

Seven Lettermen, But...

Fencers Lack Experience

By CAROLYN VALONI

Seven returning fencers and many promising sophomores are the material that Coach Charles Schmitter has to work with on this year's fencing team. According to Schmitter, the team has "good potential, but lacks experience."

Although practice has already started, Schmitter says that it is still not too late to try out for the squad. Fencing is one of the few sports for which previous experience is not necessary. Last year none of the men had experience and seven letters were awarded. Any one interested should contact Schmitter from 3 to 6 p.m. in room 309 of Jenison Fieldhouse.

The nine man team has not yet been picked. Several men are returning in each of the three divisions. They include: Tony Glum and Sam Teleak; full Roger Trane, team captain; and Randy Hippler and Ed Kotter, mace; Roger Moon and Steve Arnold, sabre. Arnold, who was out much of last year due to illness, is back.

Among the sophomores are: Dick Snider, Al McAllum, Dick Lawless, Art Dowd, Paul Carpenter and Larry Backus, foil; Jim Clark, Doug Jewell and Charles Schmitter, Jr., epee; Don Johnson, Pat Muldoon, Dave Stafseth, Roy Uchigashima and Neil Brown, sabre.

Schmitter, who is directing the fortunes of the fencers for the 20th year at MSU, is the only native born American to receive the title of Fencing Master from the National Academy in Naples, Italy. He took a leave of absence in the spring of 1936 to study for three months with the world famous fencer Giuseppe Mangiarotti in Milan prior to taking the Fencing Masters examination. Schmitter coached amateurs for 10 years before coming to State. He retired from competition in 1933.

Last week Schmitter refereed at the Canadian Hero Memorial Fencing Tournament where Judy Gosschick, MSU's epee, placed first in foil. Also placing in epee were Charles Schmitter, Jr., sixth, and Roger Trane, ninth. Schmitter said that the competition was the toughest of any meet except the U. S. Nationals.

Schmitter refused to comment on the prospects of the season, but he is hoping for a better showing than last year when the team broke even with a five-five record. The team has 11 meets this year and is also entered in the NCAA Championships. The opposition includes Wisconsin, Illinois, Ohio State, Indiana and Iowa in the Big 10, and Notre Dame, Detroit, Wayne State and Case Tech.

Oosterbaan Strung Up In Effigy

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Benjie Oosterbaan, one of college football's winningest coaches, was hanged in effigy Monday because of Michigan's lopsided loss to Northwestern.

A stuffed dummy with the word "Oosterbaan" emblazoned on its chest swung by a rope from a tree in the center of Michigan's campus.

University authorities considered the mock hanging a disgraceful prank by a minority of disgruntled students. Michigan was soundly beaten 55-24 by Northwestern last Saturday. Oosterbaan's worst defeat in 11 seasons of coaching.

The dummy was quickly chopped down. Oosterbaan refrained from commenting on the act. Only two weeks ago he was a campus hero because of Michigan's tie with arch-rival Northwestern.

Since he became head coach in 1933, Oosterbaan's teams have compiled a 62-29-4 record for a .674 percentage.

His team won two Big 10 championships and never slumped to the second division until last season.

But Michigan hasn't won a championship since 1930 and in recent years there have been several disgruntled alumni efforts for Oosterbaan's ouster.

The general 52-year-old coach, a two-time All-American in his own playing days at Michigan, did not appear distressed by the bogus hanging.

Woody Still Harping on 'Dirty Play'

But Declares Some Officiating Better

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio State's Woody Hayes said Monday his week-long, one-man crusade against what he terms dirty football and poor officiating is paying off in the Western Conference.

He told his weekly press luncheon guests that "all Big 10 games, except one, were better officiated last Saturday."

He declined to name the exception, but he evidently referred to the Indiana-Ohio State game in which he made a fourth-period hatless-coastless charge to midfield for a retaliating protest to the referees.

Hayes was quoted following the contest as saying "As soon as I went on the field the (officials) began to call the penalties."

At the press conference a question-answer period went like this:

Q—If your remark meant there were infractions in the first three periods which had been ignored by the officials, aren't you indicating their ineptness?

Hayes—I don't want to do that—you'll have to draw your own inference.

Q—You said your first responsibility was to protect your players. If there were earlier infractions why did you wait until the fourth period, when you were leading 33-0, to go on the field?

Hayes—The foul I went on the field to protest was the most blatant.

Q—If the officials started calling penalties after you went on the field, do you think you frightened them into it—or why did they change?

Hayes—I don't think I could scare five officials.

Hayes went on to say "Maybe I have been too critical of officials. I don't want to go on the field and I have to protect my boys and I don't know of any other way to do it."

"The thing I'm most afraid of is the reprisal angle. If a team gets away with dirty football and isn't penalized, the other team will try to get even. That's when games get out of hand and kids get hurt."

NCAA May Adopt 'Tender'

Big 10 Now Uses 'Letter of Intent' Rule

CHICAGO (AP)—The "letter of intent" method of contacting recruiting of athletes may be put on a country-wide scale by the NCAA, Fritz Crisler, Michigan Athletic Director, said Monday.

