Mrs. Roosevelt to Discuss UN, World Affairs After Luncheon

LARRY GUSTIN
Mrs. Roosevelt plans to answer student questions at 1 p.m. in a luncheon at Kellogg today.

The former first lady has expressed a desire to speak with students on an informal basis. She concludes her scheduled appearance, according to Thomas Osgood, president of the American Assn. for the United Nations, Greater Lansing office.

The association is sponsoring Mrs. Roosevelt's appearance in connection with United Nations Week, to be celebrated nationally Oct. 24-31. Mrs. Roosevelt served U. N. delegate to the UN under her resignation in 1952.

She is expected to arrive by train from Willow Run airport in time for a press conference at 11:15 this morning.

686 Pints Of Blood Collected

The fall term blood drive passed its half-way mark Wednesday and at 6:15 p.m. the records showed a total of 686 pints collected.

One hundred twenty-three donors contributed on the third day of the drive while 26 others were rejected.

Thursday the drive will be in operation on the fourth floor of the Union from 2-8 p.m. In- cluding the supper hour. Donors will be moved steadily through the line so that the complete process should not take longer than from 45 minutes to one hour.

Here are the percentages of the giving units contributing to the drive:

Army Protests Proposal Of Civilian Space Agency

U. S., Nationalists To Stand Together

Combine Against Red China As Quemoy Fighting Rages

TAIPEI (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and President Chiang Kai-Shek agreed Tuesday night that their countries must stand together against Communist China.

An exchange of toasts at a state dinner cleared the way for a new statement of solidarity expected after their morning windup conference on the Formosa crisis.

The meeting at 9:30 a.m. (8:30 p.m. Wednesday EST) was expected to be the final one in three days of crisis talks. The second day brought a warning from Dulles that U. S. warships may return to escort duty on the supply run to Quemoy because of renewed Communist shelling.

Throughout the day Nationalists and Red gunners on the Quemoy offshore island engaged in a fierce artillery duel but the firing dropped off at nightfall.

The dinner was at Chiang's mountain palace in Grass Mountain, outside Taipei.

Chiang said a Red China campaign to divide the two allies "makes it of paramount importance to reaffirm our joint stand of solidarity and resolution vis a vis the enemy."

He toasted President Eisenhower and praised Dulles as "an uncompromising antagonist to Communism."

The Nationalist Information Office quoted Dulles as replying that the downfall of Red China depends on the free world's determination, courage and dedication.

The Information Bureau said Dulles also reaffirmed as his "total conviction" a statement at San Francisco last year that Communist rule in mainland China is a passing phase and Americans "should contribute to that passing."

"In resisting against continuous Communist aggression our purpose is to deny them more successes... without successes the Communists will not be able to carry on," Dulles said.

The dinner was followed by more talks among the principals. Dulles also conferred with Gen. Maxwell Taylor, U. S. Army Chief of Staff, indicating the offshore military situation again figured in the talks with Chiang.

While the talks went on, Red guns and Nationalist artillery on Quemoy fought a fierce duel. By Nationalist count, the Reds rained 8,374 rounds on the islands between 5 a.m. and 6 p.m.

At the peak of fire the shells were reported coming in at the rate of 1,000 per hour.

SECRETARY OF STATE John Foster Dulles and Chiang Kai-Shek end their second day of Formosa crisis talks as the Communists step up shelling of Quemoy. Gen. Maxwell Taylor, Nationalist ambassador to the United States, looks on in background.

L-C Series To Feature Humourist

Richard Armour, author and humorist, will appear at MSU tonight as a feature of the Lecture-Concert Series.

The program will begin at 8:15 p.m. in the Aud.

A professor of English at Scripps College and Claremont Graduate School in California, Armour has a background of scholarship that includes a Ph.D. degree from Harvard and research fellowships in England and France. He has taught at seven colleges and universities in Europe and the United States.

His books, several of which have been national best sellers, now number 18. Some of these best sellers are "I, All Started with Europe," "I, All Started with Eve," "Twisted Tales from Shakespeare," "Light Armour," "Nights with Armour," and "I, All Started with Mars."

His writings have appeared in almost all the leading magazines in the United States and England from "The New Yorker" to "The Saturday Evening Post." He has contributed more than 4,000 pieces to more than 100 magazines.

