

10 Candidates Square Off in Monday's Primary

By JAY BLISSICK
State News Editor

Ten candidates will be vying Monday for the vacant seat of the late Representative Ralph A. Young (R-East Lansing) who died Jan. 23.

The primary election—ordered by Governor Swainson—will select candidates to finish Mr. Young's term which expires in November.

The general election will be held March 15.

Photographs of Robert R. Robinson, Jr. and Paul Richards were not available at the time of publication.

All of Ingham county except Lansing and Lansing township is included in the Second District representative post.

MSU is one of the biggest industries in this district according to Jack Breslin, secretary of the University and MSU's representative to the legislature.

Breslin, who has held the representative post for three years, said he is pleased with the excellence of the candidates.

"I am interested because I will have to work closely with the Second District representative," he said.

"Any candidate necessarily will give support to MSU simply because it's so important to the community."

"I personally know most of them and I'm sure no matter who is elected, we'll get along."

"We'll have to work together because an important bit of legislation concerning MSU could hinge on a single vote," Breslin said.

"The representative can also help me a lot," he said.

"People look at MSU in several different ways. Some think of us as a football power and others a farm school."

"There's a need to keep these images in their proper relationship," he said.

East Lansing City Clerk, Miss Mary Slavik said that 7,479 voters are registered for the election.

Since precincts 8, 9 and 10 will not be included, students living in Spartan Village and University Village will not be eligible to vote.

Residents who live north of Mt. Hope and east of Harrison and are registered will be eligible.

This also includes Cherry Lane apartments.

For further information on the candidates see page three.

Turkish Troops Revolt, Seize Capital

ANKARA, Turkey—Army troops, led by young officers disillusioned with the progress of reform legislation attempted to take over strategic centers in a revolt against Premier Ismet Inonu Thursday night. They were opposed by the air force.

There was no immediate report of casualties.

The 78-year-old premier was cut off in the opening of a radio speech he attempted to make over radio Ankara defending his coalition government.

Troops and tanks surrounded the radio station and principal buildings in the capital.

40 Killed in Colombian Train Crash

CALLI, Colombia—A fast freight and a jammed passenger train collided head-on Thursday on a curve northwest of Cali and officials said 40 persons were killed. Four California merchant marine midshipmen were among 67 persons injured.

The heaviest loss of life occurred in the front cars of the passenger train. Apparently all the dead were Colombians.

Railroad officials said three cars on the train, on a 50-mile run to Cali from the Pacific port of Buenaventura, were demolished. Nearby towns sent medical assistance and other aid.

France To Disband Moslem Units

ALGIERS—French headquarters for Algeria announced Thursday plans to demobilize 140,000 Algerian Moslems wearing the French uniform.

The supreme commander in Algeria, Gen. Charles Allieret, vowed that "legitimate interests" of Moslems who have served France will be guaranteed. Bonuses, high retirement pensions, the possibility of reenlistment in the French army, and resettlement in France to those who want it were promised.

Demand Ulbricht Go

BONN, Germany—West Germany Thursday gave its answer to the Soviet proposal for direct Bonn-Moscow talks on the explosive Berlin issue. It contained this hint: Before anything can be done, East German Communist boss Walter Ulbricht and his Stalin-like regime must go.

The hint was expressed in a 22-page memorandum replying to a Dec. 27 Soviet proposal urging bilateral negotiations on the Berlin and German questions between what Moscow termed "the two greatest countries in Europe."

First Leftist Government

ROME—Premier Amintore Fanfani took office Thursday at the head of Italy's most leftist government in 15 years.

Fanfani and the 23 ministers of his new government were sworn in by President Giovanni Gronchi in a ceremony marking the beginning of a new era in Italian politics.

Fanfani, 64, has fought for years to turn Italy to the left, and he achieved his aim. His new coalition government is backed by Pietro Nenni's Socialists, once allied with Italy's militant Communists.

Stevenson Hits Rightists

WASHINGTON—Adlai E. Stevenson hit Thursday at what he called "our angry men of the Right wing," saying the quick solution they propose for world problems would result in nuclear suicide for all concerned.

