Labor Secretary Inspects Michigan's Jobless Areas

Goldberg Will Tour

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Fresh reports of mounting unemployment in big cities prompted President Kennedy to order a series of on-the-spot inspections of conditions in the hard hit areas.

Lansing will be among those cities to be inspected Friday.

The jobless picture was described as worse than it has been in almost 20 years.

The labor department added 48 areas to its list of communities having substantial labor surpluses—or an idle rate exceeding 20 percent. More than half the major industrial areas in the country, or 76 out of 130, are now classified.

Kennedy directed Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg to make a series of tours into the trouble spots. The labor secretary will leave tomorrow on the first of a five-state swing starting in the Midwest.

Goldberg will visit state officials and business and labor leaders and interview jobless workers and their families. He will be in Chicago, Gary, and South Bend, Ind., and Lansing, Flint, Detroit and Columbus, Ohio, on Saturday, and Pittsburgh on Sunday.

Some of the biggest cities in the country are among the 25 major labor market areas newly added to the depressed list. They include Philadelphia, Cleveland, Baltimore, Los Angeles, Kansas City and St. Louis.

NEW YORK and Chicago remain unchanged from two months ago at 3 to 6 per cent unemployed, while Detroit rose to an idle rate of nearly 12 per cent. Pittsburgh and Flint, Mich., were added to a separate listing of areas where unemployment has been chronic for several years.

Goldberg's initial fact-finding mission will arm the administration with data to present to Congress in support of Kennedy's $1.2 billion emergency plan to aid the long-term unemployed.

OTHER major metropolitan areas added to the substantial unemployment list include Peoria, Ill., Akron, Ohio, Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton, Pa., Ashville, N. C., Corpus Christi, Texas, Flint, Mich., Grand Rapids, Mich., Knoxville, Tenn., Louisville, Ky., Mobile, Ala., Newark, N. J., New Brunswick, Perth Amboy, N. J., Portland, Ore., Savannah, Ga., Tacoma, Wash., Toledo, Ohio, Trenton, N. J., Worcester, Mass., and York, Pa.

Seymour Weisbach, deputy assistant secretary of labor, told newsmen the job situation is the worst since early World War II. He gave out details of a January job report of which

AF Awards Cadet Wings

David E. Harmon, AFROTC cadet colonel and wing commander, received his cadet pilot wings Monday from Major Clarence A. Powers, for completing his solo flight in the flight instruction program.

Air Force cadets who received their pilot wings last Friday were Majors Richard B. Sheppard, Donald E. Lunsford and Charles G. Guest; Capt. Robert J. Laffer and Douglas L. Galbraith; and 1st Lt. Timothy G. Moore.

A ceremony is planned for Tuesday to award pilot wings to cadet Major George J. Kasper. This presentation will mark the end of wing awards this year as all of the cadets enrolled in the program have now completed their solo flight.

Negro Week To Feature NAACP Play

The NAACP will present the play "The Nigger" at the State Theatre during the Negro History Week.

The play will be a series of vignettes about the American Negro in cooperation of Negro History Week.

The African High-Life club will present a gospel singing Sunday in the lounge at a 7 p.m. observance of this week.

Sunday will be the start of Negro History week, a short period devoted to public observances commemorating the important events which influenced the Negro in American society.

The observance comes each year about the second Sunday in February. This week includes the anniversary of such Abraham Lincoln and Frederick Douglass, an American Negro who rose to the position of government from the depths of slavery.

FTC Charges Antimerger Violation

WASHINGTON, (AP)—One of the largest antimerger cases ever started, the Federal Trade Commission Thursday accused American-Meretta Co. of violating the antimerger law by acquiring 49 per cent of the stock of the American-Meretta Co. in a move to acquire the company.

The FTC charged that the antimerger law is violated by the acquisition of the stock of the company and the sale of the company's assets, patents, trademarks and other intangible assets.

American-Meretta also was accused of violating the FTC Act by engaging in "unfair and deceptive" domination of the market and "unfair competition."

THE FTC said the company's acquisition, which took place between 1953 and 1960, had injured the public and constituted an unfair method of competition.

The FTC has the power to order merger law violators to sell firms they have acquired.

Politicians Regain Congo Government

GO. (AP)—The Congo government was handed back to the politicians Thursday in a move to head off American overtures for a new deal with Patrice Lumumba.

President Joseph Kasavubu formally dismantled the college of commissioners—the group of university graduates installed by Gen. Joseph Mobutu—and proclaimed a provisional government of parliamentarians. It will serve until parliament can be summoned, but this may not be for some time.

The new premier is Sen. President Joseph Ileo, a soft-spoken, slightly built man of 39. A firm opponent of Lumumba, Ileo nevertheless offered the disgraced premier a place in the government once before in a bid to unite the Congo's warring factions.

HE NOW FINDS himself again as a potential candidate in naming the cabinet. Kasavubu left open six positions, including the vital defense ministry—for opponents of Lumumba in hopes they would rally to the central government.

The offer applies to President Moise Tshombe's accessionist regime in Katanga province, and the pro-Lumumba rebels who control the northeastern section of the country with Communist help. They would have to agree to support the Leopoldville government.

Ileo was first named premier last September after Kasavubu fired Lumumba, but he was suspended from office along with other politicians when Mobutu seized control. At that time the United States endorsed Ileo.

A State Department spokesman in Washington termed formation of the new Ileo government "encouraging."

AT THE TIME the government was announced, Mobutu was sailing in the Congo river with 500 soldiers for what is believed planned as a military showdown with the pro-Lumumba rebels of oriental origin. But there seemed every indication the new administration would enjoy the blessing of Mobutu and the army.

Kasavubu's proclamation followed days of frantic political activity resulting from Wash-

Pianist Stars In Concert

Guest pianist David Baker will feature contemporary piano music in a concert at 8:15 p.m. Monday in the Music Auditorium.

The artist-composer is professor of piano at Wayne State College and is a nationally known exponent and performer of contemporary piano works.

He is scheduled to give the same program offered Monday night at the Library of Congress in Washington, D. C.

The concert is open to the public.

Anti-HUAC Petition Published

NEW YORK, (AP)—A petition with the names of more than 400 citizens urging the House of Representatives to abolish its Un-American Activities committee was published Wednesday in the New York Times.

The list of names, published with the petition in a paid advertisement, includes leaders of business and labor, churchmen, educators, writers, actors, civic leaders and public officials.

Their names spread across nearly two pages of the Times and are listed from every section of the country.

Among them are Dr. Reinhold Niebuhr, theologian, publisher Alfred A. Knopf, California longshoremen's leader Harry Bridges, retired Judge J. Waties Waring, scientists Harold Urey, Louis Pauling and Marlow Shapley, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, writers Elmer Rice, Louis Untermeyer, Thornton Wilder and Lewis Mumford, and Dr. Martin Luther King, southern Negro leader.

Listed as secretary-treasurer of the committee publishing the advertisement is James Imbrie, retired investment banker of Lawrenceville, N.J., who was a candidate for the U.S. Senate from New Jersey in 1956 in association with Henry Wallace's Progressive party campaign for the presidency.

The petition charges that the Un-American Activities committee has "condemned individual Americans, has wrecked the lives of some, and has denied them the due process of law that English and American courts have tollously evolved over many centuries."

It also charges that the committee's activities have discouraged work for peace, "harassed Americans who work for racial equality and justice" and hampered U.S. relations with other nations.

"The House Committee on Un-American Activities has in these weeks weakened America," the petition continues. "At no time in history have we needed to be stronger. At no time have we needed to be wiser. Let us rid ourselves of this agent of weakness and folly."

