U. S. Ordered to Scrap Its Bases

Reds Give Ultimatum For Peace

Outer Space Issue Discussed by UN

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union demanded Wednesday the scrapping of all U. S. overseas military bases as the price for agreeing to international co-operation on outer space problems.

But the U. S. declared that what Moscow really wants is not agreement, but to destroy the capacity of the non-Soviet world to defend itself from Soviet aggression.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin and U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge put forward those views in a sharp exchange at the outset of the UN's first full-scale debate on control of outer space for peace.

Zorin told the UN political committee the U. S. has "nightmarish plans" for setting up military bases on the moon for use in attacking Soviet cities.

He said such plans were being pushed by the military disciples of U. S. Sen. Lyndon B. Texas, the Democratic majority leader who will speak in the UN space debate next week.

He urged the committee to support a Soviet resolution recommending both a ban on use of outer space for military purposes and elimination of military bases on foreign territory.

The U. S. is bringing in a resolution asking for the creation of a special committee to study all aspects of peaceful control of outer space and to report back to next year's General Assembly.

Lodge immediately accused Zorin of misrepresenting the position of the U. S. He said it was impossible to accept the Soviet statements on foreign bases at face value.

"They (the Russians) do not mean what they say they mean," Lodge declared. "They really cloak a very simple and rather obvious Soviet aim which is to end the existence of the bases so as to destroy the capacity of the non-Soviet world to defend itself.

Deadline Set

Deadline for Classified Ads for Monday's paper will be 3 p.m. Friday.

Greeks Slate Dance Friday

"Heaven in Hades," an all-university dance sponsored by IFC and PanHel, will be held at the Deils from 9-1 Friday night.

Bob Eberhardt's band will provide music with Sam Harris and his calypso rhythms featured at intermission.

Co-chairman Chuck Martel said the purpose of the dance is to help further friendly relations between Greeks and non-Greeks.

In charge of the event are co-chairmen Martel, and Ady Johnson. Other chairmen are: decorations, Ron Barum and Eppie Bruechner; publicity, Mike Miller; entertainment, Larry Fournier; chaperones and guests, Bill Livingood; programs, Bob Harrington; tickets, Tom Mast and Peggy Morrison.

J-Hop Committee Offers Band Clue

The clue for today for the Name the J-Hop Band Contest is "You can hear my music up-town."

Entry blanks for the contest can be obtained in the Union Concourse, Nat. Sci. and Berkeley Hall. A ballot box has also been placed in Short Course.

PRINCIPLES in Student Congress' Resolution 12 on campus censoring practices are (l-r) AUSG President Chuck Walther, Student Rights and Welfare Chairman Dave Barrell, Congress Speaker Lowell Brigham, IFC President Steve Witt (who warned Congress Wednesday to avoid hasty action in matters of controversial nature) and Ted Robinson, vice, chairman of the Student Rights and Welfare Committee.

Stands Firm on Censor Issue

AUSG Blasts S'News Report

By LYNN SHEPARD

"Our committee stands unequivocally by the intent of our original resolution," Rep. Dave Barrell (Fraternities), chairman of the State Rights and Welfare Committee, told Student Congress Wednesday night.

In a heated denunciation of State News coverage of Resolution 12 (a number of suggestions to Dorm and Food Services Manager Emory Foster concerning the continuance of the canoe rental at West Berlin) Barrell protested what he termed "irresponsible and malicious" news handling.

The congressman charged the State News with "deliberate misrepresentation, quoting out of context and front page editorializing through omission" which he felt had "dragged the university through the mud" as a result of national wire service coverage.

Retorting points he and Chuck Walther, president of All-University Student Government, had expressed in a letter to the editor of the State News Wednesday, Barrell denounced what he believed was "quick-whistle alarmism" by the press.

Barrell's remarks received a heavy round of applause from congressional colleagues.

The remarks may have been prompted by Inter-Fraternity Council President Steve Witt who had previously stated Barrell's committee action was not the result of prior IFC policy as some students had thought.

