Leader Fears Anti-Semitism Flare in South

ATLANTA (AP)—A Jewish spokesman said Monday that he fears a thunderous explosion at the Jewish temple here may signal a shift in systematic anti-semitic terrorism to violence against human life.

Monetary rewards already totaling nearly $10,000 spurred the search for whoever placed 40 to 50 sticks of dynamite against a temple wall early Sunday and set off a pre-dawn blast that left devastation estimated at $200,000.

Expanding concern that an anti-Jewish scheme of violence was being hatched to human life was Robert C. Kohler, associate southern director of B'nai B'rith's Anti-Defamation League.

"Somebody's life may now be taken," he added.

Felix Chiel, Detroit Jewish member of the National States Rights Council and the Confederate Underground on two recent occasions undergoing police scrutiny. He did not elaborate on efforts to reach spokesmen of the organizations who were not immediately successful.

At Augusta, Ga., Roy Harris, president of the Georgia States Rights Council, expressed deep regret at the bombing. He said he feared from what he had heard to be the work of "professional trouble makers" rather than local people or a crank.

The Goldstein, Southeastern Board Chairman of the Anti-Defamation League, reported that expressions of sympathy, aid and indignation had poured in from southerners. He said that southerners repudiate this vicious anti-semitism in the strongest possible terms, adding:

"The destruction of a house of worship is not, and never has been, southern tradition."

Suspects Held In Bombing

ATLANTA (AP)—Police disclosed Monday that they are questioning three men held on a suspicion of vagrancy charge about a massive dynamite blast at the Jewish temple.

No charges have been brought against the trio except the vagrancy count upon which they were held. Detective Capt. R. E. Little did not elaborate upon the line of questioning but indicated that one of the three was detailing the setup of an anti-semitic group with which they were affiliated.

New Attempt At Moon Set

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. Air Force scientists speeded work on a new "round-the-moon" project today within hours after moonshot No. 1 fell short and plunged to flaming destruction.

Unofficial word from the Cape Canaveral, Fla., launch site was that the new try would be made between Nov. 8 and 1 when next the moon is closer to Earth in its 28-day orbit.

The first space-rocket venture failed to dismount only one-third of the distance to the moon. It reinforced their confidence that they can "bight the Moon" and eventually reach the planets and even the center of the solar system.

Addresses Conference Honors College Senior Presents Paper Today

Charles V. Anderson, a senior in the Honors College, has received an honor bestowed upon few undergraduates—that of presenting a research paper before a national conference of professional and academic experts.

A former Air Force electronics instructor, Anderson will read his paper, entitled "The Digital Computer as a Tool for Network Analysis," to the 14th annual National Electronics Conference in Chicago today.

The paper concerns adapting an electrical network problem for use on MSU's new digital computer.

"It is the best job that I have ever seen a student do in my 30 years of teaching," claims his advisor, Dr. Myrill Reed. "He is an outstanding young man and cannot praise him too highly."

The entire work on the paper problem was done last year while he was a junior.

High Court Nixes Segregation Pleas

Judiciary Rejects Appeals
As Associate Judge Retires

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today knocked down appeals for reviews of three cases stemming from school integration.

After wishing Associate Justice Harold H. Burton health and happiness in his retirement, the high court:

- Denied Louisiana school officials relief of a decision striking down a requirement for a certificate of eligibility before admission to state institutions of higher learning.
- Refused Arkansas Gov. Orval F. Faubus review of an injunction barring use of National Guardsmen at Little Rock's Central High School a year ago last month. Faubus had claimed that U.S. Dist. Judge Ronald E. Davies, who issued the injunction, acted without legal authority. Faubus also had claimed the Justice Department had no right to ask for the injunction because the Department was not the real party in interest.

State News Tries Again On Rotary

Can you read this? We hope so. You're holding the second edition of the State News printed on the newly installed rotary press on Abbott Road.

The first rotary press run on Oct. 3 with a two-color front page announcing the annual MSU-U of M football classic in green letters proved unsuccessful.

Since January 1949, when circulation was about 9,000, the State News has come five days a week to Spartans from the ink machinery of Campus Press's flat-bed.

Campus Press, a private concern, installed the 48-page-maximum rotary this summer at their new location, 601-Abbott Road. Capacity of this capacity cost $95,100,000.

Far distant plans for the 48-year-old press include running peanuts in four colors. Someday.

Pat Wilde and Andre Eglevsky lumber up backstage before presenting the "Pas de Deux" from Sylvia in their opening performance last night.

The Concert Series opened Monday night with the spectacular New York City Ballet presenting "Serenade," "Fanfare," "Sylvia" and "Western Symphony."