Free Dance After Game

Fresh-Soph squared, in cooperation with the Men's Halls association, will present a free all-conference record dance after the Ohio State game, Saturday.

Frank Thomas, chairman of a Fresh-Soph council's social committee, expects a good turnout.

Fresh-Soph council and MHA thought there were a lot of men in the dorms, mainly freshmen and sophomores, who would like to take a date to the game but don't own cars," said Dallas.

"This dance will provide a fun and convenient entertainment for these men and their dates."

"If the attendance at this dance is satisfactory we hope it will develop into a tradition with a record dance after each weekend home game," Dallas said.

The dance will be held in the Brady multi-purpose rooms from 9:30 to 12 midnight. Ohio State students are cordially invited.

MSU Players Plan Trip

MSU Players and the University Theatre is sponsoring a trip which is open to all students to Detroit on Saturday, April 1, to see "The Sound of Music."

The trip will be limited to 80 students and transportation will be provided by two university buses that will leave Fairchild Theater at 11 a.m. They will return about 8 p.m. on the same day.

Students planning on going should get their tickets early because in the past these trips have sold out in one day. To obtain a ticket, go to the Administration Building, get a "fold-in card" and pay $5 at the cashier's window. Then take the receipt to the season ticket office, 149 Auditorium Bldg., and exchange it for a reserved seat bus ticket.

Our Day's Coming, Pizza Lovers

Pizza week, a traditional year-making project of Fresh-Soph council, will be held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday next week.

During this period the council will sell pizza at reduced prices. The price of a medium size, seven pizza has been cut to $1.45 to $1 for this event. This special offer will be available at the Il Forno room at the Coral Gables from 11:30 a.m. to 2 a.m. Delivery service is available from 4 to 11 p.m. on these three days only. This is the first time that pizza delivery from the Gables has been offered. For delivery call ED 7-1311, 7-1312 or 7-1313.

In payment for its services, the council will receive a 10 per cent commission on each pizza sold and on all items delivered. The profit will be used to support the other activities of the council.

Train, Truck Collision Kills Two

CALION, Ohio, (AP)—At least 10 persons were reported killed Friday in the collision of a passenger train and a truck at the brick road bridge just east of here.

A train and a diner overtook on its side, and the rear of the train consisting of a mail baggage car, two other cars and a pushman remained upright, but tipped at an angle at the crash.

British Spy Ring Accused of Stealing Plans Based on U.S. Sub

LONDON, (AP)—A British espionage Thursday five persons were reported spying for the United States details of the Navy's nuclear submarine program, based on designs stolen by the United States in 1951.

The details were not specified but described by the witness, Capt. George Symonds, as "valuable" value to an enemy.

Symonds said the information was obtained out of the highly secret Royal Navy Research Station at Portland, where he was stationed in the underwater weapons department. He said it was contained in photographs of the hull of a top secret Royal Navy nuclear submarine, giving particulars of its construction.

The photographic film, developed previously testified, was in the possession of one of the spies when he was arrested Jan. 7.

Symonds' disclosure came at the end of a three-day preliminary hearing in Bow Street Magistrate's court to determine whether the defendants should be placed on trial. The magistrate said they should be arraigned on charges of espionage.

After Symonds testified, the court went into closed-door sessions for 47 minutes, during which he was cross-examined by attorneys for the accused.

The magistrate, K. J. P. Barrington, said he excluded the public because official secret matters were likely to be aired during the cross-examination.

The first witness after Symonds and newsmen were re-admitted was Cmdr Stewart Crowe-Road, a security officer at the research station where Miss Gee and Houghton worked.

He said Miss Gee—accused by the prosecution to have smuggled out the Dreadnought details—was not entitled to access to such secret matter.

"She would not have access," he said. "I don't mean only legitimate access," said Miss Gee's lawyer.

"She would have had access by an error in distribution," said Crowe-Road.

"It would be possible for her to gain access to these drawings," he said.

"It is possible."

"Unauthorized access?"

"No, not unauthorized because they could have gone to her office by error."

Dorm Housemother Violates Student's Right of Expression

By all means let us try to maintain the university image. But let's only maintain the true image. When individuals are persecuted for a public expression of criticism against the university, the means will destroy the end. What image, then, is there to maintain?

In Monday's paper, Delores Turnbull, a freshman from Gilchrist, criticized the dormitory food. She complained about the quality of the food, and the fact that it was usually cold and tasteless.

We have no opinions on the quality of food served in Gilchrist. But we do object strongly to the incidents which occurred as a result of Miss Turnbull's public criticism.

The day the letter appeared, Delores was called down to her housemother's office. Mrs. Samann, her housemother, in a very congenial and courteous manner, asked if Delores would always be a trouble maker. She stated that Delores had caused previous trouble in Gilchrist, and that her complaints about the food followed the general pattern.

MRS. SAMANN announced that Delores must back up all her accusations with proof, and that she might be called into the dean's office if the dean so desired.

Wednesday a second letter appeared in the State News. It was signed by 19 women from Gilchrist who reaffirmed Delores's criticisms about the food, and mentioned the humiliation and reprimands she had received as a result of voicing her complaints.

The afternoon the second letter appeared, Delores was again called down to Mrs. Samann's office. She pleasantly accused Delores of instigating the second letter, and asked if the food had improved since the day the first letter was published. When Delores admitted that the food had improved, Mrs. Samann demanded that Delores write a public apology in the State News so stating.

DELORES REFUSED, and Mrs. Samann

claimed that since she wouldn't apologize she had better be able to back up the statements in both letters with proof.

We talked with Delores Wednesday, after her two visits with the housemother. Delores admitted that the first letter was written in emotion, but that the food was truly bad and that her value judgements of the food did not require proof. She disclaimed any connection with the second letter, but explained that her dormmates had written it to defend her views.

We called Mrs. Samann immediately afterwards. She replied to every question, "I refuse to comment." When we asked her to defend her own position, she again refused to comment. We can only assume from this that she has no defense.

Delores is at present deeply concerned with her relations in the dormitory, but even more concerned with staying in school. She said that rather than have the whole thing publicized, she would prefer to just let it "blow over" and stay out of more trouble. When we explained our purpose in publishing the facts, however, she agreed.

This is not the first instance of a person being called to task for publically expressing his views. But in this case we have definite facts and the willingness of the individual concerned to reveal her name, instead of quietly letting it pass.

WE FEEL THAT this situation is a flagrant violation of the rights of students and citizens. When individuals are subjected to persecution for publically expressing their opinions, it is time for the university and its staff to seriously reexamine its values.

Criticism is basic to the efficient functioning of our democratic system. The fact that the food in Gilchrist improved after Delores's letter is ample proof of this principle.

Rather than demand a public apology from Delores for expressing her views, we would encourage Delores and others like her to rationally express their views and exercise their right to freedom of speech.

How to Find a Book in the Library

By H. HOLMES LANDERS
State News Advice Columnist

Of immediate concern to all students on campus is a problem which has slowly developed from a pebble into a rumbling avalanche: the micro- and macro-technicalities of finding an assigned reading book in the library.

And the only reason why you're in the library is because the professor assigned the book. What other reason would you have for the "busiest" state institution building on campus? Unless you're there because you can't afford to take your date to the movies and have called this excursion a "study date". If you fall in this category, this column is not for you.

THE FUNCTIONAL PURPOSE of this essay is to teach you, the student, whether your IQ is 29 or 199, that IT IS POSSIBLE to find the book that you set out to find a year ago.

