak on a subject of importance to both the internal affairs of this university and the welfare of our nation in one editorial. But today such local items as housing, parking, etc., will have to take a temporary second seat to an exception—the National Student Assn.

When Michigan State's Student Government voted last spring to join the NSA on a one-year trial basis, even the most farsighted AUSG solon would have found it difficult to envision the heated controversy in which NSA is now embroiled.

Of course NSA had its friends and foes. Some thought well enough of NSA that they were able to persuade Student Congress to take a trial look at the organization from the inside. Others, including Dean of Students Tom King, were inclined to see NSA as little more than a left wing intercollegiate pipe dream, long on idealistic resolutions, but short on political effectiveness.

BUT CONGRESS DECIDED to take what Dean King termed "a very intelligent approach" when it settled for the trial membership compromise. A year of objective observation would afford the university time to look over the best NSA had to offer without calling for hasty commitments. As spring term drew to an end, AUSG was watching and waiting as planned.

All pretense of serenity vanished by midsummer, however, just as AUSG's seven-man delegation was laying plans for the NSA national convention at Ohio Wesleyan University Aug. 20-29.

An omen of the impending storm reached us from the Dean of Students' office where concern was voiced over the "embarrassing position" the university would be in if MSU joined the NSA and then found it to be Communist-infiltrated.

The storm broke when a little pamphlet containing excerpts from the Congressional Record of July 14 and entitled "United States National Student Assn." reached the desk of AUSG President Chuck Walther.

WHEN MSU'S DELEGATION returned from Wesleyan, it brought word that copies of this pamphlet had been mailed to deans of students all over the nation. NSA leaders had regarded the pamphlet's contents as outrageous. After several interviews with King, accompanied by correspondence with other interested parties, we find ourselves in agreement with NSA.

The pamphlet contains 18 points forming a conclusion by "one of America's foremost authorities on communism," J. B. Matthews, and is prefaced by the remarks of Rep. John Bell Williams (D-Miss.).

Williams asks questions like "What kind of organization is USNSA?" "Who are some of its leaders?" "Is it really an independent student association?" "Or is it a front organization following the Communist line and preying on the minds of well-meaning and innocent youth?" Now let us adjust our red-rimmed glasses and consider the answers that Matthews, former research director for the House Un-American Activities Committee, has to offer.

MATTHEWS CONDEMNNS NSA in his conclusions for (1) "embracing the important lines of the Communist Party insofar as these touch upon questions involved in student life and activity on the campus" and (2) having adult leaders, speakers and advisors who "represent a high degree of left-wing and pro-Communist infiltration of the organization."

The 18 points which serve as supporting evidence for these conclusions are nothing short of ludicrous, we feel, since the evidence consists mainly of sectional prejudice, isolationism, distortion, guilt by association and general confusion of the principles of socialism with those of communism in which "rightist, leftist, they're all the same" logic seems to be the byword.

Our reaction has been to see Matthews' "NSA" as just so much witch-hunting. We're hoping Student Congress doesn't panic in the midst of another "red scare."

Equal Rights for All Housing Director Clarifies Standards

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the final installment of a special three-part series on the university's off-campus housing policy.)

By LYNN SHEPARD
State News Editorial Assistant

Although the word has been slow in getting around for the past four years MSU's Housing Office has been referring to off-campus housing facilities not under the "approved" stamp as "non-approved."

"We found that 'unapproved housing' implied slum-like conditions," says Housing Director Tom Dutch, "when actually some 'non-approved housing' is superior to 'approved'."

This last admission by Dutch brings up a question often asked by students: What is the Housing Office policy on student complaints of sub-standard living conditions?

Complaints by students carry just as much weight as those from home owners, says Dutch. The Housing Office procedure calls for a check into any complaints by either student or owner.

When complaints come from approved students, they generally concern unhealthy living conditions, the housing Director says, since his office makes an annual check of approved housing safety measures.

Generally speaking, non-approved housing is in favorable condition, although there are occasional cases of sub-standard living quarters. Dutch's spring term survey reveals.

