First Trouble at Home

Reuther Views U.S. Lag

By SAM MARTINO
State News Staff Writer

ANN ARBOR—Walter Reuther, world known labor leader and president of the United Auto Workers, put aside his labor problems here Sunday and took up the role of a public opinion leader to emphasize the United States' lag in foreign policy.

Reuther, speaking before University of Michigan students and professors, established eight points which he believes U.S. foreign policy should encompass.

But before making his proposals known he voiced dissatisfaction over domestic problems.

INVITED as a guest speaker to discuss "America's Foreign Policy" during a U of M program designed to stimulate discussion on world and domestic problems, Reuther said the U.S. is in trouble first of all at home because of the "tremendous" number of people on the unemployment rolls.

He said the U.S. can't meet the challenge of Russia unless it solves its domestic problems.

Listed as "unfinished business" were plans to "get America back to work" and properly educated.

He said the U.S. is sick because 25 per cent of its working force is unemployed.

His second priority for getting things done at home is to tell legislators to stop talking about education and to do something about it.

A THIRD measure is to end discrimination.

He said it is difficult to explain Little Rock to Africans or natives in India.

"There are no answers. Just excuses," he said.

He suggested increasing means for developing intellectual curiosity and establishing a market for ideas to accomplish some of America's ideals.

Reuther called the U.S. "pregnant with potential destruction."

"IT'S TIME to arouse ourselves from slumbering. Which shall we use—knowledge of destruction or tools for economic abundance to eliminate disease, hunger and poverty?"

Hannah, Andrews Are TV Stars

Pres. John A. Hannah and Stanley Andrews, consultant to the dean of International Studies, of Michigan State university will participate in a television program — "World Agriculture" over WJRT, Flint, from 1 to 2 p.m., Sunday.

He called for America's foreign policy to lean more toward seeking unilateral agreements by working through the UN.

"We can't meet poverty alone. We've got to be realistic and stop piddling around on the outer fringes of the problem. We need to procure leadership through the UN to help others," he said.

He suggested the establishing of regional graneries in Africa, Asia, and Latin America to dole out surpluses to needy countries. The graneries would be operated by the UN.

REUTHER, who is a member of President John F. Kennedy's committee to promote the Peace Corps, said that a similar corps should be founded in the UN.

"Then Germans, Americans, Frenchmen and Italians can work together in seeking a higher standard of living and improvements in poverty stricken countries," he said.

As a world traveler he said that he has noticed U.S. efforts to transform its image onto other nations.

"This must stop," he said. "Foreign peoples should have the values that they choose."

He said if the U.S. is to aid a nation economically it should not seek payment for its loans until the people have a living standard which would provide them the means of returning the loan.

"The U.S. should not criticize a nation for being neutral. We should recognize a neutral nation. People have too many problems of their own to worry about which side they will join," he said.

Seeking disarmament is his final goal. He said that the U.S. would not be unequalled in any challenge if it went to work mobilizing its power in the right direction—toward human and moral improvements instead of militarization.

Fromm III; Cancels Talk For Tonight

Erich Fromm, noted professor of psychology, has cancelled his lecture here tonight due to ill health.

Fromm was scheduled to speak at 7:30 p.m. today on "What Does It Mean To Be a Student Today?"

The psychologist, who is returning to his home in Mexico, has been in Ann Arbor for the last three days for treatment for an unknown ailment.

Fromm will not return to campus this term, according to Dave Hess, assistant director of Honors.

Troubadour Sings Folk Songs Relate Stories of Rural Life

By VIC RAUCH
State News Staff Writer

Richard Dyer-Bennett is not a "folk singer." A more accurate description would be "troubadour."

He sang and talked informally with 30 students Monday morning in an entertaining and enlightening atmosphere.

"A true folk singer comes from the rural area where folk singing is part of tradition," he said. This is where people sing while they work, sing "to keep the kids pacified," put the baby to sleep, and for special occasions, he said.

The people don't know where the songs came from. They've just been passed on orally from generation to generation.

Invasion Blame on JFK Only

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A high ranking administration official said Monday responsibility for supporting last week's Cuban invasion effort rests solely with the Kennedy administration.

This official said President Kennedy has no intention or desire to share with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower the responsibility for whatever decisions were made to back the anti-Castro forces.

A STATEMENT by Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall that the plan was conceived over a year ago under Eisenhower's direction brought a protest from Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Dirksen said Kennedy ought to discipline Udall for what he said.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he does not think it will do any good "to try to develop scapegoats for the Cuban invasion disaster."

"This is a matter that happened under two presidents," Mansfield said. "We must face up to our responsibilities, live in the present and keep our shirts on."

THE HIGH administration official, who asked to remain anonymous, said Eisenhower was not consulted on the decisions at any time until Kennedy met with him last Saturday at Camp David, Md.

On the Senate floor, Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., voiced "deep regret" over what he said was the administration's failure to consult Congress on its "ill-fated decision to invade Cuba by means of Cuban exiles."

Morse said that if the administration had consulted in advance with the Senate Foreign Relations Latin Affairs Subcommittee on which he is chairman, the "mistake might not have been made."

HUAC Chairman To Speak

Rep. Francis E. Walter, D-Pa., chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee, will speak tonight at 8:15 at the State Capitol bldg.

Walter, whose committee prepared the controversial film, "Operation Abolition," will address a joint meeting of the Michigan House of Representatives and Senate in the House chamber.

Walter will discuss the film, its background and implications.

Alert Reserves to Duty

PARIS, (AP)—The mutinous generals in Algeria were reported jolted by opposition from the air force and navy Monday. In France, the government girded for a showdown by turning the nation into an armed camp and again closing all air fields to bar any airborne invasion.

