Person to Reign Over Weekend Festivities

Homecoming fever is mounting as the campus awaits an estimated 25,000 alumni for Saturday's grand contest with the Minnesota Gophers. The rally at Old College will kick off student homecoming activities tonight at 7 p.m.

Homecoming displays are reaching final touches as men's and women's residence halls and houses anticipate judging at 11 a.m. tomorrow. Winners of the homecoming competition will be selected during the football game.

Johnston, Grand Rapids, will reign over weekend festivities. The queen and king will be presented before the game.

Homecoming entertainment at the MSU will feature both the MSU and Minnesota marching bands. The Minnesota band is making its first appearance at the game.

Homecoming displays will be based on popular themes interpreted through dance and music.

Homecoming parties are planned throughout the campus. Buffets, games and mixers are being held at most men's and women's living units.

Homecoming activities will be highlighted by the annual Alumni Banquet and Homecoming Banquet tonight at 8 p.m. in Kellogg Center.

Advise Speaker Board Recommend Own Demise

Representatives of the MSU Campus U.N. and Canterbury Club urged at a Student-Faculty Speaker Committee meeting Wednesday that the group recommend its own abolition to the University administration.

Alan Kirtin, graduate student from New Zealand, said Campus U.N. backs admission of all speakers "whether they be Communist or John Birch Society members."

"Although the majority of U.N. members would not agree with either group, they would defend the right of all men to express their views," he said.

Kirtin felt the speaker committee should disband after recommending that the University allow all speakers on campus.

"I would think it entirely proper, however, that the University issue statements disassociating itself from views of individual speakers such as Communists," he added. "This would make it clear that the University was only upholding free speech in allowing such speakers on campus."

Kurtin said he thought the committee "was very much in favor of free speech and should be given a chance on the campus."

Faculty and student members of the committee expressed regret that "the committee's aims seem to have been misunderstood by many groups on the MSU campus."

Leonard Rall, professor in the economics department, said all avenues of communication must be opened between the committee and the rest of the University body.

Jim Chandler, Men's Hall Association president, agreed with Rall.

"We hope that some of the misunderstandings will be cleared up over the purposes of this committee," he said.

George Eickworth, graduate student from Linbrook, N.Y., represented the Canterbury Club at the meeting. He said a university is the "main political institution in modern society where both sides of a question can be heard."

Student Protest Likely

Pro-Howard Petitions Circulate Campus

It seems likely that a campus-wide vote will be held within the next two weeks to protest the University's disciplinary action taken against the six students involved in the uncleaned speaker incident.

The focal point of the protest will be the status of former AUSG President Bob Howard, Elmhurst, Ill. senior, who was among those placed on indefinite strict disciplinary probation. The probation automatically made Howard ineligible to continue in office.

Since Wednesday, petitions have been circulating calling for a vote to demand that Howard be re-instated.

One of those circulating the petitions is Bob Hencken, Huntington Woods junior, a former congressional representative who also was placed on probation for his part in the incident.

Hencken said nearly 1700 signatures were collected in a 24-hour period and that at least 2,000 are expected by the first of next week.

Ten percent of the undergraduate enrollment, or 1,943 names, are needed to call the vote.

Using a different method but with the same general objective, Student Congress presently has in committee a resolution proposing a campus wide "vote of confidence" for Howard.

There is little doubt the resolution will be reported out next week and adopted with ease.

The chief argument being used by the proponents of the resolution is that Howard, as an official representative elected by the students, was "arbitrarily" removed from office without due regard to student opinion.

TAKING OFFICE—Hrvey Elliot, head of AUSG Judiciary, swears in Jim Barnes as new AUSG president, replacing Bob Howard.

Replaces Howard At Top

Sworn Into Office Without Spectators

By LIZ HYMAN
Of The State News

Jim Barnes, speaker of Congress, was officially sworn in as All University Student Government president by Harvey Elliott, AUSG judiciary committee head, Wednesday afternoon without spectators.

Former AUSG president Bob Howard said Wednesday night that he would not resign his post.

"Howard is out of office whether he says so or not," Elliott said. "It wasn't necessary for Howard to send in his resignation."

Howard, who is on disciplinary probation for 90 days, will have no affiliation with student government after the probationary period. If he wants to become AUSG president again, he must be re-elected during the normal election time, according to Elliott.

Howard was not officially told of the swearing in ceremony.

The former president's removal Tuesday afternoon, along with the heads of the Humanist Society, the Young Democrats, the Young Socialists and the National Student Association, was prompted by their direct defiance of the Faculty-Student Speaker's Committee in joining the Campus Club Conference, the CCC, having no official status at the University, invited speakers to the campus without submitting them to the approved Faculty-Student Speaker's Committee.

The new AUSG president was elected speaker last spring. His position will be filled by Pat O'Connell, speaker pro tempore, until a special election is held to permanently fill the speaker's position.

Reaction on campus ranged from picketing in front of the Kiva and Administration Building to placing petitions in dorms to get Howard reinstated.

Elliott, who swore in Barnes, said one of the powers of the judiciary committee is to test the powers of constitutionality on acts of the various AUSG branches.

The forced resignation of president Bob Howard in opposing the Speaker's Committee, falls under this ruling.

Elliott said, "The probation-punishment placed on Howard is the only power the University has. Since Howard used the speaker's committee as a test (Continued on page 4)

Blood Drive Spurts

Blood drive donations picked up considerably Thursday after plea to students by Athletic Director "Biggie" Munn.

A total of 556 pints, slightly more than one quarter of the goal set for the drive, had been donated by 4 p.m. Thursday.

During the first two hours Thursday, 102 donations were made.

In the race between living units for the engraved Red Cross plaque signifying 100 percent donations, Farmhouse fraternity still holds a slight edge with a 54 percent turnout.

In second place and pressing closely is Sigma Alpha Mu fraternity with 42 percent.

Co-ops hold third and fourth positions with Bower House achieving 28 percent and Hendrick House, a newcomer to the race, bowing in with 16 percent.

Phi Mu sorority remains in the running with 13 percent participation, followed by South Case and Phillips in a tie for sixth place with 5.8 percent.

Also in contention for the award are Zeta Tau Alpha sorority 5.4 percent, Van Hoesen 5.3 percent, and Emmons 4.3 percent.

All blood received in the drive will go to the Ingham County blood center. They, in turn, will distribute it to 73 hospitals in 29 southern Michigan counties.

The drive, co-sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, and Spartan Women's League will close at 3 p.m. today.

Demonstration Hall will be open for donations at 9 a.m.

"Ole Miss" Chancellor Blasts Student Outbursts

OXFORD—The chancellor of the University of Mississippi told the male students at two special assemblies Thursday that future disturbances could mean expulsion for those involved.

Reading from a prepared text and speaking in a firm voice, Chancellor John D. Williams told the students that further outbursts against the presence of Negro James H. Meredith would endanger Ole Miss' accreditation and "our very survival."

U-2 Plane Downed Over Cuba

MIAMI — The Miami News said Thursday, a Russian-fired anti-aircraft rocket shot down a United States U2 surveillance airplane 70,000 feet above the Escambray Mountain area of Cuba Saturday.

The pilot, Maj. Rudolf Anderson Jr., 35, of Greenville, S.C., was killed.

The newspaper's Latin American editor, Hal Hendrix, said he learned the rocket was an advanced version of the Soviet SA2 missile, fired from one of an estimated 25 surface-to-air sites operating in Cuba.

Russian Physicist, Two Britons Win Nobel Awards

STOCKHOLM, Sweden—Lev Davidovich Landau, hospitalized from an automobile accident since January won the 1962 Nobel Prize for physics Thursday. His research helped in the development of the first Russian Sputniks.

Dr. John Cowdery Kendrew and Dr. Max Ferdinand Perutz, bio-chemists working at Cambridge, England, were jointly awarded the 1962 prize for chemistry for their work on mystifying elements in human blood and muscles of certain animals, such as whales and seals.

Yemen Troops Suppress "Invasion"

DAMASCUS, Syria — Yemeni Republicans claimed Thursday their air-supported infantry troops "crushed a new attempted invasion" of Yemen's north and east. They charged the attack was waged by Saudi Arabian and Jordanian regular forces.

The United Arab Republic's Cairo Radio quoted Yemen's republican Vice Premier and Foreign Minister Abdul Rahman Al-Baydani as announcing that "the enemy in both points has been torn to pieces."

Mikoyan Meets U.S. Negotiator

UNITED NATIONS (P)—Anastas I. Mikoyan, a top Soviet trouble-shooter, set up talks Thursday with President Kennedy's chief negotiator on the Cuban crisis.

The immediate problem was how to overcome the hitch in negotiations attributed to Fidel Castro's humiliation over being bypassed by Premier Khrushchev in arranging for U.N. inspection for removing Soviet missiles from Cuba.

Deputy Premier Mikoyan, who is on his way to see Castro, invited John J. McCloy, also a veteran diplomatic negotiator, to dinner at the Soviet mission to the United Nations.

