Soviets Demand Removal Of Troops From Congo

Refuse to Recognize Dag Hammarskjold

MOSCOW, (AP)—In fiery reaction to Patrice Lumumba's death, the Soviet Union demanded Tuesday that all foreign troops quit the Congo and asserted it will no longer recognize Dag Hammarskjold as U.N. Secretary General.

The Russians called for recognition of Antoine Gizenga, Lumumba's fanatic lieutenant who heads a Stanleyville regime, as the Congo's premier and offered him every help.

Obviously referring to the U.N. Congo Command—now totaling about 18,000 troops—and a few score white mercenaries in the armed forces of secessionist Katanga Province, the Soviet Government demanded that they clear out within a month.

THE BROADSIDE followed a five-hour mob attack on Belgium's Embassy, led by foreign students of the expenses-paid People's Friendship University who called Lumumba a martyr of imperialism.

Hammarskjold, Belgium and two Congolese leaders—Katanga's President Moise Tshombe and the Congo National Army Chief, Maj. Gen. Joseph Mobutu—denounced in a government statement issued through the government newspaper Izvestia and the Tass News Agency.

The statement called for dismissal of Hammarskjold "as an accessory to and organizer of the murder of the leading statesman of the Congo," UN censure of Belgium, ouster of all Belgians in the former Belgian colony, arrest of Tshombe and Mobutu as colonialist agents in the killing, and disarmament of Katanga and Congo Government troops.

The Soviet program would leave Congolese soldiers in the Stanleyville regime of Gizenga, a fanatic leftist and potential political heir of Lumumba, as the only effective military force in the 900,000 square miles of the 40-million-old African nation.

THE RUSSIANS have been gunning for Hammarskjold since his neutrality policy became firmly evident last summer in the conduct of the UN Congo Command. Premier Khrushchev demanded in a speech before the UN General Assembly last Sept. 23 that the Secretary-General be replaced by a three-man directorate representing east, west and neutral spheres.

"Dag Hammarskjold must be dismissed from the post of Secretary-General as an accessory to and organizer of the murder of the leading statesman of the Congo," yesterday's statement said.

"The Soviet government has demanded that the Secretary-General be replaced by a three-man directorate representing east, west and neutral spheres."

Katanga President Ignores UN Request

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, (AP)—President Moise Tshombe said Tuesday he is unworried by world reaction to the Patrice Lumumba slaying and as for a possible UN investigation—"I couldn't give a damn."

A UN spokesman said Gen. Victor Lundula, Lumumbist Military Commander, succeeded in dispersing soldiers who gathered last night in a Stanleyville street and threatened to harm Europeans.

UN officials, however, feared Lumumbists who control Kivu Province would unleash their followers on Belgians and Congolese political hostages.

The UN Congo Command ordered the Katanga Government to halt an offensive against pro-Lumumbist Balaka tribesmen in the northern part of the province. But it was expected the Katanga government would ignore the order.

JFK. Leaders Confer Unemployment Dims U.S. Economic Outlook

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Kennedy reviewed unemployment and economic problems Tuesday at an hour-long conference with top administration leaders.

The White House reported Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg "viewed the situation as critical" and said Kennedy is anxious to combat the problem.

Goldberg reported on an unemployment survey he made in five industrial states last week-end. He plans another tour soon.

SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE Sam Rayburn, D-Tex., talking with newsmen after the White House session, said Goldberg "found the situation worse than he had expected."

Rayburn said Kennedy will have something to say about the problem at his news conference Wednesday night. The session will be broadcast live on radio and television networks starting at 7 p.m. EST.

Rather than proposing new solutions, Rayburn said he looks for Kennedy to call for swift congressional action on proposals already submitted.

Noting that the Republicans only yesterday had completed their committee assignments, Rayburn said, "Congress will move ahead just as fast as it can."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said yesterday's Senate Banking Committee "can complete work next week on a bill to aid chronically distressed areas."

MANSFIELD ALSO told reporters in advance of yesterday's White House meeting that he has asked the chairman of the Senate Labor and Finance Committees to start hearings soon on minimum wage and unemployment compensation bills.

Kennedy has listed these three measures as part of his economic recovery program.

Rayburn said the emphasis at yesterday's White House meeting, which was attended by cabinet members as well as Democratic congressional leaders, was on the economic situation.

The Speaker gave it as his own opinion that the problem reflects "the most urgency since the Great Depression" of the 1930's.

New Mag, Tarot Coming

The Tarot, a new magazine written, edited and published by students is coming into existence.

The editors and staff members met Thursday night to discuss the final problems of publication and sales.

The first issue will contain five divisions: fiction, non-fiction, poetry, art and foreign languages. Tom McGuane is editor.