Witt told Congress it should approach controversial legislation more cautiously. His reference to the canoe resolution preceded Barrell's criticism of the State News.

Congress Speaker Lowell Brigham pronounced his report as a delegate to the past summer's National Student Assn. convention at Ohio Wesleyan University.

Brigham cited lack of organization, consideration of insignificant affairs and a conflict between the role of student and citizen as students play as flaws in the convention, but added that the contribution of exchanged student views could be valuable to Student Government.

Director of Organizations Don Brungard briefed Congressmen on the NSA regional convention at MSU this weekend and 14 Student Government members were chosen to act as delegates.

In his executive report, AUSG President Walther revealed a drop in Campus Chest proceeds from $1,700 last year to $700

Argentine Thwarts Revolution Attempt

President's Position Unsafe; Faces Possible Oil Strike

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—President Arturo Frondizi, with a show of armed force, quashed a coup Wednesday night.

Officials said the attempt to unseat Frondizi was led by Vice President Alejandro Gomez. Gomez denied it but apparently will be thrown out if Frondizi weathers a continuing crisis.

Frondizi still faced a major test of strength with powerful politico-labor forces.

A threatened strike of oil workers posed the persistent menace to his 6-month-old administration.

Interior Minister Alfredo Vitolo, who is also acting defense minister, assured Frondizi the army was sticking by the government.

Vitolo also announced in a communique that all ministers pledged their support to the president in a cabinet meeting late Wednesday night.

The strike threat and the state of siege declared Tuesday to cope with it gave Vice President Gomez the lever he wanted to demand sweeping changes in the policies and personnel of Frondizi's government.

The 50-year-old Frondizi and Gomez are members of the Radical party that last Feb. 23 won Argentina's first election since the overthrow of ex-dictator Juan Peron in 1955.

What worried State Department experts was Khrushchev's announced intention of turning over all Russian responsibility in East Berlin to representatives of the East German regime.

This eventually would put control of road, railway and highway routes to West Berlin in the hands of East Germans who could then turn the traffic on and off at will.

Furthermore, diplomatic officials pointed out, it would force Allied authorities to deal directly with East German officials to settle day-to-day problems.

This is something Allied authorities have refused to do, lest it be interpreted as giving de facto recognition to the puppet government.

Modern Kresge Center to House Art Department

By JUDY VANBONGEN

Collect the brushes, grab your smocks, and pack those treasured masterpieces all you lovers of the fine arts—the art department is moving! Beginning winter term the hall panels of the quonset will no longer display colorful paintings of industrious art students, the small studios will no longer house graceful products of sculptors and the familiar smell of paint will be gone forever.

A new world has been created on the north bank of the Red Cedar at the Kresge Art Center, a world of modernistic beauty and charm where future Manets and VanGoghs may study to their hearts' content in an atmosphere of artistic mastery and inspiration.

Students need look only as far as the tall windows of the building in order to find landscape material for a sketch. As in Paris, one has the river.

Or perhaps the mood calls for man-made structure. The sculpture court at the Center's entrance will offer an impressive sight with its brick walls, shrubs, lighting, trees and the "mobile"—a permanent piece of sculpture by Alexander Calder.

GEORGE MELACHRINO ... appears tonight at Aud ...

Melachrino Set for Aud

Melachrino, the man who created mood music, and his orchestra of 50 will appear tonight at 8:15 in the Aud as a Lecture-Concert Series feature.

George Melachrino, born in London, started his career on the violin as a boy. He attended England's Trinity College of Music.

At 14, Melachrino became a bandman musician at the Savoy Hill Theater in London. Here he acquired his first knowledge of the parts of an orchestra.

During World War II, Melachrino entertained in almost every theater of operation, working out a sweet melodic sound rather than the loud heavy one usually associated with military bands.

At the end of the war, Melachrino gathered most of his AEF musicians into his own civilian orchestra which he called "The Melachrino Strings."

The group became popular through BBC, English films and RCA Victor recordings, selling over three million records all over the world.

