JFK Made President Again

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Kennedy, a boy scout in his youth, Wednesday received a certificate formally naming him honorary president of the national organization. Kennedy is the ninth U.S. Chief Executive to serve as honorary president—and the first who was active in scouting as a boy.

SEATO Meeting Planned

BANKOK, THAILAND, (AP)—Foreign ministers of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization get a chance next month to heal a split in the eight-nation alliance over the Laotian crisis. SEATO authorities in this headquarters city said Wednesday they expect a firm show of unity at the annual conference of ministers here in March will pull it together again.

New Ambassadors Appointed

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Kennedy Wednesday named George F. Kennan, former U.S. Envoy to Russia, to be Ambassador to Yugoslavia. Mr. Kennedy also announced the selection of Livingston T. Moore as Ambassador to Canada. Kennan, a veteran foreign service officer, took part in a number of important assignments during his 20 years of extensive government service in foreign affairs.

Pay Now; Learn Later

KALAMAZOO, (AP)—Western Michigan University is instituting a system of registration in advance and does not require tuition until the effective date of the semester. The purpose is to give University administrators more accurate enrollment estimates prior to the opening of each semester.

Agree to Discuss Algeria

PARIS, (AP)—A French Government spokesman said Wednesday that President Charles De Gaulle and Tunisia's President Habib Bourguiba have agreed to meet for a talk about Algeria. The time and place are to be set later.

Chimp Lives Up to Name

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Ham the chimpanzee lived up to his name, hammering it up for all he was worth in a motion picture of recent rocket ride into space. His grimaces, flashing eyes and teeth-baring snarls outdid those of the most flamboyant stars of the silent movie days as he portrayed the role of the intrepid explorer venturing into the moon.

Values to Reason By' Theme of Big Ten Dorm Conference

Representatives from each of the Big Ten universities will meet on campus Friday, April 14, for the annual Big Ten Residence Halls Association conference. The conference will be held in the University of Wisconsin's Inter-Dorm Council headquarters for the conference.

Guevara Made Industrial Boss By Castro

HAVANA, (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro plans to make Ernesto Guevara, Argentine-born leftist, the industrial boss of Cuba, diplomatic sources said Wednesday. Guevara, 38, is a former Communist Party member and a close advisor to Castro.

PanHiel Councils Combine Work

Junior and Senior PanHiel Councils are working together this year for the first time, on such things as the evaluation of rush and plans for next year's rush program, according to Pat Anderson, senior PanHiel president. Previously, seniority precluded whose representatives compose the PanHiel, have had nothing to do with the functioning of the PanHiel. This year, through their representatives, through their representatives and PanHiel, will evaluate and institute, together, the changes in next year's rush program, said Pat.

Spies Gay At London Hearings

LONDON, (AP)—Five persons accused of betraying British Naval secrets to Moscow assumed a gay air Wednesday even as fresh evidence piled up against them in Bow Street Magistrate Court. Bookkeeper Peter Kruger, 50, worked and lived a quiet life at home until a hearing that will decide whether the group must stand trial on charges that could lead to seven years imprisonment. He, 46, Helen, 47, smiled and whispered to him as the judge testifies of Chief Inspector Ferguson Smith.

SMILES PLAYED

across the faces of all five when the prosecution introduced a radio transmitter—allegedly used for contact with a Soviet spy-master—found hidden in a concrete-enclosed trap door in the Krugers' kitchen floor. Then there were mystery fiction type Chinese scrolls a single one which held $1,000 in American currency, aerial wire, headphones, photographic equipment and a film of signal plans. British counterintelligence agents testified they seized these objects at homes of the five. Whether studied acting or real life at a prosecution statement that the government will close its case Thursday, the prisoners' attitude contrasted with their gloomy expressions Tuesday in the dock.