It was the first U.S. Soviet go-together since the crisis flared into the open with President Kennedy's announcement of a naval arms blockade of Cuba 11 days ago.

U.S. sources said they expect Mikoyan to tell Castro that Khrushchev has given his pledge to Kennedy for removal of the missiles under U.N. inspection (Continued on page 4)

S. Detonates Nuclear Device

HONOLULU (P)—The United States detonated a sub-megaton nuclear device high above the Pacific Thursday that sent a red fireball streaking into the heavens.

The fireball, a charming globe of fire, was clearly visible in Hawaii, 750 miles from the Johnston Island test site.

The test was the third consecutive high-altitude success in the United States series of the Pacific series. Four tests have failed because of rain clouds.

The booster, victim of all failures, carried Thursday's hydrogen device aloft from 2:10 a.m. to 7:10 a.m. and apparently performed perfectly.

Pickets Protest Faculty Ruling

A group of 20 male students circled the front lawn of the Administration Building Thursday afternoon in protest of the University's forced resignation of six student leaders.

One participant, who declined to identify himself, said the demonstration was staged to encourage student support of a protest march around Spartan Stadium Saturday prior to the game.

The pickets, bearing homemade placards marched for nearly an hour between 3 p.m. and 4 p.m. Police cruising the area passed the building at one point but did not stop to challenge the students.

Some of the signs in the orderly procession read: "Suppression Eggs Us On", "MAC We Love Thy Shadows", "Give Me Liberty Or Give Me Money", "Let's Make State Great Again—Reinstate Howard", "What Happened to Free Speech and Free Inquiry?" and "Let Us Not Give Moral Sanction Via Student Apathy."

Tickets Still Available For Remaining Games

Several thousand student tickets are left for Saturday's Homecoming game against Minnesota, according to athletic department ticket manager, William Beardsley.

Biggie Urges No Vote on Liquor Issue

Clarence (Biggie) Munn, MSU athletic director, voiced his opinion against the East Lansing liquor referendum Thursday when he said:

"I'm not the pious type but I feel very strongly that there is no need at all for a college town like East Lansing to be wet."

"If students want to get liquor, they can get it. We should not deliberately set things up so that it will be pushed at them."

"Such a step will inevitably create more problems; we have enough already," he said.

Munn advised students of voting age to think of themselves as they will be "in two, three, or four years—parents and responsible citizens. If they will think like that on Tuesday, they will vote no on this liquor issue."

The referendum to repeal the dry clause in the city charter calls for a "yes" vote to repeal and a "no" vote to keep East Lansing dry.

Let's Fight Through Legal Channels

When the news of the disciplinary action taken against those students who defied the University law broke Wednesday, immediate reaction ensued.

Righteous indignation, bitter denunciations and threats of retaliation were manifested. Students, indeed, rallied around a cause.

Protest marches were planned and carried out. Petitions were passed around calling for the reinstatement of Bob Howard as AUSG President.

Let's face it, no one can deny that the Campus Club Conference (CCC) violated University law -- no matter how abominable these students consider that law to be.

Not even Howard himself could deny that he openly flouted a campus ruling.

We still feel that the move by the CCC was wrong -- at the time. There was and still is an alternative means, through legal channels.

The Committee on Outside Speakers, besides maintaining its temporary function as a screening body, is also a study group set up to decide what the future policy of the University should be in regard to outside speakers.

Hence, the State News advocates the following:

That some of the student bitterness, disillusionment and pent-up frustration over the speakers committee and the more recent punitive action taken should be channeled through legal means.

That every student organization on the campus -- be it the Young Dems, Blue Key or the French Club; every living unit on and off-campus -- be it a dormitory, fraternity, sorority, co-op or married housing -- set up a committee of perhaps three people and petition the speakers committee. The committee has stated it will listen to any student organization.

That every student committee express its disapproval of the very existence of the speaker's committee.

That students should tell the committee why its presence is incongruous with the concept of a university.

That the students should give the speakers committee 30 days to file a report with President Hannah and the Board of Trustees indicating that every student group on the campus is violently opposed to the speakers committee and recommending that it be dissolved.

This is what the State News would like to see happen.

If the students are willing to fight in this arena, we are, too.

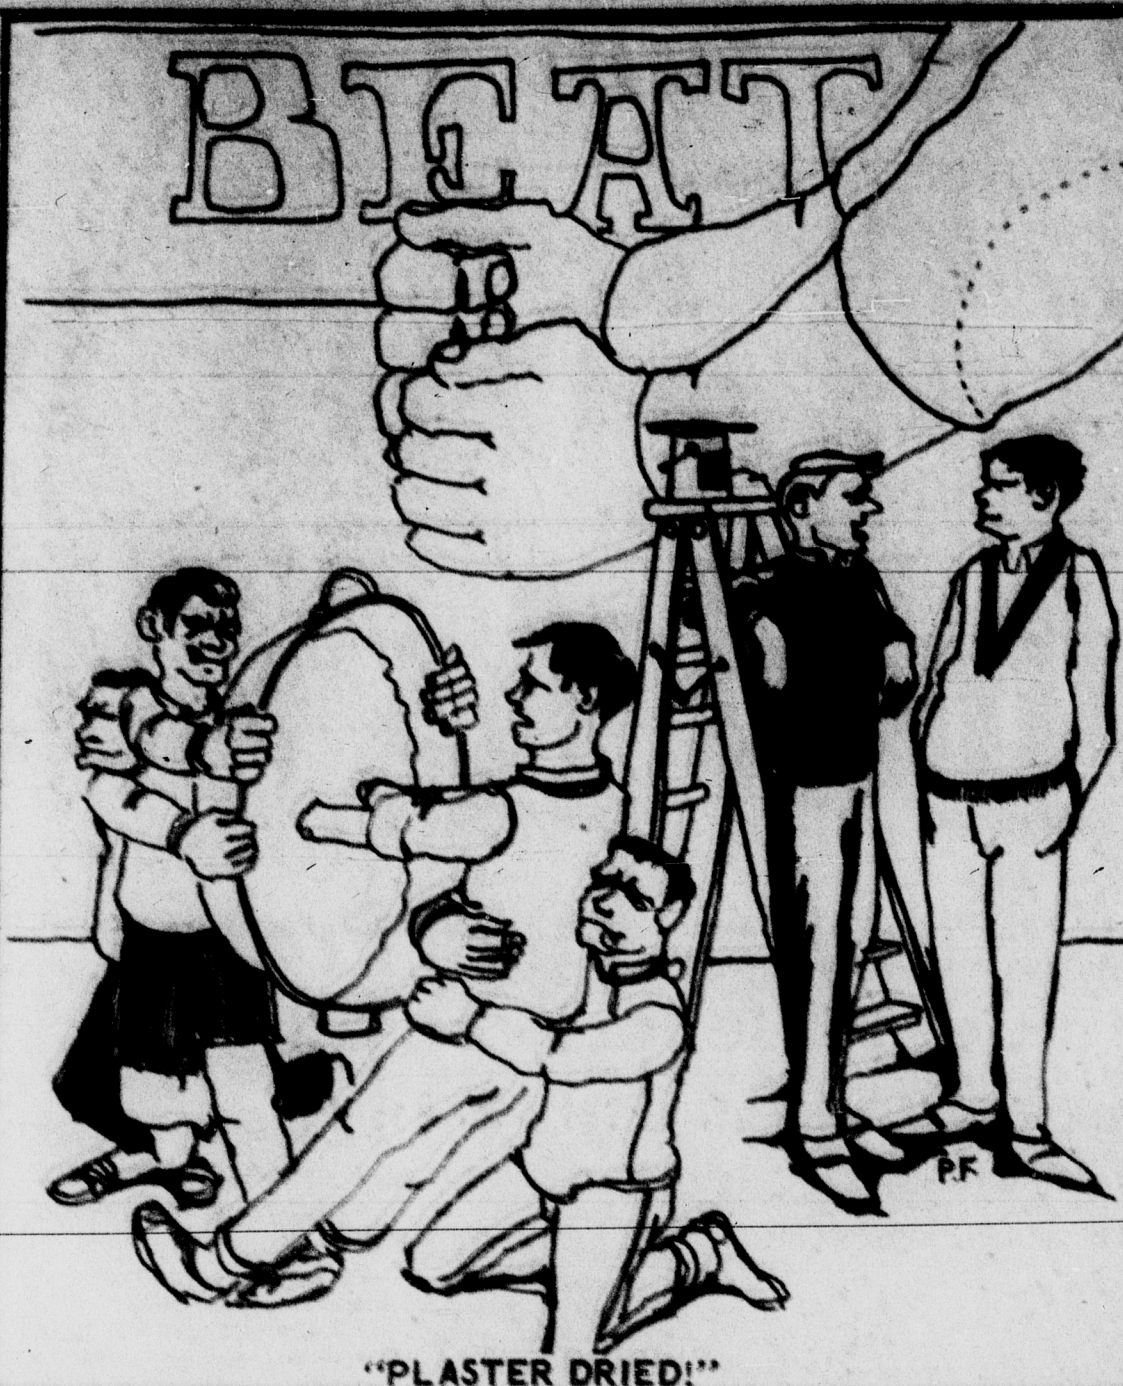

Gopher Menace

The rumor is groundless, false and untrue. The person who circulated it is either unfair, frustrated or cynical.