Holders of Lecture-Concert Series season tickets will be admitted upon presentation of ticket.

Revises Campus Chest

AUSG Holds Peaceful, Harmonious Meeting

Things were quiet and peaceful Wednesday night as Student Congress breezed through its most harmonious meeting of the year.

Significant action was limited to the passage of Bill 2 which revised the constitution of Campus Chest and Resolution 10 which requested the removal of deans from the Birch and Chestnut Roads razed barracks area in Married Housing.

The resolution, introduced by Reps. Tom Stilling, Harry Bosak and Don Holba of Married Housing, cited the unjustly appointed and danger to married students' children's grounds for opposing the administration to investigate the situation.

The Campus Chest reorganization bill ran into a temporary amendment stalemate after being reported out of the Congress Business and State Affairs Committee.

A clarification amendment by Rep. Bill Livingston (East Lansing) in behalf of Campus Chest Director Sue Leichter was questioned by Rep. Bill Errett (Married Housing) and several other members of the study committee, but eventually opposition was worn down and the bill with amendments passed unanimously.

Spoken for by the Student-Faculty Motor-Vehicle Committee, reinforced congressmen that the entire used-sticker must be removed from student car windows. Offenders will be penalized with a $2 fine.

Scientists Featured In Dispute

Nation 'To Pay' Say Army Men

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army missile leaders rose up in open protest Wednesday against the proposal that the new Civilian Space Agency take over most of the Army's team of space-missile scientists.

The Army counterattack was launched at the annual convention of the U. S. Army Assn., composed of active and reserve officers and representatives of military industry.

Heretofore, the Army leaders had been found by voting their feelings on the issue of transferring their top men and much of their facilities for missile-space work.

But Wednesday these officers, fortified by strong resolutions adopted by the convention used such words as "disastrous" and "fatal" in describing proposals by the new civilian space administration.

1. Gen. Arthur Trudeau, Army Chief of Research and Development, was one high-ranking critic of the proposals made by civilian space administrator Keith Glennan.

Trudeau said a breakup of the Army's space-missile team—including more than 100 German-born scientists—could result in the nation "paying a price" and paying it soon, in defense against aggression from space.

Major Gen. John Medaris, the Army's missile boss, put it more bluntly, saying the proposal to split the Army's strictly space work from its military missile development could "obviously be a fatal thing."

The Army Association resolutions urged President Eisenhower to maintain the Army Ordnance Missile Command.

The resolutions called for continued work by this Army group in "advancing the space capabilities of the nation."

The Army got the word of the impending proposal to surrender its major space and missile work about 10 days ago. Glennan, who became director of the new Aeronautics and Space Administration made his request verbally to Secretary of the Army Wilber Brucker. This approach was made directly to the Army with the knowledge of the Defense Department and the White House.

Officials said Glennan had asked for about 2,100 missile scientists and engineers employed at Redstone Arsenal and the entire facilities and personnel of the Army's jet propulsion laboratory at Los Angeles.

Balloon Satellite Beeps Missing After Launching

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Army launched a balloon satellite toward space Wednesday night but lost its signals a short time after it shot aloft on the nose of a powerful Jupiter-C missile.

The spectacular launching appeared to be perfect from the ground and the Army said the missile was on its planned course when its first stage burst out came at the calculated time.

But when the signals were lost 10 seconds before the second stage of the rocket was due to ignite, it was not known what had happened to the satellite.

Army officials in Washington said 90 minutes after the launching "it cannot be determined at this time whether an orbit was attained."

Scientists here said it was possible the satellite might start beeping again 90 minutes after launching. But two hours after launching there was no further word on the missile's fate.

The scientists said they did not expect to have further information on the satellite before 8 a.m. EST today.

No Glints of Moonglow on Menu

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Take it from an Air Force researcher, there will be no glints of moon-glow on the menu when future travelers streak into outer space.

The man of tomorrow, bound for the far, far blue yonder, needn't expect filet mignon, egg benedict, jellied lamprays or any other rich and fancy fare. If he wants that kind of luxury, he'll have to stick to regular air travel on lower levels. Subtle lighting, exquisite napery, exotic dishes and choice drink are simply not for space.