The U. S. Ambassador to the United Nations counseled instead a go-slow approach in tackling complex international issues. And he saw the United Nations as the chief instrument for the job.

Lines Snarled In Orbit Flight

GRAND TURK ISLAND, Bahamas—Astronaut John H. Glenn, Jr. ran into a fisherman's snarl in space due to lack of gravity.

Lt. Col. John A. Powers, spokesman for the Astronauts, said Thursday Glenn carried a dirty bag in his cabin, containing a camera, film boxes, and other equipment.

When he opened the bag to take out a camera, everything else came floating out, too. Each object had a line attached to it, and anchored inside the bag, so he could recover anything that floated around. And the bag itself was securely held down.

But the lines snarled with so many things floating about that Glenn finally gave up and simply shoved them all back inside. How to carry such items remains a problem, Powers said.

For AUSG Reps

Bill Would Insure Freedom To Vote

Student Congress Wednesday night passed a bill and a resolution to reaffirm the student government constitution and "insure the freedom of choice on the part of representatives to AUSG."

Both the bill and resolution resulted from attempts by dorm councils, specifically in men's dorms, to tell their AUSG representatives how to vote on certain issues. Some councils have threatened their representatives with automatic recall if they do not vote as the council wishes.

According to the AUSG constitution, a representative cannot be recalled unless 25 per cent of the dorm's residents petition to have him removed. The AUSG constitution also allows each representative freedom of choice in voting on issues.

The bill states that the AUSG constitution is above and separate from all other constitutions of student governing bodies. It was introduced by AUSG representatives to counteract the mandates that some hall councils have been issuing to AUSG representatives.

The resolution, introduced by Marvin Berenson of Butterfield Hall, urges the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs to study both AUSG and living unit constitutions to determine whether the two conflict.

Paul Potter, national affairs vice-president of the National Student Assn., spoke to Congress to welcome MSU to NSA. He traced the national organization's history, structure, and the services it offers to member schools.

"Student governments," he said, "use NSA on campus to create the kind of international image they would like students in other countries to see."

He said NSA's political activities have grown from the group's elastic clause that states that NSA concern extends to "students in their roles as students."

Congress also passed a bill increasing the Student Loan by $500.

'Black Light' Theme of Meet

Today marks the beginning of the three-day intercollegiate conference sponsored by the ANCECANS, the young adult volunteer auxiliary of the American Negro Emancipation Centennial Authority.

The host of this conference will be the MSU chapter of the NAACP.

"Black Light," the theme of the conference, is the forerunner of an exposition to be held in Chicago, August 1963, denoting the centennial of the Emancipation Proclamation.

Over 200 students from mid-western colleges will converge on the Union for the three-day schedule of events, which begins this afternoon with a social hour of cocktails and conversation.

Starting at 7 p.m. will be a choral presentation of the emancipation proclamation, which will be followed by a debate—"emancipation proclamation: Humanitarian or Military?"

Early Saturday 10 workshops will be held which will cover varied subjects. They will be as follows:

"Mightier than the Sword"—writing; "Projecting the Image"—promotions; "People speak through their artists"—performing arts; "Discovery through Documentation"—research; "International Impli-

Glenn Loses Out At West Shaw

John H. Glenn, United States astronaut, received 8 votes for president of West Shaw Hall in elections Wednesday. But Ken Madejczk was elected hall president over his opponents, Ed Bloom, Bob Harris, and Ken Pollack. Bruce Tanner was elected vice-president over his opponents, Russ Hughes and Jim Aldrich.

U-M Student Kidnaped

A 22-year-old University of Michigan student told police Thursday that two teenage hitchhikers forced him to drive them to Chicago and then robbed him.

Norbert William Zoltowski of Ypsilanti said he was left tied up in the car in Chicago, but managed to work free and call police who quickly picked up the two teenagers.

Zoltowski had been listed as a Michigan State student in a wire service story, but a check by the State News disclosed he attends U of M, participating in its Dearborn branch's work-study program.

Mrs. Zoltowski said her son told her he expected to return to Ypsilanti sometime Thursday.

Cuba To Give Resolution To MSU's UN

A resolution submitted by Cuba calling for other nations to keep a "hands off" policy in Cuba and Latin America will be presented to the Campus UN assembly Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the Union Ballroom.