Whoever heard of requiring the University of Minnesota football player calling the signals in the Gopher huddle Saturday be screened by the Committee on Outside Speakers?

Granted, he will be talking; he is an outsider coming onto this campus; he will be advocating the overthrow of the Spartan team.

Well, of course he will have to talk; of course he is an outsider; of course he wants to see the violent overthrow of the... Yipes! Ban that man!

Letters to the Editor

On Student Rights, Etc.

To the Editor:

For four years I have attended school at this institution, and during this period I have worked at getting a superior education. During these four years I suffered some not at all unusual economic deprivations, but I expected and accepted this as the price of an education.

But one thing I did not expect and do not accept is the fact that I must surrender every legal, constitutional, human, and God-given right I have or ever had or ever had to an overbearing, tyrannical, and totally unresponsive administration.

After two weeks spent at National Student Congress this summer, I can state unequivocally that this is one of the nation's most paternalistic institutions. And I would add that in view of these other universities' academic reputations and smoothness of operation, such paternalism as found at MSU is totally unjustified.

Today we have been presented with the ultimate insult. The one person who represents the whole student body has been suddenly removed from office at the mere whim of the administration. And for what? For fighting to represent the students who elected him in the only way he had any hope of being successful.

The administrators say "use legal channels". Well, we tried them first, and as with every other time within memory, the students were totally and callously ignored.

Bob Howard fought in the only way he could find to preserve one of the last shreds of our human dignity -- now it is up to you as an individual. Something needs to be done now, before we complete the transformation to a harmless and useless vegetable. The goal this administration is working towards so successfully.

Face Challenge

To the Editor:

Paternalism strikes again! Once again our faculty advisors have taken the reins of our lives into their hands. When we exercise our Constitutional freedoms they pull those reins tight.

The president of any organization is only the official spokesman for that group. He is a puppet in the hands of the body of that group, put in his position not only to handle the internal, but the external affairs of that body also. The students recently reprimanded for their part in the CCC, were merely performing their duties as club presidents.

They were given the task of deciding whether to support something in which they and the members of their groups did not believe or of fulfilling the obligations which they accepted when they took the office of President. Would the administration rather have had these students compromise their principles? I think not.

I personally do not wish to be sheltered. Now is one to defeat his enemy when he doesn't know what that enemy has to say and never meets him face to face? To run from communism is not to defeat it. We must face up to this challenge if we, as a nation, are to survive. It seems that the thinking of the administration in this area is very similar to that of many of the moss-backed legislators of this state. Could it be that those who control our purse strings also control our administration?

Supports CCC

To the Editor:

I have just realized the possibility of a thoughtful student being suspended or a student group being disbanded for fighting for the cause of the freedoms of speech and hearing on this campus.

The honor of that student or group is increased rather than diminished in my opinion.

It has been suggested wisely by Mr. Burns that we should bring about reforms through "accepted legal means." I don't accept the Speakers Committee as legal because it is contrary to a basic constitutional right.

I therefore affirm with no originality: "I may disagree with what you have to say, but I'll defend to the death your right to say it."

I support the students who heard the CCC, and wait with bated breath.

However, not only are students being arbitrarily told to whom they may listen, but also they are being harshly reprimanded for resenting this injustice.

To quote a remark made by President Hannah in the Spartan Hand book, Michigan State University's "principal objective is to make it possible for bright young minds to be stretched and developed to their limits."

Is this the way our "bright young minds" are to be stretched and developed? By refusing us and others on campus the right of freedom of speech?

Students of this university, unite and fight against this encroachment of our rights!

Opposes Wet Vote

To the Editor:

On November 6, 1962 the residents of East Lansing will be asked to vote on whether or not to permit intoxicating liquor establishments within the city limits.

Throughout the history of East Lansing, its residents have opposed this. Four years ago when the issue was last voted on, the only precincts that voted for a change were student precincts. This is a matter of great concern to the permanent residents, who wish to keep intoxicating liquor-selling establishments out of the city in which they expect to live all of their lives, and who feel that their votes are negated by the votes of many of the temporary residents.

Many of the married students have children of one, two, three and perhaps four years of age. These children do not present problems pertaining to liquor and getting into trouble because they drink. Many of the mothers and fathers who are permanent residents have sons and daughters 15, 16, 17, and 18 years of age, who present many problems because of intoxicating liquors.

Would it be right for you, who will reside in East Lansing for only a few years, to vote for a charter change that would allow the sale of intoxicating liquors and place many perplexing problems on many of the fathers and mothers who are permanent residents? Think about this seriously before you vote.

The Editor Says

The Battle: Booze & Bibles

Don Burns

We got trouble, folks. We got trouble right here in River City. Seems that someone wants to repeal prohibition and "Ye'ma'am, evil."

Picture the streets of East Lansing now--filled with drinking, stumbling college students. What we need is a boys band the college crowd.

Shades of Elmer Gantry and Major Barbara and her salvation army, let's hope the forces of right embodied in the Better East Lansing Committee will conquer the forces of evil--the majority of MSU students over 21 and the East Lansing Chamber of Commerce.

Tune in Nov. 6 for the rest of this heroic battle that is reminiscent of the witch burnings in Puritan New England.

I predict that the wet East Lansing proposal will be soundly defeated and our morals, health and antiquated charter preserved. Let's look at the original section. Section 18.1 of Chapter 1 of the Charter of the City of East Lansing makes it unlawful for any person to manufacture, sell, keep for sale, give away or furnish any vinous, malt, brewed, fermented, spirituous or intoxicating liquors; or keep a saloon or any other place where any such liquors are manufactured, sold, stored for sale, given away or furnished.

That means that under the letter of the law any person possessing liquor in his home in East Lansing is breaking the law. It further means that any church using wine in a communion service is breaking the law.

Proponents of a dry East Lansing are armed with questionable statistics and glittering statements on the affect repeal would have.

If you believe the letters that the State News has received there will be two Hells in Michigan if the amendment is passed. Literature distributed by the Better East Lansing Committee includes such statements as: Would bringing liquor into our campus community provide the kind of environment we want to offer our 25,000 students at Michigan State?

I think the students are mature enough to decide what they want and I feel the 9,000 students over 21 think prohibition in East Lansing is laughable.

I don't personally care whether the amendment is passed Nov. 6 or not. I go to church and believe in God.

I don't think we can say that East Lansing is a better community it is surrounded by bars. Forcing a person who enjoys the atmosphere of the Gables to drive the distance to a bar is probably more dangerous than having the bars on the main street.

We don't live by the rule so let's get it off the books.

Let's be realistic. If you don't like the thought of bars in East Lansing, fight the amendment, vote against it, but don't fight on fictitious grounds.

My Bible says "Ye' though I walk through the Valley of the Shadow of Death, I will fear no evil for thou art with me."

I don't think Christianity will collapse or East Lansing will turn into Sodom if the amendment passes.

I think the existing rule is foolish and should be changed to some extent.

I hope we don't need a boys band.

Coeds are subjected every afternoon to an infringement on their privacy commonly known as room-check. The basic assumption seems to be that the average college student would not be responsible for room-check. Evidently we are not qualified to be treated as adults. However, the rooms male students are not liable this weekly nuisance. Obvious 18-year-old male freshmen are much more mature than 20-21-year-old female juniors and seniors.

I can understand the fire hazard of a full wastebasket. Beyond that the University should have NO room. After all, if I choose to live in a "pignen," I am permitted to live there. Dormitories must show places for the University. Are Brody and Shaw not also places also?

Perhaps the dormitory is a utopia of group living. Perhaps it could be. While policies such as room-check and hours of women (but not for men) are no one will ever know. This is the twentieth century, in which men and women are considered equal. The University would do well to remember that fact while formulating its double standards regulations. Why is there not as much freedom for the women students as for the men?

Labor Party Seeks Candidates Election

under in a series of introducing readers the candidates and issues for the Nov. 6 state election.

JILL MARKLEY

OF The State News

The Socialist Labor Party, a third force in Michigan politics, is seeking not only to elect candidates in November, but to establish a new political party as well.

According to James Sim, SLP candidate for governor, neither the Republicans nor the Democrats can hope to solve Michigan's problems under a capitalist system of government.

Commenting on the Romney television debates, Sim said that the "proved" change, a socialist reorganization of society is required to solve the problems of the aged, the unemployed, the mentally ill, and the youth.

The same problems will continue to confront the people of Michigan, until the workers organize to put an end to the capitalist system which breeds these problems and of which the workers are the victims.

Sim said that the Socialist Labor Party grew slowly along a path mapped out by Daniel DeLeon, editor of a pioneer socialist newspaper.