Reservists were alerted for a call to duty in France, Paris and other major cities were guarded by tanks and reinforced security units as the government warned of a possible attack by parachute troops from Algeria. Ten thousand security troops were on duty in Paris alone.

Ten million French workers rallied to the support of President Charles De Gaulle with a one-hour solidarity strike that spread across the nation.

Students and workers shouting "shoot the generals" demonstrated in Paris, Toulon, Caen, Limoges, St. Etienne and elsewhere.

Jet fighters were alerted to shoot down any unauthorized planes appearing in French skies.

REPORTS reaching Paris told of serious air force and naval opposition to the Junta. The air force said nine planes from Algeria flew in to join loyal units at an unnamed French air base. Five of the planes were jets.

Junta paratroopers surrounded Algiers' white house airport after navy and air force units demonstrated against the rebellious generals, said other reports reaching Paris.

Refusal of the air force in Algeria to go along with the uprising could be a serious blow to Junta leader Gen. Maurice Challe, himself an air force officer.

In a broadcast from Algiers, Challe declared "civil war will never break out for the French army in France." He repeated his claims that forces loyal to the Junta controlled all Algeria.

CHALLE'S Junta seized power in a bloodless coup Saturday, declaring that Algeria must remain forever French. Challe long has been a foe of De Gaulle's policy of self-determination for the big North African territory.

He claimed the government's warnings of a paratroop invasion was an effort to spread panic.

The government nevertheless repeated its call of the night before for vigilance against an airborne attack on France.

Youngest Legislator To Speak

Rep. Russell H. Strange, the youngest member of the Michigan State Legislature will speak at a Young Republicans meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in 35 Union.

Strange is the chairman of the Elections committee and has served on the General Taxation, and Rules and Resolutions committee.

He is now serving his third term in the legislature. He was elected at the age of 22—shortly after his graduation from Central Michigan University.

Strange is the representative from Isabella and Claire counties.

Grinter Receives Award

Donald W. Grinter, Jackson senior, has been awarded a Detroit Edison Company scholarship for spring term.

Grinter is a marketing major in the College of Business and Public Service.

He was selected for this honor in recognition of his scholastic ability, character and personality, citizenship, and participation in extra-curricular activities at Michigan State University.

The scholarship is awarded each year by Detroit Edison Company to a qualified upper-class student, from the state of Michigan, who is majoring in any one of the areas of economics, accounting, or business and personnel administration.

Cleveland Coed Takes Top Post

Annie Ongemach, Cleveland junior, has been elected commander of Angel Flight, auxiliary to the Arnold Air Society, for the coming year.

Other new officers are Patti Coleman, Pittsburgh sophomore, executive officer; Joan Bresto, Detroit sophomore, administrative services officer; Sue Kistler, Long Valley, N.J., sophomore, comptroller and Lynne Ellis, St. Ignace sophomore, information officer.

Mrs. Joey Roberts of United Airlines was speaker at the last meeting.

Hare To Talk On Con-Con

James M. Hare, secretary of state, will speak to the Democrats for Liberal Action Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. in 31 Union on the topic of the forthcoming constitutional convention.

"Con-Con is an important matter for everyone who lives in Michigan and I hope Mr. Hare's speech will help to further clarify the issues involved," said DLA chairman David Winfield.

Requests Truce Meeting

LONDON, (AP)—A long-awaited appeal for a cease-fire in Laos was issued today by Britain and the Soviet Union as a prelude to what is certain to be months of hard bargaining with the Communists on the political future of the divided Southeast Asian kingdom.

The appeal was directed at the torn nation's major warring factions—the Pathet Lao rebels, supported and supplied by Communists, and the Pro-Western government in Vientiane, backed by the United States.

Although the appeal did not ask for a cease-fire immediately, as the West had demanded, it was accompanied by a request for India to call a meeting of a truce commission for Laos. The commission, headed by India, with Canada and Poland as the other two members, scheduled its first meeting in New Delhi Friday.

THE TRUCE commission represented the second step in the Laos peace plan. The third will be a 14-nation conference on a permanent political settlement in Laos, to open in Geneva May 12.

The main sticking point in working out the arrangements was the timing of a cease-fire. The Russians wanted the talking to start before the fighting stopped, a tactic used with success by the Communists in Korea and Indochina.

The British and Soviet governments instructed the truce commission first to discuss its own functions, then to report to London and Moscow for "directions on going to Laos to carry out the work of controlling the cease-fire."

THIS PROCEDURE seems to indicate some time will elapse before the cease-fire is

Prof Wins in Essay Contest

Dr. Claude M. Newlin, professor emeritus of the department of English, has received a $500 award for his essay "Philosophy and Religion in Colonial America" in a contest sponsored by the Philosophical Library.

The essay, actually a documented historical monograph of about 200 pages, was based on material collected in the past ten years on religious thought in the New England Colonies.

Newlin, with the assistance of grants from the All University Research commission, has spent his summer investigating extensive collection of early American publications in libraries in New York City, Boston, Hartford, and Worcester, Mass. in preparation to making a complete study of all phases of New England religious thought in the early period.

He has published articles in many journals and in "The Dictionary of American Biography." He is the author of a principle work on Hugh Henry Brackenridge, "The Life and Writings of Hugh Henry Brackenridge."

Two Different Women Subjects For Two Different Movies

By JIM HUCKA
State News Film Reviewer

The lives of two different women are the subject material for two new screen arrivals at the Michigan and the Lucon.

The picture at the Michigan, "The Sins of Rachel Cade," sounds as if it was originally printed in True Confessions magazine.

This vehicle tells of an extraordinarily pretty young missionary who serves her faith in the Belgian Congo, during World War II. The young missionary, portrayed by Miss Angie Dickinson, considers herself righteous, pious, and virtuous.