Let us assume (for reasons too complicated to explain here) that you already know the title of the required text when you arrive at the library.

Upon entering the library you go to the shelf where you are sure the book was placed. To your startled exclamation, it is not there. Then, undoubtedly (according to reliable sources) the book you desire must be in one of the following places:

If the book is in one of the following places, where it shouldn't be, then to find it all you have to do is follow the simple annotations following each of the following:

IF YOU CANNOT find the book, then it will probably be:

- A. In the bindery. If it is there, go to the fourth floor. (See 3 below.)
- B. Missing (see 4.)
- C. In the cataloging department. Go to cataloging. (Simple huh? You're catching on already.) (see 2.)
- D. Stolen. (If so, see 7.)
- E. Being refilled, somewhere between P and PZ.

999-29. If so, go back to the card catalog to find the call number. (see 3.)

F. Being used by a professor. Go to 16.)

G. Being already used by another student. (see 1.)

H. None of the above. If so, go to the card catalog. (see 14.)

NOW IF YOU KNOW one of the books you are seeking is in one of the places above, when it should be on the shelf, here are the probable solutions, of what you will have to do:

- 1. Wait in line with the other 150 people waiting. Or you might try 4, below.
- 2. The book has been catalogued. Check card catalog Easy, eh? You're catching on now. (see 14.)
- 3. Call number is P10234567. Now check the location chart for room location. (see 8.)
- 4. Buy your own book. The library cannot afford another one. (Or if you can't afford it, see 5.)
- 5. Bindery has been changed to basement, as fourth floor is now for all non-library personnel. Go to basement. Sorry but you don't need any help finding this. All you do is take the stairs down to the ground floor. (between ground and first floor.)
- 6. COME BACK next year. Or if you can't wait that long, go to 9.
- 7. Sorry. But, don't worry. You probably would have bunked the course anyway.
- 8. P-PZ not on location chart. Go home and stop bothering us.
- 9. Hell. It's not found in catalog, but you could go to 12 and ask for it.
- 10. How'd you get here? Why don't you try reference instead. (go to 11.)
- 11. Well, I don't know. But, I think it's on the second floor. Try social science. (13.)
- 12. I don't know where it would be. Try reference. (19.)
- 13. How should I know? I only work here. But you could try finding it by asking humanities. (10.)
- 14. Card you seek is missing. But maybe it's (D).

State Legislators May End Long Reign of Governors

LANSING, (AP)—A move to limit Michigan governors to two consecutive terms in office was underway in the State Legislature Thursday.

The joint resolution filed for introduction in the Senate providing for the ban on more than two terms would not apply to Gov. Swanson's present two-year term. The resolution was signed by 15 senators, including five Democrats. It requires 26 votes for passage.

Criticize Contradictory Stands

Opposing Stands? Why Complaints?

To the Editor:

RECENTLY a local magazine burning crusade was launched, using the editorial page of this paper as its springboard. A frontal attack, aimed at cleaning our newsstands, was undertaken, with the subsequent result that "dirty" magazines were successfully purged from the environs of East Lansing.

THE RATIONALE behind this movement was persuasive, well organized, and it met with great success. Cast as a "public defender", this movement succeeded in enforcing protection on the ignorant and tasteless individuals who dwell on such smut.

A RAPID SWELL of public opinion provided a satisfactory "standard" of what was "fit" for the consumer, and those poor devils who had demonstrated their incapability of making a socially proper value judgement were accorded protection from the effects of this "suggestive" pornographic literature.

HOWEVER MY concern is not with the "rightness" or "wrongness" of this recent witch-hunt that subjected our newsstands to the frontier justice of someone's value judgement.

TO DEMONSTRATE the paradox let us now consider the virulent and almost frantic attack upon the House Un-American Activities Committee, set forth in editorial form in this paper. It appears that this paper is basically inconsistent. You support a witch hunt, based on value judgement, on the one hand, and yet you suddenly fulminate criticism at another witch hunt whose value judgement is basically the same as the first case.

THE HUAC at least functions with legal authority granted by our representative federal government, and they have a legal framework from which to work. Do local crusades have the authority to cram their value judgements down the throats of the public?

LOGIC DEMANDS that elastic yardsticks be thrown out. May I suggest to the State News that you either accept or reject value judgements, and spare yourselves the idiotic position you are now in.

Don Siegle

We would like to make it clear that the various views presented on pornography were the views of individual staff members. We tried to present pro and con views on the subject, but some of the views presented represented State News policy.

Our editorial policy appears in the left hand corner of the editorial page. The right hand column is reserved for features and by the personal views of staff members in column form.

We take definite stand against the present procedures of the House Un-American Activities Committee. We take no stand on pornography.

To the Editor:

All of us realize that winter term works a hardship on many students. Social relations within dormitories often become hazardous and conflicts develop. When such conflicts develop, the natural reaction is to take it out on something that will release tension and yet not result in social expulsion. This is why dormitory food takes such a beating, especially winter term. Food is the easiest thing to complain about.

If Miss Turnbull and her colleagues had inquired into the food situation they would have found that MSU does not buy the worst grade of food; nor is the food tasteless and burned or three days old. I doubt very much if the parents of most MSU students could afford to serve the variety of food that is served here.

Miss Turnbull and her colleagues suggest a food riot would remedy the situation. It is doubtful that this would accomplish anything as most people in a riot don't know what they would be rioting about anyway; many go along just for the excitement.

Now, I have one inquiry of those people who persist in spouting off. If the food is so bad, why do so many girls gain weight on the food? Incidentally, why do they try to sneak their girlfriends through the line on weekends?

Jim Fraileh

Two Censorships

To the Editor:

There are two kinds of censorship. One is legal censorship—carefully administered by the courts with due provision for a fair trial, appeals, etc. The other is extra-legal censorship—which may be administered by any women's organization or private individual with a four cent stamp.

Many druggists in the Lansing area—after receiving a letter from the Ingham County Women's Clubs—have indicated their willingness to remove anything from their magazine and book racks. There are no criteria for the Women's Clubs' "inspection teams": if two women dislike "A Farewell to Arms" they can have it removed from the racks as easily as "Nugget" or "Playboy".

The Women's Clubs claim that their only aim is to remove material that might corrupt or damage minors. It so happens that the State of Michigan has two laws that cover this problem: the first prohibits the sale to minors of any material that might corrupt or damage their morals, and the other prohibits the display on public streets or in view from public streets of similar materials.

These laws open the way to a fair and open elimination of the problem with which the Women's Clubs pretend to be concerned: surely a fair trial is preferable to a demerolynch mob or vigilante committee.

Since these laws have not been employed and since the Women's Clubs are not pushing for their use, the only conclusion is that the Women's Clubs wish to remove any material that they find offensive regardless of whether it corrupts or damages minors.

They wish to force their own moral standards upon the community and limit freedom of the press in a sweeping manner. Perform the reading matter of adults in censored with that of children. And this seems the ultimate intent.

Justin Leiber

Correct Library

To the Editor:

May I commend you for an excellent editorial on problems of the assigned reading set-up at the library. It covered the ground thoroughly and fairly.

I fear that one of the assumptions about policing the use of library facilities has been that such stricter supervision might imply faculty and administration distrust of students. Tax paying parents, they assume, might resent such an attitude and let the Legislature know of this resentment.

However this is not an issue between the university's administration on one side and students on the other. This problem is one between fair-minded students on one side and unfair students on the other.

Students are the library's and the university's principal customers. The fair-minded students have every right—even duty—to insist upon protection from the unfair ones. I strongly urge the fair-minded students to press their case insistently and systematically. The taxpaying parents of these students will be the happier for it too.