He ended in tonight's program with "Strauss Waltz," "Memories of the Ballet" and "Memories of 'My Fair Lady.'"

Militarism on Rise In Nation's Capital

EVER SINCE THE Second World War, the professional military man has come to play an ever increasing role in the federal government.

Once viewed from a distance by a suspicious Congress, it seems that Admirals and Generals alike are now welcome with open arms and can do no wrong.

This is fine, as long as the military officials stay within the bounds of military business. Evidently there seems to be some confusion as to just what "military business" actually is, however.

We refer specifically to the recent Eisenhower appointment of Admiral Lewis Strauss (USN, Retired) as Secretary of Commerce.

Admiral Strauss has an excellent record, both in military and public service. He was chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission for many years, in which position he served the United States in an able and efficient manner.

NOR IS STRAUSS a stranger to business. He has an excellent business background.

We fail to see either the wisdom or the necessity for his appointment as Secretary of Commerce, however. We wonder what the President had in mind when he made the appointment?

We feel that this military influence should be kept in balance. We also fail to see where the United States would benefit from the appointment of Admiral Strauss as Secretary of Commerce.

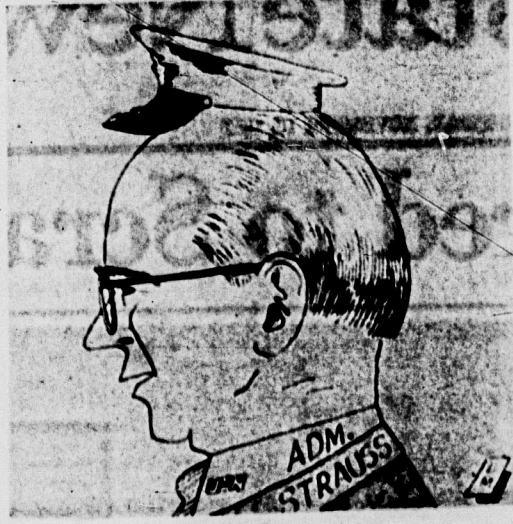

He is an excellent military man. With thousands of qualified civilian business men, however, there is no reason to place him in charge of business.

We strongly urge the new Senate to refuse the recess appointment of Admiral Strauss as Secretary of Commerce.

U. S. Reasserts Berlin Policy

TO RUSSIA'S DEMAND that the Western powers vacate Berlin, the State Department promptly answered that we are there by treaty and will stay by force, if necessary.

The Admiral Means Business!

Letters to the Editor Canoes Still Paddled

To the Editor: Last year the State News found it necessary to berate Student Government constantly for its lack of constructive legislation and action.

Campus Police sell one of their high powered Police cars, which is used to chase students around Circle Drive, and purchase a high powered speed boat with a red light and police painted on it and patrol the Red Cedar.

Students are great "watchers" evidence the extensive use of the TV set. One might guess that if the student-body were stirred at all by this legislation,

I do not wish it to be construed that I condone "undesirable behavior" or "destructive activities" along the banks of the Red Cedar.

Students Government should first recall resolution 12; second take the canoe shelter away from the manager of dormitory and food services because the running of dorms and buying of food just doesn't seem to fit in with renting canoes.

I am sure that the Campus Police have many more important duties than patrolling the Red Cedar 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Intelligent legislation and/or action might quite well take care of the "problem" but any legislation at all seems to be way out of proportion to the actual need.

Students Government should first recall resolution 12; second take the canoe shelter away from the manager of dormitory and food services because the running of dorms and buying of food just doesn't seem to fit in with renting canoes.

More Canoes

The latest "good" by the "do nothing Student Government" has stirred me from the deep recesses of the library and forced me to state my opinion about Canoeing on the Red Cedar.

The "good" called "little-tale clause" seems to be the main point of contention. It appears that Rep. Butterfield, Sumrux and Perty have the only mature minds in the whole student government.

These two statements make it appear that Dean King would like to have as little to do with resolution 12 as possible. It looks like the whole resolution has been thrown into the lap of the Campus Police.