ACCUSED WITH THE Krugers

are Gordon A. Lonsdale, 30, the reputed mastermind, Harry Frederick Houghton, 55, and his fiancée, Miss Ethel Elizabeth Gee, 46, both British civil servants who held positions of trust at the Royal Navy's underwater weapons establishment at Portsmouth. Attorney General Sir Reginald Manningham-Buller said Tuesday Lonsdale "seems to be a Russian" though he carried a Canadian passport.

THE GOVERNMENT

maintains that Houghton and Miss Gee obtained secret information about the underwater weapons establishment at Portland and sold it to Krugers for transmission to Moscow. Submarines make up a formidable part of the Russian Navy. The Soviet Union is credited by Western authorities with a fleet of 500, the biggest in the world.

Ornate Friends of Library Room Shows Rare Books

By JOHN McGUIRE, State News Feature Writer

A library without rare books is hardly a library. At least this was the attitude of a few local citizens and faculty members back in 1933.

Gathering in the old State College building in the autumn for a dining meeting, these persons formed an organization that was to become known as the Friends of the Library.

Of this meeting President Heath wrote:

I feel very strongly that we must begin seriously to develop a more adequate library here at Michigan State College in its present location among the great colleges and universities.

AND DEVELOPMENT was not what the Friends of the Library had in mind.

It was this feeling and the feeling of other "Friends" groups throughout the country, that a truly outstanding university must have a full complement of research material.

even if this research data was printed in 1460.

Because, as the present director of the library, Dr. Richard E. Chapin, pointed out: "Some types of research can only be done from rare books."

Consequently, one of the first official acts of "Friends" was to authorize the college librarian to purchase the first edition of Dickens' "David Copperfield" in original parts, from a well known New York book dealer.

Funds for this venture were raised by membership dues and special alumni donations.

From this beginning, "Friends" has developed into an interesting part of Michigan State's library, according to Dr. Chapin.

A present there are some 200 members of which 16 are from outside the state of Michigan. The faculty and comprise about one-half of the membership, he said.

"These people," Dr. Chapin remarked, "are both benefactors and book lovers. Persons who recognize that rare books are a mark of quality for any university."

Library, is their outstanding collection of rare books on veterinary medicine and cooking, said Dr. Chapin.

"The collection on veterinary medicine is probably the finest of its kind in the world," he commented.

THREE TIMES a year "Friends" meet in an ornate room designated for them. This room is located near the main office of the library on the first floor.

The room is lined with lighted display cases containing many of "Friends" outstanding books, said Dr. Chapin.

Here conferences are held and decisions concerning dues and membership are made.

This room also serves as a place where members may confer on books they wish to acquire.

A few of "Friends" notable first editions are: "Mark Twain," "Galileo's Dialogues," "Thomas Paine's "American Crisis" and Adam Smith's "Wealth of Nations."

Werner to Discuss Meaning of Label

Margaret Werner, instructor in the home economics department, will discuss "The Meaning of a Label," over WANSB-TV, at 1 p.m. today.

In this program Miss Werner discusses some of the important items parents should look for on labels and tags of clothing they buy for their children.

This program is the fourth in a series entitled "Young Appre- el," and is designed to help people make intelligent decisions when buying clothing.

Concert Sunday At Peoples Church

The University Collegium Museum will present a concert of sixteenth and seventeenth century music Sunday at 4 p.m. in the Peoples church.

Solley to Perform

Guest soloist Marvin Solley, lyric baritone-contralto, will perform a special concert in the Music auditorium at 8:15 tonight.

Archie Black is a partner in the concert. Solley is remembered for his baritone solo work in the film Requiem last summer in the direction of Robert Shaw.

'Hamlet' Opens Tonight

The classic "Hamlet," as directed and played by Sir Laurence Olivier, is the next showing in the Foreign Film series. Considered by many the only really great film version of the Shakespearean drama, it can be seen in the Fairchild Theatre tonight and tomorrow at 7 and 9 p.m.

RELEASED BY J. A. Rank-Universal. Internationally the British film won the Astoria Award as the best production of 1948. It also received the best actor and interior decoration awards. Jean Simmons also features in the picture.