Prof. Virgil Scott, of the English department, directed the initial organization of the staff last term. His office, 222 Morrill Hall, is now the office of the Tarot, and is "open each afternoon to staff members."

AWS CANDIDATES—Unopposed for Judiciary is Kay Jenema. Running for AWS Activities Board President are Nancy Minshull and Nancy Simmons. Elections are today.

No Primaries This Year Coeds to Cast Ballots Today For New AWS President

Coeds will elect their Association of Women Students Activities and Judiciary board president today.

Because there are so few candidates, there will be no primaries this year.

Candidates hoping to clinch the Activities Board presidency are Nancy Minshull, Muskegon, Mich., and Nancy Simmons, Okemos, Mich., junior.

A more active Activities board is the main issue in the campaign of Miss Minshull.

There will be less talk, fewer speeches and more work done," she promised in her campaign program.

Miss Minshull was co-chairman of the AWS. Big Sister program last year while serving as representative from East Lansing.

In addition she attended the U.S. regional convention in Okemos last fall.

Miss Simmons, her opponent, stressing the inclusion of more women in AWS, activities.

AWS is a campus service organization, and with more people involved, a better job could be done," she proposed.

The campaign involves stimulating enthusiasm among group members by designating definite and leadership responsibilities to them, she said.

Miss Simmons has served on AWS for seven terms as chairman of Who's Who and Back What, corresponding secretary, and chairman of Special events.

The president of Judiciary will be able to interpret the AWS Handbook in order to guide the women of this year toward a better relationship with the administration.

Other campus organizations are explained in order to achieve this understanding, there must be a closer relationship between the board and the administration.

Need To Stop Arms Race

MOSCOW, (AP)—Premier Khrushchev declared Tuesday the Soviet Union is "deeply concerned of the urgent need to put an end to the dangerous and costly arms race."

He said the USSR "sincerely wishes 1961 to become a year of success in insuring a peaceful and tranquil life on planet," the Soviet news agency TASS reported.

In a message to the American National Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy, the Soviet Premier once again blamed the United States for the arms race in nuclear disarmament talks on the West.

The leaders of the American National Committee, Norman Cousins and George Pickett, had asked the Soviet leader to carry out this year measures which would reduce international tension and lead to an East-West disarmament pact, Tass reported.

Tass said Khrushchev replied when the Geneva conference resumes the Soviet Union will, as before, strive by every means to reach agreement on all tests of nuclear weapons which yield for all time."

The main snag in the Geneva talks has been the Western insistence of a foolproof inspection system to prevent secret testing or the stockpiling of nuclear weapons.

Hope to Win Trophy Phi Gam Pledges Redecorate Fire Buggy As Project for IFC Help Week

The Phi Gammas must be planning to set the world on fire.

At least this is the impression one gets when passing the Phi house at 334 E. Michigan ave.

Historical Museum and will be put into more presentable condition after the Phi's redecorate it for display at the museum, as a project for IFC help week.

Each term IFC sponsors a help week, during which all fraternities participate in a project that will benefit the community or institution.

Alpha Tau Omega, 451 Evergreen ave., awards a trophy each term to the most worthy pledge project.

It took 11 Phi pledges 45 minutes to tow the old fire engine from the Michigan Historical Museum at 515 N. Washington St., Lansing to their garage.

The pledges ran beside the fire engine steering it along Grand River ave. and Michigan ave.

They will be working on the fire engine this Saturday preparing it for display at the museum.

The hand-drawn fire engine was on the front porch of the museum. When it had been used, it took 24 men to hand pump it. The fire engine is 21 feet long and 10 feet wide.

Curator of the Michigan Historical Museum is Mrs. Dolores Bernard.

Because the law for having hand-drawn fire engines on the road has expired long ago, it was necessary for the Phi pledges to have a police escort to legalize their maneuver.

Students Demand Voice In Their University Operations

What is a university? We feel it is time we evaluated this concept once more and determined just what each individual's function is.

Is it a brain factory, dedicated to turning out degrees and sheepskin diplomas. Is it an institution for the advancement of man's social skills? Is it a hideaway for men who do not wish to face life's realities? Is it a post-natal nest for fledglings who want to leave the womb, yet stay tucked away from life's decisions?

In its time, the university, Michigan State included, has been each of these. For some persons, it fulfills one or more of these roles today. But we believe the primary function of the university is none of these.

IT IS SIMPLY and plainly, a social institution for the exchange and increase of knowledge. In its basic form, it is a contract between student and teacher. It is not a campus, not Berkeley hall, not the administration building. It is a concept, a philosophy of education wherein men agree on an orderly dissemination of knowledge.

We feel that any other object is secondary and, similarly, any other person other than student or teacher performs a secondary role. We realize, however, that an institution of such complexity as MSU needs men to coordinate the activities of students and teachers. It needs administrators.