Theft and mishandling of public property in the library is a challenging problem in law enforcement. May I also suggest that its investigation and improvement might make a worthy field-work project for our students of Police Administration. I suspect that over half of the offenders would return library property voluntarily within a week after such a field project got under way. And if an example could be made of one or two cases, future offenders might be reduced in number to a remarkable degree.

Hopes in Kennedy Revisions Needed In Aid to Africans

By DANIEL ARCHIBONG
Nigerian Scholarship Student

Before Eisenhower moved out of the White House, it had become clear to many that American prestige abroad had declined considerably. People in countries where the U. S. had spent millions of dollars in foreign aid grew more and more unfriendly to America.

The emerging nations of Africa became necessarily worried about the entire U. S. foreign policy toward them. Some African states still staggering with colonial shackles began to lose their high hopes in America when they saw colonial powers use U. S. planes and weapons against the Africans in their fight for freedom.

THE AFRICANS ASK: Why does the U. S. send money and missionaries to Africa, and at the same time give political support to Portugal's policy of enslavement of Africans in Africa through U. S. votes in the UN?

While I leave this question to the reading public to answer, I'll proceed to give a cursory treatment of the American foreign policy towards Africa.

After studying the contemporary American foreign policy towards Africa in Eisenhower's administration, one comes to the following two conclusions:

- 1. The entire policy had been based on humanitarian drives, but solely on big political expediency.
- 2. The bulk of the dollars leaving American shores to Africa usually entered the wrong hands, and many times the wrong states.

THE NET RESULT of the total American foreign policy in Africa prior to Kennedy's inauguration was that very little good had been accomplished. Instead much damage had been done to both the American image and the Africans themselves.

But Kennedy has ushered in a new era for the American people. Indeed, the president may well have heralded a new epoch in international peace and understanding for all the peoples of the world.

As far as American foreign policy goes many are optimistic that the Kennedy administration can easily remedy the troubling situation. Some of us believe strongly that America can regain her suffering prestige. The image of American greatness can also be magnified many times within a short time if the entire American foreign policy and the manner of its implementation are wisely modified.

THE AFRICANS, for instance, will undoubtedly appreciate and cooperate with the American people if, and only if, the American foreign policy and attitude toward Africa are directed towards the following ends:

- 1. Recognizing the general goodness of man, his race, and color and not standing, and granting him equality of opportunity to pursue his social and economic callings.
- 2. Helping suppressed and exploited peoples of Africa to get political freedom and economic independence.
- 3. Granting scholarships to some of the thousands of Africans who are now thirsting for higher education.
- 4. Encouraging technical training programs for prospective Africans in the U. S. as well as in the African countries.
- 5. Sending experts to advise in setting up basic industries.
- 6. Setting up cultural exchange programs between the U. S. and African states.

THE ABOVE are just a few of the practical methods the United States should adopt in the execution of her foreign policy toward the emerging nations in Africa as well as in the rest of the world.

Let the U. S. stop sending dollar heads of states in the name of foreign aid for such money may never reach the common man who actually needs it for improvement of his lot.

Burroughs Exec Sees Lift In Present Economic 'Squall'

By REV EPPERT, State News Staff Writer

The economic climate in which American industry must operate is presently experiencing another squall which will lift in the coming months.

This is the stated opinion of Ray R. Eppert, president of Burroughs corporation. Eppert spoke Wednesday at the lecture series sponsored by the graduate school of business administration.

"However," he said, "I also have the conviction that there are at this moment several economic storms brewing which could be the signal for a drastic and unhappy change in the business weather cycle."

EPPERT SAID that the emphasis in the United States has shifted from production to distribution.

"Through the centuries, many nations have taken their turns in dominating world commerce, each succumbing at last to a stronger competitor," said Eppert, "as the leader for the last thirty years, we have this much in common with our predecessors: we continue to grow, or we die. We keep running, or we get run over."

He stressed the importance of creating a favorable climate with aggressive marketing programs, at home and abroad.

"IN THE END," said Eppert, "this struggle will be decided in favor of the economic system which demonstrates conclusively that it can do the most to improve the living scale of the most people."

In order to do this, he said, the U.S. must build the strength of the non-Soviet world, bind together the nations of the free world with strong trade links, and to pursue a vigorous policy of maximum international commerce.

Trade deficits, Eppert said, can be met by technological effort and capability and by importing from ourselves.

"OUR ANSWER to trade deficits must be to capitalize fully on this tremendous technological effort and capability," he said. The companies whose products cannot be manufactured here and sold competitively and profitably in the European market may find an excellent alternative as a production and distribution base, said Eppert.

"Importing from ourselves also protects our competitive position on those particular products in the U.S. market against similar foreign exports," he said.

"Economic illiteracy is probably the greatest single threat America must face," said Eppert. "It's a real threat."

Profit, he said, has become a dirty word for most people. Profit is the wage of enterprise, and these wages have been going down at the same time that the cost of living index for business has been going up, said Eppert.

"One of the big jobs before all of us is to scrub the dirt off the word 'profit.' We must re-acquaint the American public with the difference between 'making a profit' and 'profiteering,'" he said.

Foreign competition, whether friendly or hostile; dwindling profit margins; and economic stagnation are threats which can be met in only one way, said Eppert, by adequate growth on the revenue front.

"One of our greatest freedoms in America is our complete freedom to fail. The worst mistake we can make is to fail to exercise this freedom to fail. Inaction is the surest road to failure," said Eppert.

"We have no alternative to success because the failure of free enterprise would mean the failure of all that America stands for," he said.

This shows over-all unemployment in January was 5,383,000 with 1,339,000 idle 15 weeks or longer. The report also showed 1,687,000 normally full-time workers employed only part-time.

Employment in January was 64,452,000, a record for the month. Wolfbein said this reflects increased employment in retail and wholesale trade, finance, and in state and federal employment.

But he said the main trouble spot is in the nation's factories where there are nearly 900,000 fewer workers now than a year ago.

Institute Sponsors Summer Courses for Teachers

The university is presently conducting an Academic Year Institute for general science teachers in secondary schools under the sponsorship of the National Science Foundation.

The Institute, directed by Dr. John Mason of the College of Education, is operated in conjunction with the activities of the science-math teaching center.

The major objective of the Institute is to improve the subject-matter knowledge of the participating teachers. It is designed especially for teachers who have been assigned to teach general science without adequate preparation in the subject-matter areas.

Four subject-matter courses and a seminar have been designed for this program. These courses are acceptable for credit toward the Master of Arts in education, or the Master of Science degree.

A related summer program for secondary school teachers of chemistry, math, physics and biology will also be sponsored by the Institute.

The summer program for teachers of chemistry and math will be held for four weeks under the direction of Dr. Wayne Taylor of the science-math teaching center.

In addition to formal course work, participants will be required to participate in other Institute activities of visiting speakers, group discussions, and special meetings.

Dr. Sherwood Haynes of the department of physics and astronomy will direct the four-week summer program for physics teachers.

Legend Of Valentine In Cardinal Story

There are many legends connected with Valentine's Day. One is the beautiful story of why the cardinal is red. On the day Valentine was to be executed, he sat in his prison cell thinking of the jailer's daughter of whom he was quite fond. He saw a gray bird, a Cardinal, sitting outside the window. He suddenly thought of writing a love letter to the girl and begged the bird to take it to her. The bird flew with the letter in its beak and dropped it by the girl's feet. She was very happy and wrote an answer to Valentine; the bird flew quickly back but he arrived late for the saint had just been martyred. Then a miracle happened, for as the bird put the letter beside the dead Valentine, a drop of his blood fell on the bird and he was suddenly changed from a drab gray to a beautiful crimson. So from that day on, the Cardinal has been red, and is associated with Valentine's Day.