'Spinster Spin' Theme Is 'Student Prince'

By NAN LANGIN, State News Feature Writer

The auditorium will be transformed into a palace suitable for a fairy prince when the Sorority Women's League, Mortar Board and Tower Guard present their annual "Spinster Spin" on Friday, February 17.

To carry out the theme of "Student Prince," the unique occasion will feature a grand chandelier 12 feet tall and 18 feet across with 40 arms extending from the center of the unit.

The chandelier will be covered with gold foil and hung with round Christmas tree ornaments and clear plastic strands of snowflake lights.

Such a book is William L. Shirer's "The Rise and Fall of The Third Reich." This massive documentation of the history of Nazi Germany, encompasses within its 1245 pages, the numerous authorities and opinions, judgements and pronouncements that have become stock and trade in periodicals and paperbacks since the end of the war.

ESSENTIALLY, however, it is a penetrating look into the Third Reich's master builder and caudillo of the Aryan cadaver, Adolph Hitler, and that historically unique system of madness that made Germany, for a time, one of the militarily strongest nations that the world had ever known.

Shirer is primarily concerned with the hows and whys of Hitler's rise to power, and has taken great pains to document his points of view.

THE GRANDULER is being constructed for the future of the construction of decorations. Jerome Martin, Musician, Village Synchronizer is chairman of decorations and Peter Larsson, Wellesley, Mass. Synchronizer is co-chairman with Miss Hinton.

Mirrors and french doors will alternate around the entire first floor of the auditorium.

The basement will have a Redwood atmosphere and refreshments will be served. The entrance will be represented by two pillars of logs, six foot high.

The "Spinster Spin" will be semi-annual from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. The women's group will have 2000 lamp burners. Tickets are $3.75 and are available at the Union ticket office.

Students Injured In Auto Accidents

Ralph D. Wolfe, Melo Park, Calif. Junior, was injured in a four-car accident at the corner of Grand River and S. Harrison rd. at 8 a.m. Wednesday.

He received head and lip cuts and possible internal injuries and was taken to Olin Health Center.

East Lansing police said Wolfe's car hit three others stopped at the intersection. The accident is still under investigation.

In another case Tuesday night Paul Pepp, Milwaukee, Wis., sophomore, received cuts to the right foot when a wheel of a car driven by Miss Sterling Tyson, 110 S. Hagadorn rd., passed over his foot as he walked on Kalamazoo near Demonstration Hall.

Campus police reported Miss Sterling offered to assist Pepp, but he declined and later went himself to Sparrow hospital for treatment.

Petrides Renews Wildlife-Forestry Rivalry in Speech

An old but friendly rivalry continued anew Tuesday night when Dr. George A. Petrides of fisheries and wildlife department first astonished his Forestry Club audience with an unusual perspective of the history of forestry; and then implied that the old and honorable profession of forestry was really only a youngster.

"In fact," he stated, "forestry is actually a branch of game management." He used the feudal game preserve system in England to establish his point. In this system, royalty claimed ownership of all game animals, and as it became necessary for the land to be cleared for agriculture, the choicest hunting grounds were restricted, and became known first as game preserves and then as forests.

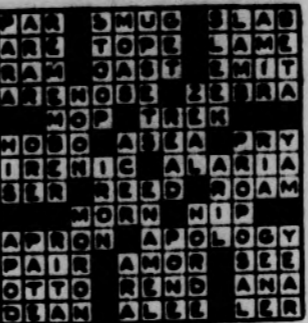

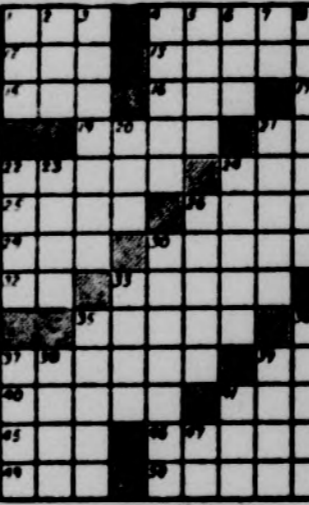

"But," Petrides said modestly, "we wildlife biologists welcome all foresters into the fold, so long as they respect the traditions and customs of our ancient profession."