DeLeon, an American politician, claimed to represent the interests of the working class. He said that the Socialist Labor Party has consistently represented a minority of the votes in public elections, but never has had candidates on the ballot in every national presidential election since 1892.

In the presidential elections of 1960, the party received only 1,479 votes for candidate Theos A. Grove and a total of 3,255,991 votes in the same year, Sim said. In the same year, Sim ran for U.S. Senator and received 3,226,647 votes.

The primary aim of the Socialist Labor Party is elections, Sim said in a recent WKAR radio broadcast, "to carry on an actual program directed to workers."

Sim said that the party is connected or affiliated with the Socialist or Communist parties, with AFL-CIO or any other organizations or groups in the U.S. The SLP holds the position that the establishment of an industrial democracy, the term "industrial democracy" means that the government, methods and tools of production would be placed in the hands of the workers themselves.

Eric Hass, editor of the official newspaper of the SLP, the "Weekly People", said, "There are only two classes in a developed capitalist society -- a capitalist class, which performs no useful economic function except owning, and a working class which does all the useful labor but owns nothing."

To relieve this inequality, the establishment of a "classless society" would, the Socialist-Laborites believe, insure employment, security and leisure for all.

All social wealth, including factories, mines, railroads and land, would be placed under social ownership and control.

The Socialist Labor Party is emphatic in its insistence that it does not support state ownership of production, but rather advocates a worker-ownership program.

An official party bulletin criticizes the widespread unemployment in Michigan and suggests that the Capitalist's answer of "handouts" is not a workable solution.

Instead, the bulletin says, "to end the curse of unemployment we must eliminate the cause. We must replace private ownership of the industries with social ownership, and we must replace production for sale and profit with a system of production for use."

Official party statements also say that inflation is not caused by higher wages, as Capitalists insist, and that automation does not need to be a further cause of unemployment.

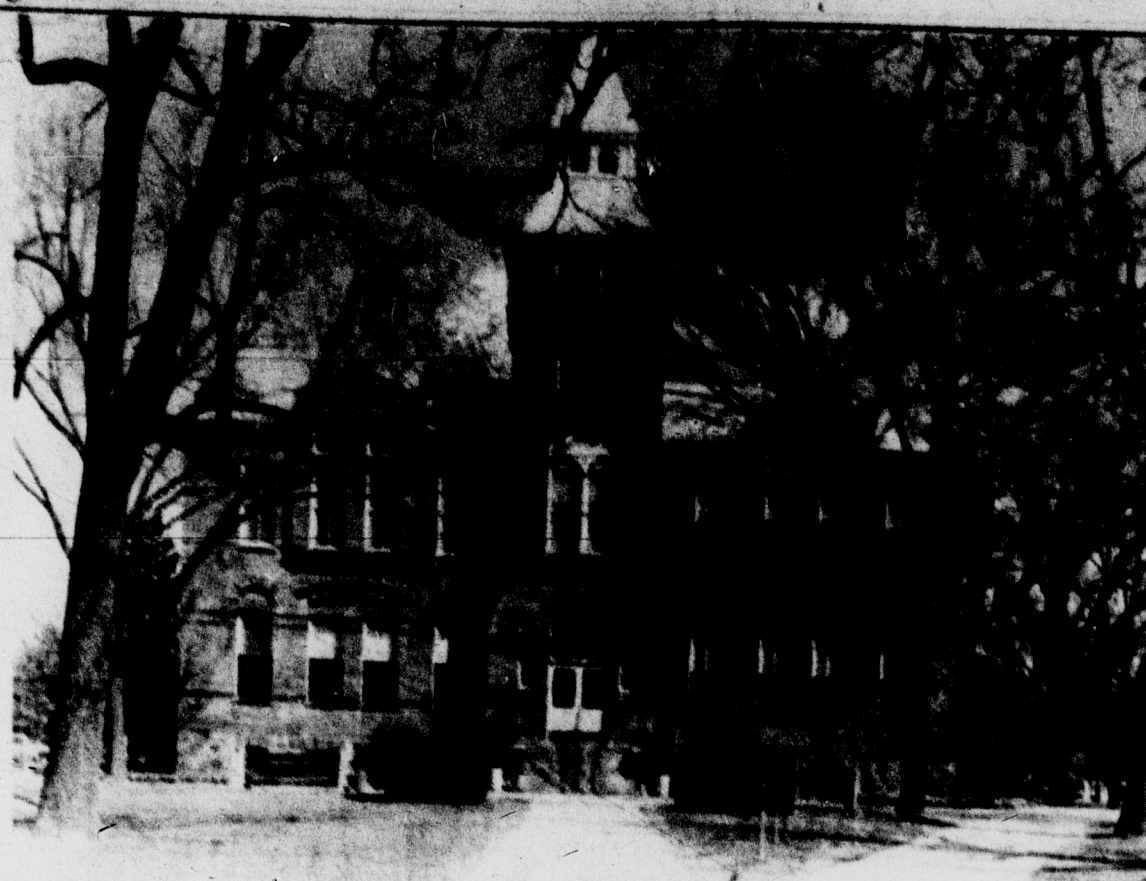

"As rapidly as it is developed under Socialism, automation will be installed," a bulletin says, "but instead of throwing workers onto a scrap heap, as happens today, the new machines will make possible a general reduction in working hours."

When asked if he would support corporation taxes if elected governor of Michigan, Sim replied that "within a Socialist state there would be no such thing as corporations."

Candidates for other state offices on the SLP ticket are: James Horvath, Lt. governor; W. C. Bently, secretary of state; Charles Fraser, state treasurer; Theos Grove, attorney general; and Albert Mills, auditor general.

The party's candidate for Congressman-at-Large is Ralph W. Muncy, of Ann Arbor.

A political rally will be held by the Socialist Labor Party in Detroit Nov. 3, at 8 p.m. in the Jade Room of the Detroit Leland Hotel.

USED TO BE MUSEUM--The Administration Building today was the museum of yesterday.

Campus Museum Evolved Same Time As University

MSU is one of the few schools that has a museum on campus, according to Rollin Baker, director of the museum.

The museum evolved about the same time as the University," he said.

"Probably at first there were just animals and plants of economic importance, such as rodents which were destructive to agricultural life, or birds which controlled insects," he said.

Baker said that specimens were gathered by students and professors for demonstrations or year, which will be voted on in April 1963.

In 1881 the exhibits were moved to the administration building which was then the "Library and Museum." A sign carved above the door can still be seen on the west side of the Administration Building.

In 1934 the exhibits were moved into the third floor of the present museum, which was then the Library.

In 1941 the museum acquired a director, Professor J. W. Stack, who served until 1954.

The basement of the Aud. was the next home of the museum. The exhibits were moved there in 1950 and remained there until 1957 when they were moved into the present location across from Olds Hall.

Lloyd C. Emmons succeeded

Stack as director in 1954 and Rollin Baker succeeded him in 1955.

Many of the museum's original exhibits are still there.

The mummy of a girl has been in the museum since 1890. A collection of birds contributed in 1912 by Walter B. Barrows, curator of the museum for many years, is also in the museum.

The Chamberlain-Warren historical collection of letters, diaries, and manuscripts, donated in 1955, helped start the historical collection, Baker said.

The Michigan Extension Service has donated pioneer farming equipment and material on Michigan lumbering and fishing, he added.

FAIR CONDUCT

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A citizen could really run wild at the Virginia state fair in its early days. The law prohibited arrest on fair days, the two days preceding and the two days following, except for capital offenses, under a statute of 1742.

Blonde Bothers British

LONDON (P)—A bosomy blonde who posed in a bikini for Prince Albert of Belgium discovered today questions are being raised about her in the House of Commons.

Shapely subject of Parliament's curiosity is 19-year-old model Malise Menzies.

Labor legislator Reginald Paget, his party's expert on Army affairs, wants to know what duties she performs for the War Office.

"The answer," chuckled Malise, "is none. I'm not on the government payroll."

It all began when the bikini-clad British girl posed on an Italian beach. Prince Albert, who happened to be on the same stretch of sand, raised his camera to the ready. An Italian press photographer snapped them both. His picture appeared in British newspapers and was spotted by War Minister John Profumo.

When, by chance, they met later at a London party, the minister teased Malise about it. He laughingly suggested she should pose for a recruiting poster for Britain's Women's Royal Army Corps.

Thursday, on her return from another Italian trip, Malise assured newsmen she was not going into uniform.

Engineers Hold Meet

The American Society of Agricultural Engineers will hold its Michigan section meeting Saturday Nov. 3, at 9:30 a.m. in the auditorium of the Engineering Building.

The speakers at the meeting will be Howard J. Stoddard, chairman of the board, Michigan National Bank; Dean Glen L. Taggart, international programs; Gordon A. Guthrie, marketing manager, Ford Tractor Division; Carl W. Hall, professor and research supervisor, agricultural engineering department.

FOR THE MAN WHO HAS TWO OF EVERYTHING OR THE MAN WHO HAS NOTHING AND WANTS TO GET STARTED!

A career for exceptional men

...Some notes about you, about us, and the advertising business

About you. If you are the man we seek: You have an abiding curiosity about people and the world around you.