REUTHER Urges Racial Remedies

DETROIT (AP)—Walter Reuther urged Gov. James Folsom of Alabama Tuesday to take "prompt remedial action" against racial "outrages" in Alabama.

Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union, sent a telegram to Folsom deploring "terrorist activities" and "bombings and desecrations of synagogues, homes and schools."

To the Editor: My mother and I would like to extend our congratulations to the student congress for finally passing a bit of legislation that was really worthwhile.

My mother was very concerned about the seemingly low state of morals descending on our student body.

She was so shocked by the flagrant display of immorality along the banks that she almost tipped the canoe over when she turned to see "The Student Congress should pass a law against such undesirable behavior."

I cannot describe the embarrassment that overcame me after witnessing such unvirtuous behavior on the part of fellow students.

I am happy that now, when my mother and I go canoeing next spring, we won't have to witness such behavior. I hope the Student Congress goes forward with its "MSU Bank to Morality Campaign."

Chapman Defends Canoe Act

To the Editor: The same searching inquiry with which the editorial staff explored the Middle East and Walter Reuther's position in politics is now being focused upon the Student Congress and canoes.

Before seriously considering this latest grade, I would like the editor's answer to three questions.

1. Are you aware that the resolution reads: "Resolved by Student Congress that the following recommendations be considered before discontinuing the Canoe Rental Service?"

2. You suggest that the "offenders" may be married students on an innocent river bank picnic. Are you seriously suggesting that married students should publicly participate in the functions of marriage?

3. You report that Dean King has not received that "Certain about student conduct in canoes, and you assert that 'Certainly those claiming open-air frivolity exists on the river banks are far off base.'"

'Dump Nixon' Move Made by Stassen

Ex-Adviser Lists Four Men As Presidential Prospects

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harold Stassen hoisted a new "dump Nixon" banner Wednesday—right in the middle of the White House lobby.

Emerging from a conference with President Eisenhower, Stassen gave reporters a list of four presidential possibilities in 1960. (Glaringly omitted was the name of Vice President Richard Nixon.)

It was immediately evident that Stassen, a former presidential adviser, was voicing his personal opinion. James Hager, Stassen's press secretary, told reporters Stassen was not speaking for the President on any of the candidates.

Newsman asked Stassen whether he thinks Nixon is not a good candidate.

"My views on that are well known," Stassen replied. "And I believe the results of the election prove me right."

With his reference to the results of the Nov. 4 congressional elections, Stassen was taking a hefty swipe at the vote-getting power of the man who was the most active campaigner for the GOP.

In 1956, when he was trying to dump Nixon from the second spot on the GOP presidential ticket, Stassen contended the Vice President had "evident weaknesses" as a vote-getter among labor, minority and independent groups.

The Republicans can win in 1960, Stassen declared Wednesday, with any of these men at the head of the ticket:

Walter Reuther, newly elected governor of Michigan.

Henry Cabot Lodge, former senator and now U. S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Fred Seaton, Secretary of the Interior.

Robert Anderson, Secretary of the Treasury.

Secretary of Labor James Mitchell entered an objection to Stassen's list later in the day. He said all the men mentioned "are excellent men of ability and integrity and display the very great talent that exists in the Republican Party."

"But in any discussion of two Republican candidates," Mitchell went on in a statement issued from his office, "it seems to me unthinkable to ignore the President Richard Nixon, the man who has time and again demonstrated the highest qualifications for the presidency."

Universities To Sponsor Labor Convo

A social security conference will be sponsored jointly at Kellogg Center Tuesday and Wednesday by MSU, University of Michigan and Wayne State University.

Faculty specialists in social security, unemployment insurance and workmen's compensation have worked together to develop this program. Fifty men and women from Michigan and also from Washington, D. C., New York City, Chicago and other cities will attend.

Among the prominent program participants will be Prof. Douglas Brown, Princeton; Prof. Edwin White, now at the University of Wisconsin and last year a distinguished visiting professor at MSU; and Prof. Wilbur J. Cowen, U. of M. and formerly director of research and statistics for the U. S. social security administration.