The purpose of this editorial is not to denounce administrators as proverbial bad men who harm you if you cut a little red tape. Neither is it to extoll them as the messengers of truth and the only individuals with the ability and intelligence to determine the ultimate good for the university. It is rather to put them in their proper perspective as vital, but secondary, agents in the educational process.

TO FOLLOW this reasoning is its logical order, we must then ask why the administration holds so tenaciously to policies which students, as primary actors, have repeatedly taken stands against.

We speak specifically of housing policies which dictate where students can live until they reach 25 years. We speak of drinking policies which violate rights granted Americans through state statutes. We speak of men who hold power to arbitrarily expel students. We speak of ROTC where faculty and student voices were not supported by the administration.

The proper roles must be regained. The faculty and students are the core of a university. They can exist without administrators, but university administrators are ever dependent upon them.

We urge our administration members to remember this in the next few months when students, through AUSG, will again voice their opinions on such university policies as housing, drinking, and ROTC. We are the university and feel we should, and must, have a voice in its operation.

On the March Negroes Demand Complete Equality

By IVANHOE DONALDSON

The last thirty years in the United States particularly and the world in general have seen the rise of a new personality in American society, the development of a new gro, the rise of Negro nationalism.

The Negro today has made his objective clear in one word—EQUALITY. He does not want only economical and political equality as well. At one time he would have been satisfied in gaining any one form of equality but today the black man is demanding whole.

THE DEVELOPMENT of Negro nationalism, was slow in starting but today a powerful force of which the white man should be well aware of.

America as we know it today would not exist if the thousands of contributions brought forth by the Negro were deleted. As far back as the beginning of America through the slave period, and on up to the present the American Negro has made great contributions.

THE OUTSTANDING agricultural chemist of all time was Dr. George Washington Carver. One can not look in the field of agronomy without encountering the name of Ernest Just. The first surgeon successfully to stitch the human heart was a Negro from Chicago, Dr. Daniel Williams.

Dr. James Lewis and Pathology go hand in hand, Elmer Imes stands in the forefront in the field of magnetic physics. Benjamin Banneker invented the first striking clock to strike in America. The Black man has given to America its only original folk music, and produced some of its greatest athletes.

TODAY THE Black man's ingenuity can be found in practically all fields. His demand for racial equality can be felt throughout fifty states. And the rise of the so-called Negro in America is a part of the general upsurge of the colored people of the world.

The treatment of the Negro is America's greatest and most conspicuous scandal. It is tremendously publicized, and the democratic America will continue to publicize it. For the colored people all over the world whose rising influence is axiomatic, the scandal is salt in their wounds.

Yes, today the black man is on the march. In 1954, Thurgood Marshall and the NAACP showed this through the Supreme Court decision. The non-violent student sit-ins in the southland today also show this demand for equality. The tide of real American democracy is spreading and it cannot be held back.

THE SO-CALLED Negro is marching the road to equality and freedom. If he defeated on this road to equality, the Western culture will have sown the seeds of its own collapse. Fascism—the type preached by Hitler and Governor Long of Louisiana will become the political philosophy of the U. S.

The Negro is the test case of America. He can not be held down and kept in his place if democracy is to exist, or if Black and White are to live in peace.

Civil Liberties Endangered By Investigations of HUAC

BY RAY PRATT
State News Columnist

The direct and indirect power of the House Un-American Activities Committee is perhaps greater than any governmental investigatory agency in the nation, particularly in its ability to sway public opinion.

The committee has powers we would never dream of giving to law-enforcement agencies, and it exercises them with impunity—excoriating, pre-judging, and publicly convicting people and organizations it finds to be "un-American."

IN THE MANDATE given by Congress to HUAC we find that "The Committee on Un-American Activities, as a whole or by subcommittee, is authorized to make from time to time investigations of (1) the extent, character, and objectives of un-American propaganda activities in the United States, and (2) the diffusion within the United States of subversive and un-American propaganda that is instigated from foreign countries or of a domestic origin and attacks the principle of the form of government as guaranteed by the Constitution."

With a mandate so sweeping and vague in its implications it is small wonder that outrageous and extensive trampling of civil liberties by the committee is not uncommon.

The range of what constitutes "un-American propaganda" then, is open to the interpretations of such champions of civil liberties as have, for example, hired staff members of the character of Richard Arens—the man who questioned President Eisenhower's patriotism because he introduced his grand children to Nikita Krushchev.

IN ANOTHER instance, the committee attacked the Secretary of the Air Force for withdrawing a training manual including such statements as "Communists and fellow-travelers have successfully infiltrated our churches..." It is known that even the pastors of certain of our churches are card carrying communists.