Ike: Formosa Negotiations Are Possible

By J. M. ROBERTS
AP News Analyst

If Chang Kai-Shek had reason to believe Tuesday that Secretary Dulles was letting him down, he probably thinks now that President Eisenhower is really fixing to cut his throat.

The President said Wednesday a cease-fire in the Quemoy-Matsu area would open the door for a negotiated settlement of the Formosa issue itself.

For Chiang, any change in the present situation is likely to be the end.

For the U. S., the one thing that must be prevented at all cost is establishment of Communist military power on Formosa, where it would be poised like a dagger at the heart of the Philippines.

No pace of negotiable reason, alliances can get around that.

Wolverines Scrimmage

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Michigan continued its emphasis on defense Wednesday with a hard scrimmage in preparation for Saturday's sellout game with Michigan State.

Coach Bennie Osterbahn made an adjustment on his second unit. Cary McNeil moved to right halfback and is destined to remain for offense duty. M. Nitt is a sophomore who tried out as a nose defender in pre-season scrimmages. Osterbahn used the regular fullback Crane Sanyk as a linebacker in place of starting center Jim Dickey against the Spartans.

Blanda's Brother On Army Team

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP)—Army badly in need of a good pass-throwing quarterback for several seasons, came up with another good prospect Wednesday in Frank Blanda, 18-year-old sophomore from Youngwood, Pa.

Blanda, brother of George Blanda, the Chicago Bears' famed place kicker, was promoted all the way from a non-entity to second string in practice. He has demonstrated promising ability as a forward passer and currently is being groomed for service in the Penn State encounter here Saturday.

Will Paul Travel Saturday?

By LARRY WROBLEWSKI

To the winner of Saturday's MSU-U of M game goes the coveted Governor's Trophy.

The trophy, a huge life-like statue of Paul Bunyan, is proudly displayed in Coach Duffy Daugherty's office in Jenison Gym.

According to Athletic Director Bigge Munn, Michigan ignores the trophy almost entirely. When the Wolverines win the trophy it is left unnoticed in the dressing room. On the occasion of the Wolverines capturing Paul Bunyan in 1955, it disappeared mysteriously.

"We've always displayed the trophy with honor," said Munn. Since the award was inaugurated in 1953, MSU has won possession three-out-of-five times. Last year all the scores, which Munn never engraved were done by us," Munn said. "It's been a complete mystery to me why Michigan overlooked this matter."

According to Daugherty, the trophy will be exhibited on the sidelines during the game.

"It's going to be a tough assignment, but I hope we can keep the trophy. The entire coaching staff has become attached to it," Daugherty said.

Governor G. Mennen Williams, who was present for the first presentation, will do the honors again Saturday in the winner's dressing room.

'Cinderella' Booters Hope To Retain Unbeaten Record

By LARRY GUSTIN

How long can Michigan State's soccer team remain unbeaten? The Spartan powerhouse, ranked No. 1 in the Midwest ever since it became a varsity member two years ago, has never lost a game. The undefeated string is 14 straight, with just three ties to blemish the record of MSU's "Cinderella Team."

Yet Coach Gene Kenney firmly believes that the 1958 squad will be the greatest of them all. All but three members of last year's team are back, and newcomers have more than made up for the deficiency.

Al Sasako, also a member of the team since pre-varsity days, was the top goalie in the Midwest last year. Replacing him will be Noel Drago, a second-year man who has gained rave notices from Kenney since he began practicing at goal last spring.

Three All-American Angelo Filitis, an outstanding half-back, the third player who must be replaced.

Some of the best sophomore bets are Struder, who transferred from Chicago Navy Pier. Horace Hamilton, who was an outstanding player at Long Island Agricultural College and Bernie Cook who transferred from Union College in New York.

The two top scorers from the past two years are back. A Phantom, Sarria, from Piquette, Columbia, has totaled 21 goals in two seasons, including five in one game. Art Southan, who has 17 in the two seasons, led last year's scorers, even though he was hampered by leg injuries all year and played in just four games.