Ike Observes 68th Birthday

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower is observing his 68th birthday today.

He was guest of honor at a breakfast party given by the Republican party at the Statler-Hilton hotel. About 650 persons were expected to attend, including Mrs. Eisenhower.

The President was given a huge birthday card.

Shortly after the breakfast, the President attended a pontifical requiem mass at St. Matthew's Cathedral for Pope Pius XII.

Fluorescent Lighting Causes Minor Fire

A burned out fluorescent light was the cause of a small fire in the Administration Building yesterday. The incident occurred at 3 p.m., with three fire trucks being sent to the scene. No damage was reported.

Letter Sent By Premier To Algiers

Salan Told of Hope
For Free Election

PARIS (AP)—Premier De Gaulle Monday told the French Army to get out of politics in Algeria at once.

He said his order was to clear the way for free elections Nov. 28.

The action was De Gaulle's strongest against the military leaders who organized so-called committees of public safety in Algiers after the political-military revolt there May 13. That uprising paved the way for De Gaulle's return to power.

De Gaulle ruled that no French military men or civil servants could be candidates in the parliamentary balloting. He also said persons who had held military or government posts within the past 12 months could not run.

His orders were in a stern letter to Gen. Raoul Salan, French commander in Algeria.

De Gaulle's letter to Salan said:

"The moment has come for the military to stop taking part in a revolution which has a political character, whatever may be the reasons which, under the exceptional circumstances which swept Algeria since the month of May, motivated their participation. Nothing will henceforth justify their belonging to such formations. I will order them to withdraw without delay."

De Gaulle said he insisted on holding free elections in which all persons could take part regardless of their political views.

"The only persons excluded will be those who participate in terrorism and, because of this fact, are liable to prosecution," he said.

"The best interests of the country demand that the consultation take place under conditions of absolute freedom and sincerity," De Gaulle told Salan, "and that no representative of all tendencies — I say all tendencies — be allowed concurrently and equally to collect the suffrage of the electorate."

Asserting he attached extreme importance to a real competition, De Gaulle said the "worst danger would be the formation of lists solely favored by the official authority."

Radio Series Auditions Set

Auditions will be held on Thursday afternoon in the WKAR radio studios in the Aud from 3-4 for a series "You are the Jury" to be presented during November.

In two years of broadcasting, this series has won the Peabody Award (1957) and the Sloan Highway Traffic Award (1958).

Professor's Wife Dies After Short Illness

Mrs. Winifred D. Hance, 59, of 821 Booth St., East Lansing, died Thursday in a Lansing hospital after a short illness.

Survivors include her husband, Kenneth Hance, acting head of the department of speech, and a son, Kenneth Jr., a student at DePauw University, Greencastle, Ind.

Mrs. Hance had been a resident of East Lansing for the past two years after she came from Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., with her husband.

Funeral services were held Saturday, and burial was in Olivet Cemetery.

MSU Plans TV Classes In January

Michigan State in conjunction with the Lansing Board of Education plans to renew and expand an educational TV program for Lansing children.

John Morris, of the Board's special services department, said it is hoped that programs from classes will be viewed over MSU's Channel 19 beginning in January.

Classes will include foreign languages, elementary math, special educational films for fifth and sixth graders and chemistry for high school students.

The programs will be broadcast a half-hour in the morning and afternoon Monday-Friday and a half-hour on Saturday mornings.

Last year the programs were tried as an experiment at 13 classes of fifth graders.

Correction

Students interested in working on the Wolverine advertising copy and sales staffs should meet today at 5 p.m. in 344 Student Services.

Student Plane Slated for Purdue

A special plane to the Purdue Oct. 18 will leave Lansing at 11 a.m. and arrive there at 5 p.m. the same day. Students interested should start the College Travel Office.

According to manager Jim Her, the plane replaces a special alumni train that was canceled.

The $50 fare includes plane transportation, game tickets, transportation to and from airport, box lunch on the plane and steak dinner following game.

Dance Auditions Set Wednesday

Auditions for the dance line, 15-Bettes, sponsored by Union Board have been scheduled for Wednesday in the Union Ballroom from 4-5 and 7-8:30 p.m.

Girls with dancing experience such as chorus lines or lessons are encouraged to attend.

National Save the Horse Week Observed Ducktails, Drag Racing Bow to Rustling

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is National Save the Horse Week and just in time, too. Old Equine Cavalry, as the scientists have designated him, is having rocky going.

In 1915, there were 22½ million horses on U. S. farms—some away in a fool's paradise and never suspecting they had reached their numerical peak.