She rejects a forty-ish colonel's affections for her and considers him foolish. Then a young doctor in the RAF comes literally out of the clear blue sky when his plane crashes. Naturally, she nurses him back to health and asks him if he would be a doctor to the natives while he recovers.

Here is where the picture takes a big switch. Instead of rejecting this dashing young man, Rachel falls in love with him. After he leaves, Rachel discovers she is pregnant. After this event the picture gets messier and sloppier by the minute. And you will begin to feel trapped in the theater and want to leave before the final, tearjerking ending.

Caught in the midst of all this are its actors who can hardly rise above the sudsy script. Miss Dickinson doesn't seem to have enough experience to handle a role such as this and it seems fairly obvious that the role does need a more experienced actress. Roger Moore, as the young RAF doctor, has a few good humor lines and delivers them well. The best actor in the film, Peter Finch as the aging colonel, does a very good job.

The other new film "Sanctuary" at the Lucon, deals with an entirely different kind of woman.

The woman is Temple Drake, daughter of a governor and a former wholesaler in flesh. As the film opens, we see a judge pronounce a death sentence on Temple's maid who killed Temple's child. In flashbacks, we see how this came to be.

Temple is a wild college girl who, abandoned by her drunken suitor, is raped by a gangster. Temple is attracted to this man and lives in a sporting house just for his pleasure alone. When the gangster is reported slain, Temple goes back to her father and agrees to marry her college boyfriend.

Five years later, Temple comes across the maid who also lived in the "house" and hires her to be her maid so that they can talk about her ex-lover and her "sanctuary" of sin and pleasure. The gangster reappears and seduces Temple to come with him. Temple then has to make a choice between her young son or her lover. This is where the maid steps in and murders her child and mumbles something about salvation.

Portraying the difficult role of Temple is Lee Remick. Candy, her gangster lover, is played by Yves Montand, while Bradford Dillman is his competition as Temple's husband. Harry Townes is the maid's legal defense, while the maid is portrayed by folk singer Odette. Actresses Remick and Odette give the best performances in this film. As the maid, Odette underplays the role very convincingly.

"Sanctuary" is another repeat of Southern degradation, boosted by fine performances, while "The Sins of Rachel Cade" is unforgivably dull and soapy.

Reports Conservation Department

Hunting Deaths Drop to Record Low, But Accident Rate Rises to New High

The Michigan Conservation department reported that hunting fatalities dropped to a new low, but accidents rose to a record high, during the 1960 deer and small game seasons.

Firearm accidents claimed 11 lives and accounted for all but three of 292 woundings. The three exceptions were bow and arrow injuries.

Slightly more than 25 percent of all accidents, including three fatalities, were self-inflicted. In more than 33 percent of all accidents, including eight fatalities, the victim was within 10 yards of the fired weapon. In 84 percent of all cases, less than 100 yards separated the gun and victim.

Top Stars Signed For Ann Arbor Productions

Faye Emerson, John Baragrey, Nancy Kelly, Albert Dekker, Larry Parks, Betty Garrett, Donald Cook, Stephen Elliott and Ann Summers have been signed to appear in the 1961 Ann Arbor drama season. Five plays are scheduled, three Broadway comedy hits, a great suspense play and a successful drama by Eugene O'Neill, America's foremost playwright.

The plays are "The Marriage-Go-Round," "The Bad Seed," "A Touch of the Poet," "Send Me No Flowers" and "The Pleasure of His Company." The season will get underway Tuesday, May 16, and extend five weeks through Saturday, June 17.

Faye Emerson and John Baragrey, two of television's most popular performers, will inaugurate the season in "The Marriage-Go-Round," a comedy by Leslie Stevens which ran for two years in New York.

imaginations of an irrepressible hypochondriac. They will open June 6.

Parks is best known for his screen portrayal of Al Jolson in "The Jolson Story" and "Jolson Sings Again." On stage, he toured coast-to-coast as Sakini in "Teahouse of the August Moon." Miss Garrett made her Broadway debut in the revue "Call Me Mister" and subsequently starred in many films. They last appeared together in New York in the musical "Bells Are Ringing."

TRIPPING or falling, careless fence crossing and handling of weapons, and other causes of accidental discharges led to four fatalities and 76 woundings.

Intentional discharges (shooting misjudgements, ricochets, sprayed fine shot, mistaking humans for game) claimed four lives and wounded 182. Mechanical failures triggered eight injuries.

'Elijah' Rated Good

By OLIVE PADGETT
State News Music Critic

The University auditorium was the scene Sunday evening of an exciting performance of Mendelssohn's oratorio "Elijah" by the MSU chorus and orchestra in their annual joint spring concert, under the direction of Prof. Gomer L. Jones.

Mendelssohn completed "Elijah" in 1846, at the age of 37, and the pace at which he drove himself during its completion, while maintaining a full schedule of teaching, administrative duties at the Leipzig Conservatory, and conducting, surely contributed to his untimely death the following year. "Elijah" is probably his greatest work.

Like his other masterworks, it contains wonderful and inspiring lyricism—as in the arias for tenor, "If With All Your Hearts," and contralto, "O Rest in the Lord"—and elegant and seemingly effortless craftsmanship (e.g., the lovely chorus in eight real parts "For He Shall Give His Angels Charge Over Thee" and the masterful counterpoint of the unaccompanied chorus "He That Shall Endure to the End Shall Be Saved").

BUT SELDOM elsewhere does he achieve the profundity of thought and emotion, and the truly inspiring power which overwhelm the listener at certain moments in this highly dramatic work. This oratorio, though tender and even sentimental, is tempered by a truly classical respect for structure, balance and restraint.