Cupid's Back On Campus For Valentine's Parties

Cupid is invading the campus this weekend. "Hearts and Flowers" is the theme of Snyder's term party Friday evening. Sue Cameron, social chairman, said that entertainment will be provided by Buddy Spangler's band. Red buttonieres and corsages are the favors; cake and punch will be served. Lamda Chi Alpha fraternity will hold a toboggan party at Bancroft Park, Friday night. Following the party will be a jam session and refreshments at the house. The women of Alpha Gamma Delta will hold their annual formal term party Friday evening in the Lansing Country Club. Tri Delta sorority will introduce their new pledges at a semi-formal dance entitled "Delta Debs" Saturday evening. A Valentine's theme will be used for decorations. The Tri Deltas will be honored by the presence of the sorority's national president, Mrs. Carl T. Haller, on Feb. 13 and 14. Mrs. Haller will spend the two days in the house becoming acquainted with the chapter members. Friday evening, Gamma Phi Beta sorority will honor their pledges with a "Penthouse Party." Bill Hart's band will entertain; cocktail punch will be served.

1,940 Apartments Now

Married Apartments Change From Trailers, Barracks of '50's

When married housing began on this campus in 1946, there were 450 unfurnished trailers provided for the students. Today, there are 1,940 permanent apartments, all of which are furnished. During those fifteen years, the housing office was busily adding larger and more adequate facilities for its married students. While the trailers were still in use, the well-known "barracks" were built. These came as a great change from the community washroom idea of the trailers, for each was provided with inside plumbing. Both the barracks and trailers were equipped with an icebox, and were also unfurnished. In 1953 the first of the new apartment buildings was put under construction, this being University Village, which then consisted of 36 apartments. When this permanent housing plan began, the students who had been living in trailers and the barracks were consulted as to what they would like to have included in their future homes. Most agreed that soundproofing and "odor-proofing" so that they couldn't smell their neighbors' cabbage, were important. Some of the apartments in University Village were left unfurnished, so that it could be determined how many students would rather rent them this way. When the next 430 apartments were added, they all were furnished, for many of the applicants were unsatisfied with the color schemes when they had their own furniture, and the university found that they could save wear and tear on the apartments by supplying what was needed. In 1956, both the Cherry Lane apartments and Spartan Village were put under construction, and by the spring of 1958 when all the apartments were in use, the old barracks were completely removed. The price of the apartments has increased only six dollars since they were first opened in 1953. There is expected to be an increase after July, because of school tuition for children of tenants and other overhead costs. Married housing apartments are furnished with a sofa bed, desk, two lounge chairs, a dining table and four chairs, a stove and refrigerator. The one bedroom apartments have a bed, chest of drawers and a mirror, while the second bedroom is furnished only with a chest of drawers. Those planning to move to married housing should consider in their expenses, end tables, a coffee table, living and bedroom lamps and all their house hold appliances.

Repercussions to Students Writing to Editor Debated

The problem of class officers and repercussions to students who write letters to the editor was debated and discussed at a student congress meeting Wednesday night.

Congress members overwhelmingly approved a bill to keep class officers, after a recommendation from a committee.

Dale Warner (East Shaw), committee chairman, said there was no reason to abolish class government if it is doing its job as well as AUSG could do.

They do perform valuable functions, and they do their job well, he added.

Bob Howard (Bryan), in remarks made early in the meeting, told of repercussions which he said occurred to a girl who wrote a letter to the State News complaining about dorm food.

The girl, Howard said, was then called to see her housemother, who said that if any more complaints were seen in the paper, the girl would have to see the dean of women.

Another letter concerning food and also expressing worry over repercussions, was published in Wednesday's State News. Howard said the girl was called to see her housemother and was told to write a letter of apology to the State News.

Upon a motion of Barry Boughton (Lansing), a committee was appointed to check on repercussions occurring to students who write letters of complaint to the State News. Jan Ross (Mason), was appointed committee chairman.

The AUSG budget for winter term was passed unanimously after extensive questioning of Jim Gibson (Married Housing), vice-chairman of the finance committee.

A resolution to recommend that strong penalties be taken against cheaters was tabled after an attack upon the resolution led by Boughton.

Boughton said his intention was to "seriously weaken" the resolution, which he said would give too much power to the faculty.

In other congress business, it approved a motion to invite all candidates for the Board of Trustees to appear on campus and before student congress.

State Teachers Convene Friday

Vocational teachers from junior colleges and high schools throughout the state will meet at Kellogg center Friday and Saturday.

Instructors from MSU's Forest Products school will give a series of lectures on carpentry, pattern and cabinet making, painting and decorating, to acquaint the visitors with developments in new products and processes in the wood industry.

The 30 minute discussion sessions will be held Friday afternoon from 2 to 4 and Saturday morning from 8:30 to 10.

Engineering students working toward their degree in chemical, mechanical, industrial or materials engineering have an opportunity with our firm. These men will work in general operations and production control together products.

Our contemplated purchase and installation of new equipment offers a fine opportunity and valuable experience. An important aspect of the work is the basic operation of the various departments in production such as Finish, Row-Grinding and Kilo-Control.

ABOUT THE COMPANY
Our firm is an old and well established independent cement company. We have our main offices and only plant located adjacent to the residential area of the Emmetville-Bay City community in Michigan.
Here we produce roughly three million barrels of cement each year. The future of our firm is sound and we have good opportunities with as fine advantages as anywhere in industry for good young men.
Our representative will be on campus Monday, February 13, 1961. Any- Student Services Building.

Iceemen Play N. Dakota

MSU's Hockey team travels to North Dakota this weekend for a Friday night - Saturday night twinbill. The Sioux are an improving club. With the addition of four new players, after the semester break, the squad will have added strength for the series. Last week North Dakota, after being whipped by Minnesota Friday 9-2, stunned the Gophers the following evening in handing the League's second place team a 4-3 loss.

The Sioux are in sixth place with a 4-13 record. State, 3-11, is seventh and last in the Western Collegiate Hockey Association. "I hope the team plays as well as they did against the University of Michigan and Michigan Tech," commented head coach Amo Besone. Amo was referring to the recent series with the favored Wolverines and Huskies. The Spartans split two games with each. Overall, Michigan State's ice-men have won seven and lost twelve. They must sweep this double header to get out of the WCHA cellar and keep alive any hopes of breaking even before the hockey season comes to an end.

  4. Print your name, address and phone number clearly.

Winner For Teaser Number 3 was ROSEMARY A. COMER
Here's Teaser Number 5

A GREAT CITIZEN
He was born in Denmark but came early to this country, where his occupations were various. He was at times a coal miner, a farm laborer, a traveling salesman, a police reporter for a newspaper, a carpenter, an author. He became a social reformer, was instrumental in introducing parks and playgrounds in slum districts, he instituted tenement house and school reforms, established Good Government Clubs. He wrote many books on the subject of needed changes and social reforms. He was a warm friend of Roosevelt.

FATHER OF FLYING
An American scientist who devoted the best of his life to the service of the Government at Washington in the development of the flying machine. He made several attempts to fly over the surface of the Potomac with but scant success. His inventions contributed greatly to the progress of aviation, but he died before the practicability of flying was thoroughly demonstrated. A shaft was erected in his honor as the father of aviation at the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

WESTERN WRITER
An American author of short stories and novels, he had, as a young man, an adventurous career, working as a minor, compositor and schoolmaster. At eighteen he was working on a San Francisco newspaper. Later he founded a paper in which he printed his own stories. He was Secretary of the Mint at San Francisco. He was sent to Scotland as United States Consul. He spent the last years of his life in London.