Also on the agenda is a resolution calling for the assembly to recognize the Algerian government.

The United States delegation plans to bring a discussion to the floor on the question of whether a delegate needs to represent the views of the "de facto" government of the country he is representing.

But Agrees To Discuss A-Test Ban

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States rejected Thursday night a new, bluntly worded bid by Soviet Premier Khrushchev to open next month's Geneva disarmament conference with a summit meeting.

At the same time, the U.S. agreed with a Soviet proposal to discuss the nuclear test ban issue at the Geneva conference—but not on the basis of the Russians' atomic test ban plan.

The U.S. position was made public in twin announcements a few hours after President Kennedy's receipt from Khrushchev of a 20-page message and the Soviet announcement in Geneva of its newest maneuver on a test ban.

Khrushchev's 2,500-word note did not make clear whether he would go to Geneva or send his foreign minister, Andrei Gromyko.

However, Soviet sources in London said Khrushchev would go to Switzerland even if his summit bid is not accepted by the heads of the other 17 governments invited to the arms talks.

Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold MacMillan have suggested the Geneva parley be started by foreign ministers. But they left the way open for a summit meeting late—perhaps in April or May—if significant progress is made in earlier discussions.

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviets Thursday did their second complete turnaround in recent months on nuclear talks and announced they would be willing to discuss the nuclear test ban issue at the forthcoming 18-nation disarmament conference.

But the basis of their offer was a previously rejected proposal barring controls.

The proposal was made by Soviet negotiator Semyon K. Tsarapkin at an informal meeting with U.S. deputy delegate David Mark and Britain's Derek Brinson.

Tsarapkin told a news conference later the Soviet government will stand on a Nov. 23 proposal for a big power test ban pledge that permits no international controls.

He received his BA in political science in 1947 and LLB in 1950 from the University of Michigan.

"I am particularly concerned that the Republicans in the Legislature have consistently refused adequate budgets for MSU," he says.

"It's time the community had a legislature willing to be for MSU and not against it."

Andrews said his highway department experience made him familiar with the future possibilities of the Lansing area.

"More jobs, increased opportunities for business and expansion of education are the three great challenges to this area in the next decade," Andrews said.

Disarmament

represented another Soviet switch.

The Soviet delegate insisted after the three-power conference resumed at Geneva in March, 1960, that any type of international test ban verification could be discussed only within East-West negotiations for general disarmament.

When the U.S. and Britain reluctantly agreed to merge the test ban and disarmament talks, Tsarapkin announced Russia considered this a Western maneuver designed to upset the talks opening Mar. 14. He said at the time that the new Soviet position was that the two issues could not be merged.

Tsarapkin Thursday returned to the original Soviet position but declined to explain how the test ban issue could be discussed within the disarmament talks. But he was clear on one point that wrecked earlier talks - as far as Moscow is concerned, test ban controls are out.

LONDON (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev also sent a new message to Prime Minister Macmillan Thursday night. The foreign office announced receipt of a 2,500-word message from the Soviet Premier.

In his new message, Khrushchev was said to have repeated his proposal and broadly to have indicated his resolve to attend, whatever other government chiefs may decide to do.

Soviet informants said their Premier wants to give the conference a flying start and thinks this would best be done if government chiefs set up signposts for possible agreement. They portrayed him additionally as wanting to focus world attention on the crucial question of disarmament.

The 16-power talks are to be attended by five Western and five communist states and eight so-called neutrals. Leaders of several neutral countries have indicated they will go along with what seems to be the general or majority wish.

The word about Britain's attitude is clear enough. Macmillan will not attend the meeting, no matter if Khrushchev does, unless President Kennedy does.

And the feeling here is that Kennedy may well have to make his decision in the light of the broad East-West picture, which includes not only disarmament but the Berlin dispute and Khrushchev's latest pitch for an American-Soviet joint space exploration program.

To Be Appointed Instead Con-Con Bill for Election Of Superintendent Defeated

A minority amendment to have the superintendent of public instruction remain an elected official (for a four-year term) was defeated during Wednesday's session of the Constitutional Convention.

