POLARIS ROCKET TWISTS, EXPLODES

Missile Causes Flames

Second Stage Failure Seen

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A temperamental Polaris experimental rocket twisted crazily over the Cape and exploded Wednesday when the missile was deliberately destroyed after and abortive launching.

No one was injured but the impact caused a raging brush fire on an isolated section of the Cape. The flames were whipped by winds as high as 30 miles an hour.

It was the second time in three weeks that the 75-foot Navy missile had exploded shortly after launching. On Sept. 24, a Polaris was blown apart high over the Cape, raining debris back on the launching area and in the Banana River in nearby Cocoa Beach.

Minutes after the spectacular blowup, the Navy announced that "the second stage of a Polaris test vehicle was destroyed by the range safety officer after it inadvertently took off and gained a few hundred feet altitude."

Just as the preliminary countdown reached zero, there was a brilliant flash of explosion on the pad.

Then the second stage of the solid-fuel missile jerked aloft in cartwheel fashion and disintegrated about a mile and a half from the pad.

The first stage, which was still seated on the launching stand, blasted a huge stream of flame for more than five minutes.

It looked like an oversized railroad flare as it puffed and spluttered on the pad.

The missile, labeled A-N-2, is very similar in shape and size to the operational Polaris, which is expected to be ready in 1960.

The Navy missile, designed for a range of 1,500 miles, will be launched from nuclear submarines, from both above and below the surface.

The Navy says that when ready its missile will be capable of striking any target on earth. If Wednesday's test had been successful, the missile would have traveled several hundred miles on a limited-power test.

The objectives were to test the solid propellant motor, flight separation of the two stages, and performance of missile flight controls.

The Navy said the first stage of the vehicle ignited properly, but suddenly the second stage also ignited and exploded.

It was the first explosion since the Cape in the last month with Daring that time, two Polaries, a Jupiter Intermediate Range Pacific missile and a mighty Atlas Intermediate nuclear missile were deliberately destroyed when trouble developed in flight.

However, during the same period, a Vanguard Satellite Rocket and the second U. S. lunar probe Pioneer were launched successfully.

Little Rock Schools Still Publicly Held

8th Federal Appeals Court Extends Temporary Order

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A federal Appeals Court again Wednesday extended its temporary order blocking the use of Little Rock's public schools as private, segregated institutions.

Presiding Judge Joseph Woodruff of the six-man, three-member panel of the Eighth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals announced the order will remain in force until the court made its final ruling. He added that would be "as soon as possible."

The court used strong language in its formal order which was intended to include not only the school board but all others who might try to block integration, through the private schools.

NY Ballet Presents Last Show

Cheers Mark End of MSU Season

By RICHARD MURN
Cheers of "bravo" filled the Aud Wednesday night, marking the close of the New York City ballet's visit to MSU.

The ballet evoking this season was "Symphony in C," a classic white ballet, choreographed by George Balanchine to the music of George Bizet, in four movements.

Outstanding among the four ballerinas in "Symphony" were Melissa Hayden and Patricia Wilde. Although the corps de ballet work was not up to par, this number sparkled with life, contrasted to the somewhat tired "Pas de Dix."

Even though thrown by a slight fall, the most rewarding male dancing in "Symphony" was done by Edward Villella whose performance showed the rest and vigor of youth within the strict bounds of a good classic technique.

The much-awaited Stravinsky "Firebird" turned out to be somewhat of a disappointment, especially for those who came to hear the music. The strain of a difficult score, replacements for the New York orchestra, and a grueling tour of one-night stands took their toll on the whole company in this number.

The corps work was ragged in places, the timing seemed to strain the dancers.

Emerging over the troubled waters, Melissa Hayden danced a cool Firebird, not with as much ease as Fonteyn or Hayden, but nonetheless, terrific. Admirably supporting her was Francisco Moncion as the Hunter, and Una Kai as the beautiful Tsaritsa.

Set amid four dazzling theatrical backdrops, done by the artist especially for this ballet, "Firebird" is a story of the triumph of love over evil forces. It is one of the most popular and durable ballets in existence, originating with the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo of Diaghilev.