GREAT HUMORIST
A great American humorist whose works appeared in newspapers and magazines and whose popularity was achieved chiefly by his lectures. His humor is of a broad slapstick variety of wit very popular in the middle of the last century. His real name was Brown, but few people know this. His first real success was attained by a series of articles in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. He finally became famous in England where he died and where a complete edition of his works was published the year of his death.

A GREAT MAYOR
A great Mayor of a great city. In his early life he worked in a street railway office where he rose rapidly. He concentrated his interest upon street railways, made several inventions applying to them and invested his savings in them until he had a considerable amount of stock in the street railways of Indianapolis, Detroit, Cleveland and Brooklyn. After he had become a wealthy man he read an important book on political economy and became an ardent advocate of public ownership and other economic and political reforms. He sold his street railway holdings and entered politics. His political career consisted of two terms in Congress and four terms as Mayor. It was as a municipal executive that he displayed his greatness and won his fame. He died when at the height of his influence and power.

FAMOUS WRITER
An American writer and soldier, born in Indiana. He fought in the Mexican War and as a Federalist in the Civil War. He was Governor of New Mexico Territory and later Ambassador to Turkey. He wrote several popular novels but is known chiefly by one dealing with the life and times of Christ which made him famous and which has been dramatized and produced extensively.

FAMOUS WOMAN
A famous American philanthropist and poet, she was co-editor of the Boston Commonwealth, a lecturer on social subjects, prison and other reforms. She was active in championing the cause of women and was President of the New England Women's Club. Her writings include dramas, reminiscences, sketches, etc. The collections of verse includes one very well-known patriotic poem which is known by all American school children.

A RIPE PURITAN
A minister and the son of a minister, of brilliant intellect and accomplishments, a good son and father with a private and public record entirely to his credit, yet his name has passed down in the history of Massachusetts associated with the story of a crime so discreditable to the fair name of the State that to most people to name this man is to think also of the story. As a child he was very religious and extremely superstitious. When he grew to manhood he still believed in good and bad angels and a personified devil. He wrote a book stating his belief in witchcraft. When the excitement broke out in Salem on the supposed discovery of witches and witchcraft, he was instrumental in causing to be condemned and executed many of those who were accused. This has never been proven.

BILLY STEUART

Too Many Talents? Tanker Billy Steuart A Delightful Problem

By JOHN BEATTY
State News Sports Writer

Like many collegiate coaches, Michigan State swimming mentor Charles McCaffree has many problems. But there is one problem he would probably like to have multiplied several times over.

This is the joyous task of deciding where he will use the Spartan's versatile captain Billy Steuart during a dual meet.

The senior from Johannesburg, South Africa, has competed in a total of six different dual meet events and probably will be available for one or two others in the Big Ten championships.

Whenever McCaffree decides to use Billy, he can count on a top performance, whether it's beating Olympians Mike Troy and Alan Somers in the 220-yard freestyle, setting a new varsity record in the individual medley, or giving State butterfly ace Carl Shear a tough battle.

In addition to these feats, Steuart has swam a 54.9 butterfly leg and a 5:04 freestyle with State's 400-yard medley and freestyle relay quartets. He also battled Somers, Indiana's national amateur champion, down to the wire in the 440-yard freestyle only to lose with a fine effort of 4:28.4.

His Herculean accomplishments deserve special mention for this is the first year he has competed in the event. Billy was timed in 2:04.2 in his initial outing against Purdue and then covered the 20-yards in 2:02.4 to lose a close race to Shear at Illinois. The latter time would have been good enough to take third place in the 1960 NCAA championships.

"Before this year I swam the butterfly mainly for enjoyment," said Steuart, "and never realized I could do this well."

"What I have to work on now is endurance. I find that I can stay with a good swimmer like Shear for about 100-yards, but after that it's tough."

ACTUALLY STEUART was well-known in collegiate tank circles prior to this year. During the 1958 and 1959 seasons, he capped the NCAA 440-yard and 1,500-meter freestyle crowns besides taking five conference titles.

Then he was sidelined for the 1960 campaign under the interpretation of the foreign athlete rule.

$50,000 Demand For Bout Rejected

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Fugazy, Executive Director of Feature Sports, today rejected the demands of Erich Schoepner, German light heavyweight, who asked a total of $50,000 to go through with a proposed title bout with Archie Moore. Moore is recognized in some states but not by the National Boxing Association.

Schoepner informed the promoters, through a letter to Andy Niderreiter, his American representative, that he wanted $30,000 to clear up the old contract for a fight last summer that 600 guarantees from the live gate of a proposed May 26 match and a $10,000 guarantee from the auxiliary rights.

"The fight is out," said Fugazy. "He is too demanding. Those figures are way out of line."

Fugazy said he was turning his attention to trying to match Moore with Guilio Rinaldi, the Italian who beat him in a non-title match in Rome last fall. Fugazy said he was shooting for the same May 27 date but might have to put the match back until June as an outdoor fight.

NFL Getting The Talent In Rivalry

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League, needing more manpower than ever before in its long history and again facing a challenge for talent from the American League appears to be handily outdistancing its infant rival in the race for prized rookies.

Targets in this furious pursuit for fresh faces and signed contracts are those scores of college boys eligible to play for cash next fall. It's a seller's market. Colleges aiming at the pros are able to command unprecedented financial inducements.

Actually it's a three-cornered competition for players, with Canadian pro teams in the running. They have managed to lure a fair share of the boys as usual.

But the real dual for talent is between the two leagues operating in the United States and from all angles it seems long-established NFL has the more successful recruiting collector.

So far, the NFL has had such heralded prospects as Tommy Mason, Percy At Bob Galters, Bill Kiser, Sned, Fran Tarkenton, H. Adderley, Bobby Grippo, Matte, Bill Brown and Casey; ends Mike Ditka, McKeever and Fred Matlackles Bob Lilly and Jennings and guard Monte Lee.

Mighty Buckeyes Invade MSU Swimmers Face Toughest Test In Meet Against Wolverines

State Cagers Underdog To Nation's Best

By JOHN SCHNEIDER
State News Sports Writer

It will be a battle between David and a Goliath when the Mighty Ohio State basketball squad invades Jenison to face Fordy Anderson's charges Saturday night. This time David had better have something else up his sleeve besides rocks, Goliath, a group of super-star basketball players from Ohio now en route to East Lansing on the crest of a 22-game winning streak which includes a bludgeoning of Indiana, considered a second best team in the Big Ten, 100-65, last Monday.

FORDY ANDERSON
Spartan basketball coach

David, a sophomore-studded team of basketball players from Michigan State, has found the game quite rough so far this season. The Spartans won their first game against Notre Dame Monday, 89-74, but have lost 10 of their last 12 contests.

THE BUCKEYES, the unanimous number one choice in the national polls all season, considered by many to be the best collegiate basketball team ever.

Last year, State entered the arena in the role of an underdog, played magnificently only to lose in the final half-minute of the game when the injured Spartan center, Horace Walters, attempted to guard Jerry Lucas then scored to win the game. Anderson, the master of continuous motion type of defense, will have to contend with a team that is taller, more experienced, faster, better shooters, and better rebounders, making his task difficult, if not impossible.

The defending NCAA champions will have the college basketball player of the year at center, Jerry Lucas. Ohio State also has excellent balance, depth and team play that marks a championship team.