Art's brother, John Southan, will be playing his first season with the Armed Forces Olympic trial team in Europe, and is expected to concentrate mainly on defense.

Top veteran defensemen include Senets and Butler. Vander Horst, who will co-captain the squad with Art Southan, began as a fullback but switched to the forward wing position last year.

Kenney hopes he can get his team off to a faster start than last year. The Spartans tied Michigan, 3-3, in the opener and were held to another draw in the second game against Navy Pier, 1-1.

It was Navy Pier which had tied the Spartans for the first time the previous year. After last year's two draws the Spartans then swept the remaining six to again win Midwestern honors.

3 Big 10 Teams Vie to Stay Out of Cellar

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is the third of a series of four articles giving a preview look at each Big 10 football team before the season opens. Today's preview includes Northwestern, Minnesota, and Indiana.

NORTHWESTERN

The Wildcats, who last year led nine in a row, should be fighting with Indiana and Minnesota to stay out of the conference cellar.

The perennial manpower problem at Northwestern will be chiefly in the hands of sophomores. More than half the squad is made up of first-year men, and only four of 18 returning lettermen are seniors.

The Wildcats won a 29-28 decision over Washington State last Saturday, and could become a surprise leading Big 10 team but only if the Northwestern team takes a major recruiting job.

INDIANA

The football situation at Indiana is one of the most unstable. The Hoosiers' performance one game a year was while losing eight, and they don't figure to improve on that mark this season.

Coach Phil Dickens, who transferred to Indiana after a five 69-74 record at Wyoming

University of Indiana, was of the Gophers too players. There is a great probability of death.

Minnesota, a team that had not before the 1957 season, the "sugars" disappointed in the Big 10, winning only one and dropping five games.

MINNESOTA

The football outlook at Minnesota resembles that of a ing was forced out last year as a suspension for alleged recruiting violations.

Even Dickens' appearance doesn't figure to make much difference, however. The manpower level last season reached such a low ebb that five of the eight losses were by margins of 42 between long and eight touchdowns.

This year's team, again plagued with inexperience as it was last year, could improve drastically and still not better its worst record. The Hoosiers must meet powerful Ohio State, Michigan, and Purdue on their Big 10 schedule.

Underdog Role New for U of M

Spartans Favored by 3 TD's In 51st Version of Classic

By HARDY CHRIST
State News Sports Editor

Michigan's Wolverines, who passed their first test of the season against Southern California last weekend, face the showdown trial Saturday when they meet the Spartans.

This huge rivalry, now in its 51st year, is the Big 10 curtain-raiser for both teams.

The Wolverines, underdogs by three touchdowns, are in the surprising position of having nothing to lose but everything to gain. Nothing particularly startling is expected of them, long the dominating team in the Big 10 but rated no better than a dark horse in the 1958 race.

Should the Wolverines pull a major upset, it would open the way for a possible title bid for them. The rest of their conference schedule is relatively easy, except for their annual clash with Ohio State, Michigan's only foe powerful Wisconsin this season.

This is a young and not-too-deep Michigan team that offers no great speed and little offense except for the blockbusting position of fullback John Herrstein. Herrstein, captain of the Wolverines, led the offensive attack against the Trojans. As a sophomore in 1957, the big fullback sent his all-American hands soaring upward, but spent most of last year watching from the sidelines as a result of injuries.

The Wolverines, emerging from their victory over a good Southern California team by a 20-19 score, came through with a minimum of injuries.

Only Bob Plack, quarterback, who required several stitches in his left hand as the result of a severe cut when a cleat ripped from a shoe, needed any real treatment.

Plack will start at the quarterback spot against the Spartans. Brad Meyers and Fred Julian will round out the backfield at the halfbacks.

Since Michigan State's rise to national football prominence in the late 1940's under Clarence "Biggie" Munn, now Athletic director and then head coach, the Spartans have more than held their own against Michigan. But the Spartans have a long record of catching up to do in this long rivalry, which began in 1898 and has been almost completely interrupted since.

The Wolverines have won 18 and lost only 12 games to State. Three have ended in ties.