The program, under "Fair Face" was a repeat of Monday night's performance, but with less verve and bounce. The ballet concerns itself with the representation of the musical instruments, alone and together, set underneath baroque banners, also representing the instruments.

The comic work of the three-passage instruments, Robert Lindgren, Richard Rapp and Edward Villella, delighted the audience. The finale, an intricate fugue dance, showed the company at their best during the evening.

All in all, the visit of the New York ballet was a great success, and balletomanes hope that next year may see the company returning for a longer season.

MSU Prof Pens New Textbook

Dr. Maurice Larian, professor of chemical engineering at MSU, is author of a textbook, "Fundamentals of Chemical Engineering Operations," recently published by Prentice-Hall.

The book is primarily designed for use as a textbook by college juniors and seniors but could be handy for practicing engineers because of its extensive list of references.

The book deals with the manufacturing methods of production of useful chemicals out of raw materials.

'Austerity Budget' Passed By AUSG Over Objections

By LANA SHEPARD
Student Congress passed its "austerity budget" Wednesday night, but not before hearing the objections of disappointed Director of Organizations, Don Branzburg.

To be sure, the budget was passed after a lengthy discussion on the relative merits of the coffee house, the division sponsors. The organization's office suffered a $10 cut in appropriations.

Parliamentary procedure in the Student Congress, which is a member of the congress, voted objection to his remarks. The same maneuver passed Junior College Relations Director Herb Ashby before he opened his mouth, presumably to speak for funds siphoned in his division.

Lana Dart AUSG treasurer, also lost out in her effort to save the unfurnished office supplies item submitted in her original budget.

Jon Noed, AUSG secretary, chairman of the Finance Committee that called for the economy measures, stood by his recommendations, supporting the committee members, Nancy Quant, Lansing, Ed Reeves, East Lansing, and George Archuleta, East Lansing.

Launching Stores Plan Downtown Business Week

The Downtown Business Association of Lansing has announced Oct. 20-25 as "Downtown Launching Week." This recognizes a national movement to center attention on the downtown area.

Main attraction of the week will be the advertisement of free parking through purchase in a store. This means a person will be able to park up to four hours free in a city lot and two hours in a private lot.

The stores will give out stamps and each person can collect up to eight of these. To earn the first stamp one must purchase $2 worth of merchandise followed by $1 purchases. Only four stamps are allowed per store.

Another feature of the week will be a "Mystery Shopper." The object is to pick out the woman who is the mystery shopper. Hints will be found in the Journal and State News. Prize for this contest is a free trip to New York and a stay at the Waldorf.

Open House Planned For Newcomers Club

There will be an open house at President and Mrs. Harvath's home today from 8-10 p.m. for the Newcomers Club. Faculty members are eligible for membership during their first two years at MSU. The dues are $1.50 per year. Further information may be obtained from Anne Fisher, ED 2-4-116.

Director's Pleas Fail

Dean of Students Tom King spoke to the Congress, reminding it of the Oct. 23 visit of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt to the campus and inviting students interested in speaking to the former first lady to do so when she is at Kellogg Center.

The annual Student Government Luncheon Athletic Club classic was officially set for the morning of Oct. 25 as the archival officers of the intramural gridiron meet in another sports-clash "Clashwell's" tune-up game Wednesday night resulted in a 39-0 loss.

A letter from Emily Foster, manager of the auxiliary and food service, asking Congress to give "serious consideration" to the discontinuance of the MSU cable service was referred to the Student Rights and Welfare Committee.

AUSG President Chuck Waller told Congress the AUSG polo shot drive was meeting with unusual success. Waller reported that 3,850 shots had been sold by Wednesday night, more than 1,000 over the original health center estimate, and shot tickets will remain on sale in the Union Concourse all this week.

Panel Sets Rush Dates

Student rushing sessions were announced at Wednesday evening's meeting of the Pan-Hellenic Council.

All interested women may sign up for rushing Nov. 3 in the Conference Room in the Student Services Building.

Full convocation for those who have signed up for rushing will be held Nov. 12 in the Music Auditorium. The rushing program will be explained and all rushers will pay $1 rush fees.