Just for the record, Petrides pointed out that the first forestry course was offered at MSU in 1883 and the first wildlife management course in 1934.

"But," he said, "these data are not nearly as important as those from feudal England." During 1958, the U.S. production of acetylsalicylic acid (better known as aspirin) reached a high of 20 million pounds, or enough for 28 billion tablets.

Damage Suits Started; May Cost Millions

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Damage actions running into millions of dollars are in the making for the major electrical equipment manufacturers who pleaded guilty or no contest to rigging bids on supplies for government agencies and private concerns.

The Justice Department, which prosecuted the companies in Philadelphia under the Antitrust Laws, said yesterday it expects to file a series of suits to recover sums which the Federal government estimates it lost as a result of the identical bid practice alleged to have extended over the last six years.

At the same time, the National Institute of Municipal Law Officers, composed of city attorneys, disclosed that it has set in motion a plan for a giant consolidated damage action on behalf of city governments victimized by fixed bids.

BRICE RHYNE, the institute's Associate General Counsel, said a check of the government's complaints at Philadelphia showed some 180 cities involved, of which more than 100 are institute members.

Rhyme said institute President John C. Melaniphy, Chicago's corporation counsel, has written a circular letter to the city attorneys of member cities suggesting that they form a committee to study the possibility of filing a joint action to recover treble damages from the companies which have admitted illegal bidding practices.

UNDER THE Antitrust Laws the Federal government is limited to recovery of actual damages from persons or concerns convicted of anti-trust violations. Private firms and local and state governments, however, may seek three times the amount they figure they have lost.

Rhyme said the circular letter "has had a terrific response," although some city officials are uncertain how to go about calculating their losses.

Myrtle Reul Speaks to AFL-CIO

The psychology of human behavior will be discussed by Dr. Myrtle Reul, assistant professor of social work at the university, at a workshop Thursday for AFL-CIO members in the Saginaw county area.

The workshop, according to Dr. Reul, is a training program for union members who are engaged in social and welfare counseling. "These counselors of the AFL-CIO are reaching out for something other than just a program about social agencies," Dr. Reul said, "they want to understand more about human behavior."

Thursday's session will be the first workshop on ways to utilize the services of a social agency, she explained. Union counselors will be taught practical ways on how to direct their fellow workers to those agencies which can assist in solving social and welfare problems. The meeting will be held in Saginaw.

Scientists to Drill World's Deepest Well

Drilling of the world's deepest well, the Mohole, will commence March 1, according to an article in the New York Times. The first of four holes boring through the earth's crust is to be near Guadalupe Island off the Mexican coast.

A study of the crust of the earth is beginning by the American Miscellaneous Society (AMSOC), a satirically named organization of theoretical scientists. The first hole will be drilled under 12,000 feet of water at a cost of $735,750.

Dr. Detlev Brunke, president of the National Academy of Sciences, said that this project is "one of the most important scientific undertakings of modern times."

The geology department at the university has had several reports presented by students about the hole. Tuesday, Feb. 7, Mr. Jennings, an oceanographer visiting the science writers conference at Kellogg center, spoke to students about the hole.

Dr. William J. Hinze, geophysicist at the university, in an interview, said that the project is research for research's sake.

The Mohole, named after Andrija Mohorovicic, a Yugoslavian scientist, is being drilled to determine the composition of the rock layer beneath the crust of the earth and of the crust itself. It was Mohorovicic who, by the study of earthquake waves, discovered that there was a distinct change between the layers.

Holmes stated as early as 1914 that the change between the layers was due to phase change in rock type. A problem seen by Hinze is, "If this is a result of phase change, will we be changing the phase" of the rock as we drill downward? He said that the rocks may change from one type to another as the pressure changes while drilling.