Continuing, the manual alleged that "The National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. officially sponsored the revised standard version of the Bible. Of the 95 persons who served on this project, 30 have been affiliated with pro-communist fronts, projects, and publications."

Incidents such as these make one see the committee's interpretation of "un-American" as meaning, in effect, anything that hasn't been done in America before. Committee members past and present have denounced, on occasion, programs and policies ranging from "New Deal" leftward as "un-American."

But, as one of President Truman's advisory committees once declared, "an epithet is not an argument. 'Un-American' means simply that it has not been tried in America. If Americans want it it becomes American."

JUDGING FROM the warped sense of meaning the committee has given to the word "propaganda" one would think that the term means, not an attempt to persuade, as Webster's defines it, but some insidious process used by communists, communist dupes, and fellow-travelers who want to see the committee abolished. THEY use "propaganda" the committee merely "educates."

Herein lies a danger far greater than we may imagine. By branding worthy, important, progressive persons and movements who oppose it, the committee has done a great harm to democratic processes and may do more as it gets pushed into the corner by outraged public opinion.

Throughout the world esteem for the United States is falling—partly because of the climate of fear the committee has helped engender against Americans' formulating and expressing socialistic ideologies of liberty and social justice. Such ideologies, while not really compelling needs for our country, are certainly the only way for the awakening underdeveloped nations of the world. We have failed in this respect.

RECOGNIZING THIS, I believe Congress has no right to limit any propaganda or political expression, even radical, under the protection of the first amendment.

Congress cannot legislate in such matters, and congressional committees— which exist to examine the need for legislation and how existing legislation is administered—are out of bounds in examining matters upon which Congress cannot legislate.

If, however, Communist propaganda can be linked to imminent illegal acts or invasion—if there is a clear and present danger—investigation and legislation are justified. But the main defense against genuine acts of sabotage and espionage lies not with congressional committees, but with professionally trained counter-intelligence agents, the FBI, and the military services.

THEREFORE WE believe the destruction of the House Un-American Activities Committee must be effected if the United States is to move forward from the dark shadows of fear that grew up in early years of the cold war and still have not abated. The committee has become an agency for the mutilation of human, civil, and constitutional rights.

In effect it is an agency to supervise the exercise of the freedoms guaranteed by the first amendments to the Constitution—an organ for censorship and suppression.

Better Remedy

To the Editor:
To Mrs. Samann, housemother of Gilchrist, I say if a student cannot voice his or her opinion without reprisal on this campus, what will become of freedom of expression which we are trying so hard to cultivate here?

It is my opinion, Mrs. Samann, that it is you who are in the wrong. To clarify this, I might say that perhaps you were negligent in your duty. Negligence to the extent that you didn't realize that a situation such as this existed, or if you did, that nothing was done.

A group of men here at West Shaw have met with the management and discussed our food problems. Questions and complaints were brought out in a mature, democratic manner. It is apparent that this was not done at Gilchrist, hence Miss Turnbull's recent letter to the State News and that of her friends.

Perhaps, Mrs. Samann, if you had taken stock of your position, met with the women of Gilchrist, and found a peaceable solution, it would have been for the benefit of all.

Edward Jewett

Food Solution

To the Editor:
We ask: Did Miss Turnbull attempt to remedy the food situation first through the proper channels, i.e. house council, R.A., etc., before writing her letter to the editor? If constructive action was attempted and no results obtained, Miss Turnbull's complaint is justified. If this was not done, however, Mrs. Samann's position is justified.

Shaw Hall, two years ago, had a similar problem. The R.A.'s, when confronted with complaints on food, organized a meeting between the dietary department and interested students to discuss the problem.

This meeting, which began as a complaint session, developed into a constructive one. The dietitians gained an understanding of the students' complaints on certain foods and the students gained an understanding of the dietitians' problems in the preparation of food.

This is not necessarily a solution for Gilchrist Hall. The underlying need seems to be better communication between students and dorm management. Nancy Aylsworth

Use Library

To the Editor:
There is a way that some of you disgruntled individuals could find library material, but it would take a few minutes of your precious time.

1. Read the booklets placed for your convenience on racks just inside the front door, explaining how to find materials, rooms, floors, and library services.

2. Read all charts in the main lobby, at each desk in each room, and the signs at the end of library stacks.

3. Recognize the function of a dash. When looking for books with the top line of the call number, PT for example, note that on the location chart PN-6000—PZ includes the PT's.

Granted there are legitimate difficulties at the library: there is uncataloged material, lost, misplaced, or stolen books; and it is hard to use the library efficiently the first time around. However, much of the problem could be solved if the majority of students, particularly undergraduates, would follow the above suggestions and practice using the library before the day an assignment is due.

No wonder students who ask questions that they could easily answer themselves by being more alert, find librarians and student assistants out of patience.