You're alert and responsive to new ideas, new ways of doing things. You like to take on new problems... you see them as opportunities.

You dig deep into the why of things. And the best answers you can come up with today are never good enough for you tomorrow.

You're an individualist. Yet you thrive on team spirit.

You have conviction about freedom of choice, consistent with the rights of others.

You're the kind of man who could be successful in business for himself, but you see the greater challenge implicit in the major enterprises of today's world.

About us. The J. Walter Thompson Company was formed 98 years ago. It has for many years been the largest advertising firm; its stock is owned by more than five hundred active staff members.

We help over 500 companies in the United States and abroad sell thousands of products and services to hundreds of millions of people. Last year alone, we were responsible for the advertising investment of over one-third of a billion dollars.

There are 6,700 people working with Thompson around the world. Our backgrounds range far and wide. And so do our assignments: writing, art, market research, media buying, TV and radio, styling, marketing and merchandising, music and the theatre, engineering, accounting and statistical analysis, international business, and the social sciences are only part of the list.

In our experience, superior individuals from every graduate and undergraduate educational discipline find successful careers in a major agency such as the Thompson Company. Staff members in our New York Office alone represent nearly 300 colleges and universities here and abroad.

Your career with us. You may be surprised to learn that while an advertising company must have artistically creative people, it depends just as much on people who are imaginative and inventive in other ways.

Our business is selling. Communicating through the written and spoken word is how we sell. You must possess the ability to speak and write well so your ideas may be shared and understood.

We are looking for the kind of men who wish and are able to assume substantial responsibility early in their business lives. To such men we offer a remarkable chance to grow and develop—one seldom found in any firm.

Previous advertising experience is not required. Basically, our interest is in the nature of a person, and not in his specialized knowledge and abilities.

We offer you no standard starting salary, no cut-and-dried training program. Beginning salaries are individually considered and compare favorably to those of other national firms. We help you tailor your own development program, based on your interests, your abilities, your goals. Your program will differ from other men's programs just as you differ from other men.

When you join us you will work side by side with experienced advertising men. Your growth will be based on your own initiative, your own development. There are no age or seniority requirements to limit the responsibility you can earn.

We encourage you to follow your curiosity into all phases of advertising, because we want you to become a well-rounded practitioner as rapidly as possible. Experienced advertising men are eager to coach you individually in your efforts to develop your capabilities. Additionally, you are free to delve into every nook and cranny of advertising through our annual series of twenty professional seminars, workshops and classes. You learn from men who are experts in their fields.

About men who join us. Eight out of ten college men who have joined us in the past decade have remained with us and are enjoying varied, exciting careers.

Because of our emphasis on early growth, relatively young men commonly handle major responsibilities in many phases of our business—in New York and throughout the world.

All initial assignments are in Chicago or New York City. However, there are many offices throughout the United States and the world to which you may, if interested, request assignment later on.

If you wish to be a candidate, you must be in a position to join us between January 1, 1963 and June 1, 1964. You may obtain further information at the placement office. Please consult with them regarding the possibility of a personal interview. We will be on campus November 16.

Galarno Returns to Alma Mater in 'Sound of Music'

Student Dream Comes True

By JACKIE KORONA
Of The State News

"The Sound of Music" performances on campus this week marked the realization of a dream for one of the cast members.

Bill Galarno, a 1955 MSU graduate, was returning to his alma mater as a success in the world of show business.

But seven years ago Galarno had no idea he would be coming back to the campus as a part of the Lecture-Concert Series he himself had attended during his college years.

"When I left here in 1955, I knew I wanted to go into show business," Galarno said during a reception for the cast of "The Sound of Music."

Galarno, with only a limited background in voice and no knowledge of dance, went to New York. At MSU, he had worked on University Theatre productions, appearing in "Ah, Wilderness," "School for Scandal," "Winter's Tale," and "The Man Who Came to Dinner."

He also directed the Theta Alpha Phi dramatics series of any production during his senior year.

"In New York, I got a dancing part in one show, without ever taking any dance instructions. I wouldn't have been caught dead in a leotard in the Women's IM Building, here," Galarno said.

"But the reviews were bad, so I decided to take lessons," he said.

"The only problem is that when the body is young, it's easily moved about, but when you're over 21, it has to be 'broken,'" he said with a grimace.

"My teacher is always telling me he's got to 'break my body'."

"Then I got a singing part, and the reviews were good, so I decided I'd better start singing lessons and improve on anything I already had," he said.

With a greater background than he had had when he first arrived in New York, Galarno landed parts in summer stock shows for the former Spartan. He appeared in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, and Connecticut. He also spent a year at the Pittsburgh Playhouse, working as both actor and stage manager.

"I also played in a couple of off-Broadway shows, but both of them closed after two weeks of performances," he stage whispered.

Television roles came next for the former Spartan. He appeared in a Bell Telephone production, a Pyrex special, and had a bit part in one of "The Deenders" series. A hair topic manufacturer wanted a young singer to do some TV commercials, so Galarno tried out his

Things calmed down for a while, but then he landed the juvenile lead in "Wildcat" with Mamie Van Doren at the Meadow-brook Dinner Theatre. When that closed, he went from the role of the young Mexican boy, complete with accent, to no job at all. Galarno read a casting notice for "The Sound of Music" and decided to try his luck. The director was looking for a blond.

He has dark hair.

"But I'm right for the part," he told the director. "I know I can do it. And Hitler wasn't blond."

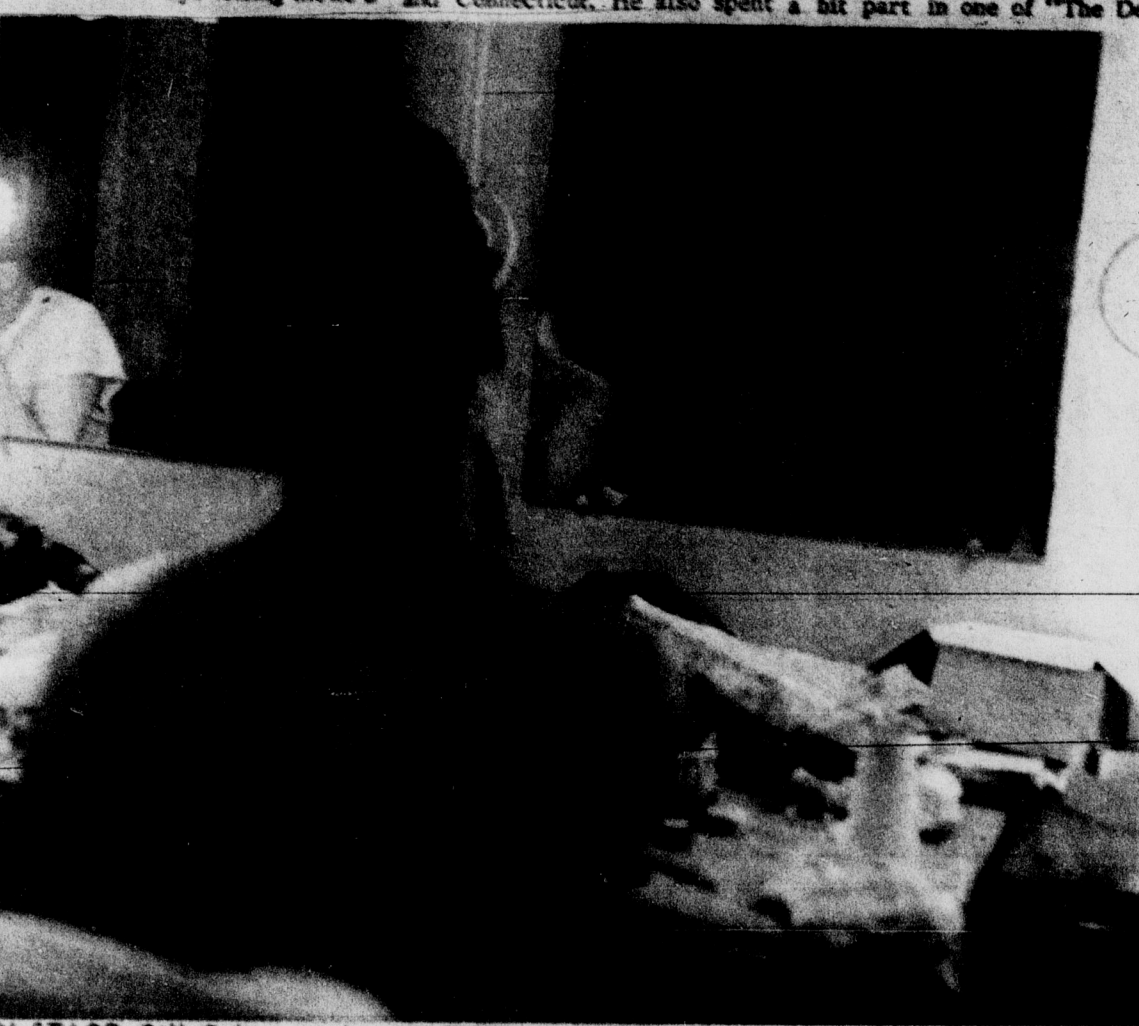

The role in "The Sound of Music" called for a Scandinavian-type youth, to play the part of an Austrian boy who falls in love with the daughter of Baron von Trapp.