AMSOC will measure the strength of the earth's magnetic field at various depths in the hole. They will also measure heat flow in the rocks, character of earthquake waves, and gravity values.

Hinze said that this will not solve all of the geophysicists' problems but will give new impetus to them. "One thing that may come out of this (project) is better instrumentation," said Hinze. He agreed that the project has great potential.

The continents have crusts too thick to drill through, but under the oceans the crust is thin. The March 1 hole will be drilled through the crust with nearly two miles of water over it.

We need more information about the crust of the earth, according to Hinze. "Knowing the information that is found from drilling, we may extrapolate into the continents using geophysical techniques," he said.

Three other areas are scheduled to be drilled. Areas near Clipperton Island, the Bermuda Rise, and north of Puerto Rico have been selected by AMSOC. After the Guadalupe hole, drilled from the modified ship, CUSS, AMSOC will apply acquired engineering information to design a new drilling ship. One of the four holes will then be drilled deeper than the rest. That one will be the real Mohole.

Defending Big 10 Champions, Illinois, Meets Gymnasts

NANCY KUECHENBERG Illinois, defending Big Ten Champion, will meet Michigan gymnasts in the biggest gymnastic contest in the nation Friday at 7 p.m. in the main arena of the I. M. Center.

The Spartans are regarded as the favorites in this contest, having won the Illinois title in the Big Ten championship meet last year. However, M.S.U. did not win a dual meet against Illinois in a dual meet last year.

Charles Potts' fighting team will be in the Big Ten championship meet and are expected to be coached by George Potts, a power-house squad. The Spartans could win the title if they are victorious in the dual meet with an all-out effort.

Coach Szygula said that the Spartans will be in the Big Ten championship meet and are expected to be coached by George Potts, a power-house squad. The Spartans could win the title if they are victorious in the dual meet with an all-out effort.

Illinois is the best team in the world and if they win, they could qualify for the Olympics. However, they will certainly win the Big Ten title.

M.S.U. gymnasts, including Thompson, Steve Johnson, and John Daniels, will have their first opportunity to see where they stand nationally when they meet Illinois.

An event Michigan State gymnasts will be in the dual meet against Illinois in a dual meet last year.

John Daniels and Thompson, who lost 1 and 2 against the Illini in the event, will be in the dual meet. The Spartans could win the title if they are victorious in the dual meet with an all-out effort.

Hall 4th In Big Ten Scoring

CHICAGO, Pa.—Ohio State's scintillating Buckeyes continued to dominate Big Ten basketball statistics today. The Bucks' great Jerry Lucas is pushing Purdue's Terry Deinger for the individual scoring title.

In the individual scoring race, Deinger of Purdue placed Purdue 15-21 leads the pack with a 26.3 average but Lucas who has outscored Deinger from the field, 60 baskets to 62-18 putting on the pressure.

With 31 points in his last two games, Lucas is running second with a 7-game average of 24.8. Tied in Indiana's Walt Bellamy with 23.6, followed by Dick Hall, Michigan State 17.5, Dave DeWitt, Illinois 17.3, and another Illini, Jerry Colangelo, and Iowa's Don Nelson with 17.0 each.

Deinger registered the rebounding lead from Lucas with 16.2 per game against the Buckeye ace's 15.4.

Shoulders Burden Williams Sparks Cagemen

B. EARL CHEAL
State News Sports Writer

High on the boards to grab rebounds per game is Michigan State's Ted Williams, who is leading the pack with 14 rebounds 40 more than the nearest contender.

Ted contributed his whole effort last 19-19 and 19-19 as he influenced the action against the Wolverines, hauling in 25 rebounds and scoring 16 points as State downed Michigan 81-69. In the Notre Dame game, Williams helped State to the 79-74 win as Michigan State beat Notre Dame's 24 game winning streak.

Williams' rebounding should be able to help coach Freddy Anderson put the team back into the high-light. Early in the season, Freddy said, "We're going to try to build Michigan State back into the title picture with a player carrying the load."