According to the latest national statistics, Ohio State is first in free throw percentage (.800) second in team offense (80.0) third in rebounding and fifth in scoring (74.0) per cent.

Lucas leads the nation's scorers, averaging 23.4 points per game (83.4) and second among the scoring leaders. Traditionally Larry Norgoff is second in free throw shooting with a .888 mark while Lucas is fourth with a .849 mark.

Seldom, if ever, has a team dominated the national figures in such a manner. State will send three sophomores, a junior and a senior to

Ailing Grapplers Face 3 Opponents

By RICHARD ZEMMIN
State News Sports Writer

Forced to use his weakest line-up of the season, MSU's head wrestling coach, Fendley Collins, takes his injured, riddled Spartans to Champaign, Ill. this Saturday for a quadrangular meet against three strong opponents.

Heading the list of opposition are the Oklahoma State Cowboys. The cowboys, winners of 21 out of the last 30 NCAA wrestling finals, have a string of over 20 consecutive dual meet victories going. This year, they are slated by wrestling experts to once again capture the NCAA title. Understandably, OSU is favored to win this tournament.

Purdue and the home team, Illinois, round out the rest of the tournament's competition. Michigan State has defeated Purdue twice earlier this season, 86-80, in a previous quadrangular meet, and 22-13. However, that was when State had a stronger line-up.

ILLINOIS has a well-balanced team. The Illini, like the Spartans, are undefeated in the Big Ten. They have beaten Wisconsin, Indiana, and Iowa. Overall their record is 6-1. They could be the number two team in the Big Ten conference, according to coach Collins.

MSU's squad is hurting just at the time when the Spartans need all the strength they can get. Three starters, and possibly a fourth, will miss this tournament.

George Hobbs and Norm Young are out with virus infections, and John McCray is sidelined with a sore shoulder. The uncertain fourth wrestler is ailing Merle Prebel.

WITH THE INJURIES taking their toll, the Spartan line-up has several changes. Okla Johnson will wrestle in his customary 115-lb. class, and Chuck Ferrari will take Hobb's place at 123. Ferrari will be competing for the first time this year.

At 130-lbs. will be Spartan Jerry Hoke, at 137, Doug Milliman, and at 147 will be Dave James, returning to action after suffering from a sprained ankle. Duane Wolfert will wrestle 157, Bon Schluter, 167, Alex Valcanoff, 177, Merle Prebel, 191 and Mike Senzig will hold down the heavyweight spot.

If Prebel is unable to wrestle, the Spartans will have to forfeit the 191-lb. class. There is no other man at this division, and a

Viking Sales Up
ST. PAUL - MINNEAPOLIS. (AP)—With nearly a million dollars in the bank from season ticket sales and all but four of their college draft choices signed, the Minnesota Vikings told admiring twin cities businessmen today they're ready for battle in the National League.

"Besides," cracked coach Norm Van Brocklin, "we're still undefeated."

Van Brocklin, buoyant but typically candid, admitted this situation wouldn't last very long once the Vikings' inaugural season gets under way.

"In two or three years we ought to be a pretty fair football club," he said, "but for the first year we'll have a lot of young players. We figure if we lose we may as well do it with players who can help us in the future."

Vikings sales have reached 23,000—by far the heaviest advance sale for a first year club in NFL history.

Michigan or Michigan State? As this collegiate swimming season heads toward its climax, that's the question that will be answered when the two conference rivals clash in a dual meet tonight at the Men's IM Pool starting at 8:30 p.m.

Victorious in five previous meets, the Spartans will get little rest following the Michigan encounter. Northwestern will provide the competition for Coach Charles McCaffrey's squad tomorrow afternoon at 2:00.

SWIMMING AGAINST each other, a nothing new for the long time rivals. Although the Wolverines hold a decided edge in the 37 earlier meetings, McCaffrey feels that tonight's meet will prove to be Michigan's first real test of the season.

The entire squad is looking forward to the Michigan meet with a great anticipation. The veteran coach said "This should be a tightly contested encounter, with victories coming by narrow

Gymnasts To Clash With Illini
An action packed week-end gets under way at 7 p.m. tonight, when Michigan State's undefeated gymnasts encounter defending Big Ten Champions, Illinois, in the main arena of the I.M. Building.

This meet is the first event of a gymnastics-swimming double-header. Following the gym meet, State's swimmers host Michigan at 8:30 p.m. in the I.M. Pool.

Students will be admitted free to both events upon showing I.D. cards at the entrance. If the gymnasts defeat Illinois, it will be MSU's 14th straight win. However, Illinois is regarded as the favorite tonight.

Among the top battles shaping up in the dual meet are the butterfly events, where MSU's Carl Shaar, the second fastest butterfly in collegiate ranks goes against Gillanders.

Gillanders finished third to Mike Troy in the 200-meter butterfly event at Rome. Meanwhile, Shaar has turned in a fast 2:00.6 which is the second fastest time in Big Ten competition.

Coach Gus Stager's Wolverines are also paced by Captain Frank Legacki, runner-up in the NCAA 100-yard freestyle classic, and national breaststroke champion Ron Clark.

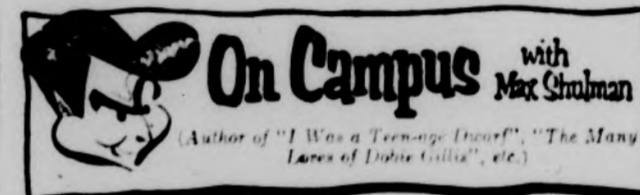

"It will be hard to get an early advantage in scoring as we did in the Indiana meet," McCaffrey stated. "Because they won't be caught by surprise as Indiana happened to be." But we should give them a battle in every event on the card."

Competing for the first time this season will be Ron Webster and Dave Gillanders, along with a host of other returning veterans. Indisputable because they toured Europe after the Olympic Games, both Gillanders and Webster will give Michigan added strength in diving and butterfly events.

WEBSTER, Olympic 10-meter diving champion, along with Ron Jacob should provide State's Bill Williams and Jim Syva with their toughest competition this year.

"THE SLOW RUSH"

Illustrated below is the membership pin of a brand-new national fraternity called Sigma Phi Nothing. To join Sigma Phi Nothing and get this fabulous membership pin absolutely free, simply take a pair of scissors and cut out the illustration and paste it to your dieckey.

Let me hasten to state that I do not recommend your joining Sigma Phi Nothing. The only thing I recommend in this column is Marlboro cigarettes, as any honest man would like a filtered cigarette with an unfiltered taste, who yearns to settle back and enjoy a full-flavored smoke, whose heart is quickened by a choice of soft pack or flip-top box and who gets paid every week for writing this column.

It is difficult to think of any reason why you should join Sigma Phi Nothing, some people, of course, are joined by nature if you are one such I must tell you there are any number of better organizations than Sigma Phi Nothing for you to join—the Maha, for example.

But if you should join Sigma Phi Nothing, let me give you several warnings. First off, it is the only fraternity that admits girls. Second, there is no pledge period, each new member immediately goes active. Perhaps "inactive" is a more accurate term; there are no meetings, no drives, no campaigns, no sports, no games, no dues, no grip, and no house.

The only thing Sigma Phi Nothing has that other fraternities have is a fraternity hymn. In fact, two hymns were submitted to a recent meeting of the national board of directors (none of whom attended). The first hymn goes:

Hohle, hoop-hoop-o-doop,
Mother's making blubber soup.
The second hymn is considerably longer:
A Guernsey's a cow,
A road is a lane,
When you're eating cheese,
Remember the main!