But voyagers a la volar may count on getting plenty of pleasurable proteins in various forms. One big source of nourishment, if not of romance, will be algae. Algae in its unrefined state is a sort of tossed salad all wash. It is defined baldly as sea weed, rock weed, sea lettuce, even pond scum.

"Rest assured, though," says Beatrice Finkelstein, "the space traveler will not go hungry. He won't eat like a gourmet or epicure, but on the whole he'll be well fed."

Miss Finkelstein is a research specialist attached to the aerospace medical laboratory at Wright Air Development Center, Dayton, Ohio. Here for a convention of the American Dietetic Assn., she told her story Wednesday in speech and interview.

She said Air Force research on food in space is divided into three phases. The first for travel up to three days, the second for trips of from two to six months; the third for long ones.

The weekends will be a breeze, a nibble and a nip, snacks of candy, cookies, cakes, fruit, high protein milk and meat derivatives.

Miss Finkelstein related that one of the major problems to be solved is that of limited storage facilities on space ships.

Each passenger will get up to three and a half pounds of food a day. And those going away for six months may look ahead to a diet of pre-cooked dehydrated food. Just add hot water.

"Our modern processing methods will make the menu savory and varied," Miss Finkelstein said.

"For example, there will be macaroni and cheese, spaghetti and meatballs, chicken and rice, meat and gravy, dried fruits and cereals."

No butter, though. The researchers are working on a spread they think will be more practical, maybe even taste as good.

For the really long journeys, food will be produced right in the space cruiser. Miss Finkelstein said the research for these trips aims at finding a algae that will create plant cells high in protein value.

"The algae also will produce and give off oxygen and absorb carbon dioxide," she continued.

"It will be doing in the space vehicle what nature does with the aid of land, sea and air."

Safety Director Alerts Cyclists To Regulations

Assistant Safety Director Richard Bennett says that every year, new students have to be reminded of the bicycle regulations enforced by Campus Police.

Students not being able to ride sidewalks, students must insure their bicycle with the campus police, obey the same rules as those affecting automobiles, lock their bicycle when in sun, and yield to pedestrians at crosswalks.

Students must ride with traffic on one-way streets, park bicycles in racks provided, at night must use a light, a bell, and at all times, a proper and adequate brakes.

The following rules apply to bicycles as well:

Factors Scrutinized In Participation Lag

WE'RE TALKING TODAY about those who, as Gilbert put it, do nothing in particular and do it very well. For despite the fact that most of us at MSU wish to participate in at least one worth-while extra-curricular activity...

Such an instance as the AUSG Polo Drive now in progress helps bear out our point. Shot tickets were sold in the Union Concourse three hours each day for the past eight school days...

Asked "how come," AUSG President Chuck Walther points to the shortage of personnel, both in Student Government and in outside volunteers...

BUT IN THE CASE of the vital polo shot program, a 10-day project at longest, we see no reason why the personnel scarcity couldn't have been foreseen...

Frosh Class Elections

THE FRESHMAN CLASS seems to have struck a mighty blow against student apathy at MSU. A total of nine candidates are running for freshman president, which is the biggest turnout in many years...

Many freshmen are vying for every other class officer and student government position. With such enthusiasm expressed on the part of all candidates, all freshmen have a major responsibility to vote for the candidates they want as leaders this year...

According to Election Commissioner Reinhard Schumann, students can vote during their lunch and dinner hours in all the dorms and in the Union and Berkeley Hall from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. All students must bring their ID cards to the polls in order to vote.

The choice is yours. So come on, frosh, get out and vote!

Freshmen Platforms Stated

(Editor's Note: The following platforms were submitted in response to the State News offer of a special platform of all students running for office. Other platforms appeared in Wednesday's State News.)

PRESIDENT Larry Campbell
I will give more complete and able representation of my freshman classmates.

I will build in my fellow freshmen a spirit of pride and confidence and interest through good leadership.

I personally wish to see the annual publication of a comprehensive freshman directory.

I intend to treat the presidency as the round-the-clock duty, responsibility, and honor which it is.

I want to foster more official and concrete active interest in the scholarship of freshmen.

I will be readily available to all freshmen in person, by phone, or by mail at all times for assistance and suggestions.

I will use my previous years of experience in student organizations and government to the greatest benefit of our Class of 1962.