The chorus and orchestra were exceptionally well rehearsed by Jones, and performed as though emotionally and artistically keyed up for the occasion. From the unique opening, in which Elijah's recitative precedes the Overture dramatically calling down from heaven the curse of drought upon the People of Israel, to the final chorus with its broad and impressive fugue: "Lord, Our Creator, How Excellent Thy Name is in All the Nations", they displayed good musicianship and balance.

The chorus, whose tone and ability in dynamic contrast are excellent in this year, moved convincingly through a wide range of dramatic mood, achieving a delicacy in such choruses as "He, Watching Over Israel" and "He That Shall Endure" which was in considerable contrast to the vigorously effective rendition of more climactic sections.

IN THE PLAY Miss Emerson will be seen as the Dean of Women at a small mid-western college and Baragrey will portray her professor husband. Their academic household is invaded by a statuesque girl from Sweden bent on "borrowing" the professor as the father of her "perfect" child.

"The Bad Seed" will bring Nancy Kelly to Ann Arbor to recreate the role which won her Broadway's coveted "Tony" award. She also starred in the film version of Maxwell Anderson's suspense play, for which she won an Academy Award nomination.

Miss Kelly portrays a mother who comes to realize that her young daughter is a murderer. Critic Walter Kerr described the play as "a genuine 24-below, 14 karat shocker." It will open May 23.

Eugene O'Neill's last major drama "A Touch of the Poet" will highlight the season's third week, starting May 30. Written by the Nobel prize winning author who is considered the greatest American playwright of the 20th Century, the play received unanimous critical acclaim in New York a season ago.

Albert Dekker will star as Cornelius Melody, a proud soldier whose arrogance brings him into sharp conflict with his rebellious daughter. Dekker starred on Broadway this year in "The Andersonville Trial" and with Jack Lemmon in "Face of a Hero."

LARRY PARKS and Betty Garrett, successful husband and wife team in films and theatre, will share the spotlight in "Send Me No Flowers," a comedy from the current New York season about the zany

Those in the 18-30 age group made up 31 percent of the small game hunting force and caused 36 percent of the accidents. Hunters 31 years and older, representing the remaining 54 percent caused 34 percent of the accidents.

Four hunters were killed and 56 wounded during the firearm and archery deer seasons. Based on license sales which totaled 494,000, including 36,100 bow and arrow licenses, fatalities averaged one per 123,500. The wounding average was one per 8,821 licenses.

Again based on "known age" causes, it is estimated that hunters under 18; making up only eight percent of the deer hunters, caused 36 percent of the accidents. Thirty-one percent of the accidents were caused by hunters in the 18-30 age bracket who represented 27 percent of the licensees.

Hunters 31 years and older, rounding out the other 65 percent, were responsible for 33 percent of the accidents.

The 1959 figures showed one death per 64,002 deer licensees and one injury for every 10,400.

Finishes 1960-61 Season

World Travel Series Ends With Two 'Trips'

Two "trips," one to Scandinavia and one to Italy, this weekend close the 1960-61 World Travel series.

The first program, "Portraits of Scandinavia," with Curtis Nagel as lecturer is Friday. Thayer Soule's "Venice and the Italian Lakes" follows on Saturday. Both film-lectures will be in the University auditorium at 8 p.m.

The Scandinavian travelogue explores the cities and countryside of Denmark, Sweden and Norway. A few stopping-off places in Denmark include the capital city of Copenhagen; Odense, home of Hans Christian Andersen, and Elsinore Castle, setting for Shakespeare's "Hamlet."

STOCKHOLM is a feature of the visit to Sweden. Also included is Gotland, an island in the Baltic.

In Norway, nature takes the spotlight in the form of glaciers, waterfalls, fjords and the midnight sun.

Nagel has long been associated with the film industry. He worked with the Technicolor Co. when it was in its pioneer stages, and he has since produced color films for Paramount, Twentieth Century-Fox and Educational Films. William Moore, also a Technicolor Co. veteran, worked with him on the Scandinavian film.

The Italian adventure first covers the romantic city of Venice and its famous gondola-traversed waterways. Lecturer Thayer Soule presents a "traveler's Venice" (consisting of sidewalk cafes, the Piazza San Marco and the Doge's Palace) and a "Venetian's Venice" (consisting of the problems of living in a city afloat).

The "Italian Lakes" episode, of more scenic interest, takes in Lake Garda, Lake Como, Lake Lugano and Lake Maggiore, all situated at the foot of the Alps.

Soule, a Harvard graduate, has worked with Burton Holmes Travelogues as cameraman, production manager and chief narrator. He estimates that his travels have taken him a million miles. He has toured more than 70 countries.

ARTIST SEYMOUR FOGEL, whose work is now on display at Kresge art center, is shown here posing with one of his paintings which he calls "Invasion".

Seymour Fogel's Work Featured at Art Center

A special showing of the work of Seymour Fogel, visiting artist in residence at this university, will open Sunday, April 23 at the Kresge Art Center.

Charles Meyer, acting head of the art department said that an open house will be held from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. at the art building so that the public may meet the artist.

Fogel is a painter, muralist, lecturer, and teacher. He taught at the university of Texas from 1946 until 1954, when he concentrated on painting.

His work is on exhibit at the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts, the Museum of Fine Arts at Houston, and the Park Gallery in Detroit is sponsoring a one-man showing of his work for the month of April.

Of a number of his murals, Fogel has one hanging in the American National Bank of Austin. Another is in the Social Security Building in Washington, D.C.

The American Federation of Arts in New York has invited Fogel to participate in a year-long show called "Faculty Artists."

The collection can be seen Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday evenings the Gallery is open from 6 to 9, Saturday and Sunday the hours are 2 p.m. until 5 p.m.