Can't be Duped?

To the Editor:
Mr. Peter Werbe seems to think that his mind is so mature he could not possibly be "duped." For his information the really mature mind is always ready to admit that there is always someone more intelligent than he and possibly more clever.

The persons who think they are above the human mind which can be duped and make mistakes are either idiots or fools. How many "mature" minds reading this now can say with honesty that they have never been "taken" in a deal, be it automobile or love?

Aid to Athletes

To the Editor:
In reference to your editorial on athletic scholarships handed out with no regard to academic ability, I think there is more to the question than meets the eye.

Before we can condemn the giving of scholarships to men with well developed muscles, we must ask ourselves what the purpose of intercollegiate athletics is at MSU. Are we trying to promote good sportsmanship and the spirit of fair play and ingrain them into our youth, or are we trying to build up our name and reputation and trying to earn a little "spending money" on the side by consistently coming up with winning teams?

If we were merely trying to promote good sportsmanship and are not interested in whether we won or lost, but "how we played the game," we wouldn't have athletics on the intercollegiate scale. We should do away with athletic scholarships and use the money to further our academic standing by recruiting scholars. The occasional athlete who comes along can, instead of being an intercollegiate star, become an intramural star and still learn good sportsmanship and fair play.

If, on the other hand, we are competing in intercollegiate athletics for the sole purpose of raising money and building a reputation, we should give out far more athletic scholarships than we already do. We should automatically pass athletes in their school work and then go out and watch them win for good old MSU.

By doing this we would assure sell-out crowds to our athletic events and also help to enhance the bank accounts of the hot dog vendors of Spartan stadium, not to mention the reputation we would get from being first in every "amateur" sport in the nation.

I strongly feel that the administration should take a definite stand on this matter, for it is either black or white. This is their obligation to the students and faculty who make up the university and to the residents of the state who support the university.

100,000 More Workers

skyrocketing Labor Force May Add to Unemployment Woe

By LANE WICK News Staff Writer

Second of Three Parts

Goldberg, U.S. secretary of labor, has called the employment situation "very grave."

Michigan will have a work force of 3,700,000 in 1970, or about 600,000 more than we now have.

According to Dr. John F. Thaden, associate professor of sociology and anthropology, Michigan's population in 1970 will be about 9,300,000, which would be a net increase of a million and a half since 1960.

WE EXPECT

A tremendous increase in Michigan's population in the 1960's, says Thaden, but he warns that many people now living here will only stay if our economic climate is healthy.

Night Staff

News editor, Marcia Van Ness; assistant, Bill Myers; copy editor, Vic Rauch; staff, Sally Derickson, Gerry Hinkley, Mark Cragin, Lane Wick, Rose Marie Possnoli, Betty Moore, David Ray, Joe Harris, Sue Chevalier; assistant city editor, Don Pender; photographer, Don Will; night sports editor, Curt Rundell.

er's life span will help inflate the work force. By 1970 the 45-64 age group will comprise more than a third of the available work force, compared with only 30.9 per cent in 1950.

According to the MESC, a large addition to the labor force of Michigan will pose one of the most pressing problems facing our economy in the 60's. More persons will be entering the labor market during this decade than at any other time in history.

Michigan's population is also expected to rise at a faster rate than the rest of the country, causing a major shift in labor market demand.

According to Dr. John F. Thaden, associate professor of sociology and anthropology, Michigan's population in 1970 will be about 9,300,000, which would be a net increase of a million and a half since 1960.

Thaden emphasizes that our current unemployment since the '58 recession has driven thousands of people from Michigan. Many of these people come to Michigan a few years ago from our neighboring southern states, and now have returned to their home states to look for new jobs.

According to Thaden the migration into Michigan in the past decade has been considerably less than before. He sees a employment as the direct cause of this decline, and high wages as a contributing factor to automation.

"High wages are driving Michigan manufacturers to automation," says Thaden. "Because machines usually are cheaper in the long run. However, this is only one of many factors that has led to our present situation."

"A POSSIBLE solution for our problem is to keep young people in school and off the unskilled labor market," he said. "We've got to keep these kids in school for their own good and for the good of Michigan. Those that quit high school, or even college, will be the last to be hired and the first fired. They should learn some trade, some skill," says Thaden.

"There is a lot of room at the top in the skilled labor market and professional fields," maintains Thaden, "but the unskilled market is glutted, and for this reason we've got to keep these kids in school. This is why we must attack the problem of our present overworked school system with such vigor."

And so, with the swelling of the labor force and a good probability of continued unemployment, Michigan may have little to look forward to in the 60's. Automation, dependency on the auto industry, transfer of national defense needs, and the decline of farm employment will only add to our woes. More education seems to be the one answer, our opinion is shared.