Galarno got the job. For five weeks he toured with the company, going all over the country. And then his dream came true.

Bill Galarno, the MSU graduate from Saginaw, once again acted on the stage of the Auditorium. He said he had had so many wonderful experiences when in college.

And while back on campus, he got a chance to see his old academic advisor, Wilson B. Paul, now director of the Lecture-Concert Series.

The young actor's last comment to the reporter was, "Do they still have good food in the Union?"

and that if Castro stands in the way he will risk loss of Soviet support.

These sources said Mikoyan may offer Castro more security needed new economic aid as indicament.

Mikoyan is the man who cemented the close Soviet relationship with Castro and is regarded by the Cuban leader as a warm friend.

Accompanying Mikoyan to the session with Thant were First Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov, who was sent here by Khrushchev as his special envoy on Sunday, Valerian A. Zorin, Soviet permanent U.N. representative, was also present.

U.S. chief delegate Adlai E. Stevenson talked with Thant about 45 minutes on the difficulties encountered by the Secretary General on his two-day Cuban visit. Stevenson declined to go into any details on the nature of their discussions.

Thant was reported concentrating efforts on trying to get Castro to change his mind and agree to a U.N. inspection plan.

tons of TNT was estimated at 30 to 40 miles.

In Washington, the AEC announced the detection of two new Soviet nuclear tests Thursday, the 17th and 18th of the current Russian series. One was a high altitude test in the intermediate field range above central Asia.

The other was an atmospheric test in the same general range, in the vicinity of Novaya Zemlya, Soviet testing station in the Arctic.

Thursday's Johnston Island test had been postponed 24 hours for technical reasons and was set off four hours late. There was no explanation for the long delay.

A less powerful, low-yield explosion is planned Saturday night or Sunday morning above Johnston Island. This test, originally scheduled for last Sunday, was pushed back to accommodate Thursday's shot.

Scientific Expenditures May Top $101 Million for Next 10 Years

MSU scientific educational expenditures for the next 10 years may total $101,285 million, according to a recent National Science Foundation survey.

Departments of the life, agricultural, social, physical, and engineering sciences of major U.S. universities participated in the NSF survey.

Estimates from all participants will be used by NSF to determine how much money will be needed for scientific education within the next decade.

The total MSU estimate will require $78.2 million for buildings, $13,919 million for scientific apparatus, $3,566 million for furnishings, and $5.6 million for special and separate scientific facilities.

According to vice-president Milton Mueller, dean of research development and advanced graduate studies, said:

"If the United States, as far as MSU is concerned, is to meet its potential, then it must have improved facilities to allow the faculty to express itself to the maximum.

"This survey," Tucker continued, "is a frank evaluation of what we will need. It is not an example of undisciplined thinking."

According to Mueller, there is no duplication, overlapping, or overestimation in the survey. All figures have been checked to insure their validity.

National Science Foundation interest in the ten-year projection stems from the post war period.

After the Second World War, NSF was charged, by public law, to concern itself with the support of basic science in the United States.

In fulfilling its duties, NSF is primarily concerned with the improvement of educational quality, teaching equipment, and research on the university level.

Civil Rights Leader Caught in Hassle

DETROIT (UPI) - The Rev. Martin Luther King, southern civil rights leader Thursday was caught squarely in the middle of a hassle over a planned "freedom rally."

King, slated to address the rally at the Ford Auditorium tonight, was sent a telegram by three Detroit Negro ministers charging that the rally was in reality a Democratic campaign program.

The ministers told King he was welcome as a guest speaker, but said "Aggressive partisans have moved in and plan to make the meeting ... a political rally."

The telegram was signed by the Rev. A.A. Banks Jr., pastor of the Second Baptist Church; the Rev. T.S. Boone, pastor of King Solomon Baptist Church, and the Rev. Charles H. Nicks of the Peoples Baptist Church.

The rally is sponsored by a group called "Citizens For Freedom." A spokesman for the group promptly denied the charges by the three ministers.

The ministers said the chairman of the Citizens For Freedom is Dr. Dewey T. Winton, a Democratic member of the Wayne State University School of Governors and chairmen of "Committee of 1,000 for Freedom."

They also said King was introduced at the rally by Supreme Court Justice John S. Smith, a Democratic opponent now seeking reelection.

Homecoming floats will be judged differently this year. In previous years the floats were judged on their effectiveness. No consideration was given to each float's rating. Before there was a rating.

This weekend the three floats will be given scores that rate each float. Judging will be divided into five sections: business, continuity, commercial, mechanical details, organization and artistic design.

Each section will be given one to ten points. After the judging is completed, the floats will be totaled and the float with the most points will win.

The three judges will be Moore, professor of business; Ralf Hendriksen, professor of Art; and L.J. Giacalone, professor of Electrical Engineering.

Madison Kuhn, professor of history, said the committee had been impressed by the "intelligence, firmness and moderation with which the speakers presented ideas."

The next regular meeting of the committee will be held Wednesday, Chairman Eldon Nonnamaker said.

ALL OUR PROBLEMS ARE NOT THIS SIMPLE

We say "our" advisedly.

YOU have to decide which companies to see about your future job. At a time when you've already got more to do than you can reasonably handle, it would be helpful if making that job choice could be done for you by slide rule - or computer.

If it's any consolation, we are facing much the same problem - from the opposite side of the fence. We've got to make decisions about a lot of young Engineers like you - also without benefit of slide rule or computer. We must decide who would be of help to us in tackling assignments in today's technologies of the aerospace and electronics industries.

You DO have one advantage we haven't - you probably know something about General Dynamics already. We'd like to even the score a bit by finding out more about you. A discussion might solve both our problems.

Our Representative will be on your campus shortly with information about positions in each of these divisions:

in CALIFORNIA - Convair and Astronautics Divisions in San Diego; Pomona Division in Pomona

in NEW YORK - Electronics and Telecommunication Divisions in Rochester

in TEXAS - Fort Worth Division in Fort Worth

Incidentally, our man will have the solution to the puzzle along, just in case you missed it. Why not make a date to see us at your Placement Office now?

MSU Hockey Outlook Is Promising

"The prospects of the coming hockey season look pretty good," says Amos Bessone, coach of the M.S.U. varsity squad.

With the return of almost the entire team of last year, it appears that bright things are ahead for Michigan State hockey fans. Defense is the strong point of the squad, says Bessone. Oddly it is in the rearguard where the team suffered its greatest loss. Frank Silka, last year's captain and all-star defenseman, has been lost through graduation.

However, State has three returning lettermen in Carl Lackey, Jim Jacobson, and Nick Musat. With the addition of Mark Williams, a promising sophomore, the defense should be very strong indeed.

In the event that enemy forwards happen to penetrate the State defense, they will be faced with another headache. Mending the nets again this year is All-American goalie John Chandik. Chandik's return means that few goal lights will be flashing behind the M.S.U. net this year.

Another strong factor is the return of two intact forward lines from last year. Real Turcotte and Claude Fournel, leading scorers on last year's team, head the returning forwards. However, both Fournel and Turcotte will graduate in January.

Coach Bessone is counting on his top line to pick up the slack. Consisting of Tom Lackey, Dick Johnston, and Art Thomas, the big line blends experience with ability. This will be the third season that these boys have played together and Bessone predicts that with this experience, they should be his top line.

The real key to the Spartans' success this year will be newcomers on the squad.

"We need scoring punch from the rookies if we are going to have a winning season," adds Bessone.

According to Bessone, the most promising of the sophomores are Dick Hargreaves, Jack Fort, Gary Gobel and Jimmy Lawrence.

Asked to pick a probable starting line-up, Bessone selected the following: John Chandik, goalie; Jim Jacobson and Carl Lackey, defensemen; and Dick Johnston, Tom Lackey, and Art Thomas up front.

Bessone expects his major trouble this year to come from North Dakota, Denver, and Michigan Tech.

"Tech won the NCAA championship last year and I understand they have another good team this year. Denver is always tough because hockey is their chief sport. North Dakota," continued Bessone, "is picked by the experts to have a top team this season."

State's first game this campaign is on the road against St. Lawrence Nov. 22. On the return trip following the second St. Lawrence game on Thanksgiving, the team will hold its election for team captain to succeed Frank Silka.

Hayworth Predicts Shift From GOP in 6th District

By CHRIS THOMPSON
Of the State News

Another in a series of stories introducing readers to the candidates and issues in the Nov. 6 state election.

Don Hayworth, MSU professor of speech and democratic candidate for Congress, thinks the incumbent's record will help make a change in the trend that has elected a Republican as representative from the Sixth Congressional District for the last three terms.

The Sixth District, consisting of Genesee, Ingham and Livingston counties has been predominantly Republican with the exception of 1954 when Hayworth was elected.