Presenting this new national conference are the Institute of Labor and Industrial Relations of the U. of M. and Wayne State, and the Labor and Industrial Relations Center at MSU.

Dr. Gilbreth Speaks To 500 Teachers

Dr. Lillian Gilbreth, wife of the author of "Cheaper by the Dozen," will address 500 Michigan homemaking teachers in Kellogg Center's Big 10 room today.

Her topic will be "Technology, the Family and the Changing World."

SGT. MELVIN HOBERTZ, ROTC instructor, stands amid the many trophies he has won in rifle and pistol shooting competition.

Army ROTC Places First In Corps Shooting Matches

Two teams of Army ROTC instructors recently took first places in midwestern shooting matches.

In the Sixth Corps small bore pistol competition a team composed of Capt. Norman Delridge, Jr., Capt. Thomas Richardson, Master Sgt. Charles Watson and Sgt. Melvin Hohertz won the first place team trophy.

Capt. Albert Graziosi, Master Sgt. James Held, Master Sgt. L. T. Stinnett, Master Sgt. Watson, Sgt. William Kneisley and Sgt. Hohertz were members of the team which took first place in rifle competition.

Sgt. Hohertz was awarded the trophy for high individual pistol score and Master Sgt. Watson received the second place trophy in this competition.

Civil Rights Committee To Meet in Kellogg

The Michigan Advisory Committee on Civil Rights will meet at 10:15 a.m. Friday in Kellogg.

The main item of discussion will be reports solicited from public and private agencies in the field of Civil Rights on conditions within the state. C. E. Wilson, the chairman, or Frank Mansley, the secretary, will be available for interviews at the close of the meeting at approximately 3 p.m.

Registrar on Panel

Kernit Smith, registrar, will serve as a panel member on the fall workshop program of the East Central Assn. of the Michigan Secondary School-College Agreement. The workshop will be held Nov. 21-22 at Higgins Lake. The panel will examine the role and goals of the association.

Viewpoint Sets Talks

Two of MSU's top educators will examine the question, "What Should Be Taught?" on Viewpoint over WKAR-radio Sunday at 2 p.m. Maj. John Barron will have as his guests on the program Dean Edward Carlin of the Basic College and Prof. Lewis Mayhew of the Office of Evaluation Services.

Hunting Contest Set

The Vet's Assn. is sponsoring a deer hunting contest, open to members only, according to Tom Kolesiak, president.

A trophy will be awarded to the member getting the largest deer, based on points and spread.

Those entering the contest must register prior to their hunting trip at Corny's Sinclair station, Grand River at Delta.

Prof to Speak in N.Y.

Dr. Clyde Cairy, professor of physiology and pharmacology, will speak on "Veterinary Endocrinology" (hormone studies) today at a combined meeting of the Buffalo Academy of Veterinary Medicine and the Western New York State Veterinary Assn. in Buffalo, N.Y.

Crop Consultant Plans Trip to India

Ernest Wheeler, associate professor of farm crops, will leave Saturday for a 90-day assignment in India with the International Co-operation Administration. Wheeler will work as a potato culture consultant based at Simla, the location of one of India's agricultural experiment stations. In this northwest portion of the country, he will survey the production program and make a report on its status.

Immediately following World War II he spent a year in Japan as a civilian technician to help Japanese farmers increase their potato production. He also spent two years in Okinawa from 1953-1955.

IM Highlights Champion Iowa Meets Bucks

BILL CLARK of Lambda Chi Alpha leads in every statistical department in the fraternity bowling tournament. Clark leads with the highest individual score in one game, 256, and in a three-game series, 627.

DELTA TAU DELTA fraternity has rolled the highest three-game series totals. The Deltas have a 924 single-game and a 2,616 three-game mark.

IOWA CITY (AP)—Dethroned Big 10 football champions Saturday at Iowa City where the Ohio State challenges Iowa's Buckeyes haven't scored a point in their last two visits.

Not only did the Buckeyes fail to score, their sputtering offense was unable to chug beyond Iowa's 30-yard line.