MEANWHILE, every day the lines of the unemployed grow longer. Detroit, Flint, and Grand Rapids are on the list of the nation's most depressed areas. More Michigan cities may soon be added.

Now, at the start of a new decade, the workers wonder what they can do. The answers aren't easy to come by, but the opinions are legion.

New additions to the family!

The two new telephones in the bassinet are the result of a perfect marriage of research and design. They illustrate the way Gen Tel constantly strives to make the telephone an ever more convenient and helpful service of modern life.

The Starlite* phone in the foreground is a new "compact" - only half the size of a standard desk phone. Its PANELESCENT* (electroluminescent) dial glows in the dark for easy dialing, and can be turned up to serve as a night light.

The Space-Maker* phone can be hung anywhere - on posts and in tight corners. Both dial and handset can be adjusted to fit the space and the convenience of the user.

These new and modern phones for the home were developed by our subsidiary, Automatic Electric, largest supplier of telephone equipment to America's independent telephone industry.

They are but two examples of how General Telephone & Electronics works to improve equipment and advance communications for the home, for industry and national defense - both here and abroad.

Appears Here Tonight
Igor Gorin Sings From His Heart

Ardent fan of American western music and heroes, defender of the oft-criticized musical tastes of Americans, composer and celebrated baritone—all are Igor Gorin, who appears in the Lecture-Concert series tonight.

Gorin's recital begins at 8:15 p.m. in the auditorium.

Born in the Ukraine, Gorin from his earliest years knew his voice would be his ticket to a life better than the one of poverty and eventual orphanhood into which he had been born. He dreamed of getting to America and worked relentlessly toward that end.

When he was 17, tuberculosis struck, but his own will and the faith of those around him seemed to pull him through the siege, and he was left with a spiritual quality and humbleness that are still apparent in his artistry.

Gorin's unlimited love of western heritage found an outlet in 1951 when he was named to portray Brigham Young in "All Faces West," a music-drama of the westward trek of the Mormons. He has appeared in this role for ten summers in Ogden, Utah.

Other selections are the recitative and aria, Dio de Gluda, from Verdi's "Nabucco"; "To the Little Star" and "Prayer at Bed Time," by Mussorgsky; "The Merry Fiddler," arranged by Revutzki; "The Minor Bird," by Dougherty; "The Jolly Carter," a folk song from Suffolk ar-

Junior Awards Being Offered

Any junior class member who has been active in living units, campus activities, athletics, religious groups, and other organizations while maintaining good scholarship can petition for the annual Junior award, according to Judy Baker, chairman of junior awards.

Selection will be made by members of Mortar Board, Excalibur, AUSG, Blue Key and the faculty.

Petitions have been sent to the president of each living unit and off campus and are available in the Union concourse.

Completed petitions may be submitted by putting them in the box in the Union concourse.

Prof Petrides Still Hospitalized

Prof. George A. Petrides, fish and wildlife professor remains in Clare General hospital after being involved in a two-car head-on collision three miles south of Harrison Saturday.

Mt. Pleasant State police said Petrides suffered a fractured left leg and elbow when another driver swerved over into his path.

Sokolsky to Present

Anatole Sokolsky, foreign languages instructor and assistant advisor of the Russian Club, will discuss Russian music at the club's meeting at 7 p.m. tonight in 21 Union.

Some of the composers Sokolsky will discuss include Tchaikovsky, Borodin, Rimsky-Korsakov, and Mussorgsky.

The public is invited to attend.

I Hear You Knocking
Mad Scramble to Go to College Takes Fun Out of High School

DETROIT. (AP) — The mad scramble to go to college has taken the fun out of high school, and it's driving parents batty—but it has its good points, too, an educator said Tuesday.

Edwin B. Keim, high school principal from Wyncote, Pa., said there has been much weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth about the hordes of students pounding at the doors of already crowded colleges and universities.

Generally overlooked, he told the National Association of Secondary School Principals, are all the good things this has meant for education.

"TEACHERS are taking a new and refreshing look at content and methods," Keim said. "The pace in the classroom has quickened. Education has acquired a new importance and good teaching has become a valued service."

It is true, Keim said, that "the high school student today is too concerned with grades and class rank. He is less relaxed. He is probably not enjoying his high school years as much as they were enjoyed by those of us who were in high school 25 years ago."

On the other hand, he said, "The high school student today is more completely motivated because of the college problem. He desires to excel. Mastery of subject matter is an urgent concern."

Keim said parents are the ones who have suffered most from the college admission scramble.

"THE PARENT of the modern high school student spends his day in frustration and his nights in quiet dread," Keim said. "The parent must encourage, bribe, and threaten his child to maximum achievement, and at the same time maintain the image of a kind and loving father."