FROSH VICE-PRESIDENT Miss Mike Magee
My platform consists of five points:

1. I would promote current reports of AUSG activities.

2. I would take a personal interest in the achievement of satisfactory solutions to complaints.

3. An extension of the duties of the Frosh-Soph Council.

4. More benches on campus for in-between class relaxation.

5. I would promote co-educational activities.

As Vice-President of the Freshman class my main duty would be participation on Frosh-Soph Council, which sponsors Frosh-Soph Daze, Coffee Hour, Parents Day and helps during registration.

Pete Van Leer
My platform for freshman class vice-president consists wholly of unifying the freshman class. Large as it may be, there is still much that can be done to make a stronger, more active class.

How do I intend to do this? By having freshmen get acquainted, hours, more freshmen sponsored activities, and open meetings of the Frosh-Soph Council. With open meetings, our students could present their views and ideas, and take a more active part in Student Government.

Vance Rverson
Although I'm running for the number two spot on the freshman ballot, I don't intend to represent my class without a personal program to follow.

Above all things, I think an emphasis on freshman participation in campus activities and organizations should be encouraged. This can best be accomplished by co-ordinating Frosh-Soph Council with Student Government's Organizations Bureau and establishing a strong freshman activities program in the dorms under MHA and WIC guidance.

I believe the freshman class should take an active part in sponsoring all-university social events beyond those already engaged in by Frosh-Soph Council. This includes plans for annual dance on the scale of those traditionally sponsored by the junior and senior classes.

Nude Pix Draws Aves

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — Silhouettes of photographs of nude college girls touched off a controversy Wednesday between doctors and educators.

The photos, made for a positive program, were termed medically valuable by the Baltimore County Medical Assn. The doctors also said the photos were "beneath the Christian dignity of womanhood."

Maryland's top education official said he was "astounded" at the doctors' reaction.

Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, state superintendent of education, demanded to appear before the medical group to find out what our doctors are and on what facts they base their opinions.

He said there was "nothing immoral" about the picture program.

Some parents have objected to the photos, made of freshmen girls at Towson State Teachers College.

Dr. Corinne Bize, director of health and physical education at the college, said none of the subjects' facial features is transferred to the photograph. She said the girls stand nude only for a moment while sensitized paper in a special camera records the profile of their forms.

Dr. Earl T. Hawkins, college president, said corrective exercises designed to improve posture defects are prescribed following studies of the silhouette prints.

Dr. Hawkins said all freshmen girls must participate in the program but are permitted to decide whether to disrobe completely.

The medical association resolution said that if the profile studies did in fact have any medical value they would not be hampered if the girls wore small pelvic and breast coverings.

November Voting High Predicted

27 States Show Gain over 1954

WASHINGTON (AP)—A total of 73,525,504 voters are qualified to cast ballots in the Nov. 4 elections, according to official and unofficial estimates.

These sources predict a probable vote of 45,151,220. Both figures, if they are borne out, would set records for a national election. They contrast with some degree with the results of a survey in the election of the Fourth Congress of the Eisenhower administration.

The tabulations are based on women's and some official figures gathered by the Associated Press from state officials, party chairmen and, in some instances, political writers.

The estimated registration of 73,525,504 is an increase of 1,688,258 over 1954, the previous record for a mid-term election. It includes an official registration of 6,700,904 in New York state, made public Tuesday night. This is a record for a non-presidential year in the Empire State. It is believed to reflect unusual interest in the 1954 election—Rockefeller's gubernatorial battle.

The estimated vote of 45,151,220 includes the 29,120,000 voters actually recorded in the September election in Maine on Sept. 8. It represents a gain of more than 3 1/2 million over the previous highest mid-term vote in 1944, and would be about 11 percent of the estimated registration.

Only a few states gather official registration figures, and some of these are not available until election day or later. The total registration estimate for the country compares with a census bureau estimate of 104,600,000 potential voters—citizens 21 years of age and over in most states, 18 and over in Georgia and Kentucky. The potential vote gained 4,377,000 over 1954.

Twenty-seven states, whose laws were passed in 1954, have non-technical in nature, a voter must be tested in intermediate forensic tests are urged to attend.

Justifies Korean War

Hagerty Blames Truman For 'Rewriting History'

CHICAGO (AP)—The White House accused Harry S. Truman Wednesday of trying to rewrite history in order to justify what it termed an "impossible" war in Korea—a "win-it" war that was taking a mounting toll of American lives.