Homecoming Queens

Delta Tau Delta will host all Homecoming Queen candidates at a dinner at 6 p.m. All candidates are to meet in the Union ballroom at 12:30 p.m. Sunday, instead of 2 p.m. as previously planned. Cocktail dress will be the attire.

Nov. 3 Construction Deadline TV Building Permit Granted

By SANDRA DOLLAHAN
The construction permit for Channel 10-TV was received Tuesday from the Federal Communications Commission (FCC). The university will at last have a VHF station, under joint ownership of State's WMSB and the commercial station, WPTV.

Construction must be underway not later than Nov. 3, 1958. The university will not be broadcasting according to Dr. Armand L. Hunter, MSU director of broadcasting.

Onondaga is the official home of the transmitter and studio of the station. According to FCC specifications, the channel had to be outside a certain radius of other channel 10's. Consequently Onondaga was selected.

This unique double call letter channel promises to give the area public a varied schedule of programs. The commercial station W-TV will be broadcasting in the NBC network.

WMSB will present a schedule of programs along educational and cultural lines. Specific primary and secondary school educational series will be conducted along with various sports events, news coverage and lectures. The university will telecast about 38 hours a week.

The call letters WMSB were selected after unsuccessfully trying to secure the call letters WMSU which were held steadfast by Mississippi Southern College television station. Thus the letters WMSB will be used, the abbreviated form of Michigan State Broadcasting.

Bus Trip to Purdue To Leave from Union

Those taking the bus trip to Purdue must be at the Union at 7 a.m. Saturday. Passengers are to bring a lunch.

Only a few tickets are left and only those taking the bus may purchase them.

Those making deposits must pay the balance before departure. Total cost is $14.

Michigan speakers who will discuss Civil War topics include James F. and Frederick Williams, both of MSU.

Also included on the two-day program will be talks given at the MSU Museum. Among these will be an address by George H. Roush, of Lansing, on "Michigan, Guns and History." He will exhibit his collection of Civil War artifacts.

Frank Elliott, curator of history at the museum, stresses that all are invited to attend the conference. It has been designed to interest the general public.

Possible Split May Exist Tunisia--Nasser's Headache

By WILLIAM L. RYAN AP News Analyst

ROME — General Abdel Nasser's apparent determination to impose himself upon all Arab states has led to a situation where he is virtually forcing Arab states to choose sides.

For Nasser, Tunisia's diplomatic break is a dangerous symptom. It points to a developing process with Nasser getting progressively more and more beyond his depth.

The break has ramifications throughout the Arab East. It supposedly was caused by refusal of Egypt to surrender to Tunisia's President Bourguiba accused of plotting treason and assassination.

It would seem less of an inconvenience for the student if he could make some type of appointment in advance. We should mention parenthetically, waiting in line is certainly not exclusively a student at Olin.

Dr. Fourie told the State News, however, a special effort is being made to spot "extreme" cases and speed up their wait.

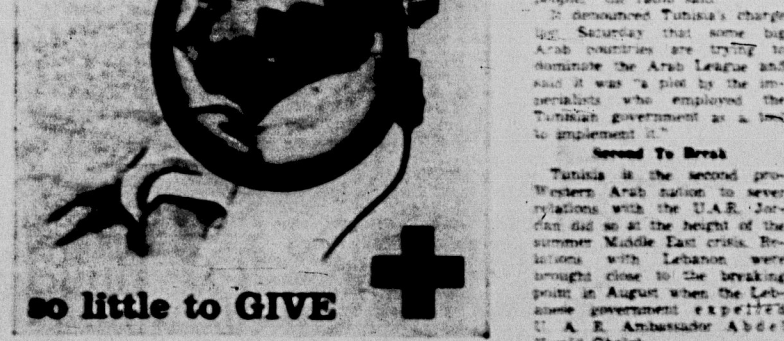

SPEAKING GENERALLY, the problem of public relations we mentioned earlier has been first the fault of several of the clinic's personnel who feel it unnecessary to be friendly to students.