Eight-Piano Concert Wed.

The eight-piano ensemble of the Music department will present a unique program in Fairchild theater, Wednesday at 8:15 p.m.

Under the direction of Dr. Silvio Sciolti, internationally known piano pedagogue, the ensemble will perform works of Beethoven, Bach, Mendelssohn and Rachmaninoff.

Soloists will include Alice Faye O'Daniel, heard earlier in the season as soloist with the MSU Symphony, Stanley Potter, who will appear as soloist with the Battle Creek Symphony this month, and Candace Willner, of Arlington Heights, Illinois.

The program will open with an arrangement of the Organ Toccata in C Major of Bach, performed by eight members of the ensemble playing eight grand pianos. Following, Beethoven's Concerto No. 3 in C Minor will be shared by Miss Candace Willner and Stanley Potter, accompanied by seven other members of the ensemble.

Laos Cease-fire Appeal Given

verified. The United States and Britain demanded a cease-fire be observed before its representatives would sit down at the conference table in Geneva.

"Any substantial violation of the cease-fire would put all the arrangements in jeopardy," the British statement said.

Invitations also were sent by London and Moscow to the other 12 nations for the Geneva meeting—France, the United States, Communist China, Communist North Viet Nam, South Viet Nam, Thailand, Cambodia, India, Canada, Poland, Burma and Laos.

This will bring together many of the participants in the 1954 Geneva conference that ended the Indochina war and gave Laos its independence.

AGREEMENT on the cease-fire was expected swiftly by the Vientiane government, which badly wants a truce to stop the steady rebel advances of the past few months. The rebels now control the Central Plateau Des Jars, the narrow waist of Laos and long sections of the country bordering their supply bases in northern Viet Nam.

As for the rebels, Western sources suspect the Soviet Union of stalling on their behalf in recent weeks so that Pathet Lao could capture as much territory as possible before the monsoon season, which begins in May.

THE CEASE-FIRE appeal and the other documents refer to "all military authorities, parties and organizations in Laos." This formula avoids delicate problems arising from the fact that the Western powers and the Communist nations recognize different Laotian governments.

Premier Boum Oum is recognized by the Western powers as the head of the Laotian government in Vientiane. The Communist countries regard Prince Souvanna Phouma as the legitimate head of the Laotian government. He classes himself as a neutralist.

The text of the cease-fire appeal:

THE CO-CHAIRMEN of the Geneva conference on Indochina, represented by the governments of the Soviet Union and Great Britain, are following with great concern the situation which has developed in Laos.

If they proceed from the fact that if this situation is not changed the position in Laos may become a serious threat to peace and security in Southeast Asia.

They note at the same time that real conditions exist for normalizing the situation in Laos in accordance with the national interests of the Laotian people, on the basis of the Geneva agreements of 1954.

The co-chairmen have in view the understanding already reached that an international conference to settle the Laotian problem is to be called in Geneva on the 12th day of May of this year.

THE CO-CHAIRMEN call on all military authorities, parties and organizations in Laos to cease fire before the convening of the international conference on Laos, and they call on appropriate representatives to enter into negotiations for concluding an agreement on questions connected with the cease fire.

Mathematicians Needed For Space Exploration

By WILLIAM SMALL, State News Science Editor

Space exploration is creating a great demand for expert mathematicians, according to an authority in the field.

"American universities will produce only 300 PhD mathematicians this year," said Dr. Kaj L. Nielsen, of the Defense Systems Division of General Motors Corp, before the mechanical engineering colloquium last week.

"We could use about 2,000," he said.

He pointed out that mathematicians are needed for design of space vehicles, for launchings and for calculation of trajectories and re-entries.

"Some of this is mathematics that engineers do," he explained, "but a lot is high-powered mathematics that requires a professional mathematician."

Even before rocket construction is started, mathematicians are needed to test designs, he said.

"We can't use trial and error techniques because the cost is too high," Nielsen said. "We have to calculate exact specifications for every part."

He mentioned the responsibility of engineers for designing parts to replace parts which are expected to fail.

"An overall program," he explained, "calls for operations analysis. We use statistical techniques to keep track of programs and to see that every part is at the right place at the right time."

Nielsen cited the Polaris as a good example.

Electronic computers are the big tools in outer space mathematics, he said. The calculations are too involved to do without them.

Nielsen is concerned with feasibility studies of outer space projects scheduled for the years ahead. He is head of the analytical staff of the advanced planning department of GM's Defense System's Division.

380 Pints First Day

Blood Donations Set Record

Donors gave a record of 380 pints of blood in the first day of the Blood Drive, Monday.

Three times as many people as expected turned out and calls had to go out for extra nurses.

More nurses will be on hand today and students will be able to enter and leave within 45 minutes to an hour, according to Capt. Frank Lion of the Army ROTC, the sponsoring unit.

DUFFY DAUGHERTY, Biggie Munn, Col. Thomas Barrett, head of the Air Force ROTC and Lt. Col. Goudreau, acting head of the Army ROTC in

Col. Merton E. Munson's absence, were on hand to officially open the blood drive.

Many off-campus living units held pre-rallies Monday and had high rates of donor participation for the first day, but none are close to the 100 per cent required to gain the first place trophy, according to Eddie Hecht, off-campus competition chairman.

One of the reasons for intense competition between living units this year is that trophies have been donated by local merchants. Over $100 has been spent on these plaques and they will be inscribed with the winner's name.

Donations may be credited to the Army or Air Force ROTC units if one is a cadet and to one's own living unit. To donate to the off-campus living units a person must be an active or a pledge.

The doors will open at 8 a.m. today and will close at 4 p.m. Some fraternities have outdistanced the other competing groups in the first day of competition.