That negligence was mighty costly. Iowa's 5-0 victory in 1953 ultimately kept Ohio State out of the Rose Bowl. A 6-0 triumph in 1956 cracked Ohio's record 17-game Big 10 winning streak, won the championship for Iowa and sent the Hawks to the Rose Bowl.

The 1952 victory was one of the biggest surprises in Big 10 history, and came in Coach Forest Evashevski's first year at Iowa. Evashevski, working with subpar material, foiled the Buckeyes with what became a controversial shift.

The edge, as of now, belongs to Hayes by a 3 to 2 margin. Woody went ahead last year with a 17-13 victory and kept the Buckeyes safely en route to Pasadena.

Harmed by injuries at state-ric spots, Ohio State, the pre-season choice as the No. 1 team in the country, has been tied by Wisconsin and Purdue, and lost to Northwestern.

Iowa wasn't figured as a top choice for the conference championship but Evashevski parlayed a jet-like offense and a satisfactory defense into Iowa's second title in three years. The Hawks wrapped up the crown and the formality of a Rose Bowl bid at an unusually early date with a 28-6 victory over Minnesota last Saturday.

Those twin achievements, however, haven't dulled Iowa's ambitions. There are several other goals to reach.

A victory over Ohio would give Iowa a 6-0 Big 10 record. Its first perfect conference mark since 1922.

And Iowa hasn't forgotten the 1956 Ohio game at Columbus. The Hawks feel that with better breaks they might have won and gained acclaim as National Champions.

Once again they are within shooting range of the National Championship. They are ranked No. 2 in the Associated Press poll and hope to make the one big improvement on that with victories over Ohio and Notre Dame on successive Saturdays.

Young Gains Starting Berth

Henny Young is finally getting a chance. One of the most popular Michigan State football players on the gridiron is being slated to start at right tackle against Minnesota this weekend.

The only thing that keeps the 5'8" 143-pound speedster getting lost on the field is his present unwillingness to play second.

Henny doesn't literally fight everyone—he uses all his strength in playing the game of football. That's the reason Duffy Harberts is overlooking the star of the Big 10's smallest team in giving him a starting berth.

He just looks so good in uniform all the time," said Harberts after the Spartans took a light workout Wednesday afternoon. "In a way I've never judged him fairly. I think we've been under-estimating him because of his lack of size."

There was more than one reason for starting Young. "I want to show the team what will happen to a fellow tackle," he said. "Besides, you give us an added break."

Daugherty made it clear that there was no reflection on Herb Harberts, who has been holding down the right half spot since a real line back but we want to utilize Henny's experience. He's also a real competitor."

Daugherty to queries over the size. Daugherty yelled "Blame Martin, who is working on his mending leg," he called. "The much does Henny weigh?" yelled back the 200-pounder, "about the same as I coming from practice was a back Jim Wolfe who received a shoulder injury in today's practice. He will miss Minnesota clash but will be back for Kansas State.

Daugherty explained that if Baker will start at right tackle the Spartans receive and the Northross if they kick off. The squad had a light workout Wednesday, concentrating on their attention to Minnesota's form of attack. They worked on pass defense and lined up their own offense.

Kappa Sweeps Swim Meet

Kappa Kappa Gamma swept the All-University swimming championship last night by taking first in seven out of ten events for a total of 67 points.

Tri Delt finished second with a total of 36 points. Judy Pettigrew won the 25-yard crawl for the Kappa's in 15.3 seconds.

Nancy Miller, also of Kappa, took top honors by capturing both the 25-yard breast stroke and the crawl for form. She also participated on the winning medley team along with teammates Janet Porter and Judy Pettigrew.

Bonnie Blackport won the 25-yard crawl and the 50-yard free style while Ginny Pace of Snyder won the diving entry.

MSU Defense Second in Big 10

Contrast Highlights Season

There's a great contrast in the Michigan State football season. The Spartans' offense, once regarded as one of the toughest in the Big 10, ranks no better than number nine in the ten-team conference.