Anyone who said, "Watch out for Detroit," to even the smartest of that day undoubtedly would have gotten—the horse world. Whoever heard of a world in which horses weren't essential to man?

Yet within 30 years the horse pop has been cut to 12 million and the worst was ahead. Every year since 1945 has seen another decline, with last year's estimate put at 3,536,000.

DR. MYRILL REED helps his star pupil Charles Anderson decode some material from his network problem on the digital computer. Anderson is reading a paper he has prepared to a national electronics conference today, an honor seldom bestowed on an undergraduate student.

Save the Horse Week is sponsored by the Denver Post in an effort "to honor horses (and equestrians) for what they have meant to this country and the world."

Was back in the Stone Age, Paleolithic Man was a horse lover. He didn't ride it, though he ate it. But don't turn up your noses at Old Man P. Horse-meat still is popular in some European areas, and in this country many a pioneer ate his horse—and survived.

The Spaniards fetched horses to the New World, and instantly realized what a tremendous advantage this gave them over the Indians. They aimed to keep too. One of their early orders read: "No Indian shall own a horse."

The Spaniards were right in their concern over what might open on the Indians were used. Historically speaking, Indians weren't riders in general, but they became superb horsemen. Plains Indians had men running into the thousands as a demonstration of manliness.

Some of our earliest presidents—for instance—were splendid horsemen. But politics is a capricious jade, and even in the early days good riding wasn't an essential for good politics.

S'News Airs Views On Spiritless Sparta

WE'VE HEARD A LOT about Spartan Spirit, or rather the lack of it, since the football season began...

BUT WE SUBMIT that this whole discussion is built upon assumptions, again some legitimate, but mostly not...

Regardless of pep rally results, a wholesale cure of the Spartan Spirit Committee wouldn't help...

The biggest and most questionable assumption seems to be a policy toward Student Government...

THE ASSUMPTION runs something like this: Student pep rallies are a tradition of campus that must be continued...

This is a little more than we can swallow. To say that the students pay this fee thinking its collection will provide funds for entertainment at a pep rally they wouldn't think of seeing otherwise is absurd.

AND TO THOSE STUDENTS who regard "name" pep rallies as their due, yet are so well-fed with Rose Bowl teams and contenders that vocal registration takes place every time a touchdown drive goes down or pass play goes awry...

Again there are all kinds of dispersed student seating arrangements at Spartan Stadium that makes bleachers difficult. We suggest that if the newly-formed Spartan Assembly really wants to make a significant contribution toward developing a "rah rah" spirit, they lay plans to form such a seating section. We think then some actual evidence of game-time Spartan Spirit would be forthcoming.

Far East Crisis Subsides

The United States is assessing the extension of the Quemoy cease-fire as meaning the end of the current crisis there...

Extension of the Quemoy truce from one to three weeks represents a victory for American pressure against the use of force to settle political arguments.

One of the chief results of the crisis has been promulgation by President Eisenhower of the idea that armed opposition to the use of force is now a general American principle.

Byrnes Says Roosevelt Dumped Him

NEW YORK (AP) - Former Secretary of State J. Edgar Byrnes accused President Franklin Roosevelt of dumping his efforts to win the vice-presidential nomination in 1944.

Writing in the current issue of Look magazine, Byrnes said Roosevelt assured him the White House would not express any preference for a vice-presidential candidate on the Democratic ticket.

But, Byrnes said, Roosevelt eventually added his famous admonition in directing Byrnes' supporters to "stand with Senator" - the late Simeon D. Patterson of the CIO.

Holloman, with other House leaders, opposed Byrnes and their final choice was Harry Truman. Byrnes also was opposed by party bosses because, as a Southerner, it was felt he might cost the party Negro votes.

Byrnes said he was disappointed and felt hurt by President Roosevelt's action. Not having wanted to be involved, I was angry with myself for permitting the President to get me in it.

Treasury Discloses Vast Debt

National Debt Keeps Growing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National debt soared nearly $2,700,000,000 last week to the highest level in a 2 1/2 years. The Treasury disclosed Monday the big increase was registered last Wednesday as the government borrowed about $1.2 billion dollars to replenish its depleted cash drawer.

Completion of the borrowing operation pushed the gross national debt to $719,835,000,000. That's the biggest debt since March 15, 1950, when the government's financial obligations were about $35 million heavier. Last week's jump was only a starter. The Treasury figures the debt will reach a record high by the next month of early December. The highest debt recorded to date was $780,821,000,000 at the end of 1952.

All this borrowing is necessary because of the $2 billion dollar deficit forecast for the fiscal year which began July 1. Income is down, because of the recession, and spending is at a record peacetime level.