But this isn't altogether bad, either, he said.

"Education has taken on a new importance in many homes. The parents are seeking a closer partnership with the school. The advice of the counselor is being more frequently sought and more readily accepted."

Eugene S. Wilson, dean of admission at Amherst College, said a major factor in the college crush is "the problem of too many unqualified students entering our four-year colleges and universities."

"OUR SOCIETY has so inflated the value of a college degree—most often in economic and social terms—that students, regardless of interest or qualification, believe their whole future depends on their obtaining a college degree," Wilson said.

Open discussion of this problem is almost impossible, he said, "for emotions rise and words like 'unpatriotic,' 'under-educational,' and 'intellectual snobbery' flash through the debate."

But the problem is a real one, Wilson added, because more than 50 per cent of all entering students fail to finish the college education.

C. E. Manion To Lecture

Clarence E. Manion, former Dean of the Notre Dame Law School, will be the second speaker in the 1960-61 lecture series sponsored by the MSU Conservative Club. He will speak on "Constitutional Law and Civil Rights" in 31 Union, Thursday at 5 p.m.

Manion is the founder of the Manion Forum network, which includes 141 radio stations in 40 states. For six years, it has been the only network in the world dedicated solely to Conservative, anti-Socialist thought and action.

The Manion Forum stands for anti-trust legislation governing unions, right-to-work laws, repeal of the Sixteenth Amendment, and restoration of states' rights as provided in the Constitution.

feels that American people seek and are willing to pay for the best in music. He points out that Americans sponsor their own culture, whereas it is sponsored by the state in the "Old World."

Gorin, who received his training at the Conservatory of Vienna, has appeared not only in every state of the union but also in every province of Canada and in Cuba, Australia and New Zealand. He has performed the leading baritone roles of "Faust," "Pagliacci" and "The Barber of Seville."

The musician's program will consist of the recitative and aria Invocazione di Orfeo, from "Euridice," by Peri, Monteverdi's "Maladetta sia l'aspetto", Don-

New Houston AFL Club Starts Scouting Players

HOUSTON, TEX. (AP)—Gabo Bobby Mattick and Paul Florence, two scouts who worked under Paul when he was general manager of the Cincinnati Reds, are key men in Paul's plan.

There has been speculation the period or anything like it. Moore's last defense was on Aug. 12, 1959, when he knocked out Canada's Yvon Durelle in the third round.

Seniors Of The Week

Laboratory Technician, Debater Share This Weeks Honor

Lois Alexander and Barry Boughton share the senior spotlight this week.

Lois, a medical technology major from Norway, Mich., will not be finished with her education when she graduates in June. After graduation she will go to California for a year's internship at a hospital.

A member of Spartan Roundtable and President's council, Lois has participated in many dormitory activities.

In addition to being a resident assistant in South Campbell, Lois has been standard chairman, vice president and president of the dorm.

In recognition of her dorm activities, Lois was elected to membership in Circle honorary. She was tapped into Tower Guard, freshman women's honor society and Alpha Lambda Delta, scholarship honorary.

Lois' summers have been spent working as a life guard, as a lab technician for a doctor and traveling. She likes swimming, water skiing and ice skating as her hobbies.

BARRY BOUGHTON of Lansing has been a varsity debater since his freshman year. He received an award as the outstanding debater at MSU in 1958-59.

Barry is president of Delta Sigma Rho, speech honorary, and has won several awards in

Players Plan Detroit Trip

The MSU Players and University Theatre have announced they are sponsoring a field trip to see "The Sound of Music" at the Riviera theatre in Detroit on Saturday, April 1.

The deadline for bus reservations is March 1. If interested purchase a field trip card for five dollars at the administration building. Then take this receipt to room 149 (speech office) in the auditorium and exchange it for a bus ticket.

The trip is limited to 80 students.

Hold Debate On Wage Law

Les Gourmet and the Hotel Association are jointly sponsoring a debate at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Kellogg auditorium concerning the proposed minimum wage legislation and its effects on the service industry.

Mr. Rex Potter, manager of the MSU Chamber of Commerce government affairs department, will represent management while labor will be represented by Mr. Albert Killackey, state representative of all the hotel and restaurant employees and the Bartenders International Union.

"The proposed minimum wage legislation, now before Congress, is of concern to everyone planning to enter the management field," says Hap Joy, Arlington, Va., junior, and member of Les Gourmet.

An informal question and answer period will follow the debate.

Sprains Ankle

Associate professor of math Isabel Blith, suffered a sprained ankle Monday afternoon when she fell on the steps of the Physics-Math building.

She was treated at Olin Health center and released.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board in a St. Valentine's day ruling held unanimously Tuesday that a truck driver was properly fired for stealing a kiss from a co-worker.