But in the defensive department, the Spartans are well among the top teams, ranking only behind Purdue. Only Indiana ranks below the Spartans in offense. In five games, the Spartans have been able to amass only 25 points for a five-point per game average.

In defense, however, State has held its opponents to 37 points in the five games for an 11.4 average.

Spartan halfback Dean Look remains as the No. 1 punter in the Big 10 with a 40.4 average for 20 attempts. He'll meet his nearest rival, Tom Robbins of Minnesota on Saturday. Robbins' average is 39.1 for 23 kicks.

Capit Sam Williams ranks No. 5 in the conference in pass receiving. The Spartan end has nabbed 10 passes for 156 yards and one touchdown.

Two quarterbacks, Randy Duncan of Iowa's champions and Dick Thornton of Northwestern, share top billing with Ohio State's fullback Bob White in Big 10 individual statistics.

Duncan holds a commanding margin over Thornton in passing, with 44 completions for 649 yards and six touchdowns. But Thornton holds the total offense honors with 692 yards.

Radio Program Starts 3rd Year

Hollywood Stars Boost Traffic Safety Show

Hollywood celebrities and network radio news commentators will assist the Highway Traffic Safety Center and radio station WKAR in marking the start of its third year of broadcasting "You Are the Jury," a weekly program series devoted to traffic safety.

A special program for the occasion was produced in Hollywood and Chicago and will be broadcast next week throughout Michigan.

Titled "The Case of the Missing Links," it dramatizes a traffic accident taken from the files of the Highway Traffic Safety Center.

The role of narrator is taken by Ken Carpenter, well-known radio and television personality while Pat O'Brien, screen and stage star, is cast as a newspaper reporter.

Howard Duff, radio, television and screen actor, plays the part of the automobile driver.

Following this presentation, a panel of three national newscasters is asked to identify the responsibility of the people involved in the accident.

Panel members are the Washington, D.C., news bureau managers of the three radio networks: Ted Koop, Columbia Broadcasting System; John Secondari, American Broadcasting Company and Julian Goodman, National Broadcasting Company.

During its past two years of broadcasting, "You Are the Jury" has received three national awards, its first recognition coming from the National Safety Council in 1957 with a "Public Interest Award."

The same year, the series received the Alfred P. Sloan radio award, the highest recognition given in the field of traffic safety.

Last year the series was named the nation's top educational radio program when it was selected for a George Foster Peabody award which is radio broadcasting's highest honor.

Vagabond MSU Juniors Make Whirlwind Tour

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following account is one of a series written by Fred Shinn, Lansing junior, who is touring Europe shooting style with two other MSU juniors.)

From learning to eat spaghetti Italian style, to the solemn coronation of the new Pope, the Vagabonds have been both academically and liberally adapted to Italy.

What, spaghetti as an appetizer? Impossible! Well, it didn't take us long to find out that this is no fallacy. What we had been used to as the main course at the Union cafeteria is only the "feaster" over here.

On top of it, a huge bowl of this traditional Italian pasta costs about 16 cents. Consequently, this fits wonderfully with what we call our "starvation budget."

We headed for the city of culture, Florence. Any scholar of Humanities 342 can well imagine the riches that this "Renaissance City" has to offer.

Hearing that the election of the new Pope was arising, we hurriedly rushed to the "Eternal City," Rome.

The first three days were spent running from St. Peter's Church to points of interest, then back again to see if there was any sign of white smoke that would signify a new Pope had been elected.

Then the long awaited ma-ment finally came. Rome lit up like a gigantic Christmas tree, and bands began to march into St. Peter's with all the pomp and circumstance that any college football game could produce.

Directories Left

Only 2,400 student directories left in the Union Bookstore — buy now and have all the vital statistics for Christmas cards and vacation correspondence.

There were traffic jams on every corner like the MSU police force has never seen before.

People were yelling and running in all directions to be sure to get a good view when the Pope came out on the balcony to give his blessing.

Well, next week brings the bullfights of Spain, and the following week the glamour of Paris, so we still have many interesting experiences ahead.