Zeta Beta Tau, Phi Sigma Kappa and Delta Upsilon all have over 50 per cent. Farnhouse, Alpha Sigma, Kappa Sigma and AGR were close behind.

OF THE sororities, Delta Zeta, AXO; Alpha Xi Delta, Phi Mu and Sigma Kappa were all close for first place. Elsworth House, Alpha Kappa Psi and Phi Mu Alpha led in the race for Co-ops and professional fraternities. W. Shaw and Emmons were the only standouts for the men's dorms and the women's dorms remained equal.

Foreign Newspapers View Cuban Revolt

By MORT BUTZEN, State News Staff Writer

Did you ever wonder what foreign newspapers write in their editorial columns about American policies? Here are some examples about the situation in Cuba.

The London, England, "Times" of April 17, after quoting President Kennedy's April third statement of no intervention by American armed forces in Cuba said:

"The American administration hopes that Castro will be undone by the same technique that brought him to power. This would mean guerrilla action against Castro in Cuba which would succeed because of the rejection of the regime by thousands of civilians behind the lines."

"This is a reasonable conclusion," the "Times" added. It said that the United States is more concerned about the source of infection that Cuba represents for Latin America than the military consequence of a hostile base off the coast of Florida.

"Latin American opinion, apart from anything else, rules out direct intervention," the "Times" said. "The boundary between moral and active support of the Cuban exiles' movement is harder to define."

The "Times" continued that Castro and the Russians insist that no such barrier exists, but the Russians would be in no hurry to fulfill their offers of "any help" to Castro.

"The Cuban situation is still, on the available evidence," the "Times" concluded, "an inter-American one, and it is on that basis that the United Nations should treat it."

The April 13 edition of the "Manchester Guardian" weekly said that since President Kennedy has been in office he has restored much lost American prestige in the uncommitted world.

But, it added, all of this could go to waste if a projected invasion of Cuba was launched from American soil and aided by the CIA.

"American intervention against Cuba would be as wrong-morally and physically as Britain's intervention against Egypt in 1956," the "Guardian" said.

"In the United States the two situations doubtless seem different. In the rest of the world they look ominously alike," it added.

The "Guardian" said that American intervention would create a feeling of distrust throughout the world. It said that the President knows this and has no intention of using American forces.

"But, if an invasion of Cuba is launched from American or even Guatemalan soil it would be universally attributed to an American plot," according to the "Guardian."

It added that no one would believe that a band of Cuban exiles could assemble a force of sufficient size and equipment without the backing of the American government.

The "Guardian" said that it would be important to see the effect on world opinion of an invasion launched from the United States.

"For if it is right for America to allow Cuban exiles to invade Cuba, then it would be equally right for the Soviet Union to allow Lummunist exiles to organize an airlift to the Congo, or for the Chinese government to allow Formosan exiles to invade Formosa," the "Guardian" said.

"Does President Kennedy really want to set such a precedent?" it asked. On the other hand, the Karachi, Pakistan "Dawn" of April 16 did not specifically mention Cuba in a discussion of American policy but it did commend President Kennedy for "energetic leadership."

The first winter weather observations were made on Mt. Washington, N.H., in 1870.

Tigers Defeat Yankees, 4-3

The Same Old Story: Mr. Lary

DETROIT (AP)—Yankee-killer Frank Lary pitched the Detroit Tigers to their eighth straight victory yesterday, beating New York 4-3. The winning streak is Detroit's longest since 1949 when the Tigers won 10 in a row.

The sturdy righthander ran his lifetime mark against the Yankees to 24-8 with a neat seven-hitter. Rookie Steve Boros and Norm Cash provided the punch for Lary's third straight triumph. Boros hitting safely three times and driving in two runs, and Cash pulling the Tigers in front with a fourth inning home run.

The Yankees pounced on Lary for two runs in the first inning with the help of an error by Tiger left fielder Rocky Colavito. Starting pitcher Bob Turley singled in the second, but Lary did not allow another hit until the seventh when Bill Skowron led off with his second home run of the season and narrowed Detroit's margin to one run.

Turley, lifted in the fifth inning when the Tigers scored their fourth run, suffered his first defeat after two victories. Lary, meanwhile, rolled home with his third straight complete-game success.

After Skowron's home run, Deron Johnson and Bobby Richardson singled. But Lary got pinch hitter Jesse Gonder to hit into a double play, then retired Tony Kubek on a soft fly to right field.

Lary finished with a flourish, getting Skowron and pinch hitter John Blanchard on strikes in the ninth inning. They were his only strikeouts. Singles by Roger Maris, Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra along with Colavito's error produced the Yankee runs in the first. The Tigers got the runs back quickly in the bottom of the inning on two walks and doubles by Boros and Billy Bruton.

Cash socked his home run into the upper deck in right field in the fourth and Boros drove in Detroit's final run with a fifth inning single that scored Kaline, who had doubled.

WAYNE FONTES hustled but it was to no avail as he was tossed out by a step early in the first game of the doubleheader against Minnesota. The Gophers won them both, 5-3 and 3-0, ending an 11 game winning streak for State. (State News Photo by Art Wieland)

To Challenge Varsity

Spartan Old Timers Still Young Enough

Some of the greatest Michigan State football stars of recent history have sent early acceptances to play the Spartan varsity in the 5th annual Old Timers Game in Spartan Stadium Saturday, May 13.

Dan Currie, Dorne Dibble, Don McAuliffe, Larry Fowler, Pat Burke, Dave-Kaiser, Pat Wilson, Gary Love, Evan Sloan, Jesse Thomas—these are but a few of the former Spartan luminaries who plan to be back for the gala weekend.