The amendment, filed by a minority of the Committee on Education, was defeated 82-45 by the Committee of the Whole. The committee proposal, passed by the convention, stipulates that the superintendent be appointed by an eight-member State Board of Education.

The section which was under consideration states the following:

"The State Board of Education shall appoint a superintendent of public instruction whose term shall be determined by the board."

Tom Downes (Dem.), Detroit, said that the superintendent should be elected because "the process of campaigning is in itself education."

"While the constituents may not get to know the candidate personally," he said, "a statewide campaign does give the elected (and defeated) candidate a better knowledge of the educational problems of the state."

In addition, Downes said that those who feel politics should not enter into the field of education must realize that education has a "history of full political participation."

Edward L. Douglas (Dem.), Detroit, said that 22 states elect the superintendent and many of these states have fine educational systems.

"Michigan is in the upper-third of education and the superintendent is elected," he said.

Douglas also expressed concern over taking the vote away from the people.

"I think we should stop this trend in taking away from the people that which is rightfully theirs," he said.

In conclusion, Douglas listed the following five main reasons for keeping the superintendent an elected official:

1. "Elected officials are made directly responsible to those who elect them."

2. "The system has worked well in the past."
3. "The best politics of each party is to screen carefully and select responsible candidates."
4. "An elected superintendent of public instruction has an equal status to other elected administrative officials - this is not true of an appointed official."
5. "The superintendent would not be responsible to the people or the governor but to the board."

Milton E. Higgs (Rep.), Bay City, said he felt the superintendent should be appointed for several reasons.

"I think that this particular amendment (minority report) would result in a division of leadership," he said. "I favor that he be directly responsible to the board for that reason."

"A greater degree of stability would be the result of an appointed superintendent," Higgs added, "since the state board would be elected for a term of eight years."

In addition, he said it is more likely that a good superintendent would be found through appointment by the board than by the political process.

"The board would be able to screen candidates to appoint the best candidate available," Higgs said.

Harold J. Stevens (Rep.), Detroit, and Raymond L. King (Rep.), Pontiac, also expressed opposition to the minority report.

Stevens said the appointment of this official by the Board of Education would be more beneficial because "his duties are almost entirely administrative."

King agreed with Stevens. "What we are talking about is a chief administrator," King said. "Because of this, I believe he should be appointed by the Board of Education."

Walter D. DeVries (Rep.), Grand Rapids, said that modern constitutional revision calls for an appointed superintendent of public instruction.

"I think it is a fine step forward and a needed change," he said.

Further changes were proposed concerning the office of the superintendent of public instruction and were defeated.

Richard D. Kuhn (Rep.), Pontiac, submitted an amendment which would give the governor the power to appoint the superintendent instead of the Board of Education.

"If he wasn't doing the job the governor thinks he should do, he could be removed by the governor," Kuhn said. "The board would have the right to veto if they felt the governor wrong in removing the superintendent."

The amendment was overwhelmingly defeated 100-20.

T. Jefferson Hoxie (Rep.), St. Louis, offered an amendment to limit the term of the superintendent to four years since the committee report placed no time limit on the length of his appointment.

The amendment was defeated 77-34.

The Committee on Education proposal was referred to the Committee on Style and Drafting. Second and third readings await the proposal before it becomes official.

U2 Pilot Tells Story To Secret Board

WASHINGTON (AP)—U2 Pilot Francis Gary Powers is telling his story to a special board set up to investigate his capture and imprisonment after his high-flying spy plane was downed by Soviet Russia.

But that does little more than pose a new mystery. There remains such questions as (A) just who is the other party to that contract and (B) what does the contract provide.

President Kennedy disclosed that much and very little more at his news conference Wednesday in reply to a question about the 3-year-old pilot's whereabouts and when he will be made available for questioning by the press and Congress.

As Kennedy stated it, a question before the inquiry board—technically at least—is whether Powers fulfilled his contract for flying reconnaissance runs across Russia.

The President said "there is so far no evidence" of any failure to meet the terms, but he expected to be able to make a more final determination next week.

Says U. S. Film Party Started War

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP)—A missionary claimed Thursday that warfare among primitive natives of Dutch New Guinea was fomented by an American expedition seeking to film tribal battles.