Pending the next meeting of the national board of directors, which will never be held, members are authorized to sing either hymn. Or, for that matter, Starbuck.

Perhaps you are asking why there should be such a fraternity as Sigma Phi Nothing. I will give you an answer—an answer with which you cannot possibly disagree. Sigma Phi Nothing fills a well-needed gap.

Are you suffering from mental health? Is logic distorting your thinking? Is ambition encroaching on your native sloth? Are your long-cherished misapprehensions retreating before a sea of facts? In short, has education caught up with you?

If so, congratulations. But tell the truth—wouldn't you like to make an occasional visit back to the good old days when you were not so wise and composed and industrious—when you were, in fact, nuttier than a fruitcake?

If you pine for those old familiar miasms, those dear, dead vapors, join Sigma Phi Nothing and renew, for a fleeting moment, your acquaintance with fatuity. We promise nothing, and, by George, we deliver it!

In the Eyes of Nationalists

America Is 'Damning' Africa

By DAVE KNAPP
State News Staff Writer
America's present views about Africa are "damning her" as far as many of the people of Africa are concerned, Arthur Hodgson, president of the campus United Nations recently told a State News reporter.

"Within north, south, east, west, and central Africa, America's present actions are damning her in the eyes of the African people," said Hodgson, a senior from Bermuda.

One of the nationalist leaders in east Africa has already stated that America had missed the boat so far as Africa is concerned, and I would tend to agree with him," Hodgson said. HE CONTINUED his remarks to Africa, but similar stories could be told of other countries, he said.

"Salazar of Portugal, Franco of Spain, Rhee of Korea, Chiang Kai-Shek of China, Batista of Cuba, Somoza of Nicaragua—all vicious dictators to whom America has given her support," Hodgson said.

"I trust that the American people do not stand with their government on these issues," Hodgson said. According to Hodgson, the African nations do not wish to come under the rule of any outside power.

"AFRICANS who have fought so hard and so long for their independence have no desire to see their country come under the domination of any power. "However, certain American sources would have us believe that these new nations would have their countries governed from Moscow," he added.

"The men in the Kremlin, by contrast to Americans have never failed to support the legitimate demands of the Africans," Hodgson said. Regardless of how the African feels about Communism or the Soviet Union, he is bound to feel grateful to any country who helps in his time of trouble, he said with regard to the Congo situation.

"THE ARAB proverb, 'The enemy of my enemy is my friend,' always holds true," Hodgson said. In the last session of the UN the Soviet Union presented itself as a champion fighting against the colonists, he said. However, there are also bright spots on the scene of Afro-American relations such as the present assistance that the university is giving to Nigeria, he said. But even this venture may be futile considering the personal experiences of some Nigerians at the university.

"AFTER ALL, when the Nigerian returns home to teach in the university, he will tell his students of his experiences in this country which are humiliating to say the least," Hodgson said.

Referring again to the Congo, Hodgson said that Patrice Lumumba was able to lead his country to victory against overwhelming odds after observing the trends in other parts of Africa and consulting other African leaders. After independence was obtained, the Belgians used the revolt of the army as an excuse to reoccupy the Congo.

Lumumba, who believed in the sincerity of other nations and the principles of the UN then requested their assistance in evicting the "foreign aggressor" and restoring peace in the Congo, Hodgson said.

"However, when it had become clear that he proposed to follow a neutralist foreign policy as other independent African states had done, the United States seized upon the opportunity to establish a pro-Western front in the heart of Africa," said Hodgson.

It can be reasonably asserted that Americans played a primary role in Col. Mobutu's rise to power, he said. "America has further shown her support to this dictator through her actions at the United Nations," said Hodgson.

Mobutu's seizure of power was illegal and against the wishes of the Congolese people, he said. Recent actions of the people give "undeniable evidence" that they supported Lumumba.

"AMERICA'S action in this case leaves the uncommitted nations of the world with no doubt as to America's insincerity concerning democracy," Hodgson said. "Confirming their suspicions that America is insincere is the personal treatment which is accorded African diplomats and students in this country."

"Even on this campus, the African student, because of the treatment he has received, has become convinced that the people of the United States have no desire for true democracy," he said. "A common saying

French Jets Fire On USSR Official Plane

ALGIERS. (AP)—French jet fighters fired warning shots yesterday around a four-engine Russian plane carrying Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev and other high officials on a goodwill visit to West Africa.

The Russian government in Moscow made a vigorous protest, charging the attack took place 80 miles out over the Mediterranean and was a case of "international banditism."

The French said the big turbo-prop aircraft, pride of the Soviet civilian air fleet, failed to respond to radio challenges and was intercepted off Algeria by three Vautour fighters in the "zone of French responsibility."

The 54-year-old Brezhnev was not harmed although he may have had a few exciting moments. His plane, apparently unscathed, arrived on schedule at Rabat, capital of Morocco, and Brezhnev was welcomed by King Mohammed V and thousands of rebel men and veiled women.

There have been 17 Roman Catholic prelates, past and present, raised to the rank of cardinal in the United States.

"DURING THEIR oppression, many various great men have arisen to lead the people to independence and a place in the sun," he said. "During these years that they have fought valiantly against overwhelming odds, they have not hesitated to call upon other lovers of freedom for assistance. America has never raised her hand to help," he added.

"She, through her educational system and forms of mass media, has done all she can to paint a picture of Africa that could not possibly raise any sympathy or serious consideration on the part of the American people," Hodgson said.

French Club Slates Trip

The French Club will take a field trip Sunday to see a major exhibition of French art on display in Toledo, Charles Carlton, French instructor, announced yesterday.

The exhibition now at the Toledo Museum of Art will be shown only in two other places, New York and Washington, D.C., and includes many works never seen outside of France, he said.

Included in the day's agenda for the group will be films, nature tours, a historical walk, the permanent French collection of the Museum, and a walk cafe, he said.

President Will Discuss Gold Drain With German Minister

WASHINGTON. (AP)—President Kennedy and West German Foreign Minister Heinrich Von Brentano will meet at the White House next Thursday, informed sources reported Thursday.

At No Extra Charge Reliability...

Frantor Shopping Center MON. THRU FRI. TILL 9 SAT. TILL 7

Kennedy is expected to tell his visitor the United States is not satisfied with Germany's offer to ease this country's balance of payment problem and help guard U. S. gold supplies.

Last week West Germany offered the United States one-half of $982 million to help strengthen the dollar. Kennedy said that this proposal does not "meet the problem or the opportunity" and that he is considering whether to put negotiations with the Germans on a "higher level."

The President did not specify what he meant by "high level." White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said he regards the Kennedy-Von Brentano talks as on a higher level than those in the past.

open parliament and a regular government will be presented." PRESUMABLY the recall of parliament will have to await the outcome of the round table conference—a meeting of politicians to agree on a new constitution, possibly one giving more local autonomy to the Congo's feuding provinces.

Top men in the new government besides Ileo are Jean Bolikango and Justin Bomboko. Bolikango, a leader of the Bangala tribe and a staunch opponent of Lumumba, becomes deputy premier and minister of information.

Bomboko, who has so far survived every change of administration since the Congo became independent, remains foreign minister.

ANOTHER deputy premiership was reserved for a representative from Katanga—and clearly the hope was that Tshombe himself would accept it.

Besides Bomboko, six of the new ministers held office in the old Lumumba government. But there was only one representative of Lumumba's own National Congolese movement, the biggest single party in parliament.

Some of the retiring college commissioners were named secretaries of state appointed to assist the new ministers. The others were sent back to finish their studies.