Others already checked in include a group of players from last year's fine club which won six, lost two and tied one. Among these are Co-captain Fred Boylen, Mickey Walker, Ike Grimley and Oscar Hahn.

"This group alone would give the varsity a battle," commented alumnus Ed Klewicki, general chairman of the Old Timers Game, "but we expected to have about twice as many by the time the club is complete."

Tickets at $1 general admission for adults and $.50 for students now are on sale at the Athletic Ticket Office, Jenison Gymnasium. Mail orders will be accepted.

Two Reasons For Success

DETROIT (AP)—Manager Bob Scheffing says the formula for the Detroit Tigers' early success is simple: good hitting and good pitching.

And it doesn't matter that the Tigers got into first place largely on their ability to beat the Los Angeles Angels. The victories over Los Angeles count just as much as those over the New York Yankees, and the fans love it.

There were 25,466 of the faithful on hand Sunday and the Tigers rewarded them with a pair of close victories, 3-1 and 3-2.

The idea that Scheffing may have this bunch of Tigers operating with a much more serious and mature approach to baseball was evidenced by their relatively calm acceptance of the twin victories.

"We left Florida a well-conditioned baseball team," he said. "Sure, we had some question marks, and all our problems aren't solved by my means. But I knew when we broke camp we were capable of playing pretty good baseball—and we're playing it."

Reed Elected Athletic Boss Of Big Ten

CHICAGO (AP)—William Reynolds Reed yesterday was given a five-year contract at an annual salary of about $20,000 as new athletic commissioner of the Big Ten.

"He was elected unanimously and enthusiastically," said Herman Wells, Indiana University President and Chairman of the Council of Ten (school presidents).

"The Council of Ten acted on a recommendation of faculty representatives. Only one man was considered, and that was Reed."

Reed, 45, has been assistant commissioner since 1951. He succeeds retiring K. L. (Tug) Wilson, effective July 1.

Wilson, commissioner since the death in 1944 of Major John L. Griffith, reached the age of 65 March 27. His current five-year contract expires May 1.

The conference's presidents included, in a tribute to Wilson, provisions for retirement compensation and voted him full pay for one year beginning July 1.

"The conference, in accordance with the prevailing practices of its members, has an age of 65 retirement policy," said Wells.

"The council wishes to pay its special respects to Wilson. He has been a loyal and faithful servant of the conference and its distinguished representative. The conference is proud of the stature he enjoys as a foremost leader in the field of athletics and is grateful for the credit he has reflected upon the Big Ten."

Wilson is a member of the President's Council on Youth Fitness and since 1953 has been President of the United States Olympic Assn.

Reed is a 1936 Michigan graduate. He organized the Conference Service Bureau under Griffith in 1939, served in the naval reserve from 1942 through 1945 and then returned to the Big Ten. In 1946 he organized the first central office of the NCAA.

Reed resigned to become administrative assistant to U.S. Senator Homer Ferguson of Michigan in 1947, returning to the conference as assistant commissioner in 1951. He is married and has three daughters.

Golfers Win; Bud Badger Records a 71

Paced by Buddy Badger's even par 71, MSU's Golf team defeated Hillsdale in the rain Saturday, 13-5.

Despite the steady down pour, Badger managed to pick up four birdies to offset his four boggies and gain medalist honors for the day.

Gene Hunt and C.A. Smith, team captain, also picked up the maximum of three points apiece in their matches. Hunt had a 73 while Smith's 85 was considerably above his average but good enough to win. Tad Schmidt and Larry McMillan added two points apiece to the winning cause.

Hillsdale picked up three points when Anderson defeated State's Marty Kleva 76-79. Ruokolainen and Ouson picked up one point apiece for the losers.

Rain Halts Game With U of D Titans

Michigan State's Baseball team practiced yesterday but they were supposed to play the University of Detroit.

Nobody got his signals crossed. It was just a question whether the weather man would cooperate or not. He didn't and the Titan field got all wet. So the game was postponed until May 30, Declaration Day.

Larry Jackson Ready

St. Louis (AP)—The wires were removed from Larry Jackson's jaw and the big right-hander should be able to pitch for the St. Louis Cardinals again whenever he's needed.

The 29-year-old Jackson, has been in drydock with a fractured jaw since March 27 when he was struck on the face by a fragment of Duke Snider's broken bat.

A duplicate of the H. M. S. Bounty, built for a current movie, contains a nail from the original vessel.

A ROBE BY ANY OTHER NAME

As Commencement Day draws near, the question on everyone's lips is: "How did the different disciplines come to be marked by academic robes with hoods of different colors?" Everybody—but everybody—is asking it. I mean I haven't been able to walk ten feet on any campus in America without somebody grab my elbow and say, "How did the different disciplines come to be marked by academic robes with hoods of different colors, hey?" This, I must say, is not the usual question asked by colleagues who grab my elbow. Usually they say, "Hey, Shorty, got a Marlboro?" And this is right and proper. After all, are they not colleagues, and, therefore, the nation's leaders in intelligence and discernment? And do not intelligence and discernment demand the tastiest in tobacco flavor and smoking pleasure? And does not Marlboro deliver a flavor that is uniquely mellow, a selectate filter that is easy drawing, a pack that is soft, a box that is hard? You know it!

But I digress. Back to the colored hoods of academic robes. A doctor of philosophy wears blue, a doctor of medicine wears green, a master of arts wears white, a doctor of humanities wears crimson, a master of library science wears lemon yellow. Why? Why, for example, should a master of library science wear lemon yellow?

Well sir, to answer this vexing question, we must go back to March 29, 1844. On that date the first public library in the United States was established by Ulrich Sigafos. All of Mr. Sigafos's neighbors were of course wildly grateful—all, that is, except Wrex Todhunter.