Crisler, who is a member of policy-making council of the NCAA, now meeting in Chicago, told the Chicago American Quarterback Club.

"A national letter of intent" may come with the recommendation of the council at the NCAA convention next January in Cincinnati. This would reduce the greatest evil in collegiate athletics—the mad scramble for recruiting the blue chip athletes. I think a letter of intent is a fine, wholesome type of thing."

Basically, a "letter of intent" is a declaration by a prospective athlete that he intends to go to a certain school. If he fails to do so, he may be ruled ineligible for athletics in his particular conference or he may be ruled ineligible for financial aid.

The Big 10 member of the "letter of intent" move, rules an athlete who fails to carry through his declaration is ineligible for financial assistance of any other member school, but does not legislate him out of athletics.

Assistant Big 10 Commissioner Bill Reed said that in addition to the Big 10, only three other conferences are using a letter of intent policy. They are the Southwest, Southeast and Atlantic Coast conferences.

The "letter of intent" is also referred to as a "tender."

Crisler also said he "doubled very much that the National Football Rules Committee would be inclined to return to the two-planet system as it was known 5 or 10 years ago."

"What is developing, however, is a reversion of the substitution rules that permits platooning to a certain extent," he said. "But it requires a coach to teach his boys."

IM Hockey Gals Prepare for Tilt

The women's intramural hockey team, undefeated in its intercollegiate career this season, is busily preparing for this year's schedule.

Although no official season has been announced for 1938-39, the first game is expected to be played in November.

Other tentative games include the University of Michigan, Central Michigan, Bowling Green, Wayne State University and Eastern Michigan College.

Only two schools in the year's team are expected to sport is open to all players, even, and all are expected to be out. About 25 players are used for each game.

Pistons Win

FLINT (AP)—The Flint Pistons defeated the Minneapolis Lakers 103-97 in the opening game of their National Basketball Assn. exhibition series Monday night. Each won two games.

Delbert, once leading 104-94, trailed until the final minute when it took the lead and won it.

Walter Dukes of the Pistons was high point scorer with 23 points. Yarbrough of the Lakers had 23.

First-String Gridders Demoted by Daugherty

Montgomery Replaces Panitch at Quarterback

Usually a gloomy sight at Monday's practice after a college team loses an important football game in middle of a season. The players, still spiritless over losses, do nothing more than run through the motions, the coaches are constantly cracking the whip in an attempt to arouse the fallen heroes.

The spirit was not followed by the Michigan State gridders. Although a loss to the Spartans was a relief, the team seemed to have a huge burden lifted from their shoulders. They were able to breathe a sigh of relief, but for once the players were able to breathe fresh air and relax.

Pressure finally has been relieved. The pressure that had been on the team since the start of the season when State was touted as a favorite to win the Big 10.

The Spartans have one of the best conference records—coupled with no wins. They are no longer favorites to the championship, but the Spartans are far from over.

The Spartans had not taken it easy. Each player, forgetting last end throughout the season, was demoted to second string, with Fred Arkansas getting the call as the first unit candidate. Jason Harness was out on third string.

Both tackles were shifted. Palmer Price, right tackle, was shifted from first to third string. Frank O'Brien, left tackle, dropped to the second unit.

Pat Daugherty moved up to take O'Brien's place, and George Perles and Alan Hill moved ahead of Price.

John Middleton, who sustained injuries against Purdue, is not listed among the first three units. He has been the starter in the first four games. Mickey Walker took over at the vacant guard spot, with Oscar Hahn behind Walker.

At center, Jim Chastain was dropped to the second team. Don Wright took over the first-string duties, and Jack Davidson and John Wilks are battling for the number three spot.

The injury toll was high after the clash with the Boilermakers. Halfback Look watched Monday's practice from the sidelines due to a bruised back. He should be ready for the Illinois game, however.

Kelly also was on the sidelines. He sustained a badly bruised foot in practice last Wednesday. He played Saturday with it heavily taped. After that game, however, it swelled and it'll take another couple of days before he returns to action.

Others who didn't don the pads Monday were Donahoe, Panitch and Biebel.

Center Arch Matsos, out with a knee sprain suffered in the Michigan encounter, was in uniform for the first time since he was injured. Although the knee bothered him, he should be physically fit in another week.

Athletic Director Clarence "Biggie" Munn, a spectator at Monday's trials, did not see a sudden halt to a successful season.

"I've seen many lame horses get well in a hurry," Biggie said.

The able-bodied players ran through a light practice, timing offensive plays and adjusting to the Illinois defense.

Jeer Outlasts Injuries Hergesheimer Attempts Pro Hockey Comeback

NEW YORK (AP)—Wally Hergesheimer, a little guy with a world of courage, has battled back from two broken legs, a fractured shoulder and a "washed up" reputation to regain a position in ice hockey's big league with the New York Rangers.