The former situation appears to be improving. Fourie and Richard Holman, hospital manager, both concerned with repairing the clinic's long-lying relations, have already released two staff people for mending the public.

BUT THE VOLATILE student temper which unfortunately faces most higher education traffic rules that major State Department decisions is felt by the false assumption that hospital officials are out to do the student wrong.

When a patient gets out to more information about a hospitalized friend from the switchboard than his condition "good," "fair," he should be aware of the Federal law which prevents the doctor from disclosing further information to anyone except the patient and next of kin.

W. China Scene of Rebellion Non-Chinese Oppose Reds

HONG KONG (AP) — Press reports from two provinces of Red China disclose widespread anti-Chinese feeling among non-Chinese nationalists there.

One is China's westernmost province of Sinkiang. There 90 percent of the population is non-Chinese of Islamic faith, closely akin to the inhabitants of Soviet Central Asia.

They say there is a full-scale rebellion going on there with deserters from former guard units in the area fighting the Reds. It is also said the insurgents have suffered severe losses.

Anti-Red Methods Deplored: Reading Monday's editorial one can not help but agree that our "second front" approach to combating communism is weak if at all existent.

Rebellion Waning: A recent article in the Sinkiang Daily published in Urumchi, capital of the province, quoted a statement by Chinese Gen. Tu Lang-Tai, deputy chief of staff of the Sinkiang army district.

Confiscate Lands: The editorial admitted Chinese army units have been used to organize collective farms in the province and to confiscate lands belonging to Moslems.

Example: Little Rock integration, like vs. Faubus. We have an argument, an internal conflict. We have a Governor of a state opposing directly a federal edict.

Tunisia Called Tool Of West

CAIRO (AP) — The official Cairo radio Wednesday night called Tunisia a tool of the West. It was the Nasser government's first public reaction to Tunisia's diplomatic break with the United Arab Republic (U.A.R.).

This step, however, will not affect relations between the U.A.R. people and the Tunisian people, the radio said.

It denounced Tunisia's charge that Saturday that some big Arab countries are trying to dominate the Arab League and said it was "a plot by the imperialists who employed the Tunisian government as a tool to implement it."

The Tunisia-U.A.R. break will make itself felt in the course of the Algerian liberation front's 4-year-old war for independence from France.

Algerian rebels have shuttled freely between Tunis and Cairo. They use Cairo as a base for the political battle against France and Tunisia as a military springboard.

The recently formed Algerian exile government here issued a statement regretting the break.

Arab diplomats emphasized that the break was most embarrassing for the Algerian rebels because most aid from other Arab states passes through the U.A.R. to Tunisia to Algeria on the so-called Algerian lifeline.

Army Number High Ike Won't Ask Reduction Of Nationalist Forces

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower pledged Wednesday he would not press Nationalist China to reduce its 85,000-man garrison on Quemoy. But he said he believes it illogical to keep so many troops on the shell-torn island.

"We are not going to reduce the number of troops on Quemoy," Eisenhower said. "We are going to keep them there as long as they are needed for the defense of the island."

Eisenhower spoke out of a new confidence, backing the Secretary of State, John Foster Dulles, yesterday. He said the United States would show Communist China that it was not going to give the island what it wanted.

Eisenhower left open the possibility that China, with U. S. approval and perhaps some persuasion, might voluntarily decide to cut back his troop strength as a means of easing the Formosa crisis.

Dulles made clear the U. S. favors such troop reductions on Quemoy and Matsu but not as a concession to the Chinese. He said the United States would not give the island what it wanted.

Up Margin Demands On Stocks

To Discourage Borrowed Money

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board Wednesday ordered margin requirements on purchases of stocks raised to 90 per cent, effective today.

This is the second increase in margin requirements since the economy began recovering from the recession. Margins were raised to 70 percent from 50 percent on Aug. 5.

The new margin requirement means that purchasers of stocks must put up enough cash to cover 90 percent of the market price of the securities they buy. They can borrow the remaining 10 percent.

Margins normally are raised to discourage expansion of credit in the stock market. Such credit was at a record high of $4,700,000,000 at the end of September.