But in the more recent renewals of the rivalry, State has picked up some ground. Since 1950, the Spartans have won six of eight. And since 1954, they've won 10 times in 22 meetings.

Contrast this to a period of only two wins and three ties for the Spartans in the 1950's contests between the two schools.

When the Wolverines travel to the Spartan Stadium on Saturday, it will be their seventh appearance at the Lansing campus in the series. Previous visits were in 1911, 1914, 1924, 1948 and 1952.

The World Series game will be shown again today and in the Student Services Center lounge. All-Union Television is showing the special showing of the series. Everyone is invited to watch the games.

Braves Bounce Back, Win in 10th

Spahn Goes Route, Gains 4-3 Victory

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Bill Bruton's single scored Joe Adcock in the tenth inning Wednesday to give Warren Spahn of the Milwaukee Braves a 4-3 victory over the New York Yankees in the first game of the World Series.

Spahn pitched on the tenth, and Adcock, who had been in the middle of the diamond, moved to center. After Spahn pitched out, Del Crandall, who had been in the middle of the diamond, moved to center. After Spahn pitched out, Del Crandall, who had been in the middle of the diamond, moved to center.

By Pete Duren, the Yanks' smoke ball relief ace. Duren fanned Adcock but Covington fled to Mickey Mantle in left center. That brought Matthews in with the tying run. Duren had the fans buzzing as he fanned Crandall on fast balls to end the inning.

Bruton's homer in the fifth came after Ford had walked. Skowron's homer in the fourth gave the Yanks a brief 1-0 lead. The Braves replied in their half of the inning with two runs after two were out. A walk to Aaron, a passed ball and two outs were followed by successive singles on first pitches by Crandall, Andy Patko and Spahn.

The Yankees threatened Spahn in the first two innings, getting two hits in each frame, but they couldn't break through until the fourth when Skowron blasted a 2-2 pitch into the left field bleachers.

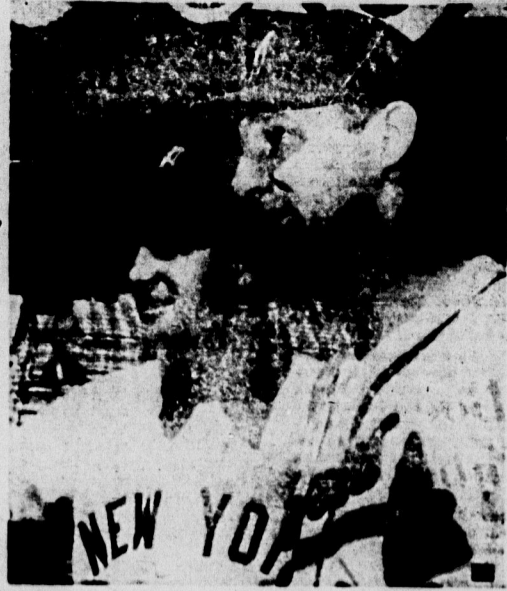

Milwaukee smashed right back in the bottom of the fourth with two outs against the Braves.

Aaron, the leadoff man in the frame, walked for the first pass given up by Ford. He took second on a passed ball but had to hold the base when Adcock rolled out to third base. The heat seemed off Ford when Gil McDougal tossed out Covington, sending Aaron to third.

Then Crandall, Patko, and Spahn hit first pitches for singles scoring two runs and sending the Braves to front, 2-1. The Yanks regained the lead in the fifth. With one out, Ford walked on a full count. Bauer then slammed a 2-6 pitch into the left field bleachers, a 30-foot drive for his fourth series homer. Hank had led off the game with a single to run his consecutive hitting streak in the series to a record 13 games.

Spahn was superb in the stretch. After Yogi Berra drove in at least off the scene, the veteran lefty retired 14 batters in a row.

With two out in the eighth, Milwaukee broke the streak by smashing a single off Spahn's glove. Mantle walked on four pitches and the Braves bullpen got busy again. Elston Howard, who had been getting plenty of wood on the ball but no hits, ended the threat by tying out to Aaron.