Mr. Todhunter had hated Mr. Sigafos since 1822 when both men had wooed the beautiful Melanie Zitt and Melanie had chosen Mr. Sigafos because she was mad for dancing and Mr. Sigafos knew all the latest steps, like the Missouri Compromise Mambo, the Shay's Rebellion Schottische, and the James K. Polk Polka, while Mr. Todhunter, alas, could not dance at all owing to a wound he had received at the Battle of New Orleans. (He was struck by a falling praline.)

Consumed with jealousy at the success of Mr. Sigafos's library, Mr. Todhunter resolved to open a competing library. This he did, but he lured not a single patron away from Mr. Sigafos. "What has Mr. Sigafos got that I haven't got?" Mr. Todhunter kept asking himself, and finally the answer came to him: books.

So Mr. Todhunter stocked his library with lots of dandy books and soon he was doing more business than his hated rival. But Mr. Sigafos struck back. To regain his clientele, he began serving tea free of charge at his library every afternoon. Thereupon, Mr. Todhunter, not to be outdone, began serving tea with sugar. Thereupon, Mr. Sigafos began serving tea with sugar and cream. Thereupon, Mr. Todhunter began serving tea with sugar and cream and lemon.

This, of course, clinched the victory for Mr. Todhunter because he had the only lemon tree in town—in fact, in the entire state of North Dakota—and since that day lemon yellow has of course been the color on the academic robes of library science.

(Incidentally, the defeated Mr. Sigafos packed up his library and moved to California where, alas, he failed once more. There were, to be sure, plenty of lemons to serve with his tea, but, alas, there was no cream because the cow was not introduced to California until 1931 by John Wayne.)

And today Californians, happy among their Guernseys and Holsteins, are discovering a great new cigarette—the un-filtered, king-size Philip Morris Commander—and so are Americans in all fifty states. Welcome aboard!

Three Major Reforms

Evolution of Russian Alphabet Described to Club Members

"You should be glad you are studying Russian now," Prof. Anatole Sokolsky jokingly told the Russian club in a talk on the origin and development of the Russian alphabet.

The alphabet, he explained in his talk, has been simplified and reformed several times since it was first used.

Sokolsky, at one time, lived in Jaroslav, Russia. His father was a colonel in the Russian Imperial army and during the Russian revolution was forced to flee with his family to Lithuania.

IN LITHUANIA, Sokolsky studied at Vytautas University. Later, his family had to flee again — this time to France. There, he studied at Sorbonne University in Paris. Later he lectured at Freiburg, Germany.

Two brothers, Saint Cyril and Saint Methodius, created the first Slavic alphabet between 860 and 862 A. D., Sokolsky said.

"The Cyrillic alphabet," he said, had caused a lot of religious friction in the 9th century." "The German Catholics were intending to establish Latin in the church of Slavic Moravia. The emperor was asked by Moravia to send missionaries who would use the Slavic language instead of Latin."

Emperor Michael III, assigned this task to Saint Cyril who created the first Slavic alphabet. This alphabet was based on the Greek alphabet which he simplified, and to which he added 19 letters.

UNDER CIRILL, he said, this new alphabet (Cyrillic) appeared in the Eastern Slavic tribes.

"There are different points of view about the time the Cyrillic alphabet appeared in the territory of the Russian Slavic tribes," Sokolsky said. "The traditional view is that it appeared only after the adoption of Christianity (988 A.D.)."

Modern Russian linguists, however, he said, basing their theories on archeological discoveries found in the oldest Russian cities, believe Cyrillic appeared before this time.

There is also a conflict of opinion among experts, said Sokolsky, as to whether the Russian written language was derived from the ancient Bulgarian language.

Sokolsky said, "In the 20th century, academicians have made meticulous examination of the Russian written relics; and on that basis have proved to their satisfaction that this theory is groundless."

THE RUSSIAN alphabet, he said, has gone through three reforms which have simplified it greatly. Peter the Great, in his time, introduced the civil alphabet which replaced the Cyrillic alphabet. After that, he said, Cyrillic was used only in Church books.

The Russian Academy of Science reformed it again between 1735 and 1738. In 1917, the alphabet was again changed and many letters were dropped.

From Six Nations

'Kismet' Cast Chosen

When the University Theatre finished its tryouts for "Kismet," the Arabian Nights musical, one out of every 100 students on campus had displayed his talents in singing, dancing, and acting before production director Dr. John E. Dietrich of the department of speech.

These performers represented over fifteen schools and departments in the university, running the gamut from engineering and English to home economics and animal husbandry. At least ten different states were represented from coast to coast, New York to California. But they didn't come from the confines of the United States. More than five foreign countries were represented, including India and Turkey. From these hundreds of students a final cast of over fifty was selected to bring to life this Oriental extravaganza of Baghdad's bazaars.

Dr. Hans Lampl, the musical director, will be conducting a full orchestra drawn from the University, and Miss Maxine Hayden, the choreographer, will be using a dance group of over 12 students.

Other students have been signing up to work backstage on the construction and running of scenery, costumes and lights. More than 200 students and staff members will be involved in the production.

WEEKENDS

Forest fires menace most on weekends. More people are in the forest—and there's more chance for man-caused fires to flare; more chance for destruction—and terror!

It's a tragic and shameful fact that nine out of ten forest fires are man-caused—too often by the carelessness of a "weekender" who thoughtlessly flips away a smoke or a glowing match.

So when you're in the forest over a weekend—or on a Sunday drive or a picnic—be extra careful. Always follow Smokey Bear's rules:

Break matches—crush smokes—be SURE all fires are out!

Remember—
only YOU can prevent forest fires!