A White House spokesman said the statement on behalf of President Eisenhower after he declared the United States is stronger in any face than ever before, and that national prosperity "is certainly coming again."

The stepped-up response to Truman's criticism came as the White House prepared for another series of campaign speeches, to be broadcast on a coast-to-coast TV network (CBS) at 8:30 p.m. EDT Wednesday.

White House Press Secretary W. Mark Felt issued the statement in reply to a charge by former President Truman at Newtville, Pa., Wednesday that Eisenhower "surround" Communism in a settlement of the Korean War.

The White House spokesman said that if Truman made such an accusation, he was going to have quite a time selling that kind of "rewriting of history" to American people.

Truman himself, winding up a 1,200-mile campaign on behalf of Republicanism, made a new denial charge by administration that this country is lagging in its preparation for a war with the Soviet Union.

Bush was asked in a panel discussion with a group of Republican women: "Are you better prepared for this war?"

"We have been the army of democracy. The strength of democracy has been one of the determining factors. I should like to see a man who has been as strong as it now."

Truman said, referring to Truman: "He knows better than I do."

... As an RCA Engineer

Receive your MS in Electrical Engineering, Mechanical Engineering or Physics in RCA's expense through the RCA Graduate Study Program. At the same time, you're beginning your RCA career as an engineer on a fully professional level, getting a head start in the field you prefer. RCA pays the full cost of your tuition, fees and approved books while you take graduate study part time at the University of Pennsylvania or Rutgers University.

Or, you may prefer a different path. RCA Design and Development Sponsored Training. Here is another of RCA's programs for engineers, in which you begin by working full-time on planned technical assignments. Experienced engineers and interested management guide your progress. You may receive assignments in design and development of radio, electronic, electronic, computers, missile electronics, television, radio and other equipment fields, as well as in Electronic Tubes, Semiconductors and Transistors. MS, PhD candidates are eligible for direct assignments in the above mentioned fields.

There's a lot more that's extremely interesting about an RCA engineering career. You should have these facts to make a wise decision about your future. Get them in person very soon when an RCA engineering management representative arrives on campus.

Statistics Say One Thing; Ohio State Is a Great Team

CHICAGO (AP)—Anyway you read Big 10 football statistics, the running Ohio State is quite a team.

The defending champion Buckeyes are top-ranked defensively and share first offensively with Iowa in conference statistics released Wednesday.

Emphasizing Ohio State's position-type play, the Buckeyes have averaged 20 plays more each game than their two league foes to date.

In yardage gained, Iowa far surpasses Ohio State—410 yards per game to 338—but the Bucks have averaged 34 points per game to lead Iowa and Northwestern in that department.

Bedded down in the U. S. Army hospital since being carried from the field during the Virginia game last Saturday with a badly sprained ankle, Walters has been discounted by the coaching staff for the Pitt game.

Dawkins has been hobbling with a bruised thigh and missed practice again Wednesday. A final decision will not be made until Friday when the team departs by plane for Pittsburgh.

Fullback Walters Out for Cadets

WEST POINT (AP)—Harry Walters, Army's hard driving fullback, will not see action against Pittsburgh on Saturday it was announced Wednesday. Further gloom was added to the Cadet camp with the announcement that Capt. Pete Dawkins still remains a questionable quantity with final decision being delayed until Friday.

Bedded down in the U. S. Army hospital since being carried from the field during the Virginia game last Saturday with a badly sprained ankle, Walters has been discounted by the coaching staff for the Pitt game.

Emmons 1 Wins In Thriller

The whistle had blown to sound the end of the game. A play was already in progress, Sam Cummings faded back and passed to teammate Joe Ferrar who went into the end zone for the tie-breaking score, Emmons 1, 13; Emmons 3, 7.

The game went scoreless for the first three periods. It looked like a deadlock before Bob Arlington opened up the scoring in the fourth quarter with a pass to Mike Tarry. Bob also threw for the extra point to make it 7-0.

Bailey 7, 6; Bailey 5, 0. Bailey 7 clinched the block championship in their dorm last night by squeaking by Bailey 5, 6-0.