The Quiet Hero

Billy's Winning Hit Not Most Thrilling

MILWAUKEE (AP)—It has been a long time between thrills for the Milwaukee Braves' Billy Bruton.

"Sure," he said in a quiet voice, "that hit today was a big thrill to me, but it wasn't the biggest."

Amid the confusion that was the Braves' dressing room after Bruton's hit in the 10th sank the New York Yankees 4-3, it was difficult to hear him.

The first home run ever hit here in County Stadium, the one that won the 1933 opening game in the 10th, was a bigger thrill, he said.

The changing tides of fortune that kept him out of the World Series a year ago, with a badly sprained knee, also swept him into confusion Wednesday.

Manager Fred Haney said Bruton, a left-handed batter, probably never would have played if not for the injury. Duren had just appeared in relief for the Yankees.

"I just played percentages," said Haney.

Last year Bruton watched the first game of the fall classic from a hospital bed in Oklahoma City. The next day his knee injured in a collision at first

Milwaukee Fans Take Series Win in Stride

MILWAUKEE (AP)—It wasn't like the day the Milwaukee Braves clinched the National League pennant—not a single auto horn blared on Wisconsin Avenue today after the Braves beat the Yankees 4-3 in the World Series opener.

"It was just as if the fans expected to win," said Patrolman Fred Konkak, who was stationed on Milwaukee's main street.

Or it may be they were happy just to be in the warmth of their autos after being outdoors in Wednesday's unseasonably chilly weather. The thermometer got as high as 57 late in the afternoon.

The capacity crowd of 47,300 in County Stadium, huddled in hats, topcoats, furs and blankets.

Milwaukee is a great place for drinking beer at the ball games, but hot coffee and hot dogs were the favorite fare.

Policewomen were busy outside the stadium, watching for scalpers, who were unaware that the young women in bright fall hats could be the law.

The lady officers said they bought two bleacher tickets priced at $2, for $27 each from two young men and then arrested them.

Johansson Schedules Fight With E. London

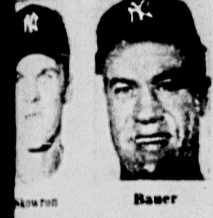

LONDON (AP)—Ingemar Johansson, Sweden's undefeated European heavyweight champion, yesterday agreed to defend his crown against British challenger Brian London at Wembley Stadium, June 2.

The match was announced by promoter Jack Sayers, who had a half day after London's victory over the American contender Willie DeLoach in the final round of the 1958 American championship fight at Harrington, N.C., Oct. 1.

There was one condition to the agreement, however: If Johansson is able to obtain a shot at world champion Floyd Patterson of New York, the London fight will be postponed until the London fight.

Johansson, 34, is the only European to have won the world title. He has fought 21 times and won 20, including 15 by knockout.

MSU Band Adds Color To Events

'Kick-Step' Wins High Recognition

College football is composed of two parts: the contest itself and a display of Sousa marches, flashy colors and marching bandmen.

The MSU marching band has once again assembled on campus to add luster to the football games for MSU fans.

The band, composed of 130 green and white clad musicians, gained its present national recognition in the fall of 1931 when it changed from the traditional military style uniforms and marching to its present "kick-step" routine, now a symbol of the band.

Preparations for a football show are started many months before the season starts. Leonard Falcone, band director and Oscar Stover, assistant director, along with a band formations committee plan the shows during spring term of each year.

The "kick-step" which the band has made famous throughout the country, is a mixture of time, practice and physical conditioning. This difficult entrance maneuver is perfected from the usual 180 steps per minute to the MSU 280 per minute. It is just one of the many routines which places the band among the finest in the land.

The late Dr. Edwin Goldman, on his last tour before his death, said the MSU band was one of the very finest he had directed.

This Saturday when the band enters the stadium, along with the U of M musical organization, it marks the end of a great deal of tedious preparation for the past three weeks.

The enthusiasm, concentration and musicianship that the band displays marks it as one of the finest marching units that Prof. Falcone has ever directed at MSU.