At the end of July, before the last boost in margins, the credit total was $4,251,000,000.

This credit includes loans by brokers to customers and by banks to customers for the purchase of stocks. Brokers' loans were much higher during the 1929 market boom which preceded the 1929 crash. The $4,300,000,000 is a record since loans by brokers and banks were completed for the first time during the 1930's.

The effect of raising margin requirements is to discourage stock market speculation from buying stocks on borrowed money.

A reserve board spokesman said the board was concerned by too much credit flow into the stock market, which has experienced a sharp rise since last winter.

Honors College Sets Informal Coffee Hour

Honors College students are invited to an informal coffee hour today from 4:30 p.m. in the Honors College Lounge on the second floor of the library. Other appetizers will be served.

On the MSU campus there are about 26 miles of roadways and 48.3 miles of walkways. And more are built as the need arises.

Foreign Policy! Upset Due In Political Campaigns

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said Wednesday foreign policy should be kept out of political campaigns. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, reversing himself, said it was all right for Vice President Richard Nixon to reply to Democratic criticism in this field.

Eisenhower refrained from endorsing Nixon's statement in Chicago Monday night that the policy of former President Harry Truman and his Secretary of State, Dean Acheson, "resulted in war and the Eisenhower-Dulles policy resulted in peace."

Asked about the statement at his news conference, Eisenhower said: "You are reading me a quotation that I haven't even read. But I do subscribe to this theory: foreign policy ought to be kept out of partisan debate."

"I realize that when someone makes a charge, another individual is going to reply. I deplore that."

Dulles, who indicated Tuesday he regarded Nixon's comment as going beyond the bounds of proper campaign discussion, took somewhat the same line.

Norse to Talk To Managers

Edwin Norse, economic adviser to ex-President Truman, will speak on "The Role of the Executive" at 4 p.m. in the library fourth floor lounge. Students and faculty are invited.

Norse will also address the eighth annual Management Conference Saturday at 9:30 a.m. in Fairchild when his topic will be "Economic Outlook for Michigan and the Nation."

Other speakers during the morning include Daniel Clinch, a consultant to the Michigan legislature, and economic professor, speaking on "Tax Structure and its Impact on Business and Industry" and John Hazard, Seaway development Corp. consultant, discussing "What the St. Lawrence Seaway will mean to Michigan Business and Industry."

Green, Anderegg Co-Captains

By HARDY CHRIST
State News Sports Editor

As the seasons change, so does the world of sports. Michigan State's basketball squad has begun preparation for its coming season.

Practices began yesterday under the tutelage of Coach Andy Green. The Michigan State squad is expected to be one of the best in the Big Ten conference this year.

Green and Anderegg were selected by their teammates and coaches to serve as co-captains this year, replacing the departed Quigley.

It was the first time that the entire team voted for its captains. And the vote was so close that we thought both Green and Anderegg deserved the honor.

Although allowed a 22-game schedule by the NCAA the

Fleet Halfback Hurt Johnson and Kelly Give Duff Mid-Week Worries

The doubtful status of halfback Art Johnson and an injury to guard Ellison Kelly in Wednesday's practice gave Spartan Coach Duffy Daugherty some mid-week worries.

"We're hoping they'll be ready to go," said Daugherty. "It won't be determined until practice today whether Johnson will play. The halfback suffered a broken ankle and a knee injury against the University of Pittsburgh last Saturday.

Attired in a bird cage mask and a heavily taped knee, Johnson took part in some of Wednesday's drills but wasn't running well.

Johnson alternated with Hughie Donohue as the team's lead back through a dummy scrimmage. If Johnson is unable to start, Donohue will get the nod.

Kelly suffered a bruised left knee in Wednesday's drills, and is in the doubtful list. Guard Cliff LaRue will start if Kelly's injury isn't healed.

The split was high as State prepared for its showdown clash with Purdue.

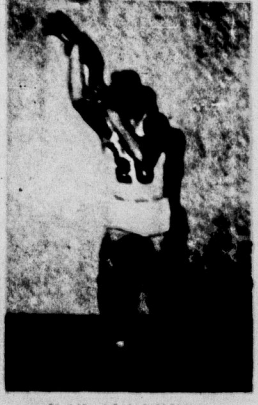

The Boilermakers, winners of the first two games this year, lost to the University of Wisconsin last Saturday night.