Among those participating in the expedition sponsored last year by Harvard University's Peabody Museum and the Dutch Government was Michael Rockefeller, son of Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

The Rev. H. M. Lake, 36, on home leave here from the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church in New Guinea, told reporters regarding the expedition:

"Since no battles were going on, they wanted to start them again... our natives in our area reported that they offered the local chiefs steel axes if they would resume fighting with traditional enemies. It was to get movies."

Valletti Performance Has Varied Moods

By LESLEY KLEIN Of the State News Staff. An enthusiastic audience demanded encore after encore of Italian lyric tenor, Cesare Valletti during his performance in the Auditorium Tuesday evening.

For encores Valletti sang "There is a Lady" by Norman delo Joio, an aria from Cilea's opera "L'Arlesiana" and a Spanish song "Granadinas."

Earlier, in a speech at city hall before a huge crowd estimated by police at 100,000, the U.S. Attorney General declared Berlin will not be attacked because "an armed attack on West Berlin is the same thing as an armed attack on Chicago, New York, London or Paris."

At RIAS a huge crowd shouting "Bobby, Bobby" surged against police lines to shake his hand.

—Full freedom for West Berliners and continuation of West Berlin's ties with West Germany and the free world.

Conservative Club Bill Draws Strong Objections

By JODY PARSONS
Of the State News Staff
Republican and Conservative Club members have voiced strong objections to a Student Congress bill which would define the Conservative club as a political club.

ter for Student Congress to look into."
Fletcher Monningh defended the Conservative Club at the hearing.
"The Conservative Club is not a political club," he said. "We do not propose or campaign for candidates, and our speakers have always been educational rather than political."

lose the right to join other clubs."
Monningh was asked if the Conservative Club restricted its membership.
"We have to be somewhat restrictive. A Conservative Club could not have a strong liberal element within it, he answered.

Governor Will Not Be On State Education Board

The Committee of the Whole decided late Wednesday afternoon that the governor of the state should not be allowed to be a member of the State Board of Education.

Education as a distributor of information to the people.
The amendment offered by Lewis T. Hubbs (Rep.), Gladwin, deleted the words "and to the people" in the following line of the first section:

preted as allowing all the evils that have been mentioned on the floor," he said.
Jack Faxon (Dem.), Detroit, a member of the committee, said that some delegates have misinterpreted the language since the only information to be offered is how much money is needed for education.

He proposed, however, that the committee undertake a thorough investigation of the Conservative Club, its finances, membership requirements and membership.
"I think this committee has the legal right and the moral obligation to track down whatever has been done," Warner said.

One of the delegates seeking to have the governor be a member of the board was George W. Romney (Rep.), Bloomfield Hills, a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor and a member of the Committee on Education.

Hubbs said the board could turn into a lobbying organization for discharging propaganda behind the legislature's back if the language is left in the proposal.
"I can see a great danger here," he said. "I feel the proper people to inform the people are the newspapers and television."

An amendment submitted by Detroit delegates Adelaide J. Hart (Dem.) and Edmond Lesinski (Dem.) to allow the governor to fill vacancies on the Board of Education was unanimously passed by the convention.

He defended the right of Conservative Club members to belong to the YR club, but said that all members should put the Republican party first and special interests within the party second.
"An influx of conservatives gives our treasury a boost and makes meetings wilder, but it also draws attention away from important activities," he said.

Another amendment to the proposal passed by the convention was one dealing with the function of the Board of Education.

The second section provides for the appointment of a superintendent of public instruction by the board and defines the superintendent's position and duties.

Mary Mayo, the oldest women's dormitory, still is in use today and bears the name of a leader in the early movement for co-education and one-time head of the Home Economics department.

The YR club can take care of its own problems, McPherson said. "This is not a mat-

Kelley Wins At S. Case
Mike Kelley, a write-in candidate, was elected president of South Case Hall Wednesday night by one vote over his opponents Dick Wedderburn and Jon Cartright.
Out of the 437 votes cast, Kelley received 158, Wedderburn 157, and Cartright 112. Joal Woodruff was elected vice-president over his opponent Pat Delmonico. Woodruff received 222 votes, and Delmonico received 185.