Through the season Williams and the other seasonners have been accumulating a large share of the honors, and with the experience which now hands them, they are under pressure constantly.

Williams came near to the center post as last year's Horton Walker vacated the position, completing his contribution to Spartan basketball.

There will be an all-out contest between the Spartans and Illinois in the dual meet. The Spartans will be in the Big Ten championship meet and are expected to be coached by George Potts, a power-house squad. The Spartans could win the title if they are victorious in the dual meet with an all-out effort.

Four Iowa Cagers Ineligible

IOWA CITY, Pa.—Ninth-ranked Iowa's hopes to overtake undefeated Ohio State in the Big Ten basketball race collapsed today when four Hawkeye starters became scholastically ineligible.

The only regular available for the remainder of the season is junior Don Nelson, the team's leading scorer with a 22-point average.

SIDELINED by classroom failures were sophomores Frank Allan and Tom Harris, junior Dave Maher and senior Ron Zager.

The Hawkeyes have won 12 of 15 games, losing only to St. Louis, Purdue and Cincinnati.

Iowa has a 4-1 conference record — second best in the Big Ten — and was considered the only team with a chance to dethrone top-ranked Ohio State.

THE HAWKEYES play at Indiana Saturday, host Wisconsin Monday and then entertain Ohio State Feb. 18.

Coeds Will Design "Toyland" Statues

Coeds from 11 of the 15 dorms will turn the campus into a toyland Feb. 18—providing there is snow to do it with.

The Women's Inter-dorm Council will sponsor its sixth annual snow sculpturing contest among the various women's living units, having picked "toyland" as this year's theme.

The sculptures will be judged at 10 a.m. on the day of the contest by three judges: a member of the art department, a member of the landscape architecture department and a novice.

Twenty points will be awarded for originality and carry-through of the theme; twenty for the work and general effect; and twenty for construction and physical setup. Trophies will be given to winners of first, second, and third places.

Last year's contest was won by East Yackley. Second and third places were awarded to Gilchrist and North Williams, respectively.

An alternative date, March 4, has been set in the event that there is no snow on Feb. 18.

The real name of George Sand the French author, was Amandine Lucie Aurore Dulpin Du-doyant. She wrote under a man's name and wore men's clothes.

Church Moves To New Edifice

Kimberly Downs Church of Christ has scheduled services Sunday in their new $200,000 house of worship recently constructed at 1107 Kimberly Drive, Lansing.

DESIGNED by Edward W. Koerber, the new edifice is of modified modern architecture and includes an auditorium seating capacity of 700 persons.

Seventeen classrooms, as well as a nursery, library, offices, and fellowship room will be the center of Kimberly Church activities.

A new minister to the congregation, Mel Winger, formerly of South Marion, Indiana, will conduct the first services Sunday.

He has served congregations in Miami and Tucson, has done evangelistic work in 11 states and previously conducted a daily radio program called "Mid-Day Meditation."

Coffee Hour And Critique Featured

The University Theater will offer a unique feature for the opening-night audience of its Studio II production Thursday. After the performance the audience will be invited to a coffee hour and a critique of the play by a panel of five experts.

Discussing the script and its production with the audience will be Dr. Stanley Idzerda, Honors College; Dr. and Mrs. Lindsey Decker, fine arts; Cor-liss Phillabaum, speech, and Allen Kepka, Studio II director.

A few tickets are available for the Thursday and Saturday performances but Friday is sold out, said James Barushok of the University Theater.

The Fairchild Theater-box office will be open from 12:30 to 5 p.m. Admission will be by Theater season coupon books only.

Lambda Chis Hold Teas

Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity will host 100 coeds in the first of three queen's teas Sunday afternoon.

Five court members and a queen will be chosen during these teas to reign over Lambda Chi Alpha's 14th annual push-cart derby, the Jr. 500, May 20.

The queen and her court will also represent Lambda Chi Alpha at their Crescent Ball.

Refreshments will be served and films of last year's Jr. 500 will be shown.
