

Spartan Rushing Ranked Second

Although State's football record was only average, the gridiron was something else when it came to moving the ball on the ground—the Spartans rushing offense was the second best among the nation's major colleges.

The speedy Spartan backs averaged 264 yards per game, a mark which was bettered only by conference rival Ohio State. Woody Hayes' Buckeyes, traditional ground powers, churned up an average of 278 yards per game to capture national laurels.

Heading the Spartan list was team captain and All American pick George Saines, who rambled for 642 yards in his fullback role. Individually, he has been selected a new honor; Time Magazine picked him to share the fullback slot with Ray Poage of Texas on its pro scouts All American team.

The team is picked by the men who scout college talent for the National Football League teams. Other Spartans named with this year's list were Ed Budde at guard and Dave Behrman at center. Budde was a tackle for State, but the scouts felt his professional potential is at a guard spot.

Second and third on the Spartan ground-gaining list were tailbacks Sherman Lewis and Ron Rubick. Lewis netted 590 yards and his alternate had 429. In spite of the fact that Rubick missed three games with injuries, the total for the two regulars at the tailback position is an amazing 1019 yards, an average of over 100 yards per game.

Fourth among the Spartans rushers was wingback Dewey Linton. The 220-pound hustler led the fourth Spartan over the 100 mark.

Roger Lopez was the other runner to net sizable gains as he totaled 341 yards. However, as Saines' substitute he wasn't called on nearly as often as the other Spartan ballcarriers.

with Macomber, Kalamazoo sophomore second and Irmischer, a Chicago senior third. Mason won the title among a field of 15 participants.

Michigan Briefs

DETROIT — The nation's 800,000 automobile workers will get a one-cent an hour pay increase because the cost of living keeps going up.

The Labor Department reported Wednesday that the cost of living actually declined one-tenth of one per cent during October, but the trend for the last three months has been upward.

MOUNT CLEMENS — A $125,000 fire caused extensive damage Wednesday to a wing of St. Joseph Hospital here. There were no injuries. Firemen said the fire was from Ellis, caused by a welding torch being used by workmen who are remodeling the second-floor.

PAW PAW — Two rural Covert men Wednesday were confined to the Van Buren County jail after their arrest on charges of selling and possessing narcotics.

Arrested Monday night by detective members of the Michigan State Police rackets squad were Albert D. Ellis, 33, and Ben Johnson, 37, when a plain clothes detective purchased 37 grams of marijuana for a reported $80. Firemen said the fire was from Ellis,

Coed Swimming Team Holds Meet Saturday

National swimming records could sky-rocket Saturday as 10 schools vie for top honors in the women's inter-collegiate championship swimming meet here.

Preliminaries in the meet's 17 events will be held at 9 a.m. in the new women's IM pool, with finals scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. Coeds representing 10 colleges will race in an attempt to capture new women's national collegiate swimming records.

Teams from these schools will compete: MSU, Michigan, Miami of Ohio and Bowling Green. Also Northern Illinois, Ohio State, Eastern Michigan and Canadian entries Toronto and Western Ontario.

This meet is the first women's collegiate meet of any appreciable size to be held in the U.S. Planned by Ann Chadwick, State's coed swimming coach, the meet may be extended to conference status in a few years.

This meet will lay the groundwork for women's collegiate competition," Mrs. Chadwick said. "We hope this will be considered as the first women's inter-collegiate meet and be called such nationally. "I hope that we will get a conference for women comparable to that of men swimmers," Mrs. Chadwick added. "If we can, this will be the greatest thing to happen to women's collegiate swimming."

Buddy Badger of Bloomfield Hills, top senior on the Michigan State golf team this spring, has tied for 11th place in his only two starts in Big Ten championship meets.

Admission for the meet Saturday will be 25 cents.

KENNEDYS ARE RIVALS

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — The Kennedy brothers, who have been traveling separately lately, got together here recently. These are the Mayfield Heights, Ohio, Kennedys. Bert is a senior end on the Bowling Green State University football team, Mike is a junior end for Kent State University.

Bert and Mike bumped into each other, literally, a few times when Bowling Green defeated Kent.

Intramural News
Beta Theta Pi won the Fraternity Bowling Championship this fall by defeating last year's champs, Delta Sigma Phi, in the final play off. The individual bowler champion was Delta Sigma Phi, Ben Miller. Phi Gamma Delta and Sigma Nu. Sam Bernstein of ZBT had the season's highest game of 242, while Dick Billings was second with 229, but he had the highest series with 599. Steve Haberman, also of ZBT had the second highest series of 585. The team series high was by ZBT with 2666, as Delta Chi was 90 pins off with the next highest series of 2576.

Twenty-two teams and 154 individuals took part this season. Competition was close as most of the blocks were not decided until the last week of play. The playoffs were full of excitement as on to win the championship by defeating last year's champions. Pictures of the Intramural Sports Champions will be taken 7:30 to 8 p.m. tonight in the Sports Arena in the Men's IM Building. Winners of any intramural tournament this fall who have not had their pictures taken are asked to be present.

Due to the invitational swim meet being held in the Women's IM Building, there will be no open swim this Saturday.

Basketball officials are needed for the Women's Intramural Program this winter. Anyone who is interested may apply during the rest of this week 5 to 9 p.m.

Tigers Swap Boros
DETROIT (UPI) — The Tigers signed third baseman Steve Boros to the Chicago Cubs for right-handed pitcher Bob Anderson in a straight player swap Tuesday. After sparkling in his freshman year in 1961, the 26-year-old Boros averaged a .322 batting average this year. Anderson, who is 27-years old, compiled a 2-7 win-loss record for the Cubs last year, a major league record. Detroit officials say they also had offers for slugger Rocky Colavito, but they are still looking for a starting pitcher.