Formosa Crisis Holds

U. S.-China Split on Policy

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A policy split between the United States and Nationalist China Wednesday threatens U. S. efforts to find a compromise way out of the Formosa crisis.

The split became dramatically evident in divergent statements made by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles here and by President Chiang Kai-shek on Formosa. The Chinese Nationalist chief spoke out in an exclusive interview with the Associated Press after Dulles' news conference Tuesday.

The issue on which they focused attention is the future of the Nationalist-held coastal islands, Quemoy and Matsu.

In essence, Dulles made clear the U. S. would be willing to negotiate over future use of the islands if the Chinese Communists stop their attacks on Quemoy and thus establish a ceasefire in the region. The Reds have had Quemoy under bombardment since Aug. 23.

The status of Quemoy and Matsu thus becomes a bargaining point in Dulles' efforts to quell the danger of a more general war in the Far East.

The question sharply posed by Chiang's response is how Dulles can bargain at all without the cooperation and support of Nationalist China—cooperation and support which the Generalissimo, on the basis of yesterday's interview, apparently intends to deny.

Chiang challenged the whole concept of trying to get the Chinese Reds to accept a ceasefire. He said he is opposed even to a reduction of the 100,000 of his best troops which he has deployed on the coastal islands.

Chiang's government followed up with a formal statement saying flatly "we cannot countenance a reduction of this defensive strength."

This foreign ministry statement also called the coastal islands an indispensable shield to Formosa, adding that for this reason "we must defend them to the best of our ability."

By contrast Dulles told his news conference it was foolish for the Nationalists to have put such large forces on the islands in the first place. He left no doubt that in his view it would be foolish to keep them there if a ceasefire could be obtained.

Economy to Pick Up

Job Situation Improves For Future Graduates

Jobs will be more plentiful for next year's graduates, predicts John Kinney, director of MSU's Placement Bureau.

It appears the economy will be picking up further next year, which probably means the demand for college graduates will be heavier at all levels," he declared. "But the improvement will be slow."

The past year's "tight" labor market, the placement director said, was felt more keenly by liberal arts graduates than by students who specialized in certain fields.

"Employers who come to the university seeking new employees for their firms seem to be governed by a rule of thumb which might read: If you can't get the specialist you want, you take another student whom you can train," Kinney explained.

"When the labor market tightens as it did last year, you can look for the companies to turn to the specialists. Among the graduates most sought are those majoring in engineering, science, education and business." The liberal arts graduate has been much more in demand in the years since World War II, Kinney observed, particularly for sales work and management training programs.

"When there is a manpower surplus," he said, "the personnel man can weed out the crop first on the basis of grades—it is the easiest and most convenient method for him."

In seeking sales personnel, the interviewers look for extracurricular activities—evidence of the ability to meet and deal with people. If grades are good, so much the better."

I honestly believe employers seek to trade to indicate conformity," he said. "They seek the student who will belong—the one who will get along with the group and not rock the boat."

Stock Exhibit Astounds Europeans at Brussels

"America's Business is Everybody's Business" claims the large tabloid over the exhibit of the New York Stock Exchange in the American pavilion at the Brussels World Exposition.

The more than 3,000 people who gather about the exhibit daily for explanations feel confident that this is true. The mechanical operation of the ticker tape machines and their far-reaching effect on American life is painstakingly explained by American guides.

The role of the exchange in American business transactions is also detailed.

Visitors are very curious. Curious about the role of the average man in regard to the stock market. Curious about the stocks, the technicalities involved in the marketing of stocks. Curious about the similarities between the functioning of their system and ours.

The majority of visitors who express interest are not stock holders; they are working people frankly amazed that such a large proportion of American life finds itself directly involved in stock holdings. (Over 8 1/2 million people are stockholders, plus another 102 million indirect stockholders, i.e. those who have pension funds, insurance interests, or bank trusts.)

The average European is amazed that the quotations spread so widely in such a short time. He must go to the bank in a major city to learn of the quotations.

Belgians are surprised that we allow non-members to enter the stock exchange so freely.