It happened in the first quarter when quarterback Evert Riddle hurled a pass to end Bob Piekham. Their win moved them into the playoffs for the dormitory championship.

Hedrick 6, Rower 0. Hedrick won a thriller over their arch rival Bower House on a fluke play in an overtime game, 6-0.

The regulation play had ended. The score was deadlocked at 0-0. A flip of the coin was needed to see who was to kick off. Bower House won the toss and elected to receive.

John Ward of Hedrick charged down and recovered the ball in the end zone for the score and the game was over.

DUFFY DAUGHERTY
... Duffy picks Kelly "Player of the Week" ...

Kelly-Player of Week

Duffy Smiles After Calling Touchdown Play

Duffy Daugherty, the usually amiable Michigan State football coach, hasn't had much to smile about since the Spartans' inept performance at Purdue last Saturday.

But the old Daugherty grin appeared for just a second, Wednesday afternoon. After the second team had run a few plays against the freshmen, Daugherty called the team into a huddle.

"I've got the play that'll go all the way," he insisted. Quarterback Ike Grimsley took the ball and faked a hand-off. He kept the ball and rolled off tackle. A couple of key blocks, one by tackle Palmer Pyle who is fighting to get back on the first even, sent Grimsley into the open.

The old Daugherty grin didn't last long—but it was there.

"That's what we need," Duffy said after practice. "We haven't had one of those this year. How could we use one of those quick touchdowns we used to get every Saturday?"

Daugherty was far from jovial when he spoke before the Downtown Coaches Club, Tuesday afternoon.

Guard Ellison Kelly was named "Player of the Week" and was praised by Daugherty for being one of the few seniors on the team who has lived up to his potential this season.

Sportstalk Spartan D-Day

By HARDY CHRIST
State News Sports Editor

It was a sudden, stunning change that occurred on the Michigan State practice field as the Spartan gridders began preparations for the game Saturday against the University of Illinois. This was D-day for many of the Spartan regulars, with the "D" meaning "Demotion."

Coach Duffy Daugherty, thoroughly disgusted with events during the Purdue game last weekend, showed his disgust by giving his team a major overhaul.

IN THE BIGGEST shakeup that Daugherty has made since becoming head coach in 1954, he demoted seven first team members, and in all, made 23 lineup changes.

With more than the usual amount of sportswriters present at Monday's practice session, all knew that some surprise would be coming from the Spartan coach. But no one of them could foresee the changes which Duffy was about to unveil.

To some, it looked like Duffy was finally giving up on many of his players, the ones who were touted to bring Michigan State a Big 10 championship and a Rose Bowl trip.

TO OTHERS, IT LOOKED as if Duffy was already beginning to rebuild his football forces for next year. With the addition of four sophomores and three juniors to the starting lineup, it would seem that Duffy wanted them to gain the game experience in hopes for a better showing next year.

Only two of the four remaining players who held onto their positions, Capt. Sam Williams and guard Ellison Kelly, are seniors. Both Dean Look and Bob Berich are juniors.

Still, to others the shifts seemed to say that Duffy wanted each player to know that he isn't expendable. Words like "the first-stringers will be back at their positions next week" were heard around the field. Maybe they will, but according to Daugherty, "They'll have to earn their positions all over again."

DUFFY'S PHILOSOPHY is that there's no use standing pat when you're not winning. He feels that the players demoted haven't shown the spark necessary for a winning combination.

"We may lose again this year," said Daugherty, "but it won't be because we're standing pat. We want football players who have the desire to win."

Duffy says that he is positively not starting to rebuild for next year. "We've got five games left," he said, "and we're not quitting now."

HE HOPED THAT the players he named almost the start of fall practice would get the job done," he said. "But only four (Look, Berich, Kelly and Williams) have lived up to their expectations, and the others must move."

Psychologically, this could be a good move. With the regulars again fighting for their positions, the competition for a job is keener than ever, and instead of becoming discouraged with the demotions, every player is working all the harder.

The biggest switch was in the quarterback position. Mike Panitch, starter in all four games to date, has not only been dropped off the first team, but has been dropped from the three-deep roster. Panitch suffered a sprained ankle in the Purdue game, but Daugherty said the change was made "without regard to that development."

JUNIOR GREG MONTGOMERY has taken over the vacated quarterback spot. Larry Bielat has moved to the second unit and Ike Grimsley to the third.