Since that time, Charles E. Chamberlain has been in office, having beaten Hayworth in 1956 and 1958 and Jerome F. O'Rourke in 1960.

Hayworth said that one important factor centers around the issue of Medicare. Chamberlain is against the plan and many Republicans are in favor of it, cost him some valuable votes, he said.

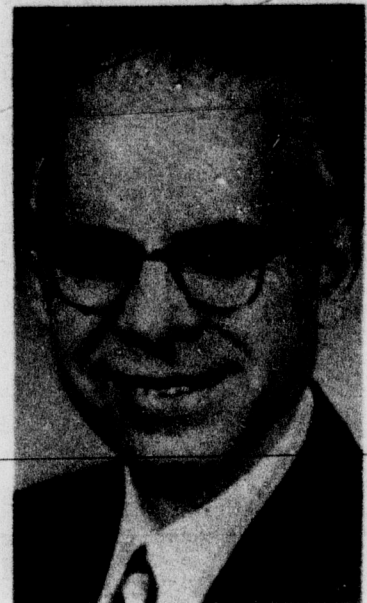

"I am in favor of Medicare," said Hayworth. "It makes good sense for the individual and the public both. By investing money each person would have hospital protection when he retires and would not have to depend on charity."

"My Republican opponent has refused to debate with me on this issue," he said. "I think it is because he is backed by the AMA and secondly because the big businesses are against Medicare because they would have to pay one-half of its cost. My opponent has always voted in favor of big business."

Hayworth said that another factor that might hurt Chamberlain is his attacks on Kennedy. "Kennedy is a popular President and the people want someone who will back him...I will," said Hayworth.

He said that Chamberlain has abused the franking privilege. This involves the sending of mail by a Congressman on his signature.

DON HAYWORTH

ture alone. Every district wide mailing costs the taxpayer about $6,000.

"I am sure his frank mail amounts to a lot more than his salary does," Hayworth said. "I believe the public's money can be put to a more constructive use."

He said that Chamberlain has done little in the way of writing legislation as another factor that stands against Chamberlain. Hayworth says he will be more active in this respect.

"I have some suggestions of my own that I would like to make in regard to economy in government," he said. "One would consist of enacting one piece of legislation for expenditures and method of taxation. At the present time there is no connection between taxes and the many apportionments. I would like to see a bill that would give the picture of the financial obligation of the country."

Hayworth has taught at MSU for 25 years. He has degrees from Grinnell College, The University of Chicago, and the University of Wisconsin. During World War II he set up a speaker's bureau for Civil defense all over the United States. He was one of seven founders of the Michigan State Employees Credit Union. He has written two texts on public speaking and directed a $53,000 research project on the teaching of public speaking. He has toured Europe, South America and the Far East.

He has written over a thousand radio programs including a family series for NBC in the 1930's. Ironically, the title of the series was "The Kennedys." (No connection to the White House clan.)

State Seniors Finish High in Design Contest

Charles Ferrari, Cleveland, Ohio senior, won third prize and Ernest Pick, Miami, Florida senior honorable mention in the "1962 Sterline today student design competition."

Ferrari received $150 for a candelabra centerpiece. Pick received $50 for an enameled silver bowl on a flowing curvilinear stand.

The awarded pieces will be on exhibit at New York's Museum of Contemporary Crafts.

Ex-Socialist Club President To Speak

Jan Garrett, outgoing Young Socialist Club president, will speak to the club at 7:30 p.m. in 34 Union tonight.

Jolynne Cappa, the new president, will talk about the Speakers' Committee.

CPA Forum To Discuss Taxes

Tax implications of Michigan's proposed new constitution and the advent of local income taxes will be discussed items at a CPA State Tax Forum Monday in Kellogg Center.

About 150 state certified public accountants are expected to attend the forum sponsored by the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants and the MSU College of Business.

Other topics to be studied include exploring client services in property tax assessments, the business activities tax, the intangibles tax and annual privilege fees.

FLINT -- New Jersey Gov. Richard S. Hughes predicted Tuesday that Michigan Gov. John B. Swainson would be re-elected, despite predictions to the contrary by "pollsters and pundits."

Swainson, running against former president of American Motors Corp., George Romney, has been picked the underdog by local and national polls and several columnists.

LANSING -- A person may not serve on the Board of Trustees of a community college district and a local school board at the same time, Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley said Wednesday.

In a ruling issued at the request of Superintendent of Public Instruction Lynn M. Bartlett, Kelley said the two positions were incompatible because of the possibility that the two districts might at some time be contesting for millage allocations.

DETROIT -- American Motors Corp. said Thursday it has won extension of a government contract to produce military hardware at the old Hudson Motor Car Co. in Detroit.

The AMC announcement was in response to a statement by the United Auto Workers union that 192 workers left at the old Hudson plant will be laid off early next year.

FLINT -- Castro has developed a stomach ailment and he's counting on Kennedy to cure it for him.

This unlikely situation developed at Flint's Osteopathic Hospital when Leo Toldo Castro placed himself under the care of Dr. Donald Kennedy for a stomach disorder.

Philippine Visitor Studies Law, Safety

Vivencio Lazaro, assistant director of the National Bureau of Investigation from the Philippines, recently spent a week on campus touring the facilities of the school of police administration and public safety.

The purpose of Lazaro's visit was to take back information which will strengthen the internal security and law and order forces of the Republic of the Philippines.

Alumni; Sponsor Job Forum for Ag-Econ Majors

Alumni of the department of agricultural economics will discuss job opportunities with undergraduate majors 9 a.m. to noon Saturday in Wilson Hall.

The session will be aimed at informing undergraduates in agricultural economics what business and industry will demand of them after they graduate. It is sponsored by the agricultural economics club.

May Drop Oath For Defense Loan

A detailed questionnaire may replace the affidavit requiring students to sign a non-Communist oath to qualify for a National Defense Education Act loan, Henry C. Dykema, assistant director, Men's Division of Student Affairs, said.

The affidavit provision recently repealed in a bill signed by President Kennedy, requires the signature of a loan applicant to show that he did not support any organization that believes in the overthrow of the United States government.

The United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare has issued no statement, Dykema said, but Department representatives at a recent Big Ten and Big Eight conference at Purdue University intimated that a "good deal of discussion is going on within the Department" concerning the possibility of adding a questionnaire to the loan application.

"Whether or not we have made a real advancement, we'll find out," Dykema said. "If they decide to eliminate the affidavit without a replacement, that's fine."

Objection was first made when the affidavit requirement was put into effect in 1958, Dykema said. Many students and faculty members felt that the discriminatory affidavit singled out an applicant by making him go over and beyond the oath of allegiance to the United States required in other government applications.

The All University Student Government proposed a bill three years ago that provided for withdrawal of MSU from the National Defense Education Act as some of the eastern schools had done. But enough students wanted loans to defeat the bill, Dykema said.

Instead, formal protests were made at that time to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare by AUSG and by the faculty.

First-Graders Adopt Rabbits Part of Nat Sci Program

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) - Anyone want a wild rabbit with a first-grade education?

Look, oh look. Look at the baby rabbit in Mrs. Arthur Layman's class in the first grade at Loudonville Elementary School.

"Hoppy" is his name. He's been in the classroom six weeks now, since sixth-grader Stephen Pentak found the baby rabbit's mother had been killed by an automobile.

Stephen knew what to do. He brought the frightened baby animal to the school principal, Mrs. Edgar Dickinson.

Mrs. Dickinson knew what to do. She put the problem in Mrs. Layman's lap.

Mrs. Layman knew what to do. She loves animals.

"We decided to take care of the baby rabbit and to incorporate it into our natural science program," she explained.

Look, Look, Oh, look at the children bring grass and clover to school for Hoppy. Look at Hoppy wash himself every day. Look, Look, Look.

U.N. To Recommend South Africa Boyco

UNITED NATIONS (AP) - The 110-nation special political committee voted 60-16 Thursday night to recommend stringent diplomatic and trade boycotts in an effort to force South Africa to change its race segregation. The committee also proposed expelling South Africa from the United Nations if these policies are not changed. African nations led the committee to its strongest action in 17 years of considering the South African apartheid question. The committee narrowly adopted similar clauses last year but could not muster a two-thirds majority in the General Assembly. The assembly confined itself to another denunciation of the race policies of Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd's government and appealed to him to renounce them. The African countries, led by Ghana, beat down 46-38 today an attempt to get separate votes on the punishment and expulsion clauses. Forced to vote on the resolution as a whole, many countries abstained rather than vote against the apartheid denunciation clauses in the resolution. They denounced the penalties as ineffective and expulsion as dangerous. There were 21 abstentions in the vote on the resolution. Thirteen countries were absent, including South Africa, which boycotted the debates. The United States, Canada, Britain, Australia, Japan, Netherlands, New Zealand, France were among countries that voted against the resolution because of their opposition to punishment clauses. The punishment clause recommended that UN members individually or collectively break off diplomatic relations with South Africa; close ports or airfields to South African flag ships and planes; legislation prohibiting supplies from entering African ports and bypassing South African goods and not from exporting goods, including arms and ammunition to Africa.