The board ruled unanimously that the kiss stolen from a dairy company office worker, Mrs. Jeanette Porter, was the reason driver Lee Roy Pennington was fired by the Borden-Sancken co.

The board reversed its trial examiner, Thomas A. Reed, who had recommended the NLRB require the firm to reinstate Pennington on the ground his discharge was really due to organizing activities for the Teamsters Union.

But stealing a kiss, the board ruled, isn't a protected union function.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—"Old Hickory" has ended eight years of exile in the White House basement and returned to a place of honor in the Cabinet room.

The portrait of Andrew Jackson, in the uniform of a general, now shares equal prominence with one of Thomas Jefferson, another patron saint of the Democratic party.

While Franklin Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman occupied the White House, the Jackson portrait had the same place of honor or it now holds. It was exiled to the basement during the Eisenhower administration.

Monday Tops Old Pizza Week Sales

Frosh-Soph council sold more pizzas during the first night of Pizza week than last year's council sold during all three days of its pizza week, according to John Mertz, finance chairman of Pizza week.

"We have been too busy to total up our receipts but it is clear that we will break the previous record," said Mertz. "We are setting up a dorm representative delivery system to speed up deliveries."

Because of the delivery rush, organizations that plan to order pizza for dinner or pizza parties are advised to phone in their orders in the afternoon and call again about an hour before delivery is desired.

TODAY IS the last day the special offer of a medium size, one-item pizza for $1 instead of the regular price of $1.45 will be available.

Delivery service is available from 4 p.m. to 1 a.m. The regular delivery fee of 25 cents per pizza gold and on all items delivered.

"I'VE GOT NEWS FOR YOU"
 I know all of you have important things to do in the morning — like getting down to breakfast before your roommate eats all the marmalade — so you really cannot be blamed for not keeping up with all the news in the morning papers. In today's column, therefore, I have prepared a run-up of news highlights from campuses the country over.

SOUTHERN RESERVE UNIVERSITY
 Dr. Willard Hale Sigafos, head of the department of anthropology at Southern Reserve University, and internationally known as an authority on primitive peoples, returned yesterday from a four-year scientific expedition to the headwaters of the Amazon River. Among the many interesting mementos of his journey is his own head, shrunk to the size of a kumquat. He refused to reveal how his head shrinking was accomplished. "That's for me to know and you to find out," he said with a tny, but saucy grin.

NORTHERN RESERVE UNIVERSITY
 Dr. Mandrill Gibson, head of the department of zoology at Northern Reserve University, and known to young and old for his work on primates, announced yesterday that he had received a grant of $50,000,000 for a twelve-year study to determine precisely how much fun there is in a barrel of monkeys. Whatever the results of Dr. Gibson's researches, this much is already known: What's more fun than a barrel of monkeys is a pack of Marlboro. There is zest and cheer in every puff, delight in every draw, content and well-being in every fleshy, flavorful cloudlet. And what's more, this merriest of cigarettes comes to you both in soft pack and flip-top box wherever cigarettes are sold at prices that do no violence to the slimmest of purses. So why don't you settle back soon and enjoy Marlboro, the filtered cigarette with the unfiltered taste.

Determine precisely how much fun there is...

EASTERN RESERVE UNIVERSITY
 The annual meeting of the American Philological Institute, held last week at Eastern Reserve University, was enlivened by the reading of two divergent monographs concerning the origins of early Gothic "runes," as letters of primitive alphabets are called.

Dr. Tristram Lathrop Spleen, famed far and wide as the discoverer of the High German Consonant Shift, read a paper in which he traced the origins of the Old Wendish rune "pt" (pronounced "krahtz") to the middle Lettic rune "gr" (pronounced "albert"). On the other hand, Dr. Richard Cumberbund Twonkey, who, as the whole world knows, translated "The Fajama Game" into Middle High Bactrian, contended in his paper that the Old Wendish rune "pt" derives from the Low Erse rune "ml" (pronounced "gr").

Well, sir the discussion grew so heated that Dr. Twonkey finally asked Dr. Spleen if he would like to step into the gymnasium and put on the gloves. Dr. Spleen accepted the challenge promptly, but the contest was never held because there were no gloves in the gymnasium that would fit Dr. Twonkey. (The reader is doubtless finding this hard to believe as Eastern Reserve University is celebrated the length and breadth of the land for the size of its glove collection. However, the reader is asked to remember that Dr. Twonkey has extraordinarily small hands and arms. In fact, he spent the last war working in a small-arms plant, where he received two Navy "E" Awards and was widely hailed as a "manly little chap.")

New from the makers of Marlboro is the king-size unfiltered Philip Morris Commander—made in a brand-new way for a brand-new experience in smoking pleasure. Get aboard.