Way to 'A Promised Land' Episcopal Church Initiates Huge Financial Program

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Episcopal church, considered the poorest segment of American churches, got set to dig its way into their pockets to finance the church's work.

Although the proposals still are to be formally approved, Thomas H. Wright of Winston, N.C., chairman of the budget and program committee, got a standing ovation when he presented them.

The budget sets a goal of a 20 percent increase in church income in 1954. Wright said the church has a "promised land" in front of it, but it must first be formally approved.

Several newcomers to the Spartan Soccer team this year have helped make Coach Gene Kenney's days brighter and have succeeded in keeping the boaters on the winning trail. Such first year men as Erich Stredler, Horace Hamilton and Gerhardt Grentz have already made the scoring column, and Pete McKinnon is doing a good job replacing Ray Burdett at center half.

Hamilton, also a transfer student, can play almost any position and is currently at left halfback. The big sophomore played high school soccer and was a member of the Long Island Agriculture College freshman team last year. Stredler is currently on the side lines with a leg injury, but he scored two goals in the first game against Indiana Tech. The 6'11" sophomore from Chicago is a transfer student from Chicago Navy Pier. He was an all-star soccer player on the Chicago Hansa Club and played on Hansa's national junior championship team of 1955.

The surprise of last spring's practice sessions was Grentz, a sophomore from Cadillac. He has good speed and a quick shot.

McKinnon, who comes from Detroit, is in the starting line. His past experience includes playing in the Detroit Soccer League for the St. Andrew Scots.

Although Noel Drago, a junior, played in the forward line last year, he is a newcomer to his position this year as goalie.

Every rookie has a past record which forecasts great futures for each of them.

Cook, rated as one of the most promising wings at Michigan State in the past three years, played freshman soccer at Union College a year ago.

Duffy Prepares For 'Spoilers'

Figures Spartans Still In Running for Title

A heavy workout was on the menu for the Michigan State gridgers Monday as they started preparing for the important Big 10 battle against Purdue University Saturday.

Spartan Coach Duffy Daugherty still has high respect for the Boilermakers despite a 31-6 loss to Wisconsin last Saturday.

The Spartan mentor are still in the thick of the Big 10 championship race, despite the 12-12 tie against the University of Michigan, but that a loss would hurt their chances immensely.

Most of the squad, with the exception of the first team, went through a vigorous scrimmage Monday against the freshman team coached by former Spartan cricketer Buck Nyström.

Aimed by the scouting reports gathered by assistant coaches John Pohnbeck and Bill Voerman, the first unit was briefed on the Boilermaker offense.

Pohnbeck and Voerman scouted the Purdue and Wisconsin teams last Saturday when the Spartans defeated the Boilermakers at Madison, Wis.

While the linemen concentrated on becoming acquainted with Purdue's running plays, pass defense was stressed in the backfield drills.

One casualty in the scrimmage was Jason Harness, sophomore end, who was cut above the eye.

Halfbacks Art Johnson and Jim Wulff, injured in the Pittsburgh clash Saturday, were dressed in their football gear, but did little running.

Johnson suffered a broken nose against the Panthers but with the use of a special protective mask, he'll be ready for duty against the Boilermakers.

Wulff sustained a groin injury in the Pittsburgh game but also should be available for duty next Saturday.

A surprise visitor to the practice field was Jim Ninowski, who quarterbacked the Spartans to second place in the Big 10 last year.

Ninowski, selected to the Big 10 team for his play last season, was the fourth draft choice of the professional Cleveland Browns.

Sunday at Cleveland he threw two touchdown passes as the Browns beat the Chicago Cardinals, 35-28. A day off from the game gave him the chance to visit with his ex-teammates.

Herrnstein Out of Action: Rio Inherits Fullback Post

ANN ARBOR (AP) — University of Michigan Coach Bennie Oosterbaan Monday received the news that fullback John Herrnstein's football career may come to a sudden end.

The hard-luck Herrnstein, hurt in last week's game against Navy, was in a hospital bed, his left knee in traction. It will take a day or two to learn if the stretched ligament in his knee can be healed without surgery.

Oosterbaan said the chances of Herrnstein playing football for Michigan again are extremely remote. He is a sophomore.

Tony Rio, a 185-pound sophomore, was elevated to the starting fullback position to replace Herrnstein.

Duren, Milwaukee Punished

NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Dick Monday fined pitcher Duren of the New York Yankees $250 for making a "choke up" gesture to an umpire during the 1958 World Series. He also levied a fine of $50 each against 22 Milwaukee players because of the premature disclosure of how the Braves had split their share of the Series proceeds.