Montgomery has proven himself as an able quarterback. The tall rebound, shifted from end during spring practice, is a good passer and knows how to run with the ball. More than that, he's a hustler and team leader.

In past games, Daugherty has shifted his quarterbacks freely, using Panitch, Montgomery, Bielat and Tom Wilson.

Something had to be done to instill spirit and desire into the Spartans. Maybe it was overdue, but the overhauling job has begun. Duffy isn't giving up on having a successful win-loss record this year. That's why he's trying new combinations, attempting to find one that will bring home a winner Saturday.

Illini Grididders Aim at MSU

Fresh From Gopher Win, Illinois Looks for Upset

Michigan State is not the only team in the Big 10 singing the blues. The University of Illinois, State's opponent Saturday, has several key performers sidelined with injuries as it prepares for its Homecoming game against the Spartans.

The Illini, fresh from a 20-8 victory over the University of Minnesota last weekend, expect to be better than last week's effort after absorbing a 14-6 loss in the last game of the season.

Assistant Illinois Coach Steve Slaton, who scouted Michigan last week, said that the Spartans' offense is "excellent" and that they look like they will be all the way on every play.

Cleveland's Front Office Split

CLEVELAND, Oct. 20 — A split among stockholders of the Cleveland Indians burst into the open today with a minority bloc, including Hank Greenberg, demanding the resignation of several officers of the baseball club.

A statement calling for the resignation was released by Charles H. Baxter, who said he also spoke for his brother, Andrew, and Greenberg, former General Manager of the club. The group controls about 35 percent of the Indians' stock.

Baxter disclosed at a news conference that his faction had offered to buy out the majority interests, or sell out to them, if the proposals had been declined.

The split has caused a rift in the Cleveland Indians baseball club, but we don't think that under the present setup the club will drive enough fans to provide the revenue for a first-class team. We don't think Cleveland deserves an all-star game.

The statement accused the club's salaried officers of inefficiency.

Baxter declined to name the officers his group had in mind. Salaried officers of the club include Vice-President George Sedinger, in charge of radio

Balloting for Pope Moves With Speed

Cardinals Use New Rules Of Hustle, Strict Secrecy

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The indications Wednesday night were that the College of Cardinals will move with unusual speed in electing the 262nd Pope of the Roman Catholic Church.

Mindful of the wishes of their late Pontiff, Pius XII, the Cardinals may complete their balloting Sunday, the day after they begin their secret deliberations. The name of the new Pope then would be announced to the world.

Pius XII, intent upon gearing the church to act rapidly in a swiftly moving modern world, simplified the machinery of the papal election in directives issued 13 years ago. He also tightened the rules of secrecy governing a conclave of Cardinals to elect a Pontiff.

As a result, even the first balloting of the Cardinals for their particular favorites may be dispensed with. With the absolute secrecy imposed, a reason for such courtesy votes may well have been removed.

The Cardinals seclude themselves from the outside world Saturday afternoon. Their first ballot will be conducted Sunday morning in the Sistine Chapel. If necessary there will be four ballots each day.

Election of a new Pope will be signaled by white smoke, produced by the burning of the ballots, rising from a chimney on the roof of the Sistine Chapel that could come as early as 5:30 a. m. (EST) Sunday.

If the first two ballots do not produce the necessary two thirds, plus one, for a candidate, the Cardinals resume voting in the afternoon.

The Cardinals Wednesday took possession of the three-room apartments in the Vatican's Apostolic Palace.

This conclave will be attended by 10 less Cardinals than the one in 1939 that elevated Pius XII. Sixty-two took part then, and their average age was much younger.

Then only 10 were over 70. Now there are 33 beyond 70. One is over 90 and 10 others are closer to 90 than 80.

The advanced age of so many of the members would tend to work against the ordeal of a long, drawn-out election.

MSU Student's Son Falls from Balcony
A two and a half-year-old son of an MSU student fell from the second floor balcony of his Spartan Village home and received minor cuts and bruises.

Jeffrey J. Fry, son of Keith Fry, 2121 Cherry Lane, was taken to Sparrow Hospital by Campus Police but was released after treatment.