The 31-year-old right winger was assured of a regular job Monday by Ranger General Manager Buzz Patrick who said, "Hergie is skating as well as he ever did. He's going to help us a lot."

Hergesheimer was brought up from Buffalo, of the American Hockey League a week ago on a three-game trial. He scored a goal Sunday night as New York dropped a 5-3 decision to Montreal, the defending National League titleholder.

"I never thought I'd make it back up here," said Hergie when told of his promotion. "I'm taking an airplane right away to bring my wife and daughter here from Buffalo."

A 5-8, 155-pound native of Whitepeck, Hergesheimer first joined the Rangers in 1951. He scored 83 goals in his first three seasons to become one of the leading marksmen in the NHL.

However, toward the end of his third year, he suffered a fractured leg. He came down with the same injury in his 14th game the following season and sat out the remainder of the campaign.

Completely recovered, he scored 22 times in the 1955-1956 season and then was traded to the Chicago Black Hawks for George (Red) Sullivan. A broken shoulder again sent him to the sidelines in the 1956 game with the Hawks. Last year, Chicago shuffled him off to Buffalo.

Because the Rangers instituted a working agreement with Buffalo last season, Coach Phil Watson of New York invited Hergie to work out with his club in Niagara Falls, Ont.

"He looked real good," Watson recalled. "I asked him whether he thought he could score 22 goals if we brought him back. He answered, 'Give me a chance and I'll score 25.' So when we got off to a slow start, Muzz and I decided to make the move."

Hergesheimer is one of the all-time favorites of the Madison Square Garden gallery. He received a rousing ovation after beating goalie Jacques Plante in the Canadiens' nets Sunday night.

"It's nice to know they didn't forget me," he said. "There was a time when the going got rough in the last couple of years and that I gave some thought to quitting."

"Now I'm glad I didn't."

Redskin Boss Claims Colt Center a Liar

BALTIMORE (AP)—George Preston Marshall, owner of the Washington Redskins, slammed a luncheon crowd for the Baltimore Colts Monday by calling one of the players a liar.

More than 450 were at the affair held annually before the game between the two National Football League neighbors scheduled here next Sunday.

It was a kidding, wisecracking program with Marshall in the center of it until he took exception to remarks by Madison (Buzz) Nutter, offensive center for the Colts.

Nutter, a noted wit of the squad, was telling how he was cut by the Redskins in 1953.

"Marshall told me to go back to college," Nutter related. The league contract provides that cut pavers be paid transportation back home. Nutter continued.

"I thumbed my way home," said Nutter.

Marshall strode to the microphone and the crowd thought it was in for some more of what he had earlier described as "villific repartee" in his exchange with Carroll Rosenbloom, owner of the Colts.

"This young gentleman is a liar," declared Marshall.

I came over to be entertained. If this is the kind of a luncheon you want to have, have it for yourself. Don't invite people from out of town."

California Now PCC Favorite

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Coach Pete Elliott explains California's football comeback with a single word—"Confidence."

"The biggest thing is that we're familiar with what we're doing," the 31-year-old Elliott declared. "That makes confidence and the biggest factor in football is confidence."

Winning three straight for the first time since 1954, the Bears top the Pacific Coast Conference with a 2-0 record and lead the loop in scoring 116 points.

There's little talk of the Rose Bowl right now, but should the Bears beat tough Oregon here Saturday, you can expect lots more of it.

But it took a long, hard pull for California and Elliott, who migrated from Nebraska last year to install the split T for the hibernating Bear that won just two games in 1955 and three in 1956.

Pete brought no instantaneous magic with the formation he'd learned as an assistant to Bud Wilkinson at Oklahoma. Alumni grumbled as his first squad lost nine of its ten games and this year's team lost to College of the Pacific and Michigan State in the opening paid.

Then followed victories over favored Washington State, Utah and Southern California.

"We're improved," the former Michigan quarterback explains. "We're not a great team, but we're improved." Our attitude is wonderful and a lot of sophomores have come up and helped.

Pete hesitates to single out individuals, but you can't overlook quarterback, Joe Kapp, the fellow who engineers the offense and hopes to go into pro football as a defensive back.

"He's one of the fellows who has improved so much," the coach says. "He can do everything well on a football field and that's my idea of an all-American."

The 205-pound Kapp this season has gained 270 yards in 65 carries including a 50-yard touchdown run and completed 26 of 47 passes for 293 yards. Deceptively fast, he appears to lumber on his rollouts, but opposing linemen have found he's moving rapidly.

With him in the No. 1 backfield are letterman halfbacks Jack Hart and Hank Olgin with sophomore fullback Billy Patton.

Patton leads the PCC in scoring with 50 points, accounting for all Cal's points in the 16-12 victory over L'Am last Saturday.

Along the line, Elliott has a lighter but faster wall than last year.

Right now the Bears appear in the strongest Rose Bowl position since Pappy Waldorf took his teams of 1949, 50 and 51 to Pasadena.

Still five conference games remain and Elliott declares, "I think the Pacific Coast Conference is stronger this year than last."