In announcing the fines, Charles Seitz, baseball secretary-treasurer who supervised the Series in Frisco's absence, said that Duren's gesture had been noticed by the plate umpire, Charlie Berry, but that two other umpires had noticed it.

The incident took place in the tenth inning of the sixth game of the series when Berry awarded a base on balls to Milwaukee's Johnny Logan. Duren stepped out of the mound and put his hand to his throat in a traditional gesture to indicate that he had "choke up" on a pitch.

The Braves were fined $500 for "undignified" behavior in a restaurant. The series proceeds were to be split between the two teams.

Hails From Lansing Look Also Stars in Baseball

By ED DOUCETTE

The story of Michigan State's Look had its beginnings in 1937 in Lansing. Few thought at the time that this boy might develop into one of the city's best athletes and someday be a star pitcher for MSU.

DEAN LOOK has baseball legs, too...

"I went under the covers at night and hid my baseball bat. I was afraid my father would find it. I was a kid, Dean always had a baseball or a basketball in his hands. In pursuit of athletic goals he pursued his first love, an organized baseball team at the age of nine.

Like many young kids with athletic interests, Dean decided to be a pitcher to make a career out of sports. When asked specifically about which sport he liked best, he said:

"I wanted to play both baseball and run track." Dean stated it was impossible to do both. "I stuck with track because that's what I could develop my physical attributes better."

Upon being graduated from high school, he was the most sought-after athlete in the Lansing area, but decided to enter Michigan State.

...at 'D' like to follow in my father's footsteps."

Dean's father played professional baseball in the Philadelphia Athletics organization.

Dean was just starting to develop his athletic abilities when he entered high school.

Although he was always associated with football, he never participated in the game until high school. Under the coaching of Bill Schipney and Ted Rowett, he turned in the most sensational athletic performances that a school has ever seen.

In high school, Dean was named to the All-State football and basketball teams, and was State champion in track as a 100-yard sprinter.

Although having great potential in baseball, Dean didn't play sport in high school, but concentrated on track.

Packer Linebacker Out of Action

GREEN BAY (AP)—Carlton Massey, Green Bay Packer linebacker, was found Monday to have suffered a broken leg in Sunday's National Football League game against the Baltimore Colts in Milwaukee. He will be out of action for six weeks.

Massey, a first string defensive player, was hurt on the last kickoff of the game late in the fourth period but left the field under his own power and returned to Green Bay with the team.

Last year he had a 4.9 yard rushing average. He also did some punting, passing and kicking off. He worked as an understudy to halfback Blanche Martin in 1957.

On the baseball diamond as a sophomore, Dean batted .356 in regular-season play and was the "partians" regular center fielder. He was the third leading hitter in the Big 10, and was named to the all-conference team.

In his spare time, Dean concentrates on his studies, fraternity activities, and the Varsity Club. He's in Sigma Nu fraternity and maintains a 2.3 all-conference average as a physical education major.

Asked about his biggest thrill in sports, Dean answered that "My greatest thrill so far was the day I put on a Michigan State uniform."

He then paused for a moment and then continued, "But I hope sincerely that my biggest thrill yet to come."

Pope Pius Buried Near St. Peter

22 Cardinals of Church Witness Burial Services

Pontiff's Body Set in Triple Coffin Before Last Rest in Basilica Grotto

VATICAN CITY (AP)—With awesome ceremony the Roman Catholic Church Monday committed Pope Pius XII to eternal rest near the tomb of St. Peter.

The great bulk of St. Peter's Basilica, which was damaged by the bombing of the foundations of the building.

Twenty-two cardinals of the church, among them Francis Spellman and James Francis McGuire from the United States, sat with solemn heads as the ceremony was held by Mass. Nuncio Luigi Bommarito, the cardinal secretary of state.

After the incense, there was a prayer of exorcism, and, at the end, the squeak of rope and the heavy, thirseal coffins were lowered into the grotto.

Promptly at 4 p.m. the dirge of the "miserere" was heard and 18 choirboys, who had carried the Pope in triumph in his lifetime, carried the regally studded body to a place alongside the coffin.

The solemn act of absolution, with incense, holy water, was performed by Mons. Carlo Van Lierde, the Pope's secretary and vicar for Vatican City.

Moving quickly, the hearse lifted the body and placed it in the coffin.

At 6 p.m. the triple coffin was taken to the Altar of the Confession, fastened in a rope and fully scaffold and slowly lowered.

The bulk of St. Peter lolled at the feet of thousands of people who had witnessed the burial of the 26th Pope slowly left the Basilica.