Spartan Spirit's steering committee includes Director Wayne Hegansall, Voters, Tom Kolesak, John Weaver and Dave Beaver, while the Spartan Assembly committee members are Judy Kaufman, Dave Hensel and Gene Ward.

Final details on the visiting performers are not yet available, but should be known early next week.

Spartan Assembly Chairman Bill Volter says the pep rally will be preceded by an all-fraternity torch run from the Capitol Building followed by a campus-wide procession of students to the pep rally itself. Besides the professional talent, the MSU Activities Band and football team will be on hand for the rally.

Professional entertainment, a loaded word this year in Student Government circles, returns to campus Oct. 31 for the Homecoming pep rally, Spartan Spirit sources have announced.

Officers of the society for this year are Robert Charbonneau, president; Charles Goerner, vice president; Jack Stack, secretary-treasurer.

Also scheduled this term for Nov. 6 is a program featuring Dr. James Feurig, medical director of the University health service and team physician. The meeting will be held at Old Memorial Health Center and facilities, followed by refreshments.

Tentatively planned for late November is a visit and tour of the Michigan State health laboratories.

All Pre-Meds and Pre-Dents are urged to attend the meeting. Officers of the society for this year are Robert Charbonneau, president; Charles Goerner, vice president; Jack Stack, secretary-treasurer.

Dr. C. W. Muehlberger, state toxicologist and director, crime detection laboratories, state health department, will be the featured speaker. Muehlberger will talk on the reactions of the human body to the effects of poisoning and on the results of traumatic injury. His talk will be illustrated with colored slides.

Also scheduled this term for Nov. 6 is a program featuring Dr. James Feurig, medical director of the University health service and team physician. The meeting will be held at Old Memorial Health Center and facilities, followed by refreshments.

MSU Museum Given Wildlife Paintings

A collection of wildlife paintings by the late artist-naturalist R. F. Deckert has been presented to the MSU Museum.

More than 300 watercolors, valued unofficially in thousands of dollars, were donated to the museum by William Boulton Kelly and his brother Howard Kelly of Baltimore, Md.

The collection, titled "Deckert's Natural History Paintings," was created during the years 1911-1929. A majority of the paintings are of the world's snakes, a specialty of the artist.

The snakes are done so that they seem to swirl and writhe on the pages in their colorful markings. Many of the paintings include supplementary close-up sketches of skin markings, head shapes and similar details.

Snakes of the entire world are represented, with specimens drawn from many geographic locations. Also in the collection are several watercolors of marshes and other outdoor scenes done by J. H. Emerton of Ipswich, Mass.

The paintings were collected originally by the father of the donors, Howard Kelly, of Baltimore, one of the founders of Johns Hopkins University.

Lecture Planned By 'Time' Writer
John Scott, assistant to the publisher of Time magazine, will lecture tonight at 8:15 in the Kiva of the College of Education on "Communism and Democracy in Africa."

Scott is author of the recently published book "Political Warfare." He has just completed tours of Africa and the USSR.

Resource Expert Receives National Conservation Award

Winfield Harrison, extension specialist in resource development at MSU, was awarded a special citation here Wednesday for his outstanding soil conservation activities.

The citation was presented by Russell Hill, president of the Soil Conservation Society of America, as part of the group's annual meeting. Harrison's citation was one of 10 presented by the 9,000-member society. Hill, who is also an extension specialist at MSU, commended Harrison for the active leadership he has exhibited in developing the Michigan chapter of the society into one of the largest and most active in the country. He is secretary-treasurer of the local chapter.

Other MSU staff members who are attending the meeting in addition to Hill and Harrison are James Porter and Leonard Braamse of the soil science department.

"Professional entertainment," a loaded word this year in Student Government circles, returns to campus Oct. 31 for the Homecoming pep rally, Spartan Spirit sources have announced.

Final details on the visiting performers are not yet available, but should be known early next week.

Spartan Assembly Chairman Bill Volter says the pep rally will be preceded by an all-fraternity torch run from the Capitol Building followed by a campus-wide procession of students to the pep rally itself. Besides the professional talent, the MSU Activities Band and football team will be on hand for the rally.

Spartan Spirit's steering committee includes Director Wayne Hegansall, Voters, Tom Kolesak, John Weaver and Dave Beaver, while the Spartan Assembly committee members are Judy Kaufman, Dave Hensel and Gene Ward.