Patronage Needed
To Restore Artist

A genuine patronage is needed today to bring art back to its former position in society, Stanley J. Idzerda, a director of Honors College, said at the Provost Lecture Wednesday.

"The artist today is too free," Idzerda said. "There is nothing for him to cope with. There is no one telling him what is wanted."

Four other changes in the attitudes of people are needed to improve art, he said.

"We must all become craftsmen and artists ourselves, for the artist can only work in a community of craftsmen and artists. He cannot work alone surrounded by parasites."

"We must improve the use of our eyes to see form, texture, color everywhere. Then we can appreciate the concentration of these qualities in the work of the artist."

It must be remembered that because one form of art is dominant it does not mean that other forms are not art, he said.

"We must also develop an awareness and understanding of art history, aesthetics, and criticism," and then we can use our eyes."

The functions of art, he said, are to create a likeable object as its own end, to clarify and intensify our vision, and to create symbols and a shorthand, with which we can communicate.

The artist Idzerda defined is the person with more capable vision and a greater ability to transform that vision. He is acute and sensitive.

Above all the artist must be a craftsman; he must be able to make things.

In primitive society, Idzerda said, the artist was always a craftsman, and he filled a necessary position in society. He was a craftsman among craftsmen and his patrons were the whole society.

Through the Middle Ages the pattern remained the same with the artist retaining the same unconsciousness in his work.

A radical change occurred between 1700 and 1850, he said, transforming the artist into an alienated character. Patronage came to an end.

Art became a way of life, a self-conscious separation.

The successful development of technology played an important role in this change. It removed from human hands the necessity to be delicate, to create; it placed emphasis on the tangible; it provided a division between work and leisure; it increased wealth; and it provided a greater rate of change.

Democracy, also, played a part in the change with its cult of equality. The people, Idzerda said, did not like to think that the artist was more sensitive, delicate or creative than himself.

Clear Blockade

WARSAW (AP)—Now that tension has let up in Cuba, Poles are telling a joke about the U.S. blockade. The captain of the 10,000-ton freighter Bialystok -- which is said to have docked in Havana Monday -- nervously asked Warsaw for instructions as he neared the line of U.S. warships. "What," he asked, "shall I do if the Americans refuse to believe I am carrying onions?"

As one official tells it, the "Tell them to smell."

Senior To Open Mormon Series

Initiating the Mormon Lecture Series Sunday will be Morgan Richards, Pontiac senior in Animal Husbandry at MSU.

Richards, returning from a two-year mission in Scotland for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day-Saints, will discuss the Godhead, Joseph Smith, the structure of the early church, the falling away, the Apostasy and restoration of the church by heavenly messengers in the early 1800's.

He will also explain that Mormons are neither Catholic nor Protestant. The church was not founded by man or on his ideas, but through man by Jesus Christ.

Following the lecture will be an opportunity for questions and answers.

The series, sponsored by Desert Club, is held in Room 33 of the Union Building every Sunday at 8 p.m.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Southern Baptist chaplain, Maj. Gen. Robert P. Taylor, has been chosen as the new chief of Air Force chaplains.

Ed. Prof Relates Theology, Teaching

One of the most unexamined and fruitful ways to approach education through theology is the opinion held by Dr. Thomas Green of the MSU College of Education.

"What I would like to do is find a way through philosophy and theology to formulate questions in education," says Dr. Green, who studied at Princeton Theological Seminary last year. Although he is now in education, he received his doctorate in philosophy from Cornell and taught the basic humanities course at MSU for three years. He attributes this change to the fact that there are few subjects which he finds uninteresting to study.

Dr. Green is presently writing a book which combines his views on education, theology and philosophy. Its theme is based on his concept of education and action. "The only reason people educate is because of the relationship between what they think and what they do."

"If we go back to the Bible, what we see is an unusual understanding of the nature of community, of truth and of teaching. Biblical psychology sheds light on the concept of culture."

Most people, Dr. Green believes, try to apply the truths of faith to teaching in talking about religion and education. He is doing exactly the reverse in an attempt to answer the question, "What problems does education pose which can be illuminated in a true way?"

He talks of a "noble dream" of perfecting education so that all problems would be solved. "One might even doubt the perspective of education; yet one has to be involved in it. If we stop teaching, we start training. This is barbaric."

Within the context of education, he finds that most people believe faith makes it impossible for them to venture and be fearless because they have to be committed to certain truths.

Reformation Works Stored

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP)—Microfilm copies of much of Western Europe's historical treasures of the Protestant Reformation are being literally salted away in America's great plains.

The master negatives are being made in archives and libraries in Germany, Italy, Switzerland, France, Great Britain, Sweden and Denmark. Then, carefully cataloged, these original films are stored 650 feet underground in the mammoth Carey Salt Mines near Hutchinson, Kan. There, protected in metal vaults behind thick steel doors, they are expected to be safe from destruction by the most powerful bombs or any force of nature.

The project is sponsored by the Foundation for Reformation Research of St. Louis, and is expected to take as long as 50 years to complete.

"In addition to writings of the Reformation period," said Dr. Alfred O. Fuerbringer, chairman of the foundation, "the foundation will microfilm books in such fields as medicine, surgery, music, political theory, business and finance."

Pope Starts Fifth Reign

The fourth anniversary of the coronation of Pope John XXIII will be celebrated Sunday, marking the fifth year of the nearly 81-year-old pontiff's reign.

Addressing 15,000 persons in St. Peter's Square Sunday, he said, "Four years ago today the will of the Lord was disposed to place in me the successorship of the Apostle Peter and to ignite most vividly in my soul a love of all the human family. These have been four years of prayer, of service, of encounters and talks, of joy and of some suffering. But each day has passed in the ready disposition of following the divine will."

When a conclave chose him on Oct. 28, 1958, to succeed Pope Pius XII, he was Angelo Cardinal Roncalli, Patriarch of Venice.

OTTAWA, Canada (AP)—The Catholic population of Canada exceeded that of Protestants for the first time in the 1961 census. The

Marriage Rule Causes Upset

Rome (AP) - In the volumes of canon law lining the shelves of many Roman libraries, no. 1061 represents a source of grievance to Protestant society. It is the ruling of the Roman Catholic Church on mixed marriages.

The ruling has produced, on the admission of both Catholic and Protestant authorities, a stormy eve-of-wedding quarrels, painful soul-searchings and long wrangles over children's education.

The law requires the non-Catholic party in a marriage to refrain from influencing the religious beliefs of the Catholic partner and to bring up the children "in the Catholic faith alone."

The promises, or guarantees as they are sometimes called, are required in writing.

Some Catholic sources expect the law to come under study by the Roman Catholic Ecumenical Council now in session here. They concede the possibility that changes, or some easing of the position, may occur.

Other Catholic sources regard changes as unlikely even if the approximately 2,700 Council Fathers give the issue a full dress debate.

Dr. W.A. Visser't Hooft, General Secretary of the World Council of Churches, has said both the Roman Church and other Christian denominations are the losers under present conditions. He has pointed out some partners in a mixed marriage place themselves completely outside the Church to avoid trouble.

No. 1061 has been in the Statute books of the Roman Church since the sweeping reformation of Canon law carried out in 1917-18. Some experts in the field said the Church previously re-

Faith on Campus

By Linda Miller

In the pursuit of faith on the campus, we find that friendship opens many doors to examining our inner selves. People who are wrapped up in themselves make small packages.

We cannot hope to find real meaning for life without extending the daily campus routine to include an effort to know people. Cultivating old friendships and developing new ones is essential to broadening our horizons.

Just as we extend our scope of knowledge through worthwhile courses, we benefit intellectually from those whose company we find rewarding.

Emotional and spiritual gains are most significant in the discovery of faith through friendship. Nearness to God stems from our relationships with other people. Then we must ask, how can we cultivate our faith through friendship?

The answer to this lies in the act of "revelation." Here I do not speak of a revelation of God to man, although this is by far the most meaningful, but of a revelation of man to man.

God reveals Himself to man by making Himself wholly known, that man might respond in an act of faith. How can we reveal ourselves to each other in a like manner?

We could dismiss the importance of considering this action by saying, "I have lots of friends. There is no need to 'push' myself." This is probably true, but we cannot so easily contend that we have valuable, lasting friendships which contribute to our philosophical beliefs concerning the meaning of life.

The college student cannot perform the act of revelation, nor can anyone else, unless he gives himself entirely to another person. When he finally makes himself wholly known, the other person responds in turn by revealing himself. There are no pretenses in the true revelation of man to man, just as there are none in the relationship of God to man.

When we realize the need for the respect and interest of a person, we can satisfy it only through revelation. A direct outcome of this relationship is further development of our philosophy of existence. Although we can ascertain nothing about a life beyond, our faith in the future can be made more firm through meaningful contacts with friends.

"What is serving God? 'Tis doing good to man."