They defeated Nebraska 28-0 and Rice 24-0 in their first two games.

Michigan State will open its season against the University of Michigan in a game scheduled for Oct. 20. The Spartans will play at Ann Arbor.

Included in the schedule is a three-game series in the Big Ten Conference during the Christmas holidays at Duke University. Although an elimination tournament, each team is awarded 30 points for each game.

Concerning the Big Ten season, Anderson thinks a rough fight for the championship is in store.

"Four of the conference teams won't lose a man from their first five players," said Anderson. "This race for the championship is going to be another dogfight."

Anderson's team is expected to be one of the best in the conference.

First Managed in 1925 Casey Signs Contract For Two More Seasons

NEW YORK (AP)—Charles Dillon (Casey) Stengel, who failed to win the pennant in only one of his ten years as an American League manager, will pilot the world champion New York Yankees at least for another two years.

The 48-year-old strategist quitted all rumors of retirement Wednesday when he signed his sixth two-year contract calling for an estimated $60,000 annual salary. He reportedly earned $70,000 in 1957 and 1958.

Signing of Stengel was announced at a mammoth press conference by co-owner Dan Topping and general manager George Weiss, in plush surroundings replete with television and newsreel cameras. The grizzled pilot, wearing a navy brown suit and tie to match, appeared none the worse for wear following the grueling World Series victory in which the Yankees had to overcome a 3 to 1 deficit to defeat the Milwaukee Braves in seven games.

"I am very happy with my new contract," he said. "I'm not concerned with the money and if it shows up, I'm pleased that the management and Weiss want me back. I had no thought of retiring at any time this year."

"How much longer I'll manage depends upon my health and whether they want me back. A part of my life has to go from year to year. If I feel I won't well it would be silly for me to stay on. I'm getting to the stage where I could get sick pretty soon."

Despite acknowledging that Stengel received a "rewarding" contract, Casey thanked his 25th anniversary.

"Casey has done some great things for me during the ten years he's been with us," said Topping. "I think his greatest achievement was winning the World Series this year. We're proud to have him with us."

Stengel, who broke in as a player in 1910 and got his first managerial job in 1925, was starting his 10th year in organized baseball.

"Let's say it's my 40th birthday," he quipped. "I've put out what for me has been a career of success in the 1925 season when the Brooklyn Dodgers

CHICAGO (AP)—John Longden, 48-year-old jockey who has ridden 5,236 winners, more than any other rider in history, returned to Sportsworld Park Wednesday for a special celebration.

Longden, recovering from a broken leg suffered at Del Mar Sept. 7, made his first appearance here since winning the Scottam's Stakes championship at the 1954 fall meeting.

Longden, receiving a paid watch for that achievement and was given a similar time piece Wednesday. A race Wednesday was named in his honor. He was accompanied by his wife, Hazel, who is a daughter of the late A. G. Tain.

... As an RCA Engineer

Receive your MS in Electrical Engineering, Mechanical Engineering or Physics at RCA's expense, through the RCA Graduate Study Program. At the same time, you're beginning your RCA career as an engineer on a fully professional level, getting a head start in the field you prefer. RCA pays the full cost of your tuition, fees and approved texts while you take graduate study part time at the University of Pennsylvania or Rutgers University.

Or, you may prefer a different path ahead... RCA Design and Development Specialized Training. Here in another of RCA's programs for careers, in which you begin by working full-time on planned technical assignments. Experienced engineers and interested management guide your progress. You may receive assignments in design and development of radar, airborne electronics, computers, missile electronics, television, radio and other equipment fields, as well as in Electron Tubes, Semiconductors and Components. MS, PhD Candidates are eligible for direct assignments in the above mentioned fields.

There's a lot more that's extremely interesting about an RCA engineering career. You should have these facts to make a wise decision about your future. Let them in person very soon when an RCA engineering management representative arrives on campus.
